BENNETT COLLEGE PUBLCITY

Jan. 1965 —
Aug. 1972

A TWO-WEEK STUDENT EXCHANGE

A two-week student exchange between Bennett College and Warren Wilson Junior College of Swannanoa, N. C. has been

"LIVING MADONNAS"—Among the eight scenes in the "Living Madonnas" presentation at Bennett College, recently, was this scene, "Adoration of the Shepherds," by Martin Schongauer, with Mary portrayed by Cheryl Bright of Washington, N.C., and the shepherds by Andrea Mast of Houston, Tex.; Prathin Pattabongs of Bangkok, Thailand, and Beatrice England of Cincinnati, Ohio

Bennett Gets $23,745 For Summer Study

GREENSBORO, N. C. — A $23,745 grant from the National Science Foundation, Washington, D. C., will enable Bennett College to hold its seventh annual summer institute in science and mathematics for high ability high school students.

The program, scheduled for six weeks during June and July, will again be directed by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the college's science division.

QUALIFIED high school juniors and seniors are eligible for the institute and instruction will be offered in biology, chemistry, physics and mathematics. An enrollment of around 80 is anticipated.

In addition to classes, laboratory periods, seminars and films, the students will take a number of field trips to places of scientific interest in the state and will also visit in the nation's capital.

BLACK VIRGIN... This draped sculpture by an anonymous Franchman was one of eight scenes in the annual "Living Madonnas" presentation at Bennett College on Sunday night. The Virgin is portrayed by Dola Little, of Houston, Tex.

Dr. Mays to speak at Bennett service

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., will speak when Bennett College holds its annual David D. Jones service of remembrance on Sunday, Jan. 17 at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Representing the alumni in paying tribute to the late educator will be Miss Barbara Patterson, of New York City, a member of the class of 1955, last class to receive their diplomas from Dr. Jones.

OMICRON ETA CHI PROBATES... These 12 young women, 10 of them freshmen are on probation for membership in Omicron Eta Chi, home economics club, at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C. Left to right: Misses Janet Jenkins, sophomore, of Camden, N.J.; Sylvia Jones, of Burlington, N.C.; Shirley Adams, of Lumpkin, Ga.; Claywonne Wright, of Winston-Salem; Lorraine Polk, of Newark, N.J.; Carol Stowe, of Belmont, N.C.; Helen Foulks, of Greensboro; Barbara Gadsden, sophomore, of Mt. Pleasant, S.C.; Josephine Dula, of Lenoir; Alicia Asia, of Palatka, Florida; Barbara Williams, of Morganton, and Gloria Parker, of Sanford.

Elect Bennett prexy to academic groups

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, has received notification of her election to two important bodies in the field of higher education.

She was elected to membership in the University Senate of the Methodist Church which, among other responsibilities, is concerned with accreditation of the denomination's colleges and universities. She was also named to serve on the Commission on Liberal Learning

METHODIST CHURCH CONFERENCE

The Upper Southeastern Region Planning meeting of the North Carolina-Virginia Conference of the Methodist Church will be held at Bennett College, January 29-30, it was announced this week.

Sessions of the two-day gathering are scheduled for the David D. Jones Student Union. The interracial group of 31 persons will include bishops, executive secretaries and conference directors of children's work.

Dr. Mays To Be Bennett Speaker

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College in Atlanta, will be the speaker when Bennett College holds its annual David D. Jones service of remembrance on Sunday, Jan. 17, at 4 p.m.

Dr. Jones, who served as president of the college from the time it became a college for women in 1926 until his death in 1956, was associated with Dr. Mays in educational activities over a long period.

Representing the alumni in paying tribute to the late educator will be Miss Barbara Patterson, of New York City, a member of the class of 1955, last class to receive diplomas from Dr. Jones.

ON JOB TRAINING—Miss Marcia Johnson, of Atlanta, Ga., a senior biology major at Bennett College, performs blood analysis under watchful eye of Mitchell Coleman Jr., laboratory director at the L. Richardson Memorial Hospital in Greensboro, N. C. as part of her field work experience.

Bennett to construct $475,000 dormitory

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Construction of a three-story residence hall to house 140 Bennett College students is expected to begin before the end of the school year, President Willa B. Player announced this week.

The $475,000 structure will be a "twin" to Laura Cone Hall and will be erected between that two-story building and the David D. Jones Student Union. Because of the topography of that area it is possible to add another floor.

"We need the new dormitory," Dr. Player explained, "in order to reduce the number of three-student rooms now in use and because we will not be able to use Kent Hall for a residence any more.

This is the oldest building on the campus and it will probably be renovated for use as teachers' offices, seminar rooms, and possibly some administrative offices."

NORMAL ENROLLMENT of 600 is expected to be boosted to 625 with the occupancy of the new residence hall. A new $100,000 infirmary, previously announced, is expected to be ready for use in September.

President Player also announced that in addition to the annual summer institute in science and mathematics sponsored by the National Science Foundation, Bennett is planing two new institutes for this summer.

"We are planning a six-week humanities institute which will accommodate about 80 high school students and a scholars Institute for a selected group of 50 high school seniors who plan to attend Bennett," she said.

This latter program will be geared to enable these students to enroll with advanced standing in their freshman year and possibly shorten their undergraduate work to 3 or 3½ years.

Education Bodies Elect Dr. Player

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, has received notification of her election to two bodies in the field of higher education.

She was elected to membership in the University Senate of the Methodist Church, which, among other responsibilities, is concerned with accreditation of the denomination's colleges and universities. She was also named to serve on the commission on liberal learning of the Association of American Colleges.

Dr. Mays To Bennett January 17

GREENSBORO—Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., will be the speaker when Benett College holds its annual David D. Jones service of remembrance on Sunday, January 17, at 4 p. m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Dr. Jones, who served as president of the college from the time it became a college for women in 1926 until his death in 1956, was associated with Dr. Mays in many educational activities over a long period.

Representing the alumni in paying tribute to the late educator will be Miss Barbara Patterson, of New York City, a member of the class of 1955, last class to receive their diplomas from Dr. Jones.

QUESTION AND ANSWER... Dr. Brand Blanshard, professor of philosophy at Yale University, smiles as he ponders answer to question raised by Miss Kate Aseme, Bennett College sophomore, from Nigeria, following his lecture of the Greensboro, N.C. institution recently. The Rev. A. Knighton Stanley and Miss Marilyn Fardig, of the social science faculty, listen intently. Dr. Blanshard appeared under the auspices of the Piedmont University Center.

Bennett Plans To Build Residence Hall For 140

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Construction of a three-story residence hall to house 140 Bennett College students is expected to begin before the end of the school year, President Willa B. Player announced this week.

The $475,000 structure will be a "twin" to Laura Cone Hall and will be erected between that two-story building and the David D. Jones Student Union. Because of the topography of that area it is possible to add another floor.

"WE NEED the new dormitory," Dr. Player explained, "in order to reduce the number of three-student rooms now in use and because we will not be able to use Kent Hall for a residence any more. This is the oldest building on the campus and it probably will be renovated for use as teachers' offices, seminar rooms, and possibly some administrative offices."

Normal enrollment of 600 is expected to be boosted to 625 with occupancy of the new residence hall. A new $100,000 infirmary, previously announced, is expected to be ready for use in September.

PRESIDENT Player also announced that in addition to the annual summer institute in science and mathematics sponsored by the National Science Foundation, Bennett is planning two new institutes for this summer.

"We are planning a six-week humanities institute which will accommodate about 80 high school students and a scholars institute for a selected group of 50 high school seniors who plan to attend Bennett," she said.

BENNETT VESPERS

Bennett College students were challenged to "build the spiritual foundations of integration" by Dr. Olivia P. Stokes, of Boston, Mass., in her vesper address yesterday. Dr. Stokes is director of the department of religious education of the Massachusetts Council of Churches.

BENNETT VESPERS

The Rev. J. H. Laird, minister of Central Methodist Church in Detroit, was speaker at yesterday's vesper services at Bennett College.

Dr. Benjamin E. Mays To Speak At Bennett

Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., will be the speaker when Bennett College holds its annual David D. Jones service of remembrance on Sunday, January 17, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Dr. Jones, who served as president of the college from the time it became a college for women in 1926 until his death in 1956, was associated with Dr. Mays in many educational activities over a long period.

Representing the alumni in paying tribute to the late educator will be Miss Barbara Patterson, of New York City, a member of the class of 1955, last class to receive their diplomas from Dr. Jones.

FIVE BENNETT SENIORS TO GRADUATE JANUARY 29, 1965

Five Bennett College seniors are scheduled to satisfy all requirements for graduation at the close of the first semester on January 29, Mrs. Mary Eady, registrar, reported this week.

They are: Misses Resna Allen, of ayetteville, N. C., sociology major; Miss Gloria Gill, of Bloomfield, Conn., sociology major, Carolyn Rhinehardt, of Claremont, N. C., business education major; Doris Tate, of Morganton, N. C., elementary education major, and Willie M. Wagstaff, of Greensboro, elementary education major.

Several have accepted public school teaching assignments for the second semester and all will return to the campus to rejoin their classmates for baccalaureate and commencement exercises on May 30-31.

LAYMEN CONVENE

Bishop Charles F. Golden, resident bishop of the Nashville Carolina Area of the Methodist Church, will address the Greensboro District Laymen's meeting 3 p.m. Sunday in Mount Tabor Methodist Church. David W. Morehead, district lay leader, will preside.

Dr. Player Selected By Two Bodies

GREENSBORO — Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, has received notification of her election to two important bodies in the field of higher education.

She was elected to membership in the University Senate of the denomination's colleges and universities. She was also named to serve on the Commission on Liberal Learning of the Association of American Colleges.

Dr. Player this week is attending the annual meetings of these two organizations being held in St. Louis, Mo., January 11-14. She will also attend the annual meeting of the National Association of Schools and Colleges of the Methodist

On-Job Training

Miss Marcia Johnson, of Atlanta, Ga., a senior biology major at Bennett College, performs blood analysis under watchful eye of Mrs. Nancy Mason, laboratory technician, at the L. Richardson Memorial Hospital in Greensboro, N. C.

BENNETT NEWS

Miss Kay Thompson, of New Rochelle, N. Y., a junior elementary education major, will represent Bennett College in the "Miss National UNCF" contest which will be a highlight of the 19th annual alumni conference of the National Alumni Council of United Negro College Fund to be held in Dallas, Texas, February 5-7, at the Statler Hilton Hotel.

A morning musicale by Miss Charlotte Alston, Bennett College organist, scheduled for 11 a.m. on Sunday, January 24, will replace the regular afternoon vesper service for that date.

ON-JOB TRAINING — Miss Marcia Johnson, of Atlanta, Ga., a senior biology major at Bennett College, performs blood analysis under watchful eye of Mrs. Nancy Mason, laboratory technician, at the L. Richardson Memorial Hospital in Greensboro.

Bennett College To Get New Dormitory

Greensboro.—Construction of a three-story residence hall to house 140 Bennett College students is expected to begin before the end of the school year, President Willa B. Player announced this week.

The $475,000 structure will be a "twin" to Laura Cone Hall and will be erected between that two-story building and the David D. Jones Student Union. Because of the topography of that area it is possible to add another floor.

"We need the new dormitory," Dr. Player explained, "in order to reduce the number of three-student rooms now in use and because we will not be able to use Kent Hall for a residence any more. This is the oldest building on the campus and it will probably be renovated for use as teacher's offices, seminar rooms, and possibly some administrative offices."

Normal enrollment of 600 is expected to be boosted to 625 with occupancy of the new residence hall. A new $100,000 infirmary, previously announced, is expected to be ready for use in September.

President Player also announced that in addition to the annual summer institute in science and mathematics sponsored by the National Science Foundation, Bennett is planning two new institutes for this summer.

"We are planning a six-week humanities institute which will accomodate about 80 high school students and a Scholars Institute for a selected group of 50 high school seniors who plan to attend Bennett," she said.

This latter program will be geared to enable these students to enroll with advanced standing in their freshman year and possibly shorten their undergraduate work to 3 or 3.5 years.

Dr. Benjamin E. Meys, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., will be the speaker when Bennett College holds its annual David D. Jones service of remembrance on Sunday, January 17, at 4 p. m. in Pfeiffer Chapel. Dr. Jones, who served as president of the college from the time it became a college for women in 1926 until his death in 1956, was associated with Dr. Mays in many educational activities over a long period.

TROJAN WOMEN...Miss Ana Turner, of Cincinnati, Ohio, as Helen of Troy, seems adamant to plea of Miss Viola Owens, of Asheville, N.C., as Hecuba, in scene from "The Trojan Women" By Euripides which was presented by the Theatre Guilds of Bennett College recently in the Little Theatre of the Greensboro Institution.

Four Plays Scheduled At Bennett

Four short plays directed by Bennett College students will be presented at 8 o'clock tonight in the college's Little Theater. The public is invited and may participate in critiques after the plays.

Priscilla Brunson of Orangeburg, S.C., will direct the Paul Gantt play, "Girls Must Talk." In the cast are Mildred Records of Huntsville, Ala., Charlie Mae Roundtree of Southern Pines, Adrian Jackson of Atlanta, Gretta Middleton of Charleston, S.C., Cheryl Bright of Washington, N.C. and Katherine Williams of Tarboro.

"Lady Rosa," directed by Geraldine Kearney of Philadelphia, will have a cast including Alice Williams of Richmond, Gwendolyn Fletcher of Houston, Jewel Merritt of Durham and Yvonne Hodge of St. Thomas, Virgin Islands.

Viola Owens of Asheville will direct "Riders to the Sea." In the cast are Mittie White of Newark, Helen Thomas of Albany, Ga., Jamelle Rackley of Orangeburg, Joyce Walker of Jamaica, N.Y., Beatrice England of Circinnati and John Troxler Jr. and Michael Robinson of Greensboro.

Oscar Wilde's "Salome" will be directed by Sonja Hazard of New York City. In the cast are Saundra Jenkins of Orangeburg, Shirley Smedley of Birmingham, Betty Carter of Cincinnati, Andrea Mast of Houston, Fred Eady of the college faculty and Troxler.

The four directors are members of a class in stage directing at Bennett.

Dr. Mays Spoke In Remembrance Of The Late Dr. David D. Jones

Dr. David D. Jones, who served as president of Bennett College for 30 years, was described as a man of purpose who gave his life for something greater than himself by speakers during the college's annual service of remembrance Sunday in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., who worked closely with the late educator over a long period, gave the principal address and paid tribute to Dr. Jones as a man "who emptied his life into the lives of others."

"There were many things about David Dallas Jones that I liked," said Dr. Mays. "His company was sought out because he had something to give — something to say. He loved his job and, because he had a free mind, he did not compromise his convictions."

Dr. Jones was further described as a man "who was caught up in something larger than himself," who, forgetting self in his strivings to build Bennett College, yet achieved immortality.

Miss Barbara Patterson, of New York City, a member of the class of 1955, last to receive diplomas from Dr. Jones, said: "Dr. Jones saw life as a laboratory. We never ceased to marvel at his great sense of purpose. He was not afraid to dream great dreams, yet he always lived close to people."

President Willa B. Player, who presided, said that Dr. Jones left a great heritage for present student generations to enjoy and that they should always be mindful of their indebtedness. The college choir, directed by Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, sang "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings," by Brahms one of the educator's favorite anthems.

BENNETT NEWS

Four members of Miss Claudia Finger's class in stage directing at Bennett College presented plays in the Little Theatre on Thursday night in partial fulfillment of work required for the first semester.

"Girls Must Talk," by Paul Gantt, was directed by Miss Priscilla Brunson, of Orangeburg, S. C.; "Lady Rosa," by Miss Geraldine Kearney, of Philadelphia; "Riders to the Sea" by John Synge, directed by Miss Viola Owens, of Asheville, and "Salome" by Oscar Wilde, directed by Miss Sonja Hazard of New York, N. Y.

BENNETT NEWS

Final examinations marking the close of the first semester at Bennett College continue through Friday, with the second semester classes beginning on Monday, Feb. 1, at 8 a.m.

FINALS TO END

GREENSBORO — Final examinations marking the close of the first semester at Bennett College continue through Friday, with the second semester classes beginning on Monday, February 1, at 8 a. m.

Annual Jones Service Set At Bennett

Dr. Benjamin E. Mayes, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., will be the speaker when Bennett College holds its annual David D. Jones service of remembrance Sunday at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Dr. Jones, who served as president of the college from the time it became a college for women in 1926 until shortly before his death in 1956, was associated with Dr. Mays in many educational activities over a long period.

President of Morehouse since 1940, Dr. Mays, immediately before assuming this post, was dean of the School of Religion, Howard University in Washington. A graduate of Bates College, with the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Chicago, he holds honorary degrees from a dozen institutions.

A member of Phi Beta Kappa and other scholarly fraternities, Dr. Mays, in addition to teaching, has been a pastor, Urban League secretary and has worked with the YMCA. He is a past president of the United Negro College Fund and the author of several books in the field of religion and race relations.

Representing the graduates on the program will be Miss Barbara Patterson, of New York City, a member of the class of 1955, last class to receive their diplomas from Dr. Jones.

Five Bennett Seniors Finish On January 29

GREENSBORO — Five Bennett College seniors are scheduled to satisfy all requirements for graduation at the close of the first semester on January 29, Mrs. Mary Eady, registrar, reported last week.

They are Misses Resna Allen, of Fayetteville, sociology major; Misses Gloria Gill, of Bloomfield, Conn., sociology major, Carolyn Rhinehardt, of Claremont, business education major; Doris Tate, of Morganton, elementary education, and Willie M. Wagstaff, of Greensboro, elementary education major.

Several have accepted public school teaching assignments for the second semester and all will return to the campus to rejoin their classmates for baccalaureate and commencement exercises on May 30-31.

PRESENT LITTLE THEATRE PLAYS

GREENSBORO — Four members of Miss Claudia Finger's class in stage directing at Bennett College presented plays in the Little Theatre on Thursday night in partial fulfillment of work required for the first semester.

"Girls Must Talk," by Paul Gantt, was directed by Miss Priscilla Brunson, of Orangeburg, S. C.; "Lady Rosa" by Miss Geraldine Kearney, of Philadelphia; "Riders to the Sea" by John Synge, directed by Miss Viola Owens, of Asheville, and "Salome" by Oscar Wilde

Bennett Morning Musicale

A morning musicale by Miss Charlotte Alston, Bennett College organist, scheduled for 11 a. m. on Sunday, Jan. 24, will replace the regular afternoon vesper service for that date.

Mid-Term Graduates

Five Bennett College seniors are scheduled to satisfy all requirements for graduation at the close of the first semester on Jan. 29, Mrs. Mary Eady, registrar, reported this week.

They are: Misses Resna Allen, of Fayetteville, N. C., sociology major; Miss Gloria Gill, of Bloomfield, Conn., sociology major; Miss Carolyn Rhinehardt, of Claremont, N. C., business education major; Miss Doris Tate, of Morganton, N. C., elementary education major, and Miss Willie M. Wagstaff, of Greensboro, elementary education major.

Several have accepted public school teaching assignments for the second semester and all will return to the campus to rejoin their classmates for baccalaureate and commencement exercises on May 30-31.

REV. JOHN G. CORRY, SPEAKS AT BENNETT

The Rev. John G. Corry, Bennett College chaplain, cautioned students against losing God as they widen their intellectual horizons, in the first vesper service of the New Year, Sunday in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Choosing as his subject, "How Great Is Your God?" the minister cited a number of Biblical characters, who for a varity of reasons, lost their gods. Among these were the Babylonians whose gods had actually become a physical burden to them and were thus discarded.

"These days," said the Rev. Mr. Corry, "demand great living and great living demands faith in a great God. As you enter the new year, let God walk beside you."

DR. PLAYER ELECTED TO HIGHER EDUCATION

Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, has received notification of her election to two important bodies in the field of higher education.

She was elected to membership in the University Senate of the Methodist Church which, among other responsibilities, is concerned with accreditation of the denomination's colleges and universities. She was also named to serve on the Commission on Liberal Learning of the Association of American Colleges.

Dr. Player this week is attending the annual meetings of these two organizations being held in St. Louis, Mo., Januray 11-14. She will also attend the annual meeting of the National Association of Schools and Colleges of the Methodist Church.

NEVER TOO EARLY — Robert Myers, assistant manager of the Social Security office in Greensboro, explains the significance of the Social Security program to Misses Phyllis Debnam, a sophomore, of Raleigh, and Glenda Davis, a junior, of Atlanta, Ga. following lecture to business education class at Bennett College, Greensboro, last week.

BENNETT SERVICE

Dr. David D. Jones Honored In Address

Dr. David D. Jones, who served as president of Bennett College for 30 years, was described as a man of purpose who gave his life for something greater than himself by speakers during the college's annual service of remembrance yesterday in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., who worked closely with the late educator over a long period, paid tribute to Dr. Jones as a man "who emptied his life into the lives of others."

"There were many things about David Dallas Jones that I liked," said Dr. Mays. "His company was sought out because he had something to give — something to say. He loved his job and, because he had a free mind, he did not compromise his convictions."

Dr. Jones was further described as a man "who was caught up in something larger than himself," who, forgetting self in his strivings to build Bennett College, yet achieved immortality.

Miss Barbara Patterson of New York City, a member of the class of 1955, last to receive diplomas from Dr. Jones, said: "Dr. Jones saw life as a laboratory. We never ceased to marvel at his great sense of purpose. He was not afraid to dream great dreams, yet he always lived close to people."

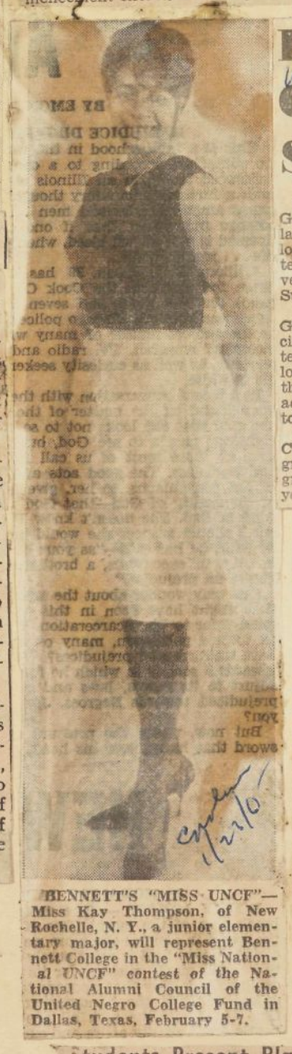

President Willa B. Player, who presided, said that Dr. Jones left a great heritage for present student generations to enjoy and that they should always be mindful of their indebtedness.

MUSICALE PLANNED

A musicale by Miss Charlotte Alston, Bennett College organist, will be given tomorrow at 11 a.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel. It will replace the regular afternoon vesper service.

ON-JOB TRAINING...Miss Marcia Johnson, of Atlanta, Ga., a senior biology major at Bennett College, performs blood analysis under watchful eye of Mrs. Nancy Mason, laboratory technician, at the L. Richardson Memorial Hospital in Greensboro, N.C.

BENNETT'S "MISS UNCF"—Miss Kay Thompson, of New Rochelle, N. Y., a junior elementary major, will represent Bennett College in the "Miss National UNCF" contest of the National Alumni Council of the United Negro College Fund in Dallas, Texas, February 5-7.

Rev. Corry Cautions Students

GREENSBORO—The Rev. John G. Corry, Bennett College chaplain, cautioned students against losing God as they widen their intellectual horizons, in the first vesper service of the New Year Sunday in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Choosing as his subject, "How Great Is Your God?" the minister cited a number of Biblical characters, who, for a variety of reasons, lost their gods. Among these were the Babylonians whose gods had actually become a physical burden to them and were thus discarded.

"These days," said the Rev. Mr. Corry, "demand great living and great living demands faith in a great God. As you enter the new year, let God walk beside you."

Meeting Planned By Methodists

The Upper Southeastern Regional Planning meeting involving representatives from Methodist Church conferences in five states is scheduled for today and tomorrow at Bennett College.

Bishop Charles Golden of Nashville, Tenn., will preside over the interracial sessions beginning with a dinner to be held at 6:30 p.m. in the dining center of the David D. Jones Student Union, followed by an 8 p.m. meeting.

The second session is scheduled for 8 a.m. Saturday, with adjournment set for 3:30 p.m. Participants are expected from North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Bennett service recalls late President Dr. Jones

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Dr. David D. Jones, who served as president of Bennett College for 30 years, was described as a man of purpose who gave his life for something greater than himself during the college's annual service of remembrance Sunday in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, who worked closely with the late educator over a long period, gave the principal address and paid tribute to Dr. Jones as a man "who emptied his life into the lives of others."

Dr. Jones was further described as a man "who was caught up in something larger than himself," who, forgetting self in his strivings to build Bennett College, achieved immortality.

MISS BARBARA PATTERSON, of New York City, a member of the class of 1955, last to receive diplomas from Dr. Jones, said: "Dr. Jones saw life as a laboratory. We never ceased to marvel at his great sense of purpose. He was not afraid to dream great dreams, but he always lived close to people."

President Willa B. Player, who presided, said that Dr. Jones left a great heritage for present student generations to enjoy and that they should always be mindful of their indebtedness.

The college choir, directed by Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, sang "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings," by Brahms, one of the educator's favorite anthems.

Students direct plays at Bennett

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Four members of Miss Claudia Finger's class in stage directing at Bennett College presented plays in the Little Theatre on Thursday night in partial fulfillment of work required for the first semester.

"Girls Must Talk," by Paul Gantt, was directed by Miss Priscilla Brunson, of Orangeburg, S.C.; "Lady Rosa" by Miss Geraldine Kearney, of Philadelphia; "Riders to the Sea" by John Synge, directed by Miss Viola Owens, of Asheville, and "Salome" by Oscar Wilde, directed by Miss Sonja Hazard of New York, N.Y.

Five at Bennett to get degrees

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Five Bennett College seniors are scheduled to meet all requirements for graduation at the close of the first semester on Jan. 29, Mrs. Mary Eady, registrar, reported this week.

They are Misses Resna Allen, of Fayetteville, N. C., sociology major; Miss Gloria Gill, of Bloomfield, Conn., sociology major; Carolyn Rhinehardt, of Claremont, N. C., business education major; Doris Tate, of Morganton, N. C., elementary education major, and Willie M. Wagstaff, of Greensboro, elementary education major.

Several have accepted public school teaching assignments for the second semester and all will return to the campus to rejoin their classmates for baccalaureate and commencement exercises on May 30 - 31.

Bennett to host Methodist meeting

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The Upper Southeastern Regional Planning meeting of the North Carolina-Virginia Conference of the Metholist Church will be held at Bennett College, January 29-30, it was announced this week.

Sessions of the two - day gathering are scheduled for the David D. Jones Student Union. The interracial group of 31 persons will include bishops, executive secretaries and conference directors of children's work.

Bennett's Miss UNCF

Miss Kay Thompson, of New Rochelle, N. Y., a junior elementary education major, who will represent Bennett College in the "Miss National UNCF" contest of the National Alumni Council of the United Negro College Fund in Dallas, Texas, Feb.

Students Present Plays

Four members of Miss Claudia Finger's class in stage directing at Bennett College presented plays in the Little Theatre on Thursday night in partial fullfillment of work required for the first semester.

"Girls Must Talk," bl Paul Bantt, was directed by Miss Priscilla Brunson, of Orangeburg, S. C.; "Lady Rosa" by Miss Geraldine Kearney, of Philadelphia; 'Riders to the Sea" by John Synge, directed by Miss Viola Owens, of Asheville, and "Salom.." by Oscar Wilde, directed by Miss Sonja Hazard of New York, N. Y.

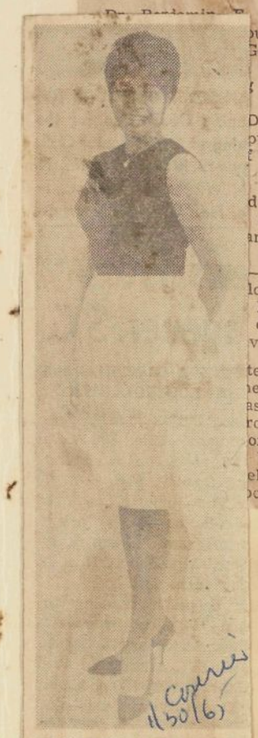

Annual Event Honors Memory Of David Jones

GREENSBORO, N. C.—Dr. David D. Jones, who served as president of Bennett College for 30 years, was described as a man of purpose who gave his life for something greater than himself by speakers during the college's annual service of remembrance Sunday in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Dr. Mays, ...use College, ...Ga., who ... the late ... period, ... address ... Dr. Jones ...ptied his ... others."

... many ...d Dallas ... said Dr. ...any was ... he had ... — some- ...loved his ... he had ... did not ...victions."

...terson, of ...ember of ...ast to re- ...rom Dr. ...ones saw ... We nev- ...el at his ...ose.

BENNETT'S "MISS UNCF" — Miss Kay Thompson of New Rochelle, N.Y., a junior elementary education major, will represent Bennett College in the "Miss National UNCF" contest of the National Alumni Council of the United Negro College Fund, in Dallas, Tex., Feb. 5-7.

was not afraid to dream great dreams, yet he always lived close to people."

President Willa M. Player, who presided, said that Dr. Jones left a great heritage for present student generations to enjoy and that they should always be mindful of their indebtedness.

Pays Tribute to Late Bennett Head

GREENSBORO,—Dr. David D. Jones, who served as president of Bennett College for 30 years, was described as a man of purpose who gave his life for something greater than himself by speakers during the college's annual service of remembrance Sunday in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, President of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Georgia, who worked closely with the late educator over a long period, gave the principal address and paid tribute to Dr. Jones as a man "who emptied his life into the lives of others."

"There were many things about David Dallas Jones that I liked," said Dr. Mays. " His company was sought out because he had a free mind, he did not compromise his convictions."

Dr. Jones was further described as a man "who was caught up in something larger than himself," who, forgetting self in his strivings to build Bennett College, yet achieved immortality.

Miss Barbara Patterson, of New York City, a member of the class of 1955, last to receive diplomas from Dr. Jones, said: "Dr. Jones saw life as a laboratory. We never ceased to marvel at his great sense of purpose. He was not afraid to dream great dreams, yet he always lived close to people."

President Willa B. Player, who presided, said that Dr. Jones left a great heritage for present student generations to enjoy and that they should always be mindful of their indebtedness. The college choir, directed by Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, sang "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings," by Brahms, one of the educator's favorite anthems.

FABRIC CARE — Intently observing during demonstration-lecture on fabric care by Mrs. Anne Sterling (second from right) in home economics laboratory are three Bennett College clothing students. Left to right: Misses Shirley Jackson, of Parkton; Wendy Parker, of Baltimore, Md., and Juanita Dula, of Lenoir. Mrs. Sterling is director of consumer education for the American Institute of Laundering, Joliet, Ill.

Student Exchange Between Bennett and Mount Holyoke Set for Feb. 12-17

STUDENT EXCHANGE SCHEDULED FOR BENNETT

The eighth annual student exchange between Bennett College and Mount Holyoke College, of South Hadley, Mass., is scheduled for February 12-27.

During this period the visiting students will follow a schedule which, as near as possible, matches the one that they would follow at their home institution, plus participation in a variety of social activties.

Going from Bennett will be Misses Patricia Faison, of New Bern, N. C. and Prathin Pattabongs, of Thailand, both sophomores; Brenda Jackson, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Eva Rice, of Washington, D. C., both juniors.

Coming to Bennett will be Misses Nanette Dimino, of Chatham, N. J., and Karen Rothmeyer, of New Bedford, Mass., both seniors; Penelope Watson, of Bridgeton, N. J., a junior, and Barbara Richards, of Wilmington, Del., a sophomore.

A semester exchange with Willamette University of Salem, Oregon, got under way on Feb. 1, with the arrival here of Miss Kathleen Bendix, a junior. Going to Willamette will be Miss Barbara Lake, of Graham, N. C., a sophomore. Last year, these two institutions participated in a two-semester exchange.

BENNETT NEWS

The Rev. J. H. Laird, pastor of the Central Methodist Church, of Detroit, Mich., will speak at the 4 p.m. vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, Feb. 7.

SECOND SEMESTER AT BENNETT COLLEGE

Opening of the second semester here on Feb. 1 found six entering freshmen, two transfer students and four returning students reporting to the Bennett College campus.

Returning students are Misses Ellen Alexander, of Hartford, Conn., a junior; Delores Comer, of Richmond, Va., a junior; Shirley Ruffin, of Carson, Va., a sophomore, and Mrs. Claraleata C. Matthew, a senior now residing in Greensboro.

Entering as freshmen are Misses Marcelette Anthony, of Pfafftown, N. C.; Brenda Ellis, of Farmville, N. C.; Louise Fraser, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Margueritte Johnson, of Apax, N. C.; Elizabeth Kent, of Washington, D. C., and Sandra McFadden, of Philadelphia, Pa.

Transfer students are Misses Judith Rann, of New Orleans, La., a sophomore, and Wanda Dula, of Lenoir, N. C., an advanced freshman.

BENNETT NEWS

Announcement by Mademoiselle magazine of the appointment to its national College Board of Miss Ernestine Mitchell, Bennett College junior, of Washington, D. C., was made this week.

Miss Mitchell, who plans a career as a fashion coordinator, was selected on the basis of an essay, "It's a Woman's World . . . For Whom the Bell Tolls," in the annual College Board competition designed to recognize young women with talent in art, writing, photography, layout, fashion design, merchandising or advertising.

The girls remain on the board until they are graduated. During that time, they will report regularly to the magazine on events at their colleges. All board members are eligible to compete for the 20 guest editorships awarded by the magazine each May. To win one of these top prizes, they submit a second entry which shows specific aptitude for magazine work.

The 20 lucky guest editors go to New York to spend the month of June as salaried employees of Mademoiselle. They help write, illustarte and edit Mademoiselle's August college issue, sharing offices with the regular

New faces in 2nd semester at Bennett

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Opening of the second semester here on Feb. 1 found six entering freshmen, two transfer students reporting and four returning students reporting to the Bennett College campus.

Returning students are Misses Ellen Alexander, of Hartford, Conn., a junior; Delores Comer, of Richmond Va., a junior; Shirley Ruffin, of Carson, Va., a sophomore, and Mrs. Claraleata C. Matthew, a senior now residing in Greensboro.

Entering as freshmen are Misses Marcelette Anthony, of Pfafftown, N.C.; Brenda Ellis, of Farmville, N.C.; Louise Fraser, of Brooklyn, N.Y.; Margueritte Johnson, Apex, N.C.; Eizabeth Kent, of Washington, D.C., and Sandra McFadden, of Philadelphia, Pa.

Transfer students are Misses Judith Rann, of New Orleans, La., a sophomore, and Wanda Dula, of Lenoir, N.C. an advanced freshman.

8th student exchange underway at Bennett

GREENSBORO, N.C. — The eighth annual student exchange between Bennett College and Mount Holyoke College, of South Hadley, Mass., is scheduled for Feb. 12 - 27.

During this period the visiting students will follow a schedule which, as near as possible, matches the one that they would follow at their home instituion, plus participaion in a variety of social activities.

Going from Bennett will be Misses Patricia Faison, of New Bern, N.C. and Prathin Pattabongs, of Thailand, both sophomores; Brenda Jackson, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Eva Rice, of Washington, D.C., both juniors.

COMING to Bennett will be Misses Nanette Dimino, of Chatham, N.J. and Karen Rothmeyer, of New Bedford, Mass., both seniors; Penelope Watson, of Bridgeton, N.J. a junior, and Barbara Richards, of Wilmington, Del., a sophomore.

A semester exchange with Willamette University of Salem, Oregon, got under way on Feb. 1, with the arrival here of Miss Kathleen Bendix, a junior. Going to Willamette was Miss Barbara Lake, of Graham, N.C., a sophomore. Last year, these two institutions particiapted in a wo - semester exchange.

DO IT YOURSELF...Enjoying the first real snow of the winter are these four Bennett College students as a fall of better than six inches blanketed Greensboro last week. Miss Patricia Murray, (stooping) of Washington, D.C., puts finishing touches on snow man while "assistants" show approval. Left to right: Misses Charlayna Crawford, of Greensboro; Patricia Washington, of Houston, Texas, and Regina Carpenter, of Washington, D.C.

NEVER TOO EARLY...Robert Myers, assistant manager of the Social Security office in Greensboro, explains the significance of the Social Security program to Misses Phyllis Debnam, a sophomore, of Raleigh, and Glenda Davis, a junior, of Atlanta, G.., following lecture to business education class at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., recently.

Dr. Mays Describes Late Bennett Prexy As 'Man Of Great Purpose'

GREENSBORO — Dr. David D. Jones, who served as president of Bennett College for 30 years, was described as a man of purpose who gave his life for something greater than himself, by speakers during the college's annual service of remembrance Sunday in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Georgia, who worked closely with the late educator over a long period, gave the principal address and paid tribute to Dr. Jones as a man "who emptied his life into the lives of others."

"There were many things about David Dallas Jones that I liked," said Dr. Mays. "His company was sought out because he had something to give — something to say. He loved his job and, because he had a free mind, he did not compromise his convictions."

Dr. Jones was further described as a man "who was caught up in something larger than himself," who, forgetting self in his strivings to build Bennett College, yet achieved immortality.

Miss Barbara Patterson, of New York City, a member of the class of 1955, last to receive diplomas from Dr. Jones, said: "Dr. Jones saw life as a laboratory. We never ceased to marvel at his great sense of purpose. He was not afraid to dream great dreams, yet he always lived close to people."

President Willa B. Player, who presided, said that Dr. Jones left a great heritage for present student generations to enjoy and that they should always be mindful of their indebtedness. The college choir, directed by Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, sang "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings," by Brahms, one of the educator's favorite anthems.

SNOW FOOLING — These Bennett College students use first snowfall of winter to introduce one of their number to a snow diet. Left to right are Misses Rose Meyers, of Mt. Pleasant, S. C.; Earnestine Collins, of Georgetown, S. C., and Janice Raiford, of Greensboro.

ERNESTINE MITCHELL, Bennet College junior of Washington, S.C., has been appointed to the national college board of Mademoiselle magazine.

Miss Mitchell, who plans a career as a fashion coordinator, was selected on the basis of an essay submitted in the board's annual competition, designed to recognize young women with talent in art, writing, photography, layout, fashion design, merchandising or advertising.

The girls remain on the board until they are graduated. During that time, they will report regularly to the magazine on events at their colleges. All board members are eligible to compete for the 20 guest editorships awarded by the magazine each May. To win one of these top prizes, they submit a second entry which shows specific aptitude for magazine work. The 20 lucky guest editors go to New York to spend the month of June as salaried employees of Mademoiselle. They help write, illustrate and edit the magazine's August college issue, sharing offices with the regular members of the staff.

• • •

BENNETT'S MISS UNCF...Miss Kay Thompson, of New Rochelle, N.C., a junior elementary education major, who will represent Bennett College in the "Miss National UNCF" contest of the National Alumni Council of the United Negro College Fund in Dallas, Texas, February 5-7.

FABRIC CARE...Intently observing during demonstration-lecture on fabric care by Mrs. Anne Sterling (second from right) in home economics laboratory are three Bennett College clothing students. Left to right: Misses Shirley Jackson, of Parkton, N.C.; Wnedy Parker, of Baltimore, Md., and Juanita Dula, of Lenoir, N.C. Miss Sterling is director of consumer education for the American Institute of Laundering, Joliet, Ill.

READY TO TAKE OFF...These members of the Modern Dance Group at Bennett College, ready to participate in recent holiday program, represent three couples and their two "horses" in their "Sleigh Ride" number. In front, left to right, are Misses Sharon Perdue, of Stamford, Conn., and Thay McLeod, of Greensboro. Behind them are Misses Shirley Robinson, of Richmond, Va.; Diane Gray, of Buffalo, N.Y.; Betty Carter, of Cincinnati, Ohio; Joyce Walker, of Jamaica, N.Y.; Elissa Poindexter, of Lexington, Va., and Sandra Branch, of Hampton, Va. Director is Mrs. Cynthia Chivers.

Mid-Term Graduates At Bennett College

Four of five Bennett College seniors who completed requirements for graduation at the close of the first semester last week are shown before leaving for their first work assignments. Left to right: Misses Gloria Gill, of Bloomfield, Conn.; Carolyn Rhinehardt, of Claremont, N. C.; Willie M. Wagstaff, of Greensboro, and Resna Allen, of Fayetteville. Absent when photo was made was Miss Doris Tate of Morganton, N. C., who has accepted employment in Warrenton, Va. Miss Gill has been employed by the Connecticut Welfare Department as a research statistician at Hartford, Conn., and Miss Rhinehardt is a librarian-business education teacher at Palmer Memorial Institute, Sedalia, N. C. Miss Allen has been accepted by the Peace Corps for training and eventual assignment to the Dominican Republic. Miss Wagstaff will be working as a teacher in Sanford (N. C.) public schools.

Student Appointed To Board

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Announcement by Mademoiselle magazine of the appointment to its national College Board of Miss Ernestine Mitchell,, Bennett College junior, of Washington, D. .C, was made this week.

Miss Mitchell, who plans a career as a fashion coordinator, was selected on the basis of an essay, "It's a Woman's World. . . . . .For whom the Bell Tolls," in the annual College Board competition designed to recognize young women with talent in art, writing, photography, layout, fashion design, merchandising or advertising.

THE GIRLS remain on the board until they are graduated. During that time, they will report regularly to the magazine on events at their colleges. All board members are eligible to compete for the 20 guest editorships awarded by the magazine each May. To win one of these top prizes, they submit a second entry which shows specific aptitude for magazine work.

The 20 lucky guest editors go to New York to spend the month of June as salaried employees of Mademoiselle. They help write, illustrate and edit Mademoiselle's August college issue, sharing offices with the regular members of the sta...

Thursday, February 4, 1965

IN CONCERT FRIDAY

The Antioch String Quartet of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, to perform at 8 p.m. Friday at Bennett College, is made up of, left to right, Myron Kartman, Almita Hyman-Vamos, Wallace Ruskin and Roland Vamos.

Concert Scheduled

The Antioch String Quartet, which includes a former teacher at UNC-G, will play a concert at 8 p.m. Friday in Pfeiffer Chapel at Bennett College.

The man with the local university in his background is Wallace Ruskin, a cellist. He has made numerous appearances as soloist and ensemble performer in the United States.

Violinist Myron Kartman has had an extensive career in this country and Europe and twice appeared as soloist with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra.

Violinist Almita Hyman-Vamos has toured the United States and Mexico and last year won the New York Concert Artists Guild award. Roland Vamos, violist, has recorded for Cinerama and RCA Victor in addition to giving radio and concert performances.

To Mag.'s Bd.:

Junior At Bennett Is Appointed

GREENSBORO — Announcement by a national magazine of the appointment to its national College Board of Miss Ernestine Mitchell, Bennett College junior, of Washington, D. C., was made last week.

Miss Mitchell, who plans a career as a fashion coordinator, was selected on the basis of an essay, "It's a Woman's World . . . For Whom the Bell Tolls," in the annual College Board competition designed to recognize young women with talent in art, writing, photography, layout, fashion design, merchandising or advertising.

The girlis remain on the board until they are graduated. During that time, they will report regularly to the magazine on events at their colleges. All board members are eligible to compete for the 20 guest editorships awarded by the magazine each May. To win one of these top prizes, they submit a second entry which shows specific aptitude for magazine work.

The 20 lucky guest editors go to New York to spend the month of June as salaried employees of the magazine. They help write, illustrate and edit the magazine's August college issue, sharing offices with the regular members of the staff.

Programs For Gifted Offered

Gifted high school students, wishing to prepare for college, will have a choice of three varied summer programs at Bennett College—June 14 through July 23—Dr. Wilma B. Player, president, disclosed yesterday.

Dr. Helen Trobian, a native of Hillsboro, Ill., will direct a six-week Humanities Institute, made possible through a one-time $300,000 grant from heiress Doris Duke. It will accept 50 girls and 25 boys of top rank academic standing, drawn from junior and senior classes, for the study of art, composition, drama, literature, music and an introduction to philosophy.

Honors Institute

An Honors Institute, tailored for 50 girls, recipients of partial or full scholarships to Bennett and already accepted for fall freshman classes, will offer an intensive course in the humanities, social science and science. Dr. Dorothy Bardolph, professor of history and head of the honors program, will be in charge.

Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of Bennett's science division, again will guide the Math and Science Institute for 50 girls and 25 boys. This, the seventh annual such course for juniors and seniors underwritten by a $23,745 National Science Foundation grant, includes biology, chemistry, mathematics and physics.

Inquiries from qualified pupils should be channeled specifically to the above mentioned institute directors.

VESPER SPEAKER

The Rev. J. H. Laird, past of the Central Methodist Church in Detroit, Mich., will be the Bennett College vesper speaker at 4 p.m. today in Pfeiffer Chapel.

MISS ERNESTINE MITCHELL (On Fashion Board)

Ernestine Mitchell of Washington, a Bennett College junior, who has been named to the national college Board of Mademoiselle magazine, and who plans a career as fashion coordinator...now has her sights set for one of the 20 guest editorships which will be awarded by the publication in May.

VESPER SPEAKER

Dr. Olivia P. Stokes, of the department of religious education of the Massachusetts Council of Churches, will speak today at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel for the Bennett College vesper.

Bennett College sets 3 summer institutes

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Three opportunities for talented high school students to enrich their pre-college preparation in summer institutes at Bennett College, June 14 to July 23, were announced by President Willa B. Player this week.

A one-time grant of $300,000 from Miss Doris Duke, of New York City, makes possible a six-week Humanities Institute, to be open to 50 high ability girls and 25 boys from the 11th and 12th grades for the study of literature, composition, art, music, drama and an introduction to philosophy.

Also provided will be an Honors Institute which will be limited to 50 girls who are recipients of full or partial scholarships to Bennett College and accepted for admission to the freshman class in the fall. Specialized studies in the humanities, science and social science will be offered.

* * *

DR. DOROTHY BARDOLPH, professor of history, and head of the college's honors program, will direct this institute. Holder of the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Illinois, she is the wife of Dr. Richard Bardolph, of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro faculty.

Director of the Humanities will be Dr. Helen Trobian, a native of Hillsboro, Ill., who joined the faculty for the second semester.

Dr. Trobian, earned the M.S. and Ed.D. degrees from Teachers College, Columbia University.

She has done post-doctoral research and has served as professor of music at Florida Normal and Industrial Memorial College, St. Augustine and at Wiley College at Marshall, Texas.

The third institute — one in science and mathematics for high ability high school juniors and seniors — will again be headed by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the college's science division. This will be the seventh annual institute supported by a $23,745 grant from the National Science Foundation. It will accommodate 50 girls and 25 boys.

Bennett And Mt. Holyoke In Exchange

GREENSBORO — The eighth annual student exchange between Bennett College and Mount Holyoke College, of South Hadley, Mass., is scheduled for February 12-27.

During this period the visiting students will follow a schedule which, as near as possible, matches the one that they would follow at their home institution, plus participation in a variety of social activities.

Going from Bennett will be Misses Patricia Faison, of New Bern, N. C. and Prathin Pattabongs, of Thailand, both sophomores; Brenda Jackson, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Eva Rice, of Washington, D. C., both juniors.

Coming to Bennett will be Misses Nanette Dimino, of Chatham, N. J., and Karen Rothmeyer, of New Bedford, Mass., both seniors; Penelope Watson, of Bridgeton, N. J., a junior, and Barbara Richards, of Wilmington, Del., a sophomore.

A semester exchange with Willamette University of Salem, Oregon, got under way on February 1, with the arrival here of Miss Kathleen Bendix, a junior. Going to Willamette was Miss Barbara Lake, of Graham, a sophomore. Last year, these two institutions participated in a two-semester exchange.

Bennett News

SUMMER INSTITUTE AT BENNETT COLLEGE

Three opportunities for talented high school students to enrich their pre-college preparation in summer institutes at Bennett College, June 14 to July 23, were announced by President Willa B. Player this week.

A one-time grant of $300,000 from Miss Doris Duke, of New York City, makes possible a six-week Humanities Institute, to be open to 50 high ability girls and 25 boys from the 11th and 12th grades for the study of literature, composition, art, music, drama and an introduction to philosophy.

Also provided will be an Honors Institute which will be limited to 50 girls who are recipients of full or partial scholarships to Bennett College and accepted for admission to the freshman class in the fall. Specialized studies in the humanities, science and social science will be offered.

Dr. Dorothy Bardolph, professor of history, and head of the college's honors program, will direct this institute. Holder of the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Illinois, she is the wife of Dr. Richard Bardolph, of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro faculty.

Director of the Humanities Institute will be Dr. Helen Trobian, a native of Hillsboro, Ill., who earned the M.S. and Ed.D. degrees from Teachers College, Columbia University, and has done post-doctoral research, has served as professor of music at Florida Normal and Industrial Memorial College, St. Augustine and at Wiley College at Marshall, Texas.

She plays a wide variety of stringed and woodwind instruments and in addition to having experience in band and orchestra direction, is the author of a book on organ playing and of many articles in musical journals.

The third institute — one in science and mathematics for high ability high school juniors and seniors — will again be headed by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the college's science division. This will be the seventh annual institute supported by a $23,745 grant from the National Science Foundation. It will accommodate 50 girls and 25 boys. Instruction will be offered in biology, physics chemistry and mathematics.

Stating that efforts will be made to recruit talented youngsters over a wide geographical area, President Player said:

"Bennett College envisions these institutes as a service in enriching the learning of college-bound youth. By the use of teachers from high schools and colleges, we look toward closer articulation between these two educational levels such as have we have achieved in our Saturday School."

Dr. Player also emphasized the fact that a full program of cultural and social activities will be available through the cooperative efforts of the three institutes.

Coordinating the use of facilities and resources will be John C. Moore, director of summer services. It is expected that the three institutions will use a number of undergraduates as laboratory, teaching and office assistants.

Inquiries concerning these summer opportunities should be directed to Dr. Trobian for the Humanities Institute, to Dr. Bardolph for the Honors Institute and to Dr. Sayles for the Science Institute.

BENNETT NEWS

Speaker for the 11 a.m. worship service at Bennett College, Sunday, Feb. 14, will be Dr. R. P. Perry, president of Johnson C. Smith University, at Charlotte.

Bennett Now Has Twelve New Students

GREENSBORO — Opening of the second semester here on February 1 found six entering freshmen, two transfer students and four returning students reporting to the Bennett College campus.

Reurning students are Misses Ellen Alexander, of Hartford, Conn., a junior; Delores Comer, of Richmond, Va., a junior; Shirley Ruffin, of Carson, Va., a sophomore and Mrs. Claraleata C. Matthew, a senior now residing in Greensboro.

Entering as freshmen are Misses Marcelette Anthony, of Pfafftown, N. C.; Brenda Ellis, of Farmville; Louise Fraser, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Marguerite Johnson, of Apex; Elizabeth Kent, of Washington, D. C., and Sandar McFadden, of Philadelphia, Pa.

Transfer students are Misses Judith Rann, of New Orleans, La., a sophomore, and Wanda Dula, of Lenoir, an advanced freshman.

Four of five Bennett College seniors who completed requirements for graduation at the close of the first semester recently are shown before leaving for their first work assignments. Left to right: Misses Gloria Gill, of Bloomfield, Conn.; Carolyn Rhinehardt, of Claremont, N.C.; Willie M. Wagstaff, of Greensboro, and Resna Allen, of Fayetteville. Absent when photo was made was Miss Doris Tate, of Morganton, N.C., who has accepted employment in Warrenton, Va. Miss Gill has been employed by the Conn. Welfare Department as a research statistician at Hartford, Conn., and Miss Rhinehardt is a librarian-business education teacher at Palmer Memorial Institute, Sedalia, N.C. Miss Allen has been accepted by the Peace Corps for training and eventual assignment to the Dominican Republic. Miss Wagstaff will be working as a teacher in Sanford (N.J.) Public school.

FABRIC CARE — Intently observing during demonstration-lecture on fabric care, by Mrs. Anne Sterling (second from right), in the home economics laboratory, are three Bennett College clothing students. Left to right: The Misses Shirley Jackson, Parkton, N.C.; Wendy Parker, Baltimore, Md., and Juanita Dula, Lenoir, N.C. Mrs. Sterling is director of consumer education for the American Institute of Laundering, Joliet, Ill.

TWO VALENTINES . . . Gwendolyn Morse and Marquita Blaney

RECENT BENNETT GRADUATES — Four of five Bennett College seniors who completed r... ments for graduation at the close of the first semester last week, are shown before leaving for th... work assignments. Left to right: Misses Gloria Gill, of Bloomfield, Conn.; Carolyn Rhinehardt, of... mont, N. C.; Willie M. Wagstaff, of Greensboro, and Resna Allen, of Fayetteville. Absent when ph... made was Miss Doris Tate, of Morganton, who has accepted employment in Warrenton, Va. Miss ... been employed by the Conn. Welfare Department as a research statistician at Hartford, Conn., a... Rhinehardt is a librarian-business education teacher at Palmer Memorial Institute, Sedalia, N.... Allen has been accepted by the Peace Corps for training and eventual assignment to the Domini... public. Miss Wagstaff wil be working as a teacher in Sanford public schools.

On Magazine Board

Miss Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, D. C., a junior at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., who has been named to the national College Board of Mademoiselle magazine, plans career as fashion coordinator. She plans to compete for one of the 20 guest editorships awarded by the publication each May.

ERNESTINE MITCHELL

...in the play ... Lacey, Sea... left ... Jamelle Rackley, of Orangeburg, S.C.; ... Newark, N.J., and Helen Thomas, of ... was given recently at Bennett Col-

BENNETT PLANS EXCHANGE WITH MT. HOLYOKE

GREENSBORO—The eighth annual student exchange between Bennett College and Mount Holyoke College, of South Hadley, Mass., is scheduled for February 12-27.

During the period the visiting students will follow a schedule which, as near as possible, matches the one that they would follow at their home institution, plus participation in a variety of social activities.

Going from Bennett will be Misses Patricia Faison, of New Bern, N. C. and Prathin Pattabongs, of Thailand, both sophomores; Brenda Jackson, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Eva Rice, of Washington, D. C., both juniors.

Coming to Bennett will be Misses Nanette Dimino, of Chatham, N. J., and Karen Rothmeyer, of New Bedford, Mass., both seniors; Penelope Watson, of Bridgeton, N. J., a junior, and Barbara Richards, of Wilmington, Del., a sophomore.

A semester exchange with Willamette University of Salem, Oregon, got under way on February 1, with the arrival here of Miss Kathleen Bendix, a junior. Going to Willamette was Miss Barbara Lake, of Graham, a sophomore. Last year, these two institutions participated in a two-semester exchange.

Mid-Term Graduates At Bennett College

Four of five Bennett College seniors who completed requirements for graduation at the close of the first semester last week are shown before leaving for their first work assignments. Left to right: Misses Gloria Gill, of Bloomfield, Conn.; Carolyn Rhinehardt, of Claremont, N. C.; Willie M. Wagstaff, of Greensboro, and Resna Allen, of Fayetteville. Absent when photo was made was Miss Doris Tate of Morganton, N. C., who has accepted employment in Warrenton, Va. Miss Gill has been employed by the Connecticut Welfare Department as a research statistician at Hartford, Conn., and Miss Rhinehardt is a librarian-business education teacher at Palmer Memorial Institute, Sedalia, N. C. Miss Allen has been accepted by the Peace Corps for training and eventual assignment to the Dominican Republic. Miss Wagstaff will be working as a teacher in Sanford (N. C.) public schools.

Student Appointed To Board

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Announcement by Mademoiselle magazine of the appointment to its national College Board of Miss Ernestine Mitchell,, Bennett College junior, of Washington, D. .C, was made this week.

Miss Mitchell, who plans a career as a fashion coordinator, was selected on the basis of an essay, "It's a Woman's World. . . . . .For whom the Bell Tolls," in the annual College Board competition designed to recognize young women with talent in art, writing, photography, layout, fashion design, merchandising or advertising.

THE GIRLS remain on the board until they are graduated. During that time, they will report regularly to the magazine on events at their colleges. All board members are eligible to compete for the 20 guest editorships awarded by the magazine each May. To win one of these top prizes, they submit a second entry which shows specific aptitude for magazine work.

The 20 lucky guest editors go to New York to spend the month of June as salaried employees of Mademoiselle. They help write, illustrate and edit Mademoiselle's August college issue, sharing offices with the regular members of the sta...

IN CONCERT FRIDAY

The Antioch String Quartet of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, to perform at 8 p.m. Friday at Bennett College, is made up of, left to right, Myron Kartman, Almita Hyman-Vamos, Wallace Ruskin and Roland Vamos.

Concert Scheduled

The Antioch String Quartet, which includes a former teacher at UNC-G, will play a concert at 8 p.m. Friday in Pfeiffer Chapel at Bennett College.

The man with the local university in his background is Wallace Ruskin, a cellist. He has made numerous appearances as soloist and ensemble performer in the United States.

Violinist Myron Kartman has had an extensive career in this country and Europe and twice appeared as soloist with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra.

Violinist Almita Hyman-Vamos has toured the United States and Mexico and last year won the New York Concert Artists Guild award. Roland Vamos, violist, has recorded for Cinerama and RCA Victor in addition to giving radio and concert performances.

To Mag.'s Bd.:

Junior At Bennett Is Appointed

GREENSBORO — Announcement by a national magazine of the appointment to its national College Board of Miss Ernestine Mitchell, Bennett College junior, of Washington, D. C., was made last week.

Miss Mitchell, who plans a career as a fashion coordinator, was selected on the basis of an essay, "It's a Woman's World . . . For Whom the Bell Tolls," in the annual College Board competition designed to recognize young women with talent in art, writing, photography, layout, fashion design, merchandising or advertising.

The girlis remain on the board until they are graduated. During that time, they will report regularly to the magazine on events at their colleges. All board members are eligible to compete for the 20 guest editorships awarded by the magazine each May. To win one of these top prizes, they submit a second entry which shows specific aptitude for magazine work.

The 20 lucky guest editors go to New York to spend the month of June as salaried employees of the magazine. They help write, illustrate and edit the magazine's August college issue, sharing offices with the regular members of the staff.

Programs For Gifted Offered

Gifted high school students, wishing to prepare for college, will have a choice of three varied summer programs at Bennett College—June 14 through July 23—Dr. Wilma B. Player, president, disclosed yesterday.

Dr. Helen Trobian, a native of Hillsboro, Ill., will direct a six-week Humanities Institute, made possible through a one-time $300,000 grant from heiress Doris Duke. It will accept 50 girls and 25 boys of top rank academic standing, drawn from junior and senior classes, for the study of art, composition, drama, literature, music and an introduction to philosophy.

Honors Institute

An Honors Institute, tailored for 50 girls, recipients of partial or full scholarships to Bennett and already accepted for fall freshman classes, will offer an intensive course in the humanities, social science and science. Dr. Dorothy Bardolph, professor of history and head of the honors program, will be in charge.

Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of Bennett's science division, again will guide the Math and Science Institute for 50 girls and 25 boys. This, the seventh annual such course for juniors and seniors underwritten by a $23,745 National Science Foundation grant, includes biology, chemistry, mathematics and physics.

Inquiries from qualified pupils should be channeled specifically to the above mentioned institute directors.

VESPER SPEAKER

The Rev. J. H. Laird, pastor of the Central Methodist Church in Detroit, Mich., will be the Bennett College vesper speaker at 4 p.m. today in Pfeiffer Chapel.

MISS ERNESTINE MITCHELL (On Fashion Board)

Ernestine Mitchell of Washington, a Bennett College junior, who has been named to the national college Board of Mademoiselle magazine, and who plans a career as fashion coordinator. . .now has her sights set for one of the 20 guest editorships which will be awarded by the publication in May.

VESPER SPEAKER

Dr. Olivia P. Stokes, of the department of religious education of the Massachusetts Council of Churches, will speak today at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel for the Bennett College vesper.

Bennett College sets 3 summer institutes

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Three opportunities for talented high school students to enrich their pre-college preparation in summer institutes at Bennett College, June 14 to July 23, were announced by President Willa B. Player this week.

A one-time grant of $300,000 from Miss Doris Duke, of New York City, makes possible a six-week Humanities Institute, to be open to 50 high ability girls and 25 boys from the 11th and 12th grades for the study of literature, composition, art, music, drama and an introduction to philosophy.

Also provided will be an Honors Institute which will be limited to 50 girls who are recipients of full or partial scholarships to Bennett College and accepted for admission to the freshman class in the fall. Specialized studies in the humanities, science and social science will be offered.

* * *

DR. DOROTHY BARDOLPH, professor of history, and head of the college's honors program, will direct this institute. Holder of the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Illinois, she is the wife of Dr. Richard Bardolph, of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro faculty.

Director of the Humanities Institute will be Dr. Helen Trobian, a native of Hillsboro, Ill., who earned the M.S. and Ed.D. degrees from Teachers College, Columbia University.

She has done post-doctoral research and has served as professor of music at Florida Normal and Industrial Memorial College, St. Augustine and at Wiley College at Marshall, Texas.

The third institute — one in science and mathematics for high ability high school juniors and seniors — will again be headed by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the college's science division. This will be the seventh annual institute supported by a $23,745 grant from the National Science Foundation. It will accommodate 50 girls and 25 boys.

Bennett And Mt. Holyoke In Exchange

GREENSBORO — The eighth annual student exchange between Bennett College and Mount Holyoke College, of South Hadley, Mass., is scheduled for February 12-27.

During this period the visiting students will follow a schedule which, as near as possible, matches the one that they would follow at their home institution, plus participation in a variety of social activities.

Going from Bennett will be Misses Patricia Faison, of New Bern, N. C. and Prathin Pattabongs, of Thailand, both sophomores; Brenda Jackson, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Eva Rice, of Washington, D. C., both juniors.

Coming to Bennett will be Misses Nanette Dimino, of Chatham, N. J., and Karen Rothmeyer, of New Bedford, Mass., both seniors; Penelope Watson, of Bridgeton, N. J., a junior, and Barbara Richards, of Wilmington, Del., a sophomore.

A semester exchange with Willamette University of Salem, Oregon, got under way on February 1, with the arrival here of Miss Kathleen Bendix, a junior. Going to Willamette was Miss Barbara Lake, of Graham, a sophomore. Last year, these two institutions participated in a two-semester exchange.

Bennett News

SUMMER INSTITUTE AT BENNETT COLLEGE

Three opportunities for talented high school students to enrich their pre-college preparation in summer institutes at Bennett College, June 14 to July 23, were announced by President Willa B. Player this week.

A one-time grant of $300,000 from Miss Doris Duke, of New York City, makes possible a six-week Humanities Institute, to be open to 50 high ability girls and 25 boys from the 11th and 12th grades for the study of literature, composition, art, music, drama and an introduction to philosophy.

Also provided will be an Honors Institute which will be limited to 50 girls who are recipients of full or partial scholarships to Bennett College and accepted for admission to the freshman class in the fall. Specialized studies in the humanities, science and social science will be offered.

Dr. Dorothy Bardolph, professor of history, and head of the college's honors program, will direct this institute. Holder of the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Illinois, she is the wife of Dr. Richard Bardolph, of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro faculty.

Director of the Humanities Institute will be Dr. Helen Trobian, a native of Hillsboro, Ill., who earned the M.S. and Ed.D. degrees from Teachers College, Columbia University, and has done post-doctoral research, has served as professor of music at Florida Normal and Industrial Memorial College, St. Augustine and at Wiley College at Marshall, Texas.

She plays a wide variety of stringed and woodwind instruments and in addition to having experience in band and orchestra direction, is the author of a book on organ playing and of many articles in musical journals.

The third institute — one in science and mathematics for high ability high school juniors and seniors — will again be headed by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the college's science division. This will be the seventh annual institute supported by a $23,745 grant from the National Science Foundation. It will accommodate 50 girls and 25 boys. Instruction will be offered in biology, physics chemistry and mathematics.

Stating that efforts will be made to recruit talented youngsters over a wide geographical area, President Player said:

"Bennett College envisions these institutes as a service in enriching the learning of college-bound youth. By the use of teachers from high schools and colleges, we look toward closer articulation between these two educational levels such as have we have achieved in our Saturday School."

Dr. Player also emphasized the fact that a full program of cultural and social activities will be available through the cooperative efforts of the three institutes.

Coordinating the use of facilities and resources will be John C. Moore, director of summer services. It is expected that the three institutions will use a number of undergraduates as laboratory, teaching and office assistants.

Inquiries concerning these summer opportunities should be directed to Dr. Trobian for the Humanities Institute, to Dr. Bardolph for the Honors Institute and to Dr. Sayles for the Science Institute.

BENNETT NEWS

Speaker for the 11 a.m. worship service at Bennett College, Sunday, Feb. 14, will be Dr. R. P. Perry, president of Johnson C. Smith University, at Charlotte.

Bennett Now Has Twelve New Students

GREENSBORO—Opening of the second semester here on February 1 found six entering freshmen, two transfer students and four returning students reporting to the Bennett College campus.

Reurning students are Misses Ellen Alexander, of Hartford, Conn., a junior; Delores Comer, of Richmond, Va., a junior; Shirley Ruffin, of Carson, Va., a sophomore and Mrs. Claraleata C. Matthew, a senior now residing in Greensboro.

Entering as freshmen are Misses Marcelette Anthony, of Pfafftown, N. C.; Brenda Ellis, of Farmville; Louise Fraser, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Marguerite Johnson, of Apex; Elizabeth Kent, of Washington, D. C., and Sandar McFadden, of Philadelphia, Pa.

Transfer students are Misses Judith Rann, of New Orleans, La., a sophomore, and Wanda Dula, of Lenoir, an advanced freshman.

Four of five Bennett College seniors who completed requirements for graduation at the close of the first semester recently are shown before leaving for their first work assignments. Left to right: Misses Gloria Gill, of Bloomfield, Conn.; Carolyn Rhinehardt, of Claremont, N.C.; Willie M. Wagstaff, of Greensboro, and Resna Allen, of Fayetteville. Absent when photo was made was Miss Doris Tate, of Morganton, N.C., who has accepted employment in Warrenton, Va. Miss Gill has been employed by the Conn. Welfare Department as a research statistician at Hartford, Conn., and Miss Rhinehardt is a librarian-business education teacher at Palmer Memorial Institute, Sedalia, N.C. Miss Allen has been accepted by the Peace Corps for training and eventual assignment to the Dominican Republic. Miss Wagstaff will be working as a teacher in Sanford (N.J.) Public school.

FABRIC CARE—Intently observing during demonstration-lecture on fabric care, by Mrs. Anne Sterling (second from right), in the home economics laboratory, are three Bennett College clothing students. Left to right: The Misses Shirley Jackson, Parkton, N.C.; Wendy Parker, Baltimore, Md., and Juanita Dula, Lenoir, N.C. Mrs. Sterling is director of consumer education for the American Institute of Laundering, Joliet, Ill.

TWO VALENTINES . . . Gwendolyn Morse and Marquita Blaney

On Magazine Board

Miss Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, D. C., a junior at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., who has been named to the national College Board of Mademoiselle magazine, plans career as fashion coordinator. She plans to compete for one of the 20 guest editorships awarded by the publication each May.

ERNESTINE MITCHELL

RECENT BENNETT GRADUATES — Four of five Bennett College seniors who completed requirements for graduation at the close of the first semester last week, are shown before leaving for their first work assignments. Left to right: Misses Gloria Gill, of Bloomfield, Conn.; Carolyn Rhinehardt, of Claremont, N. C.; Willie M. Wagstaff, of Greensboro, and Resna Allen, of Fayetteville. Absent when photo was made was Miss Doris Tate, of Morganton, who has accepted employment in Warrenton, Va. Miss Gill has been employed by the Conn. Welfare Department as a research statistician at Hartford, Conn., and Miss Rhinehardt is a librarian-business education teacher at Palmer Memorial Institute, Sedalia, N. C. Miss Allen has been accepted by the Peace Corps for training and eventual assignment to the Dominican Republic. Miss Wagstaff wil be working as a teacher in Sanford public schools.

President Player Annouces Opportunities For Students

GREENSBORO — Three opportunities for talented high school students to enrich their pre-college preparation in summer institutes at Bennett College, June 14 to July 23, were announced by President Willa B. Player this week.

