CROWN POINT LODGE

From the Henry T. King Collection, #625, East Carolina Manuscript Collection, J. Y. Joyner Library, ECU, Greenville, NC.

Extracts from the Proceedings of the Grand Lodge; A. F. and A. Masons of N. C., at Raleigh. Tues. Wed. and Thurs., January 14–16, 1902.

Tuesday, January 14th—A very interesting communication was read from Bro. F. D. WINSTON, Junior Grand Warden. On motion of Brother BIGGS, the thanks of the Grand Lodge was extended to Brother WINSTON for this valuable document, which was ordered spread upon the minutes.

Windsor, N. C., Jan. 10, 1902.

Most Worshipful Grand Master, and Brethren of the Grand Lodge:

Some weeks ago it was my good fortune to spend an evening with the brethren of Greenville Lodge. During that visit I learned some facts relating to the lodge at Crown Point, in Pitt County. The brethren will recall the interesting correspondence had on this subject which is found in the Proceedings for the years 1895 and 1896. I learned these facts from Bro. Maj. Henry HARDING, an enthusiastic Mason and a most useful citizen. I give you his narrative verbatim:

"About the year 1889, I had the honor of presiding over Greenville Lodge No. 284, as its Worshipful Master. When I was serving in that capacity, there came to the town of Greenville a brother from the State of Massachusetts, who was offering for sale a work that purported to be 'The Colonial History of Free Masonry in America.' From the book I learned that the first lodge in the Colony of North Carolina was instituted at Crown Point, in Pitt County, under a dispensation from the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts. I at once went to work to locate the site of this old lodge. I made diligent inquiry of every old person I could find—white and black—as to the location of Crown Point, in Pitt County. I was about to give up the search. On a visit to my brother, Rev. Israel HARDING, at Washington, N. C., I mentioned the matter to him. He told me that when he was a small boy, about 1835, he had heard Mrs. Col. Samuel VINES,¹ then a very old lady, say, that when a small girl, she had the honor of meeting George WASHINGTON and shaking his hand; and she at that time was visiting the family of Colonel ALLEN, (Shadrach) at Crown Point, in Pitt County. My brother further stated that James HANRAHAN, of Pitt County, was the only living representative of Colonel ALLEN's family, he being his grandson I visited the home of James HANRAHAN, about twenty miles distant from Greenville, and from him I learned that his grandfather, Colonel ALLEN, lived about fifteen miles from Greenville, on the direct road from that place to New Bern, that he was possessed of much wealth in land and slaves, and was quite a Baron in his day. At that time there were only three courts held in the Colony of North Carolina, at Hillsboro, at Halifax, and at New Bern. The judges and the lawyers in passing from Halifax to New Bern and in returning always stopped to spend the night at Colonel ALLEN's. His house became so noted as a resting place for the weary traveller, it was known as Colonel ALLEN's Inn. It was subsequently called Crown Point Inn, in memory of the Old Allen homestead in New York, which was afterwards famous as the scene of one of Ethan ALLEN's victories in 1775. Mr. James HANRAHAN recollected that there was in his grandfather's mansion a room which his grandmother called 'The Masons Room' from which the children and servants were kept by stories of butting goats, coffins and other hob-goblins. Mr. HANRAHAN took me to the site of the old Crown Point Inn and the exact site of the first lodge in North Carolina is now located beyond controversy. About this time, there came to the post office in Greenville, a letter addressed to the 'Master of Masons in Pitt County.' The letter was handed to me. It was from Miss A. M. HOLLIDAY of Upper Marlboro, Westmoreland County, Maryland.² The letter recited that she was very old and destitute, and having been told that the Masons were a noble fraternity of men, and conspicuous for their acts of charity, she had presumed to make an appeal to their generosity. She stated that she had in her possession a diploma or certificate of membership, given to her grandfather, who was a member of the first lodge in North Carolina, at Crown Point, in Pitt County, North Carolina. She stated that in her need she would gladly take any sum we felt willing to give for the old document. By order of Greenville Lodge, I mailed her a check for a good amount, the old document came to hand, and is now in possession of Greenville Lodge.

"A subsequent research into the history of Crown Point Lodge reveals that fact that this lodge paid its Grand Lodge dues for the years 1776 and 1777 to the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts. The records of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts were lost during the War of the Revolution and the exact date of the institution of Crown Point Lodge can not be ascertained. I further find from a diary kept by George WASHINGTON, while on his tour through the South, after the war, that he did pass through Greenville, on his way from Halifax to New Bern, and that he did stay all night with Colonel ALLEN at Crown Point and was accompanied by Colonel ALLEN to New Bern the next day. Mr. HANRAHAN had a copy of this day."

Notes appended by Mr. KING:

- 1 Daughter of Maj. Benj. MAY. Great grandmother of the present generation of Pitt County KINGs.
- 2 No such county in Maryland—should be Prince George.

MILITARY RECORD

(Daily Reflector, Feb. 28, 1911)

We hand you a letter which you will please publish as it will speak for itself. This young man is Robt. Lester JONES, son of Wyatt JONES, better known as Mark, was raised near Harrington's Cross roads, one mile from Ayden. His father died a few years ago and when Bob. rounded up the business, he saw his mother provided for and joined the army. His friends and those not even acquainted with him, will feel proud of him from a patriotic standpoint. This shows what a boy can do when he has the ginger in him, as most Ayden boys do, when given an opportunity, they usually make a record:

Fort Wadsworth, N. Y., Feb. 25, 1911.

Mr. R. W. SMITH, Ayden, N. C.

Dear Sir:

Seeing the other day a copy of the "Eastern Reflector" brought me back to home days in North Carolina. I resided for 6 years in Raleigh, and those were the happiest days of my life. What I want you to present to the readers of the Reflector, especially the readers who reside in Ayden is the military record of one of her sons, Lester JONES, by name. The young Carolinian's military learning has been marked by all who know him, and his actions in several cases of emergency have been creditable. On one occasion it was most conspicuous at a strike in a town called Arochar, where he alone charged 16 enraged striking Italians and forced them to get away from a building which they threatened with fire. For this act JONES was promptly promoted to the grade of lance corporal in which grade he still honorably serves. Such men are the product of North Carolina. Hoping to see this in an early issue of The Reflector, I hope to remain a true son a North Carolinian.

Michael J. MEEZY, Seargeant Co., B., Artillery Corps.

AN OLD GOURD

(Daily Reflector, Aug. 8, 1908)

Mr. B. F. TUGWELL, of Farmville township, has an old gourd which he says belonged to his people through several generations, covering a period of more than a hundred years. The gourd is remarkable in size, as it will hold five pecks. Mr. TUGWELL says he recently placed a 3-year-old girl in the gourd and it was large enough to hide her when she sat down in it.

Greenville, N. C.

Dear Sir—

Your letter received to day. Please find inclosed P. O. for $1.15 for History of Pitt Co. I feel sure you have the right clue. My grand mother Ann Mourning TEEL was the youngest of ten daughters of Micajah TEEL and there was one son Edwin TEEL [died unmarried] I don't know my great-great grand father TEELs name. Micajah TEEL married Gatsy CHERRY. Their oldest daughter Ethel Lind married Robert GRIMMER

Patsy TEEL married Frank TUCKER.

