PREFACE.

NEW BERN, NORTH CAROLINA, is situated on a beautiful peninsular at the juncture of the Neuse and the Trent rivers. It is only thirty-five miles from the Atlantic Ocean, and thus the influence of the gulf stream, that almost washes the shores of North Carolina, is felt the whole year, especially in the winter months when the climate is noted for its mildness. Thousands of tourists who have stopped over in New Bern while enroute to those much advertised winter resorts of the far South, have remained and spent the entire winter season here, for to their surprise and delight they found in New Bern just what they only expected to find in those States bordering on the Gulf of Mexico.

To give an idea of the mildness of the climate of New Bern, we will make a few comparisons by giving a few weather statistics for the month of December, 1910.

The average temperature for

New Bern, N. C.	43	degrees.
Norfolk, Va.	37	"
Cincinnati, Ohio.	29	"
Pittsburg, Pa.	27	"
Syracuse, N. Y.	20	"
Chicago, Ill.	20	"

	In. of rainfall.	In. of snowfall.	Days clear.	Percent sunshine.
New Bern, N. C.	1.30	None	17	71
Norfolk, Va.	3.85	.5	16	62
Cincinnati, Ohio.	2.15	5.1	5	31
Pittsburg, Pa.	2.87	13	4	26
Syracuse, N. Y.	2.24	22.7	3	21
Chicago, Ill.	1.32	9.2	8	42

The above observation statements show that New Bern certainly is a city of sunshine. There is nothing more acceptable than winter sunshine, and New Bern has it three-fourths of the time. New Bern has had practically no snow for the last four winters, the summers are pleasant and healthful, cooled by the delightful ocean and sound breezes.

The population of New Bern as given by the recent census report is 9,950. The population of New Bern is really much larger than that, since many families are known not to have been reached by the enumerators, and a real conservative estimate of the present population would place it at least 14,000.

The city is compactly built, until a few years ago everybody trying to get homes down town. With the coming of the electric car system which is now being constructed, and the extension of the lines to all parts of the city, reaching the limits and beyond at several points, there will be a wonderful spreading out, and hundreds of families who have for years remained in cramped quarters and the congested section of the city will reside outside of the corporation, but within a few minutes of the business section by car.

We quote from a recent booklet compiled by the Chamber of Commerce:

'With an abundant yield of cotton—5,000 bales having been sold on the New Bern market this season, an inexhaustible supply of timber of all kinds, fertile fields that are capable of supplying food requirements for millions of inhabitants without outside aid; with deep water on both sides of the city (peninsular as to shape), affording desirable sites on railroads and water, as well as on opposite side of the Neuse and Trent rivers; with a continuous stretch of inland water of over 100 miles, extending through Pamlico, Croatan and Albemarle sounds, alive with fish and game, and the great Inland Waterway, which will ultimately connect Cape Cod and the far South, practically at its very door, opening up channels of commerce to all parts of the world, on a parity with Norfolk, Wilmington, Charleston and Savannah, etc.; with railroads crossing both rivers and grid-ironing the city and surrounding territory, New Bern, North Carolina bids fair to become one of the most important cities on the South Atlantic Seaboard, south of Norfolk."

The vicinity of New Bern offers exceptional advantages to those interested in the farming industry. One of our great needs at present is a large immigration from the North of white farmers who are trained in the economy of farm life. It is an admitted fact that on the farms of the South every year are wasted more products than are necessary to the support of the entire farming population. Within the radius of a few miles from New Bern there is a large quantity of lands that can be utilized for all purposes, owing to the great cheapness of Southern acreage, and it is only within the last few years that the local farmers have begun the study of intensive farming. Nowhere in the United States may be found so varied a production of crops as here, where fertility of soil admits of three or four crops being grown on same land in a season. Everything required is grown, and crops are cultivated every month of the year. Alfalfa grows luxuriantly, yielding five or six cuts annually, at great profit and little expense. Here agriculture is a science and the possibilities are limited only to a man's capacity to cultivate and harvest nature's bountiful production.

Ten times cheaper and three times more productive is a fact that should immediately attract the attention of farmers from all parts of the country, and impress them with the fact that the greatest opportunity in the world for the farmer is the purchase and cultivation of North Carolina lands.

It is in the public school system that the citizens of New Bern probably take the most pride. They lavish upon their schools more money and meet every expense of establishing and maintaining new school buildings more cheerfully than any other department of the city government. The buildings are all modern, well located with a view to the convenience of the pupils, have every comfort and are built with special care to the convenience and health of teachers and pupils. A diploma from the New Bern public schools entitles the holder to entrance without examination to all the State Colleges and the University. So high is the curriculum and so perfect is the system in vogue here, that every year hundreds of people move to the city from other places, attracted here more on account of the unexcelled school facilities offered their children than any other motive.