A one-time grant of $300,000 from Miss Doris Duke, of New York City, makes possible a six-week Humanities Institute, to be open to 50 high ability girls and 25 boys from the 11th and 12th grades from the study of literature, composition, art, music, drama and an introduction to philosophy.

Also provided will be an Honors Institute which will be limited to 50 girls who are recipients of full or partial scholarships to Bennett College and accepted for admission to the freshman class in the fall. Specialized studies in the humanities, science and social science will be offered.

Dr. Dorothy Bardolph, professor of history, and head of the college's honors program, will direct this institute. Holder of the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Illinois, she is the wife of Dr. Richard Bardolph, of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro faculty.

Director of the Humanities Institute will be Dr. Helen Trobian, a native of Hillsboro, Ill., who joined the faculty for the second semester, just underway. Dr. Trobian, who earned the M. S. and Ed. D. degrees from Teachers College, Columbia University, and has done post-doctoral research, has served as professor of music at Florida Normal and Industrial Memorial College, St. Augustine and at Wiley College at Marshall, Texas.

She plays a wide variety of stringed and woodwind instruments and in addition to having experience in band and orchestra direction, is the author of a book on organ playing and of many articles in musical journals.

The third institute—one in science and mathematics for high ability high school juniors and seniors—will again be headed by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the college's science division. This will be the seventh annual institute supported by a $23,745 grant from the National Science Foundation. It will accommodate 50 girls and 25 boys. Instruction will be offered in biology, physics, chemistry and mathematics.

Stating that efforts will be made to recruit talented youngsters over a wide geographical area, President Player said:

"Bennett College envisions these institutes as a service in enriching the learning of college-bound youth. By the use of teachers from high schools and colleges, we look toward closer articulation between these two educational levels such as we have achieved in our Saturday School."

Dr. Player also emphasized the fact that a full program of cultural and social activities will be available through the cooperative efforts of the three institutes.

Coordinating the use of facilities and resources will be John C. Moore, director of summer services. It is expected that the three institutes will use a number of undergraduates as laboratory, teaching and office assistants.

Inquiries concerning these summer opportunities should be directed to Dr. Trobian for the Humanities Institutes, to Dr. Bardolph for the Honors Institute and to Dr. Sayles for the Science Institute.

STAGE MARCH Record

Approximately 300 Negroes, the majority students from A&T an Bennett Colleges, staged a march through downtown Greensboro yesterday morning to the federal Internal Revenue Building on Ashe Street in sympathy with the Selma to Montgomery march in Alabama. The Greensboro march, the first in nearly two years, was without incident. A brief program was presented at the federal building. 3/22/65

SMITH'S PREXY BENNETT ORATOR

GREENSBORO — Speaker for Bennett College, Sunday, February 14, will be Dr. Rufus P. Perry, president of Johnson C. Smith University, at Charlotte.

2nd Semester Students

Opening of the second semester here on February 1st found six entering freshmen, two transfer students and four returning students reporting to the Bennett College campus.

Returning students are Misses Ellen Alexander of Hartford, Conn., a junior; Delores Comer, of Richmond, Va., a junior; Shirley Ruffin, of Carson, Va., a sophomore, and Mrs. Claraleata C. Matthew, a senior now residing in Greensboro.

Freshmen are Misses Marcelette Anthony of Pfafftown, N. C.; Brenda Ellis of Farmville, N. C.; Louise Fraser, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Marguerite Johnson of Apex, N. C.; Elizabeth Kent, of Washington, D. C., and Sandra McFadden, of Philadelphia, Pa.

Transfer students are Misses Judith Rann, of New Orleans, La., a sophomore, and Wanda Dula, of Lenoir, N. C., an advanced freshman.

Students Hear Dr. Perry

"No man has really lived who has not experienced the thrill of overcoming great odds," Dr. Rufus P. Perry, of Charlotte, said at the worship service at Bennett College yesterday.

Dr. Perry, who is president of Johnson C. Smith University and a research chemist, spoke on "The Challenge of Change," pointing out that no man dies in the historical epoch into which he was born.

Urging the students to become involved in the life around them and warning them that they "must contribute or be annihilated," Dr. Perry said:

"This is an impatient and an expectant world. It no longer tolerates mediocrity. We stand at a place where we must choose between greatness and mediocrity. There is no other alternative for we are obligated to take sides."

BENNETT WORSHIP

The admonition not to make promises that one does not expect to keep was given by Dr. Kenneth I. Brown of St. Louis, Mo., retired executive director of the Danforth Foundation, at the Bennett College worship service yesterday. News 3/1/65

Smith President To Visit Bennett

Speaker for the 11 a.m. worship service at Bennett College tomorrow will be Dr. R. P. Perry, president of Johnson C. Smith University at Charlotte.

PERRY

Dr. Perry, a Smith alumnus, with MS and PhD degrees from the University of Iowa, has held his present post since 1957. At one time he was dean and professor of chemistry at Prairie View A&M College in Texas, serving later as vice president at Langston (Okla.) University.

A member of Sigma Xi, science honor group, and of the American Chemical Society, Dr. Perry is a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and is the author of numerous articles resulting from his research in medical chemistry.

Taken There By Professor

Bennett Saturday School Idea Employed In India

GREENSBORO N. C. — The effects of principles used in the Saturday school (for secondary school pupils) at Bennett College and in the college's developmental program are being felt in far-away India.

Dr. Charles E. Garth professor of sociology and director on leave from the Saturday school presently is teaching at Maharani's College a government - supported liberal arts college for undergraduate women at Bangalore. There are 1800 students 125 of whom live in the college dormitory.

STATING that his classes average 100 students each (compared to 15-20 at Bennett) Dr. Garth writes:

"Because a number of the students show indications of great potential and tremendous need for motivation, I have introduced seminars for small groups of students.

"These are based on the same principles as the developmental program and the Saturday school at Bennett, i.e., that many capable students simply have not had the opportunity or stimulus to realize their full potential."

DR. GARTH explained that in India, a student's advancement is determined solely by her performance on the state-administered public examinations given at the end of each academic year. For this reason, he says, there is a great deal of apathy on the part of many students during most of the year.

AFFAIR OF THE HEART — A reminder that Valentine's Day—February 14—is close at hand is given as Miss Gwendolyn Morse, of Ninety-Six, S. C., admires frilly love token received by her roommate, Miss Marquita Rhaney, of Tallahassee, Florida. Both are Bennett College freshmen.

3 Institutes Planned For Talented Students

Journal Enq 2/13/

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Three opportunities for talented high school students to enrich their pre-college preparation in summer institutes at Bennett College, June 14 to July 23, were announced by President Willa B. Player last week.

A one-time grant of $300,000 from Miss Doris Duke, of New York City, makes possible a six-week Humanities Institute, to be open to 50 high ability girls and 25 boys from the 11th and 12th grades for the study of literature, composition, art, music, drama and an introduction to philosophy.

ALSO PROVIDED will be an Honors Institute which will be limited to 50 girls who are recipients of full or partial scholarships to Bennett College and accepted for admission to the freshman class in the fall. Specialized studies in the humanities, science and social science will be offered.

Dr. Dorothy Bardolph, professor of history, and head of the college's honors program, will direct this institute. She is the wife of Dr. Richard Bardolph of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro faculty.

DIRECTOR of the Humanities Institute will be Dr. Helen Trobian, a native of Hillsboro, Ill., who joined the faculty for the second semester just underway. She has served as professor of music at Fla. Norman and Industrial Memorial College, St. Augustine and at Wiley College at Marshall, Tex. She plays a wide variety of stringed and woodwind instruments and in addition to having experience in band and orchestra direction, is the author of a book on organ playing and of many articles in musical journals.

The third institute—one in science and mathematics for high ability high school juniors and seniors—will again be headed by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the college's science division. This will be the seventh annual institute support by a $23,745 grant from theNational Science Foundation. It will accommodate 50 girls and 25 boys. Instruction will be offered in biology, physics, chemistry and mathematics.

SNOW FOOLING...These Bennett College students use first snowfall of winter to introduce one of their number to a snow diet. Left to right are Misses Rose Meyers, of Mt. Pleasant, S.C.; Earnestine Collins, of Georgetown, S.C., and Janice Rafford, of Greensboro.

Conference Set At Bennett

News 2/19/65

The fourth annual Saturday School conference at Bennett College has been scheduled for tomorrow, beginning at 9:30 a.m. in the Goode Health and Physical Education Building.

Dr. Richard L. Fields, director, with preside and President Willa Player will bring greetings from the college to the high school principals, counselors and parents of the students. Principal address will be delivered by Miss Thelma L. Cumbo, guidance consultant in the State Department of Public Instruction at Raleigh.

Miss Cumbo also will make comments, along with Dr. F. L. Grandison, school counselor, during an evaluation of the school in which administrators and teachers will participate. An opportunity for parents to visit classrooms will be given during this same period. Following lunch, parents and students will take part in a session over which Mrs. Mary P. Reese, teacher of reading will preside.

Bennett College to Offer Pre-College Aid to Talented Students

GREENSBORO — Three opportunities for talented high school students to enrich their pre-college preparation in summer institutes at Bennett College, June 14 to July 23, were announced by president Willa B. Player this week.

A one-time grant of $300,000 from Miss Doris Duke, of New York City, makes possible a six-week Humanities Institute, to be open to 50 high ability girls and 25 boys from the 11th and 12th grades for the study of literature, composition, art, music, drama and an introduction to philosophy.

Also provided will be an Honors Institute which will be limited to 50 girls who are recipients of full or partial scholarships to Bennett College and accepted for admission to the freshman class in the fall. Specialized studies in the humanities, science and social science will be offered.

Dr. Dorothy Bardolph, professor of history, and head of the college's honors program, will direct this institute. Holder of the M. A. and Ph.. D. degrees from the University of Illinois, she is the wife of Dr. Richard Bardolph of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro faculty.

Director of the Humanities Institute will be Dr. Helen Trobain, a native of Hillsboro, Ill., who joined the faculty for a second semester just under way. Dr. Trobian, who earned the M. S. and Ed. D. degrees from Teachers College, Columbia University, and has done post-doctorial research, has served as professor of music at Florida Normal and Industrial Memorial College, St. Augustine and at Wiley College at Marshall, Texas.

She plays a wide variety of stringed and woodwind instruments and in addition to having experience in band and orchestra direction, is the author of a book on organ playing and of many articles in musical journals.

The third institute — one in science and mathematics for high ability high school juniors and seniors—will again be headed by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the college's science division. This will be the seventh annual institute supported by a $23,745 grant from the National Science Foundation. It will accommodate 50 girls and 25 boys. Instruction will be offered in biology, physics, chemistry and mathematics.

Stating that efforts will be made to recruit talented youngsters over wide geographical area, President Player said:

"Bennett College envisions these institutes as a service in enriching the learning of college-bound youth. By the use of teachers from high schools and colleges we look toward closer articulation between these two educational levels such as we have achieved in our Saturday School.

Dr. Player also emphasized the fact that a full program of cultural and social activities will be available through the cooperative efforts of the three institutes.

Coordinating the use of facilities and resources will be John C. Moore, director of summer services. It is expected that the three institutes will use a number of undergraduates as laboratory, teaching and office assistants.

Inquiries concerning these summer opportunities should be directed to Dr. Trobian for the Humanities Institute, to Dr. Bardolph for the Honors Institute and Dr. Sayles for the Science Institute.

ON MAGAZINE BOARD — Miss Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, D. C., a Bennett College junior, who has been named to the national College Board of Mademoiselle magazine, plans career as fashion coordinator. She plans to compete for one of the 20 guests editorships awarded by the publication each May.

AWARDS ANNOUNCED

WINSTON-SALEM — The Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation will award $100,000 worth of college scholarships to 24 Negro students for the fall of 1965, it was announced here today. 3/23/6

The money will go to nine girls entering Bennett College in Greensboro and nine men students enrolling at Livingston College in Salisbury. In addition, $24,000 will be awarded as four-year grants to six students who became finalists in the National Achievement Scholarship program.

Nominations for the awards are to be made by high school principals.

ERNESTINE MITCHELL ... on college board

IN ANOTHER GROOVE: Pert and pretty Ernestine Mitchell, a Bennett College junior who hails from Washington, D.C., has been named to the national College Board of Mademoiselle magazine. The, who's eyeing a career as a fashion coordinator, will compete for one of the 20 guest editorships awarded by the publication each May. — Richard

'Salome' Staged At Bennett

Tense scene from Oscar Wilde's "Salome" shows Miss Saundra Jenkins, of Orangeburg, S. C., in title role as John Troxler Jr., as King Herod. Play was staged recently at Bennett College, Greensboro.

On Honorable Mention List

Mrs. Beatrice Stanley, of Greensboro, a psychology major, is among 1,242 college seniors named on the honorable mention list of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation this week.

The foundation which named 1,395 seniors to receive fellowships for 1965-66, said that "the majority of those on the honorable mention list are expected to receive alternate

Vesper Service Speaker

Some of her experiences at the University of Nigeria, where she spent a year, were related by Mrs. Lydia J. Rogers, of the class of '36, at the alumnae vesper service at Bennett College recently. Some 50 graduates from the Greensboro area were special guests.

Mrs Rogers is a member of the home economics faculty at Howard University, Washington, D. C.

Journal & Guide 2/6/65

A Valentine's Day Token

A reminder that Valentine's Day—Feb. 14—is close at hand is given as Miss Gwendolyn Morse, of Ninety-Six, S. C., admires frilly love token received by her roommate, Miss Marquita Rhaney, of Tallahassee, Fla. Both are Bennett College freshmen.

Saturday School At Bennett College

The effects of principles used in the Saturday School (for secondary school pupils) at Bennett College and in the college's developmental program are being felt in far-away India.

Dr. Charles E. Garth, professor of sociology and director on leave of the Saturday School, is presently teaching at Maharani's College — government-supported liberal arts college for undergraduate women — at Bangalore There are 1,800 students, 125 of whom live in the college dormitory.

Stating that his classes average 100 students each (compared to 15-20 at Bennett), Dr. Garth writes:

"Because a number of the students show indications of great potential and tremendous need for motivation, I have introduced seminars for small groups of students. These are based on the same principles as the developmental program and the Saturday School at Bennett, i.e., that many capable students simply have not had the opportunity or stimulus to realize their full potential."

Dr. Garth explained that in India, a student's advancement is determined solely by her performance on the state-administered public examinations which are given at the end of each academic year. For this reason, he says, there is a great deal of apathy on the part of many students during most of the year.

"Results, though modest," says Dr. Garth, "are extremely gratifying. Some students who are scheduled to be graduated in April, have given the first classroom reports in their academic careers. Several others are actually attempting small research projects."

The United States-India Women's College Exchange Program was established to promote international cooperation through cultural exchange. Coming to Bennett this year from Isabella Thoburn College at Lucknow, is Dr. Anna Chandapillai, who is teaching several courses in mathematics.

BENNETT NEWS

The idea that Jesus accepts all men, and thereby makes it easier for men to accept each other, was advanced by the Rev. J. H. Laird, of Detroit, Mich., in his vesper message at Bennett College Sunday.

Minister of Central Methodist Church, the speaker developed the idea that Jesus serves as a mediator between God and man. Unlike the mediator in a labor dispute, however, he is partial and assumes that only man is at fault.

Stating that man's hostility to God stems in larger measure from God's challenge to man and his exposure of man for what he is, the Rev. Mr. Laird said: "It is man's history to be estranged from God and from God's representatives. This is expressed by man's unbelief, his pride or self-elevation and his desire to encompass all experience within himself.

BENNETT NEWS

Dr. Olivia P. Stokes, of the department of religious education of the Massachusetts Council of Churches, will speak at the 4 p.m. vesper service to be held at Bennett College on Sunday, February 21.

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Bennett College students were challenged to "build the spiritual foundations of integration" by Dr. Olivia P. Stokes, of Boston, Mass., in her vesper address Sunday. Dr. Stokes is director of the department of religious education of the Massachusetts Council of Churches. Hera 3/6/65

Bennett And Mt. Holyoke In Exchange Program

JG-4/20/65

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The eighth annual student exchange between Bennett College, of South Hadley, Mass., is scheduled for February 12-27.

During this period the visiting students will follow a schedule which, as near as possible, matches the one that they would follow at their home institution, plus participation in a variety of social activities.

GOING FROM Bennett will be Misses Patricia Faison, of New Bern, N. C. and Prathin Pattabongs, of Thailand, both sophomores; Brenda Jackson, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Eva Rice, of Washington, D. C., both juniors.

Coming to Bennett will be Misses Nanette Dimino, of Chatham, N. J., and Karen Rothmeyer, of New Bedford, Mass., both seniors; Penelope Watson, of Bridgeton, N. J., a junior, and Barbara Richards, of Wilmington, Del., a sophomore.

A Staff for the exchange with Willamette University of Salem, Oregon, got under way on February 1, with the arrivals here of Miss Kathleen Bendix, a junior. Going to Willamette was Miss Barbara Lake, of Graham, N. C., a sophomore. Last year, these two institutions participated in a two - semester exchange.

"Build Spiritual Foundations Of Integration:" Dr. O. P. Stokes

Evening 2/4/65

GREENSBORO — Bennett College students were challenged to "build the spiritual foundations of integration" by Dr. Olivia P. Stokes, of Boston, Mass., in her vesper address Sunday.

Dr. Stokes, who is director of the department of religious education of the Massachusetts Council of Churches, referred to college as a "launching pad for life" and explained to the students that what they will be 20 years from now, they are becoming today.

"For you, this is the world between mama and marriage," she declared "and how you grow intellectually, physically, emotionally and spiritually is important. You will have to decide what you want out of life and whether it is worthwhile.

"Now that the legal foundations of integration have been established, I hope that some of you here will help to build the spiritual foundations which are needed to make it work successfully."

Enroute To Mount Holyoke College

These four Bennett College students who left Greensboro, N. C. last week for Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., will spend two weeks there under an exchange program between the two institutions. Left to right: Misses Eva Rice, of Washington, D. C., and Brenda Jackson, of Jacksonville, Fla., both juniors; Patricia Faison, of New Bern, N. C., and Prathin Pattabonga, of Bangkok, Thailand, both sophomores.

At Bennett:

Jesus Used As Topic By Rev. Laird

GREENSBORO—The idea that Jesus accepts all men, and thereby makes it easier for men to accept each other, was advanced by the Rev. J. H. Laird, of Detroit, Mich., in his vesper message at Bennett College Sunday.

Minister of Central Methodist Church, the speaker developed the idea that Jesus serves as a mediator between God and man. Unlike the mediator in a labor dispute, however, he is partial and assumes that only man is at fault.

Stating that man's hostility to God stems in large measure from God's challenge to man and his exposure of man for what he is, the Rev. Mr. Lard said: "It is man's history to be estranged from God and from God's representatives. This is expressed by man's unbelief, his pride or self-elevation and his desire to encompass all experience within himself.

"SALOME" STAGED AT BENNETT—Tense scene from Oscar Wilde's "Salome" shows Miss Saundra Jenkins, of Orangeburg, S. C., in title role and John Troxler, Jr. as King Herod. The play was given at Bennett College last week.

Miss Margaret Hickey Speaker For Spring Honors Convocation

Speaker for the spring honors convocation at Bennett College on February 26 will be Miss Margaret Hickey, of St. Louis, Mo., magazine editor and businesswoman, who also serves as chairman of the Citizens Council on the Status of Women.

Appointed by President Johnson in 1964, Miss Hickey had previously accepted appointments from four other presidents, some of which took her out of the country. As public affairs editor of Ladies' Home Journal, she has traveled more than a million miles to keep the magazine up to date on the concerns of women all over the world.

In addition to directing her School for Secretaries in St. Louis, she is a member of the Missouri Bar Association. She was president of the National Conference of Social Welfare (1956-57) and is lifetime honorary president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

President Willa B. Player will present the awards to the honorees representing academic achievement in all student classifications. The senior choir will sing.

Bishop Golden Visits School of Missions

Bishop Charles F. Golden, assigned to preside over the Nashville-Carolina Area of The Methodist Church, was a visitor during one of the sessions of the North Carolina School of Missions held at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C.

The bishop, in Greensboro for a meeting with his cabinet, spoke briefly and indicated that the church women keep abreast of changes taking place within the church—many of which come rapidly and without warning. A number of Virginia churches have joined to form the new North Carolina-Virginia Conference, he revealed.

The Greensboro District led in registration for the school of missions, with 37, followed by the Western District with 19, the Winston District with 17, and the Laurinburg District with six. Including faculty, fraternal delegates, and visitors, there were 97 persons registered for the five-day sessions.

Five study courses and their instructors were as follows:

The Church's Mission Among New Nations, Mrs. Dorothy P. Jones of Reidsville; Spanish Americans, Mrs. Mary N. Morrison of Statesville; The U.S. Responsibility in a World Community of New Nations, Mrs. Jettie D. Morrison of Statesville, president of the conference Woman's Society of Christian Service; Genesis, the Rev. John G. Corry, pastor of St. Matthew's Church, Greensboro; and Purpose and Program in a New Age, Mrs. Marie S. McFarland, representing the Woman's Division of Christian Service, Chicago, Ill.

Miss Fannie McCallum of Greensboro, served again as dean, and Mrs. Minnie B. Smith of Greensboro was program chairman.

Magazine Editor To Speak

Speaker for the spring honors convocation at Bennett College tomorrow at 10 a.m. will be Miss Margaret Hickey of St. Louis, Mo., magazine editor and businesswoman, who also serves as chairman of the Citizens Council on the Status of Women.

Appointed by President Johnson in 1964, Miss Hickey had previously accepted appointments from four other presidents, some of which took her out of the country. As public affairs editor of Ladies' Home Journal, she has traveled more than a million miles to keep the magazine up to date on the concerns of women all over the world.

HICKEY

In addition to directing her School for Secretaries in St. Louis, she is a member of the Missouri Bar Association. She was president of the National Conference of Social Welfare (1956-57) and is lifetime honorary president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

President Willa B. Player will present the awards to the honorees representing academic achievement in all student classifications. The senior choir will sing.

Magazine Editor Will Speak Here

Miss Margaret Hickey of St. Louis Mo., magazine editor, businesswoman and chairman of the Citizens Council on the Status of Women, will speak at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Bennett College for the spring honors convocation.

As public affairs editor of the Ladies' Home Journal she has traveled a great deal keeping the magazine up to date on the concerns of women all over the world.

Miss Hickey also directs a school for secretaries in St. Louis and is a member of the Missouri Bar Assn. She was president of the National Conference of Social Welfare in 1956-57 and is a lifetime honorary president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Consultant Talks Here

Responsibilities of teachers and parents in the education of secondary school students were outlined by Miss Thelma Cumbo of Raleigh before the fourth annual Saturday School conference at Bennett College yesterday.

Miss Cumbo, guidance consultant in the State Department of Public Instruction, spoke to some 100 high school principals, counselors and parents who had gathered for an evaluation of the work being done with the 75 youngsters attending this once-a-week program.

Stating that many high school students come from culturally deprived homes, Miss Cumbo said: "The school system must not patronize the deprived individual nor must it emphasize the negative aspect of his educational progress. These individuals must be given respect and encouragement for the things that they are able to do well.

"While I am all for desegregated schools, I point out that teachers do not necessarily have to be in a desegregated system in order to teach well. Students grow as teachers grow and you just can't teach that which you do not know."

Miss Cumbo said that parents have the responsibility to stimulate in their children a desire to know and to try to answer their questions or help them to find answers to them. "Show an interest in what they are learning, rather than in the grades they receive," she counseled, "and demonstrate your own intellectual curiosity."

Dr. F. L. Grandison, counselor in the school, explained the program, and showed graphs and charts which demonstrated the strengths and weaknesses of the present student body on tests taken in October. While administrators and teachers met with Dr. Richard L. Fields, director of the school, parents had an opportunity to visit classes.

MRS. BEATRICE STANLEY GETS HONORABLE MENTION

Mrs. Beatrice Stanley, of Greensboro, a psychology major, is among 1,242 college seniors named on the honorable mention list of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation this week.

The foundation which named 1,395 seniors to receive fellowships for 1965-66, said that "the majority of those on the honorable mention list are expected to receive alternate awards from other sources."

TO MOUNT HOLYOKE — These four Bennett College students who left Greensboro, last week for Mount Holyake College, South Hadley, Mass., will spend two weeks there under an exchange program between the two institutions. Left to right: Misses Eva Rice, of Washington, D. C., and Brenda Jackson, of Jackson, Fla., both juniors; Patricia Faison of New Bern, and Prathin Pattabongs, of Bangkok, Thailand, both sophomores.

Bennett College to Have Summer Institute Again

A grant of $23,745 from the National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C., will enable Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., to hold its seventh annual summer institute in science and mathematics for high-ability high-school students.

The program, scheduled for six weeks during June and July, will again be directed by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the college's science division.

Qualified high-school juniors and seniors are eligible for the institute, and instruction will be offered in biology, chemistry, physics, and mathematics. An enrollment of around 80 is anticipated.

In addition to classes, laboratory periods, seminars, and films, the students will take a number of field trips to places of scientific interest in the state and will also visit in the nation's capital.

DR. PERRY SPEAKS AT BENNETT COLLEGE

"No man has really lived who has not experienced the thrill of overcoming great odds," Dr. Rufus P. Perry, of Charlotte, declared during the morning worship service at Bennett College Sunday.

Dr. Perry, who is president of Johnson C. Smith University and a research chemist, spoke on "The Challenge of Change," pointing out that no man dies in the historical epoch into which he was born.

Urging the students to become involved in the life around them and warning them that they "must contribute or be annihilated," Dr. Perry said:

"This is an impatient and an expectant world. It no longer tolerates mediocrity. We stand at a place where we must choose between greatness and mediocrity. There is no other alternative for we are obligated to take sides."

BENNETT COLLEGE

Dr. Kenneth I. Brown, retired executive director of the Danforth Foundation, will speak at the 11 a.m. worship service at Bennett College on Sunday, Feb. 28.

Effects Of Bennett's Saturday School Felt In Far Away India

GREENSBORO — The effects of principles used in the Saturday School (for secondary school pupils) at Bennett College and in the college's developmental program are being felt in far-away India.

Dr. Charles E. Garth, professor of sociology and director on leave of the Saturday School, is presently teaching at Maharani's College — government-supported liberal arts college for undergraduate women —at Bangalore. There are 1,800 students, 125 of whom live in the college dormitory.

Stating that his classes average 100 students each (compared to 15-20 at Bennett), Dr. Garth writes:

"Because a number of the students show indications of great potential and tremendous need for motivation, I have introduced seminars for small groups of students. These are based on the same principles as the developmental programs and the Saturday School at Bennett, i.e., that many capable students simply have not had the opportunity or stimulus to realize their full potential."

Dr. Garth explained that in India, a student's advancement is determined solely by her performance on the state-administered public examinations which are given at the end of each academic year. For this reason, he says, there is a great deal of apathy on the part of many students during most of the year.

"Results, though modest," says "are extremely gratifying. Some students who are scheduled to be graduated in April, have given the first classroom reports in their academic careers. Several others are actually attempting small research projects."

The United States-India Women's College Exchange Program was established to promote international cooperation through cultural exchange. Coming to Bennett this year from Isabella Thoburn College at Lucknow, is Dr. Anna Chandapillai, who is teaching several courses in mathematics.

honors speaker Bennett names

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Speaker for the spring honors convocation at Bennett College on Feb. 26 will be Miss Margaet Hickey, of St. Louis, Mo., magazine editor and businesswoman, who also seves as chairman of the Citizens Council on the Status of Women.

Appointed by President Johnson in 1964, Miss Hickey had previously accepted appointments from four other Presidents, some of which took her out of the country.

As public affairs editor of Ladies' Home Journal, she has traveled more than a million miles to keep the magazine up to date on the concerns of women all over the world.

In addition to directing her School for Secretaries in St. Louis, she is a member of the Missouri Bar Association. She was president of the National Conference of Social Welfare (1956-57) and is lifetime honorary president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

TO GIVE LECTURE

Dr. C. Hugh Holman, dean of the graduate school and Kenan professor of English at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, will lecture to English majors at Bennett College Thursday under the auspices of the Piedmont University visiting scholars' program.

ON MAGAZINE BOARD... Miss Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, D.C., a Bennett College junior, who has been named to the national College Board of Mademoiselle magazine, plans career as fashion coordinator. She plans to compete for one of the 20 guest editorships awarded by the publication each May.

Exchange Student

Miss Barbara Jean Lake, daughter of the Rev. J. M. Lake and the late Miss Lillian Johnson Lake, of Graham, N. C., is now an exchange student at Willamette University, Salem, Ore.

Miss Lake, a 1963 honor graduate of Central High School in Graham was recommended to receive the Scholarship of the Supreme Court of Calanthe by the educational committee, Mrs. Clara W. Nesby, grand worthy councilor and her court, and Mrs. John V. Shipp, worthy councilor. She attended Bennett College, Greensboro on this award and is continuing her outstanding scholastic achievements.

TO MOUNT HOLYOKE — These four Bennett College students left Greensboro, N.C., recently for Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Miss., to spend two weeks there under an exchange program between the two institutions. Left to right: Misses Eva Rice, Washington, D.C., and Brenda Jackson, Jacksonville, Fla., both juniors; Patricia Faison, New Bern, N.C., and Prathin Pattabongs, Bangkok, Thailand, both sophomores.

Bennett Body Challenged By Address Of Smith Head

GREENSBORO—"No man has really lived who has not experienced the thrill of overcoming great odds," Dr. Rufus P. Perry, of Charlotte, declared during the morning worship service at Bennett College Sunday.

Dr. Perry, who is president of Johnson C. Smith University and a research chemist, spoke on "The Challenge of Change," pointing out that no man dies in the historical epoch into which he was born.

Urging the students to become involved in the life around them and warning them that they "must contribute or be annihilated," Dr. Perry said:

"This is an impatient and an expectant world. It no longer tolerates mediocrity. We stand at a place where we must choose between greatness and mediocrity. There is no other alternative for we are obligated to take sides."

Bennett teaching ideas felt in far-away India

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Techniques used in Bennett College's Saturday School (for secondary school pupils) and in the college's developmental program are being felt in far-away India.

Dr. Charles E. Garth, professor of sociology and director on leave from the Saturday School, is presently teaching at Maharani's College - government - supported liberal arts colg for untimbr. There are 1,080 students, 125 of whom live in the collge dormitory.

Stating that his classes average 100 students each (compared to 15-20 at Bennett), Dr. Garth writes:

* * *

"BECAUSE A NUMBER of the students show indications of great potential and tremendous need for motivation, I have introduced seminars for small groups of students. These are based on the same principles as the developmental program and the Saturday School at Bennett, i.e., that many capable students simply have not had the opportunity or stimulus to realize their full potential."

Dr. Garth explained that in India, a student's advancement is determined solely by her performance on the state-administered public examinations which are given at the end of each academic year. For this reason, he says, there is a great deal of apathy on the part of many students during most of the year.

"Results, though modest," says Dr. Garth, "are extremely gratifying. Some students who are schedulted to be graduated in April, have given the first classroom reports in their academic careers. Several others are actually attempting small research projects."

The United States - India Women's College Exchange Program was established to promote international cooperation through cultural exchange. Coming to Bennett this year from Isabella Thoburn College at Lucknow, is Dr. Anna Chandapillai, who is teaching several courses in mathematics.

Mays manacled

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— ...Willie Mays had a string of seven consecutive seasons batting .300 or better snapped in 1964 when he hit .296 for the San Francisco Giants.

BENNETT SENIORS—Four of five Bennett College seniors who competed requirements for graduation, at the close of the first semester last week, are shown before leaving for their first work assignments. Left to right: The Misses Gloria Gill of Bloomfield, Conn.; Carolyn Rhinehardt of Claremont, N.C.; Willie M. Wagstaff of Greensboro, N.C., and Resna Allen of Fayetteville, N.C. Absent when the photo was made was Miss Doris Tate of Morganton, N.C., who has accepted employment in Warrenton, Va. Miss Gill has been employed by the Connecticut Welfare Department, as a research statistician in Hartford, Conn., and Miss Rhinehardt is a librarian-business education teacher at Palmer Memorial Institute, Sedalia, N.C. Miss Allen has been accepted by the Peace Corps, for training and eventual assignment to the Dominican Republic. Miss Wagstaff will be working as a teacher in a Sanford, N.C. public school.

Dr. Brown Orator For Bennett

GREENSBORO—The admonition not to make promises that one does not expect to keep was given by Dr. Kenneth I. Brown, of St. Louis, Mo., retired executive director of the Danforth Foundation, at the Bennett College worship service Sunday.

Citing circumstances under which promises, honestly made, can not be kept, Dr. Brown said: "The most important thing in life is not honesty, but the human being — his welfare, dignity and growth."

People, Places, Events

Bennett Choir To Sing On National Network

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The 33-voice Bennett College choir will be heard on Sunday, October 23, over a national radio network between 10:35 and 11 a. m. in the concert series featuring the choirs of member colleges of the United Negro College Fund.

The program, which will originate from New York and will include sacred and secular music and spirituals, Miss Mary J. Moore is director.

Sara Lou Harris Models At Bennett College

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Miss Sarah Lou Harris, New York model and radio star, was presented in two fashion show performances at Bennett College in the Little Theatre, recently.

Miss Harris, a 1943 graduate of the college, was assisted by several students majoring in clothing.

TO MOUNT HOLYOKE... These four Bennett College students who left Greensboro, N.C., recently for Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., will spend two weeks there under an exchange program between the two institutions. Left to right: Misses Eva Rice, of Washington, D.C., and Brenda Jackson, of Jacksonville, Fla., both juniors; Patricia Faison, of New Bern, N.C., and Prathin Pattabongs, of Bangkok, Thailand, both sophomores.

Overcome Odds And Live, Says College's Head

GREENSBORO, N. C. — "No man has really lived who has not experienced the thrill of overcoming great odds," Dr. Rufus P. Perry of Charlotte declared during a worship service at Bennett College.

Dr. Perry, president of Johnson C. Smith University and a research chemist, spoke on "The Challenge of Change," pointing out that no man dies in the historical epoch into which he was born.

URGING the students to become involved in the life around them and warning them that they "must contribute or be annihilated," Dr. Perry said:

"This is an impatient and an expectant world. It no longer tolerates mediocrity. We stand at a place where we must choose between greatness and mediocrity. There is no other alternative for we are obligated to take sides."

IN HONOR SOCIETY—Eight of the nine Bennett College students Greensboro, N. C. inducted recently into Alpha Kappa Mu, national honor society are shown "on the line". Left to right: Misses Wei Lei So, Indonesia; Mary Adams, Pontotoc, Miss.; Velma Harris, Camden, N. J.; Lillie Madison, Brevard; Johnsie Dalton, Greensboro; Eva Rice, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Beatrice Stanley, Greensboro; Amanda Houston, Kinston, not shown Catherine Stallings, Tupelo, Miss.

Miss Hickey Spring Honors Speaker Fri.

GREENSBORO—Speaker for the spring honors convocation at Bennett College on February 26 will be Miss Margaret Hickey, of St. Louis, Mo., magazine editor and businesswoman, who also serves as chairman of the Citizens Council on the Status of Women.

Appointed by President Johnson in 1964, Miss Hickey had previously accepted appointments from four other presidents, some of which took her out of the country. As public affairs editor of Ladies' Home Journal, she has traveled more than a million miles to keep the magazine up to date on the concerns of women all over the world.

In addition to directing her School for Secretaries in St. Louis, she is a member of the Missouri Bar Association. She was president of the National Conference of Social Welfare (1956-57) and is lifetime honorary president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

President Willa B. Player will present the awards to the honorees representing academic achievement in all student classifications. The senior choir will sing.

Convocation Honors Pupils At Bennett

Sixty Bennett College students, cited for academic achievement, were told to "search for new truth to put new meanings into your lives" at the third annual spring honors convocation yesterday.

Speaker was Margaret Hickey, of St. Louis, Mo., businesswoman and public affairs editor of the Ladies Home Journal.

Citing the hunger around the world, "not only for food but for knowledge," Miss Hickey challenged the honorees to give of themselves in helping the world to solve its problems.

Told To Be Selves

"No woman knows her own destiny," she declared. "So much of woman's life is concerned with caring for and caring about the lives of others. Your patterns of leadership, however, should not be to imitate men, but to be yourselves."

She urged the students to keep abreast of the changing times, adding "My wish for you is that the day may come when you will help the rest of us to live in a warm and compassionate world."

President Willa B. Player, who presided, presented certificates to 30 freshmen, 17 sophomores, five juniors and eight seniors. Freshmen were required to have maintained an average of 2.0 for one semester; sophomores an average of 2.2 or better for three semesters; juniors, 2.3 or better for five semesters and seniors, 2.4 or better for seven semesters.

Bennett To Hold 39th Homemaking Institute March 8th thru 14th

39TH HOMEMAKING INSTITUTE AT BENNETT

The 39th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College, scheduled for March 8-14, will concern itself with the Economic Opportunity Act and its implications for the Greensboro community.

Mrs. Louise G. Streat, director of home and family life education, who is again serving as chairman, said that this year's program would include three formal chapel programs plus a series of field trips which will enable students to observe first-hand the program at work in the local agencies participating in the anti-poverty program.

Speaker for the opening program at 10 a.m., Monday, March 8, in Pfeiffer Chapel will be Miss Fay Bennett, of New York City, executive secretary of the National Advisory Committee on Farm Labor, who will relate the program to rural areas.

On Wednesday, at the same hour, Paul Gezon, director of the Greensboro Community Council will speak. Friday the speaker will be Dr. James L. White, of Raleigh, coordinator of the Economic Opportunity Program for the state of North Carolina.

Each lecture will be followed by three seminar-discussions, one in the chapel and the others in the Science Assembly and Little Theatre. Among agencies which will be represented in these presentations will be the Hayes-Taylor YMCA, the Institute of Child Development of North Carolina at Greensboro; the Greensboro Redevelopment Commission and the Guilford County health and welfare departments.

Field trips will be held on Tuesday and Thursday and the institute activities will be summarized on Sunday, March 14 by Mrs. Streat prior to the closing address which will be given by Bishop James S. Thomas, of Des Moine, Iowa, resident bishop of the Iowa Area of the Methodist Church, who is also a Bennett trustee.

DR. OLIVER P. STOKES SPEAKS AT BENNETT

Bennett College students were challenged to "build the spiritual foundations of integration" by Dr. Oliver P. Stokes, of Boston, Mass., in her vesper address Sunday.

Dr. Stokes, who is director of the department of religious education of the Massachusetts Council of Churches, referred to college as a "launching pad for life" and explained to the students that what they will be 20 years from now, they are becoming today.

"For you, this is the world between mama and marriage," she declared "and how you grow intellectually, physically, emotionally and spiritually is important. You will have to decide what you want out of life and whether it is worthwhile.

"Now that the legal foundations of integration have been established, I hope that some of you here will help to build the spiritual foundations which are needed to make it work successfully."

BENNETT NEWS

Mrs. Lydia Jetton Rogers, '36, of Washington, D. C. will be the speaker for a Bennett College alumnae vesper service to be held Sunday, March 7, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

A large number of graduates from cities in North Carolina and Virginia have been invited to hear Mrs. Rogers who is a member of the Howard University faculty.

100 Attend Conference At Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Responsibilities of teachers and parents in the education of secondary school students were outlined by Miss Thelma Cumbo, of Raleigh in an address before the fourth annual Saturday School conference at Bennett College Saturday.

Miss Cumbo, guidance consultant in the State Department of Public Instruction, was speaking to some 100 high school principals, counselors and parents who had gathered for an evaluation of the work being done with the 75 youngsters attending this once-a-week facility.

STATING THAT many high school students come from culturally deprived homes, Miss Cumbo said: "The school system must not patronize the deprived individual nor must it emphasize the negative aspect of his educational progress. These individuals must be given respect and encouragement for the things that they are able to do well.

"While I am all for desegregated schools, I point out that teachers do not necessarily have to be in a desegregated system in order to teach well. Students grow as teachers grow and you just can't teach that which you do not know."

MISS Cumbo said that parents have the responsibility to stimulate in their children a desire to know and to try to answer their questions or help them to find answers to them. "Show an interest in what they are learning, rather than in the grades they receive," she counseled, "and demonstrate your own intellectual curiosity."

Dr. F. L. Grandison, counselor in the school, explained the program, showed graphs and charts which demonstrated the strengths and weaknesses of the present student body on tests taken in October. While administrators and teachers met with Dr. Richard L. Fields, director of the school, parents had an opportunity to visit classes.

PRESIDENT WILLA B. Player in welcoming the visitors to the campus, said that among the aims of the school were closer articulation between high school and college and enriching the pre-college preparation of high-ability students by introducing them to a college atmosphere while they are yet in high school.

Tense scene from Oscar Wilde's "Salome" shows Miss Saundra Jenkins, of Orangeburg, S.C., in title role and John Troxler, Jr., as King Herod. Play was given at Bennett College recently.

Honors Convocation Set At Bennett For Feb. 26

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Speaker for the spring honors convocation at Bennett College on Feb. 26 will be Miss Margaret Hickey of St. Louis, Mo., magazine editor and businesswoman, who also serves os chairman of the Citizens Council on the Status of Women.

Appointed by President Johnson in 1962, Miss Hickey had previously accepted appointments from four other presidents, some of which took her out of the country. As public affairs editor of Ladies' Home Journal, she has traveled more than a million miles to keep the magazine up to date on the concerns of women all over the world.

IN ADDITION to directing her School for Secretaries in St. Louis, she is a member of the Missouri Bar Association. She was president of the National Conference of Social Welfare (1956 - 57) and is lifetime honorary president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

President Willa B. Player will present awards to honorees representing academic achievement in all student classifications.

Parent, teacher duties in education described

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Responsibilities of teachers and parents in the education of secondary school students were outlined by Miss Thelma Cumbo of Raleigh in an address before the fourth annual Saturday school conference at Bennet College Saturday.

Miss Cumbo, guidance consultant in the State Department of Public Instruction, was speaking to some 100 high school principals, counselors and parents who had gathered for an evaluation of the work being done with the 75 youngsters attending this once - a-week facility.

Stating that many high school students came from culturally deprived homes, Miss Cumbo said: "The school system must not patronize the deprived individual nor must it emphasize the negative aspect of his educational progress. These individuals must be given respect and encouragement for the things that they are able to do well.

"WHILE I am all for desegregated schools", she added, "I point out that teachers do not necessarily have to be in a desegregated system in order to teach well. Students grow as teachers grow and you just can't teach that which you do not know."

Miss Cumbo said that parents have the responsibility to stimulte in their children a desire to know and to try to answer their questions or help them to find answers to them. "Show an interest in what they are learning, rather than in the grades they receive," she counseled, "and demonstrate your own intellectual curiosity."

Dr. F. L. Grandison, counselor in the school, showed graphs and charts which demonstrated the strengths and weaknesses of the present student body on tests taken in October. While administrators and teachers met with Dr. Richard L. Fields, director of the school, parents had an opportunity to visit classes.

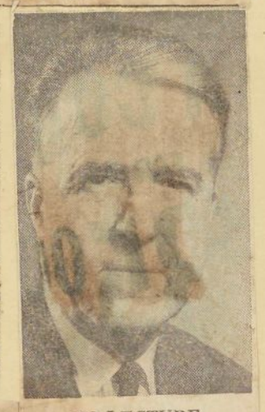

BENNETT NEWS

Speaker for the 4 p.m. vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, March 21, will be Dr. James A. Colston, president of Knoxville (Tenn.) College.

Fear Of Scorn Said Big Factor

"Fear of the scorn and ridicule of the crowd keeps many of us from doing the things that we feel are right," Rev. Robert L. Moore, minister of youth of the West Market Street Methodist Church, said in his Ash Wednesday sermon at Bennett College today.

"The people who clamored for the crucifixion of Jesus were the same one who days before had hailed and cheered him on his route to Jerusalem," he said. "They had been swayed and controlled by the few whom they did not want to displease."

TO LECTURE

Dr. Frank A. Brown, chairman, Department of Biological Sciences, Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., will lecture Wednesday at Bennett College, under the auspicies of the Visiting Scholars Program, Piedmont University Center, of Winston-Salem. "Compartive Animal Physiology" and "Biological Clocks" are two of several works he has authored.

DR BROWN TO BENNETT COLLEGE

GREENSBORO—Dr. Kenneth T. Brown, retired executive director of the Danforth Foundation, will speak at the 11 a.m. worship service at Bennett College on Sunday, February 28.

College Alumnae Vesper Speaker

Mrs. Lydia Jetton Rogers, '36, of Washington, D. C. will be the speaker for a Bennett College alumnae vesper service to be held Sunday, March 7, at 4 p. m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

A large number of graduates from cities in North Carolina and Virginia have been invited to hear Mrs. Rogers who is a member of the Howard University faculty.

IN HONOR SOCIETY — Eight of the nine Bennett College students inducted last week into Alpha Kappa Mu, national honor society, are shown "on the line." Left to right: Misses Wei Lei So, Indonesia; Mary Adams, Pontoc, Miss.; Velma Harriss, Camden, N. J.; Lillie Madison, Brevard; Johnsie Dalton, Greensboro; Eva Rice, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Beatrice Stanley, Greensboro; Amanda Houston. Not shown Catherine Stallings, Tupelo, Miss.

Miss Thelma Cumbo, Addressed Saturday School At Bennett

MISS THELMA CUMBO ADDRESSES SAT SCHOOL CONFERENCE AT BENNETT

Responsibilities of teachers and parents in the education of secondary school students were outlined by Miss Thelma Cumbo, of Raleigh in an address before the fourth annual Saturday School conference at Bennett College Saturday.

Miss Cumbo, guidance consultant in the State Department of Public Instruction, was speaking to some 100 high school principals, counselors and parents who had gathered for an evaluation of the work being done with the 75 youngsters attending this once-a-week facility.

Stating that many high school students come from culturally deprived homes, Miss Cumbo said: "The school system must not patronize the deprived individual nor must it emphasize the negative aspect of his educational progress. These individuals must be given respect and encouragement for the things that they are able to do well.

"While I am all for desegregated schools, I point out that teachers do not necessarily have to be in a desegregated system in order to teach well. Students grow as teachers grow and you just can't teach that which you do not know."

Miss Cumbo said that parents have the responsibility to stimulate in their children a desire to know and try to answer their questions or help them to find answers to them. "Show an interest in what they are learning, rather than in the grades they receive," she counseled, "and demonstrate your own intellectual curiosity."

Dr. F. L. Grandison, counselor in the school, explained the program, showed graphs and charts which demonstrated the strengths and weaknesses of the present student body on tests taken in October. While administrators and teachers met with Dr. Richard L. Fields, director of the school, parents had an opportunity to visit classes.

President Willa B. Player in welcoming the visitors to the campus, said that among the aims of the school were closer articulation between high school and college and enriching the pre-college preparation of high-ability students by introducing them to a college atmosphere while they are yet in high school.

Theology Series Set For UNC-G

Miss Marilyn Fardig, Woodrow Wilson Foundation intern at Bennett College, will be presenting at Wesley Foundation, UNC-G, the series of lectures on "Religious Education Controversy and its Roots," beginning Sunday at 9:15 a.m.

FARDIG

Miss Fardig is originally from Harvard, Ill., and received her AB degree from Oberlin College and her MA from Columbia University. She has served as director of student life at Randolph Macon Woman's College and as associate director of the Wesley Foundation at the University of Minnesota.

Bennett to hold Homemaking Inst.

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The 39th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College, scheduled for March 8-14, will concern itself with the Economic Opportunity Act and its implications for the Greensboro community.

Mrs. Louise G. Streat, director of home and family life education, who is again serving as chairman, said that this year's program would include three formal chapel programs plus a series of field trips which will enable students to observe first-hand the program at work in the local agencies participating in the anti - poverty program.

* * *

SPEAKER FOR the opening program at 10 a.m., Monday, March 8, in Pfeiffer Chapel will be Miss Fay Bennett, of New York City, executive secretary of the National Advisory Committee on Farm Labor, who will relate the program to rural areas.

On Wednesday, at the same hour, Paul Gezon, director of the Greensboro Community Council will speak. Friday the speaker will be Dr. James L. White, of Raleigh, coordinator of the Economic Opportunity Program for the state of North Carolina.

EACH LECTURE will be followed by three seminar-discussions, one in the chapel and the others in the Science Assembly and Little Theatre. Among agencies which will be represented in these presentations will be the Hayes-Taylor YMCA, the Institute of Child Development of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, the Greensboro Redelvelopment Commission and the Guilford County health and welfare departments.

Field trips will be held on Tuesday and Thursday and the institute activities will be summarized on Sunday, March 14 by Mrs. Streat prior to the closing address which will be given by Bishop James S. Thomas, of Des Moines, Iowa, resident bishop of the Iowa Area of the Methodist Church, also is also a Bennett trustee.

Field Trips To Highlight Homemaking Institute

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The 39th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College, scheduled for March 8-14, will concern itself with the Economic Opportunity Act and its implications for the Greensboro community.

Mrs. Louise G. Streat, director of home and family life education, who is again serving as chairman, said that this year's program would include three formal chapel programs plus a series of field trips which will enable students to observe first-hand the program at work in the local agencies participating in the anti-poverty program.

SPEAKER FOR the opening program at 10 a. m., Monday, March 8, in Pfeiffer Chapel will be Miss Fay Bennett, of New York City, executive secretary of the National Advisory Committee on Farm Labor, who will relate the program to rural areas.

On Wednesday, at the same hour, Paul Gezon, director of the Greensboro Community Council will speak. Friday the speaker will be Dr. James L. White, of Raleigh, coordinator of the Economic Opportunity Program for the state of North Carolina.

EACH LECTURE will be followed by three seminar - discussions, one in the chapel and the others in the Science Assembly and Little Theatre. Among agencies which will be represented in these presentations will be the Hayes-Taylor YMCA, the Institute of Child Development of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro; the Greensboro Redevelopment Commission and the Guilford County health and welfare departments.

FIELD TRIPS will be held on Tuesday and Thursday and the institute activities will be summarized on Sunday, March 14 by Mrs. Streat prior to the closing address which will be given by Bishop James S. Thomas, of Des Moines, Iowa, resident bishop of the Iowa Area of the Methodist Church, who is also a Bennett trustee.

Miss Cumbo Heard At Bennett

GREENSBORO — Responsibilities of teachers and parents in the education of secondary school students were outlined by Miss Thelma Cumbo, of Raleigh, in an address before the fourth annual Saturday School conference at Bennett College Saturday.

Miss Cumbo, guidance consultant in the State Department of Public Instruction, was speaking to some 100 high school principals, counselo and parents who had gathered for an evaluation of the work being done with the 75 youngsters attending this once-a-week facility.

Stating that many high school students come from culturally deprived homes, Miss Cumbo said: "The school system must not patronize the deprived individual nor must it emphasize the negative aspect of his educational progress. These individuals must be given respect and encouragement for the things that they are able to do well.

"While I am all for desegregated schools, I point out that teachers do not necessarily have to be in a desegregated system in order to teach well. Students grow as teachers grow and you just can't teach that which you do not know."

ALUMNI VESPER SPEAKER

GREENSBORO — Mrs. Lydia Jetton Rogers, '36, of Washington, D. C. will be the speaker for a Bennett College alumnae vesper service to be held Sunday, March 7, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

A large number of graduates from cities in North Carolina and Virginia have been invited to hear Mrs. Rogers who is a member of the Howard University faculty.

Waging the toughest fight of his career, McDonald can point to many achievements in the field of economic and civil rights for his membership. In '58 he helped set up a Committee on Civil Rights within the Steelworkers that has worked for "full democracy" in its ranks.

AT BENNETT CONFERENCE — Some of the high school counselors and principals who attended the fourth annual Saturday School conference at Bennett College called by the director, Dr. Richard L. Fields (standing, far right) engage in evaluation discussion. Left to right, seated: Mrs. Bernice Davis, counselor, Dudley High School, Greensboro; Mrs. Betty Hayes, counselor for the Guilford County schools; Mrs. B. T. McCallum, counselor, Yadkin High School, Boonville; Mrs. Madeline Best, counselor, Central High School, Graham; Dr. Eugene Burnette, of the State Department of Public Instruction, Raleigh; Miss Thelma Cumbo, guidance consultant for the State Department of Public Instruction, who delivered the main address, and W. E. Hall, principal, Jordan-Sellars High School, Burlington; standing: William H. Lainer, principal, Sedalia High School, and B. T. McCallum, principal, Yadkin High School, Boonville.

Sixty Bennett College Students Told To Search For New Truths

Sixty Bennett College students, cited for academic achievement, were told to "search for new truths to put new meanings into your lives" at the third annual spring honors convocation Friday.

Speaker was Miss Margaret Hickey, of St. Louis, Mo., businesswoman and public affairs editor of the Ladies Home Journal.

Citing the hunger around the world, "not only for food but for knowledge," Miss Hickey challenged the honorees to give of themselves in helping the world to solve its problems.

"No woman knows her own destiny," she declared. "So much of womans' life is concerned with caring for and caring about the lives of others. Your patterns of leadership, however, should not be to imitate men, but to be yourselves."

She urged the students to keep abreast of the changing times, adding "my wish for you is that the day may come when you will help the rest of us to live in a warm and compassionate world."

President Willa B. Player, who presided, presented certificates to 30 freshmen, 17 sophomores, five juniors and eight seniors. Freshmen were required to have maintained an average of 2.0 for one semester; sophomores an average of 2.2 or better for three semesters; juniors, 2.3 or better for five semesters and seniors, 2.4 or better for seven semesters.

VESPERS SPEAKER

Mrs. Lydia Jetton Rogers of the class of 1936 will be the speaker for the Bennett College alumnae vesper service today at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel. Graduates from cities in the state and in Virginia have been invited to attend. Mrs. Rogers is a member of the faculty of Howard University.

The list follows:

Freshmen

Misses Sarah Baker, Houston, Texas; Linda Burnham, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Bertha Burris, High Point, N. C.; Aretha Butler, Eastover, S. C.; Rossie Caldwell, Orangeburg, S. C.; Tonye L. Cathcart, Hillsboro, N. C.; Glenna Chavies, Montclair, N. J.; Josephine Dula, Lenoir, N. C. Cynthia Frierson, Florence, S. C.; Yvonne Ganies, Norfolk, Va.; Edrice Glass, Atlanta, Ga.; Janet Harrell, Franklin, Va.; Forestine Herbin, Greensboro; Rena Holloway, Lincolnton, N. C.; Elieen Holmes, New Haven Conn.; Barbara Jackson, Richmond, Va.; Cherie Jones, Danville, Va.; Cynthia Kirk, Goldsboro, N. C.; Carolyn Lowery, Clover, S. C.; Paula Martin, Danville, Va.; Johnnie Livi Montgomery, Greensboro; Marilyn Pannell, Roanoke, Va.; Gloria Parker, Sanford, N. C.; Lillian Pinder, Titusville, Fla.; Lorraine Polk, Newark, N. J.; Ethel Saunders, Washington, D. C.; Marshalyn Yeargin, Greenville, S. C.

Sophomores

Kate Aseme, Nigeria; Gloria Benson, Columbia, S. C.; Jessie Cardwell, Greensboro; Mary Cole, Chapel Hill, N. C.; Patricia Faison, New Bern, N. C.; Wilma Griffin, Columbus, Ga.; Theresa Hall, Washington, D. C.; Mary Jacobs, Mebane, N. C.; Barbara Lake, Evanston, N. C.; Sharyn Marshall, Atlantic City, N. J.; Rowena Daniel, Lynchburg, Va.; Pattabongs, Bangkok, Thailand; Glenda Greensboro; Elaine Upton, Greensboro,; Elaine Upton White, Asheville, N. C.; Darilyn Wilds, Georgetown, S. C.; Pamela Wimberly, Wilmington, Del.;

Juniors

Amanda Houston. Kinston, N. C.; Betty Jackson, Easley, S. C.; Marian Kelly, South Norwalk, Conn.; Eva Rice, ;Washington, D. C.; Wei Lie So, Indonesia;

Seniors

Patricia Corry, Kings Mountain, N. C.; Johnsie Dalton, Greensboro, Marthalia Dunn, Kinston, N. C.; Wilma Giles, Mt. Olive, N. C.; Lillie Madison, Brevard, N. C.; Marie Nwanze, Nigeria; Bertha Otey and Beatrice Stanley, both of Greensboro.

AT BENNETT CONFERENCE -- Some of the high school counselors and principals who attended the fourth annual Saturday School conference at Bennett College called by the director, Dr. Richard L. Fields (standing, far right) engage in evaluation discussion. Left to right, seated: Mrs. Bernice Davis, counselor, Dudley High School, Greensboro; Mrs. Betty Hayes, counselor for the Guilford County schools; Mrs. B. T. McCallum, counselor, Yadkin High School, Boonville; Mrs. Madeline Best, counselor, Central High School, Graham; Dr. Eugene Burnette, of the State Department of Public Instruction, Raleigh; Miss Thalma Cumbo, guidance consultant for the State Department of Public Instruction, who delivered the main address, and W. E. Hall, principal, Jordan-Sellars High School, Burlington; standing; William H. Lanier, principal, Sedalia High School, and B. T. McCallum, principal, Yadkin High School, Boonville.

VESPER SERVICE

Some of her experiences at the University of Nigeria, where she recently spent a year, were related by Mrs. Lydia J. Rogers, of the class of 1936, at the alumnae vesper service at Bennett College yesterday. Mrs. Rogers is a member of the home economics faculty at Howard University, Washington.

At Bennett College Mar. 8-14:

NY's Fay Bennett, Others Will Keynote 39th Homemaking School

GREENSBORO— The 39th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College, scheduled for March 8-14, will concern itself with the Economic Opportunity Act and its implications for the Greensboro community.

Mrs. Louise G. Streat, director of home and family life education, who is again serving as chairman, said that this year's program would include three formal chapel programs plus a series of field trips which will enable students to observe first-hand the program at work in the local agencies participating in the anti-poverty program.

Speaker for the opening program at 10 a.m., Monday, March 8, in Pfeiffer Chapel will be Miss Fay Bennett, of New York City, exxecutive secretary of the National Advisory Committee on Farm Labor, who will relate the program to rural areas.

On Wednesday, at the same hour, Paul Gezon, director of the Greensboro Community Council will speak. Friday the speaker will be Dr. James L. White, of Raleigh, coordinator of the Economic Opportunity Program for the state of North Carolina.

Each lecture will be followed by three seminar-discussions, one in the chapel and the others in the Science Assembly and Little Theatre. Among agencies which will be represented in these presentations will be the Hayes-Taylor YMCA, the Institute of Child Development of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro; the Greensboro Redevelopment Commission and the Guilford County health and welfare departments.

Field trips will be held on Tuesday and Thursday and the institute activities will be summarized on Sunday, March 14 by Mrs. Streat prior to the closing address which will be given by Bishop James S. Thomas, of Des Moines, Iowa, resident bishop of the Iowa Area of the Methodist Church, who is also a Bennett trustee.

C4—The Greensboro Record,

Homemakers' Theme Chosen For Meeting

"Economic Stability and The American Family" will be the theme for the 39th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College March 8-14, it was announced today by Mrs. Louise G. Streat, institute chairman.

Dr. George Breathett is chairman for the program which is designed to acquaint the college community with the many aspects of the Economic Opportunity Act, the present involvement of Greensboro in the act and the overall possibilities for stablizing family economics.

Fay Bennett, executive secretary of the National Advisory Committee on Farm Labor, New York, will speak on "National Implications of the Economic Opportunity Program" at 10 a.m. Monday in Pfeiffer Chapel.

At 11 a.m. there will be three seminars on community proposals for the economic opportunity program. Speakers will be H. C. Allison, assistant superintendent of the Greensboro City Schools; J. E. Whitley, member of the board of managers of Haynes-Taylor YMCA, and Mrs. Jerry B. Hyman and Mrs. A. J. Tannenbaum of the National Council of Jewish Women which established the preschool center at Smith Homes.

FIELD TRIPS to observe neighborhood standards, neighborhoods in transition, redeveloped neighborhoods and neighborhoods in planning stages will begin at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday. Field trip coordinators are Dr. J. Henry Sayles, Charles W. Fairley and James J. Scarlette.

At 10 a.m. Wednesday Paul M. Gezon, executive director of the Greensboro Community Council will discuss the local implications of the economic opportunity program.

Seminars on community proposals for the economic opportunity program again will be held at 11 a.m. Speakers will be Robert Barkley, director, and Fairley of the Greensboro Redevelopment Commission; Mrs. Carolyn Allen, assitant director of the Institute for Child Development at the University of North Carolina here and Mrs. Mitzie Alexander and Mrs. Mary Farthing, health educators with the Guilford County Health Department.

The field trips will continue on Thursday and Friday at 10 a.m. In the chapel Dr. James L. White, of Raleigh coordinator of the economic program for North Carolina, will speak on state implications of the program.

Speakers for the seminars Friday will be Dr. Charles W. Pinckney, director of "Project Uplift" at A&T College here; L. M. Thompson, director of the Guilford County Welfare Department, and Harold Needle, director of the local Family Service-Travelers Aid Assn.

The institute will end Sunday with a summary statement by Mrs. Streat and an address by Dr. James S. Thomas, bishop of the Iowa area of the Methodist Church, Des Moines.

Poverty War Related To National Security

BY DOROTHY BENJAMIN
Record Staff Writer

The main thing the war on poverty has done so far is to expose the pockets of poverty in this country so something can be done about them, the executive secretary of the National Advisory Committee on Farm Labor said here today.

Fay Bennett of New York told a Bennett College audience it is hard for the affluent citizens of the United States to accept the fact that these poverty pockets do exist and have existed for some time.

"THERE IS nothing like seeing poverty with your own eyes to make you commit your heart, as well as your mind, to doing something about it," Miss Bennett said at the opening session of the 39th annual Homemaking Institute at the college.

Miss Bennett, who in private life is the wife of Roland Watts, a civil liberties attorney, and mother of three children, reminded her listeners that the war on poverty is part of the country's national security.

"It (the Economic Opportunity Program) is most important to the whole country. Great societies in the past have thrived and then gone down to oblivion and we can't take it for granted that our society will continue. In fact, it is just possible that if we don't correct the injustices of our society we will go down, too," she said.

Miss Bennett outlined the various programs available under the Economic Opportunity Act and emphasized the role of the educated woman in the world today and the role of the college in the community.

She discussed the participation of the community and the citizen in the war on poverty which she described as "no single war but hundreds, perhaps thousands, of battles in communities where these problems exist.

"The Economic Opportunity Act gives those in need the opportunity to help themselves. It is not a handout . . . We don't want any more welfare programs. We want programs to help people get out of the trap of poverty."

Miss Bennett said the "doors are open wide" today for educated Negro women and cautioned the Bennett students that "You can't say you don't have the opportunity. You must decide where you want to be—in the civil rights movement, in medicine, law, education, community leadership."

She drew applause from the predominantly female audience when she urged the students not to marry "a man who does not treat you as an individual and wants you home 24 hours a day catering to his needs. Marry a man who will treat you as a partner. It's a gag men have put over on us for years that they earn the money and women do the hard work."

The general session this morning was followed by seminars on community proposals for the Economic Opportunity Program. Tomorrow and Thursday the students will take field trips to observe neighborhood standards.

s, Sunday, March 7, 1965

Bennett College Institute Begins Monday

The 39th annual Home-Making Institute will be held beginning Monday at Bennett College and lasting through the following Sunday. The theme of the meeting will be "Economic Stability and the American Family."

Featuring the Monday morning session in the Annie Merner Pfeiffer Chapel, will be a talk by Miss Fay Bennett, executive secretary of the National Advisory Committee on Farm Labor on the National Implication of the Economic Opportunity Program and three seminars. Speakers on these seminars will be H. C. Allison, assistant superintendent of Greensboro Schools; J. E. Whitley of the board of managers of Hayes-Taylor YMCA; and Mrs. Jerry B. Hyman and Mrs. A. J. Tannenbaum of the National Council of Jewish Women.

Tuesday will be taken up by field trips to observe neighborhood standards, neighborhoods in transition, redeveloped neighborhoods and neighborhoods in planning stages.

Paul M. Gezon, executive director of the Greensboro Community Council, will discuss local implications of the Economic Opportunity Program Wednesday. These seminars also will be held with the speakers being Robert Barkley and Charles W. Fairley of the Redevelopment Commission of Greensboro for Seminar No. 1; Mrs. Carolyn Allen, assistant director, Institute for Child Development at UNC-G, speaking at Seminar No. 2; Mrs. Mitzie Alexander and Mrs. Mary Farthing, of the Guilford County Health Department, addressing Seminar No. 3.

Field trips will be continued Thursday.

Friday will be marked by an address by Dr. James L. White, coordinator of the Economic Opportunity program for the state of North Carolina, and by three seminars. The speakers for these seminars will be Dr. Charles W. Pinckney, director of Project Uplift at A&T College; L. M. Thompson, director of the Guilford County Welfare Department, and Harold Needle, director of the Family Service-Travelers Aid Association of Greensboro.

The address Sunday, March 14, will be made by Dr. James S. Thomas, bishop of the Iowa area of the Methodist Church.

Bennett Choir Plans 3-State Tour March 28

GREENSBORO — The Bennett College Choir, directed by Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, will begin a three-state tour on March 28.

The 40-voice group, with John C. Moore, of the music faculty, as accompanist, will present a repertoire of sacred, secular and folk music. Among numbers to be heard will be "Arise All Ye Servants of the Lord," by Jan P. Sweelinck; Handel's "Sing Unto God," "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings" by Brahms and excerpts from Johann Adolf Hasse's "Miserere." The College Quartette will also sing a group of selections.

Mrs. Crawford, who has had marked success as a director, is a graduate of State Teachers' College, West Chester, Pa., and holds the master's degree from Teachers' College, Columbia University. She has also studied at the Westminister Choir College, at Princeton, New Jersey.

First appearance of the group will be at Roberts Memorial Methodist Church, Alexandria, Va. Other tour dates follow:

March 30—St. Johns Methodist Church, Sunbury, Pa.; March 31—Milton Methodist Church, Milton, Williamsport, Pa.; April 2—First Methodist Church, Bloomsburg, Pa.; and April 4—Mount Carmel Methodist Church, Wilmington, Delaware.

Homemaking Institute Hears Gezon

"The people who make the decisions downtown have not always thought of the whole community," Paul Gezon, executive director of the Greensboro Community Council, told the second session of the 39th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College yesterday.

Gezon, who spoke on "Local Implications of the Economic Opportunity Program," said that the local community is "not cranking up fast enough" to meet the needs of the influx of persons from rural areas moving into the city.

"We have to assure that people that they are wel[come]," said. "The only thing of them have is pr[ide] have to build on th[at]

Stating that [the] city to "get out [of] dealing with the [problem], Gezon urge[d] of words in d[ictionary] niques to involv[e] ing help by ge[tting] themselves in [to] problems.

Notes Problem

"These people," [he] not too much conc[ern] whether we add anot[her] nurse or another case[worker]. What they want is a solut[ion] the problem of how to get [rid] of the roaches that infest the[ir] rented living quarters. We must learn to start where the people are and this is what the [anti-] poverty program will attem[pt to] do."

Following Gezon's addre[ss] audience divided into thre[e] nar-discussion groups. R[obert] Barkley, director, and W. Fairley of the Redevelopm[ent] Commission spoke at the fi[rst] these, and Mrs. Carolyn A[llen] assistant director of the I[nsti]tute for Child Development UNC-G, spoke at the seco[nd] Mesdames Mitzie Alexander a[nd] Mary Farthing of the Guilford County Health Department, were the speakers at the third.

Today, the students will ma[ke] field trips to observe differe[nt] types of neighborhoods in t[he] Greensboro community and [Mon]day, Dr. James L. White, [of Ra]leigh, coordinator for th[e Eco]nomic Opportunity Pro[gram] the state, will speak at

39th Annual Homemaking Institute At Bennett College Closes Sunday

National, state and local implications of the Economic Opportunity Act were described, analyzed and discussed during the 39th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College.

Theme of the institute was "Economic Stability and the American Family," and the opening speaker on Monday was Miss Fay Bennett, of New York City, executive secretary of the National Advisory Committee on Farm Labor, whose topic was "National Implications of the Economic Opportunity Program."

"Roughly, one of every five persons in the United States," she said, "lives in poverty, with many of them in the rural areas and the largest concentration in the South. All of society has a stake in the war on poverty, which is really composed of hundreds of battles spread over many communities.

