~ To Those I Love And Those Who Love Me ~

*When I am gone, release me, let me go,
I have so many things to see and do;
You mustn't tie yourself to me with tears,
Be thankful for our many beautiful years.
I gave you my love, you can only guess,
How much you gave me in happiness;
I thank you for the love each of you have shown,
But now it's time I travel on alone.
So grieve a while, if grieve you must,
It's only for a time that we must part;
So bless the memories within your heart.
I won't be far away, for life goes on,
So if you need me, call and I will come.
Though you can't see or touch me, I'll be near,
And if you listen within your heart you'll hear,
All my love around you, soft and clear.*

--FAREWELL--

*Farewell my dear ones, don't you weep,
For I'm at peace now, just asleep;
Farewell my children, I'm not alone,
The Mighty Maker has led me safely home.
Just think back over the many years,
How sometimes we seemed so strong holding back tears;
Yet God always made a way,
I thanked Him every night for another day.
Be strong my loved ones, always love one another,
Be a thoughtful person, be a kind servant;
Be strong my loved ones, strong in heart,
The blood ties no one can ever part.
If somewhere I've made a mistake,
As you live, many you will make;
Farewell everyone, I've been called away,
Walk with God, trust in Him everyday.*

Out of the night that covers me
Black as the pit from pole to pole
I thank whatever Gods may be
For , my unconquerable soul

Beyond this place of wrath and tears
Looms but the horror of the shade
And yet the menace of the years
Finds, and shall find me unafraid.

In the fell clutch of circumstance
I have not winced not cried aloud
Under the bludgeoning of chance
My head is bloody but unbowed

It matters not how straight the gate
How charged with punishment the scroll
For I am the master of my fate
I am the captain of my soul.

Dr. Harris, Durham College Founder

The funeral for Dr. Lucinda McCauley Harris, 76, founder of Durham College, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in St. Mark's AME Zion Church. Burial will be in Glenview Memorial Park.

She died Sunday.

Dr. Harris was a leader of the predominantly black two-year business college for 33 years, first as president and later as a trustee.

Dr. Harris was a native of Durham. She graduated from Hillside High School and received a bachelor's degree in commerce from N.C. Central University. She did further study at Northwestern University and New York University.

She taught in Durham schools for several years before 1946, when she started McCauley's Business School with five students in a five-room frame house on Pine Street (now Roxboro Street). It moved to Fayetteville Street in 1965 and was reorganized into Durham Business College. A more diversified curriculum was introduced in 1970, when its name changed to Durham College.

Enrollment at the two-year college increased to 500 students and 110 employees. In 1977, it boasted status as a "$2.5 million complex."

Financial problems plagued the school for the next few years. It closed in January 1980 and filed for bankruptcy two months later.

Dr. Harris was slowed by a stroke in 1982, but before that she was a member of Tau Gamma Delta Sorority, the Durham Committee on the Affairs of Black People, the N.C. Business School Administration and the Durham Business and Professional Chain.

She was included in Who's Who Among U.S. Women.

In 1973 she was honored by former president Richard Nixon for achievement in education.

Dr. Harris' only survivors are cousins.

The family will receive visitors from 8:15 to 9:15 p.m. today at Scarborough & Hargett Funeral Home.

~ She Was Different ~

She was different, she was special,
unique in a thousand ways,
She was giving, she was loving,
and we'll miss her all our days.

There are those who covet fame,
and court it like a beau,

There are those who covet wealth,
kneeling in its glow.

But she was different.....

There are those who strive for praise,
they yearn for world applause,

There are some who chase sweet comfort,
as their one and only cause.

But she was different.....

There are some who race for power,
sure it will bring them joy,

Some who long for pleasure,
seeing time an endless toy.

But she was different.....

Her legacy was friendship,
she was so giving of her time,
Her bequest was her faith in God,
her children; her books of rhyme.

She knew sorrow in great measure,
and was stung by illness too,

But neither could defeat her,
nothing her faith subdue.

And when she heard death coming,
she didn't cower in fear,

Instead she called out boldly,

"My Lord, I'm over here."

"I'm going home to be with mother,"
she told me, her eyes aglow,

"I'll see my dad and husband,
they're waiting there, I know."

Of course, the Lord will welcome her,
with His angels magnifying,

The beauty of that celestial place,
devoid of pain and crying.

