REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

The Winston-Salem Junior League has gone steadily forward in the sixteenth year of its history. It has maintained its high standard of volunteer service in many fields of work. It has employed a professional placement secretary and has benefited by her advice and guidance. The League has continued to sponsor and finance The Child Guidance Clinic under the supervision of the Mental Hygiene Society of Winston-Salem. The Play, Arts, and Education groups have made definite contributions to the community and the League through their well-directed programs. The News-sheet has kept the League well-informed about its own undertakings as well as about many community projects deserving its consideration. The Scribblers group held a very helpful writing course under the supervision of a professional critic. Weekly classes in occupational therapy have been conducted successfully at the County Hospital. The three shops—the Beauty Parlor, the Gift Shop, and the Thrift Shop—have operated profitably during the year and the proceeds from them and the Christmas dance have been directed toward the support of the Clinic. At the March meeting the League voted to do away with the annual Christmas dance and in its place to sponsor a series of four New York plays to be brought to the city by the Legitimate Theatre Corporation of New York.

The League was represented at the Association Conference in Pittsburgh and at the Play Conference in Chattanooga.

The detailed reports of the professional placement secretary, the officers and the committee chairmen follow. They show the development and progress made by the League this year in its various fields of endeavor. I wish to thank the officers and chairmen for their enthusiasm and splendid leadership, and each member for her helpful cooperation and fine work in every phase of the League program.

Aurelia B. Plumly,
President.

Report of the Second Vice-President

At the November meeting two days were designated for interviews with League members who wished to suggest names to the membership committee.

The membership committee met six times, carefully discussing and investigating the qualifications of all those who had been proposed. One meeting of the committee was devoted to discussing plans for improving the method of electing members and the conclusions were reported to the Executive Board.

The names of fourteen candidates were presented at the December meeting with a brief mimeographed biography of each. Professionals and those who were excused from the regular meeting were permitted to vote in the presence of the second vice-president. Eleven girls were elected to membership as follows:

Frances Alexander
Mrs. Charles Babcock (Mary Reynolds)
Mrs. Jesse Blackwell (Elizabeth Moore)
Mrs. John Creech (Cortlandt Preston)
Mrs. James Crosby (Edith Jones)
Mrs. Joe Glenn Jr. (Betsy Anderson)
Georgia Goodson
Mary Louise McClung
Jane Skinner Moore
Dorothy Thomas
Blevins Vogler.

Respectfully submitted,
Miriam Hoyt,
Second Vice-President.

Report of the Recording Secretary

There were nine regular meetings and one call meeting of the Executive Board and eight regular meetings and one call meeting of the Winston-Salem Junior League for the year 1938-1939.

In February a banquet was given in honor of the Provisional members.

Respectfully submitted,
Dorris Cannon Wilkinson,
Recording Secretary.

Report of the Corresponding Secretary

Twenty-nine letters have been written by the corresponding secretary during the year. In addition reports of the monthly League meetings, incorporating such news as would not subsequently be reported in the Newssheet, were mailed during a part of the year to professional members who were unable to attend meetings.

Two members of the League have resigned this year, and three have been transferred to other Leagues.

The year book for 1938-39 was compiled and edited, and copies mailed to all members.

Respectfully submitted,
Mary Belo Carlyle,
Corresponding Secretary.

Placement

The need for more workers continues, both for the agencies of the city and for own projects. Consequently, during 1938-39 a great number of League members have filled two, three and four jobs. The heads of the social agencies were interviewed at the beginning of the year, and a check-up with these persons has been made from time to time throughout the year. Every League member was not interviewed in the fall, but special individual conferences were held with all those who were changing their volunteer work and with those who had special problems. The Provisionals have been placed, each of them carrying one regular job and one substitute piece of work.

The Professional Placement Secretary has met regularly with the school-visiting group, and it is felt that great progress has been made with these members. One high school has been dropped from the schools visited, four elementary schools requested service which they were given, and two additional elementary schools are now planning to use our volunteers next year. The City Welfare department volunteers also received special training under Miss Larson and their work has been most satisfactory. Four additional volunteers could be used there. The Junior Red Cross group added one volunteer this year who carried this work to the County Schools for the first time. Two persons are needed at the present time to operate the vision-testing machine which is to be used in the City Schools.