"Great societies in the past have thrived and then gone down to oblivion, so it cannot be taken for granted that our Great American Society will continue unless we do something about this problem."

Speaker at the Wednesday session was Paul Gezon, executive director of the Greensboro Community Council, who addressed himself to local implications of the program.

Stating that 20 per cent of the families of Guilford County (in which Greensboro is located) exist on incomes less than $3,000, he said that "the people who make the decisions downtown" have not always thought of the "whole community" when seeking solutions.

"The only thing that some of these people have is their pride," he declared, "and we have to build on that. We will have to develop techniques for involving the little people in our programs and stop kidding ourselves into blaming the health and welfare departments for the existence of poverty."

Mr. Gezon said further that the local community is "cranking up fast enough" to meet the influx of persons from the rural sections of the state who are moving into the city. The old business-as-usual attitude, he said, will not help these people to solve their problems.

"They are not concerned about whether or not we add another health nurse or another case worker, or whether college tuition is being raised. They want a solution to their problem of how to get rid of the roaches that infest their dwellings. We must learn to start where the people are and that is what this anti-poverty program will attempt to do."

On Tuesday and Thursday the students made field trips to observe neighborhood standards, neighborhoods in transition, redeveloped neighborhoods and neighborhoods in the planning stages.

Speaker at the Friday session will be Dr. James L. White, of Raleigh, co-ordinator for the Economic Opportunity Program for the state. After each address, the audience divided into three seminar-discussion groups at which representatives of local agencies described their proposals for or present participation in the program.

Concluding session will be on Sunday at which time, Mrs. L. G. Streat, institute chairman, will summarize the week's activities, after which Bishop James S. Thomas, of the Iowa Area of the Methodist Church, will speak.

EOA Project Discussed At Bennett

"The aim of the Economic Opportunity Act is to help the young, the old and the jobless to lift themselves out of their poverty," Miss Fay Bennett of New York City said in her address opening the 39th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College yesterday.

Miss Bennett, executive secretary of the National Advisory Committee on Farm Labor, spoke on "National Implications of the Economic Opportunity Program."

Stating that the college can no longer remain a secluded [island] from the rest of the [world]," Miss Bennett spoke of the partnership that is necessary if the war against poverty is to succeed. "Roughly, one out of every five persons in the United States," she said, "lives in poverty, with many of them in the rural areas and the largest concentration in the South.

All Have Stake

"All of society has a stake in the war on poverty which is really composed of hundreds of battles spread over many communities. Great societies in the past have thrived and then gone down to oblivion, so it cannot be taken for granted that our American society will continue unless we do something about this problem."

Following the address, the audience broke up into three seminar groups which concerned themselves with examining some community proposals for the Economic Opportunity Program and today and Thursday the students will take field trips to observe first-hand what is being done in this area in Greensboro.

Church Head Addresses Institute

A plea for everyone to work for the abundant life that Christ came to bring was voiced by Bishop James S. Thomas, of Des Moines, Iowa, in his address marking the close of the 39th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College Sunday.

Bishop Thomas, head of the Iowa Area of the Methodist Church, referrig to the week-long institute program dealing with the stability of the American family, deplored the fact that America spends only one and one-half cents per capita for education and that American spend more for beer than they do for books.

"The American family," he said, "is the place where each person can rise to the highest level of identity. It has the responsibility of developing the skills and abilities that will make it an asset to society, rather than a liability. It is also the place for the nurture of great ideals out of which great persons may be produced."

Mrs. Louise G. Streat, institute chairman, in summarizing the week's activities, said that they emphasized two major concerns of the college; namely, education for the improvement of the family and for extending itself into the life of the community.

Ballet Planned At Bennett

Two performances by the Ballet Chaffee Concert Group of New York City will be given in the Little Theatre at Bennett College Friday—one at 3 p.m. and the other at 8 p.m.

Directed by George Chaffee, Officier d'Academie, the group of four young artists made its company debut in 1960 and since has worked continuously, adhering to a repertoire which is essentially classical.

Mainstay of the company is the premier danseur Vaino Nassi, of Finnish origin and a protege of Chaffee who now assists the latter in teaching at his School of Ballet.

Nassi will be supported in duo and group roles by four ballerinas.

AT CHURCH CONFERENCE... Bishop Charles F. Golden, head of the Nashville-Carolina Area of the Methodist Church (second from right) chats with Miss Mary Head and the Rev. William R. Smith, members of the Tennessee-Kentucky conference between sessions of the Upper Southeastern Regional Planning meeting held at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., recently. Person on extreme right was unidentified.

Field Trips To Highlight Homemaking Institute

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The 39th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College, scheduled for March 8-14, will concern itself with the Economic Opportunity Act and its implications for the Greensboro community.

Mrs. Louise G. Streat, director of home and family life education, who is again serving as chairman, said that this year's program would include three formal chapel programs plus a series of field trips which will enable students to observe first-hand the program at work in the local agencies participating in the anti-poverty program.

SPEAKER FOR the opening program at 10 a. m., Monday, March 8, in Pfeiffer Chapel will be Miss Fay Bennett, of New York City, executive secretary of the National Advisory Committee on Farm Labor, who will relate the program to rural areas.

On Wednesday, at the same hour, Paul Gezon, director of the Greensboro Community Council will speak. Friday the speaker will be Dr. James L. White, of Raleigh, coordinator of the Economic Opportunity Program for the state of North Carolina.

EACH LECTURE will be followed by three seminar - discussions, one in the chapel and the others in the Science Assembly and Little Theatre. Among agencies which will be represented in these presentations will be the Hayes-Taylor YMCA, the Institute of Child Development of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro; the Greensboro Redevelopment Commission and the Guilford County health and welfare departments.

FIELD TRIPS will be held on Tuesday and Thursday and the institute activities will be summarized on Sunday, March 14 by Mrs. Streat prior to the closing address which will be given by Bishop James S. Thomas, of Des Moines, Iowa, resident bishop of the Iowa Area of the Methodist Church, who is also a Bennett trustee.

Miss Cumbo Heard At Bennett

GREENSBORO — Responsibilities of teachers and parents in the education of secondary school students were outlined by Miss Thelma Cumbo, of Raleigh, in an address before the fourth annual Saturday School conference at Bennett College Saturday.

Miss Cumbo, guidance consultant in the State Department of Public Instruction, was speaking to some 100 high school principals, counsels and parents who had gathered for an evaluation of the work being done with the 75 youngsters attending this once-a-week facility.

Stating that many high school students come from culturally deprived homes, Miss Cumbo said: "The school system must not patronize the deprived individual nor must it emphasize the negative aspect of his educational progress. These individuals must be given respect and encouragement for the things that they are able to do well.

"While I am all for desegregated schools, I point out that teachers do not necessarily have to be in a desegregated system in order to teach well. Students grow as teachers grow and you just can't teach that which you do not know."

ALUMNI VESPER SPEAKER

GREENSBORO — Mrs. Lydia Jetton Rogers, '36, of Washington, D. C. will be the speaker for a Bennett College alumnae vesper service to be held Sunday, March 7, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

A large number of graduates from cities in North Carolina and Virginia have been invited to hear Mrs. Rogers who is a member of the Howard University faculty.

Waging the toughest fight of his career, McDonald can point to many achievements in the field of economic and civil rights for his membership. In '58 he helped set up a Committee on Civil Rights within the Steelworkers that has worked for "full democracy" in its ranks.

AT BENNETT CONFERENCE — Some of the high school counselors and principals who attended the fourth annual Saturday School conference at Bennett College called by the director, Dr. Richard L. Fields (standing, far right) engage in evaluation discussion. Left to right, seated: Mrs. Bernice Davis, counselor, Dudley High School, Greensboro; Mrs. Betty Hayes, counselor for the Guilford County schools; Mrs. B. T. McCallum, counselor, Yadkin High School, Boonville; Mrs. Madeline Best, counselor, Central High School, Graham; Dr. Eugene Burnette, of the State Department of Public Instruction, Raleigh; Miss Thelma Cumbo, guidance consultant for the State Department of Public Instruction, who delivered the main address, and W. E. Hall, principal, Jordan-Sellars High School, Burlington; standing: William H. Lainer, principal, Sedalia High School, and B. T. McCallum, principal, Yadkin High School, Boonville.

Sixty Bennett College Students Told To Search For New Truths

Sixty Bennett College students, cited for academic achievement, were told to "search for new truths to put new meanings into your lives" at the third annual spring honors convocation Friday.

Speaker was Miss Margaret Hickey, of St. Louis, Mo., businesswoman and public affairs editor of the Ladies Home Journal.

Citing the hunger around the world, "not only for food but for knowledge," Miss Hickey challenged the honorees to give of themselves in helping the world to solve its problems.

"No woman knows her own destiny," she declared. "So much of womans' life is concerned with caring for and caring about the lives of others. Your patterns of leadership, however, should not be to imitate men, but to be yourselves."

She urged the students to keep abreast of the changing times, adding "my wish for you is that the day may come when you will help the rest of us to live in a warm and compassionate world."

President Willa B. Player, who presided, presented certificates to 30 freshmen, 17 sophomores, five juniors and eight seniors. Freshmen were required to have maintained an average of 2.0 for one semester; sophomores an average of 2.2 or better for three semesters; juniors, 2.3 or better for five semesters and seniors, 2.4 or better for seven semesters.

VESPERS SPEAKER

Mrs. Lydia Jetton Rogers of the class of 1936 will be the speaker for the Bennett College alumnae vesper service today at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel. Graduates from cities in the state and in Virginia have been invited to attend. Mrs. Rogers is a member of the faculty of Howard University.

The list follows:

— — — Freshmen — — —

Misses Sarah Baker, Houston, Texas; Linda Burnham, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Bertha Burris, High Point, N. C.; Aretha Butler, Eastover, S. C.; Rossie Caldwell, Orangeburg, S. C.; Tonye Cathcart, Hillsboro, N. C.; Glenna Chavies, Montclair, N. J.; Josephine Dula, Lenoir, N. C. Cynthia Frierson, Florence, S. C.; Svonne Ganies, Norfolk, Va.; Edrice Glass, Atlanta, Ga.; Janet Harrell, Franklin, Va.; Forestine Herbin, Greensboro; Rena Holloway, Lincolnton, N. C.; Elieen Holmes, New Haven Conn.; Barbara Jackson, Richmond, Va.; Cherie Jones, Danville, Va.; Cynthia Kirk, Goldsboro, N. C.; Carolyn Lowery, Clover, S. C.; Paula Martin, Danville, Va.; Johnnie Ivy Montgomery, Greensboro; Marilyn Pannell, Roanoke, Va.; Gloria Parker, Sanford, N. C.; Lillian Pinder, Titusville, Fla.; Lorraine Polk, Newark, N. J.; Ethel Saunders, Washington, D. C.; Marshalyn Yeargin, Greenville, S. C.

Sophomores

Kate Aseme, Nigeria; Gloria Benson, Columbia, S. C.; Jessie Cardwell, Greensboro; Mary Cole, Chapel Hill, N. C.; Patricia Faison, New Bern, N. C.; Wilma Griffin, Columbus, Ga.; Theresa Hall, Washington, D. C.; Mary Jacobs, Mebane, N. C.; Barbara Lake, Lynchburg, Va.; Sharyn Marshall, Atlantic City, N. J.; Rowena McDaniel, Lynchburg, Va.; Pattabongs, Bangkok, Thailand; Glenda Grensboro; Elaine Greensboro,; Elaine White, Asheville, N. C.; Darilyn Wilds, Georgetown, S. C.; Pamela Wimberly, Wilmington, Del.;

Juniors

Amanda Houston. Kinston, N. C.; Betty Jackson, Easley, S. C.; Marian Kelly, South Norwalk, Conn.; Eva Rice, ;Washington, D. C.; Wei Lie So, Indonesia;

Seniors

Patricia Corry, Kings Mountain, N. C.; Johnsie Dalton, Greensboro, Marthalia Dunn, Kinston, N. C.; Wilma Giles, Mt. Olive, N. C.; Lillie Madison, Brevard, N. C.; Marie Nwanze, Nigeria; Bertha Otey and Beatrice Stanley, both of Greensboro.

AT BENNETT CONFERENCE -- Some of the high school counselors and principals who attended the fourth annual Saturday School conference at Bennett College called by the director, Dr. Richard L. Fields (standing, far right) engage in evaluation discussion. Left to right, seated: Mrs. Bernice Davis, counselor, Dudley High School, Greensboro; Mrs. Betty Hayes, counselor for the Guilford County schools; Mrs. B. T. McCallum, counselor, Yadkin High School, Boonville; Mrs. Madeline Best, counselor, Central High School, Graham; Dr. Eugene Burnette, of the State Department of Public Instruction, Raleigh; Miss Thalma Cumbo, guidance consultant for the State Department of Public Instruction, who delivered the main address, and W. E. Hall, principal, Jordan-Sellars High School, Burlington; standing; William H. Lanier, principal, Sedalia High School, and B. T. McCallum, principal, Yadkin High School, Boonville.

VESPER SERVICE

Some of her experiences at the University of Nigeria, where she recently spent a year, were related by Mrs. Lydia J. Rogers, of the class of 1936, at the alumnae vesper service at Bennett College yesterday. Mrs. Rogers is a member of the home economics faculty at Howard University, Washington.

At Bennett College Mar. 8-14:

NY's Fay Bennett, Others Will Keynote 39th Homemaking School

GREENSBORO— The 39th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College, scheduled for March 8-14, will concern itself with the Economic Opportunity Act and its implications for the Greensboro community.

Mrs. Louise G. Streat, director of home and family life education, who is again serving as chairman, said that this year's program would include three formal chapel programs plus a series of field trips which will enable students to observe first-hand the program at work in the local agencies participating in the anti-poverty program.

Speaker for the opening program at 10 a.m., Monday, March 8, in Pfeiffer Chapel will be Miss Fay Bennett, of New York City, exxecutive secretary of the National Advisory Committee on Farm Labor, who will relate the program to rural areas.

On Wednesday, at the same hour, Paul Gezon, director of the Greensboro Community Council will speak. Friday the speaker will be Dr. James L. White, of Raleigh, coordinator of the Economic Opportunity Program for the state of North Carolina.

Each lecture will be followed by three seminar-discussions, one in the chapel and the others in the Science Assembly and Little Theatre. Among agencies which will be represented in these presentations will be the Hayes-Taylor YMCA, the Institute of Child Development of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro; the Greensboro Redevelopment Commission and the Guilford County health and welfare departments.

Field trips will be held on Tuesday and Thursday and the institute activities will be summarized on Sunday, March 14 by Mrs. Streat prior to the closing address which will be given by Bishop James S. Thomas, of Des Moines, Iowa, resident bishop of the Iowa Area of the Methodist Church, who is also a Bennett trustee.

C4—The Greensboro Record,

Homemakers' Theme Chosen For Meeting

"Economic Stability and The American Family" will be the theme for the 39th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College March 8-14, it was announced today by Mrs. Louise G. Streat, institute chairman.

Dr. George Breathett is chairman for the program which is designed to acquaint the college community with the many aspects of the Economic Opportunity Act, the present involvement of Greensboro in the act and the overall possibilities for stablizing family economics.

Fay Bennett, executive secretary of the National Advisory Committee on Farm Labor, New York, will speak on "National Implications of the Economic Opportunity Program" at 10 a.m Monday in Pfeiffer Chapel.

At 11 a.m. there will be three seminars on community proposals for the economic opportunity program. Speakers will be H. C. Allison, assistant superintendent of the Greensboro City Schools; J. E. Whitley, member of the board of managers of Haynes-Taylor YMCA, and Mrs. Jerry B. Hyman and Mrs. A. J. Tannenbaum of the National Council of Jewish Women which established the preschool center at Smith Homes.

FIELD TRIPS to observe neighborhood standards, neighborhoods in transition, redeveloped neighborhoods and neighborhoods in planning stages will begin at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday. Field trip coordinators are Dr. J. Henry Sayles, Charles W. Fairley and James J. Scarlette.

At 10 a.m. Wednesday Paul M. Gezon, executive director of the Greensboro Community Council will discuss the local implications of the economic opportunity program.

Seminars on community proposals for the economic opportunity program again will be held at 11 a.m. Speakers will be Robert Barkley, director, and Fairley of the Greensboro Redevelopment Commission; Mrs. Carolyn Allen, assitant director of the Institute for Child Development at the University of North Carolina here and Mrs. Mitzie Alexander and Mrs. Mary Farthing, health educators with the Guilford County Health Department.

The field trips will continue on Thursday and Friday at 10 a.m. In the chapel Dr. James L. White, of Raleigh coordinator of the economic program for North Carolina, will speak on state implications of the program.

Speakers for the seminars Friday will be Dr. Charles W. Pinckney, director of "Project Uplift" at A&T College here; L. M. Thompson, director of the Guilford County Welfare Department, and Harold Needle, director of the Family Service-Travelers Aid Assn.

The institute will end Sunday with a summary statement by Mrs. Streat and an address by Dr. James S. Thomas, bishop of the Iowa area of the Methodist Church, Des Moines.

Poverty War Related To National Security

BY DOROTHY BENJAMIN
Record Staff Writer

The main thing the war on poverty has done so far is to expose the pockets of poverty in this country so something can be done about them, the executive secretary of the National Advisory Committee on Farm Labor said here today.

Fay Bennett of New York told a Bennett College audience it is hard for the affluent citizens of the United States to accept the fact that these poverty pockets do exist and have existed for some time.

"THERE IS nothing like seeing poverty with your own eyes to make you commit your heart, as well as your mind, to doing something about it," Miss Bennett said at the opening session of the 39th annual Homemaking Institute at the college.

Miss Bennett, who in private life is the wife of Roland Watts, a civil liberties attorney, and mother of three children, reminded her listeners that the war on poverty is part of the country's national security.

"It (the Economic Opportunity Program) is most important to the whole country. Great societies in the past have thrived and then gone down to oblivion and we can't take it for granted that our society will continue. In fact, it is just possible that if we don't correct the injustices of our society we will go down, too," she said.

Miss Bennett outlined the various programs available under the Economic Opportunity Act and emphasized the role of the educated woman in the world today and the role of the college in the community.

She discussed the participation of the community and the citizen in the war on poverty which she described as "no single war but hundreds, perhaps thousands, of battles in communities where these problems exist.

"The Economic Opportunity Act gives those in need the opportunity to help themselves. It is not a handout . . . We don't want any more welfare programs. We want programs to help people get out of the trap of poverty."

Miss Bennett said the "doors are open wide" today for educated Negro women and cautioned the Bennett students that "You can't say you don't have the opportunity. You must decide where you want to be—in the civil rights movement, in medicine, law, education, community leadership."

She drew applause from the predominantly female audience when she urged the students not to marry "a man who does not treat you as an individual and wants you home 24 hours a day catering to his needs. Marry a man who will treat you as a partner. It's a gag men have put over on us for years that they earn the money and women do the hard work."

The general session this morning was followed by seminars on community proposals for the Economic Opportunity Program. Tomorrow and Thursday the students will take field trips to observe neighborhood standards.

Bennett Choir Plans 3-State Tour March 28

GREENSBORO — The Bennett College Choir, directed by Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, will begin a three-state tour on March 28.

The 40-voice group, with John C. Moore, of the music faculty, as accompanist, will present a repertoire of sacred, secular and folk music. Among numbers to be heard will be "Arise All Ye Servants of the Lord," by Jan P. Sweelinck; Handel's "Sing Unto God," "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings" by Brahms and excerpts from Johann Adolf Hasse's "Miserere." The College Quartette will also sing a group of selections.

Mrs. Crawford, who has had marked success as a director, is a graduate of State Teachers' College, West Chester, Pa., and holds the master's degree from Teachers' College, Columbia University. She has also studied at the Westminister Choir College, at Princeton, New Jersey.

First appearance of the group will be at Roberts Memorial Methodist Church, Alexandria, Va. Other tour dates follow:

March 30—St. Johns Methodist Church, Sunbury, Pa.; March 31—Milton Methodist Church, Milton, Williamsport, Pa.; April 2—First Methodist Church, Bloomsburg, Pa.; and April 4—Mount Carmel Methodist Church, Wilmington, Delaware.

s, Sunday, March 7, 1965

Bennett College Institute Begins Monday

The 39th annual Home-Making Institute will be held beginning Monday at Bennett College and lasting through the following Sunday. The theme of the meeting will be "Economic Stability and the American Family."

Featuring the Monday morning session in the Annie Merner Pfeiffer Chapel, will be a talk by Miss Fay Bennett, executive secretary of the National Advisory Committee on Farm Labor on the National Implication of the Economic Opportunity Program and three seminars. Speakers on these seminars will be H. C. Allison, assistant superintendent of Greensboro Schools; J. E. Whitley of the board of managers of Hayes-Taylor YMCA; and Mrs. Jerry B. Hyman and Mrs. A. J. Tannenbaum of the National Council of Jewish Women.

Tuesday will be taken up by field trips to observe neighborhood standards, neighborhoods in transition, redeveloped neighborhoods and neighborhoods in planning stages.

Paul M. Gezon, executive director of the Greensboro Community Council, will discuss local implications of the Economic Opportunity Program Wednesday. These seminars also will be held with the speakers being Robert Barkley and Charles W. Fairley of the Redevelopment Commission of Greensboro for Seminar No. 1; Mrs. Carolyn Allen, assistant director, Institute for Child Development at UNC-G, speaking at Seminar No. 2; Mrs. Mitzie Alexander and Mrs. Mary Farthing, of the Guilford County Health Department, addressing Seminar No. 3.

Field trips will be continued Thursday.

Friday will be marked by an address by Dr. James L. White, coordinator of the Economic Opportunity program for the state of North Carolina, and by three seminars. The speakers for these seminars will be Dr. Charles W. Pinckney, director of Project Uplift at A&T College; L. M. Thompson, director of the Guilford County Welfare Department, and Harold Needle, director of the Family Service-Travelers Aid Association of Greensboro.

The address Sunday, March 14, will be made by Dr. James S. Thomas, bishop of the Iowa area of the Methodist Church.

Homemaking Institute Hears Gezon

"The people who make the decisions downtown have not always thought of the whole community," Paul Gezon, executive director of the Greensboro Community Council, told the second session of the 39th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College yesterday.

Gezon, who spoke on "Local Implications of the Economic Opportunity Program," said that the local community is "not cranking up fast enough" to meet the needs of the influx of persons from rural areas who are moving into the city.

"We have to assure these people that they are welcome," he said. "The only thing that some of them have is pride and we have to build on that."

Stating that it is time for the city to "get out of the rut" in dealing with the poverty problem, Gezon urged action instead of words in developing techniques to involve persons needing help by getting them to help themselves in solving their problems.

Notes Problems

"These people," he said, "are not too much concerned about whether we add another health nurse or another case worker. What they want is a solution to the problem of how to get rid of the roaches that infest their rented living quarters. We must learn to start where the people are and this is what the anti-poverty program will attempt to do."

Following Gezon's address, the audience divided into three seminar-discussion groups. Robert Barkley, director, and Charles W. Fairley of the Redevelopment Commission spoke at the first of these, and Mrs. Carolyn Allen, assistant director of the Institute for Child Development at UNC-G, spoke at the second. Mesdames Mitzie Alexander and Mary Farthing of the Guilford County Health Department, were the speakers at the third.

Today, the students will make field trips to observe different types of neighborhoods in the Greensboro community and Friday, Dr. James L. White, of Raleigh, coordinator for the Economic Opportunity Program for the state, will speak at 10 a.m.

39th Annual Homemaking Institute At Bennett College Closes Sunday

National, state and local implications of the Economic Opportunity Act were described, analyzed and discussed during the 39th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College.

Theme of the institute was "Economic Stability and the American Family," and the opening speaker on Monday was Miss Fay Bennett, of New York City, executive secretary of the National Advisory Committee on Farm Labor, whose topic was "National Implications of the Economic Opportunity Program."

"Roughly, one of every five persons in the United States," she said, "lives in poverty, with many of them in the rural areas and the largest concentration in the South. All of society has a stake in the war on poverty, which is really composed of hundreds of battles spread over many communities.

"Great societies in the past have thrived and then gone down to oblivion, so it cannot be taken for granted that our Great American Society will continue unless we do something about this problem."

Speaker at the Wednesday session was Paul Gezon, executive director of the Greensboro Community Council, who addressed himself to local implications of the program.

Stating that 20 per cent of the families of Guilford County (in which Greensboro is located) exist on incomes less than $3,000, he said that "the people who make the decisions downtown" have not always thought of the "whole community" when seeking solutions.

"The only thing that some of these people have is their pride," he declared, "and we have to build on that. We will have to develop techniques for involving the little people in our programs and stop kidding ourselves into blaming the health and welfare departments for the existence of poverty."

Mr. Gezon said further that the local community is not "cranking up fast enough" to meet the influx of persons from the rural sections of the state who are moving into the city. The old business-as-usual attitude, he said, will not help these people to solve their problems.

"They are not concerned about whether or not we add another health nurse or another case worker, or whether college tuition is being raised. They want a solution to their problem of how to get rid of the roaches that infest their dwellings. We must learn to start where the people are and that is what this anti-poverty program will attempt to do."

On Tuesday and Thursday the students made field trips to observe neighborhood standards, neighborhoods in transition, redeveloped neighborhoods and neighborhoods in the planning stages.

Speaker at the Friday session will be Dr. James L. White, of Raleigh, co-ordinator for the Economic Opportunity Program for the state. After each address, the audience divided into three seminar-discussion groups at which representatives of local agencies described their proposals for or present participation in the program.

Concluding session will be on Sunday at which time, Mrs. L. G. Streat, institute chairman, will summarize the week's activities, after which Bishop James S. Thomas, of the Iowa Area of the Methodist Church, will speak.

EOA Project Discussed At Bennett

"The aim of the Economic Opportunity Act is to help the young, the old and the jobless to lift themselves out of their poverty," Miss Fay Bennett of New York City said in her address opening the 39th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College yesterday.

Miss Bennett, executive secretary of the National Advisory Committee on Farm Labor, spoke on "National Implications of the Economic Opportunity Program."

Stating that the college can no longer remain a secluded oasis from the rest of the world," Miss Bennett spoke of the partnership that is necessary if the war against poverty is to succeed. "Roughly, one out of every five persons in the United States," she said, "lives in poverty, with many of them in the rural areas and the largest concentration in the South.

All Have Stake

"All of society has a stake in the war on poverty which is really composed of hundreds of battles spread over many communities. Great societies in the past have thrived and then gone down to oblivion, so it cannot be taken for granted that our American society will continue unless we do something about this problem."

Following the address, the audience broke up into three seminar groups which concerned themselves with examining some community proposals for the Economic Opportunity Program and today and Thursday the students will take field trips to observe first-hand what is being done in this area in Greensboro.

Church Head Addresses Institute

A plea for everyone to work for the abundant life that Christ came to bring was voiced by Bishop James S. Thomas, of Des Moines, Iowa, in his address marking the close of the 39th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College Sunday.

Bishop Thomas, head of the Iowa Area of the Methodist Church, referrig to the week-long institute program dealing with the stability of the American family, deplored the fact that America spends only one and one-half cents per capita for education and that American spend more for beer than they do for books.

"The American family," he said, "is the place where each person can rise to the highest level of identity. It has the responsibility of developing the skills and abilities that will make it an asset to society, rather than a liability. It is also the place for the nurture of great ideals out of which great persons may be produced."

Mrs. Louise G. Streat, institute chairman, in summarizing the week's activities, said that they emphasized two major concerns of the college, namely, education for the improvement of the family and for extending itself into the life of the community.

Ballet Planned At Bennett

Two performances by the Ballet Chaffee Concert Group of New York City will be given in the Little Theatre at Bennett College Friday—one at 3 p.m. and the other at 8 p.m.

Directed by George Chaffee, Officier d'Academie, the group of four young artists made its company debut in 1960 and since has worked continuously, adhering to a repertoire which is essentially classical.

Mainstay of the company is the premier danseur Vaino Nassi, of Finnish origin and a protege of Chaffee who now assists the latter in teaching at his School of Ballet.

Nassi will be supported in duo and group roles by four balerinas.

AT CHURCH CONFERENCE... Bishop Charles F. Golden, head of the Nashville-Carolina Area of the Methodist Church (second from right) chats with Miss Mary Head and the Rev. William R. Smith, members of the Tennessee-Kentucky conference between sessions of the Upper Southeastern Regional Planning meeting held at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., recently. Person on extreme right was unidentified.

AT BENNETT CONFERENCE — Some of the high school counselors and principals who attended the fourth annual Saturday School conference at Bennett College called by the director Dr. Richard L. Fields, standing, far right, engage in evalution discussion. Left to right, seated: Mrs. Bernice Davis, counselor, Dudley High School, Greensboro; Mrs. Betty Hayes, counselor for the Guilford County schools; Mrs. B. T. McCallum, counselor, Yadkin High School, Boonville; Mrs. Madeline Best, counselor, Central High School, Graham; Dr. Eugene Burnette of the State Department of Public Instruction, Raleigh; Miss Thelma Cumbo, guidance consultant for the State Department of Public Instruction, who delivered the main address, and W. E. Hall, principal, Jordan-Sellars High School, Burlington; standing: William H. Lanier principal, Sedalia High School, and B. T. McCallum, principal, Yadkin High School, Boonville.

60 students at Bennett honored for scholarship

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Sixty Bennett College students, cited for academic achivement, were told to "search for new truths to put new meanings into your lives" at the third annual spring honors convocation Friday.

Speaker was Miss Margaret Hickey, of St. Louis, Mo., businesswoman and public affairs editor of the Ladies Home Journal.

Citing the hunger around the world, "not only for food but for knowledge," Miss Hickey challenged the honorees to give of themselves in helping the world to solve its problems.

* * *

PRESIDENT Willa B. Player, who presided, presented certificates to 30 freshmen, 17 sophomores, five juniors and eight seniors.

Freshmen were required to have maintained an average of 2.0 for one semester; sophomores an average of 2.2 or better for seven semesters; juniors, 2.3 or better for five semesters and seniors, 2.4 or better for three semesters; juniors and seniors, 2.4 or better for three semesters; juni-

The list follows:

FRESHMEN

Misses Sarah Baker, Houston, Texas; Linda Burnham, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Bertha Burris, High Point, N.C.; Aretha Butler, Eastover, S.C.; Rossie Caldwell, Orangeburg, S.C.; Tonye Cathcart, Hillsboro, N.C.;

Glenna Chavies, Montclair, N.J.; Josephine Dula, Lenoir, N.C.; Cynthia Frierson, Florence, S.C.; Yvonne Gaines, Norfolk, Va.;

Edrice Glass, Atlanta, Ga.; Janet Harrell, Franklin, Va.; Forestine Herbin, Greensboro; Rena Holloway, Lincolnton, N.C.; Eileen Holmes, New Haven, Conn.; Barbara Jackson, Richmond, Va.; Cherie Jones, Danville, Va.; Cynthia Kirk, Goldsboro, N.C.; Carolyn Lowery, Clover, S.C.; Paula Martin, Danville, Va.;

Johnnie Montgomery, Greensboro; Marilyn Pannell, Roanoke, Va.; Gloria Parker, Sanford, N.C.; Lillian Pinder, Titusville, Fla.; Lorraine Polk, Newark, N.J.; Ethel Saunders, Washington, D.C.; Deborah Suber, Philadelphia; Cynthia Williams, Raleigh, N.C.; Marshalyn Yeargin, Greenville, S.C.

SOPHOMORES

Kate Aseme, Nigeria; Gloria Benson, Columbia, S.C.; Jessie Cardwell, Greensboro; Mary Cole, Chapel Hill, N.C.; Patricia Faison, New Bern, N.C.; Wilma Griffin, Columbus, Ga.; Theresa Hall, Washington, D.C.; Mary Jacobs, Mebane, N.C.;

Barbara Lake, Graham, N.C.; Sharyn Marshall, Atlantic City, N.J.; Rowena Mc Daniel, Lynchburg, Va.; Prathin Pattabongs, Bangkok, Thailand; Glenda Smith, Greensboro; Elaine Upton Sweetwater, Tenn.; Anita White, Asheville, N.C.; Darilyn Wilds, Georgetown, S.C.; Pamela Wimberly, Wilmington, Del.;

JUNIORS

Amanda Houston, Kinston, N.C.; Betty Jackson, Easley, S.C.; Marian Kelly, South Norwalk, Conn.; Eva Rice, Washington, D.C.; Wei Lie So, Indonesia;

SENIORS

Patricia Corry, Kings Mountain, N.C.; Johnsie Dalton, Greensboro; Marthalia Dunn, Kinston, N.C.; Wilma Giles, Mt. Olive, N.C.; Lillie Madison, Brevard, N.C.; Marie Nwanze, Nigeria; Bertha Otey and Beatrice Stanley, both of Greensboro.

PSYCHOLOGY TALK — Dr. Gregory Kimble, (second from right) professor of psychology at Duke University, Durham, shares views with Dr. F. L. Grandison, head of the psychology department at Bennett College, and three of his majors during recent two-day visit to campus of the Greensboro institution. Students are, left to right: Misses Gloria Leevy, of Columbia, S. C.; Mary Cole, of Chapel Hill and Mrs. Beatrice P. Stanley, of Greensboro.

Antipoverty Talk Made At Bennett

The view that persons who will benefit from the antipoverty program should be involved in the planning stages rather than at the receiving stage was advanced by Dr. James L. White of Raleigh at the third general session of the 39th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College yesterday.

Dr. White, coordinator of the Economic Opportunity Program of the state, said that the big mistake of the past has been in planning for people and telling them "here is something for you" and then wondering why they do not respond in large numbers.

"We have been neglecting human resources in our country at a time when we can ill afford to do so," he declared. "There are between 25 and 50 million Americans who are contributing little or nothing to our economy and who are not enjoying its fruits.

Need Noted

"We need to build a new awareness of these resources and to give these people the tools with which they can make a contribution to our economy and, at the same time, lift themselves out of their poverty."

Calling attention to the fact this nation has participated in other wars but that this is the first one the U.S. has started, Dr. White stressed the fact that this is a war which must be won if democracy is to hold up its head in the world.

The speaker said the lack of education is one of the biggest contributing factors to poverty and deplored the fact that "many who have developed their potential to the fullest, have had to seek employment elsewhere because they were barred from the work which they were qualified to do."

"We don't like to admit it," he said, "but there are 500,000 persons in this state, 18 years of age and over, who cannot read and write. Many of these persons have the potential to learn a skill and to become useful citizens of The Economic Opportunity Act has great implications for this state."

Dr. White said that everyone should become involved in the war against poverty — individuals, organizations, schools and agencies — and cited the humanitarian reason or the economic reason as motivation for participation. He said that one of the greatest needs is for communication as he urged the Bennett students to become involved in the program in their respective communities.

"I challenge you to become involved, to enlist in this war," he stated. "I do not mean to say that we will ever completely eliminate poverty but we can remove some of the present barriers and thus break the cycle of poverty."

The institute will close Sunday at 4 p.m. with an address by Dr. James S. Thomas of Des Moines, Iowa, bishop of the Iowa Area of the Methodist Church. Mrs. Louise G. Streat, chairman, will make a summary statement.

'Whiff Of Poverty' Prescribed For Complacent In Community

BY DOROTHY BENJAMIN
Record Staff Writer

"It's time the people in automobiles sailing down Friendly Road cut off their airconditioning and got a whiff of poverty," the executive director of the Greensboro Community Council said today as he took a whack at landlords, government and private agencies, school boards and others who "don't always do the job" for the community's poorer citizens.

Paul M. Gezon, speaking at Bennett College's Homemaking Institute, spared few groups or persons, conservative and liberal, in his attack on those who ignore or condescend to "the little guy" who is caught in the cycle of poverty.

"We have to take a look at the community. Are we doing the job? The answer all too often is 'no.' We can't do business as usual when dealing with those in poverty. It is no longer possible to say, 'We're in the liberal camp, we're for change.' It's going to take more than words and speeches. It's going to take action," he said.

Gezon described the current war on poverty as a major war, one which requires "more than a popgun" to win.

"When 20 per cent of the people in Guilford County exist on less than $3,000, I suggest we have poverty. . . Housing leads the parade for being the worst area. We have 20,000 units that do not begin to meet the standards of decency. . . We're spending $35,000,000 on health, education and welfare and we're still just scratching the surface. . . . Communities adjacent to this very campus have some tragic problems," he said.

GEZON CITED Warnersville an area in need of help where a large number of residents live in rented homes; the median income is $2,600, the average educational level is eighth grade; 97 per cent of the men are in unskilled jobs and 50 per cent of the women do some type of menial work.

"This compares with 19 per cent of the men in the rest of the community in unskilled work and 44 per cent of the women in menial work," he said and observed that many persons in Greensboro do not see or want to see the problems of poverty and therefore, believe they do not exist or are greatly exaggerated.

"Landlords, he said, "take a dim view of making repairs and the people who sit on school boards and in positions downtown, officially or unofficially, have not always done the job."

But Gezon is hopeful that the Economic Opportunities Act can break the cycle of poverty because it "starts at the bottom and works up."

With the help of the act's provisions "we can go where the problems are; build on the pride of the people involved; show them how they can meet some of their problems and that their communities can change," Gezon said and cited the establishment of six to eight local neighborhood councils in Greensboro which are attacking on their own such elemental problems as pest control.

Gezon listed the programs planned by the city and county schools, health and welfare departments and private agencies under the Economic Opportunity Act to make war on poverty and the conditions arising for it in this area.

He also urged the Bennett students to get involved and to "use the fact that you're too young and dumb to know it 'can't be done.'"

'Search For New Truths,' Bennett Honorees Told

GREENSBORO — Sixty Bennett College Students, cited for academic achievement, were told to "search for new truths to put new meanings into your lives" at the third annual spring honors convocation Friday.

Speaker was Miss Margaret Hickey, of St. Louis, Mo., businesswoman and public affairs editor of the Ladies Home Journal.

Citing the hunger around the world, "not for food but for knowledge," Miss Hickey challenged the honorees to give of themselves in helping the world to solve its problems.

"No woman knows her own destiny," she declared. "So much of woman's life is concerned with caring for and caring about the lives of others. Your patterns of leadership, however, should not be to imitate men, but to be yourselves."

She urged the students to keep abreast of the changing times, adding "my wish for you is that the day may come when you will help the rest of us to live in a warm and compassionate world."

President Willa B. Player, who presided, presented certificates to 30 freshmen, 17 sophomores, five juniors and eight seniors. Freshmen were required to have maintained an average of 2.0 for one semester; sophomores an average of 2.2 or better for three semesters; juniors, 2.3 or better for five semesters and seniors, 2.4 or better for seven semesters.

The list follows:

FRESHMEN—Misses Sarah Baker, Houston, Texas; Linda Burnham, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Bertha Burris, High Point; Aretha Butler, Eastover, S. C.; Rossie Caldwell, Orangeburg, S. C.; Tonye Cathcart, Hillsboro; Glenna Chavies, Montclair, N. J.; Josephine Dula, Lenoir; Cynthia Frierson, Florence, S. C.; Yvonne Gaines, Norfolk, Va.;

Edrice Glass, Atlanta, Ga.; Janet Harrell, Franklin, Va.; Forestine Herbin, Greensboro; Rena Holloway, Lincolnton, N. C.; Eileen Holmes, New Haven, Conn.; Barbara Jackson, Richmond, Va.; Cherie Jones, Danville, Va.; Cynthia Kirk, Goldsboro, N. C.; Carolyn Lowery, Clover, S. C.; Paula Martin, Danville, Va.;

Johnnie Montgomery, Greensboro; Marilyn Pannell, Roanoke, Va.; Gloria Parker, Sanford; Lillian Pinder, Titusville, Fla.; Lorraine Polk, Newark, N. J. Ethel Saunders, Washington, D. C.; Deborah Suber, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania Cynthia Williams, Raleigh; Marshalyn Yeargin, Greenville, S. C.

SOPHOMORES—Kate Aseme, Nigeria; Gloria Benson, Columbia, S. C.; Jessie Cardwell, Greensboro; Mary Cole, Chapel Hill; Patricia Faison, New Bern; Wilma Griffin, Columbus, Ga.; Theresa Hall, Washington, D. C.; Mary Jacobs, Mebane;

Barbara Lake, Graham; Sharyn Marshall, Atlantic City, N. J.; Rowena McDaniel, Lynchburg, Va.; Prathin Pattabongs, Bangkok, Thailand; Glenda Smith, Greensroro; Elaine Upton; Sweetwater, Tenn.; Anita White, Asheville; Darilyn Wilds, Georgetown, S. C.; Pamela Wimberly, Wilmington, Delaware;

JUNIORS—Amanda Houston, Kinston; Betty Jackson, Easley, S. C.; Marian Kelly, South Norwalk, Conn.; Eva Rice, Washington, D. C.; Wei Lie So, Indonesia;

SENIORS—Patricia Corry, Kings Mountain; Johnsie Dalton, Greensboro; Marthalia Dunn, Kinston; Wilma Giles, Mt. Olive, N. C.; Lillie Madison, Brevard; Marie Nwanze, Nigeria; Bertha Otey and Beatrice Stanley, both of Greensboro.

Caps And Gowns To Be Presented

Members of this year's graduating class at Bennett College will receive their caps and gowns at the Senior Day program at 4 p.m. Friday in Pfeiffer Chapel. President Willa B. Player will speak.

Following this program, the seniors will plant a magnolia tree honoring Mrs. Arlene W. Pulverman of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., who has provided financial aid for students for more than 20 years. The seniors will be honored at a banquet at 6:30 p.m. Friday in the David D. Jones Student Union.

Bennett Students Win Citations

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Sixty Bennett College students, cited for academic achievement, were told to "search for new truths to put new meanings into your lives" at the third annual spring honors convocation Friday.

Speaker was Miss Margaret Hickey, of St. Louis, Mo., businesswoman and public affairs editor of the Ladies Home Journal.

COLSTON SPEAKS

"Ours has become an age of much fear and little faith," Dr. James A. Colston, president of Knoxville, Tenn., College, declared in his vesper message at Bennett College Sunday. "We are long on knowledge but short on wisdom and Christian faith," he said, "and we need to develop a concern for people all over the world."

Bennett choir to open 3-state tour March 28

GREENSBORO, N.C.— The Bennett College Choir, directed by Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, will begin a three-state tour on March 28.

The 40-voice group, with John C. Moore of the music faculty, as accompanist, will present a repertoire of sacred, secular and folk music. The College Quartette will also sing a group of selections.

Mrs. Crawford, who has had marked success as a director, is a graduate of State Teachers' College, West Chester, Pa., and holds the master's degree from Teacher's College, Columbia University. She has also studied at the Westminster Choir College, at Princeton, N.J.

* * *

FIRST APPEARANCE of the group will be at Roberts Memorial Methodist Church, Alexandria, Va. Other tour dates follow:

March 30—St. Johns Methodist Church, Sunbury, Pa.; March 31—Milton Methodist Church, Milton, Pa.; April 1 Lycoming College, Williamsport, Pa.; April 2—First Methodist Church, Bloomsburg, Pa.; and April 4—Mount Carmel Methodist Church, Wilmington, Del.

A Spring Wedding

The Rev. and Mrs. S. Oliver Pouncey of Goldsboro, N. C. annouuce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marie Antoinette Pouncey to James Earl House, son of Mrs. Cleopatra P. House and the late E. A. House of Goldsboro.

Miss Pouncey is a senior home economics major at Bennett College Mr. House graduated from Howard University's School of Engineering, and is now associated with McDonnell Aircraft Corp. in St. Louis, Mo.

The wedding will take place in June.

State's Leader Asserts:

War On Poverty Crucial For U.S.

BY DOROTHY BENJAMIN
Record Staff Writer

The United States for the first time in its history has started a war—probably the most important war in its history, the coordinator of the Economic Opportunity Program for North Carolina said here today.

Dr. James L. White of Raleigh told the Bennett College Homemaking Institute audience that while this country has been engaged in war before it never started one but the war on poverty is a real war and it must be won.

"We have to win this war. Not to win it or to win it only half-heartedly would lay us open to the entire world as the failure of the greatest experience in democracy the world has ever known," he said.

DR. WHITE said there are two reasons why everyone ought to be involved in this war. The first is humanitarian, which he feels is the most important, and the second is economic. "There are millions of people in this country who are not contributing to the economy. They don't pay taxes because they don't earn a decent living in order to pay taxes," he said.

He cited dialogue or communication as one of the most important weapons for wining the war on poverty for from "dialogue, discussion and dissent comes decision."

"One of the major criticisms of foreign aid is the lack of information and involvement of the recipients. It is the same with home aid. We must involve the 'recipients' at the planning stage, the implementing stages in education, in activities to help them change their attitudes about themselves and their ability to raise their level of skills and competence," he said.

Dr. White believes that a big mistake has been made in this country in saying to the poor, "Here is a good plan. It's just what you need. Take it," instead of involving the poor themselves in the plans.

"THE PROBLEMS of poverty are both rural and urban but the urban are more visible and disturb us most. However, the urban problems often are caused by the rural problems when people move from the farms because they offer no opportunities. There are certain characteristics or contributing factors of poverty which we cannot escape or ignore—unemployment, lack of education, poor housing," he said.

Discussing the link between the civil rights movement and the war on poverty, Dr. White said, "Americans should have the reputation of facilitating voter registration and voter privileges rather than any area being involved in keeping people from voting."

But, he said, the restoration of rights to all people is only the beginning of the war on poverty. "the opening shot," because it is no good to eliminate discrimination in employment if it is not eliminated in education, housing and all other areas of life.

"The war on poverty is a hometown fight, a hometown war. It must be waged with a community awareness of the problems. There is help from Washington but only if the community wants it and if the community shows concern for the problems. It cannot be won entirely in Washington and it is not desirable that it be won entirely in Washington.

"We won't ever eliminate poverty but we have the best opportunity we've ever had in the United States to eliminate some of the barriers and break the cycle of poverty," Dr. White said.

Nigerian experiences discussed at Bennett

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Some of her experiences at the University of Nigeria where she spent a year, were related by Mrs. Lydia J. Rogers, of the class of 1936, at the alumnae vesper service at Bennett College Sunday. Some 50 graduates from the Greensboro area were special guests.

Mrs. Rogers is a member of the home economics faculty at Howard University, Washington, D.C.

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Mrs. Beatrice Stanley, a psychology major is among 1,242 college seniors named on the honorable mention list of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation this week.

Gov. Wallace Is Termed 'Uneconomical As Dodo'

BY DOROTHY BENJAMIN
Record Staff Writer

"In a world changing before our eyes we can't afford the Sheriffs Clark, Rainey or Price or the Governor Wallaces. They are as uneconomical as the dodo and they don't have the sentimental charm which might prompt us to keep them like period pieces," Henrietta Buckmaster, author, historian and lecturer, said at Bennett College today.

Miss Buckmaster, whose major interest is in the reconstruction period following the Civil War, is the author of "Let My People Go," a history of the anti-slavery movement, and her latest work, "Freedom Bound," will be published this week by McMillan Co.

She deplored the virtual "blackout" about the reconstruction period in American writings and the distortions and lies which have been written about the period.

"THESE LIES cripple both the liar and the persons who hear them. There has been a complete falsification of American history. School children, both Negro and white, have not been made aware of or allowed to explore this facet of American life. It's like writing [illegible] of the world and leaving out the history of the United States," Miss Buckmaster said and accused Historian Arnold Toynbee of showing "abysmal stupidity" in his statement that the Negro has made no contribution to American life.

She said that many of the omissions or changes made in writing about slavery and the reconstruction era were due to the white man's need to justify these conditions.

"When modern young Negroes are unhappy at any reference to slavery I think they do themselves a disservice. It seems to me much wiser to examine carefully how the Negro has been imposed upon — forced to agree with the whole tribe of mythmakers who worked hard to impose the notion that involuntary servitude carried with it the concommitant of natural inferiority," she said.

Miss Buckmaster discussed the American Negro's almost constant cry for education and cited the 500,000 former slaves who flooded into a Union army camp in Mississippi during the civil war and within hours were begging to be taught to read and write.

She described the reconstruction period as a lost period in American history but also a revolutionary period when Negroes serving in the legislatures advocated free, non-segregated schools and there was the first concern for the poor, the aged, the insane in this country.

But the brief "revolution" ended, she said, because of a political sellout . . . "I believe the planters were more afraid of the good Negro legislators than of the bad ones.

"For seven short years the majority of Americans acted on the theory that all men were equal but by 1880 the blackout was almost complete . . . History began to be rewritten and history confirmed southern claims that the Negro never had been nor could be a good citizen. The facts had to be demolished or taken off the statute books and both were done."

At the beginning of the 20th century when history was being rewritten, Miss Buckmaster said, a Negro was being lynched every three days in the south; no attempts were made to refute the claims of racist historians and only a few Negro writers tried to breakthrough . . . "Glamourization of the slavery days was going at a full Confederate gallop."

SHE SAID that last summer the Freedom Schools in the south had trouble because of the belief that they were starting from scratch. Many of those involved did not know the Negro had voted and had served in the legislatures in the past.

Page 1—Section B

(Record staff photo.)

DR. ANNA CHANDAPILLAI TEACHES HERE
Indian Professor Wears Bright Green Sari

Author Says Story Of Negro Omitted

"The true story of the Negro's contribution to American life has been kept out of most history books," Miss Henrietta Buckmaster, of New York City, autor-lecturer and social historian, declared in an address at Bennett College on Monday.

Referring to the present re-examination of school textbooks, the author stated that American school children have not been made aware of the Negro facet of American life. "It were as if someone were writing the history of the world and left out the United States," she said.

Saturday, March 13, 1965

'Girls Don't Like Math'

Indian Native Teaches Here

BY DOROTHY BENJAMIN
Record Staff Writer

Girls are much the same everywhere and most of them don't like math, an Indian exchange teacher in mathematics at Bennett College said today.

Dr. Anna Chandapillai, who has always like math since her childhood, sometimes wishes she had taken something else.

"Women do not usually like math. Some of the girls take it because they have to, but some are a pleasure to teach," said the attractive native of South India who teaches at Isabella Thoburn College for women at Lucknow.

Dr. Chandapillai is at Bennett through the U.S.-India Women's College Exchange Program, a new program this year which provides exchanges of college faculty members between the two countries. She applied and was given Bennett as her teaching assignment.

"Girls are the same everywhere. In India the customs are different and the girls are more restricted but the restrictions are changing gradually," she said.

HER COLLEGE in India, a Methodist missionary school, is much like Bennett but "smaller and simpler." She was in this country before, working for her PhD at the University of Wisconsin, but this is her first visit to the southern United States.

When she learned her assignment was to be in the south Dr. Chandapillai did not know "how far south North Carolina was" and wasn't too sure she wanted to come but "I'm glad I did."

Indians get a lot of information about racial troubles in the United States but Dr. Chandapillai said she has not been aware of any racial problems since she came to Greensboro.

She has been interested in the Economic Opportunity Program now getting under way here and said India has a similar program but it is not as extensive as the American program.

"The government loans money to middle class families to buy homes and they pay it back in installments. Poverty is a great problem and in the 17 years of her independence the government has attempted to get the people educated. Education plays a major roll and education is expanding although there is not yet enough. We have free public education up to about 11 years now and hope to make it 14 years soon. About 40 per cent of our population are the school-going age," Dr. Chandapillai said.

IN INDIA the population is increasing since the death rate is going down while the birth rate remains the same.

Dr. Chandapillai, whose two sisters are gynecologists, said the birth control programs in India are working but there is the problem of illiteracy to overcome and "it will take time." Eradication of diseases such as malaria is progressing but the city slums and the villages still have some troubles.

The Indian visitor has had little opportunity to visit in the area since coming to Greensboro. She has spoken to some church groups, visited A&T College and this week took a tour of the redevolpment areas as part of the Bennett Homemaking Institute.

On her way home next summer she may visit other areas of the United States or stop off for a while in Europe.

Meanwhile, at Bennett she teaches two freshman math courses, and courses in trigonometry, advanced calculus and theory of equations.

Returning to the similarity of Indian and American girls, Dr. Chandapillai said, "Girls in both places play around until exam time. Then they cram. They're not always as serious as they might be."

Bennett Holds Senior Day

"Without a sense of self there can be no sense of community," President Willa B. Player told members of Bennett College's 1965 class at Senior Day exercises Friday.

Academic caps and gowns were bestowed on the seniors by their sophomore sisters and will be worn on formal occasions and at Sunday vespers through commencement day.

Dean Chauncey G. Winston, in presenting the class to Dr. Player, listed eight seniors who are leading in scholarship. Top scholar is Mrs. Beatrice P. Stanley, of Greensboro, whose 2.66 average out of a possible 3, will, if maintained, entitle her to be graduated with high honors.

Following the exercises in Pfeiffer Chapel, the seniors planted and dedicated a magnolia tree honoring Mrs. Arline Pulverman, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

LIGHTS OUT

Electric power in the Bennett College area failed about 6:15 p.m. Friday soon after college seniors were seated for their annual banquet. According to Duke Power spokesmen, the failure was due to circuit trouble. Lights came back on about 9 p.m. Meanwhile, the banquet proceeded by candlelight, and candles also were used in the dormitories.

BENNETT COLLEGE

Dr. Ernest T. S. Walton, head of the department of physics at Trinity College, the University of Dublin, and winner of the Nobel Prize in physics in 1951, will speak at the Bennett College worship service, Sunday, March 28, at 11 a.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

THERE'S SOMETHING ABOUT A UNIFORM—As the admiring glances bestowed on Charles McAdoo of the ROTC, A & T College, during college party at Bennett College, last week, show. Count Basie provided the music for dancing. From left to right are Miss Brenda Stallworth of Brewton, Ala., Miss Rosalind McAdoo of High Point, N.C., Miss Ellen Alexander of Hartford, Conn., and Miss Judith Rann of New Orleans, La.

Bennett holds 39th Homemaking meet

GREENSBORO, N.C. — National, state and local implications of the Economic Opportunity Act were described, analyzed and discussed during the 39th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College last week.

Theme of the institute was "Economic Stability and the American Family," and the opening speaker on Monday was Miss Fay Bennett, of New York City, executive secretary of the National Advisory Committee on Farm Labor, whose topic was "National Implications of the Economic Opportunity Program."

* * *

"ROUGHLY, one of every five persons in the United States," she said, "lives in poverty, with many of them in the rural areas and the largest concentration in the South. All of society has a stake in the war on poverty, which is really composed of hundreds of battles spread over many communities.

"Great societies in the past have thrived and then gone down to oblivion, so it cannot be taken for granted that our Great American Society will continue unless we do something about this problem."

* * *

SPEAKER AT the Wednesday session was Paul Gezon, executive director of the Greensboro Community Council, who addressed himself to local implications of the program.

Stating that 20 per cent of the families of Guilford County (in which Greensboro is located) exist on incomes less than $3,000, he said that "the people who make the decisions downtown" have not always thought of the "whole community" when seeking solutions.

* * *

"THE ONLY THING that some of these people have is their pride," he declared," and we have to build on that. We will have to develop techniques for involving the little people in our programs and stop kidding ourselves into blaming the health and welfare departments for the existence of poverty."

Mr. Gezon said further that the local community is not "cranking up fast enough" to meet the influx of persons from the rural sections of the state who are moving into the city. The old business-as-usual attitude, he said, will not help these people to solve their problems.

"They are not concerned about whether or not we add another health nurse or another case worker, or whether college tuition is being raised. They want a solution to their problem of how to get rid of the roaches that infest their dwellings. We must learn to start where the people are and that is what this anti-poverty program will attempt to do."

* * *

ON TUESDAY and Thursday the students made field trips to observe neighborhood standards, neighborhoods in transition, re-developed neighborhoods and neighborhoods in the planning stages.

Speaker at the Friday session was Dr. James L. White, of Raleigh, co-ordinator for the Economic Opportunity Program for the state. After each address, the audience divided into three seminar-discussion groups at which representatives of local agencies described their proposals for or present participation in the program.

Concluding session was on Sunday at which time, Mrs. L. G. Streat, institute chairman, summarized the week's activities, after which Bishop James S. Thomas, of the Iowa Area of the Methodist Church, spoke.

AT COLLEGE PARTY —Full dress uniform of Charles McAdoo, of the ROTC at A&T College, seems to be center of attention during intermission at the annual College Party at Bennett College last week, for which Count Basie and his orchestra provided the music. Left to right, Miss Brenda Stallworth, of Brewton, Ala.; Misses Rosalind McAdoo, of High Point; Ellen Alexander, of Hartford, Conn., and Judith Rann, of New Orleans, La.

Sympathy March — By Bennett Group Scheduled Sunday

A sympathy march for Negroes of Selma, Ala., will be staged Sunday, beginning at 10 a.m., by students at Bennett College.

The march is scheduled to begin on the college campus and from there proceed in double file to the Jefferson Square, thence to Washington Street and the parking lot adjacent to the Internal Revenue Service (a federal) Building.

Parade permit was issued yesterday by City Manager George H. Aull Jr.

The permit application noted that around 250 college girls and some students from other schools will participate in a "quiet and orderly demonstration." Leaders emphasized that the demonstration is student-inspired and has no connection with the organized group such as NAACP and CORE.

The last mass demonstration in downtown Greensboro was on June 6, 1963, although in recent days there has been some racially-based picketing around the Post Office Building on two occasions, and a march of students to the library on a non-racial subject.

BENNETT SPEAKER
Dr. Ernest T. S. Walton, head of the department of physics at Trinity College, the University of Dublin, and winner of the Nobel Prize in Physics in 1951, will speak at the worship service at Bennett College Sunday at 11 a.m. On Monday and Tuesday, he will lecture to and hold discussions with science majors.

New Officers Are Elected At Bennett

Results of student elections at Bennett College, announced on Monday, show that Mittie White, of Newark, N.J., a rising senior, will be president of the Student Senate for the 1965-66 academic year. Elected to serve with her were:

Sandra Satterwhite, of Montclair, N.J., vice president; Tagiilima Muasau, of American Samoa, secretary; Amanda Houston, of Kinston, treasurer, and Madaline Harris, of Sanford, parliamentarian.

Thelma Morgan, of Sierra Leone, W. Africa, was re-elected student representative to the central Administrative Committee, and Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S.C., was named National Student Association co-ordinator.

This year's May Queen will be Edna Smith, of Hampton, Va.

Student Union Officers

President of the David D. Jones Student Union will be Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington. In her cabinet will be Brenda Walker, of Harrisburg, Pa., vice president; Marilyn Livisay, of Princeton, W.Va., secretary; Roma Best, of Greensboro, treasurer, and Patricia Faison, of New Bern, student-at-large.

In other contests, the following were declared winners:

Kay Thompson, of New Rochelle, N.Y., chairman of the Inter-Dormitory Council; Regina Williams, of Camden, N.J., co-chairman, and Sandra Huggins, of Lima, Ohio, secretary-treasurer; Bernadine Harris, of Roanoke, Va., chairman of the Recreational Council; Dianne Wyche, of Charlotte, co-chairman; Dianne West, of Natchez, Miss., secretary-treasurer, and Geraldine Kearney, of Philadelphia, Pa., publicity chairman;

Sharyn Marshall, of Atlantic City, N.J., president of the Pre-Alumnae Association; Charlotte Tenbrook, of Newport News, Va., vice president, and Jamelle Rackley, of Orangeburg, S.C., secretary-treasurer;

Darilyn Wilds, of Georgetown, S.C., and Lily So, of Indonesia, chairman and co-chairman of the mid-week vesper committee, and Joanne Schenck, of Waco, superintendent of the Sunday School.

Sympathy March Planned

Greensboro is scheduled Sunday morning to have its first racial demonstration march on midtown in nearly two years when students from Bennett College are expected to stage a sympathy observance for Negroes of Selma, Ala.

According to an application for a parade permit filed with the city government, about 250 college girls and some students from other schools will participate in a "quiet and orderly demonstration" beginning at 10 a.m.

The marchers will assemble on the Bennett campus and from there walk by twos west on Market Street and turn south on Elm at Jefferson Square.

They will then turn west on Washington and walk to the Federal Internal Revenue Building on Ashe Street where several presentations relative to racial strife in Selma will be made in the parking lot.

The students are then expected to retrace their route to the campus.

Leaders emphasized that the demonstration is student-inspired and has no connection with organized groups such as the NAACP or CORE.

The last mass demonstration in downtown Greensboro was on June 6, 1963.

MAN IN UNIFORM—The full dress uniform of Charles McAdoo of the ROTC at A&T College seems to the the center of attention during the intermission at annual college party at Bennett College, recently, for which Count Basie and his orchestra provided the rhythms. Left to right: Misses Brenda Stallworth, Brewton, Ala.; Rosalind McAdoo, High Point, N.C.; Ellen Alexander, Hartford, Conn., and Judith Rann, New Orleans, La.

VIEWS OF UNIVERSE

The materialistic and Christian views of the universe were discussed by Dr. Ernest T. S. Walton, University of Dublin physicist and Nobel prize winner, in his sermon, "Man's Place in God's World," at the Sunday worship service at Bennett College.

'We need to develop concern for people'

GREENSBORO, N.C. "Ours has become an age of much fear and little faith," Dr. James A. Colston, president of Knoxville (Tenn.) College, declared in his vesper message at Bennett College on Sunday.

"We are long on knowledge but short on wisdom and Christian faith," he said, "and we need to develop a concern for people all over the world.

STANLEY AT BENNETT

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The Rev. A. Knighton Stanley, instructor in religion and social science at Bennet College, will speak at the college vesper service on Sunday, April 4, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Mrs. D. D. Jones Honored Here

Mrs. David D. Jones, widow of the longtime president of Bennett College, was honored Sunday at a reception given by the Greensboro Chapter of the college's Alumnae Association.

Mrs. Jones, who came to Bennet College in 1926 with her husband, retired last fall as director of admissions at the college. Dr. Jones was president of the college for nearly 30 years, and was president emeritus from 1955 until his death.

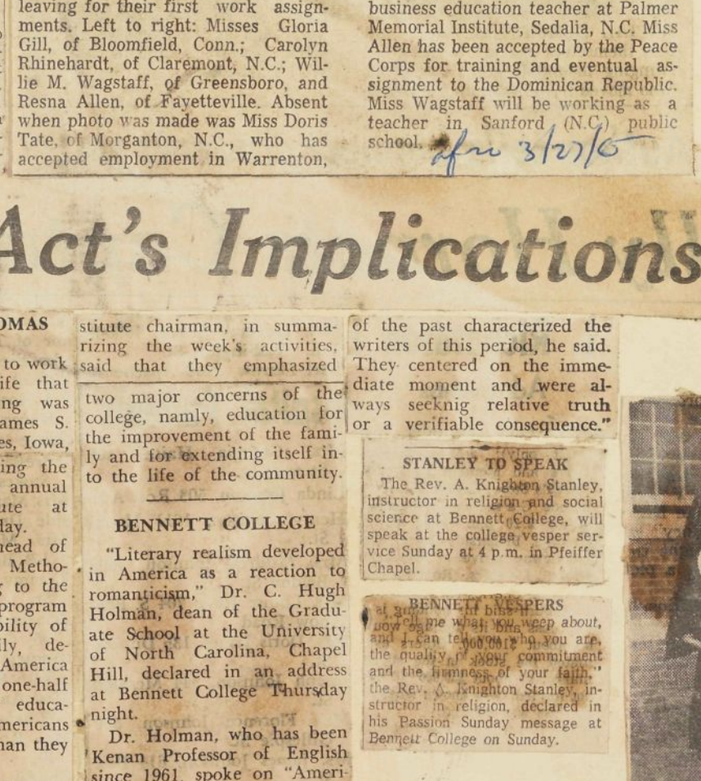

Mrs. Madelaine B. Best, president of the local alumnae chapter, presided at the reception in the Student Union. Mrs. Geraldine Totten brought greetings from the association's membership.

A tabletop size replica of Bennett College's bell and tower was presented Mrs. Jones by Mrs. Nell A. Coley. The replica bears the inscription "because you constantly cared," and a companion scroll listed the names of contributing alumnae and was inscribed "ever dear to us thou art" from the college's song.

Other alumnae officers who participated in the reception included Lola A. McAdoo, first vice president; Lillian W. Snipes, second vice president; Cecilia Taylor, secretary; Rosa Hooker, corresponding secretary; and Ella Mae Smith, treasurer.

MENDENHALL HERE

President Thomas C. Mendenhall of Smith College, Northampton, Mass., will be on the Bennett College campus Thursday morning to interview a group of seniors who have been nominated for the Smith College Fellowship for graduate study in the 1965-66 academic year.

FOUR OF FIVE BENNETT College seniors who completed requirements for graduation at the close of the first semester recently are shown before leaving for their first work assignments. Left to right: Misses Gloria Gill, of Bloomfield, Conn.; Carolyn Rhinehardt, of Claremont, N.C.; Willie M. Wagstaff, of Greensboro, and Resna Allen, of Fayetteville. Absent when photo was made was Miss Doris Tate, of Morganton, N.C., who has accepted employment in Warrenton, Va. Miss Gill has been employed by research statistician at Hartford, Conn. the Conn. Welfare Department as a and Miss Rhinehardt is a librarian-business education teacher at Palmer Memorial Institute, Sedalia, N.C. Miss Allen has been accepted by the Peace Corps for training and eventual assignment to the Dominican Republic. Miss Wagstaff will be working as a teacher in Sanford (N.C.) public school.

THE CAROLINIAN
RALEIGH, N.C., SATURDAY, MARCH 20, 1965

Economic Opportunity Act's Implications Described

39th Annual Homemaking Institute At Bennett College Hears Experts

GREENSBORO—National, State and local implications of the Economic Opportunity Act were described, analyzed and discussed during the 39th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College last week.

Theme of the institute was "Economics Stability and the American Family," and the opening speaker on Monday was Miss Fay Bennett, of New York City, executive secretary of the National Advisory Committee on Farm Labor, whose topic was "National Implications of the Economic Opportunity Program."

"Roughly, one of every five persons in the United States," she said, "lives in poverty, with many of them in the rural areas and the largest concentration in the South. All of society has a stake in the war on poverty, which is really composed of hundreds of battles spread over many communities.

"Great societies in the past have thrived and then gone down to oblivion, so it cannot be taken for granted that our Great American Society will continue unless we do something about this problem."

Speaker at the Wednesday session was Paul Gezon, executive director of the Greensboro Community Council, who addressed himself to local implications of the program.

Stating that 20 per cent of the families of Guilford County (in which Greensboro is located) exist on incomes less than $3,000, he said "the people who make the decisions downtown" have not always thought of the "whole community" when seeking solutions.

"The only thing that some of these people have is their pride," he declared," and we have to build on that. We will have to develop techniques for involving the little people in our programs and stop kidding ourselves into blaming the health and welfare departments for the existence of poverty."

Mr. Gezon said further that the local community is not "cranking up fast enough" to meet the influx of persons from the rural sections of the state who are moving into the city. The old business-as-usual attitude, he said, will not help these people to solve their problems.

"They are not concerned about whether or not we add another health nurse or another case worker, or whether college tuition is being raised. They want a solution to their problem of how to get rid of the roaches that infest their dwellings. We must learn to start where the people are and that is what this anti - poverty program will attempt to do."

On Tuesday and Thursday the students made field trips to observe neighborhood standards, neighborhoods in transition, re-developed neighborhoods and neighborhoods in the planning stages.

Speaker at the Friday session was Dr. James L. White, of Raleigh, co-ordinator for the Economic Opportunity Program for the State. After each address, the audience divided into three seminar - discussion groups at which representatives of local agencies described their proposals for or present participation in the program.

Concluding session was on Sunday at which time, Mrs. L. G. Streat, institute chairman, summarized the week's activities, after which Bishop James S. Thomas, of the Iowa Area of the Methodist Church, spoke.

BISHOP J. S. THOMAS SPEAKS

A plea for everyone to work for the abundant life that Christ came to bring was voiced by Bishop James S. Thomas, of Des Moines, Iowa, in his address marking the close of the 39th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College Sunday.

Bishop Thomas, head of the Iowa Area of the Methodist Church, referring to the week-long institute program dealing with the stability of the American family, deplored the fact that America spends only one and one-half cents per capita for education and that Americans spend more for beer than they do for books.

"The American family," he said, "is the place where each person can rise to the highest level of identity. It has the responsibility of developing the skills and abilities that will make it an asset to society, rather than a liability. It is also the place for the nurture of great ideals out of which great persons may be produced."