Edwin TEEL

Elizabeth TEEL married John BUCK

Ann Mourning TEEL

Grace TEEL married a Mr. EDWARDS

Margaret TEEL married 1) SERMONS 2) SHERWOOD

Patience TEEL married J A BROWN, Chadbourn

Susan TEEL married Stanley [surname omitted, should be MOORE]

Pathena TEEL md ~~him~~ [struck through] Allen WILLIAMS

Cashar TEEL married John MCGOWAN

Ann Mourning TEEL married Little Berry BRYANT

Their daughter Virginia Jane BRYANT my mother married Francis William WARD. If the William TEEL is Micajah TEELs father I will have no trouble in getting in Daughters of 1812. My Aunt who was about 18 yrs old when they left N. C. said she remembered that Micajah TEEL drew a pension. I don't know very much about my grand father BRYAN but he had 2 brothers Uncle Jack and William. This William BRYAN may be Little Berry BRYANs father. Grand Father and Mother left N. C. in 1859 and moved to Lebanon, Mo. They both died during the War between the States and of course the children lost all communication with the N. C. relatives. I certainly appreciate your interest and am willing to pay you a reasonable price for your trouble. Hoping to receive an early reply

Oblige

Mrs. Charles H. MILLER

This aunt said she remembered my great grand Father Micajah TEEL drawing a pension and it was land in Florida given him by the Gov.

My Dear sir—

My husband, Mr. J. A. BROWN, has turned your letter over to me to answer as I am the genealogist of the family. I've been trying to get all this data you asked for, and has been hand copied because no one in Greenville was interested.

Mr. BROWN's aunt, who died about a month ago. Mrs. SHERWOOD was quite old when she came to live with us, and was 81 when she died. She had been with me eight years. All the information is I believe correct.

Micajah TEEL was born in Red Routh, England and came to America with his father when twelve years of age. He fought in the War of 1812, having entered the service when quite young, 16 or 18 yrs. He had some Texas land granted him in compensation for his service. (I looked him up while in Raleigh and found his name on the roster of 1812, in State Library. Its a small book, and doesn't take long to look through it). Mrs. SHERWOOD told me that her father Micajah TEEL made several trips to Texas looking after this land. Micajah TEEL's father was McKennie TEEL. Micajah TEEL had a sister, Talitha who married a SPAIN and had four sons. Micajah had three brothers. Sammie (I don't think he married) McKennie, who had two sons, Dockery and William. Dockery moved to Tarboro after the Civil War. William had children, but Dockery did not. (The SPAIN's lived in little Washington). The third brother of Micajah Teel was James. Aunt Margaret (Mrs. SHERWOOD) did not know much about him. Micajah TEEL married Gatsy Llewellyn CHERRY.

Gatsy Llewellyn CHERRY had three sisters, 1.) Jennie, who married a CHERRY (cousin I presume) and had a son Marcus. (Don't know if there were others). Marcus CHERRY married Cenie BEST, and had issue. They lived in Hamilton, N. C. 2.) Elizabeth married a HOYT and had McKennie and Elizabeth HOYT. 3.) Nannie married a PERKINS. I do not think she had any children. I do not know what Micajah TEEL's mother's name was.

Now, if these parties want to join the D. A. R.'s they will, in my opinion, have to get it from the Patsy Llewellyn CHERRY side of the house.

Aunt Susan MOORE of Greenville, writing in 1889 (she was Susan TEEL, Micajah's daughter) said that her grandfather was Samuel CHERRY, and that he married Gatsy (she had it spelled Gadsey, but I think it's Gatsy) LLEWELLYN, a daughter of George LLEWELLYN. The LLEWELLYNS are of Welsh descent and came to America long before the Revolution. I certainly think that this correct. Aunt Susan certainly knew who her grand father and grand mother were. Aunt Margaret said the family bible was at Mrs. BUCK's and was burned in a fire. She lived near Greenville. She (Aunt Margaret) said she had seen her grand fathers Revolutionary uniform many a time when she was a child. What you want to do is to prove all this from old Wills, Land Deeds, Marriage licenses etc. You might find it in an old grave yard. Micajah TEEL lived near Greenville, on a big farm, given him by his father, and joining his fathers. A large canal seperated and drained the farms. Those deeds ought to be in Pitt Court House. You will find Samuel CHERRY's Revolutionary Record as a Lieutenant in Colonial Records Vol X, page 100. He served on Safety Committee in Pitt Co. He was also in the General _____

Dear Mr. KING,

I have delayed replying to your inquiry about Micajah TEAL in order to hear from a sister-in-law to whom I wrote hoping she might have the data. She did not have it though. I looked all thro Aunt Margaret SHERWOOD's papers and did not find it. The family bibles have been lost in fires and so it goes. I think if you will write to Mrs. Gatsy WRIGHTSELL, Siler City, N. C., R. F. D. that she may be able to help you. Her mother was Grace TEAL who married an EDWARDS was one of the older daughters and I hear kept up with family history. Her brother Mr. EDWARDS is a Baptist preacher and he told me once he had lots of data but never did send it to me. I do not know know his address. I enjoyed your history and thanked you for it at the time I think, but for fear I did not I will do so again. It represents much work I am sure. Please give me the benefit of anything you unearth.

Yours Truly

SEMI-MONTHLY "TITTLE TATTLER."

(Tarboro Southerner, Oct. 17, 1878)

Greenville, N. C., Oct. 14, 1878.

Our usually quiet and peaceable town was thrown into the wildest excitement on last Sunday morning by the intelligence of A HORRIBLE AND BLOODY MURDER and robbery which had been committed the night before almost within the corporation limits. The facts were these: John and Jacob BRILEY, brothers, living about 4 milles from town, on the north side of the river, came to town together Saturday morning, bringing a bale of cotton to sell. Of the money received, they spent all by $27.00, having made several purchases. They were seen in town as late as 9 1/2 o'clock Saturday night. About 10 o'clock that night Messrs. Tom LANGLEY and Hunter BUCK were coming into town and just before they reached the bridge they found two men lying in the road. They got down and found one them dying and the other in a dying condition. Medical assistance was soon had, but the murderers' bloody bludgeon, which was found near the men, had done its work. John BRILEY died in a short while, and Jacob BRILEY is still living, but his life is despaired o_ [of?]. All last week the poor man suffered and not a ray of reason has yet dawned across his addled brain. Both men were stricken on the head.

THE MURDERERS.

The Coroner's Jury viewed the body of the dead man Sunday and adjourned to meet in Greenville on Tuesday. Sunday evening Reuben HARRIS, colored, was lodged in jail on suspicion. Monday John MAYO, colored, was also jailed. Tuesday Frank BELL, a young man of most respectable connections, was also arrested and imprisoned on suspicion. The jury of inquest met Tuesday and all that day, and Wednesday and Thursday, examined witnesses. Thursday they adjourned until tomorrow, when further testimony will be heard. The evidence as disclosed points to the three men in jail as the guilty wretches who, for $27—not ten dollars apiece—murdered in cold blood two innocent, unoffending men. The men are still in jail and violence is feared by some, tho' there is no reason to do so.

ARRESTED

(Tarboro Southerner, Dec. 4, 1879)

W. B. PARAMOUR, of Chicod township, was arrested and brought here on last Saturday, charged with burning the store of Miss Eveline NELSON. It is charged that this store occupied by Paramour, which was burned a day or two after Mr. LAUGHINGHOUSE lost his property, was burned by Paramour to allay suspicion which had been resting on him for some time. He was also charged with trying to poison the well of Mr J J LAUGHINGHOUSE. One witness, Mr John CAMPBELL, swore that W B PARAMOUR, the accused, hired him to put strychnine in Mr L's well. He was taken before J B WORSLEY, magistrate, and on account of the absence of important witnesses was bound over in a verified bond of $2,500 to make his appearance on next Saturday. He failed to give the bond required, but gave a mortgage on about $6,000 worth of property and was released until Saturday. —Greenville Express.

A YOUNG MAN KILLED BY HIS BROTHER.