And so instead of mourning
as we remember her this hour,

We really should be celebrating the blooming of a flower.

For heav'n will be much richer
when she puts her pen to rhyme,

Describing golden avenues with lyricalness sublime.

But forgive us, Lord for pining,
for wishing he was here.

It's hard to give up someone we have come to love so dear.

Because you see.....

She was different, she was special,
unique in a thousand ways.

She was loving, she was giving,
and we'll miss her, miss her, miss her

All our days.

~ Miss Me But Let Me Go ~

When I have come to the end of the road,
And the sun has set for me;
I want no rites in a gloom-filled room,
Why cry for a soul set free?

Miss me a little, but not too long,
And not with your head bowed low;
Remember the love that we once shared,
Miss me, but let me go.

For this a journey that we all must take,
And each must go alone;
It's all a part of the Master's plan,
A step on the road to home.

When you are lonely and sick of heart,
Go to the friends we know;
And bury your sorrows in doing good deeds,
Miss me, but let me go.

~ The Obituary ~

Mrs. Claudine Wilson Harris, daughter of the late Reverend Jack Wilson and the late Mary Vinie Wilson, was born on May 22, 1931 in Orange County, North Carolina. She departed this life for her homegoing on Monday, February 26, 1996.

She graduated from Little River High School and went on to receive a B. S. degree from North Carolina A & T State University, Greensboro, North Carolina and a Masters degree from Cornell University, Ithica, New York.

Claudine was a retired school teacher, licensed contractor and Notary Public. She derived her greatest pleasure from serving those less fortunate. Long after her formal retirement, she continued to help those in need by hiring them to work in her business.

She was an active member of her church where she served as Sunday School Teacher for the Primary students, Church Clerk, Vice President of the Pastor's Aide Club and a member of the Missionary Circle. Claudine also served in the Advisory Committee to the Usher Board in the 70's. She was very active in her church's Association as the Director of Youth in the Women's Auxillary of the New Home and Durham Association. She started the Youth Summer Camp, expressing a special calling from God to do so. She served as Chairperson of the Program Committee for the Sunday School Convention, the Program Committee for the Association and as Registrar for the Association. She was a member of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc.

Claudine was also an active member of her community. She served on the Orange County Planning Board and worked tirelessly to get the Lipscomb Grove Church Road paved. She also served on the Advisory Committee for the Little River Community Complex, the Renovation Committee for the Christian Assembly Building and did extensive research to get tax exempt status for the property.

Her greatest accomplishment was her ability to generate enthusiasm in the Youth with whom she worked; and to establish a relationship with the Youth of the churches in our community.

She leaves to cherish her memory and mourn her loss, four sisters, Mrs. Barbara Breeden, Mrs. Phyllis Arnold and Mrs. Mary Frances Parker, all of Durham, North Carolina and Mrs. Hazel Harris of Bahama, North Carolina; one brother, Mr. Willie Wilson of Durham, North Carolina; three sisters-in-law, Mrs. Lucy Wilson, Mrs. Doris Wilson and Mrs. Ruby Ann Wilson, all of Durham, North Carolina; three brothers-in-law, Mr. Kermit Parker of Durham, North Carolina, Mr. Robert Harris of Bahama, North Carolina and Mr. Charles Breeden of Sanford, North Carolina; a very special niece, Ms. Latasha Wilson of New York and a host of nieces, nephews, her church family and dear friends.

ABSTRACT

The health care system in the United States is undergoing a critical phase. The crisis is reflected by a large segment of the population which sustains limited or inadequate health care by average standards. The cost of health care services, the location of health care facilities and the unequal distribution of health manpower are major causative factors associated with this problem of health care delivery. The present study investigated specific social characteristics of 1368 families in relation to their use of selected health care services.

Subject families were chosen at random from a four-county area in the Southern Tier Region of New York State. Data for this study were selected from a larger study undertaken by researchers at Cornell University. Independent variables under investigation include socio-economic status as measured by the total family income before taxes, family employment status by the working or non-working status of family members, family composition as determined by age distribution of family members in the household, and residency based on rural and non-rural location of families. Dependent variables were the family's use of a family doctor, dentist, emergency room, pediatrician and ambulance services.