Mrs. Louise G. Streat, institute chairman, in summarizing the week's activities, said that they emphasized two major concerns of the college, namly, education for the improvement of the family and for extending itself into the life of the community.

BENNETT COLLEGE

"Literary realism developed in America as a reaction to romanticism," Dr. C. Hugh Holman, dean of the Graduate School at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, declared in an address at Bennett College Thursday night.

Dr. Holman, who has been Kenan Professor of English since 1961, spoke on "American Literary Realism: An Answer to the Democratic Problem," and appeared under the auspices of the Piedmont University Center's visiting scholars program.

Referring to realism in the 19th century, Dr. Holman described this writing as not only a literary method but a philosophical attitude. "An absence of any strong sense of the past characterized the writers of this period, he said. They centered on the immediate moment and were always secknig relative truth or a verifiable consequence."

STANLEY TO SPEAK

The Rev. A. Knighton Stanley, instructor in religion and social science at Bennett College, will speak at the college vesper service Sunday at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

BENNETT VESPERS

"... me what you weep about, and I can tell you who you are, the quality of your commitment and the firmness of your faith," the Rev. A. Knighton Stanley, instructor in religion, declared in his Passion Sunday message at Bennett College on Sunday.

CO-ED PLANTS TREE
. . . Frances Campbell

Iden was a student at Detroit's Cass Technical High School when the likes of Donald Byrd, Tommy Flanagan, Julius Watkins and other jazz stars were turning onto the sounds. The class of 1965 at Bennett College held an interesting ceremony honoring Mrs. Arline Pulverman of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. A magnolia tree was planted in her name.

SCHOLARSHIP SCREENING

news 3/26/65

Smith College Head Is Bennett Visitor

BY JOSEPH KNOX
Greensboro Daily News Staff Writer

Thomas C. Mendenhall, president of Smith College in Northampton, Mass., was in Greensboro briefly Thursday for a personal visit with eight seniors at Bennett College who have expressed interest in a graduate fellowship at Smith.

The fellowship was established last year by trustees at Smith for a girl "who might profit from a year's graduate study on our campus before embarking on a career," Mendenhall explained.

A similar fellowship is available to a senior student at Spelman College in Atlanta, he said.

Touring South

Mendenhall is presently on a tour of the South to visit Smith alumnae groups. He met with one of these at noon Thursday in Chapel Hill's Carolina Inn.

On the way he stopped in Greensboro for his first look at the Bennett campus, and to screen rather than pass final judgment on which girl will be selected.

"You see, I'm merely the president of Smith," he explained.

"Though it's considered old fashioned nowadays to put much store in interviews, we're old fashioned enough to believe that you learn something from an interview, however hasty.

"Certainly it would help the faculty committee up at Smith if someone could give them an idea of the applicants, having sized them up a bit, given an estimate of their intentions and purposes, and perhaps suggested how much each would get out of the fellowship.

"But I won't do the selecting. My task here was only screening."

Four graduates of Bennett are currently scholarship students at Smith.

Mendenhall hesitated to comment on the relative merits of education in the South as against that offered by northern schools. The question, he said, was "too broad and too loaded. It would ill befit a visitor to the South from the North, one whose experience with Southern education is very limited, to hazard a guess on this . . .

Variety Noted

"In American education, we have an infinite variety of institutions at every level in every part of the country. Some are more demanding than others. Some set very high sights for themselves and their students, and some set their sights lower. This goes all the way from elementary schools up to colleges."

Mendenhall said he felt "very strongly" about the desirability of more students from the South going North to college. "And I would hope these students, as they come North, would encourage our girls to come South.

"I think this is terribly important."

Before he was named president of Smith, Mendenhall was a member of the Yale University faculty. He is regarded an outstanding authority on women's education.

Greensboro Students Hear Holman

GREENSBORO — Literary realism developed in America as a reaction to romanticism," Dr. C. Hugh Holman, dean of the Graduate School at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, declared in an address at Bennett College Thursday night.

Dr. Holman, who has been Kenan Professor of English since 1961, spoke on "American Literary Realism: An Answer to the Democratic Problem," and appeared under the auspices of the Piedmont University Center's visiting scholars program.

Referring to realism in the 19th century, Dr. Holman described this writing as not only a literary method but a philosophical attitude. "An absence of any strong sense of the past characterized the writers of this period," he said. "They centered on the immediate moment and were always seeking relative truth or a veritfiable consequence."

'The Red Shoes' Slated At Bennett

The Theater Guild of Bennett College will present performances of "The Red Shoes" at 8 p.m. Friday and at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. Saturday in the college's Little Theater. The play, based on a fairy tale by Hans Christian Anderson, is developed through mime and dance.

Miss Claudia Finger will direct a cast which includes Cynthia Raine, Ana Turner, Lynn Walker, George McCain Jr. and Kenneth Wyrtch. Mittie White is narrator. Ballet dancers are Joyce Walker, Patricia Boggs and Elizabeth Hansberry.

Bishop James S. Thomas Makes Plea At Bennett

GREENSBORO — A plea for everyone to work for the abundant life that Christ came to bring was voiced by Bishop James S. Thomas, of Des Moines, Iowa, in his address marking the close of the 39th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College Sunday.

Bishop Thomas, head of the Iowa Area of the Methodist Church, referring to the week-long institute program dealing with the stability of the American family, deplored the fact that America spends only one and one-half cents per capita for education and that Americans spend more for beer than they do for books.

"The American family," he said, "is the place where each person can rise to the highest level of identity. It has the responsibility of developing the skill and abilities that will make it an asset to society, rather than a liability. It is also the place for tthe nurture of great ideals out of which great persons may be produced."

Mrs. Louise G. Streat, institute chairman, in summarizing the week's activities, said that they emphasized two major concerns of the college, namely, education for the improvement of the family and for extending itself into the life of the community.

BENNETT NEWS

The Bennett College Choir, directed by Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, will appear in concert Monday, March 29 at 8 p.m. at Asbury Methodist Church in Washington, D. C. under the sponsorship of the Washington chapter of the Graduate Association.

BOMB HOAX

Police Tuesday checked out a bomb threat telephoned to Bennett College about 4 p.m. Miss Leona Leach told investigators a male voice said simply "there is a bomb in your school." There wasn't.

afro 4/3/65

TREE PLANTING — Miss Frances Campbell, of Montgomery, Ala., tosses earth on magnolia tree planted by the 1965 class at Bennett College honoring Mrs. Arline Pulverman, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., as a part of annual Senior Day program at the Greensboro, N.C., instruction last week.

New Jersey senior named Student Senate president

afro 4/3/65

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Results of student elections at Bennett College, announced this week show that Miss Mittie White, of Newark, N.J., a senir, will be president of the Student Senate for the 1965- 66 academic year.

A major in dietetics, Miss White won handily over Miss Andrea Mast, an English major, of Houston, Texas. Elected to serve with her were:

Misses Sandra Satterwhite, of Montclair, N.J., vice president; Tagiilima Musau, of American Samoa, secretary; Amanda Houston, of Kinston, treasurer, and Madaline Harris, of Sanford, parliamentarian. Miss Thelma Morgan, of Sierra Leone, W. Africa, was re - elected student representative to the Central Administrative Committee, and Miss Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S. C. was named National Student Association co-ordinator.

* * *

THIS YEAR'S May Queen will be Miss Edna Smith, of Hampton, Va., who defeated Miss Gloria Leevy of Columbia, S. C., after having won by a wide margin in the primaries. She will reign over the annual May Day festivities on May 1.

PRESIDENT of the David D. Jones Student Union will be Miss Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, D. C. In her cabinet will be Misses Brenda Walker, of Harrisburg, Pa., vice president; Marilyn Livisay, of Princeton, W. Va., secretary; Roma Best, of Greensboro, treasurer, and Patricia Faison, of New Bern, student - at - large.

In other contests, the following were declared winners; Kay Thompson, of New Rochelle, N.Y., chairman of the Inter-Dormitory Council; Regina Williams, of Camden, N.J., co - chairman, and Sandra Huggins, of Lima, Ohio, secretary - treasurer; Bernadine Harris, of Roanoke, Va., chairman of the Recreational Council; Dianne Wyche, of Charlotte, co - chairman; Dianne West, of Natchez, Miss., secretary-treasurer, and Geraldine Kearney, of Philadelphia, Pa., publicity chairman;

Sharyn Marshall, of Atlantic City, N.J., president of the Pre - Alumnae Association; Charlotte Tenbrook, of Newpor News, Va., vice-president, and Jamelle Rackley, of Orangeburg, S. C., secretary - treasurer;

Darilyn Wilds, of Georgetown, S. C., and Lily So., of chiarman of the mid - week Indonesia, chairman and co-vesper committee, and Joanne Schenck, of Aco, N. C., superintendent of the Sunday School.

THE CAROLINIAN
RALEIGH, N. C., SATURDAY, MARCH 27, 1965

"True Story Of Negro's Contribution To America" Told

Author-Lecturer Henrietta Buckmaster Discusses New Book, 'Freedom Bound'

GREENSBORO—"The true story of the Negro's contribution to American life has been kept out of most history books," Miss Henrietta Buckmaster, of New York City, author-lecturer and social historian, declared in an address at Bennett College on Monday.

Co-incidentally, Miss Buckmaster's latest volume, "Freedom Bound," made its first appearance in the bookstalls of the nation on the same day on which she began a tour of Southern college campuses with the local engagement.

Attacking the "myths of superior and inferior races," Miss Buckmaster said:

When the south assumed the responsibility for determining the position of the Negro in American society, it was forced to portray him as an inferior as a means of defending the institution of slavery. Those authors who did not malign the Negro, simply ignored him."

Referring to the present re-examination of school text books, the author stated that American school children have not been made aware of the Negro facet of American life. "It were as if someone were writing the history of the world and left out the United States," she said.

Told by a Southern editor that he felt that the cause of Negro civil rights proponents is being played up and that the "white side" is given disproportionate publicity, Miss Buckmaster replied that "the white position in the South has been presented for over 200 years" and that "this position brainwashed both whites and Negroes."

The writer, whose earlier work, "Let My People Go," was hailed as an important document in the social history of the Reconstruction Period, said that this period was also the revolutionary period of American history because "in this brief seven-year period, Negro legislators were the first to insist upon social reform laws."

Envisioning a "more honest future," Miss Buckmaster stated that this is not a WASP (White Anglo-Saxon Protestant) world, in spite of efforts to make it so. The Negro's contribution, to me, is one of the great imperatives of our times," she declared.

She referred to Alabama's Governor Wallace and to Sheriff Clark of Selma as being as "uneconomical as the dodo. They don't even have the sentimental charm which might prompt us to keep them as period pieces," she said.

True Story of the Negro's Contribution Told To Bennett College Students

"The true story of the Negro's contribution to American life has been kept out of most hsitory books," Miss Henrietta Buckmaster, of New York City, author-lecturer and social historian, declared in an address at Bennett College on Monday.

Co-incidentally, Miss Buckmaster's latest volume, "Freedom Bound," made its first appearance in the bookstalls of the nation on the same day on which she began a tour of Southern college campuses with the local engagement.

Attacking the "myths of superior and inferior races," Miss Buckmaster said:

"When the South assumed the responsibility for determining the position of the Negro in American society, it was forced to portray him as an inferior as a means of defending the institution of slavery. Those authors who did not malign the Negro, simply ignored him."

Referring to the present re-examination of school text books, the author stated that American school children have not been made aware of the Negro facet of American life. "It were as if someone were writing the history of the world and left out the United States," she said.

Told by a Southern editor that he felt that the cause of Negro civil rights proponents is being played up and that the "white side" is given disproportionate publicity, Miss Buckmaster replied that "the white position in the South has been presented for over 200 years" and that "this position brainwashed both whites and Negroes."

The writer, whose earlier work, "Let My People Go," was hailed as an important document in the social history of the Reconstruction Period, said that this period was also the revolutionary period of American history because "in this brief seven-year period, Negro legislators were the first to insist upon social reform laws."

Envisioning a "more honest future," Miss Buckmaster stated that this is not a WASP (White Anglo-Saxon Protestant) world, in spite of efforts to make it so. The Negro's contribution, to me, is one of the great imperatives of our times," she declared.

She referred to Alabama's Governor Wallace and to Sheriff Clark of Selma as being as "uneconomical as the dodo. They don't even have the sentimental charm which might prompt us to keep them as period pieces," she said.

BENNETT NEWS

Matinee and evening performances have been scheduled by the Ballet Chaffee Concert Group for its appearance in Bennett College's Little Theatre on Friday, March 26.

'Link selves to cause of dignity,' seniors told

afro 4/3/65

GREENSBORO, N.C. — "Without a sense of self there can be no sense of community" President Willa B. Player declared to members of Bennett College's 1965 class at Senior Day exercises on Friday.

Academic caps and gowns were bestowed on the seniors by their sophomore sisters will be worn on formal occasions and at Sunday vespers through commencement day.

Urging the seniors to continue striving for a sense of self, particularly in the spiritual sense, Dr. Player said: "To achieve a sense of self, we must be linked to a cause and we have such a cause today, the cause of human dignity and liberty. Our highest efforts must be placed upon human need.'

Dean Chauncey G. Winston, in presenting the class to Dr. Player, listed eight seniors who at this point are leading in scholarship. Top scholar is Mrs. Beatrice P. Stanley, of Greensboro, whose 2.66 average out of a possible 3 will, if maintained, entitle her to be graduated with high honors.

NEXT IN line are Misses Joyce Dunn, of Kinston, with an average of 2.59 and Patricia Corry, of Kings Mountain, with an average of 2.51. Other in order were Misses Wilma Giles, of Mount Olive, 2.50; Bertha Otey, of Greensboro, 2.45; Lillie Madison, of Brevard, 2.44; Mrs. Johnsie Dalton, of Greensboro, 2.43 and Miss Marie Nwanze, of Nigeria, 2.42.

Following the exercises in Pfeiffer Chapel, the seniors planted and dedicated a magnolia tree honoring Mrs. Arline Pulverman, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. Miss Frances Campbell, of Montgomery, Ala., gave the dedicatory statement.

TREE PLANTING — Miss Frances Campbell, of Montgomery, Ala., tosses earth on magnolia tree planted by the 1965 class at Bennett College honoring Mrs. Arline Pulverman, of Wildes-Barre, Pa., as a part of annual Senior Day program at the Greensboro institution last week. Carolinian 4/3/65

Tree Planted By 1965 Class

Miss Frances Campbell, of Montgomery, Ala., tosses earth on magnolia tree planted by the 1965 class at Bennett College honoring Mrs. Arline Pulverman, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., as a part of annual Senior Day program at the Greensboro, N. C., institution last week. afro 4/3/65

Campus Wide Elections Held At Bennett College

Afro 4/3/65

GREENSBORO, N. C.—Results of student elections at Bennett College, announced on Monday, show that Miss Mittie White, of Newark, N. J., a rising senior, will be president of the Student Senate for the 1965 - 66 academic year.

A major in dietetics, Miss White won handily over Miss Andrea Mast, an English major, of Houston, Texas. Elected to serve with her were:

MISSES SANDRA Satterwhite, of Montclair, N. J., vice president; Tagiilima Muasau, of American Samoa, secretary; Amanda Houston, of Kinston, treasurer, and Madaline Harris, of Sanford, parliamentarian. Miss Thelma Morgan, of Sierra Leone, W. Africa, was re-elected student representative to the Central Administrative Committee, and Miss Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S. C., was named National Student Association co - ordinator.

This year's May Queen will be Miss Edna Smith, of Hampton, Va., who defeated Miss Gloria Leevy of Columbia, S. C., after having won by a wide margin in the primaries. She will reign over the annual May Day festivities on May 1.

PRESIDENT of the David D. Jones Student Union will be Miss Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, D. C. In her cabinet will be Misses Brenda Walker, of Harrisburg, Pa., vice president; Marilyn Livisay, of Princeton, W. Va., secretary; Roma Best, of Greensboro, treasurer, and Patricia Faison, of New Bern, student - at - large.

In other contests, the following were declared winners; Kay Thompson, of New Rochelle, N. Y., chairman of the Inter-Dormitory Council; Regina Williams, of Camden, N. J., co - chairman, and Sandra Huggins, of Lima, Ohio, secretary - treasurer; Bernadine Harris, of Roanoke, Va., chairman of the Recreational Council; Dianne Wyche, of Charlotte, co -chairman; Dianne West, of Natchez, Miss., secretary - treasurer, and Geraldine Kearney, of Philadelphia, Pa., publicity chairman.

SHARYN MARSHALL, of Atlantic City, N. J., president of the Pre - Alumnae Association; Charlotte Tenbrook, of Newport News, Va., vice president, and Jamelle Rackley, of Orangeburg, S. C., secretary - treasurer;

Darilyn Wilds, of Georgetown, S. C., and Lily Sb, of Indonesia, chairman and co - chairman of the mid - week vesper committee, and Joanne Schenck, of Waco, N. C., superintendent of the Sunday School.

Bennett Seminar Method Proves Useful in India

The effects of principles used in the Saturday school (for secondary school pupils) at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., and in the college's developmental program are being felt in faraway India.

Teaches at Maharani College

Dr. Charles E. Garth, professor of sociology and director-on-leave of the Saturday school, is presently teaching at Maharani College, a government-supported liberal arts college for undergraduate women, at Bangalore. There are 1,800 students, 125 of whom live in the college dormitory.

Stating that his classes average 100 students each (compared to 15-20 at Bennett), Dr. Garth writes:

"Because a number of the students show indications of great potential and tremendous need for motivation, I have introduced seminars for small groups of students. These are based on the same principles as the developmental program and the Saturday school at Bennett, i.e., that many capable students simply have not had the opportunity or stimulus to realize their full potential."

Tests Determine Advances

Dr. Garth explained that in India, a student's advancement is determined solely by her performance on the state-administered public examinations, which are given at the end of each academic year. For this reason, he says, there is a great deal of apathy on the part of many students during most of the year until tests approach.

"Results, though modest," says Dr. Garth, "are extremely gratifying. Some students who are scheduled to be graduated in April, have given the first classroom reports in their academic careers. Several others are actually attempting small research projects."

Part of Cultural Exchange

The United States-India Women's College Exchange Program was established to promote international cooperation through cultural exchange.

'Coming to Bennett this year from Isabella Thoburn College at Lucknow, is Dr. Anna Chandapillia; who is teaching several courses in mathematics.

MISS MITTIE WHITE ELECTED PRESIDENT STUDENT SENATE AT BENNETT

Results of student elections at Bennett College, announced on Monday, show that Miss Mittie White, of Newark, N. J., a rising senior, will be president of the Student Senate for the 1965-66 academic year.

A major in dietetics, Miss White won handily over Miss Andrea Mast, an English major, of Houston, Texas. Elected to serve with her were:

Misses Sandra Satterwhite of Montclair, N. J., vice president; Tagiilima Muasau, of American Samoa, secretary; Amanda Houston, of Kinston, treasurer, and Madaline Harris, of Sanford, parliamentarian. Miss Thelma Morgan, of Eitrra Leone, W. Africa, was re-elecSted student representative to the Centra! Administrative Committee, and Miss Gretta Middleton, of Charleson, S. C., was named National Student Association co-ordinator.

This year's May Queen will be Miss Edna Smith, of Hampton, Va., who defeated Miss Gloria Leevy of Columbia, S.C., after having won in the primaries. She will reign over the annual May Day festivities on May 1.

President of the David D. Jones Student Union will be Miss Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, D. C. In her cabinet will be Misses Brenda Walker, of Harrisburg, Pa., vice president; Marilyn Livisay, of Princeton, W. Va., secretary; Roma Best, of Greensboro, treasurer; and Particia Faison, of New Bern, student-at-large.

In other contests, the following were declared winners:

Kay Thompson, of New Rochelle, N. Y., chairman of the Inter-Dormitory Coun Regina Williams of Camde, N. J., co-chairman, and Sandra Huggins, of Lima, Ohio, secretary - treasurer; Brenadine Haris, of Roanoke, Va., chairman of the Recreational Council; Dianne Wyche, of Charlotte, co-chairman; Dianne West, of Natchez, Miss., secretary-treasrer; and Geraldine Kearney, of Philadelphia, Pa., publicity chairman;

Sharyn Marshall, of Atlantic City, N. J., president of the Pre-Alumnae Association; Charlotte Tenbrook, of Newport News, a., vice president and Jamelle Rackley, of Orangeburg, S. C., secretary treasurer;

Darilyn Wilds, of George town, S. C., and Lily So, of Indonesia, chairman and co-chairman of the mid-week vesper committee, and Joanne Schenck, of Waco, N. C., superintendent of the Sunday School.

BENNETT COLLEGE

The Rev. Knighton Stanley, instructor in religion and social science at Bennett College will speak at the college vesper service on Sunday, April 4, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

TOP SCHOLAR ROBED — Mrs. Beatrice P. Stanley, of Greensboro, presently leading in scholarship, is robed by her sophomore sister, Miss Beatrice England of Cincinnati, Ohio, during Senior Day exercises at Bennett College last week.

At Bennett Senior Day:

"Without Sense Of Self, There Can Be No Sense Of Community:" Dr. Player

GREENSBORO — "Without a sense of self, there can be no sense of community," President Willa B. Player declared to members of Benett College's 1965 class at Senior Day Exercises on Friday.

Academic caps and gowns were bestowed on the seniors by their sophomore sisters and will be worn on formal occasions and at Sunday vespers through commencement day.

Urging the seniors to continue striving for a sense of self, particularly in the spiritual sense, Dr. Player said: "To achieve a sense of self, we must be linked to a cause and we have such a cause today, the cause of human dignity and liberty. Our highest efforts must be placed upon human need."

Dean Chauncey G. Winston, in presenting the class to Dr. Player, listed eight seniors who at this point are leading in scholarship. Top scholar is Mrs. Beatrice P. Stanley, of Greensboro, whose 2.66 average out of a possible 3 will, if maintained, entitle her to be graduated with high honors.

Next in line are Misses Joyce Dunn, of Kinston, with an average of 2.59 and Patricia Corry, of Kings Mountain, with an average of 2.51.

KOREAN LECTURER

Dr. Younghill Kang, Korean-born author and lecturer, will speak on "The Psychology of East and West" at Bennett College on Thursday at 2:25 p.m. in the Science Assembly. He is appearing under the auspices of the Piedmont University Center's Visiting Scholars Program. He will speak at Greensboro College at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

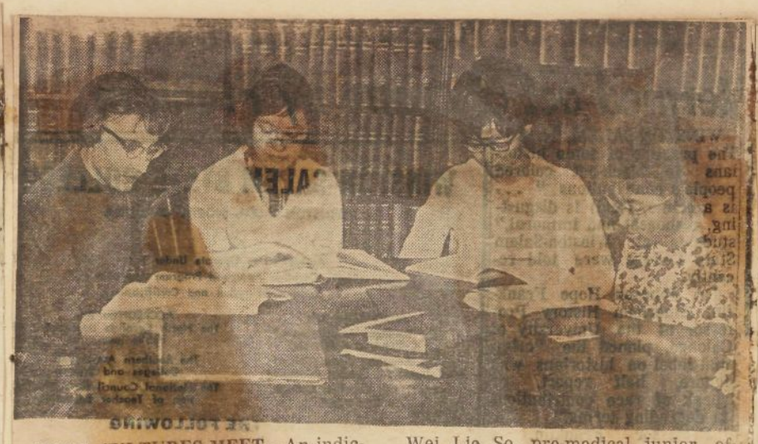

Cites Thrill of Having Overcome Great Odds

"No man has really lived who has not experienced the thrill of overcoming great odds," Dr. Rufus P. Perry of Charlotte declared in a recent morning worship service at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C.

Dr. Perry, who is president of Johnson C. Smith University and a research chemist, spoke on The Challenge of Change, pointing out that no man dies in the historical epoch into which he was born.

Urging the students to become involved in the life around them and warning them that they "must contribute or be annihilated," Dr. Perry said:

"This is an impatient and an expectant world. It no longer tolerates mediocrity. We stand at a place where we must choose between greatness and mediocrity. There is no other alternative, for we are obligated to take sides."

FOUR CULTURES MEET—An indication of the international character of the Bennett College student body is shown in this photograph taken in Holgate Library. Left to right: Misses Nancy Ball, a junior elementary education major, of Bryson City, N.C.; Wei Lie So, pre-medical junior, of Indonesia; Pamela Wimberly, sophomore, elementary education major, of Wilmington, Del., and Kate Aseme, a pre-medical sophomore, of Nigeria, West Africa.

Bennett Is Tight Ship Type

Bennett College attempts to achieve harmony and balance among the various aspects of campus experience —physical plant student body faculty academic program, community involvement and alumnae.

Plans call for building a new residence hall housing 140 women, a college infirmary, and a modern science hall.

The college's present emphasis is on democratic involvement, individualized instruction and small classes highlighting intellectual accomplishment and personal adequacy.

Because the college is related to a national church in its Methodist orientation, the student body has geographic diversity. Students are enrolled annually from 28 to 30 states, and as many as 11 foreign countries.

Another strength of the student body, like that of the board of trustees and the faculty is the international interracial and intercultural representation. Bennett was among the first colleges in the South to encourage the admission by scholarships of students from foreign countries.

• • •

THE COLLEGE has an exchange program with other colleges on an annual or semester basis. The informal flow of communications without regard to race, creed, or color provides a relaxed atmosphere for invaluable learnings in human relations.

The present position of strength which Bennett enjoys is supported by a number of influences outside its immediate program.

The campus is often selected as a site for meetings of national organizations such as Educational Associations, church conventions and institutes, leadership training schools, and workshops for foreign educators.

The college is a charter member of the Piedmont University Center. Incorporated, a group of 16 different types of liberal arts institutions representing men's colleges, women's colleges, co-educational, state-related, church - related Protestant Catholic colored and white—all located in the Piedmont area of North Carolina.

Inter-institutional cooperation comprises at present, a visiting scholars program, sponsored faculty research, cooperative artists and lecturers, library affairs, art exhibitions and cooperative professorships.

Mrs. Jones Honored At Greensboro

GREENSBORO— Mrs. David D. Jones, retired director of admissions at Bennett College, was honored by local alumnae of the institution at a reception Sunday night held in the David D. Jones Student Union, named for her late husband.

Mrs. Madeline Best, '31, president of the chapter, presided and Mrs. Nelle Coley, '31, presented to the honoree a replica of the Bennett bell tower and bell which is still used to summon students to classes and to chapel. The replica bears the inscription, "because you constantly cared," and a companion scroll, listing the names of the contributing members was inscribed "ever dear to us thou art," lines from the Alma Mater.

In her remarks of acceptance, Mrs. Jones recalled the early days of the institution and the determination of her husband that "the girls should have four glorious years at Bennett." In addition to the alumnae, a number of faculty and staff members and members of the local community were present.

KOREAN AUTHOR TO BENNETT

GREENSBORO — Dr. Younghill Kang, Korean-born author and lecturer, will speak on "The Psychology of East and West" at Bennett College on Thursday. His appearance is being sponsored by the Piedmont University Center's visiting scholars program.

Miss Mittie White To Head Bennett's Student Senate

GREENSBORO — Results of student elections at Bennett College, announced on Monday, show that Miss Mittie White, of Newark, N. J., a rising senior, will be president of the Student Senate for the 1965-66 academic year.

A major in dietetics, Miss White won handily over Miss Andrea Mast, an English major, of Houston, Texas. Elected to serve with her were:

Misses Sandra Satterwhite, of Montclair, N. J., vice-president; Tagulima Muasau, of American Samoa, secretary; Amanda Houston, of Kinston, treasurer, and Madaline Harris, of Sanford, parliamentarian. Miss Thelma Morgan, of Sierra Leone, W. Africa, was re-elected student representative to the Central Administrative Committe, and Miss Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S. C., was named National Student Association co-ordinator.

This year's May Queen will be Miss Edna Smith, of Hampton, Va., who defeated Miss Gloria Leevy of Columbia, S. C., after having won by a wide margin in the primaries. She will reign over the annual May Day festivities on May 1.

President of the David Student Union will be tine Mitchell, of Was In her cabinet will be da Walker, of Harrisburg.

Marilyn Livisay, of Princeton, W. Va., secretary; Roma Best, of Greensboro, treasurer, and Patricia Faison, of New Bern, student-at-large.

In other contests, the following were declared winners:

Misses Kay Thompson, of New Rochelle, N. Y., chairman of the Inter-Dormitory Council; Regina Williams, of Camden, N. J., co-chairman, and Sandra Huggins, of Lima, Ohio, secretary-treasurer; Bernadine Harris, of Roanoke, Va., chairman of the Recreational Council; Dianne Wyche, of Charlotte, co-chairman; Dianne West, of Natchez, Miss., secretary-treasurer, and Geraldine Kearney, of Philadelphia, Pa., publicity chairman.

Sharyn Marshall, of Atlantic City, N. J., president of the Pre-Alumnae Association; Charlotte Tenbrook, of Newport News, Va., vice president, and Jamelle Rackley, of Orangeburg, S. C., secretary-treasurer.

Darilyn Wilds, of Georgetwon, S. C., and Lily So, of Indonesia, chairman and co-chairman of the mid-week vesper committee, and Joanne Schenck, of Waco, superintendent of the Sunday School.

Mrs. David Jones Honored By Bennett Alumnae

GREENSBORO—Mrs. David D. Jones, retired director of admissions at Bennett College, was honored by local alumnae of the institution at a reception Sunday night held in the David D. Jones Student Union, named for her late husband.

Mrs. Madeline Best, '31, president of the chapter, presided and Mrs. Nelle Coley, '31, presented to the honoree a replica of the Bennett bell tower and bell which is still used to summon students to classes and to chapel. The replica bears the inscription "because you constantly cared," and a companion scroll, listing the names of the contributing members was inscribed "ever dear to us thou art," lines from the Alma Mater.

In her remarks of acceptance, Mrs. Jones recalled the early days of the institution and the determination of her husband that "the girls should have four glorious years at Bennett." In addition to the alumnae, a number of faculty and staff members and members of the local community were present.

Admires Gift From Alumnae

Mrs. David D. Jones, retired director of admissions at Bennett College, admires replica of Bennett College bell with Mrs. Nelle Coley, '31, who made presentation on behalf of the Greensboro chapter of the Bennett College Alumnae Association during the recent reception held at the Greensboro institution.

TOP SCHOLAR ROBED — Mrs. Beatrice P. Stanley, of Greensboro, N.C., presently leading in scholarship, is robed by her sophomore sister, Miss Beatrice England of Cincinnati, Ohio, during Senor Day exercises at Bennett College, recently.

"The Red Shoes" Staged At Bennett For Children

GREENSBORO—Three performances of "The Red Shoes" were presented by the Theatre Guild of Bennett College, the first on Friday night in the Little Theatre, with a matinee for children and a night performance on Saturday.

The Robin Short play, based upon the fairy tale by Hans Christian Andersen, was developed through mime and dance—ballet and folk.

Miss Claudia Finger directed a cast which included Misses Cynthia Raine, of Mobile, Ala.; Ana Turner, of Cincinnati, Ohio.; Lynn Walker, of Atlantic City, also George McCain, Jr., and Kenneth Wyrtch, of Greensboro in the male roles and Miss Mittie White, of Newark, N. J., as narrator.

Ballet dancers were Misses Joyce Walker, of Jamaica, N. Y., Patricia Boggs, of Washington, D. C., and Elizabeth Hansberry, of New Orleans, La.

NOBEL WINNER AT BENNETT

GREENSBORO—The materialistic and Christian views of the universe were discussed by Dr. [illegible] T. S. Walton, University of Dublin physicist and Nobel prize winner, in his sermon, "Man's Place in God's World" at the Sunday worship service at Bennett College.

PROFESSOR TO SPEAK

Dr. Stephen C. Cappannari, chairman of the Divison of Human behavior at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., will speak at 7 p.m. Monday in the Pfeiffer Science Hall assembly at Bennett College. Dr. Cappannari's topic, in a special lecture sponsored by the college's Division of Human Behavior, will be "Man and Culture." The public is invited to attend.

Vesper Speaker Is Announced

Dr. Elden T. Smith, president of Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio, will be the Bennett College vesper speaker Sunday at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

SMITH

A native of Elyria, Ohio, Dr. Smith is the first native Ohioan and the second alumnus to hold the post of president in the 120-year history of the university. Before his inauguration he served as vice president for academic affairs.

Ohio Educator Speak At Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C. —Dr. Elder T. Smith, president of Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, O., will speak at the 4 p. m. vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, April 25.

Head Elected By Language Association

A college professor from Jefferson City, Mo., Saturday was elected president of the College Language Association.

Dr. M. G. Hardiman, professor of foreign languages at Lincoln University, in that city, was installed as head of the organization at the closing session of the organization's 25th annual conference held at A&T and Bennett Colleges this week. He succeeds Dr. Darwin T. Turner, professor and chairman of the Department of English at A&T College who had held the post for two terms.

Other officers installed Saturday included Dr. C. H. Curl, Norfolk, Va., vice president; Mrs. Lucy C. Grigsby, Atlanta, Ga., secretary; John F. Matheus Frankfort, Ky., treasurer; and Dr. Hobart Jarrett, Brooklyn, N.Y., assistant treasurer. Dr. T. B. O'Daniel, Baltimore, Md., was re-elected as editor of the organization's official publication.

Two papers were heard at the final session. Frank Render, director of public relations at Virginia State College, Petersburg, Va., presented a paper, "Mass Communication," in which he pointed to the increasing importance of educational television and television in the field of education. Mrs. Nanina C. Alpa, Tuskegee Institute, spoke on "Listening Techniques."

Bennett College unit presents Andersen

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Three performances of "The Red Shoes" were presented by the Theatre Gcild of Bennett College, the first on Friday night in the Little Theatre, with a matinee for children and a night performance on Saturday.

The Robin Short play, based upon the fairy tale by Hans Christian Andersen, was developed through mime and dance - ballet and folk.

Miss Claudia Finger directed a cast which included Misses Cynthia Raine, of Mobile Ala.; Ana Turner, of Cincinnati, Ohio; Lynn Walker, of Atlantic City, also George McCain Jr., and Kenneth Wyrtch, of Greensboro in the male roles and Miss Mittie White, of Newark, N.J., as narrator. Ballet dancers were Misses Joyce Walker, of Jamaica, N.Y., Patricia Boggs, of Washington, D. C., and Elizabeth Hansberry, of New Orleans, La.

Bennett honors Mrs. D. Jones

Mrs. David D. Jones, retired director of admissions at Bennett College, was honored by local alumnae of the institution at a reception Sunday night held in the David named for her late husband.

Mrs. Madeline Best, '31, president of the chapter, presided and Mrs. Nelle Coley, '31, presented to the honoree a replica of the Bennett bell tower and bell which is still used to summon students to classes and to chapel.

• • •

THE REPLICA bears the inscription "because you constantly cared," and a companion scroll, listing the names of the contributing members was inscribed "ever dear to us thou art," lines from the Alma Mater.

In her remarks of acceptance, Mrs. Jones recalled the early days of the institution and the determination of her husband that "the girls should have four glorious years at Bennett." In addition to the alumnae, a number of faculty and staff members of the local community were present.

Bennett Alumnae Fete Mrs. Jones

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Mrs. David D. Jones, retired director of admissions at Bennett College, was honored by local alumnae of the institution at a reception Sunday night held in the David D. Jones Student Union, named for her late husband.

Mrs. Madeline Best, '31, president of the chapter, presided and Mrs. Nelle Coley, '31, presented to the honoree a replica of the Bennett bell tower and bell which is still used to summon students to classes and to chapel.

THE REPLICA bears the inscription "because you constantly cared," and a companion scroll, listing the names of the contributing members was inscribed "ever dear to us thou art," lines from the Alma Mater.

In her remarks of acceptance, Mrs. Jones recalled the early days of the institution and the determination of her husband that "the girls should have four glorious years at Bennett." In addition to the alumnae, a number of faculty and staff members and members of the local community were present.

HONORED—Mrs. David D. Jones, retired director of admissions at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., admires replica of Bennett College bell with Mrs. Nelle Coley, who made presentation on behalf of members of the Greensboro chapter of the Bennett College Alumnae Association during reception held recently at the College.

PEREGRINATORS — Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., left last week for a six-week trip to Japan and Korea, made possible by a fellowship and travel grant from the Carnegie Corporation of New York.

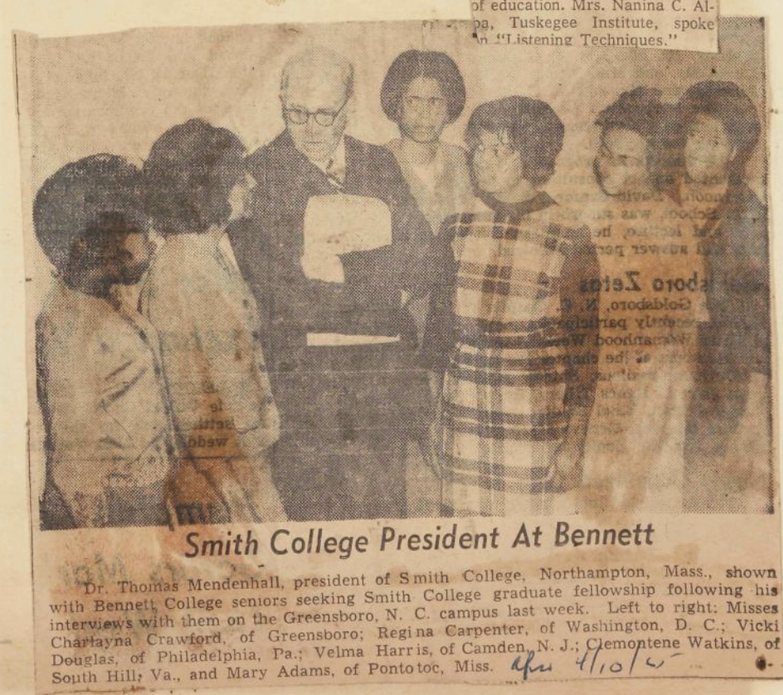

She will visit Tokyo, Nagoya, Hiroshima and Osaka in Japan, and a number of cities in Korea, including Seoul. She will return in time to make her interim report to the executive committee of the board of trustees, which will be meeting in New York City on May 20.

REV. STANLEY GIVES SERMON AT BENNETT

GREENSBORO, N.C. — "Tell me what you weep about, and I can tell you who you are; the quality of your commitment and the firmness of your faith," the Rev. A. Knighton Stanley, instructor in religion, declared in his Passion Sunday message at Bennett College on Sunday.

HONORS CONVOCATION—Miss Cherie Jones of Danville, Va., a freshman, receives a certificate of academic achievement from President Willa B. Player, during the spring honors convocation at Bennett College, recently. Sixty students were honored for superior work.

Smith College President At Bennett

Dr. Thomas Mendenhall, president of Smith College, Northampton, Mass., shown with Bennett College seniors seeking Smith College graduate fellowship following his interviews with them on the Greensboro, N. C. campus last week. Left to right: Misses Charlayna Crawford, of Greensboro; Regina Carpenter, of Washington, D. C.; Vicki Douglas, of Philadelphia, Pa.; Velma Harris, of Camden, N. J.; Clemontene Watkins, of South Hill, Va., and Mary Adams, of Pontotoc, Miss.

$475,000 New Dormitory To Be Erected On Bennett Campus

Construction of a three-story residence hall to house 140 Bennett College students is expected to begin before th end of the school year, President Willa B. Player announced this week.

The $475,000 structure will be a "twin" to Laura Cone Hall and will be erected between that two-story building and the David D. Jones Student Union Because of the topography of that area it is possible to add another floor.

"We need the new dormitory," Dr. Player explained, "in order to reduce the number of three-student rooms now in use and because we will not be able to use Kent Hall for a residence any more This is the oldest building on the campus and it will probably be renovated for use as teachers' offices, seminar rooms, and possibly some administrative offices."

Normal enrollment of 600 is expected to be boosted to 625 wih the occupancy of the new residence hall. A new $100,000 infirmary, previously announced, is expected to be ready for use in September.

President Player also announced that in addition to the annual summer institute in science and mathematics sponsored by the National Science Foundation, Bennett is planning two new institutes for this summer.

"We are planning a six-week humanities institute which will accommodate about 80 high school students and a Scholars Institute for a selected group of 50 high school seniors who plan to attend Bennett," she said.

This latter program will be geared to enable these students to enroll with advanced standing in their freshman year and possibly shorten their undergraduate work to 3 or 3½ years.

TREE PLANTING...Miss Frances Campbell, of Montgomery, Ala., tosses earth on magnolia tree planted by the 1965 class at Bennett College honoring Mrs. Arline Pulverman, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., as a part of annual Senior Day program at the Greensbofo, N.C., institution recently.

Bennett Prexy Dr. Willa B. Player Now On A Tour Of Korea And Japan

GREENSBORO —Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, left last week for a six-week trip to Japan and Korea made possibe by a fellowship and travel grant from the Carnegie Cooperation of New York.

Among the places that she will visit are Tokyo, Nagoya, Hiroshima and Osaka in Japan and a number of cities in Korea— Seoul among them — where she will spend five days.

Dr. Player's specific interest in women's education in Japan will lead her to the campuses of some of the major institutions there where she will have an opportunity to talk with administrators, faculty members and students.

She wil' return in time to make her interim report to the executive committee of the board of trustees which will be meeting in New York City on May 20.

SOPRANO HERE

Soprano Claudia Lindsey of New York City will be presented in recital at 8 p.m. Thursday in Bennett College's Pfeiffer Chapel. Her performance will mark the concluding program of the current Lyceum Series at the college.

DANCERS AT BENNETT — Four members of the Bennett College modern dance group meet members of the Ballet Chaffee dance group of New York City following their performance at the Greensboro Institution, last week. Students, left to right are: Misses Rulene Molock of Vienna, Md.; Claudia Hubbard (partially hidden) of South Hill Va.; Norma Hester, of Thomasivlle, Ga.. and Barbara James, of Charleston S. C.

STUDENTS MEET TOP SCIENTIST — Members of Beta Kappa Chi, science honor society at Bennett College and their advisors, are shown with Dr. Ernest T. S. Walton, 1951 Noble Prize winner in physics and Mrs. Walton, of Dublin, Ireland, during his recent visit to the campus of the Greensboro institution. Left to right: Miss Lilly So, of Indonesia; Dr. and Mrs. Walton, Miss Gloria Benson, of Columbia, S. C.; Samuel Byers, instructor in physics; Misses Kate Aseme, of Nigeria; Wei Lie So, of Indonesia, and Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the science division.

STUDENTS MEET TOP SCIENTIST —Members of Beta Kappa Chi, science honor society at Bennett College and their advisors, are shown with Dr. Ernest T. S. Walton, 1951 Nobel Prize winner in physics and Mrs. Walton, of Dublin, Ireland, during his recent visit to the campus of the Greensboro institution. Left to right: Miss Lily So, Indonesia; Dr. and Mrs. Walton; Miss Gloria Benson, Columbia, S.C.; Samuel Byers, instructor in physics; Misses Kate Aseme, Nigeria; Wei Lie So, Indonesia; and Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the science division.

Bennett Prexy Visiting In Japan And Korea

GREENSBORO — Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, left this week for a six-week trip to Japan and Korea made possible by a fellowship and travel grant from the Carnegie Corporation of New York.

Among the places that she will visit are Tokyo, Nagoya, Hiroshima and Osaka in Japan and a number of cities in Korea—Seoul among them — where she will spend five days.

Dr. Player's specific interest in women's education in Japan will lead her to the campuses of some of the major institutions there where she will have an opportunity to talk with administrators, faculty members and students.

She will return in time to make her interim report to the executive committee of the board of trustees which will be meeting in New York City on May 20.

MRS. JONES HONORED—Mrs. David D. Jones, retired director of admissions at Bennett College, admires a replica of the Bennett College Bell, with Mrs. Nelle Coley, '31, who made the presentation on behalf of members of the Greensboro chapter of the Bennett College Alumnae Association, during a reception held at the Greensboro institution.

Class Election Held At Bennett

Results of class elections held at Bennett College last week show a wide geographical distribution of office holders for the 1965-66 academic year.

Elected president of the senior class Miss Patricia Harris, of Detroit, Mich. Serving with her will be Misses Sondra Stevens, of Evanston, Ill., vice president; Miriam Bogan, of Columbia, S. C., secretary; Wei Lie So, of Indonesia, treasurer, and Sharon Hardiman, of Kansas City, Kansas parliamentarian.

Miss Eddyce Pope of Washington, D. C., was elected president of the junior class. Her cabinet includes: Misses Rowena McDaniel, of Lynchburg, Va., vice president; Janice Wilson, of Hightstown, N. J., secretary; Shirley Neal, of Charlotte, assistant secretary; Barbara English of Atlanta, Ga., and Gwendolyn Leecost, of Richmond, Va., treasurers; and Marta Ellison, of Laurinburg, N. C., parliamentarian.

Sophomores will be led by Miss Annie Lineberger, of Maiden, N. C. Other officers are: Misses Juanita White, of Mt. Pleasant, S. C., vice president; Lula Spears, of Bordentown, N. J., secretary; Gwendolyn Morse, of Ninety-Six, S. C., assistant secretary; Bertha Burris, of High Point, treasurer; Shirley Haves, of Church Road, Va., student-at-large, and Freya Lineberger, of Gastonia, parliamentarian and sergeant-at-large.

Mrs. Elizabeth D. Koontz, of Salisburgy, N. C., president-elect of the Department of Classroom Teachers of the National Education Association, will speak to students at Bennett College, Thursday, April 22, at 2:30 p.m.

The program is one in a series being held in observance of Teaching Career Month sponsored by the campus chapter of NEA. Mrs. Koontz, a special education teacher,

Miss Edna Smith Bennett May Queen

—Miss Edna Smith, of Hampton, Va., senior elementary education major who will be crowned and reign over the May Day festivities at Bennett College, Saturday, May 1.

PRINCIPAL OF INDIAN COLLEGE VISITING BENNETT CAMPUS

Mrs. H. M. Parvathamma, principal of Maharani's College for Women, Bangalore, India, is visiting Bennett College this week.

Mrs. Parvathamma, whose field of specialization is economics, received her education, including the Master of Arts degree at the University of Mysore. She has been particularly concerned with the economics and is now chairman of the board of examiners in economics at the University of Mysore.

At the Monday chapel hour, Mrs. Paravathamma spoke to the students on the economy of India and the problems facing Indian education.

PASSION SUNDAY

"Tell me what you weep about, and I can tell you who you are, the quality of your commitment and the firmness of your faith," the Rev. A. Knighton Stanley, instructor in religion, declared in his Passion Sunday message at Bennett College last Sunday.

STUDENTS FLY TO TENN.

Two senior business education majors at Bennett College, Misses Gloria Miller, of Charlotte, and Alice Powell of Lenoir, flew to Kingsport, Tenn., this week for employment interviews with Eastman Kodak Co.

TOP SCHOLAR ROBED...Mrs. Beatrice P. Stanley, of Greensboro, presently leading in scholarship, is robed by her sophomore sister, Miss Beatrice England of Cincinnati, Ohio, during Senior Day exercises at Bennett College recently.

Teaching Fellowship

Miss Linda D. Powell, a graduate student at the University of North Carolina, has been awarded a Career Teaching Fellowship for the academic year 1965-1966. The fellowship provides a stipend of $1,500.

MISS LINDA POWELL

Miss Powell, a magna cum laude graduate of Bennett College, is studying at the university as a Woodrow Wilson Scholar. She is doing graduate work in Modern European History with empnasis on the French Revolution. Miss Powell plans a career as a college professor. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Powell of 511 Eason street, Goldsboro, N. C.

Educator From India

Mrs. H. M. Parvathamma, principal of Maharani's College for Women, Bangalore, India, visited Bennett College last week.

Mrs. Parvathamma, whose field of specialization is economics, received her education, including the Master of Arts degree at the University of Mysore. She has been particularly concerned with the economics and is now chairman of the board of examiners in economics at the University of Mysore.

At the chapel hour, Mrs. Paravathamma spoke to the students on the economy of India and the problems facing Indian education.

Principal From India Visiting At Bennett Now

GREENSBORO — Mrs. H. M. Parvathamma, principal of Maharani's College for Women, Bangalore, India, is visiting Bennett College this week.

Mrs. Parvathamma, whose field of specialization is economics, received her education, including the Master of Arts degree at the University of Mysore. She has been particularly concerned with the economics and is now chairman of the board of examiners in economics at the University of Mysore.

At the Monday chapel hour, Mrs. Paravathamma spoke to the students on the economy of India and the problems facing Indian education.

BENNETT SPEAKER

Dr. Elder T. Smith, president of Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio, will speak at the 4 p.m. vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, April 25.

MODERN DANCERS MEET
. . . Bennett students with Chaffee dancers

Modern dance was the topic of the day when the Ballet Chaffee ensemble performed at Bennett College. After the performance, several Bennett ter... psicho... up... point... New...

BENNETT CHOIR

The 42-voice Bennett College Freshman Choir, under the direction of Edward Lowe and accompanied by Miss Charlotte Alston, will present its annual concert at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in Pfeiffer Chapel. Highlighting the 16th through 20th century program will be Handel's "Hallelujah, Amen"; Hassler's "Cantate Domino"; Beethoven's "The Heavens Are Telling"; and six spirituals.

Bennett Ends Class Elections

GREENSBORO—Results of class elections held at Bennett College last week show a wide geographical distribution of office holders for the 1965-66 academic year.

Elected president of the senior class was Miss Patricia Harris, of Detroit, Mich. Serving with her will be Misses Sondra Stevens, of Evanston, Ill., vice president; Miriam Bogan, of Columbia, S. C., secretary; Wei Lie So, of Indonesia, treasurer, and Sharon Hardiman, of Kansas City, Kansas, parliamentarian.

Miss Eddyce Pope, of Washington, D. C., was elected president of the junior class. Her cabinet includes; Misses Rowena McDaniel, of Lynchburg, Va., vice president; Janice Wilson, of Hightstown, N. J., secretary; Shirley Neal, of Charlotte, assistant secretary; Barbara English of Atlanta, Ga., and Gwendolyn Leecost, of Richmond, Va., treasurers, and Marta Ellison, of Laurinburg, parliamentarian.

Sophomores will be led by Miss Annie Lineberger, of Maiden, N. C. Other officers are: Misses Juanita White, of Mt. Pleasant, S. C., vice president; Lula Spears, of Bordentown, N. J., secretary; Gwendolyn Morse, of Ninety-Six, S. C., assistant secretary; Bertha Burris, of High Point, treasurer; Shirley Hayes, of Church Road, Va., student-at-large, and Freya Lineberger, of Gastonia, parliamentarian and sergeant-at-arms.

Bennett Thespians In "The Red Shoes"

Scene from "The Red Shoes," an adaptation of the Hans Christian Andersen fairy tale, presented by the Theatre Guild at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., Jemmo, the clown, played by Miss Ana Turner, of Cinnati, Ohio watches closely as Snogg, the conniving gypsy, played by George McCain, of Greensboro, fits the red shoes on Karen, played by Miss Cynthia Raine, of Mobile, Ala.

J. F. Hatchett Gets Danforth Tutor Grant

GREENSBORO—John F. Hatchett, instructor in philosiphy and religion at Bennett College, is among 42 faculty members from colleges and universities across the nation who have been reappointed for a Danforth Teacher Grant for 1965-66.

Announcement was made by David Zimmerman, assistant director of the Danforth Foundation, St. Louis, Mo. Selection for reappointment was made on the basis of continuing financial need, significant progress during the initial gran and high quality of work as evaluated by graduate professors and the Danforth Teacher Advisory Council.

Mr. Hatchett is engaged in predoctoral study at New York University.

Top Science Students Meet Foreign Scientist

Members of Beta Kappa Chi, science honor society at Bennett College and their advisors, are shown with Dr Ernest T. S. Walton, 1951 Nobel Prize winner in physics and Mrs. Walton, of Dublin, Ireland, during their recent visit to the campus of the Greensboro institution. Left to right are Miss Lily So, of Indonesia; Dr. and Mrs. Walton, Miss Gloria Benson, of Columbia, S. C.; Samuel Byers, instructor in physics; Misses Kate Aseme, of Nigeria; Wei Lie So, of Indonesia, and Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the science division.

MRS. JONES HONORED... Mrs. David D. Jones, retired director of admissions at Bennett College, admires replica of Bennett College bell with Mrs. Nelle Coley, '31, who made presentation on behalf of members of the Greensboro chapter of the Bennett College Alumnae Association during reception held on Sunday at the Greensboro institution.

Bennett class officers hail from all over map

GREENSBORO, N.C. —Results of class elections held at Bennett College last week show a wide geographical distribution of office holders for the 1965 - 66 academic year.

Elected president of the senior class was Miss Patricia Harris, of Detroit, Mich. Serving with her will be Misses Sondra Stevens, of Evanston, Ill., vice president; Miriam Bogan, of Columbia, S.C., secretary; Wei Lie So, of Indonesia, treasurer, and Sharon Hardiman, of Kansas City, Kansas, parliamentarian.

MISS EDDYCE POPE, of Washington, D.C., was elected president of the junior class. Her cabinet includes: Misses Rowena McDaniel, of Lynchburg, Va., vice president; Janice Wilson, of Hightstown, N.J., secretary; Shirley Neal, of Charlotte, assistant secretary; Barbara English of Atlanta, Ga., and Gwendolyn Leecost, of Richmond, Va., treasurers, and Marta Ellison, of Laurinburg, N.C., parliamentarian.

Sophomores will be led by Miss Annie Lineberger, of Maiden, N.C. Other officers are: Misses Juanita White, of Mt. Pleasant, S.C., vice president; Lula Spears, of Bordentown, N.J., secretary; Gwendolyn Morse, of Ninety-Six, S.C., assistant secretary; Bertha Burris, of High Point, treasurer; Shirley Hayes, of Church Road, Va., student-at-large, and Freya Lineberger, of Gastonia, parliamentarian and sergeant - at - arms.

"THE RED SHOES" — Scene from "The Red Shoes," an adaptation of the Hans Christian Andersen fairy tale, presented by the Theatre Guild at Bennett College, Greensboro, last week. Jemmo, the clown, played by Miss Ana Turner, of Cnicinnati, Ohio watches closely as Snogg the conniving gypsy, played by George McCain, of Greensboro, fits the red shoes on Karen, played by Miss Cynthia Raine of Mobile, Ala.

Detroit Native Named Pres. of Bennett Seniors

GREENSBORO—Results of class elections held at Bennett College last week show a wide geographical distribution of office holders for the 1965-66 academic year.

Elected president of the senior class was Miss Patricia Harris, of Detroit, Mich. Serving with her will be Misses Sondra Stevens, of Evanston, Ill., vice president; Mirian Bogan, of Columbia, S. C., secretary; Wei Lie So, of Indonesia, treasurer, and Sharon Hardiman, of Kansas City, Kansas, parliamentarian.

Miss Eddyce Pope, of Washington, D. C., was elected president of the junior class. Her cabnet includes; Misses Rowena McDaniel, of Lynchburg, Va., vice president Janice Wilson, of Hightstown, N. J., secretary; Shirley Neal of Charlotte, assistant secretary; Barbara English of Atlanta, Ga., and Gwendolyn Leecost, of Richmond, Va., treasurer, and Marta Ellison, of Laurinburg, N. C., parliamentarian.

Sophomores will be led by Miss Annie Lineburger, of Maiden, N. C. Other officers are: Misses Juanita Wite, of Mt. Pleasant, S. C., vice president; Lula Spears, of Bordentown, N. J., secretary; Gwendolyn Morse, of Ninety-six, S. C., assistant secretary; Bertha Burris, of High Point, treasurer; Shirley Hayes, of Church Road, Va., student-at-large, and Frela Lineberger, of Gastonia, parliamentarian and sergeant-at-arms.

Literature's Difficulties Described

Difficulties in relating American geography to American literature were described by Dr. Clarence Gohdes of Duke University before the general session of the College Language Association at Bennett College Friday.

The speaker, who is chairman of the board of editors of American Literature, said that any discussion of regional or sectional literature of the United States is severely embarrassed by the difficulty of isolating regions.

The meeting shifts back to A&T College Saturday. A business session is set for 9:15 a.m. and the final session on media of communications will end the 25th annual gathering.

Frank W. Render, director of publicity at Virginia State College, and Nanina C. Alba of Tuskegee Institute in Alabama are slated to be the final lecturers.

New officers will be installed to close the meeting.

BENNETT SPEAKER

Mrs. Elizabeth D. Koontz of Salisbury, president-elect of the Department of Classroom Teachers of the National Education Association, will speak to students at Bennett College Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. in the Science Assembly. The program is one in a series being held in observance of Teaching Career Month sponsored by the campus chapter of NEA.

Bennett To Crown May Queen

Crowning of Miss Edna Smith, senior of Hampton, Va., as queen will highlight the annual May Day program to be held at Bennett College Saturday, beginning at 2 p.m. in front of Pfeiffer Chapel.

Maid of honor will be Gloria Leevy of Columbia, S.C., and senior attendants will be Anthanette Thomas of Greensboro and Sandra Vails of Salisbury.

Other class attendants will be juniors — Cheryl Bright of Washington and Bernadine Harris of Roanoke, Va.; sophomores — Cheryl Reddick of Raleigh and Beatrice England of Cincinnati, Ohio; freshmen — Janice Hendricks of Kingsport, Tenn., and Gwendolyn Morse of Ninety-Six, S.C.

Theme of this years program, directed by Mrs. Cynthia Chivers, will be "A Tribute to the Boston Pops," during which singers and dancers will perform to music recorded by the Arthur Fielder orchestra.

Among the numbers to be featured will be "Syncopated Clock," "Maleguena," "Blue Tango," "Days of Wine and Roses," "Moon River" and "Hello Dolly." Miss Ana Turner of Cincinnati, Ohio, will dance "Get Me to the Church on Time," accompanied by a chorus, while four dancers, Misses Essie Lias of Winter Park, Fla., Ernestine Mitchell of Washington, Lois Mosley of Madison and Edna Walker of Raleigh, will perform "Java."

A military guard for the queen's court will be provided by representatives of the ROTC units at A&T College.

Set up Bennett summer schools

GREENSVORO, N.C. — Selection of faculty and staff personnel for the Humanities Summer School and the Scholars Program at Bennett College was announced last week.

Both programs, aimed at enriching the pre-college preparation of high school students, will be conducted from June 14 to July 23 on the college campus.

Dr. Dorothy Bardolph, professor of history, will direct the Scholars Program, which opens to 50 young women who have been accepted or are in the process of applying for acceptance to the freshman class of 1965.

Dr. Helen Trobian will direct the Humanities Summer School, which will be open to a limited number of 11th and 12th graders who have demonstrated ability an expressed specific interest in one or more areas of the Visitor From India Honored At Tea

Mrs. M. H. Parvathamma, principal of Maharani's College for Women, Bangalore, India (second from left) shown during tea in her honor given by members of the library staff during her five-day visit to Bennett College. Others, from left, are: Mrs. Constance H. Marteena, librarian; Mrs. Ophelia Simpson, residence director who was hostess to the visitor; Mrs. Frances Johnson and Mrs. Carrie Shute.

TOUR NEWSPAPER PLANT

Members of the journalism class of Bennett College with W. I. Gibson, the teacher, made a tour of the Greensboro News-Record plant Thursday.

Selection Of Faculty, Staf f Personnel For Bennett Humanities Summer School

GREENSBORO — Selection of faculty and staff personnel for the Humanities Summer School and the Scholars Program at Bennett College was announced last week.

Both programs, aimed at enrich- pre-college preparation of ol students, will be con- om June 14 to July 23 on e campus.

Dorothy Bardolph, pro- of history, who will di- Scholars Programs, said wi open to 50 young are recipient of awards to the col- have been accept- the process of ap- acceptance to the ss of 1965. The pro- expense-free with on of travel, but in ases, partial travel is available.

with Dr. Bardolph will

Miss Marilyn Fardig, whose emphases are social science and philosophy, who will also be assistant to the director; Mrs. Edith Brown, of Akron, Ohio, who will teach art and studio art; Dr. Robert Rosthal, professor of philosophy at the University of North Carolina, at Greensboro; Mrs. Linda B. Bragg, Akron, Ohio, creative writing and literature and Mrs. Irwin Acker, of Greensboro, dramatics.

Working with Dr. Helen Trobian in the Humanities Summer School, which will be open to a limited number of 11th and 12th graders who have demonstrated ability and expressed specific interest in one or more areas of the arts, will be the following member of the regular college faculty:

James C. McMilan, art; the Rev. A. Knighton Stanley, social science; Mrs. Cynthia Chivers, dance; Miss Charlotte Alston, music, with some responsibility for the Scholars Program and Mrs. Nelle Coley, of Dudley High School faculty, Greensboro, literature and reading.

The following persons, all of the Bennett faculty and staff, will serve as members of the combined staffs: Mrs. Amercia Bryant, secretary; Miss Helen Skipper, of Greensboro, ballet and assistant to the director of the Humanities Summer School; Mrs. Necia Boyers, swimming; Mesdames Libbie Lofton, Carrie Shute and Frances Johnson and Miss Fannie Fisher, librarians; William Alcorn, audio-visual education, and Dr. Adrian Solomon, testing, evaluating and counseling.

Six student assistant are yet to be employed, plus the staff for services, such as residence halls, the dining hall, snack bar and post office.

Successful applicants for both programs were to be notified between April 21 and May 1.

A third summer program, the seventh to be sponsored by the National Science Foundation, will be conducted concurrently with these two programs.

"THE RED SHOES" -- Scene from "The Red Shoes," an adaption of the Hans Christian Andersen fairy tale, presented by the Theatre Guild at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., last week. Jemmo, the clown, played by Miss Ana Turner, of Cincinnati, Ohio, watches closely as Snogg, the conniving gypsy, played by George McCain, of Greensboro, fits the red shoes on Karen, played by Miss Cynthia Raine, of Mobile, Alabama.

Awards To Be Given In Writing Contest

Awarding of prizes in a creative writing contest will be a feature of the Humanities Program to be held at Bennett College Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the foyer of the D. D. Jones Student Union.

Using the theme, "American Folkore," the program, sponsored annually by the humanities division, also will feature performances by the folk dance class of Mrs. Cynthia Chivers, the Joyce Dunn Singers, Evander Gilmer, freedom song singer, and the Freshman Choir Ensemble, directed by Edward Lowe.

BENNETT SPEAKER

James Farmer, of New York City, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality will speak at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel at Bennett College Sunday when leaders of student organizations for the coming academic year will be installed. Farmer, who prepared for the ministry but declined ordination has now turned his energies toward social action. In 1942, with a group of students at the University of Chicago, he organized his first chapter of CORE.

GREENSBORO, N.C. — humans, we frequently c symbols with the things which they stand," Dr. Step C. Cappannari of Vanderbi University, told social science students of BENNETT COLLEGE during one of a series of five lectures last week. He was speaking on the topic "Man and Culture."

Dance Group To Present Program

The Dance Group of Windsor Community Center will present "A Spring Evening of Modern Dance" at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Bennett College Little Theater.

Dancers will include Helen Black, Doris Jones, Gwendolyn Scales, Karen Davis, Ingrid Hooper, Blondine Mitchell, Linda Young, Gwendolyn Moore, Gail Westmoreland, Janet Williamson, Carolyn Wilson, Pamela Warner and Annie Caldwell.

Narration will be by Sandra Jenkins, choreography by Jean Bailey, lighting by Betty Hansberry, scenery by Jean Little and Geraldine Kearney and costumes by Mrs. C. Chivers, Peggy Largent and Janice Norwood.

STUDENT CHOSEN

Harlen Edmund Smith, a junior at Ben L. Smith High School, has been selected to participate in a science training program for high - ability secondary school students. The programs are sponsored by the National Science Foundation and are carried on during a 6-9 week period in the summer. Harlen has been chosen to participate in the institute to be held at Bennett College this summer.

Bennett Features Liberal Training

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Ben College, in what it considers true liberal arts tradition, attempts to achieve harmony and balance among the various aspects of campus experience.

Its setting and physical plant, student body, faculty, academic program and library; plus its community involvement, its dedicated alumnae and its own broad leadership, form a distinct intellectual and social entity. This has been evident throughout the history of the college, and the continuing implementation of this unifying emphasis is of constant concern.

One of the basic beliefs at Bennett is that everything is educative. As far as possible unity of design is preserved in keeping with the overall philosophy that unity and orderliness in design nuture these qualities in learning when students are automatically situated in this kind of setting. In other words, the campus sets the tone.

Present plans call for the building of a new residence hall housing 150 young women, a college infirmary, and a modern science hall.

BENNETT COLLEGE has a strong determination to meet the needs of the students enrolled. At a time when most institutions are prone to imitate their institutional counterparts, Bennett is striving to acknowledge the person as the center of concern. This is why it appeals to students and their parents.

The person-centered approach of education has been developed over many years through study, evaluation, experimentation, and change. Its chief characteristics are now apparent in the college's present emphasis on democratic involvement, individualized instruction and small classes highlighting intellectual accomplishment and personal adequacy. The student body under this type of segis is widely known as an able and hard-working group.

Because the college is related to a national church in its Methodist orientation, the student body has geographic diversity. Students are enrolled annually from 28 to 30 states, and as many as 11 foreign countries.

Bennett was among the first colleges in the South to encourage the admission by scholarships of students from foreign countries. Its open door racial policy permits the admission of all qualified students. The college has an exchange program with other colleges on an annual or semester basis. The informal flow of communications with regard to race, creed or color provides a relaxed atmosphere for invaluable learning in human relations.

FOUR CULTURES MEET—An indication of the international character of the Bennett College student body is shown in this photograph taken in Holgate Library. Left to right: The Misses Nancy Ball, a junior elementary education major, of Bryson City, N.C.; Wei Lie So, a pre-medical junior, of Indonesia; Pamela Wimberly, a sophomore education major, of Wilmington, Del., and Kate Aseme, a pre-medical sophomore, of Nigeria, West Africa.

Dr. Willa B. Player

Bennett Prexy Tours Japan, Korea

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Dr. Willa B. Player, president, Bennett College, left April 9, for a six-week trip to Japan and Korea, made possible by a fellowship and travel grant from the Carnegie Corporation, New York City.

Among the places that she will visit are Tokyo, Nagoya, Hiroshima and Osaka, Japan, and a number of cities in Korea (Seoul among them), where she will spend five days.

Dr. Player's specific interest in women's education in Japan will lead her to the campuses of some of the major institutions there, where she will have an opportunity to talk with administrators, faculty members and students.

She will return in time to make her interim report to the executive committee of the board of trustees, which will be meeting in New York City May 10.

Mrs. H. M. Paryathamma, principal, Maharani's College for Women, Bangalore, India, is visiting Bennett College, this week.

Mrs. Parvathmma, whose field of specialization is economics, received her education, including the Master of Arts degree, at the University of Mysore.

She has been particularly concerned with the economics and is, now, chairman of the board of examiners in economics at the University of Mysore.

At a recent chapel hour, Mrs. Paravathmma spoke to the students on the economy of India, and the problems facing Indian education.

BENNETT HEAD—Dr. Willa B. Player, the able leader of Bennett College, is the lone non-white woman college president since the heyday of the late Dr. Mary Bethune, at Daytona, Fla. Dr. Player is currently abroad in Japan and Korea. She will return in the middle of May.

COLLEGE PARTY... Full dress uniform of Charles McAdoo, of the ROTC at A&T College, seems to be center of attention during intermission at annual College Party at Bennett College recently, for which Count Basie and his orchestra provided the rhythms. Left to right, Misses Brenda Stallworth, of Brewton, Ala; Rosalind McAdoo, of High Point; Ellen Alexander, of Hartford, Conn., and Judith Rann, of New Orleans, La.

JAMES FARMER PREDICTS

Non-Whites Expected To Win More Offices

James Farmer, civil rights leader, predicted here Sunday at Bennett College that if up to two million Deep South Negro voters can be swiftly registered non-whites will begin to ascend to federal, state, county and municipal offices on a growing scale —Alabama and Mississippi not excepted.

The executive director of the Congress of Racial Equality made the observation during an afternoon vesper hour address, delivered in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Farmer vowed that if certain "racist" legislators governors, mayors and sheriffs throughout Dixie do not change their philosophy of life in the wake of the concerted registration drive they will be unseated by moderate whites and/or Negroes.