Report of Professional Placement Secretary April, 1939

Emphasis in the work of the placement secretary this year has been in two directions. First, the training and educational program of the League has been a steady interest and activity. Second, the work with the Mental Hygiene Society and the Clinic has required concentration and continued effort. The second year has offered greater opportunities for intensive work, since the period of orientation in a new community and with new work always dissipates both time and effort.

The training of social welfare volunteers has been conducted on a different basis than last year, with improved results. In the early fall a brief general course was given for all members interested in welfare work. Following this, training was continued, in small groups concerned with a specific type of work, and with individuals actually on their jobs. The result has been a much higher degree of interest in details of training and work, and much greater efficiency. The placement secretary has also served more and more as a consultant in individual problems as they have arisen.

Last spring the yearly report included mention of a special project then under way in testing and classifying the children in one public school. This work was completed, and a summary of the findings was presented to the School Board by the principal of that school. The Board considered the report with interest, and assigned one additional teacher to the school for this year in order to open a special class for retarded and defective children. This is a beginning in the solution of a very serious problem. The class has removed from the regular class rooms a number of children who were unable to progress normally, and who were therefore behavior problems. These children have improved greatly in this new program and with the individual teaching and attention. Several Clinic cases are also in this class, all of whom have adjusted remarkably well, but for whom there was little hope of adjustment otherwise.

Another project of special interest has been that of volunteer visiting in the public schools. These now number five, and the workers hold regular monthly conferences, sometimes with all the principals present. They are keeping uniform records, monthly reports, and use the Social Service Exchange not only for clearance of cases, but for registration of those needing any type of real case work. There are requests for this service in other schools, but at present there are no additional volunteers available. As a result of this work, the League has been requested by the principals to furnish volunteers for a new project. They have acquired equipment for testing vision, and they wish League Volunteers to learn to administer the tests and take charge of this program in the schools.

For the first time since the League has concentrated upon volunteer welfare work, there has been an opportunity for genuine case-aid work for a group of girls, with adequate supervision. One member worked last year in the City Welfare Department, and from that has grown a department of volunteer work. These workers are under the direct supervision of Miss Dowdy and are in charge of a group of boarding homes. They are giving service in routine aspects of supervision which a volunteer may handle such as clothing needs, medical care, and school progress of the children. Some similar service has been given in the Juvenile Relief Home also.

The interesting and encouraging aspect of the volunteer work is the thoroughness and care with which most of the volunteers approach it. In each of these agencies the volunteers have also had an excellent opportunity to observe the type of work being done by the agency, the additional needs in the field, and the work as it is done professionally, or the need for professional workers if there are none.

A change was made this year in the plans for community Christmas giving. The central committee was general and inclusive of all groups in the city, with the League assuming the duty of operating the clearing house and special social service exchange as its contribution to the plan.

In January the placement secretary helped plan and give the course for the provisional members, which was this year extended to three weeks. Placement conferences were held at the conclusion of the course.

Beginning in March another course was started, this time on problems in family relationships, with emphasis upon adult aspects rather than upon children's problems. The class meets weekly and will continue through the spring.

The Clinic and the Mental Hygiene Society have progressed exceptionally well, but it has been necessary to spend as much if not more time on them than last year. A need for continued education in the community, and a growing interest on the part of other groups in the general problems of mental hygiene in the State has called for a great deal of talking and discussion with groups. Dr. Lloyd Thompson came to the city in February to meet with the Board of the Clinic, and there will be a large open meeting in May at which Dr. Lawson Lowrey will speak. There has also been the need for working out a plan for permanent psychiatric service, which will perhaps be settled during the spring and summer. The Clinic reports, elsewhere included, show that the actual work of the Clinic has been very good, and that the acceptance by the community of a new type of service has been gratifying.

An effort has been made throughout the year to see and maintain a proper balance between the various departments of the League work. The welfare work has received most time, not because it is necessarily most important, but because it is relatively new and expanding so rapidly that it requires a great deal of attention. The number of volunteers in welfare work has not increased over last year; no effort has been made to enlarge this group beyond the proper proportion of people in any one type of work.