Among all families included in the study, regardless of social characteristics, the greatest proportion (81.2%) report using the services of a family doctor; a lower proportion (73.1%) have used dental services; still fewer (42.4%) have used the emergency room; 19.4 percent have used a pediatrician; and only 12.3 percent report using ambulance service. In general, high income families are more apt to use all services than lower income groups, with the exception of ambulance service. Families with young children and persons over 60 are more frequent users of health services, although the pattern of services is more likely to include ambulance service for the elderly and pediatrician for the young. More families in which at least one person was employed used health services than families in which no person was employed. Differences in use between rural and non-rural families were not significant. More important were the differences in kinds of services used by families in the categories of each independent variable.

Results suggest the need for planners to consider the accessibility of health services to the total population.

Claudine W. Harris

During the two years in which I have known Claudine Harris, both as an instructor in several courses she has taken and as chairman of her graduate committee, I have been increasingly impressed with her commitment to learning and her persistence in performing her work well. Academic work has not been easy for her, yet she has managed to maintain good spirits and concern for others in spite of the heavy load.

Ms. Harris is a person who brings pleasure to those who work with her, and at the same time carries out her share of the work. She is sensitive, yet sensible; high-spirited, but responsible; fun-loving, yet hard-working. I think she might be a particularly valuable asset in community work such as that conducted by Cooperative Extension or a community service division of a community college.

Daughter of the late Blunt and Lizzie Wade, Mrs. Harris was a native of Red Lick, Mississippi. She completed high school in Fayette, Mississippi and earned a Commercial Course degree at Campbell College, Jackson, Mississippi.

Mrs. Harris began her career with North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company in 1922 as a Clerk-Stenographer in the Mississippi State Office. In 1924, she was transferred to the Home Office where she worked until 1930. After a five-year residence in New York City, Mrs. Harris returned to North Carolina Mutual on July 1, 1935, as a Stenographer in the Underwriting Department. She also served Women-in-Action as Secretary and as Membership Chairman, instituted (with WRAL-TV) the Call for Action Program, and began the Women-in-Action Clearing House service. She was Secretary of the Durham-Orange Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons and of the Umstead Street Community Club. Mrs. Harris also served as President of Iota Phi Lambda Sorority and enjoyed membership in the Queen Highs and the Gourmets Bridge Clubs. A faithful member of St. Joseph's A.M.E. Church, she was Secretary of the Church Improvement Club, Secretary of the Board of Christian Education, and President of the Ladies Aid Society.

I'd Like to think when life is done
That I had filled a needed post,
That here and there I'd paid my fare
With more than idle talk and boast;
That I had taken gifts divine,
The breath of life and manhood fine,
And tried to use them now and then
In service for my fellow men.

-:- OBITUARY -:-

MRS. GEORGIA ALICE ELETA ATWATER HARRIS, daughter of the late John Henry and Mamie Harper Atwater, was born January 14, 1899 in Elberton, Georgia and departed this life at her home, 404 Brant Street on July 9, 1965 at 3:00 P.M.

At an early age she moved with her parents to Durham, North Carolina where she joined King's Chapel C.M.E. Church, later known as St. Matthews, of which her mother was one of the charter members. After the partial destruction of St. Matthews she cast her lot with the members organizing the Russell Memorial Church. During her 60 years of church affiliation she served as Sunday School teacher, organist, choir member, church secretary, and a member of the Emergency Club.

She attended the Durham City Schools, graduated from Paine College, Augusta, Georgia in 1919, and was employed at the North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company over a period of 37 years. She was active with the North Carolina Mutual Chorus and North Carolina Mutual Sextette.

She followed Christian principles all her life, as a constant wife, a mother of unparalleled and selfless devotion, a friend "for all seasons." The guiding principle of her life, grounded by her faith and continuing the example set by her parents, was service to the Master and to others.

On December 27, 1922 at 612 Carr Street, she married Charles Jacob Harris and to this union three children were born.

She is survived by her husband, two daughter, Mrs. Mayme H. Perry of the home and Mrs. Eleta Jean Murray of Chicago, Illinois; a son, John H. Harris of Los Angeles, California; a son-in-law, Milo C. Murray, Jr.; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Angie Lee Harris; five grandchildren, Eleta Jean Murray, Patricia Ann Murray, David Cranath Murray, Charles Harris and Elizabeth Harris; two aunts; two sisters-in-law, and many cousins.

