PREFACE

NORTH CAROLINA.

A State of Wonderful Natural Resources.

North Carolina offers the widest range of climates, the greatest diversity of soils, the most diversified timber growth. The stockman, dairyman, grain-grower, fruit-grower, cotton-grower, market-gardener and florist, can each find here the soil and climate best suited to each with transportation facilities unsurpassed. Terrestrial mineral resources are apparently inexhaustible. The tuberose grows to perfection in one season, and growers are able to sell them at the same price per thousand that growers at the North must have per hundred.

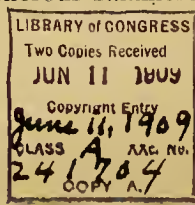

No State excels it in natural resources, in magnificent water powers, in agricultural and horticultural advantages, in grand scenery and delightful climate.

It is included nearly between the parallels 34 degrees and 36½ degrees north latitude, and between meridians 75½ degrees and 84½ degrees west longitude.

The extreme length of the State from East to West is 503½ miles; the average breadth is 100 miles; its extreme breadth is 187½ miles. Its area embraces 52,286 square miles, of which 48,666 is land, and 3,620 is water.

It reaches from the sea-coast to an altitude nearly 7,000 feet, to the highest mountains east of the Rockies. Its soil and climate afford opportunity for profitably raising most of the products of the earth common to the United States. Its vast range of minerals, stones and wood invite the attention of persons seeking such investments for immediate or future development.

Its climate is unsurpassed. Dr. R. H. Lewis, a distinguished physician, the able and efficient Secretary of the State Board of Health, says: "As to climate, we occupy the vantage-ground of the golden mean, inclining somewhat to the warmer side. It is neither too hot nor too cold. While we have generous summers—long enough to mature two crops of many kinds—the thermometer does not rise as high as it does far to the northward of us, and the summer temperature is not usually oppressive. We also have a sufficiency of winter, with occasional light snows, and once in every few years, ice thick enough to skate on in safety, and with rain and dark days, but, on the whole, bright and sunshiny. Our winters are just long enough and severe enough to restore the snap and vigor and elasticity that may have been weakened by the summer—we are enabled to fully recoup any physical waste attributable to long and continued heat.”

Combining all these sanitary advantages, and supplemented by most charming environment of woods, hills and water spaces, Fayetteville, in Cumberland county, stand conspicuous and ever attractive. It is on the direct railway thoroughfare between Florida and northern cities and makes a delightful halway house for such as elect to tarry on their way. For thirteen years I have made some portion of this phenomenal atmospheric eddy my place of winter residence, after testing all the resorts between Norfolk and the Rio Grande with comparison in favor, all told, of Fayetteville.

Fayetteville, N. C.

Cumberland County is situated in the western part of the Eastern division of North Carolina, 50 miles above tidewater, and Fayetteville, the county-seat, and early after the Revolution one of the alternate seats of the General Assembly of the State, the Federal Constitution having been ratified here in 1789—is situated on the west bank of the Cape Fear river, at the head of steamboat navigation. It is a port of entry; and a regular line of steamers plies between it and the sea-port of Wilmington, the river being navigable all the year. The Cape Fear at this point divides the flat lands of Eastern Carolina from the rolling country of the Middle Section. The banks or bluffs at the boat landing are 70 feet above low water. The government has adopted a scheme to canalize the Cape Fear River by which a depth (minimum) of water will be assured at Fayetteville the year round of 8 feet. This work when completed will cost \$1,300,000; \$50,000 has been appropriated to buy lands and rights-of-ways, etc. We have 9 Cotton Mills, 2 Silk Mills and many other varied industries. The corporate limits extend west from the river $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles, and north and south 2 miles. The western half rests upon a level plateau 15 feet above the eastern hall, which latter is level with the top of the river bluff. Cross Creek, a picturesque stream of clear sandhill water, supplying within the city limits 250 horse-power, enters from the north-west, and, flowing east by south, almost cuts the town in half. Blount's Creek, another clear sandhill stream, supplying within the city limits 150 horse-power, enters from the south-west, and flowing east by north through the upper plateau, and along the southern boundary, turns north into the lower plateau and unites with Cross Creek in the north-eastern quarter of the town, whence they empty into the Cape Fear half a mile off.