He went on to rebuke many members of the Negro "middle class" for failing to actively assist in the "non-violent revolution." Farmer applauded the efforts of Negro doctors and attorneys who he said travel the country and provide medical and legal assistance to Civil Rights participants. But he appealed for more teachers, social workers, architects, engineers and other "unemployed talented people" to come quickly to the fore.

The CORE official tossed a verbal bouquet to those students who launched local sit-in demonstrations on Feb. [illegible], 1960, at a downtown dime store lunch counter and to Bennett girls who augmented this initial pressure and were subsequently jailed. Farmer expressed satisfaction that since that opening wedge was initiated considerable headway has been made in demolishing segregation barriers in Greensboro.

The plight of thousands of academically deficient Negro high school pupils, "carried along helplessly on the crest of double and treble shift mass education floodtides," was roundly scored by him. He said that the President's declared war on poverty is a hollow declaration unless academic damage is repaired among such pupils through the median of "remedial study."

Farmer declared there can be no "neutrals" today, white or black, and warned that those who remain quiet and call themselves "innocent bystanders" are inescapably "guilty" of abetting evil doers by remaining silent.

In conclusion, he promised that the revolution will not falter until every Negro enjoys the same life expectancy as his white counterpart; is sheltered by a descent roof; holds equal jobs and receives comparable advancement in spite of his color."

Farmer Foresees Growing Political Power For Negro

A leading civil rights leader said here yesterday that if certain "racist" legislators, governors, mayors and sheriffs in Dixie do not change their philosophy of life they will be unseated by moderate whites and Negroes.

James Farmer, executive director of the Congress of Racial Equality, spoke at the vesper program in Pfeiffer Chapel of Bennett College.

He predicted that if up to 2,000,000 Negroes in the deep South can be registered to vote by 1969 non-whites will begin to ascend to federal, state, county and municipal offices on a growing scale.

Farmer urged more teachers, social workers, architects, engineers and other Negroes to become involved in the "nonviolent revolution."

He praised the students who began the sit-in demonstrations in Greensboro in 1960 at downtown dime store lunch counters and expressed satisfaction at the headway that has been made in breaking the segregation barriers here.

Farmer promised that the revolution will not falter until every Negro enjoys the same life expectancy as whites, is sheltered by a decent roof, holds an equal job, and receives comparable advancement regardless of color.

Spoke To Students At Bennett

Mrs. Elizabeth Koontz, left, of Salisbury, N. C., president-elect of the Department of Classroom Teachers of the National Education Association, shown following her address last week at Bennett College with Miss Elizabeth Hansberry, of New Orleans, president of the campus NEA, and Miss Mary Ann Rogers,, faculty advisor.

Rare African Tulip Bush

April showers brought ou tthe buds and flowers of this rare African tulip bush on the Bennett College campus last week and out to admire them came Misses Lula Spears, of Bordentown, N. J., and Gwendolyn Morse, of Ninety-Six, S. C., both rising sophomores.

Christening service is set at Bennett

GREENSBORO, N.C. — The Rev. Cecil Bishop, pastor of Trinity AMEZ Church here, will be the speaker for the annual Mother's Day christening service at Bennett College next Sunday at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

This is the occasion when graduates of the college return with children to be christened by the Rev. John Corry, college chaplain, and to receive certificates of baptism.

MOTHER'S DAY SERVICE

The Rev. Cecil Bishop, pastor of Trinity AME Zion Church will speak at the annual Mother's Day vesper service at Pfeiffer Chapel, Bennett College, at 4 p.m. Sunday. Five graduates will present their children for baptism to the Rev. John Corry, college chaplain.

Four Cultures Meet At Bennett

An indication of the international character of the Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., student body is shown in a discussion here at Holgate Library. From the left are Misses Wei Lie So, junior, from Indonesia; Kate Aseme, sophomore, from Nigeria, West Africa; Nancy Ball, junior, from Eryson City, N. C.; and Pamela Wimberly, sophomore, from Wilmington, Del.

Misses So and Aseme are pre-medical students and Misses Ball and Wimberly are elementary education majors.

Balance, Harmony Still Inseparable At Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Bennett College, in what it considers the true liberal arts tradition, attempts to achieve harmony and balance among the various aspects of campus experience.

Its setting and physical plant, student body, faculty, academic program and library; plus its community involvement, its dedicated alumnae and its own broad leadership, form a distinct intellectual and social entity.

THIS HAS BEEN evident throughout the history of the college, and the continuing implementation of this unifying emphasis is of constant concern:

One of the basic beliefs at Bennett is that everything is educative. As far as possible unity of design is preserved in keeping with the over-all philosophy that unity and orderliness in design nurture these qualities in learning when students are automatically situated in this kind of setting. In other words, the campus sets the tone.

PRESENT PLANS call for the building of a new residence hall housing 140 young women, a college infirmary, and a modern science hall. Bennett College has a strong determination to meet the needs of the students enrolled. At a time when most institutions are prone to imitate their institutional counterparts, Bennett is striving to acknowledge the person as the center of concern. This is why it appeals to students and their parents.

Because Bennett is related to a national church in its Methodist orientation, the student body has geographic diversity. Students are enrolled annually from 28 to 30 states, and as many as 11 foreign countries.

ANOTHER special strength in the student body, like that of the board of trustees and the faculty, is the international, interracial and intercultural representation.

Bennett was among the first colleges in the South to encourage the admission by scholarships of students from foreign countries. Its open door racial policy permits the admission of all qualified students. The college has an exchange program with other colleges on an annual or semester basis.

THE STUDENT body has a marked degree of social concern. Even before the civil rights struggle came to prominence, the effort was made to discover potential in industry, leadership and service. This is because the Bennett graduate is expected to play a prominent role in her community in the alleviation of poverty, ignorance, disease and injustice.

Miss Smith Crowned Bennett's May Queen

GREENSBORO — Crowning of Miss Edna Smith, senior, of Hampton, Va., as queen hightlighted the annual May Day program at Bennett College on Saturday.

Maid of honor was Miss Gloria Leevy, of Columbia, S. C., and senior attendants were Misses Anthanette Thomas, of Greensboro and Sandra Vails, of Salisbury.

Other class attendants were as follows: Juniors — Misses Cheryl Bright of Washington, D. C., and Bernadine Harris, of Roanoke, Va.; Sophomores — Cheryl Reddick, of Raleigh, and Beatrice England, of Cincinnati, Ohio; Freshmen—Misses Janice Hendricks, of Kingsport, Tenn., and Gwendolyn Morse, of Ninety-Six, S. C.

Theme of this year's program, directed by Mrs. Cynthia Chivers, was "A Tribute to the Boston Pops," during which singers and dancers performed to music recorded by the Arthur Fiedler orchestra.

Among the numbers featured were "Syncopated Clock," "Maleguena," "Blue Tango," "Days of Wine and Roses," "Moon River" and "Hello Dolly." Miss Ana Turner of Cincinnati, Ohio, danced "Get Me to the Church on Time," accompanied by a chorus, while four dancers — Misses Essie Lias, of Winter Park, Fla.; Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, D. C.; Lois Mosley, of Madison and Edna Walker, of Raleigh performed "Java."

A military guard for the queen's court was provided by representatives of the ROTC at A&T College.

RARE BUDS—April showers brought out the buds and flowers of this rare African tulip bush on the Bennett College campus last week and out to admire them came Misses Lula Spears, of Bordentown, N. J., and Gwendolyn Morse, of Ninety-Six, S. C., both rising sophomores.

MAY DAY QUEEN — Miss Edna Smith, a senior of Hampton, was crowned "May Day Queen" at the May Day festivities held at Bennett College on Saturday, May 1.

The queen was entertained as the theme of the year, "A Tribute To The Boston Pops" was carried out by her fellow classmates.

Miss Edna Smith "May Day Queen" at Bennett College

GREENSBORO, N.C. — [illegible]owning of Miss Edna [illegible]ith, senior, of Hampton, [illegible], as queen highlighted [illegible] annual May Day program at Bennett College on [illegible]turday.

Maid of honor was Miss [illegible]oria Leevy, of Columbia, [illegible]., and senior attendants [illegible] Misses Anthanette [illegible]omas, of Greensboro and [illegible]ndra Vails, of Salisbury.

[illegible]HER CLASS attendants [illegible]re as follows: Juniors — [illegible]eryl Bright of Washing[illegible]n, N.C., and Bernadine [illegible]rris, of Roanoke, Va.; [illegible]homores — Cheryl Red[illegible]k, of Raleigh and Bea[illegible]ce England, of Cincinnati, [illegible]hio; Freshmen — Miss [illegible]anice Hendricks, of Kingsport, Tenn., and Gwendolyn Morse, of Ninety-Six, S.C.

Theme of this year's program, directed by Mrs. Cynthia Chivers, [illegible]was, "A Tribute to the Boston Pops," during which singers and dancers performed to music recorded by the Arthur Fiedler orchestra.

* * *

AMONG THE numbers featured were, "Syncopated Clock," "Maleguena," "Blue Tango," "Days of Wine and Roses," "Moon River," and "Hello Dolly." Miss Ana Turner of Cincinnati, Ohio, danced, "Get Me to the Church on Time," accompanied by a chorus, while four dancers — Miss Essie Lias, of Winter Park, Fla.; Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, D.C.; Lois Mosley, of Madison and Edna Walker, of Raleigh performed, "Java."

A military guard for the queen's court was provided by representatives of the ROTC units at A and T College.

TEACHERS MEET—Mrs. Elizabeth Koontz, left, of Salisbury, N.C., president-elect of the Department of Classroom Teachers of the National Education Association, shown following her address recently at Bennett College with Miss Elizabeth Hansberry, of New Orleans, president of the campus NEA, and Miss Mary Ann Rogers, faculty advisor.

. . . Bennett Bits . . .

VANDERBILT MAN HEARD AT BENNETT

"As humans, we frequently confuse symbols with the things for which they stand," Dr. Stephen C. Cappannari, of Vanderbilt University, told social science students of Bennett College during one of a series of five lectures here last week.

Dr. Cappannari, chairman of the division of human behavior at the Nashville, Tenn., institution, was speaking on "Man and Culture." Topics of his other lectures were "Race," "Relationship Between Anthropology and Mental Health," "Opportunities in the Field of Anthropology" and "The Family from an Anthropological Viewpoint."

A dynamic speaker as well as a prolific scholar, Dr. Cappannari, said that "we are all one genus and one species because we developed from a common ancestor," adding that man is at one and the same time an animal and a human being.

Stating that cultural diversity, is as important as biological diversity, the speaker emphasized man's problem in adapting to his culture because changes come so fast.

"We need to learn to appreciate our own ignorance," he declared, "and to have a bit of compassion for others."

BENNETT FRESHMAN CHOIR IN CONCERT

The freshman choir of Bennett College, directed by Edward Lowe, was presented in its annual concert on Sunday night in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Highlighting the 16th through 20th century program were Handel's "Hallelujah, Amen"; Hassler's "Cantate Domino"; Beethoven's "The Heavens Are Telling" and a group of six spirituals Miss Charlotte Alston was accompanist.

SELECTION OF SUMMER SCHOOL FACULTY AT BENNETT COLLEGE

Selection of faculty and staff personnel for the Humanities Summer School and the Scholars Program at Bennett College was aannounced last week.

Both programs, aimed at enriching the pre-college preparation of high school students, will be conducted from June 14 to July 23 on the college campus.

Dr. Dorothy Bardolph, professor of history who will direct the Scholars Program, said that it will be open to 50 young women who are recipients of scholarship awards to the college and who have been accepted or are in the process of applying for acceptance to the freshman class of 1965. The program will be expense-free with the exception of travel, but in unusual cases, partial travel expense is available.

Working with Dr. Bardolph will be:

Miss Marilyn Fardig, whose emphasis are social science and philosophy, who will also be assistant to the director; Mrs. Edith Brown, of Akron, Ohio, who will teach art and studio art; Dr. Robert Rosthal, professor of philosophy at the University of North Carolina, at Greensboro; Mrs. Linda B. Bragg, of Akron, Ohio, creative writing and literature and Mrs. Irwin Acker, of Greensboro, dramatics.

Working with Dr Helen Trobian in the Humanities Summer School, which will be open to a limited number of 11th and 12th graders who have demonstrated ability and expressed specific interest in one or more areas of the arts, will be the following members of the regular college faculty:

James C. McMillan, art; the Rev. A. Knighton Stanley, social science; Mrs. Cynthia Chivers, dance; Miss Charlotte Alston, music with some responsibility for the Scholars Program and Mrs. Nelle Coley, of the Dudley High School faculty, Greensboro, literature and reading.

The following persons, all of the Bennett faculty and staff, will serve as members of the combined staffs: Mrs. Armecia Bryant, secretary; Miss Helen Skipper, of Greensboro, ballet and assistant to the director of the Humanities Summer School; Mrs. Necia Boyers, swimming; Mesdames Libbie Lofton, Carrie Shute and Frances Johnson and Miss Fannie Fisher, librarians; William Alcorn, audio-visual education, and Dr. Adrian Solomon, testing, evaluating and counseling.

Six student assistants are yet to be employed, plus the staff for services, such as residence halls, the dining hall, snack bar and post office.

Successful applicants for both programs were to be notified between April 21 and May 1.

A third summer program, the seventh to be sponsored by the National Science Foundation, will be conducted concurrently with these two programs.

"As Humans, We Frequently Confuse Symbols With Things For Which They Stand:" Prof.

GREENSBORO — "As humans, we frequently confuse symbols with the things for which they stand," Dr. Stephen C. Cappannari, of Vanderbilt University, told social science students of Bennett College during one of a series of five lectures here last week.

Dr. Cappannari, chairman of the division of human behavior at the Nashville, Tenn., institution, was speaking on "Man and Culture." Topics of his other lectures were "Race," "Relationship Between Anthropology and Mental Health," "Opportunities in the Field of Anthropology" and "The Family from an Anthropological Viewpoint."

A dynamic speaker as well as a prolific scholar, Dr. Cappannari, said that "we are all one genus and one species because we developed from a common ancestor," adding that man is at one and the same time an animal and a human being.

Stating that cultural diversity is as important as biological diversity, the speaker emphasized man's problem in adapting to his culture because changes come so fast.

"We need to learn to appreciate our own ignorance," he declared, "and to have a bit of compassion for others."

BENNETT'S FROSH CHOIR PRESENTED

GREENSBORO — The freshman choir of Bennett College, directed by Edward Lowe, was presented in its annual concert on Sunday night in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Highlighting the 16th through 20th century program were Handel's "Hallelujah, Amen"; Hassler's "Cantate Domino"; Beethoven's "The Heavens Are Telling" and a group of six spirituals. Miss Charlotte Alston was accompanist.

MOTHER'S DAY MESSAGE

"The foundation of our 'Great Society' will not be wealth, education or economic power but the Christian home with mother at the center," the Rev. Cecil Bishop, pastor of Trinity AME Church, said in his Mother's Day message at Bennett College Sunday.

MAY DAY PROGRAM HELD AT BENNETT

GREENSBORO — Crowning of Miss Edna Smith, senior, of Hampton, Va., as queen highlighted the annual May Day program at Bennett College on Saturday.

Maid of honor was Miss Gloria Leevy, of Columbia, S. C., and senior attendants were Misses Anhanette Thomas, of Greenesboro and Sandra Vails, of Salisbury.

Other class students were as follows: Juniors—Cheryl Bright of Washington, and Bernadine Harris of Roanoke, Va.; Sophomores—Cheryl Reddick, of Raleigh and Beatrice England, of Cincinnati, Freshmen—Miss Janice Hendricks, of Kingsport, Tenn., and Gwendolyn Morse, of Ninety-Six, S. C.

Theme of this years program, directed by Mrs. Cynthia Chivers was "A Tribute to the Boston Pops," during which singers and dancers performed to music recorded by the Arthur Fiedler orchesta.

Among the numbers featured were "Syncopated Clock," "Maleguena," "Blue Tango," "Days of Wine and Roses," "Moon River" and "Hello Dolly." Miss Ana Turner of Cincinnati, Ohio, danced "Get Me to the Church on Time," accompanied by a chorus, while four dancers—Miss Essie Lias, of Winter Park, Fla.; Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, D. C.; Lois Mosley, of Madison and Edna Walker, of Raleigh performed "Java."

A military guard for the queen's court was provided by representatives of the ROTC units at A. and T. College.

Finals At Bennett Scheduled May 31

The commencement speaker for Bennett College at 10:30 a.m. Monday, May 31, will be Chief S. O. Adebo, ambassador estraordinary and plenipotentiary and permanent representative of the Permanent Mission of Nigeria to the United Nations.

He is a graduate of King's College at Lagos and holds degree from the University of London.

Speaking at the baccalaureate program at 4 p.m. Sunday, May 30, will be Dr. William F. Quillian Jr., president of Randolph-Macon Woman's College at Lynchburg, Va. He is an ordained Methodist minister and a graduate of Emory University. He received his BD and PhD degrees from Yale University.

Class Day will be held May 28 at 3 p.m.

TEACHERS ALL—Mrs. Elizabeth Koontz, left, of Salisbury, president-elect of the Department of Classroom Teachers of the National Education Association, is shown following her address last week at Bennett College with Miss Elizabeth Hansberry, of New Orleans, president of the campus NEA, and Miss Mary Ann Rogers, faculty advisor.

Educator, Diplomat To Speak

A college president and an African diplomat will deliver addresses for the 92nd Bennett College finals May 30-31.

Dr. William F. Quillian Jr., president of Randolph-Macon Woman's College at Lynchburg, Va., will deliver the baccalaureate address Sunday, May 30, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Delivering the Commencement address Monday, May 31, at 10:30 a.m. will be Chief S. O. Adebo, ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary and Permanent Representative of the Permanent Mission of Nigeria to the United Nations.

Dr. Quillian is an ordained Methodist minister, a native of Nashville, Tenn., and the son of a college president. He received his AB degree from Emory University and his BD and Ph.D. degrees from Yale University. He is past president of the Association of Virginia Colleges and of the Southern Association of Colleges for Women.

Chief Adebo is a graduate of King's College at Lagos and holder of degrees from the University of London.

President Willa B. Player will award degrees to the Bennett Class which will be one of the largest in the history of the institution. Commencement exercises will begin May 28 with Class Day exercises at 3 p.m. and a dramatic production at 8 p.m

DR. WILLIAM F. QUILLIAN JR. CHIEF S. O. ADEBO
Bennett Finals Speakers

Bennett Seniors To Hold Vespers

Members of the senior class at Bennett College will hold their annual vesper service at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Speaker will be Miss Velma Harris of Camden, N.J. The presiding officer will be Miss Cheryl Walls, also of Camden. Miss Essie Lias of Winter Park, Fla., will take the place of the college chaplain and Miss Dorothy Wilkerson, of Charleston, S.C., will be the Old Testament reader. Directing the choir will be Miss Joyce Dunn of Kinston, and organist will be Miss Jane Ryder of New Bern.

BENNETT NEWS

Winners of the annual creative writing contest at Bennett College were announced during the humanities division program held on Tuesday night.

Miss Evangeline Choto, of Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia, won the top poetry award while the short story award went to Miss Mable Blanding, of Sumter, S. C. Both are freshmen.

Patricipating in the program which had as its theme, "American Folklore," were members of the folk dance class of Mrs. Cynthia Chivers; the Joyce Dunn Singers, Evander Gilmer, Freedom Song singer, and the Freshman Choir Ensemble, directed by Edward Love.

BENNETT NEWS

Members of the senior class at Bennett College will hold this annual vesper service on Sunday, May 16, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Speaker will be Miss Velma Harris, of Camden, N. J. and the presiding officer will be Miss Cheryl Walls, also of Camden. Miss Essie Lias, of Winter Park, Florida, will take the place of the college chaplain and Miss Dorothy Wilkerson, of Charleston, S. C., will be the Old Testament reader. Directing the choir will be Miss Joyce Dunn, of Kinston.

QUEEN AND COURT — Miss Edna Smith of Hampton, Va., senior elementary education major, who reigned as queen of May Day festivities at Bennett College, Saturday, is shown with members of her court. Left to right are Misses Beatrice England of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Cheryl Reddick of Raleigh, sophomores; Anthanette Thomas of Greensboro and Sandra Vails of Salisbury, seniors; Gloria Leevy of Columbia, S.C., maid of honor; Cheryl Bright of Washington, N.C., and Bernardine Harris of Roanoke, Va., juniors; Gwendolyn Morse of Ninety-Six, S.C., and Janice Hendricks of Kingsport, Tenn., freshmen.

BENNETT SPEAKER

Expressing gratification at the gains in desegregation which have been made in this city since the "sit-ins" of 1960, James Farmer, of New York City, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) told a Bennett College audience here Sunday that the non-violent revolution will continue until every Negro enjoys every right and privilege as his white counterpart.

The occasion was the anniversary of student leaders and Mr. Farmer used the occasion to remind them that they, too, have a stake in transforming this nation into a practicing democracy.

"We are trying to speak," he said, "for the 'terrible meek' who some day will inherit the earth. The revolution has given us a 'New Negro' and a new sense of pride and dignity has swept our people. We have found that with our own hands we can bring down the barriers."

Stimulating this sense of pride, Mr. Farmer explained, have been the new nations of Africa with whom the American Negro has found identification. He referred to the Civil Rights Act and the pending Voting Rights Bill as tools to be employed in changing the face of America.

"Ours is the responsibility," he declared, "of quickly registering 2,000,000 voters in the South and more in the North and then forming a political organization to channel this power. By 1968, we can look forward to increasing numbers of Negroes, in municipal, county, state and federal offices. This is no time for anyone to be a neutral."

Bennett May Queen And Members Of Her Court

Miss Edna Smith, of Hampton, Va., senior elementary education major, who reigned as Queen of May Day festivities at Bennett College, is shown with members of her court. Left to right: Misses Beatrice England, of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Cheryl Reddick, of Raleigh, sophomores; Anthanette Thomas, of Greensboro and Sandra Vails, of Salisbury, seniors; Gloria Leevy, of Columbia, N. S. C., maid of honor; Cheryl Bright, of Washington, N. C., and Bernardine Harris of Roanoke, Va., juniors, and Gwendolyn Morse, of Ninety-Six, S. C., and Janice Hendricks, of Kingsport, Tenn., freshmen.

IN SCIENCE HONORARY — Bennett College students who were inducted into Beta Kappa Chi, science honor society, are shown "on line" before induction into the campus chapter. Left to right: Misses Amanda Houston, Kinston, N.C.; Lily So, Indonesia; Gloria Benson, Columbia, S.C.; Wei Lei So, Indonesia; Kate Aseme, Nigeria, West Africa; Patricia Faison, New Bern; Wilma Griffin, Columbus, Ga.; Theresa Hall, Washington, D.C. and Darilyn Wilds, Georgetown, S.C.

111 Prospective Graduates At Bennett College May 31, 1965

A list of 111 prospective graduates — 81 candidates for the A.B. degree and 30 for the B.S. degree — was released this week by Mrs. Mary Eady, Bennett College registrar.

Baccalaureate exercises will be held on Sunday, May 30, with Dr. William F. Quillian, president of Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Va., as speaker. The commencement address will be delivered by Chief S. O. Adebo, permanent representative of the Permanent Mission of Nigeria to the United Nations.

Dr. Willa B. Player, president, will confer the degrees.

The list follows:

A.B.
North Carolina

Resna E. Allen, Fayetteville; Bettie L. Alston, Rocky Mount; Geraldine M. Capehart, Raleigh; Charlayna Crawford, Greensboro; Margie R. Cumbo, Conway; Del T. Currie, Fayetteville; Johnsie M. Dalton, Greensboro; Marthalia J. Dunn, Kinston; Betty-Jo Foster and Frances H. Gaskin, both of Greensboro; Jacqueline M. Glenn, Durham; Lucille B. Gorham, Greenville; Alice I. Griffin, Greensboro; Oza B. Hawkins, Louisburg; Gloria R. Hayes, New Bern; Joyce M. Haynes, Wilmington; Elsie L. Jacobs and Mae E. Jeffries, both of Greensboro; Naomi L. Largent, Morganton; Lillie M. Madison, Brevard; Gloria Miller and Joan F. Mitchell, both of Charlotte; Theresa M. Mobley, Hallsboro; Geraldine F. Murphy, Wallace; Janice N. and Sarah L. Norwood, both of Lenoir; Bertha A. Otey, Greensboro; Alice M. Powell, Lenoir; Carolyn B. Rhinehardt, Claremont; Jane A. Ryder, New Bern; Alice C. Sanders, Kinston; Dorothy L. Sims, Selma; Beatrice P. Stanley and Carolyn G. Tarpley, both of Greensboro; Doris C. Tate, Morganton; Anthanette L. Thomas, Greensboro; Sandra T. Vails, Salisbury; Willie Wagstaff, Greensboro; Eartha C. Walker, Charlotte

B.S.

Cleo P. Bibby, Oxford; Madeline Boyd, Littleton; Patricia A. Corry, Kings Mountain; Sandra E. Echols, Greensboro; Nancy E. Foote, Elkin; Wilma L. Giles, Mount Olive; Doris I. Jowers, Greensboro; Mary E. Lownes, Yanceyville; Yvonne B. Mason, Greensboro; Faye E. Oliver, Clemmons; Marie A. Pouncey, Goldsboro; Ruth M. Twitty, Black Mountain

A.B.
South Carolina

Barbara D. Hammond, Greenville; Linda A. Hardy, Anderson; Gloria Y. Leevy, Columbia; Diane A. Moore, Florence; Rosalind R. Tennie, Florence; Brenda L. Thornton, Beaufort; Irene E. Walker, Columbia; Gwendolyn Y. Washington, Rembert; Corine L. Whittington, Columbia; Dorothy P. Wilkerson, Charleston; Josie M. Willis, North Augusta; Gwendolyn C. Winn, Sumter

B.S.

Genevieve E. Gadsden and Barbara R. James, both of Charleston

A.B.
Virginia

Sygnora E. Fogg, Newport News; Margaret J. Hill, Petersburg; Pearl L. Otho, Hampton; Diane O. Poindexter, Lexington; Edna F. Smith, Hampton; Bernice Walker, Roanoke

B.S.

Jean P. Bailey, Hampton; Margie R. Dillard, Gladys; Claudia M. Hubbard, South Hill; Phyllistine Y. Ward, Farmville; Clemontene V. Watkins, South Hill

A.B.
Pa.; N. Y., N. J. & New England

Helene V. Douglas, Philadelphia; Gloria J. Gill Bloomfield, Conn.; Darlene S. Green, Philadelphia; Linda F. Hardy, Scranton, Pa.; Velma M. Harris, Camden, N. J.; Sonja Hazard, New York City; Bette E. Holmes, Camden, N. J.; Charlene L. Porterfield, Philadelphia; Cheryl A. Walls, Camden, N. J.

B.S.

Joyce J. Brown, Neptune, N. J.; Claraleata C. Matthew, Camden, N. J.

A.B.
D. C. and Maryland

M. Regina Carpenter, Washington; Carolyn A. Carter and Paula L. Lewis, both of Baltimore; Zelma J. Little and Patricia L. Murray, both of Washington

B.S.

Rulene A. Molock, Vienna, Md. and Wendy M. Parker, Baltimore

A.B.
Miss., Ala. and La.

Mary E. Adams, Pontotoc, Miss.; Frances A. Campbell, Montgomery, Ala.; Elizabeth A. Hansberry, New Orleans; Catherine Stallings, Tupelo, Miss.

B.S.

Janice G. Leggette, Birmingham, Ala.

A.B.
Georgia and Florida

Aaron R. Ellis, Palataka, Fla.; Edna M. Hardy, Thomasville, Ga.; Juanita M. Jackson, Jacksonville, Fla.; Marie A. Kelly, Palatka, Fla.;

B.S.

Norman E. Hester, Thomasville, Ga.; Paulette L. Hopkins, Miami, Fla.; Marcia A. Johnson, Atlanta, Ga.; Essie M. Lias, Winter Park, Fla.

A.B.
Midwest and Texas

Marilyn H. Mackel, Chicago, Ill.; Phyllis A. Reed, Memphis, Tenn.

B.S.

Patricia L. Washington, Houston, Texas

B.S.
Foreign

Marie-Teresa Nwanze, Nigeria, West Africa.

BENNETT VESPER SPEAKER

"The foundation of our Great Society will not be wealth, education or economic power but the Christian home with mother at the center," the Rev. Cecil Bishop, pastor of Trinity AMEZ Church, declared in his Mother's Day message at Bennett College on Sunday.

An annual feature of this service is the return of graduates to the campus to present their children for Christian baptismal rites performed by the Rev. John [illegible] college chaplain. The following families participated:

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lane (Barbara Stewart, '60) of Petersburg, Va., a son, Christopher Allen; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Humphrey (Bobbie Thompson, '52) of Greensboro, a son, Michael Alan; Mr. and Mrs. Lennie Little (Virginia Smith, '63) of Greensboro, a son, Robert; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Horton (Peggie Smith, '57) of Greensboro, a daughter, Tonya Lynette; and Mr. and Mrs. Otis Sellars, Jr. (Bettye McLean, '59) a son, Keith.

SCIENCE EMPHASIS WEEK OBSERVED AT BENNETT

The 13th annual Science Emphasis Week at Bennett College featured three student seminars and three visiting lecturers.

This year's observance, which had as its theme, "Science in a Changing Society," was jointly sponsored by the Science Seminar Club and Beta Kappa Chi, scientific honorary society, under the supervision of Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the science division.

Lecturers included Dr. Samuel Sykes, chairman of the department of mathematics at A&T College, who spoke on "Some Algebraic Properties of Integers"; Dr. William Darity, director of community projects for the North Carolina Fund, who chose as his topic "Some Sociological Factors Related to Planned Parenthood," and Dr. Ralph Amen, of the department of biology at Wake Forest College, Winston-Salem, whose subject was biology at Wake Forest College, Winston-Salem, whose subwas "Photoperiodism in Flowering."

Students who read papers during the three seminars were:

Misses Glenna Chavies, of Montclair, N. J.; Edrice Glass, of Atlanta, Ga.; Deladra Dabney, of Philadelphia, Pa., and Betty Jackson, of Easley, S. C., who read individual papers, and the following who made team reports:

Mamie Lias, of Winter Park, Florida, and Yvonne Hodge, of St. John Virgin Islands; Rose Myers, of Mt. Pleasant, S. C., and Clemontene Watkins, of South Hill, Va.; Mittie White, of Newark, N. J., and Wilma Giles, of Mount Olive, N. C.; Janice Leggett, of Birmingham, Ala., and Essie Lias, of Winter Park, Fla., and Paulette H[illegible]

BENNETT COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT

A college president and an African diplomat have been chosen to deliver addresses for the 92nd commencement programs at Bennett College, May 30-31.

Dr. William F. Quillian, Jr., president of Randolph-Macon Woman's College at Lynchburg, Va., will deliver the baccalaureate address on Sunday, May 30, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

An ordained Methodist minister, Dr. Quillian is a native of Nashville, Tenn., and the son of a college president. He received the A.B. degree from Emory University and the B.D. and Ph.D. degrees from Yale University. A member of Phi Beta Kappa and Omicron Delta Kappa, Dr. Quillian is also the recipient of two honorary doctorates.

In frequent demand as a speaker, he is also chairman of a faculty exchange program between 13 women's colleges in the United States and six in India. He is past president of the Association of Virginia Colleges and of the Southern Association of Colleges for Women and is the author of numerous articles for philosophical, religious and educational journals.

Delivering the commencement address on Monday at 10:30 a.m. will be Chief S. O. Adebo, ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary and Permanent Representative of the Permanent Mission of Nigeria to the United Nations.

A graduate of King's College at Lagos and holder of the bachelor of arts and bachelor of laws degrees from the University of London, Chief Adebo was awarded an honorary doctorate of laws by Western Michigan University. His career in the service of the Nigerian government began in 1941.

He is joint author of a report in 1952 on the "Nigerianisation" of the civil service of Nigeria and in addition to his duties as ambassador also serves as Commissioner-General for Economic Affairs.

Concert Artist With Students At Reception

Miss Claudia Lindsey (second from left) New York soprano, whose recital closed the current lyceum series at Bennett College, relaxes with three voice students during reception. Left to right: Misses Barbara Hammond, of Greenville, S. C., and Brenda Thornton, of Beaufort, S. C., and Mrs. Genevieve Williams, of Greensboro.

President Willa B. Player will award degrees to the class which promises to be one of the largest in the history of the institution and will cite those seniors graduating with honors and those who are recipients of awards for graduate study.

Commencement activities will begin on Friday, May 28 with class day exercises at 3 p.m. and a dramatic production at 8 p.m. The Graduate Association will hold its annual meeting on Saturday morning and at 1 p.m., there will be the All-Bennett luncheon at which members of the class of 1940 will be honored. Also in reunion will be members of the classes of 1935, 1945, 1950, 1955, and 1960.

Seniors Set Vespers At Greensboro

GREENSBORO - Members of the senior class at Bennett College will hold their annual vesper service on Sunday, May 16, at 4 p. m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Speaker will be Miss Velma Harris, of Camden, N. J. and the presiding officer will be Miss Cherly Walls, also of Camden. Miss Essie Lias, of Winter Park, Florida, will take the place of the college chaplain and Miss Dorothy Wilkerson, of Charleston, S. C., will be the Old Testament reader. Directing the choir will be Miss Joyce Dunn, of Kinston.

Creative Contest Winners

GREENSBORO - Winners of the annual creative writing contest at Bennett College were announced during the humanities division program held on Tuesday night.

Miss Evangeline Choto, of Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia, won the top poetry award while the short story award went to Miss Mable Blanding, of Sumter, S. C. Both are freshmen.

Bootstrap Operations Examined

Leaders Needed For Neighborhood Improvement

A professionally-trained person, attached to a public or quasi-public agency, is needed in Greensboro to assist with neighborhood organizations, Van S. Allen, professor of biology at Bennett College, said today.

Allen, who is studying for his doctorate in public health at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, made the recommendation in a report on a study of four neighborhood organizations in Greensboro, one in a redevelopment project, one in a transitional neighbornood and two in public housing projects.

Allen said that three of four attempts at developing indigenous neighborhood leadership proved successful. Actively functioning groups now exist in the transitional area and in two low-rent public projects. Allen said the participants have acquired feelings of personal worth and at the same time accomplished needed neighborhood improvements.

Declaring that neighborhood organization is a time-consuming process, Allen said it requires extensive personal devotion to work with youth behavior problems, to meet with property owners who are reluctant to rehabilitate and to contact public agencies in regard to physical and human needs. "Since the volunteer participant has only so much time to devote to his neighborhood, a need exists for assistance from full-time leaders," Allen said.

Even with functioning neighborhood groups, the guidance of persons skilled in community organization is required when problems arise beyond the capacities of the elected leaders, Allen said.

The neighborhood organization and development activities described in the report resulted from attempts to determine the problems and needs of low-income families. Specific attention was given to educational, economic, psychological and social needs evidenced by these families.

Efforts were made to find natural leaders in several neighborhoods throughout the city and to interest them in doing something about community needs. The natural leaders were encouraged and aided in forming neighborhood groups to discuss needs and concerns and to develop definite plans of action for solving community problems.

In the redevelopment area, Warnersville, Allen found that, despite a well-organized relocation office of Greensboro Redevelopment Commission and a number of meetings held for members of the community, the masses of the people in the area had not been reached. Many elderly homeowners were reticent to ask questions in mass meetings and failed to do so at the cost of being uninformed.

Allen saw the basic problem of a community organization in a renewal area and the reason for lack of complete success of the Warnersville organization as the "scattering" of grass roots leadership as redevelopment progressed. The meetings of the council did offer a medium however for answering a number of questions and meeting a number of problems.

Allen said the problem in redevelopment areas indicated the need for seeking indigenous leadership in the early stages of renewal, educating it to the purposes and functions of redevelopment and retaining it to give needed grass roots leadership to other residents.

Inability to find adult leadership in the transitional area on the near southeast side of the city prompted efforts to organize a teen-age council to work to get a recreational area. This group successfully carried out the project and parents were drawn into the work. Allen said the resulting community action group is ready to undertake other projects but needs guidance in its search for answers to community problems.

Organizations in Ray Warren and Morningside Homes, public housing projects, were instrumental in setting up lines of communications between management and tenants which had not existed before, establishing a basis for understanding and meeting a number of problems and complaints.

Allen said that tenants had gained confidence as a result of their successes and developed a pride and definite sense of individual worth by helping themselves. "The public housing project offers limitless opportunities for education in good citizenship, health practices, economical living and child care," Allen said. "It affords a carefully controlled environment for an attack on poverty in Greensboro."

STUDENTS MEET TOP SCIENTIST -- Members of Beta Kappa Chi, science honor society at Bennett College and their advisors, are shown with Dr. Ernest T. S. Walton, 1951 Nobel Prize winner in physics and Mrs. Walton, of Dublin, Ireland, during his recent visit to the campus of the Greensboro Institution. Left to right: Miss Lily So, of Indonesia; Dr. and Mrs. Walton, Miss Gloria Benson, of Columbia, S. C.; Samuel Byers, instructor in physics; Misses Kate Aseme, of Nigeria; Wei Lie So, of Indonesia, and Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the science division.

QUEEN AND COURT—Miss Edna Smith, of Hampton, Va., senior elementary education major, who reigned as queen of May Day festivities at Bennett College on Saturdey, is shown with members of her court. Left to right: Misses Beatrice England, of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Cheryl Reddick, of Raleigh, sophomores; Anthanette Thomas, of Greensbore and Sandra Vails, of Salisbury, seniors; Gloria Leevy, of Columbia, S. C., maid of honor; Cheryl Bright, of Washington, N. C., and Bernadine Harris, of Roanoke Va., juniors, and Gwendolyn Morse, of Ninety-Six, S. C. and Janice Hendricks, of Kingsport, Tenn. freshmen.

Bennett College Announces 92nd Commencement Speakers

GREENSBORO—A college president and an African diplomat have been chosen to deliver addresses for the 92nd commencement programs at Bennett College May 30-31.

Dr. William F. Quillian, Jr. president of Randolph - Macon Woman's College at Lynchburg, Va., will deliver the baccalaureate address on Sunday, May 30, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

An ordained Methodist minister, Dr. Quillian is a native of Nashville, Tenn., and the son of a college president. He received the A.B. degree from Emory U. and the B.D. and Ph.D. degrees from Yale University. A member of Phi Beta Kappa and Omicron Delta Kappa, Dr. Quillian is also the recipient of two honorary doctorates.

In frequent demand as a speaker, he is also chairman of a faculty exchange program between 13 women's colleges in the United States and six in India. He is past President of the Association of Virginia Colleges and of the Southern Association of Colleges for Women and is the author of numerous articles for philosophical religious and educational journals.

Delivering the commencement address on Monday at 10:30 a.m. will be Chief S. O. Adebo, ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary and Permanent Representative of the Permanent Mission of Nigeria to the United Nations.

A graduate of King's College at Lagos and holder of the bachelor of arts and bachelor of laws degrees from the University of London, Chief Adebo was awarded an honorary doctorate of laws by Western Michigan University. His career in the service of the Nigerian government began in 1941.

He is joint author of a report in 1952 on the "Nigerianisation" of the civil service of Nigeria and in addition to his duties as ambassador also serves as Commissioner-General for Economic Affairs.

President Willa B. Player will award degrees to the class which promises to be one of the largest in the history of the institution and will cite those seniors graduating with honors and those who are recipients of awards for graduate study.

Commencement activities will begin on Friday, May 28 with class day exercises at 3 p.m. and a dramatic production at 8 p.m. The Graduate Association will hold its annual meeting on Saturday morning and at 1 p.m., there will be the All-Bennett luncheon at which members of the class of 1940 will be honored. Also in reunion will be members of the classes of 1935, 1945, 1950, 1955, and 1960.

BENNETT VESPERS

"Courage is the act of living one's beliefs," Miss Velma Harris, of Camden, N.J., declared in her senior vesper address at Bennett College on Sunday.

DANCERS AT BENNETT -- Four members of the Bennett College modern dance group meet members of the Ballet Chaffee dance group of New York City following their performances at the Greensboro, N. C., institution last week. Students, left to right are: Misses Ruleen Molock of Vienna, Md.; Claudia Hubbard (partially hidden) of South Hill, Va.; Norma Hester, of Thomasville, Ga., and Barbara James, of Charleston, S. C.

111 prospective graduates at Bennett College listed

GREENSBORO, N. C. — A list of 111 prospective graduates — 81 candidates for the A. B. degree and 30 for the B. S. degree —was released last week by Mrs. Mary Eady, Bennett College registrar.

Baccalaureate exercises will be held on Sunday, May 30, with Dr. William F. Quillian, president of Randolph - Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Va., as speaker. The commencement address will be delivered by Chief S. O. Adebo, permanent representative of the Permanent Mission of Nigeria to the United Nations.

Dr. Willa B. Player, president, will confere the degrees. The list follows:

NORTH CAROLINA

A. B.

Resna E. Allen, Bettie L. Alston, Geraldine M. Capehart, Charlayne Crawford, Margie R. Cumbo, Del T. Currie, Johnsie M. Dillon, Marthalia J. Dunn, Betty Jo Foster, Frances H. Gaskin, Jacqueline M. Glenn, Lucille B. G. Gorham, Alice I. Griffin and Oza B. Hawkins.

Gloria R. Hayes, Joyce M. Haynes, Elsie B. Jacobs, Mae E. Jeffries, Naomi L. Largent, Lillie M. Madison, Gloria Miller, Joan F. Mitchell, Theresa Murphy, and Janice N. Norwood and Sarah L. Norwood.

Bertha A. Otey, Alice M. Powell, Carolyn B. Rhinehardt, Jane A. Ryder, Alice C. Sanders, Dorothy L. Sims, Beatrice P. Stanley, Carolyn G. Tarpley, Doris C. Tate, Anthanette L. Thomas, Sandra T. Vails, Willie Wagstaff and Eartha C. Walker.

B. S.

Sandra E. Echols, Nancy E. Foote, Wilma L. Giles, Doris I. Jowers, Mary E. Downes, Yvonne B. Mason, Gayel E. Oliver, Marie A. Pouncey, Ruth M. Twitty, Cleo P. Bobby, Madeline Boyd and Patricia A. Corry.

SOUTH CAROLINA

A. B.

Barbara D. Hammond, Linda A. Hardy, Gloria Y. Leevy, Diane A. Moore, Rosalind B. Tennie, Brenda L. Thornton, Irene E. Walker, Gwendolyn Y. Wasington, Corrine L. Whittington; Dorothy P. Wilkerson, Josie M. Wills and Gwendolyn C. Winn.

B. S.

Genevieve E. Gadsden and Barbara B. James.

Prospective graduate from other states are:

Arkansas

Virginia — Seynora E. Fogg, Newport News; Margaret J. Hill, Petersburg; Pearl L. Otho, Hampton; Diane O. Poindexter, Lexington; Edna F. Smith, Hampton; and Bernice W. Taylor, Roanoke.

Alabama — Douglas, Phillip Bloomfield, Conn.; Gloria J. Gill, Greenwich, Conn.; Darlen S. Goodwin, Hamden, Conn.; Linda F. Hill, Philadelphia, Pa.; Velma Jackson, New York City; Sonja Ware, West Africa.

Bette E. Holmes, Camden, N. J.; Charlene L. Porterfield, Philadelphia; Cheryl A. Walls, Camden.

Also M. Regina Carpenter, Washington, D. C.; Carolyn A. Carter and Paula L. Lewis, both of Baltimore; and Zelma J. Little and Patricia L. Murray, both of Washington.

Also Mary F. Adams, Pontotoc, Miss.; Frances A. Campbell, Montgomery, Ala.; Elizabeth A. Hansberry, New Orleans; Catherine Stallings, Tupelo, Miss.; Aaron R. Ellis, Palatka, Fla.; Edna M. Hardy, Thomasville, Ga.; Juanita M. Jackson, Jacksonville, Fla.; Marie A. Kelly, Palatka, Fla.; Marilyn H. Mackel, Chicago, Ill.; and Phyllis A. Reed, Memphis, Tenn.

B. S.

Jean P. Bailey, Hamilton, Va.; Margie R. Dillard, Gladys Va.; Claudia M. Hubbard, South Hill, Va.; Phyllistine Y. Ward, Emville, Va.; Clementene V. Watkins, South Hill, Va.; Joyce J. Brown, Neptuen, N. J. and Claudeata C. Mathew, Camden, N. J.

Also Rulene A. Molock, Vienna, Md.; Wendy M. Parker, Baltimore; Janice G. Leggett, Birmingham, Ala.; Norma E. Hester, Thomasville, Ga.; Paulette L. Hopkins, Miami, Fla.; Marcia A. Johnson, Atlanta, Ga., Essie M. Lias, Winter Park, Fla.; Patricia L. Washington, Houston, Tex.; and Maria Teresa Nwanze, Nigeria, West Africa.

TIME FOR SMILES — Miss Claudia Lindsey (second from left) New York soprano, whose recital closed the current lyceum series at Bennett College, relaxes with three voce students during reception. Left to right: Misses Barbara Hammond, of Greenville, S. C., and Brenda Thornton, of Beaufort, S. C., and Mrs. Genevieve Williams, of Greensboro.

Bennett Commencement Speakers

Speakers for the 92nd commencement programs at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C. are the Rev. W. F. Quillian, left, and Chief S. O. Adebo, right.

Dr. Quillian, president of Randolph-Mason Woman's College, Lynchburg, Va., will deliver the baccalaureate address on the afternoon of May 30. Chief Adebo, permanent representative of the Permanent Mission of Nigeria to the United Nations, will bring the commencement message on the morning of May 31.

Miss Jean Blair Engaged To Marry James Howard

Mr. and Mrs. Ezell Alexander Blair of 2004 S. Benbow Road announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Gloria Jean Blair of New York City, and James Jonathan Howard of Brooklyn, N.Y., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Edward Howard of Brooklyn.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, Aug. 28, in the chapel of Bennett College.

Miss Blair is on the staff of the New York City Mission Society. She graduated from Dudley High School and a year ago received a bachelor of arts in sociology from Bennett. In college she was president of her graduating class and was a member of Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honor society.

Her fiance will receive a bachelor of science degree in English from A&T College on May 30. He is doing practice teaching in Winston-Salem. At A&T he is a member of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity.

Both the bride-elect's parents are employed in the Greensboro public school system. Her father teaches at Dudley High School, her mother at Jonesboro School.

MISS JEAN BLAIR

MUSICAL PROGRAM

Instead of the afternoon vesper service Sunday, Bennett College will have a 11 a.m. service of music by the college choir. Mrs. Mary J. Crawford will be director.

MISS CLAUDIA LINDSEY, second from left, New York soprano whose recital closed the current lyceum series at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., chats with voice students during reception. Left to right are Misses Barbara Hammond of Greenville, S. C., Brenda Thornton of Beaufort, S. C. and Mrs. Genevieve Williams of Greensboro.

Recognition Of Students Set Friday

Recognition of Bennett College students for achievements in scholarship and co-curricular activities will be made at 10 a.m. Friday in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Winners of scholarships and fellowships for advanced study to be honored include:

Jane Ryder of New Bern, recipient of a Florina Lasker Scholarship covering all expenses for a year of graduate study at the institution of her choice.

Mary Adams of Pontotoc, Miss., recipient of an all-expense scholarship for graduate study at Smith College, Northampton, Mass.

Geraldine Capehart of Raleigh, recipient of a graduate scholarship in library science at Atlanta University, Atlanta, Ga.

Darilyn Wills of Georgetown, S.C., a scholarship covering all expenses for her junior year at the University of Hawaii.

Grants Made

Three grants for summer study, made available through the Women's Africa Committee of the African-Asian Institute, will be awarded to Marie Nwanze of Nigeria, at Macalester College, St. Paul, Minn., and to Evangeline Choto and Sophie Jamakanga, both rising sophomores from Southern Rhodesia, at the University of Pittsburgh.

Amanda Houston of Kinston, a rising senior, will receive the $300 faculty scholarship for the 1965-66 academic year and Eva Rice, rising senior of Washington, the Catherine Waddell scholarship of like amount.

Also to be recognized will be 27 students who have been named departmental assistants for next year and those who have been named assistant dormitory directors.

SAY "AH" PLEASE -- Miss Dorinda Smith, Bennett College senior, of New Haven, Conn., obeys instruction of Dr. Edward Rankin, of Meharry Medical College, during health examinations on the Greensboro, N. C. campus last week.

BENNETT BAPTISM — Children of Bennett graduates who were baptized during the Mother's Day program at the college are shown with their parents and godparents. Left to right: Lonnie Little holds son, Robert; Robert Lane, of Petersburg, Va. holds on Christopher; Otis Sellars holds son, Keith; Norman Humphrey holds son, Michael and Mrs. Daniel Morton holds daughter, Tonya.

Bennett College Lists 111 Prospective Grads

Greensboro 5/22/65

GREENSBORO - A list of 111 prospective graduates -- 81 candidates for the A. B. degree and 30 for the B. S. degree -- was released last week by Mrs. Mary Eady, Bennett College registrar.

Baccalaureate exercises will be held on Sunday, May 30, with Dr. William F. Quillian, president of Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Va., as speaker.

The commencement address will be delivered by Chief S. O. Adebo, permanent representative of the Permanent Mission of Nigeria to the United Nations.

Dr. Willa B. Player, president, will confer the degrees.

The list follows:

A. B.

NORTH CAROLINA

Resna E. Allen, Fayetteville; Bettie L. Alston, Rocky Mount; Geraldine M. Capehart, Raleigh; Charlayna Crawford, Greensboro; Margie R. Cumbo, Conway; Del T. Currie, Fayetteville; Johnsie M. Dalton, Greensboro; Marthalia J. Dunn, Kinston; Betty-Jo Foster and Frances H. Gaskin, both of Greensboro; Jacqueline M. Glenn, Durham; Lucille B. Gorham, Greenville; Alice I. Griffin, Greensboro; Oza B. Hawkins, Louisburg; Gloria R. Hayes, New Bern; Joyce M. Haynes, Wilmington; Elsie L. Jacobs and Mae E. Jeffries, both of Greensboro; Naomi L. Largent, Morganton; Lillie M. Madison, Brevard; Gloria Miller and Joan F. Mitchell, both of Charlotte; Theresa M. Mobley, Halsboro; Geraldine F. Murphy, Wallace; Janice N. and Sarah L. Norwood, both of Lenoir; Bertha A. Otey, Greensboro; Alice M. Powell, Lenior; Carolyn B. Rhinehardt, Claremont; Jane A. Ryder, New Bern; Alice C. Sanders, Kinston; Dorothy L. Sims, Selma; Beatrice P. Stanley and Carolyn G. Tarpley, both of Greensboro; Doris C. Tate, Morganton; Anthanette L. Thomas, Greensboro; Sandra T. Valls, Salisbury; Willie Wagstaff, Greensboro; Eartha C. Walker, Charlotte.

B. S. - Cleo P. Bibby, Oxford; Madeline Boyd, Littleton; Patricia A. Corry, Kings Mountain; Sandra E. Echols, Greensboro; Nancy E. Foote, Elkin; Wilma L. Giles, Mount Olive; Doris I. Jowers, Greensboro; Mary E. Lownes, Yanceyville; Yvonne B. Mason, Greensboro; Faye E. Oliver, Clemmons; Marie A. Pouncey, Goldsboro; Ruth M. Twitty, Black Mountain.

A. B. - South Carolina: Barbara D. Hammond, Greensboro; Linda A. Hardy, Anderson; Gloria Y. Leevy, Columbia; Diane A. Moore, Florence; Rosalind R. Tennie, Florence; Brenda L. Thornton, Beaufort; Irene E. Walker, Columbia; Gewndolyn Y. Washington, Rembert; Corine L. Whittington, Columbia; Dorothy P. Wilkerson, Charleston; Josie M. Wills, North Augusta; Gwendolyn C. Winn, Sumter.

B. S. - Genevieve E. Gadsden and Barbara R. James, both of Charleston.

A. B. Virginia: Sygnora E. Fogg, Newport News; Margaret J. Hill, Petersburg; Pearl L. Otho, Hampton; Diane O. Poindexter, Lexington; Edna F. Smith, Hampton; Bernice Walker, Roanoke.

B. S.: Jean P. Bailey, Hampton; Margie R. Dillard, Gladys; Claudia M. Hubbard, South Hill; Phyllistine Y. Ward, Farmville Clemontene V. Watkins, South Hill.

A. B. - Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, and New England - Helene V. Douglas, Philadelphia; Gloria J. Gill, Bloomfield, Con.; Darlene S. Green, Philadelphia; Linda F. Hardy; Scranton, Pa.; Velma m. harris, Camden, N. J.; Sonja Hazard, New York City; Bette E. Holmes, Camden, N. J.; Charlene L. Porterfield, Philadelphia; Cheryl A. Walls, Camden, J. J.

B. S.: Joyce J. Brown, Neptune, N. J.; Claraleata C. Matthew, Camden, N. J.

A. B. - District of Columbia and Maryland - M. Regina Carpenter, Washington; Carolyn A. Carter and Paula L. Lewis, both of Baltimore; Zelma J. Little and Patricia L. Murray, both of Washington.

B. S. - Rulene A. Molock, Vienna, Md. and Wendy M. Parker, Baltimore.

A. B. - Misspssippi, Alabama and Louisana: Mary E. Adams, Pontotoc, Miss.; Frances A. Campbell, Montgomery, Ala.; Elizabeth A. Hansberry, New Orleans; Catherine Stallings, Tupelo, Miss.

B. S. - Janice G. Leggett, Birmingham, Ala.

A. B. - Georgia and Florida- Aaron R. Ellis, Palatka, Fla.; Edna M. Hardy, Thomasville, Ga.; Juanita M. Jackson, Jacksonville, Fla.; Marie A. Kelly, Palatka, Fla.

B. S. - Norma E. Hester, Thomasville, Ga.; Paulette L. Hopkins, Miami, Fla.; Marcia A. Johnson, Atlanta, Ga.; Essie M. Lias, Winter Park, Fla.

A. B. - Midwest and Texas- Marilyn H. Mackel, Chicago, Ill.; Phyllis A. Reed, Memphis, Tenn.

B. S. - Patricia L. Washington, Houston, Texas.

B. S. - Foreign: Marie-Teresa Nwanze, Nigeria, West Africa.

SCHOLAR AT BENNETT — Dr. Stephen Cappannari of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., chats with two Bennett College seniors—Misses Regina Carpenter, of Washington, D. C., and Charlayna Crawford, of Greensboro—following one of five lectures on human behavior he delivered at the Greensboro institution last week. Greensboro 5/22/65

ATTEND BENNETT'S SATURDAY SCHOOL

25 Students Accepted By Colleges

News 5/23/65

Twenty-five of the high school seniors attending the Saturday School at Bennett College have been accepted for college admission at 12 institutions—nine of them on scholarships—it was announced during closing exercises Saturday.

The school, headed by Dr. Richard L. Fields, seeks, through a grant from the Carnegie Corp. of New York to enrich the pre-college preparation of high-ability juniors and seniors from high schools in the area near Bennett College.

Winners of scholarships include:

George Byrd of Jordan-Sellars High, Burlington, and Archie McKinnon Jr. of Central High, Asheboro, four-year scholarships to Johnson C. Smith University at Charlotte; Dorothy Moore of Peabody High, Troy; Gloria Slade of Booker T. Washington High, Reidsville; and Sandra Wilson of Dudley High, Greensboro, to Bennett.

Alma Robinson of Anderson High, of Winston-Salem, a National Merit Scholarship and the Phi Delta Kappa National Scholarship to Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vt.; Annie Mitchell of the Caswell County Training School, Yanceyville, a $2,000 Max Williamson Award to Livingstone College at Salisbury.

Gladys Fowler of Caswell County Training School at Yanceyville, a scholarship to Shaw University at Raleigh and Eva Bell of Booker T. Washington High, Reidsville, a scholarship to Hampton (Va.) Institute.

Announcement of awards made by Dr. F. L. Grandison, school counselor, showed that six students will be valedictorians and will be salutatorians at their respective high schools, with four others graduating with academic honors.

For their achievement in the school, nine students received honor certificates while the top five students also received dictionaries. In this group were Dorothy Moore, Ira Palmer, Marvarene Slade, Alma Robinson and Sandra Wilson. Rayvon Wheeler was adjudged to be the student showing the greatest progress based upon scores of standardized tests given in October and re-test scores in May.

Choir Program Set At Bennett College

The Bennett College Choir directed by Mrs. Mary M. Crawford will present a program of sacred and secular music, including many folk songs and spirituals, in its annual spring concert at 8 o'clock tonight in Pfeiffer Chapel. News 5/24/65

Mrs. Bernice Otudeko of Chapel Hill and Lagos, Nigeria, will be guest soloist. Other soloists will include Ellen Alexander of Hartford, Conn., and Elaine James of Greensboro. The Bennett Quartette will sing several selections.

Greensboro Times 5/22/65

BENNETT COMMENCEMENT —Speakers for the 92nd commencement programs at Bennett College, Greensboro, are shown here. Dr. Quillian, president of Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Va., will deliver the baccalaureate address on the afternoon of May 30 and Chief Adebo, permanent representative of the Permanent Mission of Nigeria to the United Nations, will bring the commencement message on the morning of May 31.

Play To Open At Bennett

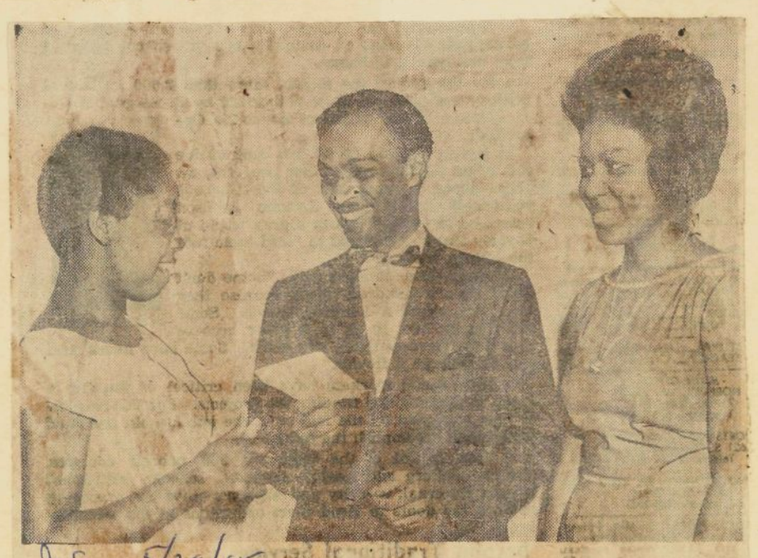

News 5/15/65

The Euripides classic, "The Trojan Women," in which action takes place shortly after the capture of Troy, will be presented at 8 o'clock tonight in the Bennett College Little Theater with Miss Claudia Finger directing.

Ana Turner of Cincinnati, Ohio, will have the role of Helen, with Mittie White of Newark, N.J., as Athena, Betty Carter of Cincinnati as Cassandra and Saundra Jenkins of Orangeburg, S.C., as Andromache. John Troxler Jr. will portray Menelaos. There will be a Greek chorus.

LITTLE THEATRE CONCERT FRIDAY

GREENSBORO — Matinee and evening performances have been scheduled by the Ballett Chaffee Group for its appearance in Bennett College's Little Theatre on Friday, March 26.

J8 - 5/29/65

Presented Prizes For Creative Writing

Miss Evangeline Choto, (left) of Southern Rhodesia, and Miss Mable Blanding, of Sumter, S. C., both rising sophomores at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., are all smiles as Dr. Darwin Turner, head of the English department at neighboring A. and T. College, presents prizes in annual creative writing contest. Miss Choto won top award for poetry and Miss Blanding, top prose award.

Bennett faculty honor senior Amanda Houston

Greensboro Daily News 5/29/65

GREENSBORO, N. C. — A senior with a 2.88 of a possible 3.0 average for five semesters who is qualified for a major in mathematics, chemistry or pre - medicine, has been declared winner of the $300 faculty scholarship at Bennett College for the 1964-65 academic year.

She is Amanda Houston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Houston, of Kinston, N. C., eldest of three children, who still finds time to participate in a wide variety of co-curricular activities.

In adition to membership in Alpha Kappa Mu, national honor society, of which she is president, she is also in Beta Kappa Chi, science honor society, and the Senior Honor Society.

SHE IS ALSO treasurer of the Student Senate, laboratory assistant in chemistry, an assistant in the college infirmary, and a part - time tutor of several public school students.

Announcement of the award was made during the annual Student Recognition program on Friday morning in Pfeiffer Chapel. The Catherine Waddell Scholarship also of $300, went to Miss Eva Rice, of Washington, D. C., a rising senior English major.

This scholarship is awarded annually to the rising junior or rising senior "of real need, scholarly achievement, exemplary character, and satisfactory personal - social growth."

THE GEORGE BELL Scholarship of $150, also based upon the foregoing criteria, was awarded to Miss Gloria Benson, of Columbia, S. C., a rising junior mathematics major.

Scholarships and fellowships for advanced study were announced as follows:

Florina Lasker Scholarship for one year of graduate study at the institution of her choice — Miss Jane Ryder, of New Bern, N. C.

Graduate Scholarship School of Library Service, Atlanta University — Geraldine Capehart, of Raleigh.

JUNIOR YEAR at the University of Hawaii — Darilyn Wilds, of Georgetown, S. C.; Summer Study Grants of the University of Pittsburgh — Evangeline Choto and Sophie Jamakanga, both rising sophomores, of Southern Rhodesia.

Summer Study Grant at MacAlester College, St. Paul Minn. — Miss Marie Nwanze, '65, of Nigeria. The last-named grants were made through the Woman's African Committee of the African - American Institute.

Students' Freedom Discussed

News 5/31/65

That the freedom lost and demanded by many of today's college students "is a part of the weakening or disappearance of many religious beliefs and moral standards," was a view expressed by Dr. William F. Quillian in his baccalaureate address at Bennett College on Sunday.

Dr. Quillian, president of Randolph-Macon Woman's College at Lynchburg, Va., also pointed to the weakening of previously close family ties as another reason why college students frequently turn to the philosophy of Existentialism as a means of filling the void caused by the loss of traditional standards and beliefs.

"When I was a senior in college," he said, "there was an attitude — taken from the Cole Porter musical — of "Anything Goes," but I do not believe this to be the mood of members of the Class of 1965, whether it be at Bennett College or elsewhere.

"The student of today, who seeks to lead his own life and who insists upon individual freedom, often does not see that he should exercise this freedom in a responsible manner. He must relate his freedom to some larger framework or pattern of meaning."

Commencement activities will be concluded today at 10:30 a.m. at which time Chief S. O. Adebo, ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary and Permanent Representative of the Permanent Mission of Nigeria to the United Nations, will speak.

Returns From Japan

J8 - 5/29/65

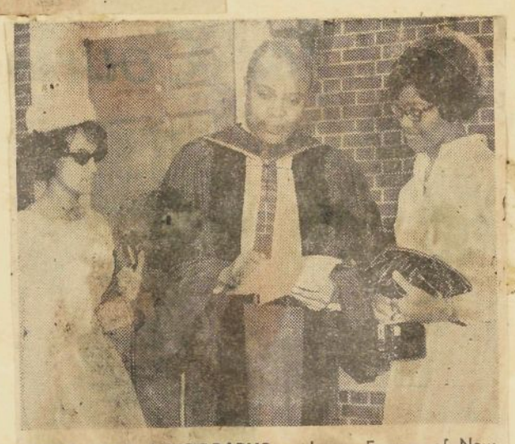

Dr. Willa B. Player, who returned last week from a six-week tour of Japan and Korea, shared highlights of her trip with students and faculty at the Friday and Monday chapel periods.

A wave of sustained applause greeted her appearance on the platform and was repeated at the close of her presentations.

Reminding the students that "people are what a culture is made of," Dr. Player said that the influence of the West is getting to be more and more in evidence in Japan, particularly in the construction and furnishing of hotels. The fact that 90 per cent of the country consists of uninhabitable mountain ranges, makes for high density of population in the remaining 10 per cent, she pointed out.

"I was most impressed by three things," she said, "namely the great creativity of the people as shown by their handiwork, their great creativity with nature and the shocking experience of Hiroshima where there is a Peace Monument dedicated to the proposition that Japan will never engage in war again."

She visited many of the shrines and educational institutions and found the Swedish people. In addition to many photographs and color slides, Dr. Player brought back a number of gifts, among them a piece of pottery to be placed in Holgate Library.

CORE HEAD AUTOGRAPHS — James Farmer of New York City, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) signs autographs for Misses Delores Walker of Durahm, N.C., and Eleanor Mitchell of Orlando, Fla., following his recent address at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C. Greensboro 5/29/65

Scholarships Given By Cone Auxiliary

Four current high school graduates interested in health careers have received $125 scholarships offered by Moses Cone Hospital Auxiliary, according to announcement by Mrs. Claude C. Pierce, auxiliary president.

The winners are Miss Pamela Pickard, Grimsley High, daughter of Mrs. Robert Pickard, 1904 Oak St.; Miss Ania Pinson Dudley, granddaughter of Mr. A. L. McClendon, 1005 Lincoln St.; Miss Jacqueline Thorpe, Page, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Thorpe, 3307 Donnell St., and Miss Sheila Huntzinger, Smith, daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Paul J. Huntzinger, 2513 Hardie St.

MISS ANITA PINSON ... Of Dudley

Miss Pinson has been accepted at Bennett College, where she plans to take pre-medical studies. She was president of the Health Careers Club her senior year and member of the Medical Club.

RALEIGH, N. C., SATURDAY, MAY 29, 1965

Bennett's Dr. Player Shares Highlights Of Six-Week Tour With Students

GREENSBORO--Dr. Willa B. Player, who returned last week from a six-week tour of Japan and Korea, shared highlights of her trip with students and faculty at the Friday and Monday chapel periods.

A wave of sustained applause greeted her appearance on the platform and was repeated at the close of her presentations.

Reminding the students that "people are what a culture is made of," Dr. Player said that the influence of the West is getting to be more and more in evidence in Japan, particularly in the construction and furnishing of hotels. The fact that 90 per cent of the country consists of uninhabitable mountain ranges, make for high density of population in the remaining 10 per cent, she pointed out.

"I was most impressed by three things," she said, "namely the great creativity of the people as shown by their handiwork, their great creativity with nature and the shocking experience of Hiroshima where there is a Peace Monument dedicated to the proposition that Japan will never engage in war again."

She visited many of the shrines and educational institutions and found the Japanese highly literate, second only to the Swedish people. In addition to many photographs and color slides, Dr. Player brought back a number of gifts, among them a piece of pottery to be placed in Holgate Library.

15 GREENSBOKO GRADUATES

Commencement Set At Bennett College

News 5/30/65

Fifteen seniors from Greensboro are among 109 scheduled to receive degrees at Bennett College's 92nd commencement at 10:30 a.m. Monday in Pfeiffer Chapel.

A total of 51 members of this year's class are from North Carolina. Charlotte and Lenoir with three each and Kinston and New Bern with two each are cities represented by more than one graduate.

Annual meeting of the National Council of Bennett Parents will be held at 9:30 a.m. today in the David D. Jones Student Union. It will feature a symposium.

At 4 p.m. today, baccalaureate services will be held in Pfeiffer Chapel with Dr. William F. Quillian, president of Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Va., as speaker.

Graduates of Bennett presented President Willa B. Player $5,272 as their contribution to the Loyalty Fund as a highlight of the annual All-Bennett Luncheon, Saturday afternoon. The presentation, which followed the annual meeting of the National Graduate Association, exceeded that of last year by almost $900.

Conference Set At Bennett

News 5/31/65

A conference for Bennett College admissions counselors has been scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday in the student union.

Opening session at 9 a.m. will feature addresses by President Willa B. Player and Mrs. Mary T. Coleman, director of admissions, and a panel discussion on "The Work of the Admissions Counselor."

The afternoon session will concern "The Bennett Student," with Dr. Grandison discussing "The Freshman Profile"; Dr. C. G. Winston "The Academic Program," and Mrs. Minnie B. Smith, "Student Life."

On Wednesday at 9 a.m., panel will discuss "The Stud Selection Process and Admissi Procedures."