To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven:

A time to be born, and a time to die;
A time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted;
A time to kill, and a time to heal; A time to break down, and a time to build up;
A time to weep, and a time to laugh;
A time to mourn, and a time to dance;

I know that there is no good in them but for a man to rejoice, and to do good in his life.

I know that whatsoever God doeth, it shall be ever; nothing can be put to it, nor any thing taken from it: and God doeth it. that men should fear before him.

Be Still My Soul

*Be still my soul: the Lord is on thy side;
Bear patiently the cross of grief or pain;
Leave to thy God to order and provide;
In ev'ry change He faithful will remain....
Be still, my soul: thy best, thy heav'nly Friend....
Thro' thorny ways leads to a joyful end....
Be still, my soul: thy God doth undertake....
To guide the future as He has the past.
Thy hope, thy confidence let nothing shake;
All now mysterious shall be bright at last....
Be still my soul: the waves and winds still know....
His voice who ruled them while He dwelt below...
Be still, my soul: the hour is hastening on
When we shall be forever with the Lord,
When disappointment, grief, and fear are gone,
Sorrow forgot, love's purest joys restored...
Be still, my soul: when change and tears are past,
All safe and blessed we shall meet at last Amen.*

*Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of the bar,
When I put out to sea.*

*But such a tide as moving seems asleep,
Too full for sound and foam,
When that which drew from out the boundless deep
Turns again home.*

*Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark!
And may there be no sadness of farewell,
When I embark;*

*For tho' from out our bourne of Time and Place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crossed the bar.*

~ The Obituary ~

Bruh, Brother, John, Johnny. Whatever you called him, he would answer, and usually with a smile. John Henry Harris was the second child of three born to Professor Charles J. and Eleta Atwater Harris. He was the proud grandson of the late John H. and Mamie H. Atwater and the Reverend Jacob W. and Elizabeth J. Harris.

He received his early education at Lyon Park Elementary School and graduated from Hillside High School in 1945.

Talented, gifted, rambunctious and restless, that was John. He loved and protected his sisters during their youth and he also drove them crazy with his ever present antics.

Like his sisters; He received his Christian education at St. Matthew C.M.E. Church which became Russell C.M.E. Church. This church was co-founded by his Atwater grandparents. Scripture and beautiful hymns were always a part of the foundation of the Atwater-Harris household, and though like many of us; He may have stumbled, but he never lost his faith.

After high school, he attended Morehouse and Talladega Colleges. While at Morehouse legend has it that he also drove Dr. Benjamin Mays crazy. But John's restless spirit would not allow him to stay planted in a classroom. After a stint in the United States Army, (where he was stationed in Germany), John pursued his dream of becoming a professional musician. To the horror of his parents, he wanted to be a Jazz Musician. They couldn't understand. After all he was classically trained under Margaret Spaulding Shearin. But, he wanted to follow his influences, Art Tatum and Earl "Fatha" Hines.

So, off he went traveling and playing and living in places like Chicago, Topeka, KS, Lake Charles, LA, Los Angeles, Hawaii and finally San Diego, CA. In Chicago in the 1950's, he played with a group called The Cats & The Fiddles. Later on he became the pianist for one of the Ink Spots spin-off groups. In between these two groups and after, there were numerous gigs as a solo artist and sideman; Every group he was in had a much richer sound because they had John Harris on piano.

During his career, John played with well-known musicians as well as novices. He was always encouraging young artists to pursue their dream. His style was appreciated from President Bill Clinton, (whom he played for at a fund-raiser), to the everyday man and woman.

A little more than 10 years ago, he met his soul-mate, Eleanor Brown Witt. Through the lost art of letter writing; a friendship blossomed into love. Eleanor and John shared a love for music, travel and cultivating friendships. Her family became his. No two people could be more suitably matched. Eleanor's children's respect and love for John became evident when twin girls were born to her daughter Bridget. One twin was named after his mother. Her name - Erin Eleta.

John spent his last years entertaining in the Prince of Wales Room at the Del Coronado Hotel near San Diego.

Rancouteur, a master at weaving melodies and storylines, spiritual, kind and intelligent. We'll miss his laughter; his giant pots of soup and his music. No one could sing "My Funny Valentine" like him.