(Tarboro Southerner, Jan. 8, 1880)

Bethel, Pitt County, N. C., December 27, 1879

EDITOR TARBORO SOUTHERNER:—Please record the death of poor Henry KEEL, son of Mrs. William STATON. He was killed almost instantly by the accidental discharge of a shot gun, in the hands of his younger brother, while crossing a ditch hunting on Christmas day. His last words were, "Oh! Buddie, how you did hurt me!" and expired immediately. It was a severe blow to his poor mother, who has been prostrated with a sore, grief stricken heart ever since. Henry was a good boy, a mother's boy—one of the best that ever lived. The charge entered his side, near his back-bone. He was about seventeen years old.

DOWN THE PLANK ROAD

In 1928, the Daily Reflector in Greenville, NC, ran a series of articles submitted by Abram James MOYE (1853–1932), in which Mr. Moyer remembered people along the old Plank Road running westward from Greenville toward Farmville. The articles are reprinted here in their entirety, along with original ink drawings by Roger Kammerer of the Pitt County Family Researchers.

REMNISCENCES OF PITT COUNTY

Jan. 7, 1928:

As there seems to be considerable interest in certain quarters in local history, I have thought ___ might add something of value.

This morning, I am thinking of the road from Greenville to the place of my sojourn in 1867. The first house out of town was that of Mr. William MOORE, the father of Marcellus and John MOORE, merchants in Greenville. John soon was downed by strong drink, while Marcellus acquired quite a fortune for his day. He and Mr. Henry SUTTON were the only clerks in his store. This was what was known as a "time" store. Alas, before Mr. MOORE reached his three score and ten, strong drink and his partner in Baltimore relieved him of most of his fortune and he died a sad and disappointed man.

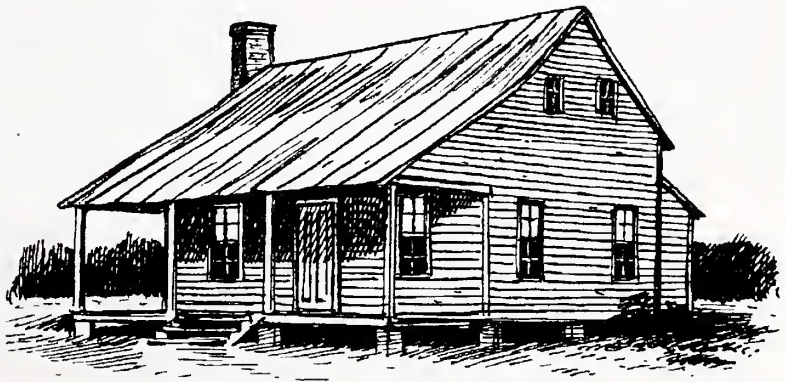

The next house on the left, as you leave Greenville, was Mr. Ben MANNING's, and it interested me because Mr. MANNING had invested in a lottery ticket and drew a prize of one thousand dollars with which money he purchased a negro woman, the first negro that he had ever owned. He also had enough left to paint his house red.

The next house was Mr. EVANS', a quaint old house built upon a hill. That house is there yet, and with very little change. What made it memorable is that his girls, attired in homespun dresses, with shaker bonnets, home made, and having on home made cotton gloves chopped cotton. This was remarkable because I know of only one other white family whose girls worked on the farm.

The nexthouse was that of Mr. Wiley NOBLES. This house now stands in the bend of the road and is used as a tenant house by Mr. CLARK. Mr. NOBLES was quite a character. He was a doctor, a preacher and farmer. What impressed we as a child was his perculiar rail fence. It consisted of one long rail about sixteen feet and a short one of about six feet, and the fact that he had on at least one occasion, driven a yoke of oxen to his surrey to church.

The next house belonged to Mr. Japheth TYSON, who had a large nice scuppernong grape vine near his house and passers-by could stop and get as many grapes as one could eat if willing to pick them, for five cents. This farm was exceedingly poor and continued to be poor until the introcution of Kainit as a fertilizer. Since then it has been a fine farm.

The Willis BRILEY house at Ballard's Cross Roads was a small single story house near the road. Mr. BRILEY went to Greenville and bought a nice white shad, and as was the custom, took several drinks of liquor. To his wife he remarked that he had bought a shad but that she always had a PASSEL of begelings to eat it all up. M___ [Miss or Mrs.?] Betsy HOWEL, who was there to do some sewing for her, being as was supposed, asleep in an adjoining room bawled out: "You need not count me, as I shall not taste a mouthful of your old shad." Mr. BRILEY said: "I do not mean you in PARTICULAR, Miss Betsy."

Wiley Nobles House. Still standing, condition poor.

The largest and finest house on the road belonged to J. L. BALLARD, who had some bloodhounds to hunt runaway negroes. BALLARD also had on his property two or three stores and ran a store for a while—both before and after the war. Some deserters burned one or two of his stores because they thought BALLARD had reported on them while they were in hiding. One thing that impressed me, he always had cotton unpicked in his field after Christmas. Mr. BALLARD was a rabid secessionist, but kept out of the war because he owned over forth negroes.

Ballard House. (Demolished)

Jan. 9, 1928:

In my former article I wrote of Mr. J. H. BALLARD, who was dried-up, little man who was, in many respects, a progressive citizen. He was a pioneer in building good tenant houses. When these houses were finished he imported several families of Swiss, who couldn't speak English. For some reason they soon migrated to other parts and then these houses were occupied by the poorer class of native white people. He was reported to have buried a nice sum of gold and silver when WHEELER's Cavalry and the Yankees were pillaging the country, and lost his memorandum of the location of the money.

The loss of this money was a very severe blow to Mr. BALLARD and his good wife—one of the very best. She believed that some of her friends mysteriously became possessed of the memorandum and found the money, but would not divide with her. BALLARD's son, Joe, used to make all of the small boys at school envious of him, on account of the sweet potatoes he brought to school in the spring.

Mr. Moses JOYNER, who was the next neighbor over Tyer's Bridge, had a small one-room house in which three women lived, Mrs. DENTON and son, Alonzo; Mrs. Tutus ELKS, and Miss DENTON, an old-maid sister of Mr. DENTON. They had three beds in a row which was often in plain view from the road. I, as a boy, never had seen three beds in a row in one house elsewhere. Alonzo DENTON is a prominent business man of Greenville. Mr. DENTON and Mr. ELKS were at this time in the Confederate service.

Mr. JOYNER had curly hair, and a disposition to find fault, and latterly, a sneaking fondness for strong drink which was the ruin of him.

Once I saw a wagon load of ripe watermelons on his front porch and in the front yard. There was no sale for watermelons so he gave them to whomsoever visited him. I suppose I went there to see his daughter, Sally, and eat watermelons, where I saw Mrs. JOYNER'S sister-in-law—Sally LASSITER—so very thin that I could almost see the bones in her hands. She had a terrible cough. She was a beautiful woman and was engaged to Amos HINES. Mr. HINES must have grieved much, as it was twenty years afterwards when he married a Miss ASHE of Raleigh.

Mr. Henry JOYNER's home comes next. Mr. JOYNER and Mrs. Richard TYSON, his cousin, and two young ladies, went to a party over in Greene county, where in all probability, they had a good time, but alas these young bloods had fine, high-strung horses. Probably they were racing, as was the custom of such young men. As they approached Sandy Run bridge, Mr. TYSON's horse began to run and he lost control of him. He ran over the buggy of Mr. JOYNER, who received injuries from which he shortly died.

The horse of Mr. JOYNER served his Sister, Mrs. Mary Ann ANDERSON, as a fine drive horse for the next fifteen years.

Mrs. Lucy TURNAGE, the widow of Elias TURNAGE, had an Albino negro woman, Maria, who was a great curiosity to us as she was so nearly blind that she must of necessity turn and twist her head fast in order to see al all. She was considered quite a poor woman, yet was very kind, and I loved to visit her and her son Jim.

