IEMORY is our friend. Her eye brims with understanding; her voice is caressing and tender; her touch is magnetic with sympathy. Today, Youth lures us to go; tomorrow, Age will command us to stay, and then will Memory be my sweet-voiced guest, and she will sit by my side, and look into my dimming eyes, and sing the songs of Yesterday."—Byron

Bennett College for Women Greensboro, A. C.

May 16, 1932.

Dear Friend:

We have come to the point that we cannot make an appeal to any of our large contributors for further aid. They have donated to us as freely as possible under existing circumstances. Everything has been done to meet our budget needs for the year, and you would be surprised to know how close we have come to it.

You have without a doubt been called upon for many contributions from other schools and colleges this year. You have given to the local community welfare societies. Bennett College for Women is issuing a special appeal based upon a comparatively small, but urgent, need. In order to meet our auditors without a deficit this year we are asking you to mail us the comparatively negligible sum of

ONE DOLLAR.

We can afford to ask you for a sum this small, for the reason that we are asking a large number of persons to do this. You will be astounded to know that our school has been so well managed, so efficiently guided by our Trustees and so well advised by our friends in all sections of the country that we are in need of hardly more than twenty-five hundred dollars to close our year with our books straight. The General Education Board, the Rosenwald Fund, and other Boards have pledged to us amounts that will wipe out all indebtednesses that we have incurred this year provided we can raise this additional sum which approximates twenty-five hundred dollars.

Ours is a young institution of proven worth. You will recall that we are on the list of accredited colleges for Negroes. You will recall that we are one of the two four-year colleges for Negro women. You will be glad to know that you and the rest of our friends have enabled us to stand on our feet this year to the point that we have not embarrassed our teachers by being unable to pay them what we promised, and on time. We are asking that you give us ONE DOLLAR to allow us to close this year with our books balanced. Use the enclosed envelope. Give us this little testimonial of faith in our ability to keep our heads up during the depression!

Very sincerely yours,

David D. Jon President.

624 South Ashe Street Greensboro, N. C. Hay 20, 1932

Dear Bennettite:

You will understand the reason that I am resorting to a form letter, instead of writing you a personal letter in long hand as I would like to do. It is so much easier for me to reach all the people this way, and as the numbers of our old friends with whom I have reestablished contacts increase, I am obliged to use this quicker method.