This was man who met no strangers. All roads led back to Durham. We love him and we know that he is having a joyous reunion with his parents, grandparents and especially with his little sister, Jean who made her transition this date in 1995.

He leaves to mourn, his beloved, Eleanor B. Witt; his dear sister, Mayme H. Perry; brother-in-law, Milo C. Murray Jr.; nieces, Eleta J. Murray-Smith (Donald) and Patricia A. Murray; grandniece, Jihan B. Murray-Smith; cousin, Julia Tapp; Eleanor's children, Steven, Lynn, Bridget, Craig and many, many friends.

Obituary

The daughter of the late Waverly and Mary Wyatt, Mrs. Julia Wyatt Harris was born in Jarrett, Virginia on August 5, 1895. She departed this life on November 30, 1983 at Hillhaven Rehabilitation and Convalescent Center.

She received her public school education at Petersburg, Virginia. After attending Virginia Normal and Industrial Institute for two years, she received her teaching certificate at the age of 18. Her first teaching position was in rural Virginia.

In 1921, she married Dr. Alfred Harris and was required to give up her teaching in Petersburg where she had taught for seven years, because of a rule barring married female teachers.

Following her husband's death after only two years of marriage, Mrs. Harris completed her work for a degree at Virginia State University. She was then employed in 1925 as a housemother and part-time teacher at what is now known as North Carolina Central University. In 1934, she received a Masters Degree in English from Columbia University. From then until her retirement in 1961, she was an Assistant Professor at North Carolina Central University.

Mrs. Harris was an active member of Saint Titus Episcopal Church where she served in many positions with the Episcopal Churchwomen and for many years as Director of the Altar Guild. She also served in various capacities with the Churchwomen of the Diocese of North Carolina.

She was a Board Member of the Golden Age Council which was the forerunner of the Coordinating Council for Senior Citizens. At the time of her passing, she was an honorary member of said organization. She had also served as a member of the Board of Directors of Lincoln Community Health Center. Mrs. Harris was the founder of Beta Zeta Chapter of the National Sorority Phi Delta Kappa. In addition she held membership in several civic, social and cultural clubs.

She was a genuine lover of people and her aid to students never ended until her serious illness.

Surviving are two nieces, Mrs. Rachel Booth of Trenton, New Jersey and Mrs. Eleanor Young of Jamesburg, New Jersey; two nephews by marriage, Mr. Llewellyn Harris, III and Mr. Erdom H. Harris of Greensboro; one niece by marriage, Mrs. Ida Burghhardt of Lanham, Maryland; three great nieces; two great nephews; a host of relatives and friends.

It is now darkness you are going to, for God is Light.

It is not lonely, for Christ is with you.

It is not an unknown country, for Christ is there.

Safely Home

*I am home in Heaven, Dear Ones;
Oh, so happy and so bright!
There is perfect joy and beauty
In this everlasting light.*

*All the pain and grief is over,
Every restless tossing passed;
I am now at peace forever;
Safely home in Heaven at last.*

*Did you wonder why I so calmly
Trod the valley of the shade?
Oh' but Jesus' love illuminated
Every dark and fearful glade.*

*And He came Himself to meet me
In that way so hard to tread;
And with Jesus' arm to lean on
Could I have one doubt or dread?*

*Then you must not grieve so sorely,
For I love you dearly still;
Try to look beyond earth's shadows.
Pray to trust our Father's will.*

*There is work still waiting for you,
So you must not idly stand.
Do it now, while life remaineth -
You shall rest in Jesus' land.*

*When the work is all completed,
He will gently call you home;
Oh, the rapture of that meeting,
Oh, the joy to see you come!*

Obituary

Katara Paulette Harris

November 18, 1989 - October 26, 1997

On October 26, 1997, God sent forth angels and gave Katara her wings. She will be truly missed by all that knew and loved her. Katara was the daughter of Claudette Harris McMillian and Howard Eaglin Jr. whom both preceded her in death. Upon her parents death, Katara became the loving angel of Mary Hill and Willie Strayhorn.