The lands on the east side of the Cape Fear River belong to the class of gray sandy loams of the average piney woods uplands. Near the river, on both sides, are large tracts of semi-swamp and oak and pine flats, which are very productive. The west side of the river, after rising from the river bottoms, is rolling, sandy country, occasionally presenting broad flats of lands susceptible of high improvement, producing grains, cotton, fruits and vegetables of all varieties.

Only because we need the population to intelligently cultivate our lands they can now be bought very cheap—from $5.00 per acre to $50.00 per acre—which are really worth four times these prices, just as any land that can be made to yield a crop to net $100 per acre is worth more than $100 per acre.

Trucking Interests.

The cultivation of small tracts of land by large numbers of people in this country has demonstrated the fact that our climate and soil is well adapted to trucking of all kinds. We have several large farmers here who are constantly shipping all kinds of vegetables, berries and fruits by the carload to the Northern markets. But numerous amateurs have gone into this business, cultivating from one-fourth to a dozen acres in the experiment. Large sums of money have been made by these experimentors on lettuce, asparagus, beans, and melons. Our freight facilities are so excellent that fruits, etc., gathered one afternoon can be on the breakfast tables of Richmond, Washington and Baltimore the next morning. The trucking industry has grown beyond all conception in Cumberland county in the last two years, and it is a business that can not be overdone. Lands are abundant and cheap.

Practically all the experimentors have become regular truckers. Shipments of truck of all kinds have increased many fold. Fayetteville was never so prosperous and its prosperity is constantly increasing.

Quality of Raw Cotton.

The cotton marketed in Fayetteville possesses generally a clean, pearly-colored, fine fibred and strong staple, fully 1 to 1¼ inches in length. It is carefully harvested and ginned, and generally free from dirt and trash. The average grade is strict middling, and it is highly prized at numerous Eastern mills.

Other Advantages.

To the manufacturer of articles that are made from wood the surrounding forests and river bottoms supply almost unlimited quantities of both varieties of pine, several of the best oaks, of hickory, birch, ash, beech, sweet and black gum, dogwood, persimmon, cypress and juniper.

The attention of persons desiring to manufacture paper from wood pulp is especially called to our numerous woods suitable for that purpose, as well as to the magnificent and convenient water-power of this county. The Government is building a fine Post-office Building at Fayetteville, $70,000 being appropriated.

To Tourists.

The Atlantic Coast Line will allow stop-over privileges on all tickets (within limit) at Fayetteville, N. C., by applying to their conductors in charge, and will participate in one-way settlers' rates from Ohio and Mississippi River gateways—Cincinnati, Ohio, Louisville, Ky., Evansville, Ind., Paducah, Ky., Cairo, Ill., St. Louis, Mo., Memphis, Tenn., and points beyond to destinations located on this System or to which this Company form part of an authorized ticketing route.

While the present railroad facilities of Fayetteville are second to no city in the South, yet as suggestive of the probability that in the near future we will have two more independent lines of railroads built into our city, we give the followings facts: The Mills interest have a railroad now in operation from Raleigh south to Fayetteville, N. C., and the Duke interests are now operating a railroad from Apex to Duke. Duke is about twenty-three miles north of Fayetteville, so in order to connect with our steamboat lines they will both come here; besides, in order to reach their objective points of Charleston and Southport, respectively, they must come here, since because of our geographical situation and the topography of the country they can't reach these ports by any other route. We now have direct connection between Fayetteville and Southern Pines by Blue's railroad.

Schools.

Fayetteville is well supplied with schools, both public and private. We have also a very splendid Military School of high-grade, the Donaldson Military School. Its graduates enter any college in the State without examination. We have a fine three-story brick edifice and an excellent principal and corps of teachers for our Graded School, which is run by a special tax to supplement the regular county fund.