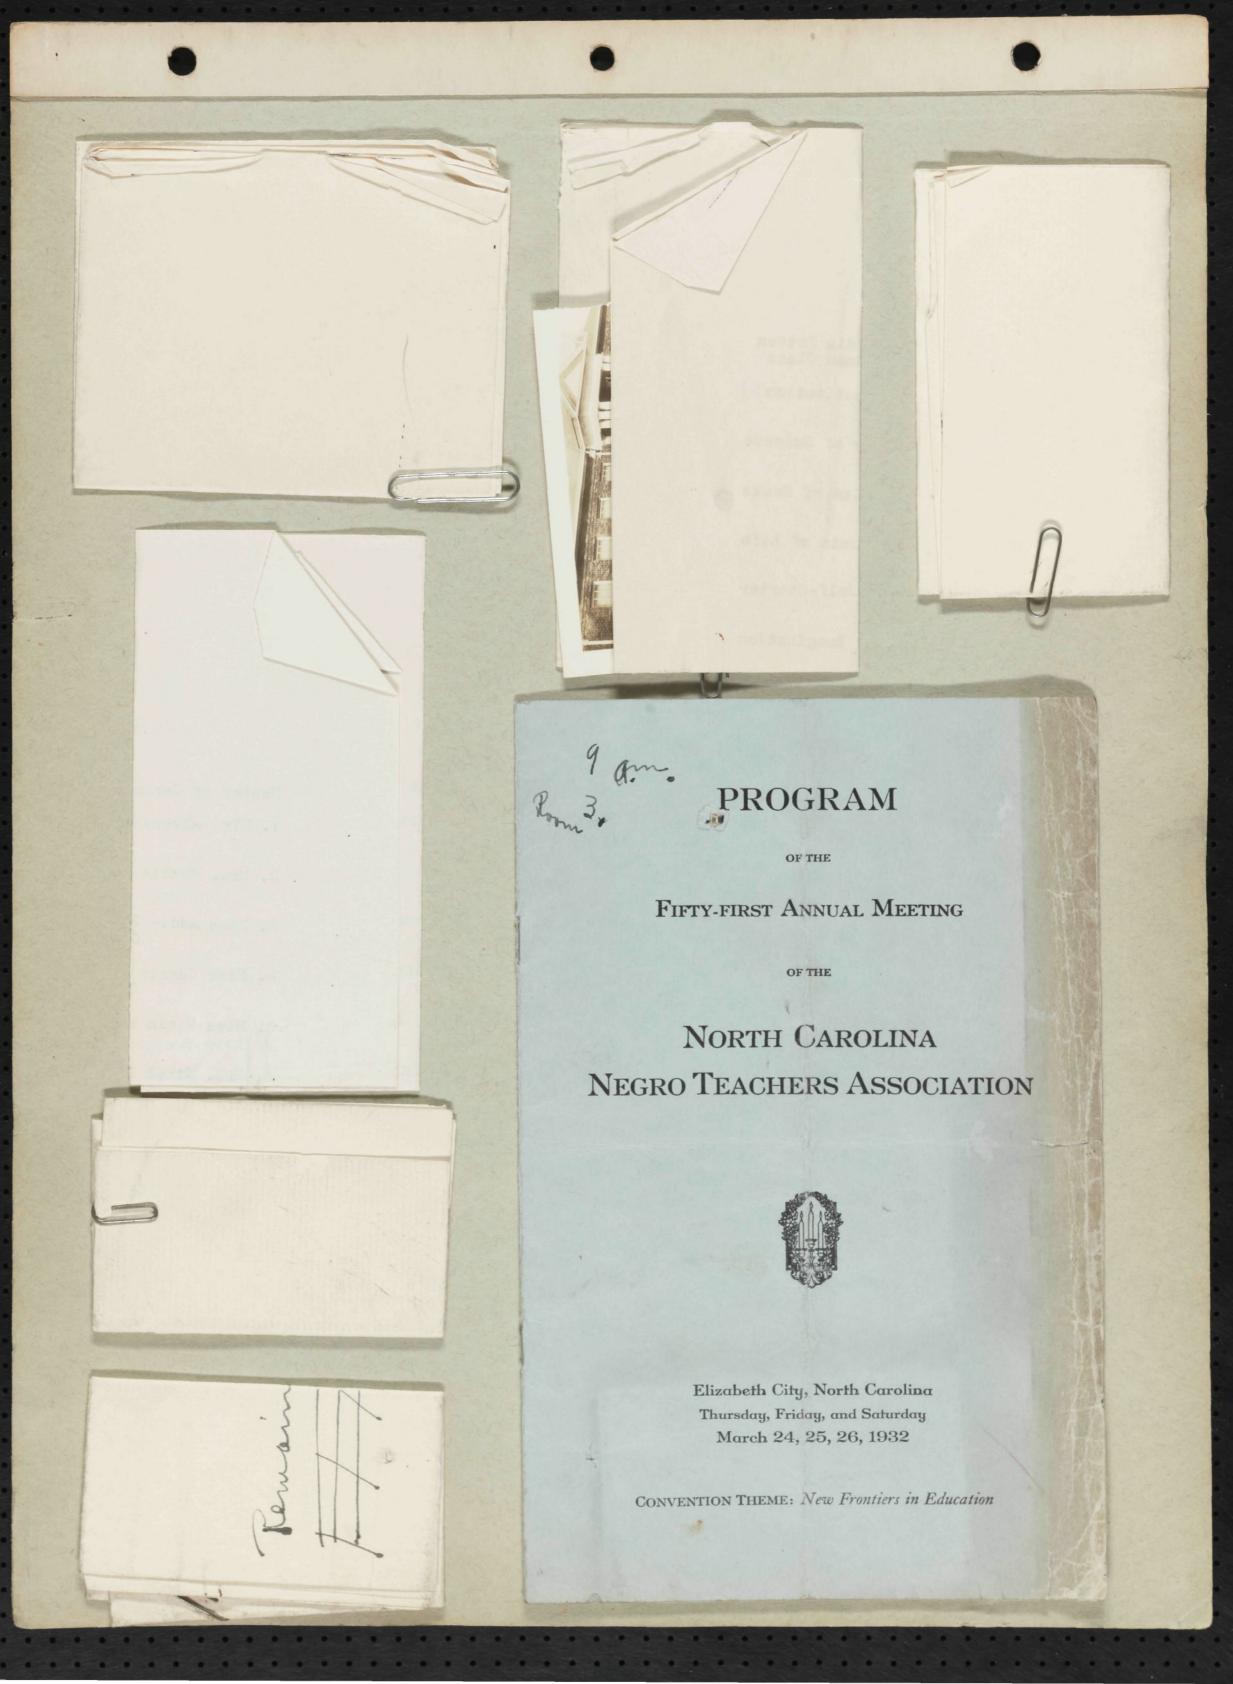

The good news that I have for you is this: In spite of the depression, I have the assurance from President David D. Jones that nothing will be spared this year in making our annual get-together of all graduates, former students, and friends of Bennett, at THE ALL-BENNETT LUNCHEON, as glorious an occasion as our enthusiasm will make it. The burning question is, will YOU be there?