She leaves to cherish her gift of life Seven Aunts: Linda Faye Breeze of Hillsborough N.C., Laverne Harris, Diane Harris Smith, Shelia Harris all of Durham, Liz Turner of Chicago, Ill., Anita Johnson of Miliani Town Hawaii, Molly Turner of Las Vegas, Nevada; Seven Uncles: Maurice Johnson, Miliani Town Hawaii, Ronald Harris, Donald Harris both of Durham, Willie Breeze of Hillsborough, N.C., Ron Turner of Richmond, Va., Silas Turner of Las Vegas, Nevada, Dale Turner of Chicago, Ill., and a host of relatives, cousins, and friends. Katara's selected family includes: Grandmother's Lottie Kee, Beau Hall, Dorothy Kelly, Grandma Blair and big sister's Tarya and Countess.

Katara like a ray of sunshine~ you came and brightened our days, your love, joy, laughter, and smiles will be with us always.

With sadness and tears we watched you go, but there is reassurance in knowing you are looking down below.

We are awaiting that day when we shall see you once more, for we know that you will be there waiting, not far from the door.

Rest on our precious niece for the battle has been won,
It is a blessing in knowing that your suffering here is done.

Love Always,

Your Aunts and Uncles

Wings

*Oh, to catch the winds of flight and soar where eagles go, to leave the woes of troubled souls
behind me far below.
I'd listen to the songs of birds and sail in endless flight
Then chase the sun through cloudy paths and play with stars at night.*

*The boundless heavens for my home
The breeze to lift me high to rise above my mortal bonds and never have to die.
Knowing I had found the way to trails where angels trod and when my wings could fly no more
I'd take the hand of God.*

C. David Hay

*Do not grieve, for God is with us in death, as well as life.
For He is our creator and will always abide with us, to comfort us when tears run down our eyes,
And our hearts seem torn apart
when loved ones from us depart.
How blessed we are to live with a life only God can give,
And how blessed we are to die
when He awaits us in the sky.*

We thought of you with love today
But that is nothing new.

We Thought about you yesterday and before that too,
We think of you in silence we often speak your name.
All we have now are memories and your picture in a frame.
Your memory is our keepsake with which we will never part.
God has you in his keeping, we have you in our hearts.

A million times we have cried.

If love alone could have saved you,
Then you never would have died.

In death we love you still.

In our hearts

You hold a place no one can ever fill.

It broke our hearts to lose you

But you didn't go alone,

For a part of us went with you the day

God took you home.

Our lives will never

Be the same without you here, so

Each day after, I will often shed a tear.

We miss you and we love you.

Mom, Staci and Dad

In a twinkling of an eye
You were gone

God's love for your family will Carry us on

You are in His loving arms
Safe now from any harm

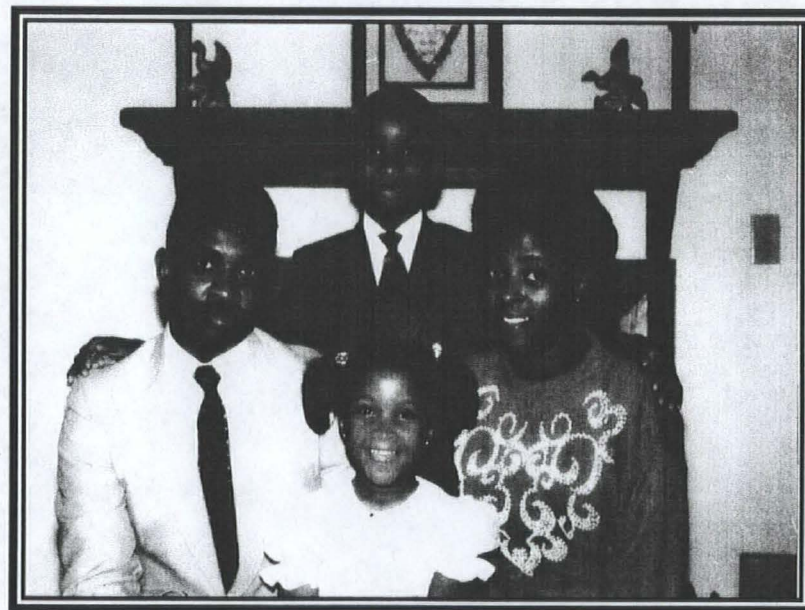

He took you first for he knows
What is best

Our precious son, we will see you again
In our final rest.

morning.