GREATIVITY REWARD— Miss Evangeline Choto, left, of Southern Rohdesia, and Miss Mable Blanding, of Sumter, S. C., both sophomores at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., are all smiles as Dr. Darwin Turner, head of the English department at neighboring A and T. College, presents prizes in annual creative writing contest. Miss Choto won top award for poetry and Miss Blanding, top prose award.

Greensboro 5/29/65

F0 - 5/28/65

Speakers For The 92nd Commmencement Program at Bennett College

Speakers for the 92nd commencement programs at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., are shown here. Dr. Quillian, president of Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Va., will deliver the baccalaureate address on the afternoon of May 30 and Chief Adebo, permanent representative of the Permanent Mission of Nigeria to the United Nations, will bring the commencement message on the morning of May 31.

18

School's End Called Start Of Struggle

BY CHARLES PRICE
Record Staff Writer

A Nigerian diplomat faced the 105-member graduating class of Bennett College here today and told them, "Now the struggle has begun."

The speaker was Chief S. O. Adebo, ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary permanent representative of his country to the United Nations.

He addressed the Bennett seniors at the 92nd commencement exercises in the Annie Merner Pfeiffer Chapel on the campus.

THE ACADEMIC struggles endured during four years of college, Adebo warned, are "nothing compared to the journey you will have to traverse" in the future.

Adebo, whose native country won its independence in 1960, said "the struggle . . . was only a struggle for a means to an end; it was not an end in itself. It was only a beginning. On Oct. 1, 1960, we celebrated a commencement, the beginning of a new road."

In like manner, Adebo indicated, the founding of the United Nations in 1945 was "only a beginning." It was, he said, "a blueprint for establishing and maintaining peace in the world."

The work in Nigeria, he said, began with the winning of independence. "The problems of Africa today are not the problems of yesterday. The enemies are want, hunger, disease, ignorance. They require a different sort of ammunition. These problems must be solved with hard work and hard thinking."

So it is, he said, in the world. "The world we live in today is not the world of yesterday. The tools of yesterday will not suffice."

"The United Nations," Adebo told the seniors, "has not failed. It is you and I and all the humanity of the world who have failed the founders of the United Nations." If the world organization is not to fail—and Adebo assured his audience that it would not—"you and I must make it succeed. It must succeed. If it does not succeed, everything is naught."

"That is why the youth are so important today," he said. "You will have to face problems of great immensity. Who can tell what the world is going to be when you take charge? It is going to be a more complicated, more difficult world, but I hope it can be a better world."

Bennett College, he said, has taught its students how to think, not what to think. "You go out into the world, free to think, free to think objectively, free to think straight. What you have to do now is to prepare for that time when leadership will fall into your hands."

"Now the struggle has begun," Adebo said, "the struggle to reform this world. I hope you will go into that struggle with humility."

Successful achievement of world peace, Adebo pointed out, will come "if we are all prepared to put humanity first, and our country and ourselves last. I love my country; I do not love its weaknesses. The answer is not my country right or wrong, my friend right or wrong. That is not patriotism, to follow along like sheep. That way, lies destruction for all of us."

"Be resolved," Adebo said, "to do all you can to make your great country greater still, but greater in the context of a greater world. No country can have a great society without being in the context of an even greater international society."

HE UNDERSCORED the importance of Christiantiy in the struggle of which he spoke: "A house built on Christ" is stable; "Go into the world and do as the disciples of Christ were asked to do."

Quoting the late Pope John XXIII, Adebo said, "Let us all remember that we are all brothers in this earth."

The United Nations, he stated, is "a very imperfect body, which merely reflects the imperfections of us all." He urged that men "see not what divides them, but what unites them, in order that peace may be achieved: Peace to build, and grow, and to live in harmony and sympathy with others."

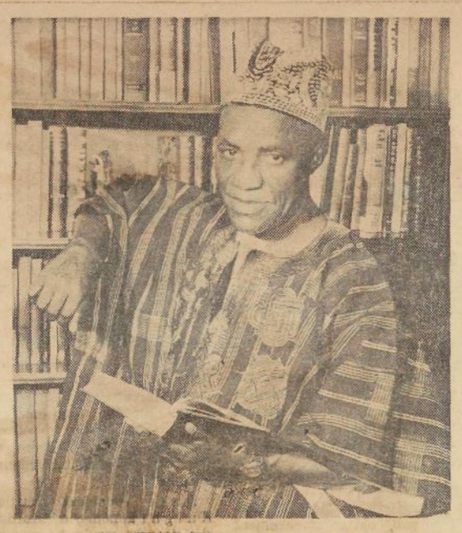

"We belong not only to our families and to our countries, but to our world."

"Remember humanity," he said, "and remember God."

Adebo, member of the permanent Nigerian mission to the United Nations, was introduced by Bennett College President Dr. Willa B. Player. Commencement exercises were held a 10:30 a.m.

Graduating with high honors was Beatrice Petty Stanley of Greensboro. Graduating with honors were Patricia Ann Corry of Kings Mountain, Johnsie Mae Dalton of Greensboro, Marthalia Joyce Dunn of Kinston, Wilma Lois Giles of Mount Olive, Lillie Mae Madison of Brevard, Marie-Teresa Nneka Nwanze of Asaba, Nigeria, and Bertha Ann Otey of Greensboro.

The invocation was delivered by Rev. Julius Kelly of Brooklyn, N. Y. Rev. James Adams of Baldwin, Miss., pronounced the benediction.

(Record staff photo.)

UNITED NATIONS DIPLOMAT SPEAKS HERE
Chief S. C. Adebo of Nigeria at Bennett College

BENNETT GRADUATION

Nigerian U.N. Official Links World Societies

The flavor of internationalism was clearly in evidence as 109 graduates filed out of Pfeiffer Chapel following commencement exercises at Bennett College Monday morning.

Speaker for the occasion was His Excellency Chief S. O. Adebo, permanent representative of Nigeria to the United Nations. Adebo told the graduates that "No great society can succeed except in the context of a great international society."

Adebo urged the group to "Put humanity first and your country and yourself last. . . . I love my country of Nigeria," he said, "but I do not love its weaknesses. My country right or wrong will not save Nigeria or the greatest countries of the world. That is not the way."

Adebo said the countries of the world had not put humanity first and that was why many thought the United Nations had failed. "The United Nations has not failed. Humanity has failed the United Nations. You and I must make it succeed because it must succeed. If it does not succeed then nothing will succeed."

Enemies Defined

The U.N. representative said the enemies of today were different from those of yesterday. He said today's enemies are want, hunger, disease and ignorance. "These enemies require a different kind of ammunition. The solutions are in hard thinking and hard work," he said.

Adebo said his native land as an independent nation was less than five years old. "Today much of Africa is free from colonialism," he said, but that struggle for independence was only a means to achieve an end. It was not the end. In Nigeria, we are celebrating, as you are, a commencement."

The theme of internationalism was carried further with the announcement by Mrs. Blanche R. Raiford, director of special events, that since 1945, thirty-two girls from different countries have received degrees from Bennett College. One of the members of the graduating class, Maire-Teresa Nneka Nwanze of Asaba, Nigeria, presented the college with the flag of the new African nation.

Graduating with highest honors at the 92nd commencement of the Methodist affiliated all-girl school was Beatrice Perry Stanley of Greensboro. Graduating with honors were two other Greensboro girls, Johnsie Mae Dalton and Bertha Ann Corry of Kings Mountain, Marthalia Joyce Dunn of Kinston, Wilma Lois Giles of Mount Olive, Lillie Mae Madison of Brevard and Miss Nwanze of Nigeria.

Dr. Willa B. Player, president of the college, presided.

(Staff photo by Jim Wommack)

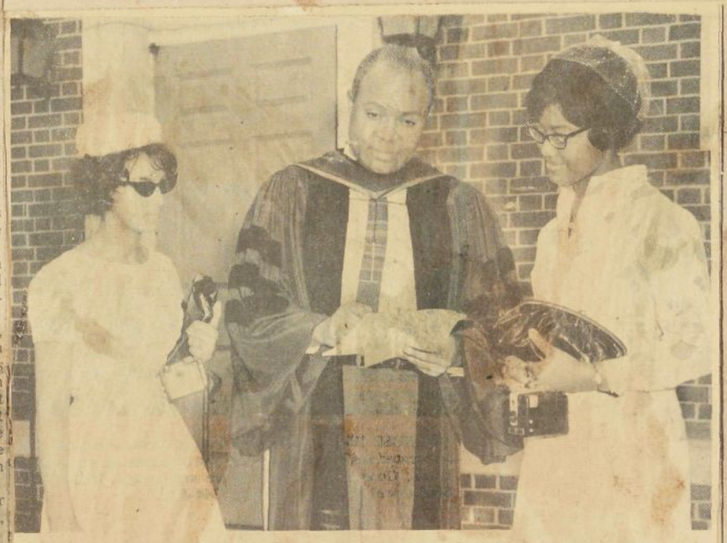

CHIEF S. O. ADEBO, BENNETT COLLEGE SPEAKER

BENNETT NEWS

"The Trojan Women" by Euripides, directed by Miss Claudia Finger, was presented Friday night in the Little Theatre to open the Bennett College commencement season.

The action which takes place shortly after the capture of Troy, featured in feminine leads Miss Mittie White, of Newark, N. J. as Athena; Helen Thomas, of Albany, Ga., as Hecuba; Betty Carter, of Cincinnati, Ohio, as Cassandra; Saundra Jenkins, of Orangeburg, S. C., as Andromache and Ana Turner of Cincinnati, Ohio, as Helen of Troy.

Principal male role, that of Menelaos, was portrayed by John Troxer, Jr. and there was the usual Trojan chorus.

CORE HEAD AUTOGRAPHS - James Farmer of New York City, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) signs autographs for Misses Delores Walker of Durham and Eleanor Mitchell, of Orlanda, Florida, following his recent address at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C.

BENNETT BAPTISM -- Children of Bennett graduates who were baptized during the Mother's Day program at the college on Sunday are shown with their parents and godparents. Left to right: Lonnie Little holds son, Robert; Robert Land, of Petersburg, Va. holds son, Christopher; Otis Sellars holds son, Keith; Norman Humphrey holds son, Michael and Mrs. Daniel Horton holds daughter, Tonya.

25 at Saturday School are admitted to college

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Twenty-five of the high school seniors attending the Saturday School at Bennett College have been accepted for college admission at 12 institutions — nine of them on scholarships—it was revealed during closing exercises recently.

The school, headed by Dr. Richard L. Fields, seeks, through a grant from the Carnegie Corporation of New York to enrich the pre-college preparation of high ability juniors and seniors from high schools in the area near Bennett College.

Winners of scholarships include:

George Byrd, of Jordan-Sellars High, Burlington and Archie McKinnon, Jr., of Central High, Asheboro, four - year scholarships to Johnson C. Smith University at Charlotte; Dorothy Moore, of Peabody High, Troy, Gloria Slade, of Booker T. Washington High, Reidsville, and Sandra Wilson, of Dudley High, Greensboro, to Bennett.

• • •

ALSO ALMA ROBINSON, of Anderson High, of Winston-Salem, a National Merit Scholarship and the Phi Delta Kappa National Scholarship, to Middlebury, Vernon; Annie Mitchell, of the Caswell County Training School, of Yanceyville, a $2,000 Max Williamson Award to Livingstone College at Salisbury;

Gladys Fowler of Caswell County Training School at Yanceyville, a scholarship to Shaw University at Raleigh and Eva Bell, of Booker T. Washington High, of Reidsville, a scholarship to Hampton Va.) Institute.

Announcement of awards made by Dr. F. L. Grandison school counselor, showed that six students will be valedictorian and two will be salutatorians at their respective high schools, with four others graduating with academic honors.

For their achievement in the school nine students received honor certificates while the top five students also received dictionaries. In this group were Dorothy Moore, Ira Palmer Marvarene Slade, Alma Robinson and Sandra Wilson. Rayvon Wheeler was deemed the student showing the greatest progress based upon the comparative scores of standardized tests given in October and test scores in May.

SCHOLARSHIP REWARDED — Three Bennett College seniors and one junior who have received awards for advanced study, left to right: Misses Geraldine Capehart, Raleigh, School of Library Service of Atlanta University; Darilyn Wilds, George town, S.C., junior year at the University of Hawaii; Mary Adams, Pontotoc, Miss., Smith College graduate scholarship, and Jane Ryder, New Bern, Florina Lasker Scholarship for study at the institution of her choice.

"Trojan Woman" Opens Excercises

GREENSBORO -- "The Trojan Women" by Euripides, directed by Miss Claudia Finger, was presented Friday night in the Little Theatre to open the Bennett College commencement season.

The action which takes place shortly after the capture of Troy, featured in feminine leads Misses Mittie White, of Newark, N. J. as Athena; Helen Thomas, of Albany, Ga., as Hecuba; Betty Carter, of Cincinnati, Ohio, as Cassandra; Saundra Jenkins, of Orangeburg, S. C., as Andromache and Ana Turner of Cincinnati, Ohio, as Helen of Troy.

Principal male role, that of Menelaos, was portrayed by John Troxler, Jr. and there was the usual Trojan chorus.

Bennett Stages "Trojan Women"

GREENSBORO, N. C. — "The Trojan Women" by Euripides, directed by Miss Claudia Finger, was presented in the Little Theatre to open the Bennett College commencement season.

The action which takes place shortly after the capture of Troy, featured in feminine leads Mittie White, of Newark, N. J. as Athena; Helen Thomas, of Albany, Ga., as Hecuba; Betty Carter, of Cincinnati, Ohio, as Cassandra; Saundra Jenkins, of Orangeburg, S. C., as Andromache and Ana Turner of Cincinnati, Ohio, as Helen of Troy.

PRINCIPAL male role, that of Menelaos, was portrayed by John Troxler, Jr. and there was the usual Trojan chorus.

Methodists' Meeting Opens

The North Carolina-Virginia Conference of the Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church held its first session Thursday at Bennett College with Bishop Charles F. Golden presiding.

The conference was opened with Holy Communion built around a message the theme of which was "Consider the Cup."

R. L. Clifford, district superintendent of the Virginia district, gave a composite report.

The Rev. Joseph F. Haskins of the Virginia district delivered the memorial message.

The conference will continue through Sunday.

They're Tops In Clothing At Bennett

Mrs. Louise G. Streat, head of clothing department at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., presents top award to Miss Betty Jackson, of Easley, S. C., while Miss Norma Cobbs, of Pittsburgh, Pa., winner of a notable achievement award, looks on following annual spring fashion show last week. Some 20 mannequins modeled outfits which they had made and eight students in millinery classes displayed their handiwork.

Received Awards For Advanced Study

Three Bennett College seniors and one junior who have received awards for advanced study are, left to right: Misses Geraldine Capehart, '65, of Raleigh, School of Library Science at Atlanta University; Darilyn Wilds, '66, of Georgetown, S. C., junior year at the University of Hawaii; Mary Adams, '65, of Pontotoc, Miss., Smith College graduate scholarship, and Jane Ryder, '65, of New Bern, Florina Lasker Scholarship for study at the institution of her choice.

Bishop Golden To Speak At Bennett

Approximately 1,000 laymen and clergy this morning will hear Bishop Charles F. Golden, of Nashville, Tenn., deliver a sermon at Bennett College, highlighting the closing session of the five-day fifty-annual convocation of the merged North Carolina-Virginia Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church.

Music for the 10:30 a.m. morning worship service will be provided by the Laurinburg District Choir. The disposition of miscellaneous business items, the reading of appointments by Bishop Golden and benediction will conclude the two state conference.

Saturday, reports from the ministers' wives, the board of pensions and other board, commission and committee studies were reviewed. An ordination and retirement service during the afternoon preceded a youth program under the direction of the Rev. J. W. Ferree.

More than 125 churches in both states were represented at the conference, the theme of which was "One Witness In One World."

107 Graduates At Bennett Urged To Help Make Their Country Greater

The 107 graduating seniors at Bennett College were urged "to help make their country greater," but warned that "no country can have a great society except within the context of a greater international society," during the 92nd commencement exercises held on Monday morning.

Speaker was His Excellency Chief S. O. Adebo, permanent representative of the Permanent Mission of Nigeria to the United Nations, who was making his first visit—"but certainly not my last ——to this city.

'Y'ou are leaving the college of formal education," he said, "for the college of personal development, and I congratulate you in the name of my country, my continent and myself. But I must warn you that the road which you have traveled is nothing compared to the road which lies ahead."

Recalling that his own country celebrated when it gained its independence less than five years ago, the diplomat stated that his countrymen were not celebrating an end but a beginning—a start down a new road. Most of Africa is free today, he pointed out, but there are still places on the continent where men are not free.

"The problems of Africa today," he declared, "are not the problems of yester-year and the enemies of today are not the enemies of the past. The enemies today are want, disease, hunger and ignorance. We cannot fight them with slogans but by hard thinking and by hard work."

Chief Adebo congratulated the seniors upon having attended a Christian institution where "you were taught how to think, not what to think," and reminded them that it is the youth of today who will have to take the reins of leadership tomorrow.

"I hope it will be a better world for you and your children," he said, "and I hope that you will enter the world struggle with humility. Ours is a technological age in which man's spiritual advancement has not kept pace. It is still more difficut to control man than it is the atom."

Mrs. Beatrice P. Stanley, of Greensboro was graduated with "high honors" and seven others, among them Miss Marie Nwanze, of Nigeria, were graduated "with honors." Miss Nwanze presented to the college a Nigerian flag which will be displayed, along with flags of other foreign nations represented among the Bennett alumnae, on formal occasions.

Mrs. Blanche Raiford, director of special events, who presented the other flags—South Korea, Panama, Ghana and Liberia—revealed that since 1945, 32 girls from 13 different countries have been graduated from Bennett.

President Willa B. Player, who conferred degrees, in her charge to the graduates, stated that "it takes an irritant to make a cultured pearl," and she hoped that the college had provided the necessary irritants to make of them cultured young women, "ready to live and serve responsibly" as greduates of the college.

Dr. William F. Quillian, president of Randoph-Macon Woman's College, at Lynchburg, Va., in his baccalaureate address on Sunday, urged the graduates "to exercise their freedom in responsible manner, relating to some larger framework of pattern of meaning."

CONFERENCE

The Methodist Churches' Annual Conference at Bennett College.

The appointment will be read Sunday, 11:00 a.m., Bishop Golden presiding.

GRADUATES AT BENNETT PRESENTED $5,272

Graduates of Bennett College presented President Willa B. Player $5,272 as their contribution to the Loyalty Fund as a highlight of the annual All-Bennett Luncheon, Saturday afternon.

The presentation, which followed the annual meeting of the National Graduate Association, exceeded that of last year by almost $900. Closest chapter rivary was between Washington, D. C. and Greensboro, with the local chapter taking first honors with a contribution of $1,850 over the $1,733 reported by the runner-up.

Negro Methodists Urge Settlement In Viet Nam

A resolution urging the nation to "move toward a diplomatic settlement in Viet Nam" was passed yesterday afternoon by the first annual session of the merged North Carolina-Virginia Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church.

The resolution called for negotations among all parties involved to end the war, and to establish effective international guarantee against foreign interference, with a vital role for the United Nations, and an internationally-supported economic and social program of reconstruction and development.

The June 2-6 conference at Bennett College represents more than 125 Negro churches in the two states, previously meeting in two conferences.

Several hundred are attending the daily business and report sessions, with more than 1,000 expected for the Sunday (10:30 a.m.) sermon of Bishop Charles F. Golden of Nashville, tenn., and reading of appointments.

Today's sessions included reports on world service and finance, evangelism and statistics, in the morning, and general board work, youth fellowship, and legislation, in the afternoon. At 5:30 p.m. there will be a dinner honoring Bishop and Mrs. Golden, and at 7:30 p.m., an anniversary program of the Board of Education, led by Rev. Joseph B. Bethea of Reidsville.

BISHOP GOLDEN today announced, in advance of appointments Sunday, that Rev. Mr. Bethea will become the new district superintendent for the Virginia district.

Saturday's program will feature business and reports in the morning and youth programs in the afternoon. The reading of appointments Sunday will conclude the conference.

Host for the program which opened at noon Wednesday was the Fayetteville Methodist Church with Rev. James H. McCallum as pastor. Rev. Samuel L. Townsend, Laurinburg, was host district superintendent. The annual sermon was preached Wednesday night by Rev. Clarence E. Strickland of Charlotte.

Twenty-Five Prep Seniors Are Accepted

GREENSBORO--Twenty-five of the high school seniors attending the Saturday School at Bennett College have been accepted for college admission at 12 institutions -- nine of them on scholarships -- it was revealed during closing exercises on Saturday.

The school, headed by Dr. Richard L. Fields, seeks, through a grant from the Carnegie Corporation of New York to enrich the pre-college preparation of high ability juniors and seniors from high schools in the area near Bennett College.

A10—Greensboro Daily News, Monday, June 7, 1965

Assignment Of Pastors Announced

Several shifts in pastoral assignments and the renaming of two districts were noted as the North Carolina-Virginia Annual Conference of the Methodist Church (Central Jurisdiction) ended at Bennett College on Sunday.

The former Greensboro and Winston Districts are now the Central District, with the Rev. James W. Gwyn remaining as superintendent. The Eastern District, formerly the Laurinburg District, is now headed by the Rev. J. W. Ferree. New superintendent of the Virginia District is the Rev. Joseph B. Bethea who served in Reidsville and the Rev. J. J. Patterson is now head of the Western District.

Major local change involved the transfer of the Rev. John Corry from St. Matthews to Clark Methodist Church in Nashville, Tenn., and the Rev. Alexander M. Anderson, pastor of Clark, to St. Matthews.

Bishop Charles F. Golden, of Nashville, before reading the appointments preached about the personal sacrifice necessary if one is to become a true follower of God.

"Some of us have created our own gods," he said, "fine homes and college degrees, etc. It is not wrong to have material resources, but when these stand between you and God, get rid of them. When God gets on the inside of you, you are no longer in control."

Negro Methodists Make Appointments Tomorrow

Reports and business matters highlighted this morning's session of the first annual meeting of the North Carolina-Virginia Conference of the Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church meeting this week at Bennett College.

Scheduled for this afternoon was an ordination and retirement service and a youth program led by Rev. J. W. Ferree of Winston-Salem.

Presiding Bishop Charles F. Golden of Nashville and his wife were honored Friday during a testimonial dinner.

At the afternoon session yesterday, Dr. Scott Allen, editor of the Central Christian Advocate, church publication, told the group that progress toward integration was sounding the death knell for the church paper. He urged the ministers to press for full integration of all churches of the Central Jurisdiction area.

At the closing meeting tomorrow nearly 1,000 people are expected to hear the morning sermon delivered by Bishop Golden.

The reading of the ministerial appointments tomorrow will conclude the five-day meeting.

Give To Loyalty Fund

Graduates of Bennett College presented President Willa B. Player $5,272 as their contribution to the Loyalty Fund as a highlight of the annual All-Bennett Luncheon, Saturday afternoon.

The presentation, which followed the annual meeting of the National Graduate Association, exceeded that of last year by almost $900. Closest chapter rivalry was between Washington, D. C. and Greensboro, with the local chapter taking first honors with a contribution of $1,850 over the $1,733 reported by the runner-up.

LOYALTY GIFT — President Willa B. Player, center, receives from Miss Mary Rogers, of Greensboro president of the Bennett College Graduate Association, checks representing over $5,000 contributed by graduates to the Loyalty Fund, as a highlight of the All-Bennett Luncheon, last week. In foreground is Mrs. Genevieve A. Kennedy, of Washington, D. C., of the honor class of 1940.

Scholarship To Bennett 4 Years

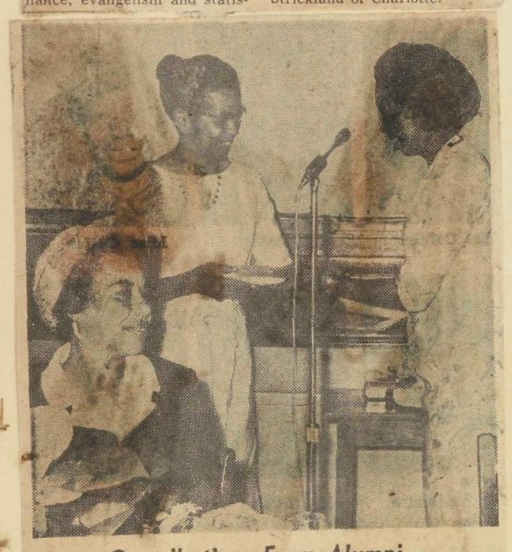

BURLINGTON, N. C. — Miss Bonnie Gale Warren, valedictorian, of the 1965 graduating class at Jordan Sellars high school, Burlington, has been awarded a four-year scholarship at Bennett College, Greensboro.

WARREN

She plans to study English or psychology.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Warren of Glen Raven, Bonnie was student reporter for "Time Daily News" and a member of Crown and Scepter Honor Society. She was selected as a finalist in National Achievement Scholarship program for outstanding Negro students, and was circulation manager of the school year book. Miss Warren holds membership in many religious, social and community organizations.

Contributions From Alumni

President Willa B. Player (left) receives from Miss Mary Rogers, of Greensboro, president of the Bennett College Graduate Association, checks representing over $5,000 contributed by graduates to the Loyalty Fund, as a highlight of the All-Bennett Luncheon on Saturday. In foreground is Mrs. Genevieve A. Kennedy, of Washington, D. C., who brought greetings from the honor class of 1940.

Bennett grads hear UN delegate from Nigeria

GREENSBORO, N.C. — The 107 graduating seniors at Bennett College were urged "to help make their country greater," but warned that "no country can have a great society except within the context of a greater international society," during the 92nd commencement exercises held last Monday morning.

Speaker was His Excellency Chief S. O. Adebo, permanent representative of the Permanent Mission of Nigeria to the United Nations, who was making his first visit -- "but certainly not my last" -- to this city.

"You are leaving the college of formal education," he said "for the college of personal development, and I congratulate you in the name of my country, my continent and myself. But I must warn you that the road which you have traversed is nothing compared to the road which lies ahead."

RECALLING THAT his own country celebrated when it gained its independence less than five years ago, the diplomat stated that his countrymen were not celebrating an end but a beginning -- a start down a new road. Most of Africa is free today, he pointed out, but there are still places on the continent where men are not free.

"The problems of Africa today," he declared, "are not the problems of yesteryear and the enemies of today are not the enemies of the past. The enemies today are want, disease, hunger and ignorance. We cannot fight them with slogans but by hard thinking and by hard work."

MRS. BEATRICE P. STANLEY, of Greensboro was graduated with high honors and seven others, among them Miss Marie Nwanze, of Nigeria, were graduated with honors. Miss Nwanze presented to the college a Nigerian flag which will be displayed, along with flags of other foreign nations represented among the Bennett alumnae on formal occasions. Mrs. Blanche Raiford, director of special events, who presented the other flags -- South Korea, Panama, Ghana and Liberia -- revealed that since 1945, 32 girls from 13 different countries have been graduated from Bennett.

President Willa B. Player, who conferred degrees, in her charge to the graduates, stated that "it takes an irritant to make a cultured pearl," and she hoped that the college had provided the necessary irritants to make of them cultured young women, "ready to live and serve responsibly" as graduates of the college.

Dr. William F. Quillian, president of Randolph-Macon Woman's College, at Lynchburg, Va., in his baccalaureate address on Sunday, urged the graduates "to exercise their freedom in a responsible manner, relating it to some larger framework of patterned meaning."

Get $4,000

Miss Janice Marie Johnson and George A. Byrd Jr., seniors at Jordan Sellars high school, Burlington, N. C., will receive Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation Scholarships valued at $4,000 each. Miss Johnson is the daughter of Bennie Johnson of Burlington, and Mr. Byrd is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Byrd Sr. The local winners are among 24 named throughout the state by Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation. The scholarships provide $1,000 per year for four years.

RECEIVES SCHOLARSHIP

Jessie Louise Robinson, adopted daughter of Miss Louise Robinson, 129 W. McCulloch St., who recently graduated from Dudley High School, has been awarded a $1,150 scholarship for one year of study at Bennett College here. At Dudley she was a member of the honor society, student association, safety patrol and participated in the annual Miss Jabberwock Pageant of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority local alumnae chapter during which she was elected "Miss Congeniality" and received a cash prize. She plans to major in business education and foreign languages.

Robinson

VAN S. ALLEN

AIRLINE INTERVIEW—Miss Naomi Largent of Morganton, N.C., a Bennett College senior, is being interviewed for possible employment as a stewardess, on Eastern Airlines, by (left to right) John T. Logue of New York City, personnel relations, and Joseph Cervini of Miami, Fla., supervisor of stewardess recruiting, during their visit to the Greensboro, N.C., campus last week. Awaiting her turn is Miss Saundra Jenkins of Orangeburg, S.C., a rising senior.

Beatrice Stanley Top Student At Bennett C.

Beatrice Perry Stanley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Perry, Jr., of New Orleans on Monday received the bachelor of arts degree at the ninety-second commencement of Bennett College for Women, Greensboro, N. Carolina. Mrs. Stanley stood first in the class of one hundred and nine, and was graduated with high honors.

At the close of the Junior year, while an exchange student at Willamette University, Salem Oregon, Mrs. Stanley was initiated into the Mortar Board National Honor Unit. In her Senior year, Mrs. Stanley was elected to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities, the Alpha Kappa Mu Honor Society, and she has been awarded a certificate of merit for outstanding academic achievement in her major field of psychology, with eight semesters on the Honor Roll.

Mrs. Stanley is a product of the local public schools, having completed her secondary education at Walter L. Cohen Senior High School.

Grads Present Over $5,000 To Dr. W.B. Player

GREENSBORO -- Graduates of Bennett College presented President Willa B. Player $5,272 as their contribution to the Loyalty Fund as a highlight of the annual All-Bennett Luncheon, Saturday afternoon.

The presentation, which followed the annual meeting of the National Graduate Association, exceeded that of last year by almost $900. Closest chapter rivalry was between Washington, D. C. and Greensboro, with the local chapter taking first honors.

New Position Is Created In Redevelopment Work

Van S. Allen, 39, professor of health and biology at Bennet College during the past academic year, has joined the staff of Greensboro Redevelopment Commission to fill a new post of director of special services, Robert Barkley, executive director of the commission, said today.

Allen, who is working on his doctor's degree in public health from the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, will work in neighborhoods with existing community councils and other groups to assist with family problems and in rehabilitation of property. He will obtain assistance of other agencies, such as health and welfare, if they are needed.

Allen previously has done some work in community organization, experimentally leading up to work on his doctor's thesis and made a published report on his findings. His thesis will be entitled "Program of education for families going into low-rent public housing" and will deal with the areas of nutrition, budget, child discipline, family planning and housekeeping procedures.

A native of Edwards, Miss., Allen was graduated from Tougaloo College, Tougaloo, Miss., obtained a master's degree in health from the University of Michigan, a certificate from Yale University in alcohol studies and a master's in public health from the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

He is married to the former Pearlena Briscoe of Jackson, Miss. The Allens and their son live at 939 Stephens St.

TEACHERS' TEACHERS: Among leaders in a "teaching program for teachers" at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro beginning June 14, left to right, Mrs. Katie Watson of A&T College; Mrs. Wilma Howe of the Greensboro city schools; Dr. William Colbert, director of "Operation Head Start"; Mrs. Gladys Brooks of the High Point city schools; and Miss Mary Ann Rogers of Bennett College.

Teachers Get Training Here In 'Head Start'

Approximately 450 teachers will participate in a summer training program at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro to learn ways of working with pre-school children classified as "disadvantaged."

"Operation Head Start," under the direction of Dr. William Colbert of the UNC-G School of Education, will run from June 14 to July 3. Each week will be a concentrated study session for 150 teachers.

When the teachers return to their homes, they will spend a part of the summer working with 5- and 6-year-old children who have not experienced advantages other children have had—a home library on their age level, trips to zoos and some cultural experiences.

Consultants working with Dr. Colbert include Dr. Sarah Morrow, assistant director of the Guilford County Health Department; Paul Gezon, executive director of the Greensboro Community Council; Van Allen of Greensboro Redevelopment Commission; Dr. Lyda Gordon Shivers and Dr. Nancy White, both of the UNC-G faculty.

A number of other instructors will serve as group leaders during the project. The program is under the auspices of the Office of Economic Opportunity, Washington.

130 to attend leader school at Bennett

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Some 130 representatives from six conferences of the Methodist Church are scheduled to attend the Upper Southeastern Regional Leadership School to be held at Bennett College, June 27 - July 2.

Classes and workshops will be held for five groups, namely: pastors, district superintendents and executive secretaries; chairmen and members of official boards and commissions; teachers and other workers with children; teachers and other workers with youth, and teachers and other workers with adults.

STUDY-DISCUSSION classes will be held in the David D. Jones Student Union with the following leaders: the Revs. Warren M. Jenkins, of Orangeburg, S.C., W. Paul Carlson, of Columbus, S.C., John Blakemore of Richmond, Va. and William C. Dobbins of Sylacauga, Ala.

Also Mesdames Bertha Dale, of Spartanburg, S.C., Lake Waldrop, of Columbia, S.C., Ila B. Wade, of Florence, S.C. and Miss Virginia Stafford, of Nashville, Tenn.

Laboratory classes directed by the Rev. Wesley G. Brown, will be held in the Union Memorial Methodist church, near the campus with Mrs. W. C. Strother Jr. of Philadelphia, Pa., and the Rev. Ronald Johnson of Nashville, Tenn. as leaders.

LOYALTY GIFT -- President Willa B. Player (left) receives from Miss Mary Rogers, of Greensboro, president of the Bennett College Graduate Association, checks representing over $5,000 contributed by graduates to the Loyalty Fund, as a highlight of the All-Bennett Luncheon on Saturday. In foreground is Mrs. Genevieve A. Kennedy, of Washington, D. C., who brought greetings from the honor class of 1940.

WELL-DESERVED HAND — Fresh from receiving their diplomas at the 92nd commencement exercises, the members of the class of 1965 at Bennett College are applauded by the faculty and staff as they march together for the last time.

North Carolina-Virginia Methodist Conference Appointments At Bennett College

Appointments for the North Carolina-Virginia annual Methodist Conference held at Bennett College, June 2-6, made by Bishop Charles F. Golden of Nashville, are as follows:

Central District — James W. Gwyn, District Superintendent; Asheboro — Mitchell, A. W. Jones; Nasses Chapel-Raleigh Cross Roads, Belvin Jessup; Brown Summit, Arthur Hall Celia Phelps, G. Haven Caldwell; Collins Grove-Homes Grove, John A. Gray, Empire, T. C. Tarpley; Glenola-Liberty Grove, Otto Withers. GREENSBORO—Browning Chapel, D. S. Harkness; Mt. Tabor, G. M. Phelps; St. Matthews, A. M. Anderson; Union Memorial, L. E. Brown; Warren St.-Mt. Carmel, J. B. Jowers; HIGH POINT—Brooks Memorial, W. R. Crawford; Saint Mark, O. W. Burwick; Laughlin Memorial-Summerfield, W. N. Johnson; Leaksville, H. A. Smith; Lexington-Chestnut Grove, Terry J. Burley; Madison, C. E. Dungee; Mt. Airy-Jones Temple, Luther H. Jones; Mt. Zion-Zion Hill, I. C. Spinks; New Goshen, Eugene Black; Oak Grove, William Howell; Pilot Mountain-Advance, Paul G. Carter; Piney Grove, Sophia J. East; Ramseur Circuit, Samson Buie; Reidsville, Cecil Marcellus; Rural Hall, Charles G. Bynum; Sedalia-Randleman, Wilbur Slade; St. Peter's, E. J. Jones; Thomasville: St. John-Brooks Temple, Gleen A. Brooks; Hoover's Chapel, David Dunlap; Trinity, Wesley Chapel-Chapel Hill, Willie N. Napper; WINSTON-SALEM: Mt. Pleasant, Liston Sellars, Jr. Oak Grove, William Howell; St. Andrews-Walnut Cove, R. D. Sharpe; Sant's Home, A. E. Robinson; St. Paul, L. M. Mayfield. Special Assignments: Secretary of Evangelism, J. W. Jones; Secretary Mission, Liston Sellars, Jr. Director of Christian Social Concern, G. A. Brooks; Director of Publishing Interest, A. M. Anderson; Director of Stewardship, Ross E. Townes; Director of Wills, H. A. Smith.

Eastern District — J. W. Ferree, District Superintendent: Enfield: Spring-Hoffman, O. M. Graham; Durham, Charles Tyson; Fayetteville: Asbury, Midway Brown; John Wesley, James H. McCallum; Hamlet-Philadelphia, Theodore A. Powell; Hickory Bend Circuit, John McEachin; Laurinburg - Beaver Dam, Samuel L. Townsend; Lumberton, Henry Joyner, Maxton-Johns, R. B. McRae; Oxford Circuit, Ira A. Friend; Piney Grove Beauty Spot, W. P. Cole. Raleigh, Samuel E. NeSmith; Red Springs-Pembrooke, W. F. Elliott; Rowland Circuit, J. W. Gamble; Sanford Circuit, J. V. Carter; Wall Chapel-Mt. Zion, J. F. Sawyer; Wilmington-Bolton, J. H. Shiver. Special Assignment, District Missionary Secretary, Samuel NeSmith, District Secretary Evangelism, S. L. Townsend; District Director Stewardship, S. L. Brooks; Director Christian Social Concerns, J. H. McCallum; Director of Hospitals and Homes, J. W. Graham; Director of Wills, Bruce Hargrove.

Virginia District — Joseph Bethea, District Superintendent, Alexandria: Alexandria Roberts Memorial, Herbert A. Green; Alexandria Woodlawn, Moses Prather; Arlington - Falls Church, Kenneth Frazier; Covington, Carl W. Rennick; Christiansburg, Stewart E. Black; Edwardsville, Joseph E. Tyes; Fairfax, Falls Church, Joseph Haskins; Grottoes, James B. McKay; Hamilton-McLean, Donald Adams; Harrisonburg-Bridgewater, Richard Bell; Horntown, Howard F. Barclay; Leemont, Walter J. Mills; Leesburg, Elwood H. Matthews; Leesville, William I. Johnson; Lexington-B. W., Lenneau H. Davis; Lynchburg - Bedford, James Pannell; Midesburg, Frederick D. Hobbs; Newport News-Pleasant Ridge, John C. Barr; Norfolk, Godfrey Tate; Penbrook, Burford C. Miller; Pittsville, George W. Fowler; Purcellville, Otis L. Jasper; Richmond-Asbury, Rawes S. Porte; Faith, Wesley Memorial, James David Key; Roanoke-Salem, David DeBerry; Staunton, Strausburg, Edward G. Wiggins; Wachapreague-Keller, Harvey L. Lambert; Waynesboro, Joseph A. Carter, Jr.; West Staunton, Walter Hurd; Withams, Hori W. Spencer; Winchester, Jeptha F. A. Kerr; Woodstock, Richard W. Hall. Special Assignments, Secretary of Evangelism, Otis L. Jasper; Missionary Secretary, Joseph F. Haskins; Director of Christian Social Concerns, Rawles S. Porte; Director of Publishing Interest, John Bolling; Director of Wills, Mrs. Lila Allen and Director of Hospitals and Homes, Mrs. Ora Jackson.

Western District — J. J. Patterson, District Superintendent: Asheville, J. T. Jones; Boone, C. S. Davenport; Catawba, Clifton Scott; Charlotte, C. E. Strickland; Elkin, W. R. Royster; Forest City, Booker T. Medford; Gastonia, J. E. McCallum; Hickory, H. W. Phillips; Hinton Chapel, M. W. Walton; Lowesville, R. H. McDowell Lenoir, M. S. McLaughlin; Marion, John Q. Dula; Kings Mt. J. M. McLean; Mooresville, A. W. Stowe; Mt. Holly, B. L. Burge; Newton, C. B. Jenkins; Phila, B. E. Hogue, Shelby, Marshall McCallum; Stanley, Bert J. Dula; Statesville, C. W. Bailey; Tuckers Grove, C. O. Hill; Wilksboro, Jacob Williams. Special Assignments, Secretary of Evangelism, M. F. McLaughlin; Missionary Secretary, J. T. Jones, Secretary Christian Vocations, Jed E. McCallum; Director Christian Social Concerns, Mrs. Mio Hudson; Director of Publishing Interest, C. E. Strickland; Director of Hospitals & Homes, A. W. Stowe; Director of Wills, Marshall McCallom; Special Appointments include: Executive Secretary For Christian Education: Richard L. Clifford, (Q. C. Richmond: Faith). Missionary: Douglas Moore, (Q. C. Ausbury - Temple) Chaplain United States Air Force: Miles Murphy (Q. C. Rhine Memorial, Red Springs, N. C.) Director of Wesley Foundation — A&T College, W. T. Brown, (Q. C. Trinity) Deconess, Miss Winfred Wrisley (Q. C. Berry Temple) ty) Deaconess, Miss Winfred (Q. C. St. Pauls). Rev. John G. Corry sent to Tennessee.

FOR CIVIL DEFENSE - Col. J. M. McGough, head of the civil defense program for Guilford County, presents certificates to four Bennett College students who were among campus group successfully completing intensive six-week training course. Left to right: Misses Barbara English, of Atlanta, Ga.; Mary Jacobs, of Mebane; Ella Coleman, of Lynchburg, Va., and Donna Offutt. of Louisville, Ky., only person to score 100 in the final examination.

BENNETT PRESIDENT RETURNS

Dr. Willa B. Player, who has returned from a six-week tour of Japan and Korea, shared highlights of her trip with students and faculty at the Friday and Monday chapel periods recently.

A wave of sustained applause greeted her appearance on the platform and was repeated at the close of her presentations.

Reminding the students that "people are what a culture is made of," Dr. Player said that the influence of the West is getting to be more and more in evidence in Japan, particularly in the construction and furnishing of hotels. The face that 90 per cent of the country consists of uninhabitable mountain ranges, makes for high density of population in the remaining 10 per cent, she pointed out.

"I was most impressed by three things," she said, "namely the great creativity of the people as shown by their handiwork, their great creativity with nature and the shocking experience of Hiroshima where there is a Peace Monument dedicated to the proposition that Japan will never engage in war again."

She visited many of the shrines and educational institutions and found the Japanese highly literate, second only to the Swedish people. In addition to many photographs and color slides, Dr. Player brought back a number of gifts, among them a piece of pottery to be placed in Holgate Library.

BENNETT NEWS

"Courage is the act of living one's beliefs," Miss Velma Harris, of Camden, N. J., declared in her senior vesper address Bennett College on Sunday.

Pointing out that one sense of direction in world, Miss Harris su four basic elements — namely, self-fulfillment, freedom, reflection and change.

"Were I able to see myself from a distance, I would not be content unless I had worked to leave that little part of the world in which I had lived some tiny bit a better place than it was when I was born into it," she declared.

SATURDAY SCHOOL AT BENNETT COLLEGE

Twenty-five of the high school seniors attending the Saturday School at Bennett College have been accepted for college admission at 12 institutions—nine of them on scholarships—it was revealed during closing exercises on Saturday, May 22.

The school, headed by Dr. Richard L. Fields, seeks, through a grant from the Carnegie Corporation of New York to enrich the pre-college preparation of high ability juniors and seniors from high schools in the area near Bennett College.

Winners of scholarships include:

George Byrd, of Jordan-Sellars High, Burlington and Archie McKinnon, Jr., of Central High, Asheboro, four-year scholarships to Johnson C. Smith University at Charlotte; Dorothy Moore, of Peabody High, Troy, Gloria Slade, of Booker T. Washington High, Reidsville, and Sandra Wilson, of Dudley High, Greensboro, to Bennett;

Alma Robinson, of Anderson High, of Winston-Salem, a National Merit Scholarship and the Delta Kappa National Scholarship, to Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vermont; Annie Mitchell, of the Caswell County Training School, of Yanceyville, a $2,000 Max Williamson Award to Livingstone College at Salisbury;

Gladys Fowler of Caswell County Training School at Yanceyville, a scholarship to Shaw University at Raleigh and Eva Bell, of Booker T. Washington High, of Reidsville, a scholarship to Hampton (Va.) Institute.

Announcement of awards made by Dr. F. L. Grandison, school counselor, showed that six students will be valedictorians and two will be salutatorians at their respective high schoos, with four others graduating with academic honors.

For their achievement in the school nine students received honor certificates while the top five students also received dictionaries. In this group were Dorothy Moore, Ira Palmer, Marvarene Slade, Alma Robinson and Sandra Wison. Rayvon Wheeler was adjudged to be the student showing the greatest progress based upon scores of standardized tests given in October and re-test scores in May.

SCHOLARSHIP REWARDED - Three Bennett College seniors and one junior who have received awards for advanced study are, left to right: Misses Geraldine Capehart, '65, of Raleigh, School of Library Service at Atlanta University; Darilyn Wilds, '66, of Georgetown, S. C., junior year at the University of Hawaii, Mary Adams, '65, of Pontotoc, Miss., Smith College graduate scholarship, and Jane Byder, '65, of New Bern, Florida Lasker Scholarship for study at the institution of her choice.

WELL-DESERVED HAND...Fresh from receiving their diplomas at 92nd commencement exercises, members of the class of 1965 at Bennett College are applauded by faculty and staff as they march together for last time.

"Help Make Country Greater," UN Delegate Advises Bennett Grads

GREENSBORO -- The 107 graduating seniors at Bennett College were urged "to help make their country greater," but warned that "no country can have a great society except within the context of a greater international society," during the 92nd commencement exercises held on Monday morning.

Speaker was His Excellency Chief S. O. Adebo, permanent representative of the Permanent Mission of Nigeria to the United Nations, who was making his first visit -- "but certainly not my last" -- to this city.

"You are leaving the college of formal education," he said, "for the college of personal development, and I congratulate you in the name of my country, my continent and myself. But I must warn you that the road which you have traversed is nothing compared to the road which lies ahead."

Recalling that this own country celebrated when it gained its independence less than five years ago, the diplomat stated that his countrymen were not celebrating an end but a beginning -- a start down a new road. Most of Africa is free today, he pointed out, but there are still places on the continent where men are not free.

Chief Adebo congratulated the seniors upon having attended a Christian institution where "you were taught how to think, not what to think,' and reminded them that it is the youth of today who will have to take the reins of leadership tomorrow.

BENNETT PARENTS -- Some of the persons who attended the annual meeting of the National Council of Bennett College Parents are shown in front of Pfeiffer Chapel on the Greensboro, N. C., campus after session closed on Sunday.

BENNETT PARENTS...Some of the persons who attended the annual meeting of the National Council of Bennett College Parents are shown in front of Pfeiffer Chapel on the Greensboro, N.C., campus after session closed on Sunday.

Bennett Saturday School Seniors Are Accepted for College

GREENSBORO—Twenty-five of the high school seniors attending the Saturday School at Bennett College have been accepted for college admission at 12 institutions—nine of them on scholarships—it was revealed during closing exercises on Saturday.

The school, headed by Dr. Richard L. Fields, seeks through a grant from the Carnegie Corporation of New York to enrich the pre-college preparation of high ability juniors and seniors from high schools in the area near Bennett College.

George Byrd, of Jordan-Sellars High, Burlington and Archie McKinnon, Jr., of Central High, Asheboro, four-year scholarships to Johnson C. Smith University at Charlotte; Dorothy Moore, of Peabody High, Troy, Gloria Slade, of Booker T. Washington High, Reidsville, and Sandra Wilson, of Dudley High, Greensboro, to Bennett;

Alma Robinson, of Anderson High, of Winston-Salem, a National Merit Scholarship and the Phi Delta Kappa National Scholarship, to Middlebury College, Middlebury Vermont; Annie Mitchell, of the Caswell County Training School, of Yanceyville, a $2,000 Max Williamson Award to Livingstone College at Salisbury;

Gladys Fowler of Caswell County Training School at Yanceyville, a scholarship to Shaw University at Raleigh and Eva Bell, of Booker T. Washington High, of Reidsville, a scholarship to Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va.

Announcement of awards made by Dr. F. L. Grandison, school counselor, showed that six students will be valedictorians and two will be salutatorians at their respective high schools, with four others graduating with academic honors.

For their achievement in the school nine students received honor certificates while the top five students also received dictionaries. In this group were Dorothy Moore, Ira Palmer, Marvarene Slade, Alma Robinson and Sandra Wilson. Rayvon Wheeler was adjudged to be the student showing the greatest progress based upon scores of standardized tests given in October and re-test scores in May.

Service Guild Plans Meeting

LAKE JUNALUSKA (AP) — The Wesleyan Service Guild of the WNC Methodist Conference will observe its 25th anniversary with the guild's meeting opening here Friday January 29th.

Speakers during the three-day event will be Dr. Willa Player, president of Bennett College, in Greensboro, and the Rev. Elmer Hall, former missionary to Malaya.

The Salisbury district is hostess for this year's meeting, with Mrs. Carl Barnhardt of Concord in charge of the opening service.

A feature of the Saturday morning program will be a panel discussion of the new charter of racial policies, adopted here by the conference WSCS, which has just concluded its annual meeting. Miss Mary Bethea will moderate the panel, which will consist of Miss Margaret Hodkins, deaconess, of Danville, Va.; Mrs. Barnhardt, and Hall.

Other principals on Saturday's calendar include Miss Ivy Myers of Brooks-Howell home, Asheville; Miss Lois Weaver of Greensboro; and Mrs. B. H. Groce of High Point.

The Wesleyan service guild has 4,700 members. It is the organization for employed women of the Methodist faith.

Bennett image discussed at Council of Parents

GREENSBORO, N.C.—More than 50 persons who attended the annual meeting of the National Council of Bennett Parents last week heard a symposium on "The Bennett Image."

Discussants were Dr. C. G. Winston, dean of instruction; the Rev. Charles Bollinger, director of development; Dr. A. M. Mackel, of Chicago, past president and Miss Mittie White, of Newark, N.J., president of the Student Senate for the 1963-65 academic year. Moderator was Dr. Marlow F. Shute.

Mrs. Bessie M. Nance, of Greensboro, newly elected president, presided and Wilhelmina Gilbert brought greetings to the parents from the faculty and staff. Closing remarks were made by President Willa B. Player.

REGISTERED for the meeting were:

North Carolina: Mr. and Mrs. Everett R. Echols, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Nance and Mrs. Dorothy M. Jeffries, all of Greensboro; Miss Dashia Harris, Charlotte; Mrs. Ruth D. Twitty, Black Mountain. Mrs. Zano G. Alston, Rocky Mount; Mrs. H. C. Edington and Mrs. D. M. Edington, both of Asheville; Mrs. Alice D. Sanders, Kinston; Mr. and Mrs. James Madison, Brevard; Mr. and Mrs. Clayward Corry of Kings Mountain.

MISCELLANEOUS: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goodson and Mrs. Ethelyn Shephard, all of Charleston, S.C.; Mrs. Alexine A. Smith, Florence, S.C.; Mr. and Mrs. James Adams, Olivia E. Carter; and Silas O. Richardson, all of Baltimore, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Little and Mr. and Mrs. Caesar A. Carpenter, all of Washington, D.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar A. Hamilton, of New Orleans, La.; and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Ward, Farmville, Va.; Mrs. Mamie P. Battle, Birmingham, Ala.

Mrs. Myrtle Reed, Memphis, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Silas J. Porterfield, Philadelphia, Pa.; Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Adams, Pontotoc, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. T.W. Campbell, Montgomery, Ala.; Mrs. Leroy Hardy and Mrs. Essie Cherry, both of Thomasville, Ga.

Mrs. Rose H. Willford, Riviera Beach, Fla. Mrs. Gladys Stringen, Montgomery, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Gill, Bloomfield, Conn.; Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Mackel, Chicago, Ill.

200 Top Ranking Students at Bennett for Intensive Study

GREENSBORO — More than than 200 high ability boys and girls from high schools in 21 states are on the Bennett College campus for six weeks of intensive study in three summer programs.

Highest enrollment—of 90—is in the National Science Training Program, sponsored by the National Science Foundation and headed, for the seventh straight year, by Dr. J. Henry Sayles. There are 36 boys and 54 girls and while the majority are from Carolina, some cime from as far as California, Montana, Nebraska, Kansas and Arkansas. Their courses include chemistry, biology, physics and mathematics.

Dr. Helen Trobian, who heads the Humanities School, reports an enrollment of 75 who come from 12 states. There are 67 girls and 8 boys juniors and seniors and their program includes art, drama, literature, music and philosophy.

There are 50 girls in the Scholars Program headed by Dr. Dorothy Bardolph. This program is limited to students who are recipients of scholarship awards to the college and who have been accpted or are in the prosecc of applying for admission to the freshman class. Their proggram includes specialized studies in the humanties, science and philosophy.

In this group are representatives from 10 states and the District of Columbia. Cooperative activities, involving students of all three schools, will be a band and a choir with rehearsals scheduled for the evening hours on alternate days.

There are no Saturday classes.

BENNETT PARENTS — Some of the persons who attended the annual meeting of the National Council of Bennett College Parents are shown in front of Pfeiffer Chapel on the Greensboro, N. C. Campus after session closed last week.

Methodist Guild Event Scheduled

Dr. Willa Player, president of Bennett College, and the Rev. Elmer Hall of Gibsonville, are among the speakers for the Western North Carolina Methodist Conference's annual convention of the Wesleyan Service Guild, it was announced today.

The 25th anniversary meeting of these guilds of business women, a part of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, will start Friday at Lake Junaluska. Theme is "To Serve Right Gloriously."

Mrs. W. F. Redding Jr. of Asheboro and Mrs. Ira C. Shelley and Miss Annabel Thompson of Greensboro are among the past conference secretaries who "served gloriously" to be honored. Mrs. Robert Ayers of Pleasant Garden is the present secretary.

On the program with Dr. Player and the Rev. Mr. Hall, recent missionary to Malaysia, is Mrs. Leslie Barnhardt of Charlotte, conference WSCS president.

LOYALTY GIFT...President Willa B. Player (left) receives from Miss Mary Rogers, of Greensboro, president of the Bennett College Graduate Association, checks representing over $5,000 contributed by graduates to the Loyalty Fund, as a highlight of the All-Bennett Luncheon on Saturday. In foreground is Mrs. Genevieve A. Kennedy, of Washington, D.C., who brought greetings from the honor class of 1940.

WELL DESERVED HAND — Fresh from receiving their diplomas at cises, members of the class of 1965 at Bennett College. 92nd commencement exer- Greensboro, N.C., are applauded by [illegible] and staff as they march together for the last time.

37 at Bennett teach programs

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Seven members of the class of 1965 and some 30 undergraduates are employed in the three summer programs for high school students being conducted at Bennett College, June 14 through July 23rd as Graduates include Maxine Twitty, Joyce Dunn, Bailey, Carolyn Elizabeth Hansberry, ontene Watkins and Linda F. Hardy.

Undergraduates Holloway, Amanda Delois Lowrance, Ann McRae, Wei Lie So, Shirley Neal, Mary Jacobs, Lucinda Katherine Williams, McAdoo, Dola Litle and Gwendolyn Leecost;

Also Betty Carter, Tonye Cathcart, Juanita Dula, Sumner Hodges, Leona Leach, Mary Holder, Tagilima Muasau, Linda Price, Erlene Roberts, Ann Stanback and Patricia Stanfield.

Bennett Gets $138,000 Grant

A $138,000 grant for construction of a new math and science building at Bennett College has been approved by the U.S. Office of Education, it was announced through the office of Rep. Horace R. Kornegay Wednesday.

Dr. Willa Player, president of the college, said it is hoped that the grant will eventually be increased to a minimum of $300,000. The cost of construction is estimated at $1 million. The balance of the funds will be solicited from the Methodist Church, to which the college is affiliated, foundations, United Negro College Fund and alumnae.

Pastors Warned Against Creating Their Own Gods

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Several shifts in pastoral assignments and the remaining of two districts were noted as the North Carolina - Virginia Annual Conference of the Methodist Church (Central Jurisdiction) came to a close at Bennett College.

The former Greensboro District and Winston District are now the Central District, with the Rev. James W. Gwyn remaining as superintendent. The Eastern District, formerly the Laurinburg District, is now headed by the Rev. J. W. Ferree. New superintendent of the Virginia District is the Rev. Joseph B. Bethea who served in Reidsville and the Rev. J. J. Patterson is now head of the Western District.

MAJOR local change involved the transfer of the Rev. John Corry from St. Matthews to Clark Methodist Church in Nashville, Tenn. and the Rev. Alexander M. Anderson, pastor of Clark, to St. Matthews.

Bishop Charles F. Golden, of Nashville, before reading the appointments preached about the personal sacrifice necessary if one is to become a true follower of God.

"SOME of us have created our own gods,' he said, "fine homes, and college degrees, etc. It is not wrong to have material resources, but when these stand between you and God gets on the inside of you, you are no longer in control."

Taking the pastorate at Reidsville vacated by the Rev. Mr. Bethea is the Rev. Cecil Marcellus, who was transferred from the Tenn. Kentucky Conference. The Rev. W. R. Crawford, former pastor of Mount Pleasant in Winston - Salem, was assigned to Brookes Momrial in High Point. His successor is the Rev. Liston Sellers who formerly served the Elkin-Jonesville Circuit.

THE REV. R. D. Sharpe, former superintendent of the Western District, was assigned to St. Andrews - Walnut Cove in Winston - Salem, and the Rev. S. L. Townsend, former superintendent of the Laurinburg District, was assigned to Laurinburg -Beaver Dam and will also serve as secretary of evangelism in the Eastern District.

Named conference executive secretary for Christian education is the Rev. Richard L. Clifford, of Alexandria,, Va., former superintendent of the Virginia District. New conference secretary is the Rev. Avery E. Robinson of Shelby.

Student Group

Six Bennett College students began work last week as members of a faculty-student study group whose purpose is to evaluate rules, standards and procedures governing student living.

The students who will spend six weeks on the project, reporting their recommendations to the student leadership conference in the fall are: Misses Mittie White, of Newark, N. J., president of the David D. Jones Student Union; Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S. C., National Student Association coordinator; Ann Middleton, of Atlanta, Ga.; Therest Hall, of Washington, D. C., and Carrie Cotton, of Hobgood N. C.

Bennett Building Given $138,325 Federal Funds

The U.S. Office of Education today notified Rep. Horace R. Kornegay of Greensboro that a grant of $138,325 for construction of a new math and science building at Bennett College has been approved.

However, Bennett President Dorothy Player said this was the college's initial request for funds from the federal government for this construction project and it is hoped that eventually the grant will be increased to a minimum of $300,000. The cost of construction is estimated at $1,000,000.

AN ADDITIONAL request to the government has been made and, Dr. Player said, the remainder will be solicited from the Methodist Church with which Bennett is affiliated, foundations, United Negro College Fund and alumnae.

The math and science building will be built across Macon Street, opposite the present science hall. It will have laboratories and classrooms for the teaching of biology, physics, chemistry, a small auditorium for showing films and a special science library. It is hoped construction can begin early next year.

The college will begin construction soon on a new dormitory and infirmary at a cost of over $500,000 for the two structures. The dormitory will be a twin to the present Cone Dormitory except it will have three stories because of the angle of the land. It will house 140 girls.

200 high school pupils at Bennett this summer

GREENSBORO, N.C. — More than 200 high - ability boys and girls from high schools in 21 states are on the Bennett College campus for six weeks of intensive study in three summer programs.

Highest enrollment — of 90 —is in the National Science Training Program, sponsored by the National Science Foundation and headed, for the seventh straight year, by Dr. J. Henry Sayles.

There are 36 boys and 54 girls and while the majority are from the Carolinas, some come from as far away as California, Montana, Nebraska, Kansas and Arkansas. Their courses include chemistry, biology, physics and mathematics.

• • •

DR. Helen Trobian, who heads the Humanities School, reports an enrollment of 75 who come from 12 states. There are 67 girls and 8 boys, juniors and seniors and their program includes art, drama, literature, music and philosophy.

There are 50 girls in the Scholars Program headed by Dr. Dorothy Bardolph. This program is limited to students who are recipients of scholarship awards to the college and who have been accepted or are in the process of applying for admission to the freshman class. Their program includes specialized studies in the humanities, science and philosophy.

In this group are representatives from 10 states and the District of Columbia. Co-operative activities, involving students of all three schools, will be a band and a choir with rehearsals scheduled for the evening hours on alternate days. There are no Saturday classes.

6 Bennett students evaluating rules

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Six Bennett College students began work last week as members of a faculty-student study group whose purpose is to evaluate rules, standards and procedures governing student living.

The students who will spend six weeks on the project, reporting their recommendations to the student leadership conference in the fall are: Misses Mittie White, of Newark, N.J., president of the Student Senate; Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, D.C. president of the David D. Jones Student Union; Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S. C., National Student Association coordinator; Ann Middleton, of Atlanta, Ga.; Theresa Hall, of Washington, D.C., and Carrie Cotten, of Hobgood, N.C.

RALEIGH, N. C., SATURDAY, JUNE 19, 1965

Several Shifts In Pastoral Assignments Announced At Bennett Methodist Meet

GREENSBORO - Several shifts in pastoral assigumenta and the renaming of two districts were noted as the North Carolina-Virginia Annual Conference of the Methodist Church (Central Jurisdiction) came to a close at Bennett College on Sunday.

The former Greensboro District and Winston District are now the Central District, with the Rev. James W. Gwyn remaining as superintendent. The Eastern District, formerly the Laurinburg District, is now headed by the Rev. J. W. Ferree. New superintendent of the Virginia District is, the Rev. Joseph B. Bethea who served in Riedsville and the Rev. J. J. Patterson is now head of the Western District.

Major local change involved the transfer of the Rev. John Corry from St. Matthews to Clark Methodist Church in Nashville, Tenn, and the Rev. Alexander M. Anderson, pastor of Clark, to St. Matthews.

Bishop Charles F. Golden, of Nashville, before reading the appointments preached about the personal sacrifice necessary is to become a true follower of God.

"Some of us have created our own gods," he said, "fine homes and college degrees, etc. It is not wrong to have material resources, but when these stand between you and God, get rid of them. When God gets on the inside of you, you are no longer in control."

Taking the pastorate at Riedsville vacated by the Rev. Bethea is the Rev. Cecil Marcellus, who was transferred from the Tenn.-Kentucky Conference. The Rev. W.R. Crawford, former pastor of Mount Pleasant in Winston-Salem, was assigned to Brooks Memorial in High Point. His successor is the Rev. Liston Sellers who formerly served the Elkin-Jonesville Circuit.

The Rev. R. D. Sharpe, former superintendent of the Western District was assigned to St. Andrews-Walnut Cove in Winston-Salem and the Rev. S. L. Townsend, former superintendent of the Laurinburg District, was assigned to Laurinburg-Beaver Dam and will also serve as secretary of evangelism in the Eastern District.

Named conference executive secretary for Christian education is the Rev. Richard L. Clifford, of Alexandria, Va., former superintendent of the Virginia District. New conference secretary is the Rev. Avery E. Robinson, of Shelby.

TIME OUT FOR JOBS...William J. Trent, personnel representative of Time, Inc., and Mrs. Rita Robinson, a long-time secretarial employee of the magazine (to his left) describe job opportunities with their publications for Bennett College students, left to right: Misses Constant Griffis, of Wilson; Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S.C., and Glenna Chavies, of Montclair, N.J.

200 High School Boys and Girls Attending Summer School At Bennett College

More than 200 high-ability boys and girls from high schools in 21 states are on the Bennett College campus for six weeks of intensive study in three summer programs.

Highest enrollment—of 90—is in the National Science Training Program, sponsored by the National Scientific Foundation and headed, for the seventh straight year, by Dr. J. Henry Sayles. Therer are 36 boys and 54 girls and while the majority are from the Carolinas, some come from as far away as California, Montana, Nebraska, Kansas, and Arkansas. Their courses include chemistry, biology, physics and mathematics.

Dr. Helen Trobian, who heads the Humanities School, reports an enrollment of 75 who come from 12 states. There are 67 girls and 8 boys, juniors and seniors and their program includes art, drama, literature, music and philosophy.

There are 50 girls in the Scholars Program headed by Dr. Dorothy Bardolph. This program is limited to students who are recipients of scholarship awards to the college and who have been accepted or are in the process of applying for admission to the freshman class. Their program includes specialized studies in the humanities, science and philosophy.

In this group are representatives from 10 states and the District of Columbia. Co-operative activities, involving students of all three schools, will be a band and a choir with rehearsals scheduled for the evening hours on alternate days. There are no Saturday classes.

Seven members of the class of 1965 and some 30 undergraduates are employed in the three summer programs for high schol students being conducted at Bennett College, June 14 through July 23.

Graduates include Misses Maxine Twitty, Joyce Dunn, Jean Bailey, Carolyn Tarpley, Elizabeth Hansberry and Clemontene Watkins and Mrs. Linda F. Hardy. Undergraduates are: Misses Rena Holloway, Amanda Houston, Delois Lawrance, Ann McRae, Wei Lie So, Shirley Neal, Mary Jacobs, Lucinda Vaughn, Katherine Williams, Paulette McAdoo, Dola Litle and Gwendolyn Leecost; also Betty Carter, Tonye Cathcart, Juanita Dula, Sumner Hodges, Leona Leach, Mary Holden, Tagilima Muasau, Linda Price, Erlene Roberts, Ann Stanback and Patricia Stanfield.

BENNETT COLLEGE NEWS

Six Bennett College students began work last week as members of a faculty-student study group whose purpose is to evaluate rules, standards and procedures governing student living.

The students who will spend six weeks on the project reporting their recommendations to the student leadership conference in the fall are: Misses Mittie White, of Newark, N.J., president of the Student Senate; Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, D.C. president of the David D. Jones Student Union; Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S. C., National Student Association coordinator; Ann Middleton, of Atlanta, Ga.; Theresa Hall, of Washington, D. C., and Carrie Cotten, of Hobgood, N. C.

BENNETT NEWS

Some 130 representatives from six conferences of the Methodist Church are scheduled to attend the Upper Southeastern Regional Leadership School to be held at Bennett College, June 27-July 8.

Classes and workshops will be held for five groups, namely: pastors, district superintendents and executive secretaries; chairmen and members of official boards and commissions; teachers and other workers with children; teachers and other workers with youth, and teachers and other workers with adults.

Study-discussion classes will be held in the David D. Jones Student Union with the following leaders: The Rev. Warren Muckkins, of Orangeburg, S.C., Paul Edison, of Columbia, S.C., John Blakemore of Richmond, Va. and William C. Dobbins of Sylacauge, Ala. and Mesdames Bertha Dale, of Spartanburg, S.C., Lake Waldrop, of Columbia, S.C., Ida B. Lyde, of Florence, S.C. and Miss Virginia Stafford, of Nashville, Tenn.

Laboratory classes directed by Dr. Dorothy Bardolph and Dr. Jean Brogan, will be held in the Union Memorial Methodist Church near the campus with Mrs. W. C. Strother, Jr. of Philadelphia, Pa. and the Rev. Ronald Johnson of Nashville, Tenn. as leaders.

TO RECEIVE BENNETT FACULTY SCHOLARSHIP

A rising senior with a 2.88 (of a possible 3.00) average for five semesters who is qualified for a major in mathematics, chemistry or pre-medicine, has been declared winner of the $300 faculty scholarship at Bennett College for the 1965-66 academic year.

She is Miss Amanda Houston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Houston, of Kinston, N.C., eldest of three children, who still finds time to participate in a wide variety of co-curricular activities.

TIME OUT FOR JOBS--William J. Trent, personnel representative of Time, Inc., and Mrs. Rita Robinson, a long time secretarial employee of the magazine (to his left) describe job opportunities with their publication for Bennett College students, left to right: Misses Constant Griffis, of Wilson; Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S. C., and Glenna Chavies, of Montclair, New Jersey.

S.C. GRADS AT BENNETT...Bennett College graduates from South Carolina are shown here. Left to right, first row: Misses Gwendolyn Washington, Rembert; Diane Moore, Florence; Corine Whittington And Gloria Leevy, both of Columbia; second row; Linda Hardy, Anderson; Gwendolyn Winn, Sumter; Barbara Hammond, Greenville; Irene Walker, Columbia; third row; Genevieve Gadsden and Barbara James, both of Charleston, Josie Willis, North Augusta.