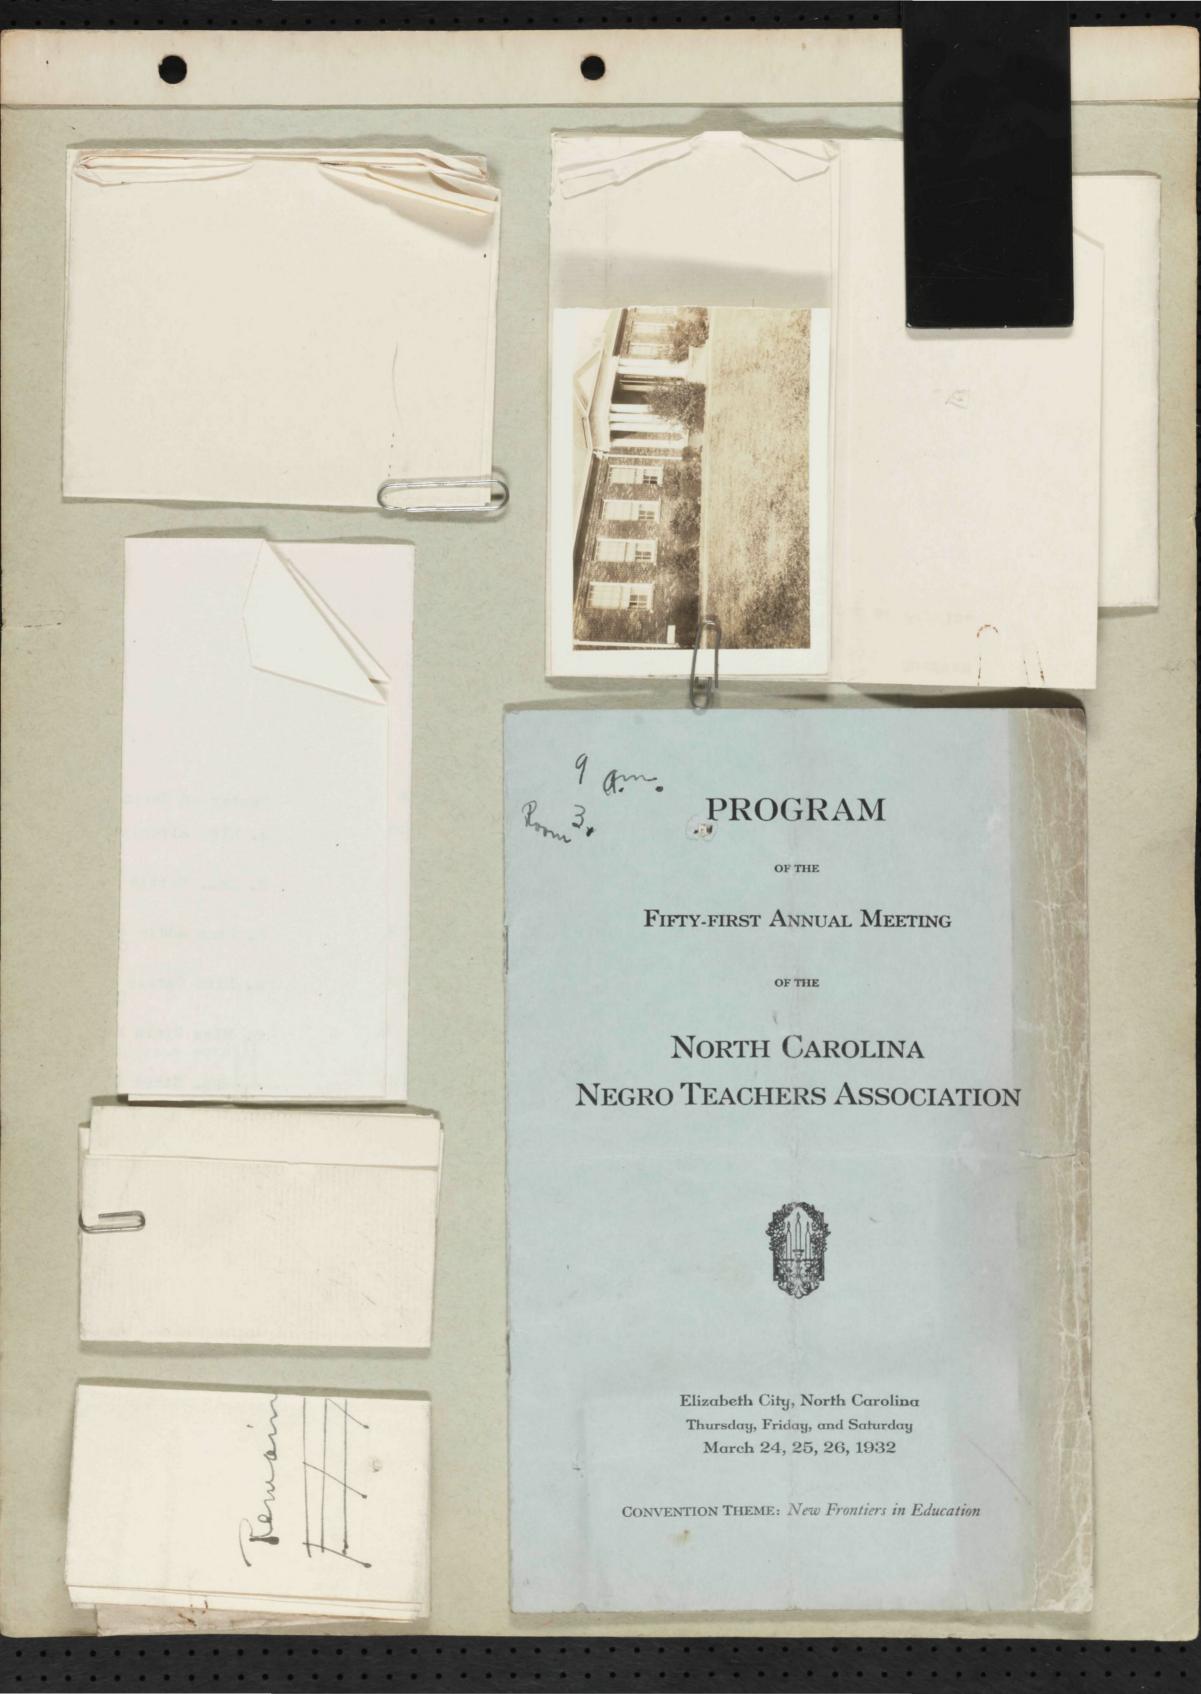

TIME: Monday, May 30, 12:30 p. m. Now sit right down and write on the enclosed card whether you will be on hand. If you are coming, write YES. If not, write NO. By all means, send in the card.

If you have the names of any Bennettites whom I have not reached, send in their names at mce.

