To Our Young People,

June 1993

My letter this quarter is especially for you. You are our greatest resource. You are our best chance to finish the missions we have started for the Lord.

To those young people who have graduated this spring, I say congratulations and best wishes. Let your attainment be a stepping stone to even greater heights in the field of education. However, I want you to remember that education without salvation is dangerous. The danger is that one begins to depend on his own strength and knowledge and has no direction from God. The scripture says, "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart: and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him and he shall direct thy paths."

A well-balanced life is one that is developed spiritually, mentally, physically and socially. To neglect any one of these is to be deficient in one's growth and maturity. When a person is deficient in his spiritual life, there is a tendency to supplement this deficiency with something else. This is why we have problems with drugs, alcohol, crime and etc. Christ is the answer to all of our ills in this life. Accept him as your Savior and he will take care of all your deficiencies.

Much thought, effort and finances have been spent to meet your needs. Our local church has planned many summer activities for you. We will have Vacation Bible School, a trip to Washington, D.C., a summer program of planned activities almost every day during the summer. Our Western N.C. District is planning a camp for you during the Convention. We will have Junior Convocation for the youth who attend the convocation. The General Church is planning a musical workshop for you in August. One of the complaints that we often hear from young people is "I don't have anything to do." You must learn to take advantage of the opportunities that are available, for there are many wholesome activities to fill your summer.

Yours In His Service,

Elijah Williams

Larry (Tyke) Robertson was one of thirty students chosen from the entire Reidsville Intermediate School to perform on the gymnastic team. They performed at several schools and the Farm and Home Show. Tyke also was a member of the Lakers Basketball Team for the Recreation Department. They won the Championship!

Na Brown received the following awards at the May 26, 1993 Sports Banquet held at Reidsville Senior High School: A Baseball All Conference Plaque - Triad AAA Athletic Conference Award for Baseball - A Star-Emblem Awarded for Basketball - RSHS Most Outstanding Athlete - 92/93 - and he also participated in football. Na is just an all-around athlete, but that's not all. At an Awards Banquet held on May 27 at the Family Diner, he received the class of 1993 Award for his leadership abilities, etc. from the Student Leadership Institute. He will sit in on the next City Council meeting in recognition of student leadership.

Kourtnei Badgett also attended the Sports Banquet on May 26th, and received the following honors: The Most Outstanding Athlete Award, where she participated in basketball, volleyball, and softball; The Sports Scholar Team Award & Sports Scholar Individual Award, where the athlete maintains a 3.5/3.8 or higher grade point average (GPA) while playing sports. She received the MVP Award in softball, where her batting average was .457 with 46 times at bat, 21 hits, 8 runs, 3 doubles 3 triples -- Fielding average of .1000 with 23 outs, 2 assists, and no errors. Kourtnei was a starter for the ACE's basketball team in the AAU League, which competes state wide in a competitive college-like atmosphere of ball playing. She made All Conference 2nd team in basketball; high scorer and #1 rebounder, and later named All Conference in Softball. It was noted that she was one of the best players the school has ever had.

Kourtnei has also been selected to attend Tar Heel Girls State at UNCG for one week in the month of June. She will learn all about state and national government, develop leadership skills and meet new people. She can do all of this and still maintain an "A" average.

MS CAMPAIGN A SUCCESS

April 5, 1993 ended this years' fund-raising efforts for the Muscular Dystrophy (MS) Program. Over $5000.00 was raised to aide in the treatment of over forty different muscular diseases.

The Reidsville Post Office worked through Reidsville Bowling Lanes and sponsored a Bowl-for-MS. Insights staff member, Rosetta Badgett asked over 200 people to sponsor her by donating a penny a pin or by giving a donation. She raised $1,020.00 which was the largest amount reported. She received a trip for two to Cancun, Mexico.

Black Educator:

William Edward Burghardt Du Bois (1868 - 1963)

William Edward Burghardt Du Bois was an educator who had a profound and far-reaching impact on American social history. He promoted world wide liberation for blacks and co-founded several organizations that now continue the struggle for justice and racial equality.

Du Bois was born in 1868 and was brought up in Great Barrington, Mass. At an early age, he displayed a natural curiosity and sharp intelligence. Although his mother died shortly after his high school graduation, neighbors, friends and relatives recognized the importance of furthering his education. They raised enough money to send him to Fisk University in Nashville.

Du Bois won a scholarship in 1888 to attend Harvard as a junior. Upon graduation, he was appointed a Henry Bromfield Rogers fellow in the Harvard University graduate school and earned his master degree in 1891. His following two years of study in Europe had the most impact on his future research and work. A grant allowed him to work on his doctoral thesis at the University of Berlin where he developed a global outlook on race relations.

After two years of teaching at Wilberforce College in Ohio and one year at the University of Pennsylvania, he set up and administered one of the nations first departments of Sociology at Atlanta University. But Du Bois role as a classroom educator did not fully satisfy his desire to effect rapid social change. In 1905, he called together a group of militant blacks and formed the Niagara Movement, which demanded freedom and equality for Blacks. Several years later, it expanded and joined with other groups to become the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP). Du Bois also served as the editor of the NAACP's magazine, The Crisis.