VA., MD. AND D.C. GRADS...Bennett College graduates from Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia are shown here. Left to right, first row: Misses Phyllistine Ward, Farmville, Va.; Diane Poindexter, Lexington, Va.; Sygnora Fogg, Newport News, Va.; Pearl Otho, and Edna Smith, both of Hampton, Va.; second row: Patricia Murray, Washington, D.C.; Bernice Walker, Roanoke, Va.; Margaret Hill, Petersburg, Va.; Claudia Hubbard, South Hill, Va.; third row: Jean Bailey, Hampton, Va.; Zelma J. Little and Regina Carpenter, both of Washington, D.C.; Clemontene Watkins, South Hill, Va.; fourth row: Wendy Parker and Paula L. Lewis, both of Baltimore, Md.; Rule Molock, Vienna, Md.

NEW OFFICERS FOR CLA...Among the new officers of the College Language Association installed recently at its annual national meeting at A&T College are from left to right: Dr. M.G. Hardiman, Jefferson City, Mo., president; Dr. C.H. Curl, Norfolk, Va., vice president; Mrs. Lucy C. Grigsby, Atlanta, Ga., secretary; John F. Matheus, Frankfort, Ky., treasurer; Dr. Hobart Jarrett, Brooklyn, N.Y., assistant treasurer; Dr. T.B. O'Daniel, Baltimore, Md., editor, and Darwin T. Turner, Greensboro, N.C., retiring president.

'The Bennett Image' Heard By Parents

GREENSBORO - More than 50 persons who attended the annual meeting of the National Council of Bennett Parents recently heard a symposium on "The Bennett Image."

Discussants were Dr. C. G. Winston, dean of instruction; the Rev. Charles Bollinger, director of development; Dr. A. M. Mackel, of Chicago, past president and Miss Mittie White, of Newark, N.J., president of the Student Senate for the 1965-66 academic year. Moderator was Dr. Marlow F. Shute.

Mrs. Bessie M. Nance, of Greensboro, newly elected president, presided and Miss Wilhelmina Gilbert brought greeting to the parents from the faculty and staff. Closing remarks were made by President Willa B. Player.

Registered for the meeting were:

NORTH CAROLINA

Mr. and Mrs. Everette R. Echols, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Nance and Mrs. Dorothy M. Jeffries, all of Greensboro; Miss Doshia Harris, Charlotte; Mrs. Ruth D. Twitty, Black Mountain; Mrs. Zano G. Alston, Rocky Mount; Mrs. H. C. Edington and Mrs. D. M. Edington, both of Asheville; Mrs. Alice D. Sanders, Kinston; Mr. and Mrs. James Madison, Brevard; Mr. and Mrs. Clayward Corry, Kings Mountain.

MISCELLANEOUS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gadsden and Mrs. Etherlyn Shepherd, all of Charleston, S. C.; Mrs. Alexine A. Smith, Florence, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. C. Edmond, Greensville, S. C.; Rubin Walker, Columbia, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. James Adams, Miss Olivia E. Carter, and Miss May O. Richardson, all of Baltimore, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Little and Mr. and Mrs. Caesar A. Carpenter, all of Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar A. Hansberry, of New Orleans, La.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Ward, Farmville, Va.; Mrs. Mamie P. Battle, Birmingham, Ala.; Mrs. Myrtle Reed, Memphis, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Sidney J. Porterfield, Philadelphia, Pa.; Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Adams, Pontotoc, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Campbell, Montgomery, Ala.; Mrs. Lero Hardy and Mrs. Essie Cherry, both of Thomasville, Ga.; Mrs. Rose H. Willford, Riviera Beach, Fla.; Mrs. Gladys Stringen, Montgomery, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Gill, Bloomfield, Conn.; Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Mackel, Chicago, Ill.

IN FRENCH COMEDY...Some of the advanced French students at Bennett College who were members of the French-speaking cast of "Never Trifle With Love," a comedy in three acts. Perdican, played by Gail Hickerson, of Lenoir, pays court to Camille, played by Jamelle Rackley, of Norfolk, Va., unaware that her foster sister, Rosette, played by Cheryl Bright, of Washington, N.C., is spying on their little rendezvous.

Senior Class Makes Donation

President Willa B. Player of Bennett College, accepts from Mrs. Johnsie Dalton, of Greensboro, treasurer of the senior class, a check to be used for the purchase of a glass display case for exhibition purposes.

High Ability Students In Summer Study

GREENSBORO, N. C. — More than 200 high - ability boys and girls from high schools in 21 states are on the Bennett College campus for six weeks of intensive study in three summer programs.

Highest enrollment — of 90 — is in the National Science Training Program, sponsored by the National Science Foundation and headed, for the seventh straight year, by Dr. J. Henry Sayles.

Dr. Helen Trobian, who heads the Humanities School, reports an enrollment of 75 who come from 12 states.

HOME DESIGNERS—The Misses Maxine Twitty (left) of Black Mountain, N.C., and Faye Oliver of Clemmons, N.C., both senior home economics majors at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., stand beside a model of a suburban home which they designed and landscaped. The roof is removable, as revealed by the scale model on the blackboard.

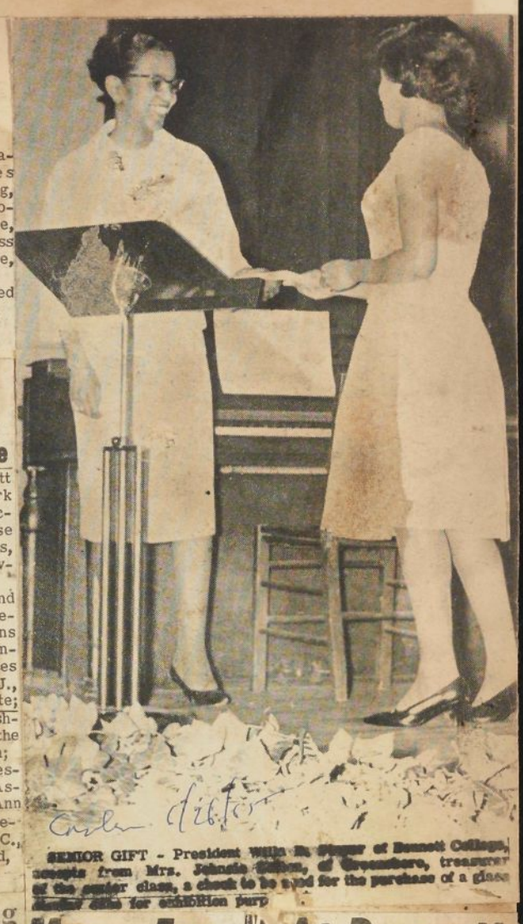

Leadership School To Begin Sun.

GREENSBORO - Some 130 representatives from six conferences of the Methodist Church are scheduled to attend the Upper Southeastern Regional Leadership School to be held at Bennett College, June 27-July 2.

Classes and workshops will be held for five groups, namely: pastors, district superintendents and executive secretaries; chairmen and members of official boards and commissions; teachers and other workers with children; teachers and other workers with youth, and teachers and other workers with adults.

Study-discussion classes will be held in the David D. Jones Student Union with the following leaders: The Revs. Warren M. Jenkins, of Orangeburg, S. C., W. Paul Carlson, of Columbia, S. C., John Blakemore of Richmond, Va. and William C. Dobbins of Sylacauga, Ala. and Mesdames Bertha Dale, of Spartanburg, S. C., Lake Waldrop, of Columbia, S. C., Ida B. Lyde, of Florence, S. C. and Miss Virginia Stafford, of Nashville, Tenn.

Laboratory classes directed by the Rev. Wesley G. Brogan, will be held in the Union Memorial Methodist Church

SENIOR GIFT - President Willa B. Player of Bennett College, accepts from Mrs. Johnsie Dalton, of Greensboro, treasurer of the senior class, a check to be used for the purchase of a glass display case for exhibition purp

Now Evaluating Rules, Procedures At Bennet College

GREENSBORO--Six Bennett College students began work last week as members of a faculty - student study group whose purpose is to evaluate rules, standards and procedures governing student living.

The students who will spend six weeks on the project, reporting their recommendations to the student leadership conference in the fall are: Misses Mittie White, of Newark, N. J., president of the Student Senate; Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, D. C., President of the David D. Jones Student Union; Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S. C., National Student Association coordinator; Ann Middleton, of Atlanta, Ga.; Theresa Hall, of Washington, D. C., and Carrie Cotten, of Hobgood, North Carolina.

Enrollment at Bennett College Summer School Exceeds 200

A listing of the more than 200 high-ability high school boys and girls attending the three six-week summer programs at Bennett College follows:

National Science Program
North Carolina

Theodore L. Allen, Raymond E. Johnson, Irma J. Bivens, Edythe C. Knox, all of Winston-Salem; Richard A. Fields and Harlen E. Smith, both of Greensboro; Oscar M. Graham, Laurinburg; Arthur Hamerschlag, Brevard; Robert J. Loftin, Salisbury, Robert L. Moore, Jr., Rich Square; Danny L. Scarborough, Wake Forest; Arthur Selby, Madison; Felton Spaulding, Red Springs; Mary R. Braswell, Rocky Mount; Elsie M. Cheatham, Kittrell; Mary F. Cogdell, Saint Pauls; Nettie L. Colquitt, Spring Lake; Eddyce P. Dacons, Statesville; Lorraine Dunston, Wendell; Annie L. Faulcon, Littleton; Charlene Forney, Morganton; Gwendolyn Foxworth, Rowland; Luella Graham Riegelwood; Mauldilee F. Green, Creedmoor; Blossie J. Hughes, Rocky Mount; Lydia V. Johnson, Bolivia; Donna M. Lawrence, Fuquay-Varina; Paula R. Mason, Charlotte; Elizabeth S. Meeks, Pinetops; Fannie L. Perry, Louisburg; Jo-Ann Phillips, Farmville; Jacquelyn L. Powell, Hallsboro; Carol M. Quigless, Tarboro; Rebecca Roberson, Henderson; Concheata T. Siler, Ramseur; Odell Spencer, Conetoe; and Michelle S. Thompson, Lumberton.

Miscellaneous

Richard A. Bartlett, West Long Branch, N. J.; Mark R. Belsky, Highland Park, N. J.; William E. Brooks, Chester, Va.; Frank B. Brunson, Macon, Ga.; Gerard A. Croce, Gibbstown, N. J.; Jerald B. Dorsey, New Orleans, La.; Isaac C. Ephraim and Mary Goudy, Birmingham, Ala.; David J. Finnicum, Glasgow, Mont.; Gary D. Greer, Alexandria, Ind.; Curlie C. Henderson, Brighton, Ala.; Earl Jackson, Dayline, La.; Randolph Johnson and Beverly M. Elly, both of Pascagoula, Miss.; Frederick Layn, Auburn, Calif.; John Leonardi, Kingston, Mass.; Edward T. Lewis, Jackson, Miss.; Rosenda Martinez, Corpus Christi, Texas; Eric Monberg, Hancock, Mich.; Ronald L. Norwod Darlington, S. C.; Reinhard O'Neill, Mount Holly, N. J.; Joe L. Smart, Allendale, S. C.; Michael Stewart, Jacksonville, Fla.; Riley Temple and Cheryl A. Turner, both of Richmond, Va.; Robert Tucker, Lincoln, Neb.; Linda L. Adams, Miami, Fla.; Marsha J. Bembry, Fort Monroe, Va.; Jane M. Brinker, Glen Elder, Kansas; Lillian A. Chappell, Tuskegee Institute, Ala.; Gwendolyn Davis, Columbus, Ga.; Almetria E. Capers, Allendale, S. C.; Frances M. Doga, Spartanburg, S.C.; Jewell M. Dunn, Dallas, Texas; Nelda B. Fraser, Bradford, Ark.; Jacqueline Grant, Georgetown, S. C.; Laura E. Hatcher, Yellow Springs, Ohio; Margie L. Helton, Temple, Ga.; Marilyn J. Holifield, Tallahassee, Fla.; Silverene C. Johnson, Brandywine, Md.; Paula S. Mitchell, Martinsville, Va.; Martha M. Phills, Shreveport, La.; Ethelia M. Richardson, Charleston, S.C.; Marie Y. Roberson, Rosharon, Texas; Sandra G. Ruff, Marietta, Ga.; Janice C. Russell, Mount Dora, Fla.; Phyllis J. Simmons, Carnesville, Ga.; Donna M. Taylor, Detroit, Mich.; Patricia A. Terry, Filbert, W. Va.; Wilda N. Turner, New Orleans, La.

Scholars Program
North Carolina

Margie Parker and Carmen M. Brewington, both of Wilmington; Carolyn Morings, Ahoskie; Marcenia L. Brown, Hickory; Brenda D. Chadwick, Hubert; Veleria A. Daniels, Riegelwood; Nellie R. Dixon, Laurinburg; Bertha L. Fields, Seven Springs; Gladys Gibson, Rowland, N. C.; Brenda J. Edwards, Siler City; Dorothy L. Moore, Troy; Doria L. Smith, Warrenton; Barbara A. Hill, Jacksonville; Doris D. Baxter, Black Mountain; Carolyn G. Peacock, Princeton; Lynda Simmons, Dover; Janice M. Johnson and Sandra Wilson, both of Greensboro; Karen J. Burnett, Graham; Carmen M. Brewington, Wilmington; Mary F. Murphy, Charlotte; Gwendolyn Sneed, Kittrell; Bonnie Warren, Glen Raven, Jo Anne Coble, Wilson; Annie L. Barrow, Greenville;

Miscellaneous

Beverly A. Roberts, Newark, N. J.; Ava D. Taylor, Deborah B. Bibb, and Barbara A. Dennis, all of Birmingham, Ala.; Shirley D. Pettus, South Hill, Va.; Margaret S. Monroe, Cape Charles, Va.; Judith D. Mitchell, Cincinnati, Ohio; Celesta S. Lewis, Newport News, Va.; Freda E. McDow, Macon, Ga.; Leonora Y. Jones, Uniontown, Ala.; Gwen-Sandra F. Holly, Jackson, Miss.; Doris J. Collins, Washington, D. C.; Agnew Cowan, Brandywine, Md.; Marva E. Gerald and Julia I. Greene, both of Mullins, S. C.; Dianne D. Hackett and Colleen L. Turner, both of Richmond, Va.; Rita D. Wilson and Constance Clarke, both of Akron, Ohio; Margaret A. Thompkins, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Ida P. Pinnix, Martinsville, Va.; Jamie A. Byrd, Williamsburg, Va.; Delores A. Jackson, Simpsonville, S. C.

Humanities Summer School
North Carolina

Nettie L. Alexander and Jo Ann Davis, both of Norlina; Betty J. Bennett, Badin; Lana M. Boyd, Mason; Wilsonia E. Cherry, Robersonville; Nathalyn D. Corbett, Burgaw; Faye I. Darden, Gates; Lottie M. Evans and Edna R. Williams, both of Charlotte; Bessie M. Forney, Belmont; Patricia A. Galloway and Constance D. Knox, both of Winston-Salem; Betty D. Grace, Rural Hall; Charlotte L. Greene, Ahoskie; Velinda E. Hardy, Tillery; Elazer B. Harris, Aberdeen; Phyllis Jeffries, Durham; Shelia F. Laughinghouse, Greenville; Jo Ann Lillard, Southport; Margaret A. Miller, Madison; Joyce M. Parker, Bolivia; Anne P. Phillips, Tarboro; Nettie G. Polk, Wadesboro; Elizabeth Yvonne Pugh, Kinston; Marva Shoulars, Rich Square; Maravarene Slade, Glen Raven; Evangelin H Turner, Burlington; Magnoria Watson, Hobgood; Claytee D. White, Avlander; Brenda Jordan and Doris Avery, both of Raleigh; Glynder Stone, Graham.

Miscellaneous

Ruth A. Baker and Jettie M. Burnett, both of Fort Worth, Texas; Shirley A. Barrington, Sanford, Fla.; Renaye A. Brown, Williamsburg, Va.; Thomasena L. Caldwell, Princeton, N. J.; Olwin D. Furman, Velesto Highsmith, Olivia Johnson, and John R. Mogran, all of Richmond, Va.; Carolyn L. Garnett, Milford, Va.; Barbara Graves, Gloria L. Moore and Shirley Williams, all of Birmingham, Ala.; Lillian L. Harris, Clarksville, Va.; Gwendolyn L. Hayes, Denmark, S. C.; Melynda D. Houston, New Smyrna Beach, Fla.; Odessa F. Houston, Oxford, Miss.; Jacqueline A. Howard, Texarkana, Ark.; Sheila Johnson, Columbus, Ga.; Wyneva Johnson, Greenwood, Miss.; Carolyn E. Kyle, Galax, Va.; Ernestine L. Martin, Wilmington, Del.; Laura A. Parker, Pine Bluff, Ark.; Mary S. Parker, Hodges, S. C.; Sandra J. Potts, L. B. Bullard, Sylvester Love, and George Thomas, all of Shreveport, La.; Carol J. Pretlow, Smithfield, Va.; Annette B. Shell, Hollandale, Fla.; Lydia Spence, Fort Pierce, Fla.; Brandolyn P. Thomas, Hartsville, S. C.; Toledo J. Bradford, Montgomery, Ala.; Ralph Edwards, Fort Pierce, Fla.; Samuel Waters, Reddick, Fla.; William T. Wilson, Clover, S. C.

LOYALTY GIFT—President Willa B. Player (left) receives om Miss Mary Rogers of Greensboro, N.C., president the Bennett College Graduate Association, checks presenting more than $5,000 contributed by gradues to the Loyalty Fund, as a highlight of the recent Bennett Luncheon. In foreground is Mrs. Genevieve Kennedy of Washington, D.C., who brought greetings m the honor class of 1940. Bennett College is supted by the Methodist Church.

BENNETT ART

The annual sidewalk student art exhibit at Bennett College will be held Wednesday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily in front of the Wilbur Steele Fine Arts Building. Included will be paintings, drawings, woodcuts, sculpture and crafts. James C. McMillan, department head, said that a number of the pieces will be for sale.

IN BENNETT SERVICE - Four members of the 1965 graduating class at Bennett College, Greensboro, who participated in the all-senior vesper service are, left to right: Misses Velma Harris, of Camden, N. J., speaker: Cheryl Walls, also of Camden, presiding officer; Jane Ryder, of New Bern, organist, and Dorothy Wilkerson, of Charleston, S. C., Old Testament reader.

Church Meeting Set At Bennett

Some 130 representatives from six conferences of the Methodist Church are scheduled to attend the Upper Southeastern Regional Leadership School to be held at Bennett College June 27-July 2.

Classes and workshops will be held for pastors, district superintendents and executive secretaries, chairmen and members of official boards and commissions, teachers and other workers with children, youth and adults.

Study-discussion classes will be held in the David D. Jones Student Union.

Many Enroll At Bennett

GREENSBORO - More than 200 high-ability boys and girls from high schools in 21 states are on the Bennett College campus for six weeks of intensive study in three summer programs.

Highest enrollment -- of 90 -- is in the National Science Training Program, sponsored by the National Science Foundation and headed, for the seventh straight year, by Dr. J. Henry Sayles.

There are 36 boys and 54 girls and while the majority are from the Carolinas, some come from as far away as California, Montana, Nebraska, Kansas and Arkansas. Their courses include chemistry, biology, physics and mathematics.

Dr. Helen Trobian, who heads the Humanities School, reports an enrollment of 75 who come from 12 states. There are 36 girls and 8 boys, juniors and seniors and their program includes art, drama, literature, music and philosophy.

There are 50 girls in the Scholars Program headed by Dr. Dorothy Bardolph. The program is limited to students who are recipients of scholarship awards to the college and who have been accepted or are in the process of applying for admission to the freshman class. Their program includes specialized studies

DISCUSSION—Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, will be at Capahosic, Va., today and Friday participating in a discussion of the recently published study, "Predominantly Negro Colleges and Universities" by Dr. Earl McGrath, former U.S. commissioner of education.

Recent Grads Employed At Bennett

GREENSBORO--Seven members of the class of 1965 and some 30 undergraduates are employed in the three summer programs for high school students being conducted at Bennett College, June 14 through July 23.

Graduates include Misses Maxine Twitty, Joyce Dunn, Jean Bulley, Carolyn Tarpley, Elizabeth Hansberry and Clementine Watkins and Mrs. Linda F. Hardy. Undergraduates are: Misses Rena Holloway, Amanda Houston, Delois Lowrance, Ann McRae, Wei Lie So, Shirley Neal, Mary Jacobs, Lucinda Vaughn, Katherine Williams, Paulette McAdoo, Dola Little and Gwendolyn Lancaster.

Also, Missess Betty Carter, Tonye Cathcart, Juanita Dula, Sumner Hodges, Leona Leach, Mary Holder, Tagilima Muasau, Linda Price, Erlene Roberts, Ann Stanback and Patricia Stanfield.

SCHOLARSHIP REWARDED... Three Bennett College seniors and one junior who have received awards for advanced study are, left to right: Misses Geraldine Capehart, '65, of Raleigh, School of Library Service at Atlanta University; Darilyn Wilds, '66, of Georgetown, S.C., junior year at the University of Hawaii; Mary Adams, '65, of Pontotoc, Miss., Smith College Graduate scholarship, and Jane Ryder, '65, of New Bern, Florina Lasker Scholarship for study at the institution of her choice.

QUEEN and COURT -- Miss Edna Smith, of Hampton, Va., senior elementary education major, who reigned as queen of May Day festivities at Bennett College on Saturday, is shown with members of her court. Left to right: Misses Beatrice England, of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Cheryl Reddick, of Raleigh, sophomores: Anthanette Thomas, of Greensboro and Sandra Valls, of Salisbury, seniors: Gloria Leevy, of Columbia, S.C. maid of honor: Cheryl Bright, of Washington, N.C., and Bernardine Harris, of Roanoke, Va., juniors, and Gwendolyn Morse, of Ninety-Six, S.C., and Janice Hendricks, of Kingsport, Tenn., freshmen.

Bennett College Gets Grant Of $138,325 for Math and Science Buildings

Approval of a grant of $138,325 from the U. S. Office of Education toward construction of a new math and science building at Bennett College was announced last week.

President Willa B. Player stated that the sum represented the initial request of the college for federal funds and that it is hoped that the amount will eventually be increased to a minimum of $309,900. Estimated cost of the building $1,000,000, she said, adding that other funds will be sought from the Methodist Church, with which Bennett is affiliated, the United Negro College Fund, foundations and alumnae.

Plans for the new structure call for laboratories and classrooms for biology, chemistry and physics, a small auditorium for the showing of films, offices and a science library.

TOPS IN CLOTHING... Miss Louise G. Streat, head of clothing department at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., presents top award to Miss Betty Jackson, of Easley, S.C., while Miss Norma Cobbs, of Pittsburgh, Pa., winner of a notable achievement award, looks on following annual spring fashion show recently. Some 20 mannequins modeled outfits which they had made and eight students in millinery classes displayed their handiwork.

TOP BENNETT SINGERS... Miss Mildred Tucker, right, director of residence life, presents winner's trophy to Mrs. Estella Eaton, director of Merner Hall, whose representatives carried off top honors in the recent Inter-Dormitory Sing at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C. with their creative rendition of "Do-Re-Mi" from "The Sound Of Music."

More than 200 high schoolers attend Bennett summer programs

GREENSBORO, N.C.—A listing of the more than 200 high-ability high school boys and girls attending the three six-week summer programs at Bennett College follows:

NATIONAL SCIENCE PROG.

NORTH CAROLINA

Theodore L. Allen, Raymond E. Johnson, Irma J. Bivens, Edythe C. Knox, all of Winston-Salem; Richard A. Fields and Harlen E. Smith, both of Greensboro; Oscar M. Graham, Laurinburg; Arthur Hamerschlag, Brevard; Robert J. Lolin, Salisbury; Robert L. Moore, Jr., Rich Square; and Danny L. Scarborough, Wake Forest.

Arthur Selby, Madison; Felton Spaulding, Red Springs; Mary R. Braswell, Rocky Mount; Elsie M. Cheatham, Kittrell; Mary E. Cogdell, Saint Pauls; Nettie L. Colquitt, Spring Lake; Eddyce P. Dacons, Statesville; Lorraine Dunston, Wendell; Annie P. Faulcon, Littleton; Charlene A. Forney, Morganton; Gwendolyn Foxworth, Rowland; Luella Graham, Rigelwood.

Mauldilee F. Green, Creedmoor; Blossie J. Hughes, Rocky Mount; Lydia V. Johnson, Bolivia; Donna M. Lawrence, Fuquay-Varina; Paula R. Mason, Charlotte; Elizabeth S. Meeks, Pinetops; Fannie L. Perry, Louisburg.

Jo-Ann Phillips, Farmville; Jacquelyn L. Powell, Hallsboro; Carol M. Quigless, Tarboro; Rebecca Roberson, Henderson; Concheata T. Siler, Ramseur; Odell Spencer, Conetoe; and Michelle S. Thompson, Lumberton.

MISCELLANEOUS

Richard A. Bartlett, West Long Branch, N.J.; Mark R. Belsky, Highland Park, N.J.; William E. Brooks, Chester, Va.; Frank B. Brunson, Macon, Ga.; Gerard A. Croce, Gibbstown, N.J.; Jerald B. Dorsey, New Orleans, La.; Isaac C. Ephraim and Mary Goudy, Birmingham, Ala.

David J. Finnicum, Glasgow, Mont.; Gary D. Greer, Alexandria, Ind.; Curlie C. Henderson, Brighton, Ala.; Earl Jackson, Dayline, La.; Randolph Johnson and Beverly M. Elly, both of Pascagoula, Miss.; Frederick Layn, Auburn, Calif.; John Leonardi, Kingston, Mass.

Edward T. Lewis, Jackson, Miss.; Rosenda Martinez, Corpus Christi, Texas; Eric Monberg, Hancock, Mich.; Ronald L. Norwood, Darlington, S.C.; Reinhard O'Neill, Mount Holly, N.J.; Joe L. Smart, Allendale, S.C.; Michael Stewart, Jacksonville, Fla.; Riley Temple and Cheryl A. Turner, both of Richmond, Va.

ROBERT TUCKER, Lincoln Neb.; Linda L. Adams, Miami, Fla.; Marsha J. Bembry, Fort Monroe, Va.; Jane M. Brinker, Glen Elder, Kansas; Lillian A. Chappell, Tuskegee Institute, Ala.; Gwendolyn Davis, Columbus, Ga.; Almetria E. Capers, Allendale, S.C.; Frances M. Doga, Spartanburg, S.C.

Jewell M. Dunn, Dallas, Texas; Nelda B. Fraser, Bradford, Ark.; Jacqueline Grant, Georgetown, S.C.; Laura E. Hatcher, Yellow Springs, Ohio; Margie L. Helton, Temple, Ga.; Marilyn J. Holifield, Tallahassee, Fla.; Silverene C. Johnson, Brandywine, Md.; Paula S. Mitchell, Martinsville, Va.

Martha M. Phills, Shreveport, La.; Ethelia M. Richardson, Charleston, S.C.; Marie Y. Roberson, Rosharon, Texas; Sandra G. Ruff, Marietta, Ga.; Janice C. Russell, Mount Dora, Fla.; Phyllis J. Simmons, Carnesville, Ga.; Donna M. Taylor, Detroit, Mich.; Patricia A. Terry, Filbert, W. Va.; Wilda N. Turner, New Orleans, La.

SCHOLARS PROGRAM-NORTH CAROLINA

Margie Parker and Carmen M. Brewington, both of Wilmington; Carolyn Morings, Aboskie; Marcenia L. Brown, Hickory; Brenda D. Chadwick, Rieg

Hubert; Veleria A. Daniels, Riegelwood; Nellie R. Dixon, Laurinburg; Bertha L. Fields, Seven Springs; Gladys Gibson, Rowland, N.C.; Brenda J. Edwards, Siler City; Dorothy L. Moore, Troy; Doria L. Smith, Warrenton; Barbara A. Hill, Jacksonville.

Doris D. Baxter, Black Mountain; Carolyn G. Peacock, Princeton; Lynda Simmons, Dover; Janice M. Johnson and Sandra Wilson, both of Greensboro; Karen J. Burnett, Graham; Carmen M. Brewington, Wilmington; Mary F. Murphy, Charlotte; Gwendolyn Sneed, Kitrell; Bonnie Warren, Glen Raven; Jo Anne Coble, Wilson; Annie L. Barrow, Greenville;

PRE - ALUMNAE OFFICERS — Heading the Pre-Alumnae Association at Bennett College for the 1965 - 66 school year are, left to right: Misses Sharyn Marshall, Atlantic City, N. J., president; Charlotte Tenbrook, Newport News, Va., vice president, and Jamtie Rackley, Norfolk, Va., secretary - treasurer.

Methodist leaders school at Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C. — More than 5 ministerial and lay workers from the 11 districts of the North Carolina-Virginia and South Carolina Conferences of the Methodist Church attended the Upper Southeastern Regional Leadership School which ended a six-day session at Bennett College last Friday.

The registrants, the majority from South Carolina, took part in study - discussion classes, workshops and laboratory classes, all geared to increasing the effectiveness of their work with their congregations.

* * *

MISSES VIRGINIA STAFFORD and Jennie Youngblood, both of Nashville, Tenn., representing the General Board of Education of the Methodist Church, conducted workshops in "Preparation for Leadership in Annual Conferences" and "The Bible in the Methodist Curriculum," respectively.

A third workshop, "The Purpose of Christian Education," was conducted by the Rev. John Blakemore, of Richmond, Va., executive secretary of the Virginia Conference.

* * *

THE REV. Warren M. Jenkins, dean, of Orangeburg, S. C., reported the following registration:

SOUTH CAROLINA

Mesdames Flora C. Bethea, Dillon; Peggy H. Farmer, Florence; Ernestine Mance, Darlington; Maudella G. Bryant, Marion; Eloise McTeer, Dillon; Gloria Butler, Bennettsville; Ethel Moses, Hartsville; Jeanette Davis, Hartsville; Marion Jones, Sumter; C. B. Johnson, Columbia; Alma Rayson, Columbia; Verona Middleton, Orangeburg; E. R. McKnight, St. Stephens;

Misses Carrie L. McGee, Spartanburg; Rebecca Goodwin, Columbia; Louise Johnson, Bennettsville; Marevene Jones, Sumter; Edna McKnight, St. Stephens; Cynthia Stokes, Sumter; the Revs. B. C. Stewart, Darlington; Omega Newman, York; S. A. Gadsden; J. W. Haywood, Jr., Charleston; J. D. Boone, Clarkston; E. W. Cole, York; Rawle S. Porte, Richmond, Va., and B. J. Cooper, Spartanburg, S. C. and Willie Dicks, Sumter.

OTHER STATES

Mesdames Lucille Lay and Mary M. Jackson, both of Birmingham, Ala.; Miss Louise Robinson, Statesville, N.C.; the Rev. J. H. McCallum, Fayetteville, N. C.; Mrs. Olivia White, Parksleeve, Va.; Mrs. Margaret P. Tate, Norfolk, Va., and the Rev. Joseph Bethea, Richmond, Va.

FACULTY - STAFF

The Revs. Wesley C. Brogan, Raleigh; W. Paul Carlson, Columbia, S. C.; William C. Dobbins, Sylacauga, Ala.; Warren M. Jenkins, Orangeburg, S. C.; Ronald Johnson, Nashville, Tenn.; Samuel NeSmith, Greensboro; Richard Clifford, Richmond, Va.; and T. H. Swofford, Jr., Greensboro.

Misses Virginia Stafford and Jennie Youngblood, both of Nashville, Tenn.; Mesdames Bertha Dale, Spartanburg, S. C.; Ida Lyde, Florence, S. C.; W. C. Strother, Jr., Philadelphia, Pa., and Lake Waldrop, Columbia, S. C..

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Dr. Charles E. Garth, professor of sociology and director of the Saturday School at Bennett College, has returned after spending the past academic year at Maharani's College, Bangalore, India.

Returning to her post at Isabella Thoburn College, at Lucknow, was Dr. Anna Chapandapillai, who spent the past academic year teaching mathematics at Bennett. These teachers were a part of an international cultural exchange the United States - India Women's College Exchange Program, initiated last year.

* * *

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Approval of a grant of $138,325 from the U.S. Office of Education toward construction of a new math and science building at Bennett College was announced last week. It is hoped the amount will eventually be increased to a minimum of $300,000, for the building.

FREEDOM DAY PROGRAM

—Music and poetry will highlight a Freedom Day program to be given at 3:30 p.m. today in the David D. Jones Student Union at Bennett College for high school students participating in the three summer programs there.

TO PRESENT CONCERT

The Humanities Summer School at Bennett College will present four members of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro music faculty in concert at 8 o'clock tonigh in Pfeiffer Chapel. They ar Dr. Gordon Wilson, organ an harpsichord; Dr. Harold Luce oboe; John Mecham, flute and Arthur Hunkins, cello.

Ministerial and Lay Workers Form at Bennett College

More than 50 ministerial and lay workers from the 11 districts of the North Carolina-Virginia and South Carolina Conferences of the Methodist Church attended the Upper Southeastern Regional Leadership School which ended a six-day session at Bennett College on Friday.

The registrants, the majority from South Carolina, took part in study-discussion classes, workshops and laboratory classes, all geared to increasing the effectiveness of their work with their respective congregations.

Misses Virginia Stafford and Jennie Youngblood, both of Nashville, Tenn., representing the General Board of Education of the Methodist Church, conducted workshops in "Preparation for Leadership in Annual Conferences" and "The Bible in the Methodist Curriculum," respectively. A third workshop, "The Purpose of Christian Education," was conducted by the Rev. John Blakemore, of Richmond, Va., executive secretary of the Virginia conference.

The Rev. Warren M. Jenkins, dean, of Orangeburg, S. C., reported the following registration:

South Carolina

Mesdames Flora C. Bethea, Dillon; Peggy H. Farmer, Florence; Ernestine Mance, Darlington; Maudella G. Bryant, Marion; Eloise McTeer, Dillon; Gloria Butler, Bennettsville; Ethel Moses, Hartsville; Jeanette Davis, Hartsville; Marion Jones, Sumter; C. B. Johnson, Columbia; Alma Rayson, Columbia; Verona Middleton, Orangeburg; E. R. McKnight, St. Stephens;

Misses Carrie L. McGee, Spartanburg; Rebecca Goodwin, Columbia; Louise Johnson, Bennettsville; Marevene Jones, Sumter; Edna McKnight, St. Stephens; Cynthia Stokes, Sumter; the Revs. B. C. Stewart, Darlington; Omega Newman, York; S. A. Gadsden; J. W. Haywood, Jr., Charleston; J. D. Boone, Clarkston; E. W. Cole, York; Rawle S. Porte, Richmond, Va., and B. J. Cooper, Spartanburg, S. C. and Willie Dicks, Sumter.

Other States

Mesdames Lucille Lay and Mary M. Jackson, both of Birmingham, Ala.; Miss Louise Robinson, Statesville, N. C.; the Rev. J. H. McCallum, Fayetteville, N. C.; Mrs. Olivia White, Parksley, Va.; Mrs. Margaret P. Tate, Norfolk, Va., and the Rev. Joseph Beathea, Richmond, Va.

Faculty-Staff

The Revs. Wesley C. Brogan, Raleigh; W. Paul Carlson, Columbia, S. C.; William C. Dobbins, Sylacauga, Ala.; Warren M. Jenkins, Orangeburg, S. C.; Ronald Johnson, Nashville, Tenn.; Samuel NeSmith, Greensboro; Richard Clifford, Richmond, Va.; and T. H. Swofford, Jr., Greensboro;

Misses Virginia Stafford and Jennie Youngblood, both of Nashville, Tenn.; Mesdames Bertha Dale, Spartanburg, S. C.; Ida Lyde, Florence, S. C.; W. C. Strother, Jr., Philadelphia, Pa., and Lake Waldrop, Columbia, S. C..

N.C.-Va. church appointments

The following special appointments for 1965-66 were made at a recent Methodist North Carolina - Virginia Conference:

Richard L. Clifford, executive secretary for Christian Education; Douglas Moore, missionary; Miles Murphy, chaplain United States Air Force; W. T. Brown, director of Wesley Foundation at A and T College; Winfred Wrisley, and Marion Wooten, deaconesses.

Other appointments:

CENTRAL DISTRICT

JAMES W. GWYN, district superintendent (New Appointments)

Asheboro - Mitchell: J. W. Jones*; Bares Chapel - Raleigh Crossroad: Belvin Jessup; Brown Summit: Arthur Hall*; Celia Phelps, G. Hayden Caldwell; Collins Grove-Holmes Grove: John A. Gray; Empire: T. C. Tarpley*; Gleniola - Liberty Grove, Otto Withers*.

GREENSBORO: Browning Chapel, D. S. Hackness; Mt. Tabor, G. M. Phelps*; St. Matthews, A. M. Anderson*; Union Memorial, L. A. Brown; Warren St. - Mt. Camel, J. B. Jowers.

HIGH POINT: Brooks Memorial, W. R. Crawford; Saint Mark, O. W. Burwick.

Laughlin - Memorial - Summerfield, W. N. Johnson; Leaksville, H. A. Smith; Lexington - Chestnut Grove, Terry J. Burley; Mt. Airy: Jones Temple, Luther H. Jones; Mt. Zion - Zion Hill, J. C. Spinks; New Goshen, Eugene Black.

PILOT - MOUNTAIN - Advance: Paul G. Carter; Piney Grove, Sophia J. East; Ramseur Circuit: Samson, Buie; Reidsville, Cecil Kerce*; Rural Hall, Charles G. Eyoum*; Sedalia - Randleman: W. T. Rankin; St. Paul - Kernersville, Wilbur Slade; St. Peter's, E. J. Jones.*

Thomasville: St. John - Brooks Temple, Glenn A. Brooks; Hoover Chapel, David Dunlap; Trinity, To Be Supplied; Wesley Chapel - Chapel Hill, Willie N. Napper.

WINSTON - SALEM: Mt. Pleasant, Liston Sellers, Jr.; Oak Grove, William Howell; St. Andrews - Walnut Cove, R. D. Sheppe; Saints Home, A. E. Robinson; St. Paul, L. M. Mayfield.

Special Assignments: Secretary of Evangelism, J. W. Jones; Mission, Liston Sellers, Jr.; Director of Christian Social Concern, G. A. Brooks; of Publishing Interest, A. M. Anderson; of Stewardship, Ross E. Townes; of Wills, H. A. Smith.

EASTERN DISTRICT

J. W. FERREE, district superintendent*

Cool Spring - Hoffman, O. M. Graham; Durham, Charles Tyson; Fayetteville: Asbury, Midway Brown; John Wesley, James H. McCallum; Goldsboro, Phillip Graham.

Hamlet - Philadelphia, Theodore A. Powell*; Hickory Bend Circuit, John McEachin*; Laurinburg - Beaver Dam, Samuel L. Townsend; Lumberton, Henry Joyner*; Maxton - Johns, R. B. McRae; Oxford Circuit, Ira A. Friend.

Piney - Grove - Beauty Spot, W. Cole*; Raleigh, Samuel E. Nesmith; Red Springs - Pembrooke, W. F. Elliott; Rowland Circuit, J. W. Gamble*; Sanford - Circuit, J. V. Carter*; Wall Chapel - Mt. Zion, J. F. Sawyer; Wilmington - Bolton, J. H. Shiver.

Special Assignments: District Missionary Secretary, Samuel NeSmith; Secretary Evangelism, S. L. Townsend; Director Stewardship, S. L. Brooks; Christian Social Concerns, J. H. McCallum; Hospitals and Homes, J. W. Graham; Wills, Bruce Hargrove.

VIRGINIA DISTRICT

JOSEPH BETHEA, district superintendent*

Alexandria: Roberts Memorial, Herbert A. Green; Woodlawn, Moses Prather*; Arlington, Kenneth Frazier*; Covington, Carl Rowlett; Christiansburg, Stewart E. Black; Edwardsville, Joseph E. Tyes; Fairfax, To be supplied; Falls Church, Joseph Haskins*; Grottoes, James D. McKay; Hamilton - McLean, Donald Adams*; Harrisonburg - Bridgewater, Richard Bell*; Hornstown, Howard F. Barclay; Leesmont, Walter J. Mills; Leesville, Elwood H. Matthews; Lexington, William I. Johnson; Lexington - Buena Vista, Lemuel H. Davis*.

Lynchburg - Bedford, James M. Pannell; Middleburg, Frederick D. Hobbs; Newport News - Pleasant Ridge, John C. Barrett; Norfolk, Godfrey Tate; Peninsula - Booker Mill, Burford C. Miller; Pittsville, George W. Fowler; Purcellville, Otis L. Jasper; Richmond: Asbury, Rawes S. Porter*; Faith, To be supplied; Wesley Memorial, James David Kelly.

ROANOKE - SALEM, David Berry; Staunton, To be supplied; Strasburg, Edward G. Wiggins; Waynesboro - Elkmore, Hurley L. Lambert; Waynesboro, Joseph A. Carter, Jr.*; West Staunton, Walter Hurd; Williams, Hori W. Spencer; Winchester, Jeptha F. A. Keen; Woodstock, Richard W. Hall, III.

Special Assignments: Secretary of Evangelism, Otis L. Jasper; Missionary Secretary, Joseph F. Haskins; Director of Christian Social Concerns, Rawles S. Porte; Director of Publishing Interest, John Rolling; Director of Wills, Mrs. Lila Allen; Director of Hospitals and Homes, Mrs. Ora Jackson.

WESTERN DISTRICT

J. J. PATTERSON, district superintendent

Asheville - J. T. Jones; Boone, O. S. Davenport; Catawba, Clifton Scott; Charlotte, C. E. Strickland; Elkin, W. R. Royster*; Forest City, Booker T. Medford*; Gastonia, J. E. McCullum.

Hickory, R. W. Phillips; Hollins Chapel, M. W. Walton; Lowesville, R. H. McDowell; Lenoir, M. S. McLaughlin; Marion, John Q. Dula; Kings Mt., J. M. McLean; Mooresville, A. W. Stowe.

Mt. Holly, B. L. Burge; Newton, C. B. Jenkins; Philadelphia, B. E. Hogue*; Shelby, Marshall McCallum*; Stanley, Ben J. Dula; Statesville, C. W. Bailey; Tuckers Grove, C. O. Hill; Wilkesboro, Jacob Williams.

Special Assignments: Secretary of Evangelism, M. F. Millikan; Missionary Secretary, J. T. Jones; Christian Vocations, J. E. McCallum; Director Christian Social Concerns, Mrs. M. H. London; Publishing Interest, C. E. Strickland; Hospitals and Homes, A. W. Stowe; Wills, Marshall McCallum.

GRADUATES -- Bennett College graduates from Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee and Texas are pictured above (from left) Misses Elizabeth Hansberry, New Orleans, La.; Catherine Stallings, Tupelo, Miss.; Phyllis Reed, Memphis, Tenn.; Mary Adams, Pontotoc, Miss.; Patricia Washington, Houston, Tex.

CREATIVITY REWARDED... Miss Evangeline Choto, (left) of Southern Rhodesia, and Miss Mable Blanding, of Sumter, S.C., both rising sophomores at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., are all smiles as Dr. Darwin Turner, head of the English department at neighboring A&T College, presents prizes in annual creative writing contest. Miss Choto won top award for poetry and Miss Blanding, top prose award.

PRE-ALUMNAE OFFICERS... Heading the Pre-Alumnae Association at Bennett College for the 1965-66 school year are, left to right: Misses Sharyn Marshall, of Atlantic City, N.C., president; Charlotte Tenbrook, of Newport News, Va., vice president, and Jamelle Rackley, of Norfolk, Va., secretary-treasurer.

Concert Slated At College

Four members of the music faculty of UNC-G will be presented by the Humanities Summer School at Bennett College in a concert at 8 o'clock tonight in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Dr. Gordon Wilson will perform on the organ and harpsichord, and there will be a baroque trio composed of Dr. Harold Luce, acting dean of the School of Music, oboe; John Meacham, flute; and Arthur Hunkins, violoncello.

Dr. Wilson and Meacham also will be heard in three duets, among them Handel's "Sonata No. 4 in C Major."

BENNETT COLLEGE FOR NEW SCIENCE BUILDING

GREENSBORO—Approval of a grant of $138,325 from the U. S. Office of Education toward construction of a new math and science building at Bennett College was announced last week.

President Willa B. Player stated that the sum represented the initial request of the college for federal funds and that it is hoped that the amount will eventually be increased to a minimum of $300,000. Estimated cost of the building $1,000,000, she said, adding that other funds will be sought from the Methodist Church, with which Bennett is affiliated, the United Negro College Fund, foundations and alumnae.

Plans for the new structure call for laboratories and classrooms for biology, chemistry and physics, a small auditorium for the showing of films, offices and a science library.

Seminar At Knox College

President Willa B. Player, Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, dean of instruction, and James J. Scarlette, business manager, represented Bennett College last week at a seminar on Educational Management held at Knox College, Galesburg, Ill.

BENNETT COLLEGE NEWS

Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, was one of 30 persons invited by the Phelps-Stokes Fund to participate in a discussion held at the Conference Center of the Moton Foundation at Capahosic, Va., last weekend.

The group, which included college presidents, representatives from government, industry and private foundations, discussed the recently published study, "Predominantly Negro Colleges and Universities" by Dr. Earl McGrath. Dr. McGrath, former U. S. Commissioner of Education, was a special guest.

BENNETT NEWS

Four members of the music faculty at the University of North Carolina in Greensboro were presented in concert at Bennett College Friday night.

Featured were Dr. Gordon Wilson, organist and harpsichordist, and a baroque trio composed of Dr. Harold Luce, acting dean of the School of Music, oboist; John Meacham, flute and Arthur Hunkins, cello.

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Four members of the music faculty at the University of North Carolina in Greensboro were presented in concert at Bennett College Friday night.

Featured were Dr. Gordon Wilson, organist and harpsichordist, and a baroque trio composed of Dr. Harold Luce, acting dean of the School of Music, oboist; John Meacham, flute and Arthur Hunkins, cello.

Dr. Player To White House Conference

GREENSBORO -- Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennette College, is participating in the White House Conference on Education being held in Washington, July 20-21.

She is participating in a panel discussion on planning for diversity in education, headed by former Governor Terry Sanford of North Carolina.

Dr. Player Appointed To White House Meet

Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, has been named by President Johnson to serve as a member of the White House Conference on Education, to be held in Washington July 20-21.

Dr. Player will participate in a panel discussion on planning for diversity in education. Terry Sanford, former governor of North Carolina, is chairman of the panel.

Other panel members are: Edmund J. Gleazer, executive director of the American Association of Junior Colleges; Father Paul C. Reinert, president of St. Louis University; Lee A. DuBridge, president of the California Institute of Technology; Dean McHenry, chancellor of the University of California; Christopher Jencks, Institute for Policy Studies, Washington; and Albert H. Bowker, president of the City University of New York.

The purpose of the conference is to bring together about 650 leaders in education, business, labor and government to examine issues in education on which national attention should be focused.

John W. Gardner, president of the Carnegie Corporation of New York, is conference chairman.

Pre-Alumnae Officers At Bennett

Heading the Pre-Alumnae Association at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., for the 1965-66 school year are, left to right, Misses Sharyn Marshall of Atlantic City, N. J., president; Charlotet Tenbrook of Newport News, Va., vice president, and Jamelle Rackley of Norfolk, scretary-treasurer.

TOP BENNETT SINGERS... Miss Mildred Tucker, right, director of residence life, presents winner's trophy to Mrs. Estella Eaton, director of Merner Hall, whose representatives carried off top honors in the recent Inter-Dormitory Sing at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C. with their creative rendition of "Do-Re-Mi" from "The Sound Of Music."

More than 200 high schoolers attend Bennett summer programs

GREENSBORO, N.C.—A listing of the more than 200 high-ability high school boys and girls attending the three six-week summer programs at Bennett College follows:

NATIONAL SCIENCE PROG.

NORTH CAROLINA

Theodore L. Allen, Raymond E. Johnson, Irma J. Bivens, Edythe C. Knox, all of Winston-Salem; Richard A. Fields and Harlen E. Smith, both of Greensboro; Oscar M. Graham, Laurinburg; Arthur Hamerschlag, Brevard; Robert J. Lohin, Salisbury; Robert L. Moore, Jr., Rich Square; and Danny L. Scarborough, Wake Forest.

Arthur Selby, Madison; Felton Spaulding, Red Springs; Mary R. Braswell, Rocky Mount; Elsie M. Cheatham, Kittrell; Mary E. Cogdell, Saint Pauls; Nettie L. Colquitt, Spring Lake; Eddyce P. Dacons, Statesville; Lorraine Dunston, Wendell; Annie P. Faulcon, Littleton; Charlene A. Forney, Morganton; Gwendolyn Foxworth, Rowland; Luella Graham, Rigelwood.

Mauldilee F. Green, Creedmoor; Blossie J. Hughes, Rocky Mount; Lydia V. Johnson, Bolivia; Donna M. Lawrence, Fuquay-Varina; Paula R. Mason, Charlotte; Elizabeth S. Meeks, Pinetops; Fannie L. Perry, Louisburg.

Jo-Ann Phillips, Farmville; Jacquelyn L. Powell, Hallsboro; Carol M. Quigless, Tarboro; Rebecca Roberson, Henderson; Concheata T. Siler, Ramseur; Odell Spencer, Conetoe; and Michelle S. Thompson, Lumberton.

MISCELLANEOUS

Richard A. Bartlett, West Long Branch, N.J.; Mark R. Belsky, Highland Park, N.J.; William E. Brooks, Chester, Md.; Frank B. Brunson, Macon, Ga.; Gerard A. Croce, Gibbstown, N.J.; Jerald B. Dorsey, New Orleans, La.; Isaac C. Ephraim and Mary Goudy, Birmingham, Ala.

David J. Finnicum, Glasgow, Mont.; Gary D. Greer, Alexandria, Ind.; Curlie C. Henderson, Brighton, Ala.; Karl Jackson, Dayline, La.; Randolph Johnson and Beverly M. Ely, both of Pascagoula, Miss.; Frederick Layn, Auburn, Calif.; John Leonardi, Kingston, Mass.

Edward T. Lewis, Jackson, Miss.; Rosenda Martinez, Corpus Christi, Texas; Eric Monberg, Hancock, Mich.; Ronald L. Norwood, Darlington, S.C.; Reinhard O'Neill, Mount Holly, N.J.; Joe L. Smart, Allendale, S.C.; Michael Stewart, Jacksonville, Fla.; Riley Temple and Cheryl A. Turner, both of Richmond, Va.

ROBERT TUCKER, Lincoln Neb.; Linda L. Adams, Miami, Fla.; Marsha J. Bembry, Fort Monroe, Va.; Jane M. Brinker, Glen Elder, Kansas; Lillian A. Chappell, Tuskegee Institute, Ala.; Gwendolyn Davis, Columbus, Ga.; Almetria E. Capers, Allendale, S.C.; Frances M. Doga, Spartanburg, S.C.

Jewell M. Dunn, Dallas, Texas; Nelda B. Fraser, Bradford, Ark.; Jacqueline Grant, Georgetown, S.C.; Laura E. Hatcher, Yellow Springs, Ohio; Margie L. Helton, Temple, Ga.; Marilyn J. Holifield, Tallahassee, Fla.; Silverene C. Johnson, Brandywine, Md.; Paula S. Mitchell, Martinsville, Va.

Martha M. Phills, Shreveport, La.; Ethelia M. Richardson, Charleston, S.C.; Marie Y. Roberson, Rosharon, Texas; Sandra G. Ruff, Marietta, Ga.; Janice C. Russell, Mount Dora, Fla.; Phyllis J. Simmons, Carnesville, Ga.; Donna M. Taylor, Detroit, Mich.; Patricia A. Terry, Filbert, W. Va.; Wilda N. Turner, New Orleans, La.

SCHOLARS PROGRAM-NORTH CAROLINA

Margie Parker and Carmen M. Brewington, both of Wilmington; Carolyn Morings, Ahoskie; Marceuia L. Brown, Hickory; Brenda D. Chadwick, Rieg Hubert; Veleria A. Daniels, Riegelwood; Nellie R. Dixon, Laurinburg; Bertha L. Fields, Seven Springs; Gladys Gibson, Rowland, N.C.; Brenda J. Edwards, Siler City; Dorothy L. Moore, Troy; Doria L. Smith, Warrenton; Barbara A. Hill, Jacksonville.

Doris D. Baxter, Black Mountain; Carolyn G. Peacock, Princeton; Lynda Simmons, Dover; Janice M. Johnson and Sandra Wilson, both of Greensboro; Karen J. Burnett, Graham; Carmen M. Brewington, Wilmington; Mary F. Murphy, Charlotte; Gwendolyn Sneed, Kitrell; Bonnie Warren, Glen Raven; Jo Anne Coble, Wilson; Annie L. Barrow, Greenville;

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Dr. Charles E. Garth, professor of sociology and director of the Saturday School at Bennett College, has returned after spending the past academic year at Maharani's College, Bangalore, India.

Returning to her post at Isabella Thoburn College, at Lucknow, was Dr. Anna Chapandapillai, who spent the past academic year teaching mathematics at Bennett. These teachers were a part of an international cultural exchange the United States - India Women's College Exchange Program, initiated last year.

* * *

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Approval of a grant of $138,325 from the U.S. Office of Education toward construction of a new math and science building at Bennett College was announced last week. It is hoped the amount will eventually be increased to a minimum of $300,000, for the building.

FREEDOM DAY PROGRAM —Music and poetry will highlight a Freedom Day program to be given at 3:30 p.m. today in the David D. Jones Student Union at Bennett College for high school students participating in the three summer programs there.

TO PRESENT CONCERT

The Humanities Summer School at Bennett College will present four members of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro music faculty in concert at 8 o'clock tonigh in Pfeiffer Chapel. They ar Dr. Gordon Wilson, organ an harpsichord; Dr. Harold Luce oboe; John Mecham, flute and Arthur Hunkins, cello.

PRE - ALUMNAE OFFICERS — Heading the Pre-Alumnae Association at Bennett College for the 1965 - 66 school year are, left to right: Misses Sharyn Marshall, Atlantic City, N. J., president; Charlotte Tenbrook, Newport News, Va., vice president, and Jamtie Rackley, Norfolk, Va., secretary - treasurer.

Methodist leaders school at Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C. — More than 5 ministerial and lay workers from the 11 districts of the North Carolina-Virginia and South Carolina Conferences of the Methodist Church attended the Upper Southeastern Regional Leadership School which ended a six-day session at Bennett College last Friday.

The registrants, the majority from South Carolina, took part in study - discussion classes, workshops and laboratory classes, all geared to increasing the effectiveness of their work with their respective congregations.

* * *

MISSES VIRGINIA STAFFORD and Jennie Youngblood, both of Nashville, Tenn., representing the General Board of Education of the Methodist Church, conducted workshops in "Preparation for Leadership in Annual Conferences" and "The Bible in the Methodist Curriculum," respectively.

A third workshop, "The Purpose of Christian Education," was conducted by the Rev. John Blakemore, of Richmond, Va., executive secretary of the Virginia Conference.

* * *

THE REV. Warren M. Jenkins, dean, of Orangeburg, S. C., reported the following registration:

SOUTH CAROLINA

Mesdames Flora C. Bethea, Dillon; Peggy H. Farmer, Florence; Ernestine Mance, Darlington; Maudella G. Bryant, Marion; Eloise McTeer, Dillon; Gloria Butler, Bennettsville; Ethel Moses, Hartsville; Jeannette Davis, Hartsville; Marion Jones, Sumter; C. B. Johnson, Columbia; Alma Rayson, Columbia; Verona Middleton, Orangeburg; E. R. McKnight, St. Stephens;

Misses Carrie L. McGee, Spartanburg; Rebecca Goodwin, Columbia; Louise Johnson, Bennettsville; Marvene Jones, Sumter; Edna McKnight, St. Stephens; Cynthia Stokes, Sumter; the Revs. B. C. Stewart, Darlington; Omega Newman, York; S. A. Gadsden; J. W. Haywood, Jr., Charleston; J. D. Boone, Clarkston; E. W. Cole, York; Rawle S. Porte, Richmond, Va., and B. J. Cooper, Spartanburg, S. C. and Willie Diggs, Sumter.

* * *

OTHER STATES

Mesdames Lucille Lay and Mary M. Jackson, both of Birmingham, Ala.; Miss Louise Robinson, Statesville, N.C.; the Rev. J. H. McCallum, Fayetteville, N. C.; Mrs. Olivia White, Parksleeve, Va.; Mrs. Margaret P. Tate, Norfolk, Va., and the Rev. Joseph Bethea, Richmond, Va.

FACULTY - STAFF

The Revs. Wesley C. Brogan, Raleigh; W. Paul Carlson, Columbia, S. C.; William C. Dobbins, Sylacauga, Ala.; Warren M. Jenkins, Orangeburg, S. C.; Ronald Johnson, Nashville, Tenn.; Samuel NeSmith, Greensboro; Richard Clifford, Richmond, Va.; and T. H. Swofford, Jr., Greensboro.

Misses Virginia Stafford and Jennie Youngblood, both of Nashville, Tenn.; Mesdames Bertha Dale, Spartanburg, S. C.; Ida Lyde, Florence, S. C.; W. C. Strother, Jr., Philadelphia, Pa., and Lake Waldrop, Columbia, S. C..

Ministerial and Lay Workers Form at Bennett College

More than 50 ministerial and lay workers from the 11 districts of the North Carolina-Virginia and South Carolina Conferences of the Methodist Church attended the Upper Southeastern Regional Leadership School which ended a six-day session at Bennett College on Friday.

The registrants, the majority from South Carolina, took part in study-discussion classes, workshops and laboratory classes, all geared to increasing the effectiveness of their work with their respective congregations.

Misses Virginia Stafford and Jennie Youngblood, both of Nashville, Tenn., representing the General Board of Education of the Methodist Church, conducted workshops in "Preparation for Leadership in Annual Conferences" and "The Bible in the Methodist Curriculum," respectively. A third workshop, "The Purpose of Christian Education," was conducted by the Rev. John Blakemore, of Richmond, Va., executive secretary of the Virginia conference.

The Rev. Warren M. Jenkins, dean, of Orangeburg, S. C., reported the following registration:

South Carolina

Mesdames Flora C. Bethea, Dillon; Peggy H. Farmer, Florence; Ernestine Mance, Darlington; Maudella G. Bryant, Marion; Eloise McTeer, Dillon; Gloria Butler, Bennettsville; Ethel Moses, Hartsville, Jeanette Davis, Hartsville; Marion Jones, Sumter; C. B. Johnson, Columbia; Alma Rayson, Columbia; Verona Middleton, Orangeburg; E. R. McKnight, St. Stephens; Cynthia Stokes, Sumter; the Revs. B. C. Stewart, Darlington; Omega Newman, York; S. A. Gadsden; J. W. Haywood, Jr., Charleston; J. D. Boone, Clarkston; E. W. Cole, York; Rawle S. Porte, Richmond, Va., and B. J. Cooper, Spartanburg, S. C. and Willie Dicks, Sumter.

Other States

Mesdames Lucille Lay and Mary M. Jackson, both of Birmingham, Ala.; Miss Louise Robinson, Statesville, N. C.; the Rev. J. H. McCallum, Fayetteville, N. C.; Mrs. Olivia White, Parksley, Va.; Mrs. Margaret P. Tate, Norfolk, Va., and the Rev. Joseph Beathea, Richmond, Va.

Faculty-Staff

The Revs. Wesley C. Brogan, Raleigh; W. Paul Carlson, Columbia, S. C.; William C. Dobbins, Sylacauga, Ala.; Warren M. Jenkins, Orangeburg, S. C.; Ronald Johnson, Nashville, Tenn.; Samuel NeSmith, Greensboro; Richard Clifford, Richmond, Va.; and T. H. Swofford, Jr., Greensboro; Misses Virginia Stafford and Jennie Youngblood, both of Nashville, Tenn.; Mesdames Bertha Dale, Spartanburg, S. C.; Ida Lyde, Florence, S. C.; W. C. Strother, Jr., Philadelphia, Pa., and Lake Waldrop, Columbia, S. C.

N.C.-Va. church appointments

The following special appointments for 1965-66 were made at a recent Methodist North Carolina - Virginia Conference:

Richard L. Clifford, executive secretary for Christian Education; Douglas Moore, missionary; Miles Murphy, chaplain United States Air Force; W. T. Brown, director of Wesley Foundation at A and T College; Winfred Wrisley, and Marion Wooten, deaconesses.

Other appointments:

CENTRAL DISTRICT

JAMES W. GWYN, district superintendent

(New Appointments)

Asheboro - Mitchell's Chapel - Jones' Basses Chapel - Raleigh Crossroad, Belwin Jessup; Brown Summit, Arthur Hall; Cedia Pugh; G. Hayden Caldwell; Collins Grove-Holmes Grove, Ralph A. Gray; Empire, T. C. Tarpley; Glenola - Liberty Grove, Otto Withers.

GREENSBORO: Browning Chapel, D. S. Harkness; Mt. Tabor, G. M. Phelps; St. Matthews, A. M. Anderson; Union Memorial, L. A. Brown; Warren St. - Mt. Camel, J. B. Jowers.

HIGH POINT: Brooks Memorial, W. R. Crawford; Saint Mark, O. W. Burwick.

Laughline Memorial - Summerfield, W. N. Johnson; Leaksville, H. A. Smith; Lexington - Chestnut Grove, Terry J. Burleson; Mt. Airy - Jones Temple, Luther M. Jones; Mt. Zion - Zion Hill, J. C. Sparks; New Goshen, Eugene Black.

PILOT - MOUNTAIN - Advance, Paul G. Carter; Piney Grove, Sonia J. East; Ramseur - Grant's Samson Bule; Reidsville, Carl Marcellus; Rural Hall, Charles G. Bynum; Sedalia - Radiomon, W. T. Rankins; St. Paul - Kechersville, Wilbur Slade; St. Peter's, E. J. Jones.

Thomasville: St. John - Brooks Temple, Glenn A. Brooks; Hoover's Chapel, David Dunlap; Trinity, To Be Supplied; Wesley Chapel - Chapel Hill, Willie N. Nappier.

WINSTON - SALEM: Mt. Pleasant, Liston Sellers, Jr.; Oak Grove, William Howell; St. Andrews - Walnut Cove, R. D. Sheppe; Saints Home, A. E. Robinson; St. Paul, L. M. Mayfield.

Special Assignments: Secretary of Evangelism, J. W. Jones; Mission, Liston Sellers, Jr.; Director of Christian Social Concern, G. A. Brooks; of Publishing Interest, A. M. Anderson; of Stewardship, Ross E. Townes; of Wills, H. A. Smith.

EASTERN DISTRICT

J. W. FERREE, district superintendent*

Cool Spring - Hoffman, O. M. Graham; Durham, Charles Tyson; Fayetteville, Asbury, Midway Brown; John Wesley, James H. McCallum; Goldsboro, Phillip Graham.

Hamlet - Philadelphia, Theodore A. Powell*; Hickory Bend Circuit, Tom McEachin*; Laurinburg - Beaver Dam, Samuel L. Townsend; Lumberton, Henry Joyner*; Maxton - Johns, R. B. McRae; Oxford Circuit, Ira A. Friend.

Piney - Grove - Beauty Spot, W. Cole*; Raleigh, Samuel E. Neal; Red Springs - Pembrooke, W. F. Elliott; Roxboro Circuit, J. W. Gamble*; Sanford Circuit, J. V. Carter*; Wall Chapel - Mt. Zion, J. F. Sawyer; Wilmington - Bolton, J. H. Sawyer.

Special Assignments: District Missionary Secretary, Samuel NeSmith; Secretary Evangelism, S. L. Townsend; Director Stewardship, S. L. Brooks; Christian Social Concerns, J. H. McCallum; Hospitals and Homes, J. W. Graham; Wills, Bruce Hargrove.

VIRGINIA DISTRICT

JOSEPH BETHEA, district superintendent*

Alexandria: Roberts Memorial, Herbert A. Green; Woodlawn, Moses Prather*; Arlington, Kenneth Frazier*; Covington, Carl W. Reynick; Christiansburg, Stewart Black; Edwardsville, Joseph Eves; Fairfax, To be supplied; Falls Church, Joseph Hall; Grottoes, James B. McKay; Hamilton - McLean, Donald Adams*; Harrisonburg - Bridgewater, Richard Bell; Hornton, Howard F. Barclay; Jermont, Walter Mills; Leesburg, Raymond L. Matthews; Leesville, William T. Johnson; Lexington, Boena Vista, [illegible] Davis.

Lynchburg - Bedford, James M. Pannell; Middleburg, Frederick D. Hobbs; Newport News - Pearsons Ridge, John C. Barr*; Norfolk, Godfrey Tate; Peanook - Bowers Hill, Burford C. Miller; Pittsville, George W. Fowler; Purcellville, Otis L. Jasper; Richmond: Ashland, Rawles S. Porte*; Faith, To be supplied; Wesley Memorial, James David Kelly.

ROANOKE - SALEM, David Derrick; Staunton, To be supplied; Strasburg, Edward G. Wiggins; Wachapreague - Exmore, Harvey L. Lambert; Waynesboro, Joseph A. Carter, Jr.*; West Staunton, Walter Hurt; Withams, Howard W. Spencer; Winchester, Jeptha F. A. Kerr; Woodstock, Richard W. Hall, III.

Special Assignments: Secretary of Evangelism, Otis L. Jasper; Missionary Secretary, Joseph F. Haynes; Director of Christian Social Concerns, Rawles S. Porte; Director of Publishing Interest, John Bolling; Director of Wills, Mrs. Lila Allen; Director of Hospitals and Homes, Mrs. Ora Jackson.

WESTERN DISTRICT

J. J. PATTERSON, district superintendent

Asheville, J. T. Jones; Boone, O. S. Davenport; Catawba, Clifton Scott; Charlotte, C. E. Strickland; Ellis, W. R. Rooster*; Forest City, Booker T. Medford*; Gastonia, J. E. McCallum.

Hickory, H. W. Phillips; Hayes Chapel, M. W. Walton; Lowesville, R. H. McDowell; Lenoir, M. S. McLaughlin; Marion, John Q. Dutia; Kings Mt., J. M. McLean; Mooresville, A. W. Stowe.

Mt. Holly, B. L. Burge; Newton, C. B. Jenkins; Philadelphia, B. E. Hogue*; Shelby, Marshall McCallum*; Stanley, Bert J. Dutia; Statesville, C. W. Bailey; Tuckers Grove, C. O. Hill; Wilkesboro, Jacob Williams.

Special Assignments: Secretary of Evangelism, M. Y. Mangum; Missionary Secretary, J. T. Jones; Christian Concerns, J. E. Wallum; Director Christian Social Concerns, Mrs. M. H. London; Publishing Interest, C. E. Strickland; Hospitals and Homes, A. W. Stowe; Wills, Marshall McCallum.

Concert Slated At College

Four members of the music faculty of UNC-G will be presented by the Humanities Summer School at Bennett College in a concert at 8 o'clock tonight in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Dr. Gordon Wilson will perform on the organ and harpsichord, and there will be a baroque trio composed of Dr. Harold Luce, acting dean of the School of Music, oboe; John Meacham, flute; and Arthur Hunkins, violoncello.

Dr. Wilson and Meacham also will be heard in three duets, among them Handel's "Sonata No. 4 in C Major."

BENNETT COLLEGE FOR NEW SCIENCE BUILDING

GREENSBORO—Approval of a grant of $138,325 from the U. S. Office of Education toward construction of a new math and science building at Bennett College was announced last week.

President Willa B. Player stated that the sum represented the initial request of the college for federal funds and that it is hoped that the amount will eventually be increased to a minimum of $300,000. Estimated cost of the building $1,000,000, she said, adding that other funds will be sought from the Methodist Church, with which Bennett is affiliated, the United Negro College Fund, foundations and alumnae.

Plans for the new structure call for laboratories and classrooms for biology, chemistry and physics, a small auditorium for the showing of films, offices and a science library.

Seminar At Knox College

President Willa B. Player, Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, dean of instruction, and James J. Scarlette, business manager, represented Bennett College last week at a seminar on Educational Management held at Knox College, Galesburg, Ill.

Pre-Alumnae Officers At Bennett

Heading the Pre-Alumnae Association at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., for the 1965-66 school year are, left to right, Misses Sharyn Marshall of Atlantic City, N. J., president; Charlotet Tenbrook of Newport News, Va., vice president, and Jamelle Rackley of Norfolk, scretary-treasurer.

BENNETT COLLEGE NEWS

Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, was one of 30 persons invited by the Phelps-Stokes Fund to participate in a discussion held at the Conference Center of the Moton Foundation at Capahosic, Va., last weekend.