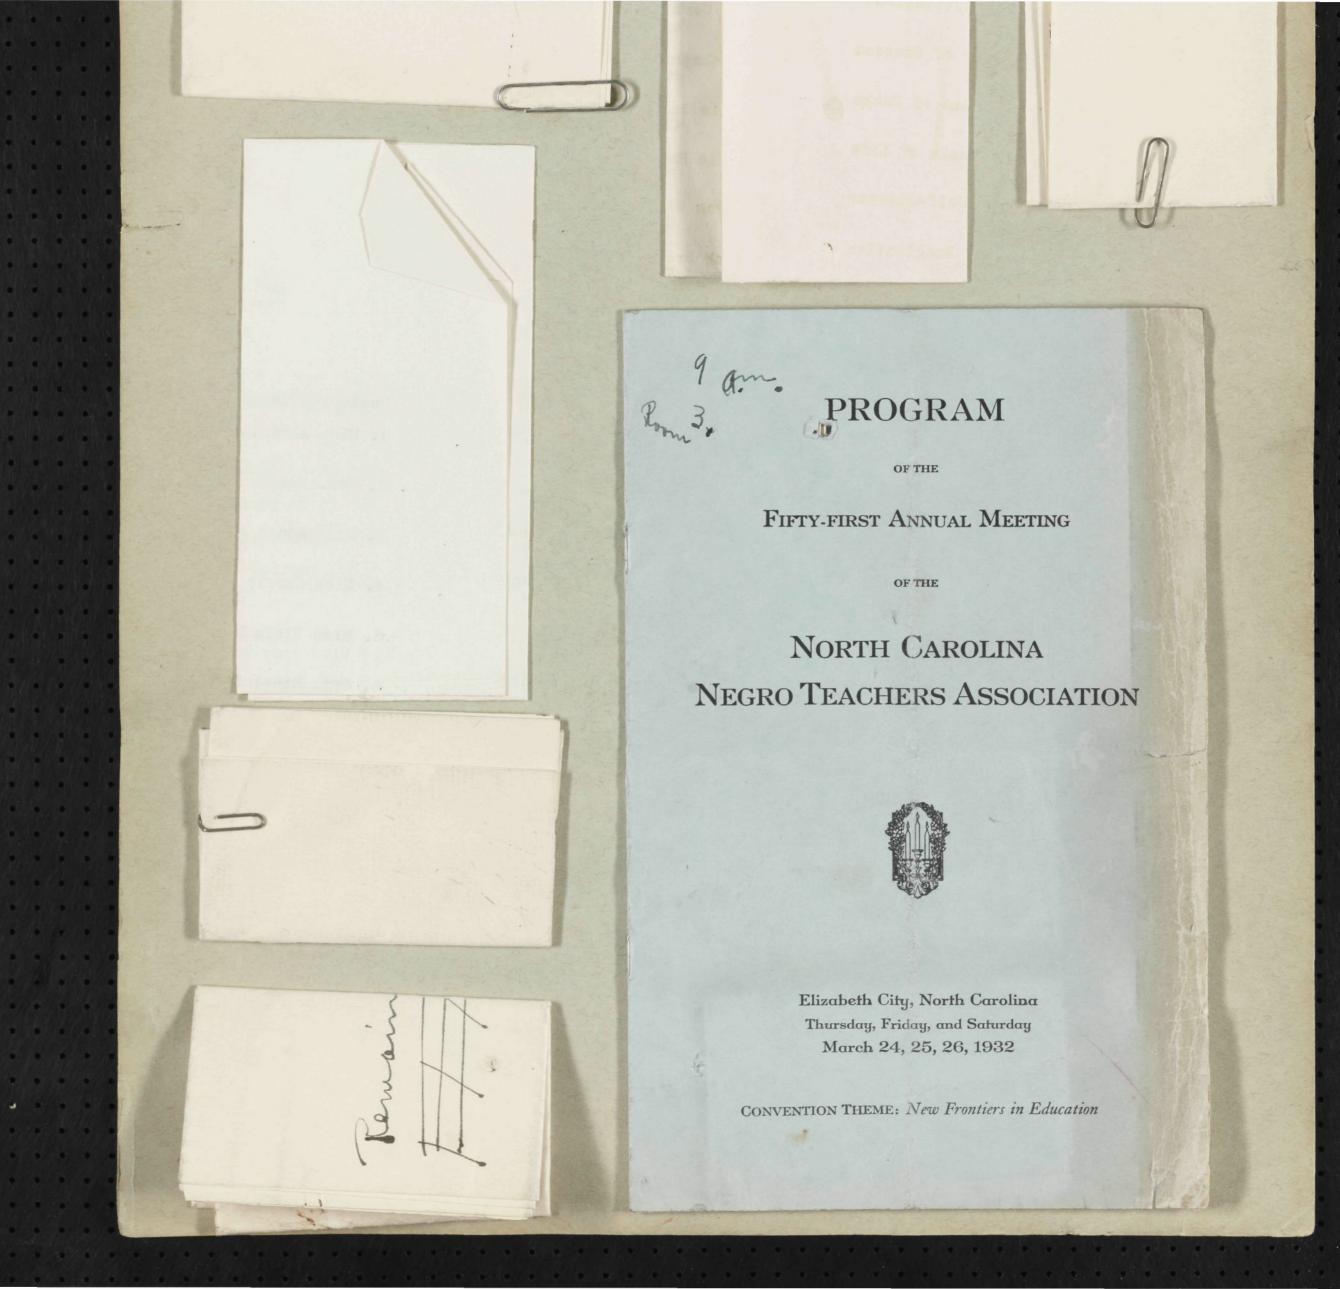

Yours for the Cause,

National President, Bennett Alumni.

The Road To Better Teaching

THE road to better teaching lies in close, constant, systematic, scientific observation of the individual child, not by an occasional specialist, but by the masses of teachers in their daily work in the schoolroom. This method of studying cases has helped doctors to make a profession of medicine which was once even blinder than teaching now is. It will help the teaching profession to give life and vitality to its verbalistic studies of psychology and principles of education. It will lift teaching from drudgery to the plane of a great adventure.—Selected.

The Aaron Douglas Fresco of Harriet Tubman

A T Bennett College for Women, Greensboro, N. C., the mural painting shown above has recently been unveiled. The theme of the painting is Harriet Tubman, who led over three hundred Negro slaves to freedom by way of the Underground Railroad. She was born a slave in Maryland in 1820 and died in Auburn, N. Y., in 1913. She was known as the "Moses of her race." We quote the college Bulletin:

The mural is best described in the language of the artist, Mr. Aaron Douglas, who executed the work at the behest of Mr. Alfred Stern, of Chicago, son-in-law of Julius Rosenwald. Mr. Douglas writes:

"I used Harriet Tubman to idealize a superior type of Negro womanhood. Her pioneer work for the freedom and education of our people is too well known to recount here. I depict her as a heroic leader breaking the shackles of bondage and pressing on toward a new day. Behind her and stretching back symbolically to Africa are the black men and women who toiled and prayed through three hundred years of servitude, gaining their freedom with the successful termination of the Civil War. A dismounted cannon with smoking