As a whole, the year has been one of intensive and detailed work rather than one of expansion.

Respectfully submitted,

Elsie Larson,

Professional Placement Secretary.

Report of the Child Guidance Clinic

April 1, 1938 to April 1, 1939

In the spring of 1937 the Winston-Salem Mental Hygiene Society asked the Junior League to finance a Child Guidance Clinic for a demonstration period. The Clinic opened in October of that year, in what was formerly The Junior League Hospital for Incurables, and had been running for six months at the time of our last report. This report covers the next twelve months of operation.

Dr. Malcolm Kemp, of Pine Bluff, N. C., continued to act as temporary director, and Mrs. Florence Ryan was again the full time social worker. Both Salem College and N. C. C. W. have been most generous in giving the assistance of their psychologists and psychological material. And members of the medical profession in Winston-Salem have volunteered their services for physical examinations.

During this year the Clinic has dealt with the problems, in some form or other, of 180 children.

Active cases carried forward from the previous year	30
New cases accepted as full clinic cases....	53
Old cases followed up.....	8
Special psychometric tests.....	73
Consultations about special problems.....	9
Applications rejected or withdrawn.....	7
Total	180

In contrast to the previous report which showed the predominance of referrals from the schools, referrals are about equally divided among the agencies, schools, and private referrals. The Clinic has widened its scope to include contacts with every white school in the city, six county schools, and all of the public and private agencies in both city and county.

During the year 43 cases, including those accepted for special service, were closed, and may be classified as follows:

Unadjusted	7
Left Town	2
Partially Adjusted	13
Satisfactorily Adjusted	21

In addition to the above work, group tests were made in one school by the Junior League Placement Secretary. Following this, individual tests were given by the Clinic psychologist to a number of those children showing the lowest rating. From this survey it was found that one-third of the children in the school were two or more years retarded. As a direct result of this study, the City School Board granted a special teacher to this school. This class has functioned so successfully, even with inadequate facilities, that classes have been started in two other elementary schools.

Volunteers from the Junior League have worked with two play groups, a garden project, and Christmas and Easter parties. One of the most useful of the volunteer services has been the coaching in remedial reading. Without this assistance it would have been impossible to have carried on successfully two very difficult cases.

Respectfully submitted,
Elizabeth B. Graham,
Chairman.

Annual Report of the Arts Committee

The Arts Committee has functioned with diligence and determination during the past year as you will recall from the monthly reports. This report will summarize the activities of your committee for this period.

We have helped at the Wachovia Historical Museum during the year, by assisting in the restoration of the first floor of the old building, by soliciting memberships, and by serving on a committee for the solicitation of funds for the purchase of the Old Salem Tavern. At the invitation of your committee the Junior League held its April meeting at the Museum.

It was our hope that we could secure an outstanding art exhibit for Winston-Salem during the past year. We studied the list of available exhibits submitted by the A. J. L. A. We wrote to the University of North Carolina and Duke University for a list of the exhibits to be shown there during the winter. This effort resulted in great disappointment as we found that the exhibits were entirely too expensive for us to consider this year.

The Arts Committee is planning to sponsor an exhibit of the work of the Community Art School students at the close of the school year. During the past year a contribution of $63.39 was made from our appropriation towards this work. One member of our committee has acted as treasurer of the Community Art School for the past several years.

An exhibit of members' work was held at the March meeting of the Junior League, and from this were selected the entries for the Regional Exhibit which was held in Charlotte April 1st through the 14th. We received one first place in the Handicraft Class, one honorable mention in the drawing group of the Open Class, and one honorable mention in Photography. These winners will be sent to the A. J. L. A. Conference in Memphis. There are many to whom we owe thanks for valuable assistance in making the Art Exhibit a success. We could not name them all here, however, we heartily thank them for their valued cooperation.

We are planning to visit the public and private schools in the city during May with the idea of arranging for the school children to visit the Museum. Our committee will act as guides.

This has been an inspiring year for the Arts Committee. Many, many thanks to you who have made the year so successful through your increasing interest and appreciation.

Respectfully submitted,

Elsie H. Siewers,
Chairman of Arts Committee.