Jan. 14, 1928:

Mr. Moses T. MOYE's place comes next. After graduation from Bethany College of Virginia, now West Virginia, He took one of his houses formerly a kitchen and work room and made a school house of it—in which he was principal and teacher. This was not a free school but the room was full of students. Mr. MOYE was a very rigid disciplinarian and used the switch much more frequently than is thought right and proper now. The only person now alive who attended that school is Mr. John LANG of Falkland township, so far as I know. He hired a negro man named Jack from my guardian, who was quite agile and deft with a cart round. So they were driving some cattle, trying to pen them. Mr. MOYE called to Jack to head them, stop them, but then Jack hit his best milch cow on the head and she fell dead—to Mr. MOYE's chagrin. Jack might have been a first-rate base ball player if basebal had been invented then.

Mr. MOYE had a white hight top hat which, when I visited him, he put on my head. It just fitted me, and I strutted my stuff to the amusement of all beholders.

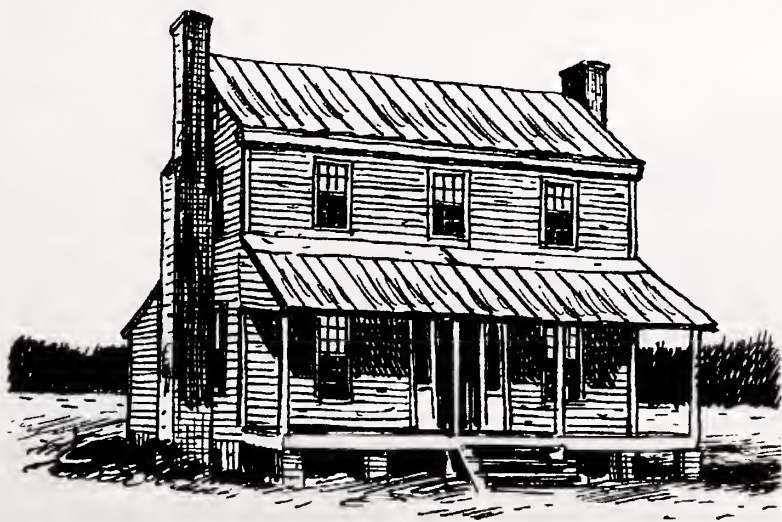

Mr. W. G. LANG, who married Mr. MOYE's sister, was interesting to me because, he kept his upper lip shaved and said lip had several scars on it. He used 2-prong forks upon his table and when one prong broke off half way, Mr. LANG would break the other off and file both, and have a fork that could scarcely be broken. Mr. LANG kept out of the war by turning shoe maker for the neighbors. He made the old toll house his shoe factory. Mr. LANG, contrary to the general custom of the land owner, worked very hard and was able to get much work out of his negroes that his neighbors. Mr. LANG's consuming ambition was to make money, and when he died, about ten years ago, he had amassed quite a fortune.

He exemplified Franklin's motto: "Keep what you have got, and get all you can, is the sure road to wealth."

Two stage coaches a day passed this way and this bus line was quite liberally patronized. They changed horses at the tool house.

Jan. 25, 1928:

We have now arrived at Alfred MOYE's. The noblest Roman of them all. I remember his taking me and his granddaughter, Lizzie LANG, up over a store in Marlboro and having a daugerotype of the three of us made. Soon afterwards one afternoon he walked about a mile to see how the carpenters were progressing on Corinth Church to which he had contriubed a considerable sum in the building,

Alfred Moyer House. (Burned, purposely, in 1995)

about midnight he was stricken with paralysis, which kept him bedridden for the remainder of his life. He was the most patient paralytic I ever saw. I do remember that he never spoke a cross word to me. He was entirely master of himself. His memory of things past was remarkable but he could not remember what transpired after his sickness. He had been an admirer and supporter of J. M. MOREHEAD when he ran for governor of North Carolina. Governor MOREHEAD having occasion to come to Pitt county to but fat hogs for his cotton factory in Alamance county, came to see grandpa and spent the night with him. As there were no banks in those days, the governor brought money along with him to pay for the hogs. One morning he counted out his money in our dining room. I went in there and he had the bed—which always was in that large dining room—covered all over with Confederate money. That was a sight to me, and to be ever afterwards remembered.

He believed in being hospitable, so all travelers were welcomed, insomuch that his neighbors imposed upon him by sending people to him who applied for lodging. I never knew him to refuse to take anyone. It was against an unwritten law to receive pay for a night's lodging with supper and breakfast thrown in. If ever there was a public spirited citizen he was one. He was a friend moreover in building the plank road from Wilson to Greenville and was its first president. He was for a number of years chairman of the magistrates who composed the county. He, with his neighbors, maintained a very good country school and mostly boarded the teachers. He erected a gin house and ginned cotton for his neighbors who were not able to build gin houses and erect screws for baling the cotton.

There was a small log house in the yard near the "great house" as the dwelling was called. I was curious to know about it and was told that at one time grandfather had ventured in the silk industry and that this house was to house the silk worms.

He was one of the stockholders and a director of the Pitt County Female Institute. These directors built what is now HORTON apartment house. They ran a boarding shcool for girls for about a year, which was broken up by the war.

He was a rabid unionist and never was a believer in the Confederate states. He firmly believed that South Carolina ought to have been made to behave herself. He believed the Confederacy would fail and that the negroes would be freed without the south receiving any pay for them.

Mrs. Susan ATKINSON, a wealthy woman, who then lived on the north side of Tar River, around the STREETER place in Greene county, passed our house once in every two week, going to her place. I thought she had the finest pair of carriage horses in the world. As she had no small children and was driven over by a negro man. She dressed up, oh—so fine—two negro children and took them in the carriage with her. Cousin Susan, as we always called her, loved dearly to talk when excited, stopped in to see grandpa and expiated upon the war. She was an enthusiastic secessionist.

She wanted every able-bodied man to volunteer for the war. Grandpa listened very patiently for some time. When Cousin Susan had run down, he said, "War is a terrible thing."

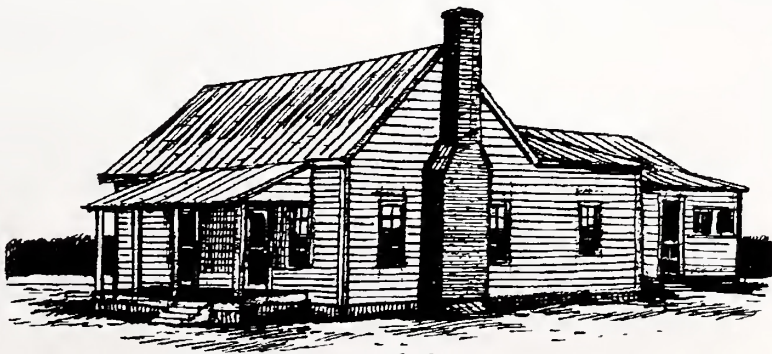

When her son, Peyton, volunteered Cousin Susan was happy, but when he shortly afterwards died of typhoid fever away from home, she was converted. She saw a great light, and ever afterwards she was a Unionist. She stopped to tell grandpa how much she detested war.

I forgot to mention in its proper place that when the Sons of Temperance came to Pitt county he and his boys joined them and that ever afterwards he was an enemy of strong drink. I used to see several troughs about his premises with both ends open. I was told that prior to the advent of the Sons, that these troughs were used to grind cider in. In his mature age he joined the disciples and was a true disciple to the day of his death.

April 6, 1928:

Mr. Editor:

Having found one other person who said he enjoyed my reminiscences, who makes three who have taken the trouble to inform me that they read my articles, I have concluded to send another for publication.

Plank Road Toll House. Still standing, as an antique shop.