muzzle is beneath the feet of Harriet Tubman. The group of figures to the right of the center symbolizes the newly liberated people as laborers and heads of families. The last figure symbolizes the dreamer who looks out towards higher and nobler vistas, the modern city, for his race. He represents the preachers, teachers, artists, and musicians of the group. The beam of light that cuts through the center of the picture symbolizes divine inspiration."

Audience will remain standing and join in singing the college hymn

College Hymn

O Christ, our leader and our way, Guide thou our steps as onward still We journey toward thy holy hill, Though clouds hang dark and foes dismay.

O Christ, our Master, who art truth, Be with the teacher and the taught, That words with thy clear wisdom fraught May find swift answer in our youth.

O Christ, our Saviour, fill our need, That when our school shall bid us go, All men may find our lives aglow With thee, in whom is life indeed. Amen.

Alma Mater

Bennett now our voices raise Harmonies of grateful praise! We, thy daughters, find thee fair, Loyally thy colors bear. Truth and honor in thy halls, Faith and love within thy walls; Ever dear to us thou art, Firm within each loyal heart.

Chorus

Alma Mater now we sing! Hail the light that thou dost bring; True we've been throughout the past, True to thee while life shall last.

May we never smirch the good Gendered here in sisterhood.
May we ever choose aright,
Guided but by honor bright.
Ever lovelier shalt thou live
As thy daughters freely give
Ever glorious above
Testimonies of our love.

Till the evening shadows fall,
Till we heed our last clear call,
Mother, may we offer thee
Lives of worth and purity.
Go with us throughout the years,
Smile on us in doubts and fears,
Bless us with thy tender care,
Mother—fairest of the fair!