~ The Obituary ~

Mrs. Mable Freeland Harris was born November 7, 1914 in Durham, North Carolina to the late Benjamin and Lorena Freeland. She was educated in the Durham City Public School System. After graduation from high school, following her father's death, she became employed at Duke Hospital and worked there a few years until meeting the late Greenville E. Harris of Madison, Indiana, who was recruited by the late Dr. James T. Taylor to attend North Carolina College where he received a football scholarship. After marrying Greenville, Mable was encouraged by him to attend college while his teaching assignment was interrupted for military duty. She graduated from Fayetteville State Teachers College and later received her Masters degree from North Carolina College.

Mable began teaching in Fremont, North Carolina but spent the majority of her career in the Durham City School System at Burton and R. N. Harris Elementary Schools. She enjoyed children and gained much satisfaction from teaching and especially the subjects of reading and phonics.

Her interests were reading, pinocle, physical fitness activities, dancing, traveling, cooking and helping others, especially visiting the sick.

Some organizations in which Mable held membership were Eta Phi Beta Sorority, Women In Action, National Education Association, The National Council of Negro Women, The Silhouettes, Hillside High School Class of 1932, Model Mothers Club, RSVP, and Retired Teachers Association.

Mable has always been involved in the church and began her work at West Durham Baptist Church as a child with her family. Later in adulthood she joined White Rock Baptist Church where she served on the Deacon and Trustee Boards, Class President of Susie V. Norfleet Class, Maude E. Logan District, Member of the Senior Adult Fitness Class where she was voted "Ms. Senior Adult Fitness", and helped organize the "Repat Committee" for serving at Church following funerals.

Mable received many awards from the church, school system and various organizations. She was honored in May 2001 (Mother's Day) when the Child Development Center of White Rock Baptist Church dedicated the Mable F. Harris Outdoor Classroom.

Baba, as she was called by the family, was a fun person who gave of herself unselfishly and took much pride in her family. She was always known for expressing her opinions, fighting for the underdog, and of course wearing those high heeled shoes! One of her favorite expressions when she was happy was "Have Mercy", and she would clap her hands and laugh. Her granddaughter, Shaunia, said when she passed "God has a feisty little lady in Heaven now!"

Mable was the last of her siblings. Preceding her in death were Alton and Theodore Freeland, Elizabeth Tate and Alice Merritt.

Survivors include daughters Priscilla H. Wallace of Washington, DC and M. Lorraine Harris of Miami, Florida; a granddaughter, Shaunia P. Wallace Carlyle, Esq. and her husband, Stanley P. Carlyle; Paul S. Wallace, Jr., Esq., a devoted son-in-law; one brother-in-law, Grady A. Tate; two sisters-in-law, Estelle Belcher and Julia Freeland, and numerous nieces, nephews, and other family members.

The family gratefully acknowledges and deeply appreciates the numerous expressions of love, kindness, prayers, and sympathy extended to them during the illness and death of our loved one. It has been of great comfort to know that you shared and cared. May God continue to richly bless each of you.

When Tomorrow Starts Without Me

When tomorrow starts without me
And I'm not there to see
If the sun should rise and find your eyes
All filled with tears for me.

I wish so much you wouldn't cry
The way you did today
While thinking of the many things
We didn't get to say.

I know how much you love me
As much as I love you
And each time that you think of me
I know you'll miss me too.

But when tomorrow starts without me
Please try to understand
That an angel came and called my name
And took me by the hand

And said my place was ready
In heaven far above
And that I'd have to leave behind
All those I dearly love.

But when I walked through heaven's gates
I felt so much at home
When God looked down and smiled at me
From His great golden throne.

He said, This is eternity
And all I've promised you,
Today for life on earth is past,
But here it starts anew.

*Your gentle face and patient smile
With sadness we recall
You had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.*

*The voice is mute and stilled the heart,
That loved us well and true
Ah, bitter was the trial to part
From one so good as you*

*You are not forgotten loved one
Nor will you ever be,
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.*

*We miss you now, our hearts are sore
As time goes by we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face
No one can fill your vacant place.
Sorrowfully submitted,
The Family

Obituary

The long constructive life of Sallie Parker Harris spanned more than ninety years. Born in Durham County, North Carolina to the late John Y. and Cynthia Bass Parker, Sallie possessed high standards of conduct. She was a very warm and compassionate person, who enriched the communities in which she lived with her dignity, love and intelligence.