I think I neglected to tell that Governor MOREHEAD drove his hogs from Pitt to Guilford county. A man went on before and called and one behind to drive and one on each side to keep them in the road. A toll house upon the plank road was near our home. People who rode upon the plank road stopped here to pay, according to the number of miles they had traveled upon the road. The road also had stables at this toll house in which four horses were kept, as this was the place of two at which these relay horses were kept. As soon as the war began the plank road was abandoned, and we, that is the people along the road, took the plank up. Some made bridges of them but most of the plank were used for fire wood. If this had been a free road it would have been a real boon to the country, but as the free dirt road paralleled this road, so many who used the toll road never paid their fare. It was never a paying proposition.

About a mile from MOYE's Cross Roads, lived the richest man in the community. He had a ten room house painted white with green blinds to the windows. Several large red oaks adorned his premises and in his orchard near the road was a choky pear tree, which was a prolific bearer. Some of this particular kind of pear trees were a hundred years old, so I was told. They were named choky, because when eager children tried to eat one in a hurry the children were sure to get choked. This as you may believe, was a painful experience, but it did not hinder the children from eating the pears.

He had a large gin house across the road in front of his dwelling but he never did any custom ginning. This man was a good citizen and neighbor, but most of his virtues were negative ones. He was indeed a temperate man, never in a hurry, never went visiting, never went to church, never went to any gathering of any description. People said he was old, but he lived twenty-five years after the war ended.

One other characteristic, he never spent any money, never gave as I ever heard—and none, except to this three boys, who were all the children he had. He gave each one a large plantation about ten miles apart. They were separated so that there might be no occasion of a quarrel or a misunderstanding. He is the only prosperous man that I ever knew who never worked any. He was not what is called a lazy man but he just did not do any work.

After the war he bought a storehouse and bought a bankrupt stock of goods of a man who owed his money. He hired a clerk and sat around the store a great deal, but he never sold any goods.

I came near forgetting that he had a large scuppernong grape vine in his garden and someone took me on a visit to him one Sunday afternoon and his wife gave us a fine mess of grapes.

OLD RELICS

(King's Weekly, Oct 15, 1896)

Mrs. A. A. JOYNER, a relative of the eidtor presented him two valued relics this week. They are A wooden table castor, once the property of Colonel Samuel VINES, the editors great grandfather, which must be nearly or perhaps more, a hundred years old. It is in a good state of preservation, and was doubtless a master piece of handwork in its time.

Spoon Moulds, once the property of Isaac COBB, grandfather of Mr. Wiley COBB, of Farmville township, now living here with his son. The mould is of brass or copper and every spoon moulded would be stamped I. C. It is impossible to tell the age of the mould but as Mr. Wiley COBB is now 78 years of age and as it was the property of his grandfather, it must be near 150 years old. It is known to anti-date the revolutionary war.

We greatly prize these relics and have placed them in our collection.

AN OLD SLATE

(Eastern Reflector, May 26, 1898)

While in the country Sunday Master Ernest WHICHARD showed us a slate; now used by him in school, that is a long ways over a century old. The slate was given to him by his grandfather, the late Mr. Harry GURGANUS who himself used it in his school days' and who was past eighty years old at the time of his death. The same slate was also used by Mr. GURGANUS' father. It is thicker and a much better slate than those found in ordinary use now.

AN OLD SWORD

(Eastern Reflector, June 10, 1898)

Mr. Geo. H. JOYNER, of Chase City, Va., who has been spending a few weeks with relatives near Farmville, left for his home Monday. He called at THE REFLECTOR office Monday evening to renew his subscription, and while here showed us an old sword that was used by his great-grandfather, Gen. Benjamin MAY, in the Revolutionary war. The old sword is three cornered groove pattern and has a silver and ivory hilt. It has been well preserved.

VISITING

(Eastern Reflector, May 10, 1899)

J. D. SAVAGE, of Chicago, is here on a visit to his sister, Mrs. C. T. MUNFORD. He was member of an Illinois regiment and was with the army when it was recently mustered out in Cuba.

LETTER FROM SWIFT CREEK

Contributed by Elizabeth Ross; from the original in The Roach Family Papers, East Carolina Manuscript Collection, #346.i-346.2, J. Y. Joyner Library, Greenville, NC.

Swift Creek, N. C.
April the 12 1866

Dear Bettie, I once more seat myself to write you a few lines. I have writen you twice since the war commenced but by not receiving an answer felt assured you did not get them. I have not heard a word from you since sixty-two. I am so anxious to hear from you. It would seem like Old times that glorious time before the war. I believe all the neighbors are well but some that were here when you were are gone never more to return. I am sorry to tell you I have lost two brothers since you were here my Oldest brother Jesse and next to the youngest Symeon, he died in sixty-one with typhoid fever all the family had it but Sallie and myself. Jesse went in service in sixty-two February was carried to Virgina and in January sixty-three he was taken sick and carried to Petersburg. Sallie and I went after him and brought him home he died on the eight of May a kind brother is never forgotten. I guess you have heard of Uncle Jimmie ROACHes death he died with the small pox in sixty-four all the family had it except Jimmie. Charles Jim and Spence all got home from the war. Charles and Jim were in very bad health for along time but I believe they are about well now. Brothers Henry and Slade were in service. Slade was taken prisoner at Wilmington and carried to Point Lookout and kept eight months he got home last July. Abner EDWARDS got home in very bad health he lived three weeks after he got home. If you were to come to North Carolina now you wouldn't know some of the places you usto see. The Yanks layed destruction on Swift Creek, burned fences, tore up houses killed hogs and cattle, stole horses and every-thing they could lay their hand on. But I kneednot tell you any more about the Yanks I guess you know enough about them. There was a very Serious accident happen at Swift Cr. the other night to Dr. BECKWITH some one had been trying to break in Mr. COLBERTs dwelling house for the last week or two he would hail them and no one would answer the other night Dr. BECKWITH and Dr. PETERSON were staying with Mr. COLBERT and some one came as before. Mr. COLBERT Dr. BECKWITH and Dr. PETERSON all rushed out of the house with their guns Dr. BECKWITH got ahead of the rest Mr. COLBERT saw him and thought it was who was trying to break in the house and fired on him the load went in the back part of his head and came out at his forehead Said they didnot think he ever would have come tew if it hadnot been for the Screams of Mr. and Mrs. COLBERT when they found out who it was he was not dead last night at dark Mrs. COLBERT had not been off of the bed since it hap-pened.

Since I commenced writing news has came that Jane LANCASTER is dead she died the 11th of Feb. I am sorry for Aunt Sallie she is in so much trouble about her Bettie It wouldnot doe for you to come here now if you re afraid of the Small pox it is at cousin Julia CHAPMANs plantation but shes not there she has moved up to Kinston to live with her daughter Liz HARVEY. Mr. PUSSER and Mr. WHITEHURST is living there their familys has had it. Mrs. Sallie NELSONs and Emily BROWNs children has got it there is several cases on Swift Creek and about ten hundred in Newbern. I hope it will stop before I get it.