Report of the Winston-Salem Play Group 1938-1939

On Friday afternoon, December 2, 1938, at 3:30 p. m., in the Reynolds Memorial Auditorium, the Play Group presented a three-act play, Jack and the Beanstalk, by Mrs. Charlotte Chorpenning. The play was most enthusiastically received by approximately twenty-one hundred children and adults. The entire cast was composed of Junior League girls of the Play Group, and all scenery and costumes were designed and executed by Junior League girls. For the first time in the history of the Play Group it was necessary to go outside the League for a coach, and fortunately the services of Mrs. W. B. Underwood of Greensboro were secured. Approximately six hundred and fifty tickets were given away in the schools to the underprivileged children. Buses were donated by Junior League girls and interested outsiders for the purpose of transporting school children from all parts of town; seven Greyhound buses were used, three of which made two trips, five Duke Power Company buses, one Blue Eagle bus, and the Children's Home bus.

In January, 1939, two members of the Play Group, Miss Elizabeth Magie and Mrs. L. G. Bergman attended the Children's Theatre Conference held in Chattanooga, Tennessee, for Regions IV, V, and VI. The conference was very beneficial and the delegates came back with many new ideas for the improvement and advancement of the Play Group.

On February 25, 1939, the Play Group sponsored The Bumble Bee Prince, an opera, with music by Rimsky Korsakov, produced by Junior Programs, Inc. The show was given at the Carolina Theatre on Saturday morning. Free tickets were given away, but no transportation was furnished to and from the theatre. The crowd was disappointingly small, which we attribute chiefly to the fact that there was a measles and a flu epidemic in town at that time. Quite a bit of money was lost on this venture, however, we feel that it was certainly worthwhile entertainment for the children and money well spent if it gave those who were there some appreciation of opera. The audience really was very attentive, even if the applause was weak.

At present our trouping project for this spring has been postponed until fall, due to a conflict in time with the Legitimate Theatre drive and campaign which is scheduled for the middle of May. However, early in September we hope to troupe to the schools with a short play entitled, The Dragon Who Giggled.

Respectfully submitted,
Lillian Cromer Bergman.

Report of the Education Chairman

In the fall a general training course on welfare problems was conducted by Miss Larson. The public was invited, and several persons who were not League members attended. Forty was the average attendance at each of the four meetings.

Dr. Walter Cutter of Raleigh spoke at the November League meeting on current economic and social conditions.

The Provisional Training Course was held over a period of three weeks, the group meeting three times a week. The first five meetings were concerned with social work, community problems, and League structure. The last four were concerned with basic economic problems. A varied reading list was assigned, and examination papers were minutely corrected.

In the spring Miss Larson held weekly meetings, giving lectures on Parent-Child Relationships with the emphasis on the parent. These meetings were attended by a small but very interested group of League members.

Dr. Lawson Lowery, eminent psychiatrist, spoke at the May meeting of the League.

Reading recommendations were furnished to League members throughout the year by this committee.

Respectfully submitted,

Reby Randolph,
Chairman.

The Publicity Committee

All of the outstanding activities of the League were regularly reported. In addition, there were special articles on the provisional training course, the problems discussed at the February meeting of the National Executive Board in New York, the visit of our Regional Director, Mrs. Holland, the National Conference at Memphis and the election of a new director for our region.

The committee cooperated with special events of publicity committees of the league, and particularly with the publicity committee of the Mental Hygiene Society and the Child Guidance Clinic.

Respectfully submitted,

Miriam Hoyt.

Report of the Scribblers Club

A series of fortnightly meetings were held in the spring of 1939 under the direction of Mr. James Painter, of the English faculty of the Woman's College, University of North Carolina. The League paid Mr. Painter sixty dollars for the course.

Two new members were added to the Scribblers Club from the group of provisional members. Interest was keener and attendance more regular this year than in preceding years. Some of the contributions reviewed by the Scribblers Club were published in the Newssheet and two were accepted by the Junior League Magazine.

The Scribblers wish to thank the League for providing such an excellent critic as we have had in Mr. Painter.

Respectfully submitted,

Mary Belo Carlyle,
Chairman.
