I LIVE TODAY

I live today as though I am going to die today None of us knows when God shall come and call us away.

As a thief in the night He will come and take us home

A place where we will be safe and can never roam

We must keep peace between ourselves and our fellowman

This is required by all of us, it's God's command Since we don't know just when He's gonna call for us

Keeping ourselves ready everyday is positively a must.

There's time to get ready & the place we're going we choose

It's foolish to be careless 'cause we have everything to lose

Today is important & we should be well on our way Don't wait for tomorrow 'cause it never comes anyway.

I live today as though I shall die today and I gain
It does away with heartaches & a lot of unnecessary pain

Needless concern and worry can really slow our pace
And this is no way to win such an important race.

Live life's fullest today and forget about tomorrow
We don't need to load ourselves down with needless sorrow

None of us will die tomorrow but it will be today Living a full fruitful life each day is what's gonna pay.