We had a very lively Christmas the most wedding and parties I ever heard of we stormed cousin Julia [Jesie?] CHAPMAN three times before she left you never heard of so many weddins in your life I dont think there is many more maches to fire up I dont reckon you know any of them but Bill BUTLER he is married to Julia DUDLEY

We have a very lonsom time here we havent got a negro on the land there is not many of the neighbors that has any. We all doe our own cooking and washing cousin Lovies all left a few days ago Aunt Sallies has been gone a good while. We had a little boy his mother went to the Yankeys and left him thre years ago Mother took him in the house and kept him his mother came after him two or three weeks ago he said he would not go with her she asked mother for him she said she should not have him last Sunday she sent three negro men armed after him he screamed and bellowed siad he wouldnot go caught holt of me to protect him the negroes just rushed in tore him loose and carried him off I dont think the negroes and white people can live together in peace Six negro men went to David JACKSONs the other week he was not at home and cursed his wife made her go to the smoke house and get vituals and cook for them then they took the horse and cart to carry off his meat while they were fixing it he and another man came in and fired at them as they did the negroes all fired and ran three shots struck David in the leg, he heard one of the negroes died before he got to Newbern I hope its so every one killed is that much better for us

Sister Kate and Henry and Gatlin are going to school where I was going when you were in here. Mr. Fred LANCASTER is their teacher. You would not know Kate she is taller than I am we are a tall set I dont know that you would know me this old war has made me look so Old sometimes I would feel like I was a hundred I will have my photograph taken and send it to you if nothing prevents and let you see my ugle self I want you to send me yours maby it would make me feel like I did when I saw you Oh I forgot to tell you your sister Fannis was married to Mr. Thomas LONGLY and I also forgot to call you daughter but you must not forget your Old mother

I want you to answer this just as soon as you get it give my love to Betty and Billie I guess Annie has forgotten all of us

I want you to write a long letter all your trials dureing that crewel war I havent written half as much as I want to but my hand is so tired and all the family are asslep save myself so I will keep some back for next time You must come over some day and see me cook dinner Do not forget to write to your dear friend

AN EDGECOMBE MAN
(Tarboro Southerner, Feb. 12, 1880)

We publish the following letter received from Deadwood, Dakota Territory. It tells the tale of the success of an Edgcombeite:

DEADWOOD, DAKOTA, Feb. 3, 1880.

EDITOR SOUTHERNER:—Here's an item. "Charlie CHURCH, one of the fastest type setters in the United States, who is now "sticking ems" on the Deadwood "Pioneer," is a native of Edgcombe county, N. C. He was born near Greenville, Southeast from Tarboro. Is now 50 years old, but sets his 12 to 16 thousand a day. Has traveled all over the U. S., and is known everywhere by the "craft." Probably there are only two faster printers in America. Has been here several months. Makes from $5 to $8 a day."  W. T. M.

BALLARD'S X ROAD NEWS
(Daily Reflector, Feb. 17, 1928)

Seeing men cutting the trees on the old HODGES grave yard just east of the Cross Roads, brought to mind that years ago Mr. Josiah HODGES lived here. His son, Josiah HODGES, Jr., who married Miss Mollie HOELL, was sheriff of Pitt county to some time in the fifties. Sheriff HODGES left a daughter, Miss Cora HODGES, long since deceased. Cutting the tree away is a great improvement.

UGLY CASE FROM BEAVER DAM. (Daily Reflector, May 21, 1908)

Two Committed to Jail for Bigamy—Woman's First Husband Indifferent.
Justice of the Peace C. D. ROUNTREE had a case before him a few days ago that was out of the ordinary and attracted considerable interest, especially in the neighborhood in which it originated. J. H. MOORE, of Beaver Dam township, married a wife and then four children were born. Some weeks ago a single man named John LACY got Mrs. MOORE to run away with him and they went to Richmond where they were married. After staying in Kinston about a month they returned to this county and to the neighborhood from which they had gone, where they continued living together, much to the disgust of the people of the community. As the first husband of the woman took no notice of or action in the matter, other people became so indignant that they procured a warrant for LACY and the woman. The case was heard before Justice ROUNTREE, who found sufficient evidence to bind the parties over to Superior court. They could not give bond and were both placed in jail.

TWO WOMEN KILLED BY LIGHTNING STROKE (Daily Reflector, June 30, 1911)

YOUNG MAN SEVERELY SHOCKED

Were All Working In a Field Near Black Jack.

During the thunder storm Thursday afternoon two women were killed instantly by the same stroke of lightning while they were at work in the field of Mr. A. B. HUDSON, near Black Jack. They were Mrs. W. H. CORBETT and Mrs. Alfred EDWARDS. A son of Mrs. CORBETT, who was plowing nearby was also struck and knocked insensible, but soon revived. The electrical storm was very severe in that section of the county, while they had only a little rain.

Mrs. EDWARDS leaves a husband and several small children, the oldest about nine years.

Mrs. CORBETT leaves a husband and one child nearly grown. They were buried this afternoon.

ANOTHER SISTER DEAD (Eastern Reflector, May 26, 1898)

Monday evening Mr. Allen WARREN received a telegram from Wilson announcing the death of Miss A. T. EDWARDS, of that town. Miss EDWARDS was a sister of Mrs. WARREN, and is the second sister that Mrs. WARREN has lost by death in the last three weeks. Her friends sympathize with her.

HAPPENINGS AROUND AYDEN (Daily Reflector, Feb. 28, 1911)

Mrs. Allie HARRINGTON, of Kinston, is visiting in town and getting data for a CANNON and a HART tree, going back as far as the seventeenth century when some of the older CANNONS came over from the mother country. Mrs. HARRINGTON is a natural born artist. Her work on those trees is a fine demonstration and would reflect credit to one well skilled in art as well as geometry. We have seen several of her beautiful drawings, among them is one character representing the North Carolina toast, "The Old North State."

THE MATTHEW HART CARR BIBLE

Contributed by Martha Mewborn Marble, who transcribed the record from a photocopy of the original, shared with her by the grandson of Lula Carr Payne.

Note attached to typed copy:

Records from Lula Carr Payne

Her grandson, Carr Payne, Jr. lives (in 1994) in Atlanta where he has retired from teaching at Georgia Tech. Carr said his grandmother was fairly old when she put the Carr information together and it is not organized. Carr said his grandmother was raised where the Dupont plant is now in Kinston. Her father was much older than her mother. Her papers give no indication where she got the information regarding Matthew's wife's name and the names of their children or what her source was for stating that Lawrence P. was the son of Matthew. According to Carr Payne, Lula's grandmother Carr was very elderly when she died and she gave this information to Lula. This would make it far enough back where the grandmother would probably remember family members herself.

Most of the information in her notes have been incorporated into the "Lines" section as they just regard the descendants of Matthew Hart Carr.

Below is what came from the Matthew Hart Carr Bible. The original whereabouts is unknown at this time as the person who was supposed to have it can not be traced.

Our fillers in this issue may help to replace those phrases on your family sheets where you might have written "... went west," or "... left the county."

VISITING (Daily Reflector, July 8, 1912):

Mr. J. H. RANDOLPH, who left here about twenty years ago for South America and has spent the time since mainly in that and other foreign countries, has been here the past week or two visiting relatives and looking over the scenes of his boyhood. His many friends are glad to know that he has prospered in the business world. Since coming here he has purchased the former CHERRY property, corner Washington and Third streets and will remodel the house as a home for his sister. He will likely make his own home in the western part of the state as he says he has been so much in the mountains in recent years that he has learned to like them better than the flat country.

LOCAL NEWS (Eastern Reflector, Mar. 8, 1893):

We learn from a letter that our countryman, Mr. Ed. S. ROUNTREE, has moved from Y. Calvo, Mexico, to Socarro, New Mexico, and gone into the general mercantile business with Mr. J. J. SPIER, a native of Pitt county and also well-known here. Both have many friends in this section who will be glad to know their prospects are good for a large business. —Kinston Free Press.

LOCAL NEWS (Eastern Reflector, Jan. 28, 1891):

Mr. E. A. BUCK of Balloon, Ga., is on a visit to his old home in Pitt to spend a few days with his relatives in this section. He called at the Reflector office Monday to renew his subscription for another year.

LOCAL NEWS (Eastern Reflector, Aug. 5, 1896):

LESLIE INQUIRY LETTER

Found in the William H. Bason Papers, ECU Manuscript Collection, J.Y. Joyner Library, East Carolina University, Greenville, NC.