When the NAACP refused to include African concerns on its agenda, Du Bois quit in protest. He continued his efforts to improve society by directing the U.S. Peace Information Center, an organization that distributed and promoted the Stockholm Peace Appeal petition demanding the banning of the atom bomb. This activity led to an indictment by the U.S. government, which tried him on charges of being an unregistered foreign agent. Although he was acquitted, this experience embittered the man who had fought so hard for world peace.

At age 93, he left for Africa as director of Encyclopedia Africana, a project he had long considered, but never had time to pursue. He died in 1963 on the eve of Martin Luther King's Peace March on Washington, D.C.

Du Bois is remembered and revered today as a scholar, author and activist. But, above all, he was an educator. In the classroom, he taught students how to critically examine social change. His 95 years of dedication and hard work laid the foundation for modern social studies and furthered the cause of social justice.

In Memoriam

Without a doubt, Christopher Roger Price touched more lives in his short twenty-seven years than many people do who live three times as long. His love of people did not stop at color lines, as was obvious from the line of mourners who came to show their love and affection for their friend and loved one.

Chris' death has caused us to all realize just how precious life is. We face death all the time, but when someone so young and strong dies, someone who seems to have so much to live for, then it is extremely hard to just say it is the will of God.

Like many people, we at Jerusalem did not realize what a special person we had among us. Several times I have thought of Hebrews 13:2 which says, "Be not forgetful to entertain strangers: for thereby some have entertained angels unawares." We knew Chris' strength, his willingness to help and we knew his sincerity and sense of humor. There were times that Chris could worry you with his teasing and playing, and other times that he shared the mature side of his personality as he talked about his family or some plans he had for the future. Many of us called him a friend, a brother, or a son. But we did not realize just how special he was until God took him home.

In a world where young people look to sports figures, actors and others to emulate, Chris gave us a true example to follow. The young people of Jerusalem and Reidsville have a role model who loved to work with the youth.

The life Chris lived can be seen through his name:

C - Christian
H - Helpful
R - Respectful
I - Intelligent
S - Saved

P - Patient
R - Resolve
I - Influential
C - Companion
E - Enthusiastic

Chris put Jesus at the head of his life several years ago. He loved Him, he loved his family, as well as his friends and his church family. No one can count the number of people he touched in his few years. But we know that for this occasion, Reidsville was unified. Friends black and white stood together. Wouldn't it be wonderful if young people, and old alike, of all races let Chris be remembered by their dedication to unity and harmony? Wouldn't Reidsville be a better place to live? I know this would make Chris so happy.

Sympathy

There was a young man who as a child was as cute as a button and was the apple of his mother's eye. All his family loved and adored him. His mother said, "I only had him the first eighteen months, after that he belonged to everyone." Family members would come and get him and keep him for days. They, along with friends and neighbors wanted to share their love with this very special little boy. Somehow they knew this loveable little boy would grow up to be a fine young man.

The little boy grew up to be a strong and healthy young man, still loved by everyone. God blessed him with wisdom and understanding. God also blessed him with a gift that he cherished very much - serving others.

He was always there with that big beautiful smile on his face, ready, willing and able to help. He loved everyone, especially children. To him everyone was somebody. He would go out of his way to lend a helping hand without even thinking about it. He always put others before himself.

God knew he would even give his life if it meant saving someone else. In the Bible, John 15:13 says, "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends."

On May 30, this young man, Christopher Roger Price gave his life to save another. Chris, as he was affectionately called was a faithful member of Jerusalem. He loved his church and cherished every opportunity he had to fellowship with the church family. He was a member of the Mass choir and Fellowship choir.

Chris worked very hard and earned the position of chemical technician with Laidlaw Environmental Services. He had also worked as an on call Reidsville firefighter. He loved being a firefighter. The training he received certified him as a lifeguard, performing cardiopulmonary resuscitation, (CPR), and other emergency life saving techniques. His performance was excellent.

On March 7, 1992, God gave Chris a lovely wife, Bretannia, also a member of Jerusalem. Chris loved and adored their son Lonnie very much.

Others left to cherish his memory are his mother, Mary H. Price, father, Thomas E. Price, sister, Cynthia Price, and brother, William Price, along with other family members.

We would like to say to the family that we will continue to pray that the healing power of God's love be with you now and that it will bring you strength with each new day. When you think about Chris, as you often will, remember what Jesus said to His disciples in John 15:13.

THE PRAYER OF FAITH

God is my help in every need;
God does my every hung feed;
God walks beside me, guides my way
Through every moment of the day.

I now am wise, I now am true,
Patient, kind, and loving too.
All things I am, can do and be
Through Christ, the Truth that is in me.

God is my health, I can't be sick;
God is my strength, unfailing, quick.
God is my all, I know no fear,
Since God and love and Truth are here.