. Churches.

We are a God-fearing and law-abiding people with prosperous churches for both white and colored. The Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian, Episcopal and Catholic denominations have large and comfortable houses of worship.

Fraternal orders are very popular with our people.

Streets paved with up-to-date Bitulithic. Sidewalks concreted. City owns water-work, sewage; and electric power system. Fayetteville pays water-competing freight rates; city and suburban trolley electric system.

Fayettesville as a Manufacturing and Distributing Point.

A better point than Fayetteville can not be found anywhere, and few anything like so good, as a manufacturing and distributing point for soap, paper, bags (cloth and paper), crates (for truck), barrels, etc., etc.—the present trucking industry in the immediate vicinity being already large enough to consume the whole output of an ordinary establishment making such articles as truckers require for marketing their products. All crates and packages are now purchased elsewhere.

The following steamers ply between Fayetteville and Wilmington, N. C.:

The "Tar Heel," the "Hawes," the "A. P. Hurt," and the "City of Fayetteville"—the last being an elegant Passenger and Freight Steamer, fitted with all the modern conveniences, including a 13-inch electric search light on top and electric lights throughout the state-rooms.

The Best Fertilizers for Corn

That the yield of corn from the average farm can be greatly increased by intelligent and liberal fertilization has been repeatedly demonstrated. Large crops of good corn result from preparing the land well, using the right kind and quantity of fertilizer, good seed and proper cultivation.

Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers

will greatly "increase your yield per acre" of corn or any other crop. In some cases remarkable results have been obtained.

Mr. C. W. Caruthers of Sumpter County, Fla., writes: "Words cannot express the value of your fertilizer. It is really so far ahead of other companies' goods, that it would not pay anyone to use other brands, were they given free and put in the field. I can prove what I say to be a fact. I made a test on five acres. I used on one half the land your fertilizer and on the other half another company's fertilizer, same grade; the land received the same cultivation every time. I kept a correct account of the amount of money I got off each half and I got $300 more from the land on which I used Virginia-Carolina Fertilizer than I did off the other half. I got four times as much corn from the land on which I used your fertilizer."

Write today to nearest office of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company for a free copy of the new 1909 Farmers' Year-Book or Almanac, full of the most valuable and unprejudiced information for planters and farmers; or ask your fertilizer dealer for a copy.

The Fayetteville Observer

was established in 1817, and, for the most of that time, has been in possession of the late Edward J. Hale or his son, the present owner and editor. For the two decades ending with 1865, it was the most influential and most widely circulated journal in North Carolina, and was one of the leading papers of the South, having a large circulation in all the States between North Carolina and the Mexican border. As a result of the destruction of its office buildings and property by General Sherman, in 1865, and of the decadence of the town in which it was printed, its publication was suspended for a period thereafter. Upon its resumption, its circulation naturally fell far short of that before and during the war. But this is now increasing rapidly with the new life recently taken on by the City of Fayetteville and by the adjacent country. The former has become an important silk and cotton mill center and wholesale distributing point, as well as a shopping place for half a dozen counties. The latter has added large truck industries to the already important cotton-growing industry. The weekly edition of the Observer reaches this country population, and is the leading weekly in a radius of 100 miles; while the daily edition enters every home in the city and suburbs of Fayetteville, containing a population of 10,000, and is the only daily paper published in a radius of 74 miles.

With such a history back of it, the Observer naturally circulates among the very best people in its section, the highly prosperous Upper Cape Fear country of North Carolina; and probably to a greater extent than in the case of any other paper, its readers scan every word in it, advertisements as well as reading matter. A glance at the 19 columns of live advertisements carried by its daily edition, and the 16 columns of like kind carried in its weekly edition, will show how completely the two mediums represent the people they serve, and how interwoven with the very soul of the paper are their industrial, commercial and financial aspirations.

Fayetteville is 6 hours from Richmond, 9 hours from Washington and 15 hours from New York.