526 Pearl St.
Darlington S.C.
Nov. 26th 1925

Mr. Fred OLDS
Raleigh, N.C.
Dear Sir;

I hope that you will not think me a nuisance, but I have been told that you have the care of records and are most kind about giving information. At any rate if you cannot tell me what I wish to find out, will you please just write and tell me so, as uncertainty is the hardest thing to stand. What I wish to know is the given, or Christian name, of my great-great grandfather LESLIE, father of my great grandfather William LESLIE (Lefslie, as he signed it) of Pitt Co. This William lived at Greenville on the Tar River, had a brother John (who never married), and two sisters Grizel and Apsley, and my grandmother Emelie LESLIE born Oct. 12th 1797 was his only child. He having died in April or spring 1798, at Washington N. C. of smallpox contracted in N. Y. where he nursed a friend, who recovered. He had only gotten that far on his return journey, and was at the house of an uncle there. His mother was a widow KENNEDY (nee HOLLAND) and his father John or James LESLIE, whose parents were John and Grizel LESLIE (nee HUME) of Edinburgh Scotland. His wife was Ann MOYE, also of Greenville, a daughter of John and Patience (nee CHERRY?) MOYE. William was a planter and merchant of Greenville. He had two half brothers John and William KENNEDY, and a half sister Grizel KENNEDY who married a Mr. Thomas HANRAHAN, who lived in Washington, N. C. This is the tradition, but would they have been his uncles? Wills must show this, as names of children are given. If uncles there is another generation of LESLIEs in the line in N. C. There is a John LESLIE in Greenville, mentioned in several places in "Sketches of Pitt Co.," by King, who was an adjutant in the Pitt Co. Militia just before the battle of Alamance, in whose house court was held while the Court House was being removed after the Co. was cut from Beaufort. Greenville was called Martinborough (I am almost certain that he was the father of William). He was on important committees also, and seemed to be a man of influence. If not it might have been a James LESLIE of Halifax, who was in the Committee of Safety. If you will help me to find out this I shall be so much indebted to you. I would like to know on which side they were in the "Revolutionary War." I know the LESLIE family record in Scotland, have sent to Edinburgh for books, which I have, but want the N. C. line completed. I have read that many of the Scotch had taken the Oath of Allegiance to the king before coming to this country, so took no part in the war. I am not trying to join any society (can do that through lines here) only wish a complete record, but if either John or James is William's father, I could join "Colonial Dames through my LESLIE line in which I take particular interest, on account of my name, Emelie Leslie for grandma, who was brought here when three years old by her mothers stepfather, Mr. Thomas DYER, of Rhode Island. Did the LESLIE's come with the Arron on Black River Colony of Scotch, or at what date did they arrive, and where settle first? Now I wish facts complimentary, or otherwise, please, but of course prefer the former, and have no reason to expect them to be adverse.

Hoping very much to hear favorable from you before long.

Very respectfully yours,
(Miss.) E. Leslie CHARLES

If there is another generation of LESLIEs in the line over here will you please tell me the name of wife as well as husband and where they lived. Do excuse the ink flows so.

REV. WAR PENSION OF WILLIS WILSON

Contributed by Roger Kammerer. National Archives, Washington, DC. The depositions in this case, mostly attempting to prove the marriage of Elizabeth Wilson, reveal important information about the existence of marriage records in Pitt County, and divulge valuable facts about the Cox family, as well. All of the statements have been abstracted.

Declaration of Willis WILSON, age 80, resident of Pitt County, taken in open Court on Aug. 9, 1832, in order to obtain benefit of the Act of Congress passed June 7, 1832:

WILSON stated he was born near the town of New Bern, Craven County, about the year 1752 and moved with his family to Pitt County when he was three years old. He was living in Pitt County when he enlisted in the NC State Regiment in a company of Cavalry commanded by Capt. Benjamin CASWELL, under the command of Col. John HERRITAGE and Major John ALLEN.

WILSON stated that his regiment was called out by the State, that they marched through the western part of NC beyond the Peedee River and they never engaged in any battle. He stated that he did not serve with any Continental regiment or company.

Wilson further declared he had no documentary evidence of his service and knew no one, except Dr. Robert WILLIAMS, who served in the same regiment, who could provide testimony for his service.

Elizabeth WILSON stated she was the widow of the late Willis WILSON (who died Sept. 25, 1833), Revolutionary War pensioner. WILSON was a private in the cavalry in the Revolution and drew a pension under the Act of 1832 of $37.50 per year for his service. He was placed on the Pension Roll sometime in February 1833.

Elizabeth further declared she was married to Willis WILSON in 1788 and has not remarried since his death. She has no family records and the marriage certificate cannot be found in the Pitt County Clerks office.

Deposition of Joseph RASBERRY, going to be 73 next birthday, before W. A. DARDEN, Justice of the Peace of Greene County, NC, May 15, 1845:

RASBERRY states his father was dead and his mother's family were all invited to the wedding of Willis WILSON and Elizabeth WILLIAMS. The wedding was to take place at Elizabeth WILLIAMS' father's house. RASBERRY and his mother's family lived about one mile and a half of the WILLIAMS family. When RASBERRY and his family went to the WILLIAMS house on the wedding day they found Mr. WILLIAMS at home making preparations for the wedding dinner. Willis WILSON was a resident of Pitt County and obtained his marriage license and RASBERRY was informed that the wedding was to be held across the county line at Esquire COWARD's. RASBERRY said he saw Willis WILSON and Elizabeth his wife when they came back to her father's house in company of 20 or more persons, including the Esquire who married them. The father was uncommonly friendly with his new son-in-law. RASBERRY believed the wedding took place between 1787 and 1789, in the Spring, April or May. RASBERRY had seen Willis and Elizabeth WILSON often over the years and they had many children.

Deposition of Martha JONES, age 73, resident of Greene Co., before W. A. DARDEN, J.P., May 14, 1845:

JONES stated she was at the wedding of Willis WILSON and saw fifty people or more there. She does not recall seeing the actual ceremony, but recalls seeing everyone at Elizabeth WILSON's father's house. JONES believed they were married in 1789 and that most of the people who were at the wedding are now dead or moved away. Martha JONES said she personally has seven married children.

Letter from Benjamin F. HAZELTON of Johnsons Mills P.O., Pitt County, to Pitt County Court, May 17, 1845:

HAZELTON said he had gone over to Greene County to seek evidence in the case of Willis WILSON. He went to see Hilery TAYLOR who said he was invited to the wedding of Willis

WILSON but did not see them married since they went across the line into Pitt County. TAYLOR said he was told that the WILSON's were married by one John MOYE, Esq., while Joseph RASBERRY said they were married by one COWARD, Esquire. HAZELTON said that both COWARD and MOYE lived about five miles from the WILLIAMS' house, but over the line into Pitt County.

HAZELTON stated Martha HUSE went to the WILLIAMS house expecting the wedding but when she got there the guests had gone to John MOYE's, Esq., to see the WILSON marriage.

HAZELTON stated he had heard Willis WILSON say, and his children also say, that 20 years ago, WILSON had the marriage license in his house.

Deposition of Elizabeth COX, a resident of Pitt County, before Frederick HADDOCK, Justice of the Peace of Pitt County, May 28, 1846:

Elizabeth COX said she knew the marriage of Willis WILSON took place before 1794 from the knowledge that COX's son, John COX, and the oldest child of Willis WILSON, Jonas WILSON, were about the same age. That Jonas WILSON was born about three months before John COX and that John COX was born on Jan. 8, 1791.

Frederick HADDOCK, Justice, believes that Elizabeth COX and her son, John COX, are respectable people and should be believed. HADDOCK said he felt the WILSONs had to be married before 1794.

William D. MOYE, Clerk of the Pitt County Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions, certifies on May 28, 1846, that he had searched his office for the marriage license bond of Willis WILSON but could not find any marriage bond older than 1794 in his records.

William D. MOYE, Clk.