No city in the South can boast of a purer moral atmosphere than New Bern. It is noted for its magnificent churches. Every denomination that has a following in this immediate section of the South has comfortable houses of worship. The churches are not only costly edifices showing the pride of the membership, but the membership is of the very largest. Associated with each congregation are the usual aid and other societies for the work of religious extension here and in other fields. Homeseekers may be assured that their families will in New Bern find all the opportunities for worship they have in their present homes.

New Bern can truthfully boast of the most beautiful streets of any city in North Carolina. There are twenty-five miles of paved sidewalks. The last $50,000 installment of a $150,000 bond issue for street paving is now being put down, and when completed practically every street in New Bern will be paved.

New Bern is well represented by the fraternal orders. The Elks' Home, which occupied the fifth floor of the handsome Elks' Temple, is considered one of the most beautiful and comfortable club rooms in the South. No New Bern Elk has to go to the ocean to get the stiff ocean breezes for, there is a continual breeze passing through the club-rooms the hottest day in August. There the latch string has been pulled off and the door stands eternally open to all "Hello, Bills."

There are three large banks in New Bern and their business is done along the most advanced lines. There is no tendency to break away from safe and conservative principles, but the government of the financial concerns is one of helpfulness in all instances and every deserving institution is rendered such aid as it credit calls for.

Probably the greatest feature that attracts the many industries that are locating in New Bern is the excellent transportation facilities at hand, not only by the Norfolk Southern Railroad and the Atlantic Coast Line, but by the water routes both by ocean and the inland waterway. All persons familiar with freight rates know what influence that competitive water routes have in the regulation of these rates and that all towns situated on water routes have cheaper railroad rates than strictly inland towns.

The Union passenger station is one of the finest stations in the South. The station is divided into waiting rooms for white and black passengers, parlors for ladies, offices for railway employes, a large baggage room, a well conducted cafe; indeed, all the requirements of modern travel are met at the station.

The citizens of New Bern are great lovers of good wholesome amusement. There are three theatres in the city which are liberally patronized. The Athens and the Victoria have moving pictures and refined vaudeville and are open the entire season. The Masonic Opera House is only open during the regular theatrical season. Here can be seen from time to time the large plays that go to the largest cities in the South.

The citizens of New Bern are supplied with pure water by a modern system of waterworks. The water comes from several hundred feet below the surface from artesian wells. A modern sewerage system was installed several years ago.

New Bern can boast of one of the finest equipped fire departments for any town its size in the South. There are two steamers, four (4) roller-bearing horse hose carriages and one hook and ladder truck.

Tourists and travelling men are always delighted with the hotel accommodations in New Bern. No city in the State has a better hotel, or one furnishing a more satisfactory service, than the Gaston Hotel. There are also several well equipped smaller hotels in the city.

The retail stores of New Bern are up-to-date and progressive. The merchants have a live association that is known as the New Bern Branch of the Retail Merchants Association of North Carolina. This association has a rating system by which they can tell the exact credit rating of every person who has been on the books of any member of this association for the last five years or more.

New Bern has a number of large wholesale houses whose volume of business has taken wonderful strides in the last few years.

The industry that has had more to do with the industrial development of New Bern than any other is the lumber business. New Bern has sixteen enormous lumber mills that are running on full time the entire year. New Bern is the largest lumber market in North Carolina. In the year 1910 there was handled at New Bern 113,345,560 feet of lumber. This may not mean much to the man who knows nothing of the lumber business, but to one who knows what a thousand feet of lumber is, it means a gigantic industry.

The cry of the nineteenth century was "Go West, young man, go West." If Horace Greely was alive to-day he would say, "Go South, young man, go South." The West, even in its most palmy days, has never offered the resources and opportunities that are everywhere so prevalent in Eastern North Carolina to-day.

J. LEON WILLIAMS,
Secretary Chamber of Commerce.

OUT-OF-TOWN WORK SOLICITED

201-207 Governor St.
RICHMOND, VIRGINIA

If 9,896 Farmers

and planters told you that their yields per acre of cotton, corn, tobacco, wheat, fruits, peanuts, rice, sugar cane and truck crops were greatly increased and even doubled

By Using Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers

and which they thought the best and biggest crop producers on earth—wouldn't you feel that you should, in justice to yourself, try these fertilizers and get the same increased yields on your own farm? We have many thousands of un-asked-for letters from farmers blessing the day they bought Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers. Many of these letters are in our 1910 Farmers' Year Book, which can be had free of your dealer, or by mailing us the coupon
