~ Miss Me But Let Me Go ~

*When I have come to the end of the road,
And the sun has set for me;
I want no rites in a gloom-filled room,
Why cry for a soul set free?
Miss me a little, but not too long,
And not with your head bowed low;
Remember the love that we once shared,
Miss me, but let me go.
For this a journey that we all must take,
And each must go alone;
It's all a part of the Master's plan,
A step on the road to home.
When you are lonely and sick of heart,
Go to the friends we know;
And bury your sorrows in doing good deeds,
Miss me, but let me go.*

Passage from "Thanatopsis"

By: William Cullen Bryant
1794 - 1874

"So live, that when thy summons comes to join
The innumerable caravan which moves
To that mysterious realm, where each shall take
His chamber in the silent halls of death,
Thou go not, like the quarry-slave at night,
Scourged to his dungeon, but, sustained and soothed
By an unflattering trust, approach thy grave
Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch
About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams."

Obituary

DR. DAVID B. COOKE, JR. the son of the late David B. and Lucille Edwards Cooke of Weldon, North Carolina, died at the Hillhaven La Salle Nursing Center on Thursday, April 22, 1982.

Dr. Cooke received his early education in the public schools of Weldon. He came to North Carolina College for Negroes (now North Carolina Central University) to pursue courses leading to the Bachelor of Science degree and then went on to Meharry Medical College in Nashville, Tennessee, for the study of medicine. After having received the degree Doctor of Medicine, he interned at the Good Samaritan Hospital in Charlotte, North Carolina, and then returned to Durham to become a resident physician at Lincoln Hospital. Upon the completion of his residency, he decided to establish his practice in Durham.

Early in his career Dr. Cooke was married to the former Barbara Logan. To this union three children were born: David B. Cooke, III of Washington, DC, Logan L. Cooke of Durham and India Merle Cooke of San Francisco, California.

Before a tragic illness cut short his career, Dr. Cooke gave himself without stint to the practice of his profession for more than thirty years. As a physician he was like "Luke, the beloved physician," and his patients will cherish his memory.

Dr. Cooke's fortitude in illness won for him the admiration of all who knew him. Those who visited him always came away marveling that even in the face of inscrutable fortune he had learned the "sweet magic of a cheerful face." Reflection upon his life gives new meaning to the words of Socrates that "No evil can happen to a good man, either in life or after death." In these words all mankind may find comfort.

During his active years, Dr. Cooke served the community in many capacities. He was a member and a trustee of White Rock Baptist Church and of the Moore-Kennedy Bible Class; a member of the Durham Academy of Medicine; of Beta Phi Chapter of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, which he once served as basileus; and of the Durham Committee on the Affairs of Black People, of which he was once the treasurer.

Dr. Cooke is survived by his wife; his two sons; his daughter; his mother, Mrs. Lucille E. Cooke of Weldon; his three sisters, Mrs. Vernese Johnson of Roanoke Rapids, Mrs. Marie Carrington of Weldon and Mrs. Otelia Peerman of Chapel Hill; three brothers, Calvin Cooke of Baltimore, Maryland, Joseph Cooke of Washington, DC and Leonard Cooke of Weldon; a host of other relatives and friends.

~ The House By The Side Of The Road ~

There are hermit souls that live withdrawn,
In the peace of their self-content;
There are souls like stars, that dwell apart,
In a fellowless firmament;
Their are pioneer souls that blaze their paths,
Where highways never ran.....
But let me live in the house by the side of the road,
And be a friend to man.
Let me live in the house by the side of the road,
Where the race of men go by.....
The men who are good and the men who are bad,
As good and as bad as I.
I would not sit in the scorner's seat,
Or hurl the cynic's ban.....
Let me live in the house by the side of the road,
And be a friend to man.
I see from my house by the side of the road,
By the side of the highway of life,
The men who press with the ardor of hope,
The men who are faint with the strife.
But I turn not away from their smiles nor their tears,
Both parts of an infinite plan.....
Let me live in a house by the side of the road,
And be a friend to man.
I know there are brook-gladdened meadows ahead,
And mountains of wearisome height;
That the road passes on through the long afternoon,
And stretches away to the night.
But still I rejoice when the travelers rejoice,
And weep with the strangers that moan,
As I live in my house by the side of the road,
And be a friend to man.

"Let us rejoice and be exceedingly glad for the pleasure of her time with us and the relationships we shared. We pray that she rests in the arms of Jesus forever more."

She departed this life early Saturday morning, August 16, 2003 in Durham, North Carolina.

She was married to the late John Coone, whom she cherished and deeply loved.

She was also an active member of the James E. Shepard La Sertoma Club in addition to serving on committees for many causes that helped to make life better for others.

She leaves to lovingly remember her, four nieces, Marian Stephenson of Yorktown, Virginia, Lillian Ward of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Nannie Mae Laws and Janet Laws, both of Durham, North Carolina; one stepbrother, Robert Lee Glenn of Arlington, Virginia; a godson, Richard Pippin of Durham, North Carolina and a host of other loving relatives and friends.

~ Awareness ~

God, let me be aware,
Let me not stumble blindly down the ways,
Just getting somehow safely through the days,
Not even groping for another hand,
Not even wondering why it all was planned
Eyes to the ground unseeking for the light,
Soul never aching for a wild-winged flight,
Please-keep me eager just to do my share;
God, let me be aware.

God, let me be aware.
Stab my soul fiercely with other's pain,
Let me walk seeing horror and stain.
Let my hands, groping, find other hands,
Give me the heart that divine understands.
Give me the courage, wounded, to fight,
Flood me with knowledge, drench me in light;
Please, keep me eager just to do my share.
God, let me be aware.

Amazing Grace

Amazing grace! How sweet the sound
That saved a wretch like me!
I once was lost but now I'm found
Was blind but now I see.

'Twas grace that taught my heart to fear
And grace my fears relieved
How precious did that grace appear
The hour I first believed.

Through many dangers, toils and snares
I have already come;

'Tis grace has brought me safe thus far,
And grace will lead me home.

Blessed Assurance

Blessed assurance, Jesus is mine!
Oh, what a foretaste of glory divine!
Heir of salvation, purchase of God,
Born of His Spirit, washed in His blood.

(Chorus)

This is my story, this is my song,
Praising my Saviour all the day long;
This is my story, this is my song,
Praising my Saviour all the day long.

Perfect submission, perfect delight,
Visions of rapture now burst on my sight;
Angels descending, bring from above
Echoes of mercy, whispers of love.

Perfect submission, all is at rest,
I in my Saviour am happy and blest;
Watching and waiting, looking above.

"Sweet, Sweet, Spirit"

There's a sweet, sweet spirit in this place,
And I know it's the spirit of the Lord.
There are sweet expressions on each face,
And I know that it's the presence of the Lord.

Refrain

Sweet Holy Spirit, Sweet Heavenly Dove,
Stay right here with us filling us with love.
And for these blessings, we lift our hearts with praise;
Without a doubt, we'll know that we have been revived,
When we shall leave this place.

There are blessings you cannot receive,
'Till you know Him in His fullness and believe.
You're the one to profit when we say,
I am going to walk with Jesus all the way.
