OBITUARY

Sandra Alston Scurlock or "Faye" as most of us called her, went home to be with the Lord on Thursday, May 11 at UNC Hospitals after a difficult battle with cancer. Her life began here in Pittsboro where she was born to Mary Louise A Headen on April 26, 1948. She was reared in a large, loving community not far from her church home at Mt. Sinai A. M. E. Church.

Faye was a 1966 graduate of Horton High School. She spent her adult life, preparing delicious meals and baked goods, nurturing children, and caring for the sick and elderly. Many people can attest to the fact that Faye made them a cake, took care of their children, or sat with a sick mother. When she spent time with her family at home, she enjoyed watching the FOOD channel with her granddaughter, or telling us all about her philosophies on life as we sat on the porch. She kept us all going with her witty words and her delightful sense of humor. She kept us informed of her thoughts even until the end. The doctors, medical staff and all who came into contact with her were perplexed at the level of courage, endurance and perseverance she could muster and were astonished at the sudden turn of events that led to her home-going.

Faye was preceded in death by her husband James W Scurlock in 1977. She leaves many here to celebrate her life, including; L. Fulton Headen of Pittsboro (Stepfather); Harry L. Smith (Father); a son, Frederick Alston of Pennsylvania; a daughter, Jocelyn (Shawn) Brooks; and a cherished and adored granddaughter Samaya, all of Pittsboro; two uncles, George F (Bernice) Alston of Clarksville, TN, and Arthur (Peggy) Alston of Pittsboro; and a special cousin Annie M Farrar of Pittsboro, along with a host of relatives and friends.