Deposition of John COX, age 55 years, a resident of Pitt County, before Marshall DICKINSON, Justice of the Peace of Pitt County, July 10, 1846:

John COX says he gave a statement in May 1846 to Frederick HADDOCK, Esq., concerning the marriage of Willis WILSON and his wife Betsy, both deceased. COX says he was requested to let a leaf of his bible be cut out which contained the dates of his birth and his children's births. COX said he understood that the record of his birth was copied from his father's bible by Hardee HANCOCK, a neighbor. The record of John COX's children were written in the bible by different people, and some by said HANCOCK. COX supposed the dates were correct, since he cannot read. John COX's children, in order of birth were: Lewis, Jesse, Abram, William, and others to make eleven children in all.

COX said he was married in the month of January when he was 26 years old. Lewis COX was born about eleven months afterwards in the last of December. COX said that not long before the leaf was cut out of his bible, Mr. HAWKS, a schoolmaster, was at his house and was looking over the dates in the bible and said that his last child, James COX's, date of birth had not been recorded. Mr. HAWKS added his birth date to the list and read it over to John COX. John COX believed his oldest son, Lewis COX, was then twenty-eight or -nine years old.

Deposition of James SMITH, resident of Pitt County, before Benjamin F. HAZELTON, Justice of the Peace, Oct. 6, 1846:

James SMITH says he was well acquainted with the Willis WILSON family and from the comparison of ages believes that Willis and Elizabeth WILSON had to have been married before 1794. James SMITH said he was informed by his parents that he was born in April 1790. SMITH had a distinct recollection of a great storm that came in August 1795 that blew down a number of trees and he remembered wading around in the water after the storm. SMITH says that he and Jonas WILSON were about the same age and size.

Deposition of Aaron COX, resident of Pitt County, before Benjamin F. HAZELTON, Justice of the Peace, Oct. 7, 1847:

Aaron COX said he was well acquainted with the Willis WILSON family and that he lived for 27 years about a half to a quarter mile of the WILSON home. COX said he was at the house of Willis WILSON when he brought his new bride home in the company of a crowd of people. COX remembered that among the crowd was Thomas HEMBY, who said he was a waiter at the marriage and at the supper after the marriage. COX also remembered a man named William WILLIAMS who said he was also a waiter.

Aaron COX further stated he was born on Jan. 10, 1780, and was ten years old at the time of WILSON's marriage. COX was sure that about 10 or 11 months after their marriage they had a son named Jonas WILSON, who was born in Oct. 1790. Cox stated he lived then about two miles of the Willis WILSON dwelling house. COX stated he left his father's house nearly thirty years ago.

Abram COX stated he was well acquainted with Willis WILSON and his nine children. Abram COX said he was born Oct. 15, 1788, and has a family record taken from his father's old bible. COX recollects going with his mother to see Mrs. Elizabeth WILSON when she had a child which was afterwards named Jonas WILSON. COX said he thought Jonas WILSON was a pretty blackheaded baby, and wanted to carry it in a basket home with him but was pacified by others, saying it was too small and he could not carry it.

COX believed he was between two and three years older than Jonas WILSON. COX said he was raised within a quarter mile of Willis WILSON's house, and he believed that Willis WILSON and his wife Elizabeth married before 1791.

Amos Johnston lived near Old Sparta in Edgecombe Co. and died testate in 1816 in Edgecombe.

Esther Johnston md. James Wilkins of Edgecombe.

Mary Johnston md. Joel Battle. They are buried in Oakwood Cemetery in Raleigh, and are the ancestors of Dr. Kemp Plummer Battle, President of the University of North Carolina.

Nancy Johnston md. Peter Evans of Pitt Co. and moved to near Old Sparta. He is buried in the Evans cemetery in downtown Greenville. She is buried in Trinity Episcopal Churchyard in Scotland Neck.

The Stokes entries may be relative to John Williams' wife, but may simply suggest that Mr. Williams bought the Psalm book second-hand.

The Husten entry may also indicate that the book was second-hand; no familial relationship is known at this time.

From Bay River, Craven [now Pamlico] County, Sept. 28

Bay River Craven County N. C. — —

September 22nd A.D. 1854—

Dear Sister Mary GRIFFIN, I was up to Greenville Pitt County last month (August) and in the office I found a letter Directed to me from you and perrusing that letter I found that your Husband my Brother was dead. Which of course according to the nature of things is grief—to you an to me.— And I now state to you that Brother Lanier GRIFFIN is dead he died the 6th day of March last with the small Pox which is one day after the death of Brother Stanly according to your letter. So I suppose I am the only one of my Fathers Children that survives. But dear sister let us quit this painful subject knowing that dust we are and to dust we must return. And endeavor to turn our minds to a more pleasing and sublime a subject you state that Brother Stanly died a Christian Brother Lanier was a minister of the Gospel of Christ and died as I understand in the faith which he had advocated. O. Sister how this should animate our Hearts to reflect that our loss are their gain when we reflect that their immortal souls are now chanting forth the praises of God and the Lamb and will to all eternity. Sing a new song. But sister now let us examin ourselves an see if we too are prepared to meet death like they did and bid Farewell to all below with a smile and no sorrow while our souls will sore up to Masions in the skie which may it be our happy lots is my prayer. Amen. You stated in your letter that Brother Stanly never done any thing with that business and that you wer going to move to your Fathers. And that if I would authorize you. you would attend it it but as to that you can let it be as it is and if you ever see any chance to receive any thing from the death of Brother Joseph you then can write to me concerning that matter. Dear sister my Family at this time are all so as to be up I have been very sick but are now on the mending hand I hope. Write to me on the reception of this letter and let me know how you are and how you do as I hope it will reach you and find you in good health I have moved to Craven County on bay River. Therefore when you write to me direct your letter To Bay River Craven County N. C.—

Except of my love and respects for you and your Children and all your concerns,

Farewell, James GRIFFIN

WILL OF CHARLES ROLLINGS, 1830–1843

Contributed by Elizabeth Ross. From the William Blount Rodman Papers, Coll. #329.14.d, East Carolina University Manuscript Collection, J. Y. Joyner Library. These legal briefs are the only known extant reference to the will of Charles Rollins, written in 1830, amended in 1841, and probated in 1843. His age was given as 87 in the 1840 Census, Pensioners Schedule. Because of his great age, several of his devisees, including his wife, died before him, leaving the settlement of his estate a complicated matter. Rodman, a lawyer in adjoining Beaufort County, made these notes (undated) sometime later, trying to resolve the terms of the will with the living heirs (grandchildren) of deceased children. Many of the grandchildren married and migrated to other states.

John HARRIS and Wm. T. HARRIS

This was a Civil Action for the Recovery of Land tried before AVERY, Judge, at Spring Term 1880 of Pitt Superior Court.

The Plaintiffs claim, in right of the feme plaintiff under the will of Richard HARRIS, the contents of which are set forth in the official verdict.

The Defendants claim under the same will and by mesne conveyances from the Henry HARRIS mentioned therein.

It was admitted that the will set forth in the official verdict was duly executed by the said Richard HARRIS and duly admitted to probate; that the feme plaintiff was the only child of the said Henry HARRIS; and that said Henry HARRIS in his life time conveyed the lands described in the complaint in fee to the ancestors of the defendants: and that the said deed has been duly admitted to probate.

The Defendants therefore offered to show by parol [?] testimony that the said testator, previous to the execution of his said will, had provided for all his children except the Henry mentioned in the said will by deeds delivered in his life time, and that before, at the time of, and after the execution of the said will, the said testator declared that it was his intention to devise the lands mentioned in the complaint to the said Henry his son, in fee, provided the said Henry died leaving a child or children, and that it was the expressed intention of the said testator to make an equal distribution of his estate among all his children.

This testimony was objected to by the plaintiffs. Objections sustained and the evidence Excluded.

The Defendants except.
