

THE READER'S DIGEST

PLEASANTVILLE • NEW YORK

Dear Contributor:

Although the enclosed material has not won acceptance as a Reader's Digest First Person story, we do appreciate your having given us the opportunity to consider it. The active co-operation of our readers is a real editorial aid. Digest departments like Life in These United States, Picturesque Speech and Laughter could not exist without contributions from readers.

We thank you for your interest and helpfulness on this occasion and hope you may have better success with some later contribution to another department.

Sincerely,

The Editors