Sallie graduated from North Carolina College at Durham (Now North Carolina Central University). After graduation she began her teaching career which lasted forty-eight years. Sallie was an affectionate and dedicated teacher who touched and enriched the lives of many students.

In 1921, she married the late Thomas Harris who preceded her in death in 1934.

Sallie was a beautiful person who cherished her family, her students and her friends. She was loved devotedly by her sisters. Not only was she loved but she dearly loved her family including nieces and nephews. This love was shown by the manner in which she always remembered them with Christmas gifts, even during her illness.

"Miss Sallie", as she was affectionately known, had as her own philosophy, "never mislead a child; and above all be honest with him."

On Tuesday, February 21, 1989, after a lengthy illness, Sallie Harris quietly went to sleep forever.

Sallie Parker Harris was a devoted and loyal member of the Mt. Calvary Baptist Church and held office in the Missionary Circle. She was a member of many other organizations, among them are: The National Education Association for Retired Teachers, The Dorcas Club, The Azalea Flower Club, The ROSCO Club, The AARP and the Women's Auxiliary of East Cedar Grove Association, and The Durham City/County Retired School Personnel.

OBITUARY

Lizzie Louise Bullock Harrison was an absolutely remarkable lady because she made a decision to rejoice and be glad every single day of her life, and she never wavered in her resolve. Just as she was entering adulthood, she experienced events that could have caused her to become embittered and defeated, but she never even considered such a possibility. Instead —

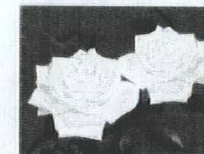

When His word said, be strong and courageous, she said, "I certainly will. I will not allow any obstacle to make me give in or give up."

When His word said, learn the secret of being content in any and every situation, she said, "Not only will I learn it; I'll demonstrate how to live it."

When His word said, love your neighbor as yourself, she said, "It will be my pleasure to do so. I'll spend my life always trying to help others."

When His word said, I want you to have an abundant life, she said, "What a wonderful gift! I won't let you down; I'll be a vibrant, happy woman all of my life."

When His word said, I will give you my joy, she said, "Thank you; I accept it. I will never let circumstances dictate how I live my life. I will live joyously always."

She was a beloved and loving sister-in-law, aunt and great aunt. Her life-long friends; her church family, her family at J.J. Henderson Senior Center and the Durham community at large were participants in Lizzie's joyful life, and we are all the better for it. Left to forever cherish her memory are her devoted sister-in-law, Sylvia Mack Cates, niece, Patricia Graham-McVey (Louis), great nieces, Sylvia Farmer and Mariel Christian (Kevin), nephew, Ulysses Jackson (Ann), and other relatives and friends.

Regulations keep ^{11/9/96} business in line

Like his fellow conservatives, economist Walter Williams abhors regulations that have any impact on the business community, whether it's a mom-and-pop enterprise or an international corporation ("Regulations thwart entrepreneurship," Nov. 6).

Conservatives would have us believe that the business world is a socially responsible, benevolent community whose environmental concerns are paramount, that the concerns of the consumer are first and foremost in its conduct.

If that picture were so, regulations indeed would not be needed. Unfortunately, Williams and his fellow conservatives live in a dream world. The object of any for-profit business is to make money — all the money it can, as fast as it can, doing anything it can get away with.

The most obvious example of this is the HMO industry. It costs an HMO money to keep a patient in the hospital, so they gave us "drive-by deliveries" until an outraged public forced most state legislatures to enact regulations to deal with that abuse. HMOs often refuse to pay for expensive emergency room care, arguing that such visits are not necessary, regardless of the circumstances.

Now the federal government is forced to write regulations that would strengthen Medicare beneficiaries' rights to appeal. A current Associated Press article states that "death rates after a stroke were 36 percent lower for patients treated by neurologists rather than family practitioners... but the expenses were 34 percent higher." I wonder if conservatives really believe that HMOs will routinely call in neurologists for all their stroke patients.

As a stockholder, I expect the corporations I invest in to return the largest dividends possible. But as a citizen I have the right to expect our local, state and federal governments to protect me from corporate excesses.