The group, which included college presidents, representatives from government, industry and private foundations, discussed the recently published study, "Predominantly Negro Colleges and Universities" by Dr. Earl McGrath. Dr. McGrath, former U. S. Commissioner of Education, was a special guest.

BENNETT NEWS

Four members of the music faculty at the University of North Carolina in Greensboro were presented in concert at Bennett College Friday night.

Featured were Dr. Gordon Wilson, organist and harpsichordist, and a baroque trio composed of Dr. Harold Luce, acting dean of the School of Music, oboist; John Meacham, flute and Arthur Hunkins, cello.

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Four members of the music faculty at the University of North Carolina in Greensboro were presented in concert at Bennett College Friday night.

Featured were Dr. Gordon Wilson, organist and harpsichordist, and a baroque trio composed of Dr. Harold Luce, acting dean of the School of Music; oboist; John Meacham, flute and Arthur Hunkins, cello.

Dr. Player To Go To White House Conference

GREENSBORO -- Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennette College, is participating in the White House Conference on Education being held in Washington, July 20-21.

She is participating in a panel discussion on planning for diversity in education, headed by former Governor Terry Sanford of North Carolina.

GRADUATES -- Bennett College graduates from Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee and Texas are pictured above (from left) Misses Elizabeth Hansberry, New Orleans, La.; Catherine Stallings, Tupelo, Miss.; Phyllis Reed, Memphis Tenn.; Mary Adams, Pontotoc, Miss.; Patricia Washington, Houston, Texas.

CREATIVITY REWARDED... Miss Evangeline Choto, (left) of Southern Rhodesia, and Miss Mable Blanding, of Sumter, S.C., both rising sophomores at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., are all smiles as Dr. Darwin Turner, head of the English department at neighboring A&T College, presents prizes in annual creative writing contest. Miss Choto won top award for poetry and Miss Blanding, top prose award.

PRE-ALUMNAE OFFICERS... Heading the Pre-Alumnae Association at Bennett College for the 1965-66 school year are, left to right: Misses Sharyn Marshall, of Atlantic City, N.C., president; Charlotte Tenbrook, of Newport News, Va., vice president, and Jamelle Rackley, of Norfolk, Va., secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Player Appointed To White House Meet

Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, has been named by President Johnson to serve as a member of the White House Conference on Education, to be held in Washington July 20-21.

Dr. Player will participate in a panel discussion on planning for diversity in education. Terry Sanford, former governor of North Carolina, is chairman of the panel.

Other panel members are: Edmund J. Gleazer, executive director of the American Association of Junior Colleges; Father Paul C. Reinert, president of St. Louis University; Lee A. DuBridge, president of the California Institute of Technology; Dean McHenry, chancellor of the University of California; Christopher Jencks, Institute for Policy Studies, Washington; and Albert H. Bowker, president of the City University of New York.

The purpose of the conference is to bring together about 650 leaders in education, business, labor and government to examine issues in education on which national attention should be focused.

John W. Gardner, president of the Carnegie Corporation of New York, is conference chairman.

Ministerial, Lay Workers End Leadership School At Bennett

GREENSBORO -- More than 50 ministerial and lay workers from the 11 districts of the North Carolina - Virginia and South Carolina Conferences of the Methodist Church attended the Upper Southeastern Regional Leadership School which ended a six-day session at Bennett College on Friday.

The registrants, the majority from South Carolina, took part in study-discussion classes, workshops and laboratory classes, all geared to increasing the effectiveness of their work with their respective congregations.

Misses Virginia Stafford and Jennie Youngblood, both of Nashville, Tenn., representing the General Board of Education of the Methodist Church, conducted workshops in "Preparation for Leadership in Annual Conferences" and "The Bible in the Methodist Curriculum," respectively. A third workshop, "The Purpose of Christian Education," was conducted by the Rev. John Blakemore, of Richmond, Va., executive secretary of the Virginia conference.

The Rev. Warren M. Jenkins, dean, of Orangeburg, S. C., reported the following registration:

SOUTH CAROLINA

Mesdames Flora C. Bethea, Dillon; Peggy H. Farmer, Florence; Ernestine Mance, Darlington; Maudella G. Bryant, Marion; Eloise McTeer, Dillon, Gloria Butler, Bennettsville; Ethel Moses, Hartsville, Jeannette Davis, Hartsville; Marion Jones, Sumter; C. B. Johnson, Columbia; Alma Rayson, Columbia; Verona Middleton, Orangeburg; E. R. McKnight, St. Stephens;

Misses Carrie L. McGee, Spartanburg; Rebecca Goodwin, Columbia; Louis Johnson, Eennettsville; Marvene Jones, Sumter; Edna McKnight, St. Stephens; Cynthia Stokes, Sumter; the Revs. B. C. Stewart, Darlington; Omega Newman, York; S. A. Gadsden; J. W. Haywood, Jr., Charleston; J. D. Boone, Clarkston, E. W. Cole, York; Rawle S. Porte, Richmond, Va., and B. J. Cooper, Spartanburg, S. C. and Willie Dicks, Sumter.

OTHER STATES

Mesdames Lucille Lay and Mary M. Johnson, both of Birmingham, Ala.; Miss Louise Robinson, Statesville, N. C.; the Rev. J. H. McCallum, Fayetteville, N. C.; Mrs. Olivia White, Parksley, Va.; Mrs. Margaret P. Tate, Norfolk, Va., and the Rev. Joseph Bethea, Richmond, Va.

FACULTY-STAFF

The Revs. Wesley C. Brogan, Raleigh; W. Paul Carlson, Columbia, S. C.; William C. Dobbins, Sylacauge, Ala.; Warren M. Jenkins, Orangeburg, S. C.; Ronald Johnson, Nashville, Tenn.; Samuel NeSmith, Greensboro; Richard Clifford, Richmond, Va.; and T. H. Swofford, Jr., Greensboro; Misses Virginia Stafford and Jennie Youngblood, both of Nashville, Tenn.; Mesdames Bertha Dale, Spartanburg, S. C.; Ida Lyde, Florence, S. C.; W. C. Strother, Jr., Philadelphia, Pa., and Lake Waldrop, Columbia, S. C.

FOREIGN PROFESSOR TO BENNETT

GREENSBORO - Miss Margaret Peter, professor of economics at Maharani's College, Bangalore, will spend the 1965-66 academic year as a member of the Bennett College faculty.

She is one of seven lecturers who will teach in various American women's colleges as participants in the United States-India Women's College Faculty Exchange program.

PRE-ALUMNAE OFFICERS — Heading the Pre-Alumnae Assocaition at Bennett College for the 1965-66 school year are, left to right: Misses Sharyn Marshall, of Atlantic City, N. J. president; Charlotte Tenbrook, of Newport News, Va., vice president, and Jamelle Rackley, of Norfolk, Va.

OFFICERS of the senior class at Bennett College for the 1965 - 66 academic year are, left to right: Misses Sharon Hardiman, Kansas City, Kan., parliamentarian; Sondra Stevens, Evanston, Ill., vice president; Patricia Harris, Detroit, Mich., president; Miriam Bogan, Columbia, S.C., secretary and Wei Lie So, Madan, Sumatra, treasurer.

15 Bennett faculty and staff at summer schools

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Fifteen members of the Bennett College faculty and staff are engaged in advanced study this summer.

Combined grants from the Piedmont University Center and Bennett are making it possible for Lela Hankins, biology, to study at Oregon State University and for Wilhelmina Gilbert, business education, to study at Syracuse University.

Mrs. Dorinda Trader, human development, is also recipient of one of these grants and will study at the University of Chicago.

* * *

RECIPIENT OF A summer study grant from the Board of Education of the Methodist Church is Charlotte Alston, organist, who will study at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

Summer study grants from the Bennett College Faculty Development Fund were awarded to Mrs. Minnie B. Smith, director of co - curricular activities (University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill).

Also Mrs. Carolyn Gaither, home economics, (University of North Carolina at Greensboro); Alsie Trammell, college nurse (University of Colorado School of Nursing), and Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, choir director.

* * *

OTHER MEMBERS of the faculty - staff engaged in summer study are Julia Wilson, business education, New York University; Georgie Latimer, English, University of Indiana, while at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro are the following:

Mesdames Frances Johnson and Libbie Lofton, of the library staff; Margaret McMillan, secretary - psychometrist; Earline Curry, teacher in the Children's House, and Necia Boyers, physical education.

Awarded grants from the United Negro College Fund-Bennett College Development Fund to study during the 1965-66 academic year are Dorothy Boone, English, University of Michigan; Adebesi Otudeko, social science, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill; John C. Moore, music, Syracuse University, and John F. Hatchett, religion - philosophy, Columbia University.

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, was one of 30 persons invited by the Phelps-Stokes Fund to participate in a discussion held at the Conference Center of the Moton Foundation at Capahosic, Va., last weekend.

The group, which included college presidents, representatives from government, industry and private foundations, discussed the recently published study, "Predominantly Negro Colleges and Universities" by Dr. Earl McGrath. Dr. McGrath, former U. S. Commissioner of Education, was a special guest.

UNC Music Faculty In Concert

GREENSBORO - Four members of the music faculty at the University of North Carolina in Greensboro were presented in concert at Bennett College Friday night.

Featured were Dr. Gordon Wilson, organist and harpsichordist, and a baroque trio composed of Dr. Harold Lucè, acting dean of the School of Music, obist; John Meacham, flute and Arthur Hunkins, cello.

Bennett Faculty-Staff Engaged In Summer Study

GREENSBORO, N. C. Fifteen members of the Bennett College faculty and staff are, have been or will be engaged in advanced study this summer.

Combined grants from the Piedmont University Center and Bennett are making it possible for Miss Lela Hankins, biology, to study at Oregon State University and for Miss Wilhelmina Gilbert,, business education, to study at Syracuse University. Mrs. Dorinda Trader, human development, is also recipient of one of these grants and will study at the University of Chicago.

RECIPIENTS OF a summer study study grant from the Board of Education of the Methodist Church in Miss Charlotte Alston, organist, who will study at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

Summer study grants from the Bennett College Faculty Development Fund were awarded to Mrs. Minnie B. Smith, director of co-curricular activities (University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill); Mrs. Carolyn Gaither, home economics, (University of North Carolina at Greensboro); Miss Alsie Trammell, college nurse (University of Colorado School of Nursing), and Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, choir director.

OTHER MEMBERS of the faculty-staff engaged in summer study are Miss Julia Wilson, business education, New York University; Miss Georgie Latimer, English, University of Indiana, while at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro are the following:

Mesdames Frances Johnson and Libbie Lofton, of the library staff; Margaret Mc Millan, secretary - psychometrist; Earline Curry, teacher in the Children's House, and Necia Boyers, physical education.

AWARDED GRANTS from the United Negro College Fund-Bennett College Development Fund to study during the 1965 - 66 academic year are Miss Dorothy Boone, English, University of Michigan; Adebesi Otudeko, social science, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill; John C. Moore, music, Syracuse University, and John F. Hatchett, religion - philosophy, Columbia University.

Bennett Sets Final Week

Students in the humanities summer school and scholars program at Bennett College will usher in a closing week of cultural programs with an art exhibit to be held from 3 to 5 p.m. today in the Fine Arts Building.

Monday night, on the portico of Pfeiffer Chapel, drama students in the scholars program will present the 16th Century morality play, "Everyman." Dance students from the two programs will be presented in the Ida H. Goode Gymnasium on Tuesday at 8 p.m., assisted by instrumental ensembles. A vesper service, "Worship Through Art," will be presented on the chapel portico at 6:45 p.m. Wednesday and at 8 p.m. in the Little Theatre "Twelve Angry Jurors" will be performed by the humanities school dramatists.

Thursday at 8 p.m., in Pfeiffer Chapel, a mixed chorus and students in applied music will be presented in concert.

Dr. Player To Moton As A Discussant

GREENSBORO - Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, was one of 30 persons invited by the Phelps-Stokes Fund to participate in a discussion held at the Conference Center of the Moton Foundation at Capahosic, Va., last weekend.

The group, which included college presidents, representatives from government, industry and private foundations, discussed the recently published study, "Predominantly Begro Colleges and Universities" by Dr. Earl McGrath. Dr. McGrath, former U. S. Commissioner of Education, was a special guest.

Senior Class Officers For 1965-66

Officers of the senior class at Bennett College for the 1965-66 academic year are, left to right: Misses Sharon Hardiman of Kansas City, Kans., parliamentarian; Sondra Stevens, of Evanston, Ill., vice-president; Patricia Harris, of Detroit, Mich., president; Miriam Bogan, of Columbia, S. C., secretary, and Wei Lie So., of Medan, Sumatra, treasurer.

BENNETT'S SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS - Officers of the senior class at Bennett College for the 1965-66 academic year are, left to right: Misses Sharon Hardiman, of Kansas City, Kas., parliamentarian; Sondra Stevens, of Evanston, Ill., vice-president; Patricia Harris, of Detroit, Mich., president; Miriam Bogan, of Columbia, S.C., secretary, and Wei Lie So, of Medan, Sumatra, treasurer.

Shares Impressions of Trip to Japan, Korea

Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., recently returned from a six-week tour of Japan and Korea, shared highlights of her trip with students and faculty.

A wave of sustained applause greeted Dr. Player's appearance on the platform and was repeated at the close of her most interesting presentation.

Defines Culture

Reminding the students that "people are what a culture is made of," Dr. Player said that the influence of the West is getting to be more and more in evidence in Japan, particularly in the construction and furnishing of hotels. The fact that 90 percent of the country consists of uninhabitable mountain ranges, makes for high density of population in the remaining 10 percent, she pointed out.

Impressed by Creativity

"I was most impressed by three things," she said, "namely, the great creativity of the people as shown by their handiwork, their great creativity with nature, and the shocking experience of Hiroshima where there is a peace monument dedicated to the proposition that Japan will never engage in war again."

Visited Many Shrines

She visited many of the shrines and educational institutions and found the Japanese highly literate, second only to the Swedish people. In addition to many photographs and color slides, Dr. Player brought back a number of gifts, among them a piece of pottery to be placed in Holgate Library.

Humanities Course At Bennett

Teacher's Way Of Life Is Poetry

BY DOUGLAS M. YOUNG
Daily News Education Writer

"I want to help them to listen to poetry, help them to see the music of poetry, to make poetry a popular sport, a game of pleasure."

John Tagliabue, poet in residence for the summer at Bennett College, loves to read, write, talk about and recite poetry to his students. The students are high school graduates from North Carolina and 12 other states who have come to Bennett for a six-week enrichment course in the humanities, with special emphasis on creative art, drama, music and poetry.

Tagliabue, who is on leave from Bates College, Lewiston, Me., came to Bennett because "I got restless."

Being restless apparently is one of Tagliabue's characteristics. He was born in Italy in 1923 and came to the United States when he was 4. Since then, he has traveled in almost every major country in the world except Russia, China and India.

The poet has won four Fulbright scholarships, and when not teaching at Bates College, is off to Europe with his wife and Bates students to see and discuss art.

Journeys to foreign lands give a perspective to the 42-year-old poet which stimulates creativity. He has a journal of poetry for almost every land he has visited. His "journal in Japan" is expected to be published within the next several days.

"I try to lead students to a poem I consider modern and exciting," the poet said. "I give them an introduction to poems I feel might excite them and stimulate them into writing, too." John Donne, Gerald Manley Hopkins, Shakespeare, William Blake, Dylan Thomas, e.e. cummings, William Carlos Williams, all are part of the diverse list of poets the students will hear and begin to understand with Tagliabue.

"I like to act, I like to recite. When I teach Shakespeare at Bates I emphasize acting and dramatic techniques. At Bennett I spend a lot of time with students just sitting in the shade talking about poetry. I encourage them to feel free to give me their poems. Some poems they have are very beautiful."

Poets don't make a lot of money. They seldom have political influence, and are not usually the choice for the board of directors of anything. But Tagliabue insists that the poet is a practical man.

"The priest and poet are practical in that they help make us pay attention to most vital things, they make us aware with wonder and mystery and deep feeling and in a moving way and in an always new way . . . (They) make us aware of life."

That is what Tagliabue tells his students. His book "Poems," published around 1950, is an optimistic one—about birth, the birth of love, of creation. The heart of the book is its imagery. Nature is alive and the world seems to expand and compress like the heart. All things — birth, life, love, God, death—lead to the heart and are the joy that follows sorrow, is the recurrent theme of the work.

Daily News photo by Jim Wommack

"A Poet Enjoying "Work" . . . John Tagliabue At Bennett College

Joyce Dunn Will Marry Mr. Garrett

KINSTON — Mrs. Ernest King announces the approaching marriage of her niece, Miss Marthalia Joyce Dunn of Kinston and Greensboro, and Lt. James Fisher Garrett of Gibsonville and the Army, son of Mrs. John Scales of Route 2, Gibsonville.

The ceremony is planned for Sunday, Aug. 1, in Antioch Free Will Baptist Church.

Miss Dunn received a bachelor of arts degree in music education in June from Bennett College in Greensboro. She is employed temporarily at Bennett as a teacher-assistant in music at the Humanities Institute.

Mr. Garrett is a 1964 graduate of A&T College in Greensboro, where he received a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering and joined Omega Psi Phi Fraternity. He is stationed at the Lexington Army Depot in Lexington, Ky. He is a grandson of the late James Garrett of Reidsville.

MISS JOYCE DUNN

15 Members Of Bennett College's Faculty Pursue Advanced Study

GREENSBORO - Fifteen members of the Bennett College faculty and staff are, have been or will be engaged in advanced study this summer.

Combined grants from the Piedmont University Center and Bennett are making it possible for Miss Lela Hankins, biology, to study at Oregon State University. Mrs. Dorina Trader, human development, is also recipient of one of these grants and will study at the University of Chicago.

Recipient of a summer study grant from the Board of Education of the Church is Miss Charlotte Alston, organist, who will study at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

Summer study grants from the Bennett College Faculty Development Fund were awarded to Mrs. Minnie B. Smith, director of co-curricular activities (University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill); Mrs. Carolyn Gaither, home economics, (University of North Carolina at Greensboro); Miss Alsir Trammell, college nurse (University of Colorado School of Nursing); and Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, choir director.

Other members of the faculty-staff engaged in summer study are Miss Julia Wilson, business education, New York University; Miss Gorgie Latimer, English, University of Indiana, while at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro are the following:

Mesdames Frances Johnson and Libbie Lofton, of the library staff; Margaret McMillan, secretary-psychometrist; Earline Curry, teacher in the Children's House and Necia Boyers, physical education.

Awarded grants from the United Negro College Fund-Bennett College Development Fund to study during the 1965-66 academic year are Miss Dorothy Boone, English, University of Michigan; Adebesi Otudeko, social science, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill; John C. Moore, Syracuse University, and John F. Hatchett, religion-philosophy, Columbia University.

Bennett College's Student Leaders To Hold Meeting

A three-day student leadership conference will begin at Bennett College Monday.

The major item on the agenda will be a discussion of a report from the faculty-student summer seminar on rules, standards and procedures governing student life.

Wednesday night there will be a banquet for faculty members and student leaders in the dining center of the student union.

Today Dr. Willa B. Player, president, conducted the first general session of the annual faculty-staff fall conference.

She announced new appointments to the faculty. They are Mrs. Ernestine H. Gray, alumnae secretary and placement officer; Mrs. Dorislene D. Bowens of Asheboro, physical education; Mrs. Mary H. Johnson of Richmond, Va., mathematics; Reuben G. Pierce of Petersburg, Va., biology, and Lucy Waddell of Sanford, residence counselor.

FIFTEEN BENNETT COLLEGE FACULTY ARE STUDYING

Fifteen members of the Bennett College faculty and staff are, have been or will be engaged in advanced study this summer.

Combined grants from the Piedmond University Center and Bennett are making it possible or Miss Lela Hankins, biology, o study at Oregon State University and for Miss Wilhelmina Gilbert, business education, to study at Syracuse University. Mrs. Dorinda Trader, human development, is also recipient of one of these grants and will study at the University of Chicago.

Recipient of a summer study grant from the Board of Education of the Methodist Church is Miss Charlotte Alston, organist, who will study at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

Summer study grants from the Bennett College Faculty Development Fund were awarded to Mrs. Minnie B. Smith, director of co-curricular activities (University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill); Mrs. Carolyn Gaither, home economics, (University of North Carolina at Greensboro); Miss Alsie Trammell, college nurse (University of Colorado School of Nursing), and Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, choir director.

Other members of the faculty-staff engaged in summer study are Miss Julia Wilson, business education, New York University; Miss Georgie Latimer, English, University of Indiana, while at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro are the following;

Mesdames Frances Johnson and Libbie Lofton, of the library staff; Margaret McCillan, secretary-psychometrist; Earline Curry, teachr in the Children's House, and Necia Boyers, physical education.

Awarded grants from the United Negro CollegeFund-Bennett College Development Fund to study during the 1965-66 academic year are Miss Dorothy Boone, English, University of Michigan; Adebesi Otudeko, social science, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, John C. Moore, music, Syracuse University, and John F. Hatchett, religion - philosophy, Columbia University.

25.

GUEST LECTURER...Misses Josephine Dula, of Lenoir, N.C., left and Marylyn Viola, of West Columbia, Texas, chat with William H. Robinson, professor of English at A&T College, Greensboro, N.C., who lectured and read from the works of poetess Gwendolyn Brooks, to the Bennett College Freshman English Core recently.

Dr. Elden T. Smith, president of Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio, and Mrs. Smith chat with the Misses Saundra Jenkins, left, of Orangeburg, S.C.; and Wei Lie So of Indonesia, both rising seniors, during a recent visit to the Bennett College campus in Greensboro, N.C., where Dr. Smith spoke at a Sunday vesper service.

VISITOR FROM INDIA...Mrs. H.M. Parvathamma, principal of Maharani's College for Women, Bangalore, India (second from left) shown during tea in her honor given by members of the library staff during her five-day visit to Bennett College. Others, from left, are: Mrs. Constance H. Marteena, librarian; Mrs. Ophelia Simpson, residence director who was hostess to the visitor; Mrs. Frances Johnson and Mrs. Carrie Shute.

TIME FOR SMILES...Miss Claudia Lindsey (second from left) New York soprano, whose recital closed the current lyceum series at Bennett College, relaxes with three voice students during reception. Left to right: Misses Barbara Hammond, of Greenville, S.C., and Brenda Thornton, of Beaufort, S.C., and Mrs. Genevieve Williams of Greensboro.

PROGRAMMED LEARNING...High school students enrolled in the National Science Training Program at Bennett College, sponsored by the National Science Foundation, are shown using "Ugo", an automated teaching device. Left to right: Rosendo Martinez, of Corpus Christi, Texas; Blossie Hughes, of Rocky Mount, N.C.; Laura Hatcher, of Yellow Springs, Ohio; Beverly Elly, of Pascagoula, Miss.; and Eric Monberg, of Hancock, Mich. Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director, checks progress.

W.S.C.S. CONFERENCE CLOSES AT BENNETT

More than 60 members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the North Carolina-Virginia Conference of the Methodist Church closed a five-day School of Christian Mission at Bennett College on Friday.

Theme was "Mission: The Christian's Calling," and the women were divided into three class groups. Mrs. Alvin Morrison taught a course in "The Witness of Every Christian"; Mrs. K. W. Jones a course in "Social Issues for the Christian," and Miss Maryruth Nickels a course in "Outreach Through Missions."

Mrs. Jettie D. Morrison, of Statesville, is president of the society and Mrs. S. H. Mills, of Winston-Salem, served as dean of the school. Registered were:

CENTRAL DISTRICT — Mesdames Maude S. Atkins, Cozet Belo, D. A. Comer, L. B. Haizlip, Iola Moffit, Betty Rankins, Maxine Reid, Angelina Roberts, O. R. Simpson, Mary Smith, Beula Wright, Ruth Patterson, Floria Gilreath, Cleester Hickerson, C. A. Barrett, J. E. Brower, G. M. Phelps, T. Y. Brincefield, Louise King, Mozelle Reid, C. H. Marcellus, W. P. Bridgett, Juanita Penn, Carrie Mayfield;

Mesdames A. P. McLeod, Cora Boyd, Gretta Rush, Olivia Womack, Madeline Best, Esther Allen, Sarah Crite, Jessie Rivers, Ava Vanstory, Zula Lovell, Emma Partee, Mary Howell, E. C. Mills, Ruth Patterson, Alberta Reynolds, E. M. McAdoo, G. H. Caldwell, Elizabeth Leak, Lula Jessup, R. B. Withers and Misses Fannie McCallum, Adin Tonkins, Regina Patterson, Maxine West, and Estelle McCallum.

EASTERN DISTRICT—Mesdames Margaret Minor, Bruce Hargroves, Blanche Skillman and Trula McKeithan.

WESTERN DISTRICT—Mesdames Arletta Pearson, Connie Williams, Juanita Tucker, Cora Keaton, Beulah Moser, Allease Bailey, Ruth Jolly, Helen Clarke, and Misses Louise Davidson and Jessie Collins.

LEAD BENNETT SENIORS...Officers of the senior class at Bennett College for the 1965-66 academic year are, left to right: Misses Sharon Hardiman, of Kansas City, Kas., parliamentarian; Sondra Stevens, of Evanston, Ill., vice president; Miriam Bogan, of Columbia, S.C., secretary, and Wei Lie So, of Medan, Sumatra, treasurer.

DR. PLAYER ATTENDS WHITE HOUSE CONFERENCE ON EDUCATION

Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, is participating in the White House Conference on Education being held in Washington, July 20-21.

She is participating in a panel discussion on planning for diversity in education headed by former Governor Terry Sanford of North Carolina.

SENIOR GIFT...President Willa B. Player of Bennett College, accepts from Mrs. Johnsie Dalton, of Greensboro, treasurer of the senior class, a ckeck to be used for the purchase of a glass display case for exhibition purposes.

'Ugo,' A Machine, Chosen By Some Bennett Student As Best Teacher

GREENSBORO - For some of the students enrolled in the National Science Training Program at Bennett College, their favorite instructor is not a man, not a woman, but an automated teaching device which they have affectionately dubbed "Ugo."

"Ugo," reports Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director of the program, "is teaching biochemical genetics, modern mathematics, calculus, the atomic and molecular orbital theory and other basic scientific concepts.

"We are using Ugo," he explained, "to test the effectiveness of programmed instruction devices to accelerate the academic achievement of high-ability secondary school students engaged in this program."

The machine presents new information and problems to the students, they respond by recording their reactions on rolling paper tape keyed with the machanism of the device. The students digest the new information at their own pace, calling on Ugo for help or review until they reach the correct solution to the problems. The teaching frames are programmed at three levels of difficulty and the students are urged to move to the more difficult levels as they progress.

It is too early to draw any definite conclusions with reference to the effectiveness of Ugo," stated Dr. Sayles. I feel, however, that the findings in this project will add to the experiences that will some day become a part of a new teaching technique."

The director was quick to point out that programmed instruction devices cannot replace a competent and creative classroom science teacher and that poorly programmed courses can do more harm than good.

PROGRAMMED LEARNING - High school students enrolled in the National Science Training Program at Bennett College, sponsored by the National Science Foundation, are shown using "Ugo," an automated teaching device. Left to right: Rosendo Martinez, of Corpus Christi, Texas; Blossie Hughes, of Rocky Mount; Laura Hatcher, of Yellow Springs, Ohio; Beverly Elly, of Pascagoula, Miss.; and Eric Monberg, of Hancock, Mich. Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director, checks progress.

PROGRAMMED LEARNING—High school students enrolled in the National Science Training Program at Bennett College, sponsored by the National Science Foundation, are shown using "Ugo," an automated teaching device. Left to right: Rosendo Martinez, Corpus Christ, Texas; Blossie Hughes, Rocky Mount, N. C.; Laura Hatcher, Yellow Springs, Ohio; Beverly Elly, Pascagoula, Miss.; and Eric Monberg, Hancock, Mich. Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director, checks progress.

5-Day School Of Christian Mission Ends At Bennett

GREENSBORO - More than 60 members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the North Carolina-Virginia Conference of the Methodist Church closed a five-day school of Christian Mission at Bennett College last Friday.

Theme was "Mission: The Christian's Calling," and the women were divided into three class groups. Mrs. Alvin Morrison taught a course in "The Witness of Every Christian;" Mrs. K. W. Jones a course in "Social Issues for the Christian," and Miss Maryruth Nickels a course in "Outreach Through Missions."

Mrs. Jettie D, Morrison, of Statesville, is president of the society and Mrs. S. H. Mills, of Winston-Salem, served as dean of the school. Registered were:

CENTRAL DISTRICT - Mesdames Maude S. Atkins, Cozet Belo, D. A. Comer, L. B. Haizlip, Iola Moffit, Betty Rankins, Maxine Reid, Angelina Roberts, O. R. Simpson, Mary Smith, Beulah Wright, Ruth Patterson, Floria Gilreath, Cleester Hickerson, C. A. Barrett, J. E. Brower, G. M. Phelps, T. Y. Brincefield, Louise King, Mozelle Reid, C. H. Marcellus, W. P. Bridgett, Juanita Penn, Carrie Mayfield.

Also mesdames A. P. Mcleod, Cora Boyd, Gretta Rush, Olivia Womack, Madeline Best, Esther Allen, Sarah Crite, Jessie Rivers, Ava Vanstory, Zula Lovell, Emma Partee, Mary Howell, E. C. Mills, Ruth Patterson, Alberta Reynolds, E. M. McAdoo, G. H. Caldwell, Elizabeth Leak, Lula Jessup, R. B. Withers and Misses Fannie McCallum, Ada Tonkins, Regina Patterson, Maxine West, and Estell McCallum.

EASTERN DISTRICT - Mesdames Margaret Minor, Bruce Hargroves, Blanche Skillman and Trula McKeithan.

WESTERN DISTRICT - Mesdames Arletta Pearson, Connie Williams, Juanita Tucker, Cora Keaton, Beulah Moser, Allease Bailey, Ruth Jolly, Helen, Clarke, and Misses Louise Davidson, and Jessie Collins.

MERELY RECALLING the words, Civil Rights, reminds me that at least one of that Rights-fighting family, the Rackleys of Norfolk, Va., is doing something other than "fighting" this summer. That one is Jamelle Gloria, the 18-year-old daughter of Mrs. Gloria Rackley, who is currently studying at the University of Strasbourg, France.

Mrs. Rackley is English instructor at Norfolk State College, in Norfolk.

A French major at Bennett College, Miss Rackley is studying French customs and culture while taking an 8-week course at the university. She hopes to work in the area of language communication after graduation. She graduated from high school at the age of 16 in the top 10 percent of her class. When she completed the 8th grade, Jamelle had a straight "A" average. As a reward, her parents took her on a 10,000 mile tour covering much of South Carolina, Georgia, Texas, Mississippi and Arkansas.

Jamelle, along with her mother and younger sister Lurma, have participated extensively in civil rights protests in their native home of South Carolina. 16-year-old Lurma, now a senior at Norview High School was at one time sentenced to 7 years in reform school for her participation in civil rights demonstrations. She was also responsible for initiating a suit against the Orangeburg Regional Hospital challenging its segregation policy. Last winter the suit was decided in her favor.

Mrs. Rackley, who joined the Norfolk State English faculty last year, is a one-time teacher in the South Carolina public school system. She was fired from her teaching position because of desegregation suits she initiated against the local movie houses and school board.

She was successful in each suit. As a result of these suits and the subsequent enactment of the Civil Rights law, facilities in Orangeburg are now integrated.

* * *

GREENSBORO, N. C.—Four representatives of Bennett College are attending the 19th Institute of Higher Education sponsored by the Board of Education of the Methodist Church and Scarritt College now in session in Nashville, Tenn. Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, dean of instruction; Dr. Marlow F. Shute, director of self study and evaluation services; Miss Mildred O. Tucker, director of residence life, and the Rev. A. Knighton Stanley, teacher of religion and social science are attending sessions which end on July 28.

Four Attend 19th Learning Institute

GREENSBORO - Four representatives of Bennett College are attending the 19th Institute of Higher Education sponsored by the Board of Education of the Methodist Church and Scarritt College now in session in Nashville, Tenn.

Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, dean of instruction; Dr. Marlow F. Shute, director of self study and evaluation services; Miss Mildred O. Tucker, director of residence life, and the Rev. A. Knighton Stanley, teacher of religion and social science are attending sessions which began on Sunday and end on July 28.

As Students Participate In Special Programs

'An Adventure In Self-Discovery' Thrives On Bennett Campus

BY DOROTHY BENJAMIN
Record Staff Writer

For a college that doesn't have regular summer school, there is more activity on the Bennett College campus this summer than most any place around.

The bustle is caused by three special programs for pre-college young people. There is the Scholars Program for 50 students with scholarships for their freshman year at Bennett. There is the Humanities Summer School for rising high school seniors. There is the National Science Foundation Program for high ability secondary school students.

The scholars and humanities programs are new this year but the science program is in its seventh consecutive year.

THE SCHOLARS Program, involving 50 students, offers courses in literature, philosophy and social science in the morning and activities in drama, dance, art and music in the afternoons.

The objective of the program, directed by Dr. Dorothy Bardolph, is to enrich the learning of the recipients of the scholarships and to prepare them better for college. It introduces the student to college work and enhances her esthetic experience.

These students come from the same general area as the regular student body. Less than half of them are from North Carolina.

Dr. Bardolph said in their literature course the students are studying poetry and learning to read novels critically. The philosophy course is introductory and involves considerable reading. In the social science course the rising freshmen are introduced to the idea of institutions and study the western economic society, the concept of society and culture patterns.

Students have the opportunity to express themselves creatively through the fine arts aspect of the program. Visiting lecturers, performing artists and selected films also are used. The program is expense-free with the exception of travel.

Mrs. Edith Brown, who teaches art, said, "Our students come to us with almost no previous art experience. In these few weeks, we have tried to lead them into a kind of stretching of the imagination which makes every act of seeing a new discovery, an adventure which goes beyond the mundane . . . We hope that in the students' attempts to communicate something of themselves in visible form we have stimulated in them the kind of visual excitement which will lead to further adventures in self-discovery and self-realization . . ."

The Humanities Summer School, directed by Dr. Helen Trobian, has 75 students (including eight boys) from 12 states enrolled. Most of them have at least one more year of high school.

In the morning they study philosophy, music, art and literature and the afternoons are devoted to actual experiences in art and music. They are permitted to choose an area for exploratory laboratory experience in music, art, drama, dance and writing.

The cost of instruction is paid by the college and each student receives an allowance for books, supplies, field trips and other items.

Dr. Trobian said summer study programs in the humanities for pre-freshmen are comparatively new on college campuses. A unique feature of this program is the opportunity for contact with visiting poets, writers, artists and musicians. It is a coordinated academic and laboratory-studio program.

Special events for the Humanities Summer School and the Scholars program include a concert wind ensemble program assisted by a vocal quintet, an art exhibit, the Scholars Program play, a dance program, and the Humanities School Play.

The closing assembly for both programs will be held July 23 at 11 a.m. in the chapel, followed by a luncheon for parents, students, faculty and staff at 1 p.m. in the student union dining hall. The "graduates" will be given certificates.

During their time at Bennett, June 14-July 23, these young people also have had the opportunity to play in the band and sing in the choir.

Over in the science building, Dr. J. Henry Sayles is directing the National Science Foundation summer training program for high ability secondary school students. It began June 15 and will end Saturday. Ninety boys and girls from 21 states are participating.

Dr. Sayles said all the students take modern math and calculus and specialize in one of three subjects—chemistry, biology or physics. They also do research projects. This is the only school in the region to offer physics.

The faculty is composed primarily of local college professors but there are visiting teachers from the University of Michigan and Harvard University. High school science teachers are serving as teacher-counselors which, according to Dr. Sayles, also increases their knowledge and ability in the field.

The NSF program has as its major objective providing high quality instruction in mathematics and in the biological and physical sciences. It is designed specifically to enrich and broaden the scientific training of high ability secondary school students with superior educational backgrounds and to foster and encourage the development of their avocational and vocational interests in science and mathematics.

THE PROGRAM also is designed to increase the depth of the student's prior experiences in reading and interpreting scientific literature through individual tutorial conferences so the students will have greater ability in these areas at the conclusion of the course.

Until this year chemistry was the most popular course with the students but now is running neck - and - neck with physics.

Dr. Sayles said the use of programmed instruction devices has made a great contribution in enriching the students in this program.

The experiences in this program have provided a broad functional understanding of science and have made the students aware of their intellectual responsibility. It is also felt that the experiences in this program have given the students a new respect for learning.

(Record staff photo.)

THE ACT OF SEEING BECOMES A NEW DISCOVERY
Students Paticipate in Special Art Program at Bennett College

Sound Of Music: Prepare For Concert At Bennett College

Four members of the brass ensemble composed of high school students attending the Humanities School at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., rehearse for concert. Left to right, L. B. Bullard Jr., Shreveport, La.; Glynder Stone, Graham, N. C., trombones; Doris Jean Enoch, Burlington, N. C., and Margaret Lambert, Haw River, N. C., trumpets.

Arts performance closes summer school at Bennett

GREENSBORO, N.C.— Students in the Humanities Summer School and Scholars Program at Bennett College ushered in a closing week of cultural programs with an art exhibit held July 18 in the Fine Arts Building.

Classes conducted by Mrs. Edith Brown and James C. McMillan worked in a number of media - oils, water colors, sculpture and sketches - since the program began on June 14. A number of high school students demonstrated considerable talent.

Included among other activities of the week:

Drama students in the scholars program, directed by Mrs. Irwin Acker, presnted the 16th century morality play, "Everyman." Dance students from the two programs were presented in recital, assisted Mrs. Cynthia Chiveres and by instrumental ensembles. Mrs. Cynthia Chivers and Miss Helen Skipper were in charge.

"TWELVE ANGRY MEN" was performed by the Humanities School dramatists, directed by Fred Eady.

Students in the National Science Training Program sponsored by the National Science Foundation also held closing exercises on Friday in the Science Assembly. Dr. James Williams, professor of physiology at A and T College, spoke and certificates were awarded to the students.

SOUND OF MUSIC—Four members of the brass ensemble composed of high school students attending the Humanities School at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., rehearse for concert. Left to right: L. B.Bullard Jr., Shreveport, La.; Glynder Stone, Graham, N.C., trombones; Doris J. Enoch, Burlington, N.C., Margaret Lambert, Haw River, N.C. trumpets.

CALL ME UGO

Bennett College students are taught by machine

GREENSBORO, N.C. — For some of the students enrolled in the National Science Training Program at Bennett College, their favorite instructor is not a man, not a woman, but an automated teaching device which they have affectionately dubbed "Ugo."

"Ugo," reports Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director of the program, "is teaching biochemical genetics, modern mathematics, calculus the atomic and molecular orbital theory and other basic scientific concepts.

"We are using Ugo," he explained, "to test the effectiveness of programmed instructions to accelerate the academic achievement of high-ability secondary school students engaged in this program."

THE MACHINE presents new information and problems to the students. They respond by recording their reactions on rolling paper tape keyed with the mechanism of the device.

The students digest the new information at their own pace, calling on Ugo for help or review until they reach the correct solution to the problems. The teaching frames are programmed at three levels of difficulty and the students are urged to move to the more difficult levels as they progress.

"It is too early to draw any definite conclusions with reference to the effectiveness of Ugo," stated Dr. Sayles. I feel, however, that the findings in this project will add to the experiences that will some day become a part of a new teaching technique."

SOUND OF MUSIC - Four members of the brass ensemble composed of high school students attending the Humanities School at Bennett College, Greensboro, rehearse for concert. Left to right, L. B. Bullard, Jr., Shreveport, La.; Glynder Stone, Graham, trombones; Doris Jean Enoch, Burlington, N. C.; Margaret Lambert, Haw River, trumpets.

Bennett's Humanities Summer School Enters Its Final Week

GREENSBORO - Students in the Humanities Summer School and Scholars Program at Bennett College ushered in a closing week of cultural programs with an art exhibit held from 3 to 5 p. m. on Sunday in the Fine Arts Building.

Classes conducted by Mrs. Edith Brown and James C. McMillan worked in a number of art media -oils, water colors, sculpture and sketches - since the programs began on June 14 and a number of the high school students damonstrated considerable talent.

On Monday night, on the portico of Pfeiffer Chapel, drama students in the Scholars Program, directed by Mrs. Irwin Acker, presend the 16th century morality play, "Everyman." Dance students from the two programs were presented in the Ida H. Goode Gymnasium on Tuesday at 8 p. m., assisted by instrumental ensembles. Mrs. Cynthia Chivers and Miss Helen Skipper were in charge.

A vesper service, "Worship Through Art," was presented on the chapel portico at 6:45 p. m. Wednesday by a brass ensemble and at 8 p. m. in the Little Theatre, "Twelve Angry Jurors" was performed by the Humanities School dramatists, directed by Fred Eady.

On Thursday at 8 p. m. in Pfeiffer Chapel, a mixed chorus and students in applied music were presented in concert.

Students in the National Science Training Program sponsored by the National Science Foundation also held closing exercises on Friday in the Science Assembly.

Dr. James Williams, professor of physiology at A&T College, spoke and certificates of attendance were presented by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director. They, their parents and faculty were also guests at luncheon.

Bennett gets fed dorm loan of $657,000

WASHINGTON (NNPA(— The Community Facilities Administration announced that a loan of $657,000 has been authorized for Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., to finance construction of a new dormitory to house 138 women students and an infirmary capable of serving 18 students.

JUNIOR CLASS LEADERS - Leaders of the junior class at Bennett College for the 1965-66 academic year are, left to right, Misses Gwendolyn Leecost, of Richmond, Va, co-treasurer; Janice Wilson, of Hightstown, N. J., secretary; Shirley Neal, of Charlotte, assistant secretary; Eddyce Pope, of Washington, D. C., president; Barbara English, of Atlanta, Ga., co-treasurer, Marta Willson, of Laurinburg, N. C., parliamentarian, and Rowena McDaniel, of Lynchburg, Va., vice president.

National Student Congress

Bennett College will be represented at the National Student Congress, meeting at the University of Minnesota, Madison, Aug. 22 to Sept. 5, by two members of the senior class.

They are Misses Mittie White of Newark, N. J., president of the Student Senate, and Gretta Middleton of Charleston, S. C., National Student Association coordinator. From Aug. 17-21, Miss White attended a conference of student body presidents, while Miss Middleton attended sessions of the National Student Association.

"UGO" A FAVORITE AT BENNETT COLLEGE

For some of the students enrolled in the National Science Training Program at Bennett College, their favorite instructor is not a man not, a woman, but an automated teaching device which they have affectionately dubbed "Ugo".

"Ugo," reports Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director of the program, "is teaching biochemistry, genetics, modern mathematics, calculus, the atomic and molecular orbital theory and other basic scientific concepts.

"We are using Ugo," he explained, "to test the effectiveness of programmed instruction devices to accelerate the academic achievement of high-ability secondary school students engaged in this program."

The machine presents new information and problems to the students, they respond by recording their reactions on rolling paper tape keyed with the mechanism of the device. The students digest the new information at their own pace, calling on Ugo for help or review until they reach the correct solution to the problems. The teaching frames are programmed at three levels of difficulty and the students are urged to move to the more difficult levels as they progress.

"It is too early to draw any definite conclusions with reference to the effectiveness of Ugo," stated Dr. Sayles. I feel, however, that the findings in this project will add to the experiences that will some day become a part of a new teaching technique."

The director was quick to point out that programmed instruction devices cannot replace a competent and creative classroom science teacher and that poorly programmed courses can do more harm than good.

Bennett Staff Meets Today

President Willa B. Player will preside at the first general session of the annual faculty-staff fall conference at Bennett College today.

More than 100 campus leaders are expected Monday for the annual student leadership conference. Principal item for discussion will be a report from the Faculty-Student Summer Seminar dealing with rules, standards and procedures governing student life. The conference will last for three days.

In addition to the conferences, Dr. Player also announced five more appointments to the faculty and staff. Mrs. Ernestine H. Gray has been named alumnae secretary and placement officer. Others named are: Mrs. Dorislene D. Bowens of Asheboro, physical education; Mrs. Mary H. Johnson of Richmond, Va., mathematics; Ruben G. Pierce of Petersburg, Va., biology, and Miss Lucy Waddell of Sanford, residence counselor.

Bennett Summer School Finals Held Last Friday

Closing exercises for the three summer schools at Bennett College for talented high school students were held on Friday.

A joint program was held by the Humanities Summer School and the Scholars Program, with President Willa By Player as speaker.

"There is a crying need for new ideas in education," she said, "and I am sure from what I have seen that you have had some new ideas since coming to our campus. Here at Bennett you have been in a partnership in education. It is your responsibility to keep this partnership alive by sharing it with those who have not had your opportunity."

Certificates were presented by Dr. Helen Trobian, director of the Humanities Summer School and by Dr. Dorothy Bardolph, director of the Scholar's Program. Dr. Trobian announced the names of 12 students who received special recognition for their work.

Wilsonia Cherry, of Robersonville, N. C., finished the program with high honors and also received the top award in creative writing. Completing work with honors were Jettie Burnett, of Fort Worth, Texas, who received the award in philosophy, and Nettie Alexander, of Norlina, N. C., who received the award in poetry.

Others recognized were:

Dorothy Moore, of Troy, N. C., composition; Ruth Baker, of Fort Worth, Texas, literature; Velsto Highsmith, of Richmond, Va., drama; Shelia Johnson, Columbus, Ga., dance; Sylvester Love, of Shreveport, La., art; Constance Knox, of Winston-Salem, piano; Phyllis Jeffries, of Durham, organ; Brandolyn Thomas, of Hartsville, S.C., choral music, and Carrie Vincent, of Graham, N. C., instrumental music.

Students in the Summer Science Institute sponsored by the National Science Foundation, received their certificate from Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director. Speaker for their program was Dr. James Williams, professor of physiology at A&T College, who told them that "the scientist is always eager to hear, to learn and to tell new ideas" and urged them to continue their search for new things.

PRETTY PALATTEER
. . . Janice Johnson

100 STUDENTS IN BENNETT LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

GREENSBORO, N. C.—More than 100 student leaders have been invited to participate in the annual Bennett College student leadership conference to be held here, September 13-15.

Miss Mittie White, '66, of Newark, N. J., president of the Student Senate, stated that this year's theme would be "No Man Is An Island, No Tree Stands Alone," and that a nationally-known consultant in the field of education, yet to be named, will meet with the students.

Among matters to be discussed will be a report of the Faculty-Student Summer Seminar on their six-week deliberations of rules, standards and procedures governing student life. Student members, in addition to Miss White, were:

Misses Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, D. C., president of the David D. Jones Student Union; Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S. C., National Student Association coordinator; Ann Middleton, of Atlanta, Ga., and Theresa Hall, of Washington, D. C.

Working with them were Mrs. Mary Eady, registrar, and the Rev. A. Knighton Stanley, of the religious life staff.

Faculty And Staff Convene At Bennett

The first general session of the annual faculty-staff fall conference at Bennett College was held Friday morning and the afternoon given over to meetings of the three divisions of instruction.

Today has been designated for individual conferences by faculty members with the chairmen of their divisions.

The conference resumes on Monday with meetings of committees concerned with the self-study program. An evening session will also be held and on Tuesday night the self-study groups will make their reports.

Over 100 Student Leaders Invited To Take Part In Bennett College Confab

GREENSBORO - More than 100 student leaders have been invited to participate in the annual Bennett College student leadership conference to be held here, September 13-15.

Miss Mittie White, '65, of Newark, N. J., president of the Student Senate, stated that this year's theme would be "No Man Is An Island, No Tree Stands Alone," and that a nationally-known consultant in the field of education, yet to be named, will meet with the students.

Among matters to be discussed will be a report of the Faculty-Student Summer Seminar on their six-week deliberation of rules, standards and procedures governing student life. Student members, in addition to Miss White, were:

Misses Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, D. C., president of the David D. Jones Student Union; Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S. C., National Student Association coordinator; Ann Middleton, of Atlanta, Ga., and Theresa Hall, of Washington, D. C.

Working with them were Mrs. Mary Eady, registrar, and the Rev. A. Knighton Stanley, of the religious life staff.

IN BENNETT SERVICE...Four members of the 1965 graduating class at Bennett College Greensboro, N.C. who participated in the all-senior vesper service are, left to right: Misses Velma Harris, of Camden, N.J., speaker; Cheryl Walls, also of Camden, presiding officer; Jane Ryder, of New Bern, organist, and Dorothy Wilkerson, of Charleston, S. C., Old Testament reader.

For New Buildings

Bennett College Gets Loan

Approval has been given by the federal Housing & Home Finance Agency to a loan of $657,000 to enable Bennett College here to build a new dormitory housing 138 students and an infirmary, according to confirmation today through the office of Rep. Horace R. Kornegay.

The dormitory, a four-story unit, will be a twin to the existing Laura Cone Hall and will be built on a quadrangle on the campus. The infirmary will be a one-story structure.

Construction is expected to start in about two months following taking of bids. Completion is expected in about 16 months working time. The loan, according to HHFA policy, is to be repaid from rentals on the dormitory space.

Two Seniors To Represent Area College

GREENSBORO - Bennett College will be represented at the National Student Congress, meeting at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, August 22 to September 5, by two members of the senior class.

They are Misses Mittie White, of Newark, N. J., president of the Student Senate, and Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S. C., National Student Association coordinator. From August 17-21, Miss White attended a conference of student body presidents, while Miss Middleton attended sessions of the National Student Association.

GREENSBORO, N.C. — A class of 230 freshmen — largest in the history of the institution — is scheduled to report to BENNETT COLLEGE this week for a period or orientation preceding the opening of the college on Sept. 22.

A Parents' Day meeting has been scheduled for 10:30 a.m. on September 16 at which time Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, dean of instruction, will preside and welcoming remarks will be given by President Willa B. Player.

Bennett Opening Programmed Lab

GREENSBORO, N. C. — As a means of enriching and enlarging its present developmental services, Bennett College will open a programmed Instruction," is also a graduate of the Teacher Experimental Education Project (TEEP) under a grant from the Ford Foundation. He has already applied for a patent on a teaching machine which he developed which offers flexibility in both linear and branching programming techniques.

President Willa B. Player, in making the announcement, said that the laboratory, which will be equipped with the appropriate machines, library and teaching aids, would be under the direction of Norman Licht, of Detroit.

Mr. Licht, whose master's thesis at Wayne State University, was on "The Teaching Machine — A Study in Programmed Instruction," is also a graduate of the Teacher Experimental Education Project (TEEP) under a grant from the Ford Foundation. He has already applied for a patent on a teaching machine which he developed which offers flexibility in both linear and branching programming techniques.

Christian Mission school at Bennett

GREENSBORO, N.C. — More than 60 members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the North Carolina - Virginia Conference of the Methodist Church closed a five - day School of Christian Mission at Bennett College last Friday.

Theme was "Mission: The Christian's Calling," and the women were divided into three class groups. Mrs. Alvin Morrison taught a course in "The Witness of Every Christian;" Mrs. K. W. Jones a course in "Social Issues for the Christian," and Miss Maryruth Nickels, a course in "Outreach Through Missions."

Mrs. Jettie D. Morrison, of Statesville, is president of the society and Mrs. S. H. Mills, of Winston - Salem, served as dean of the school.

* * *

REGISTERED WERE:

CENTRAL DISTRICT — Mesdames Maude S. Atkins, Cozet Belo, D. A. Comer, L. B. Haizlip, Iola Moffit Betty Rankins, Maxine Reid, Angelina Roberts, O. R. Simpson Mary Smith, Beulah Wright and Ruth Patterson.

Mesdames Floria Gilreath, Cleester Hickerson, C. A. Barrett, J. E. Brower, G. M. Phelps, T. Y. Brincefield, Louise King, Mozelle Reid, C. H. Marcellus, K. P. Bridgett, Juanita Penn, Carrie May - field;

Mesdames A. P. McLeod, Cora Boyd, Gretta Rush, Olivia Womack, Madeline Best, Esther Allen, Sarah Crite, Jessie Rivers, Ava Vanstory, Zula Lovell, Emma Partee, Mary Howell, E. C. Mills and Ruth Patterson.

Mesdames Alberta Reynolds, E. M. McAdoo, G. H. Caldwell, Elizabeth Leak, Lula Jessup, R. B. Withers and Misses Fannie McCallum, Ada Tonkins, Regina Patterson, Maxine West and Estelle McCallum.

EASTERN DISTRICT — Mesdames Margaret Minor, Bruce Hargroves, Blanche Skillman and Trula McKeithan,

WESTERN DISTRICT — Mesdames Arletta Pearson, Connie Williams, Juanita Tucker, Cora Keaton, Beulah Moser, Allease Bailey Ruth Jolly, Helen Clarke, and Misses Louise Davidson, and Jessie Collins.

Leadership conference at Bennett in September

GREENSBORO, N. C. — More than 100 student leaders have been invited to participate in the annual Bennett College student leadership conference to be held here, September 13 - 15.

Mittie White, '66, of Newark, N. J., president of the Student Senate, stated that this year's theme will be "No man is an Island, No Tree Stands Alone," and that a nationally-known consultant in the field of education, yet to be named, will meet with the students.

AMONG MATTERS to be discussed will be a report of the Faculty - Student Summer Seminar on their six - week deliberations of rules, standard and procedures governing student life. Student members in addition to Miss White, were:

Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, D. C., president of the David D. Jones Student Union; Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S. C., National Student Association coordinator; Ann Middleton, of Atlanta, Ga., and Theresa Hall, of Washington, D. C.

Working with them were Mrs. Mary Eady, registrar, and the Rev. A. Knighton Stanley, of the religious life staff.

Bennett College plans '66 programming course

GREENSBORO, N.C. — As a means of enriching and enlarging its present developmental services, Bennett College will open a Programmed Learning Laboratory at the beginning of the 1965-66 academic year next month.

President Willa B. Player, in making the announcement, said that the laboratory, which will be equipped with the appropriate machines, library and teaching aids, would be under the direction of Norman Licht, of Detroit.

Mr. Licht, whose masters thesis at Wayne State University, was on "The Teaching Machine — A Study in Programmed Instruction," is also a graduate of the Teacher Experimental Education Project (TEEP) under a grant from the Ford Foundation. He has already applied for a patent on a teaching machine which he developed which offers flexibility in both linear and branching programming techniques.

He is one of the founders of the Research Institute of Programmed Instruction created at Wayne and has had much experience as a consultant and or lecturer on programmed learning.

The laboratory, supported by a foundation grant, will have four student assistants, with 25 positions for students. It will enable the college to program such courses as atomic physics, Russian, mathematics, English and adjunct materials for self-instruction.

Bennett sends two to Student Congress

GREENSBORO, N.C. —Bennett College will be represented at the National Student Congress, meeting at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, August 22 to September 5, by two members of the senior class.

They are Mittie White, of Newark, N.J., president of the Student Senate, and Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S.C., National Student Association coordinator. From August 17-21, Miss White attended a conference of student body presidents, while Miss Middleton attended sessions of the National Student Association.

Bennett faculty confab in Sept.

GREENSBORO, N.C. — The annual faculty fall conference at Bennett College has been scheduled for September 9 - 16 and will address itself to the theme: "Strengthening the College Program Through Self Study and Projection — A Continuing Responsibility"

President Willa B. Player will preside at the first general session which will be held at 9 a.m. on Friday, September 10, in Holgate Library. At this time, Dr. C. G. Winston, dean of instruction, and Dr. M. F. Shute, director of the self - study, will outline and explain the conference program.

Featured are several specialized workshops and self - study groups. Mrs. Constance H. Marteena, librarian, will lead one roundtable discussion. On the 15th the general session will discuss "Important Concerns Within the Academic Community." That evening there is a banquet with the student leaders with Mary Ann Rogers as toastmistress. Thursday will view freshman orientation.

SOUND OF MUSIC...Four members of the brass ensemble composed of high school students attending the Humanities School at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., rehearse for concert. Left to right, L.B. Bullard, Jr., Shreveport, La.; Glynder Stone, Graham, N.C., trombones; Doris Jean Enoch, Burlington, N.C.; Margaret Lambert, Haw River, N.C., trumpets.

EYES IN THEIR HANDS...These two young women, enrolled in the summer Scholars Program at Bennett College, are learning to stretch their imaginations through art. Left to right, Misses Deborah Bibb, of Birmingham, Ala., and Janice Johnson, of Greensboro, N.C., both of whom have Bennett freshmen in September.

BENNETT COLLEGE WILL OPEN A PROGRAMMED LEARNING LABORATORY

As a means of enriching and enlarging its present developmental services, Bennett College will open a Programmed Learning Laboratory at the beginning of the 1965-66 academic year next month.

President Willa B. Player, in making the announcement, said that the laboratory, which will be equipped with the appropriate machines, library and teaching aids, would be under the direction of Norman Licht, of Detroit.

Mr. Licht, whose master's thesis at Wayne State University, was on "The Teaching Machine —A Study in Programmed Instruction," is also a graduate of the Teacher Experimental Education Project (TEEP) under a grant from the Ford Foundation. He has already applied for a patent on a teaching machine which he developed which offers flexibility in both linear and branching programming techniques.

He is one of the founders of the Research Institute of Programmed Instruction created at Wayne and has had much experience as a consultant and/or lecturer on programmed learning.

The laboratory, supported by a foundation grant, will have four student assistants, with 25 positions for students. It will enable the college to program such courses as atomic physics, Russian, mathematics, English and adjunct materials for self-instruction.

Commenting on the laboratory, President Player said:

"Talented students will have the opportunity to study independently and increase their knowledge through self-instruction in their major areas of concentration. Automated instruction provides the opportunity for repetition, correction of errors, and drill without boredom being inflicted on others able to advance at a faster pace."

Dr. Player futher pointed out that the college will be able to supplement its curricular offerings in unusual fields without the added expense of new faculty and costly equipment. The expense of running small classes to meet the special interests of high ability students will also be eliminated.

Programmed Learning Laboratory To Open At Bennett Next Month

GREENSBORO - As a means of enriching and enlarging its present developmental services, Bennett College will open a Programmed Learning Laboratory at the beginning of the 1965-66 academic year next month.

President Willa B. Player, in making the announcement, said that the laboratory, which will be equipped with the appropriate machines, library and teaching aids, would be under the direction of Norman Licht, of Detroit.

Mr. Licht, whose master's thesis of Wayne State University, was on "The Teaching Machine -- A Study in Programmed Instruction," is also a graduate of the Teacher Experimental Education Project (TEEP) under a grant from the Ford Foundation. He has already applied for a patent on a teaching machine which he developed which offers flexibility in both linear and branching programming techniques.

He is one of the founders of the Research Institute of Programmed Instruction created at Wayne and has had much experience as a consultant and/or lecturer on programmed learning.

The laboratory, supported by a foundation grant, will have four student assistants, with 25 positions for students. It will enable the college to program such courses as atomic physics, Russian, mathematics, English and adjunct materials for self-instruction.

Commenting on the laboratory, President Player said:

"Talented students will have the opportunity to study independently and increase their knowledge through self-instruction in their major areas of concentration. Automated instruction provides the opportunity for repetition, correction of errors, and drill without boredom being inflicted on others able to advance at a faster pace."

Dr. Player further pointed out that the college will be able to supplement its curricular offerings in unusual fields without the added expense of new faculty and costly equipment. The expense of running small classes to meet the special interests of high ability students will also be eliminated.

NEW AGENT - Miss Phyllistine Ward, a native of Farmville, Va., and a Bennett College graduate, has joined the County Agricultural Extension staff as assistant Home Economics Agent and will work with 4-H'ers and adults throughout the county.

Bennett Plans Automated Lab

A "programmed learning laboratory," equipped with machines, a library and teaching aids for automated instruction, will open at Bennett College here for the 1965-66 academic year.

Norman Licht of Detroit, a founder of the Research Institute of Programmed Instruction at Wayne State University, will be director of the laboratory. He also is a graduate of the Teacher Experimental Education Project.

The laboratory, supported by a Ford Foundation grant, will have four student assistants and 25 positions for students.

Dr. Willa B. Player, president of the college, said the laboratory will enable the college to program such courses for self-instruction as atomic physics, mathematics, English, Russian and other classes for high-ability students.

Three summer schools close at Bennett College

GREENSBORO, N.C. —Closing exercises for the three summer schools at Bennett College for talented high school students were held last Friday.

by the Humanities Summer

A joint program was held by the Humanities Summer School and the Scholars Program, with President Willa B. Payer as speaker.

Certificates were presented by Dr. Helen Trobian, director of the Humanities Summer School and by Dr. Dorothy Bardolph, director of the Scholar's Program. Dr. Trobian announced the names of 12 students who received special recognition for their work.

* * *

WILSONIA CHERRY, of Robersonville, N. C., finished the program with high honors and also received the top award in creative writing. Completing their work with honors were Jettie Burnett, of Fort Worth, Texas, who received the award in philosophy, and Nettie Alexander, of Norlina, N.C., who received the award in poetry.

Others Recognized

Dorothy Moore, of Troy, N.C., composition; Ruth Baker, of Fort Worth, Tex., literature; Velesto Highsmith, of Richmond, Va., drama; Shella Johnson, of Columbus, Ga., dance; Sylvester Love, of Shreveport, La., art;

Constance Knox, of Winston-Salem, piano; Phyllis Jeffries, of Durham, organ; Brandolyn Thomas, of Hartsville, S. C., choral music, and Carrie Vincent, of Graham, N.C., instrumental music.

Students in the Summer Science Institute sponsored by the National Science Foundation, received their certificate from Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director. Speaker for their progam was Dr. James Williams, pofessor of phyiology, at A and T College.

Mrs. Ernestine Gray is Bennett alumnae sec'y

GREENSBORO, N.C. —Newly appointed alumnae secretary and placement officer at Bennett College is Mrs. Ernestine H. Gray, a 1953 graduate.

Mrs. Gray, a native of Greensboro, and mother of three sons — 10, 7 and 1½ — majored in social studies with a psychology minor, while at Bennett. She has done advanced work in education at the University of California at Berkeley and also attended the University of Wuerzburg in Germany.

While in Germany, she supervised the Wuerzburg Nursery School for dependents of army personnel. She also taught courses in Orleans, France, to soldiers wishing to complete their high school education.

FOUR OTHER persons have been recently added to the Bennett faculty-staff. They are:

Mrs. Dorislene D. Bowens, of Asheboro, N.C., a graduate of A and T College, physical education; Mrs. Mary J. Johnson, of Richmond, Va., a graduate of Virginia State College, with a master of arts degree from Hampton Institute, mathematics;

Reuben G. Pierce, of Petersburgh, Va., who holds the bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Omaha, Nebraska, and is a candidate for the Ed.D. degree at Teachers College, Columbia University, biology; and Miss Lucy Waddell, of Sanford, N.C., a Bennett graduate, employed as a residence counselor.

Over 50 Attend Regional Six-Day Leadership School

More than 50 ministerial and lay workers from the 11 districts of the North Carolina-Virginia and South Carolina Conferences of The Methodist Church attended the Upper Southeastern Regional Leadership School, which ended a six-day session recently at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C.

The registrants, the majority from South Carolina, took part in study-discussion classes, workshops and laboratory classes, all geared to increasing the effectiveness of their work with their respective congregations.

The Misses Virginia Stafford and Jennie Youngblood, both of Nashville, Tenn., representing the General Board of Education, conducted workshops in Preparation for Leadership in Annual Conferences, and The Bible in the Methodist Curriculum, respectively.

A third workshop, The Purpose of Christian Education, was conducted by the Rev. John Blakemore of Richmond, Va., executive secretary of the Virginia Conference.

The faculty-staff consisted of: The Revs. Wesley C. Brogan, Raleigh, N.C.; W. Paul Carlson, Columbia, S.C.; William C. Dobbins, Sylacauga, Ala.; Warren M. Jenkins, Orangeburg, S.C.; Ronald Johnson, Nashville, Tenn.; Samuel NeSmith, Greensboro, N.C.; Richard Clifford, Richmond, Va.; and T. H. Swofford, Jr., Greensboro, N.C.; the Misses Stafford and Youngblood; and the Mesdames Bertha Dale, Spartanburg, S.C.; Ida Lyde, Florence, S.C.; W. C. Strother, Jr., Philadelphia, Pa.; and Lake Waldrop, Columbia, S.C.

Nashville-Carolina Area

NORTH CAROLINA—VIRGINIA
SOUTH CAROLINA
TENNESSEE—KENTUCKY

Bishop Charles F. Golden

Bennett Receives U.S. Education Grant

Approval of a grant of $138,325 from the U.S. Office of Education toward construction of a new math and science building at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., was announced recently.

Hope for Increase to $300,000

President Willa B. Player stated that the sum represented the initial request of the college for federal funds and that it is hoped that the amount will eventually be increased to a minimum of $300,000.

Total Cost to Be $1 Miillion

Estimated cost of the building is $1 million, she said.

Other funds are expected to be sought from The Methodist Church, with which Bennett is affiliated; the United Negro College Fund; and foundations and alumnae, she added.

Plans for the new structure call for laboratories and classrooms for biology, chemistry, and physics, a small auditorium for the showing of films, offices, and a science library.

Stepping along in style this trio of college girl coordinators for Lansburgh's Teen Board. (Left to right) Lee Borzello of Maryland University, Ernestine Mitchell of Bennett College for Women in North Carolina, and Carol Porter who is at American University. They help select the styles worn by Teen Board members in the various back-to-school shows staged by thestore, Board members in the various back-to-school shows staged by the store, Shirlington.—Star Staff Photo by Randolph Routt.

Teen Board Members Love Summer Fashion Fling

By KAREN SANGER
Star Special Writer

Living, loving and looking their work this summer are three college girls who "kept coming back" and as a result were chosen to be College Co-ordinators for Lansburgh's Teen Board.

Lee Borzello, 21, Ernestine Mitchell, 21, and Carol Porter, 20, are seniors at Maryland University, Bennett College for Women in North Carolina and American University respectively.

Supervise

For the past few years each has worked on teen boards and, as a result of their work, personalities and good taste, were selected by Mrs. Peg Cannon, fashion director of Lansburgh's stores, to supervise each of the stores' Teen Boards.

About 40 high school girls are members in each teen board at the Shirlington, Washington and Langley stores.

They were chosen from among applicants from various high schools and act to promote fashion consciousness in their contemporaries.

Lee, Ernestine and Carol each have direct control over four girls from their store's board and choose clothes and accessories for the girls to model each Monday, Thursday and Saturday in the store.

The clothes they choose from the Junior and Sportswear departments are indicative of the newest style. This season emphasizing the new London Looks is important.

Carol chooses "outfits that I like and would like to wear. Then my four models model them for customers. If the clothes I choose are not 'right' for one girl, I get something else that looks better on her. We have to fit the clothes to the girls." They all agree with Lee in that "when you are dressed well you are always in style."

Mrs. Cannon helps the girls in their supervision. She has helped instill good taste in us," said Carol.

Art Minor

As London has become a leading fashion center this season, the girls are dressing in the Mod, Bobbie, Total, and Heather looks. The Courreges Look is another favorite.

During the school year, Ernestine majors in clothing and textiles and her minor is in art.

"I've always been interested in fashions and since my work here I've decided to go into merchandising as a fashion buyer or co-ordinator."

Fashion design is Lee's major at Maryland University. She hasn't definitely decided yet, but after her graduation next June, she would like to go into fashion design, advertising or promotion.

Carol's present project is an invitational fashion show which will be held in the Washington store Aug. 24.

It will be a London special featuring the London Look, the Hangmen, a London band direct from Montgomery Junior College; and Groggy, a Washington area dancer. Shows are also planned on Aug. 27 and 28.

Carol is a little removed from her first true love of archeology and athropology, which she studies at American University.

No matter, what the girls end up doing after school — they'll be doing it in a well dressed manner.

HOME DESIGNERS---Misses Maxine Twitty (left) of Black Mountain, N.C., and Faye Oliver, of Clemmons, N.C., both senior home economics majors at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., stand beside model of suburban home which they designed and landscaped. Roof is removable, as revealed by scale model on blackboard.

Eleven Teachers Are Added At Bennett

GREENSBORO - Announcement of the addition of eleven persons to the faculty and staff at Bennett College for the 1965-66 academic year was made this week by President Willa B. Player.

Dr. Annie W. Allen, of Seal Harbor, Maine, at one time dean of women and associate professor of French at Fisk University, will teach French. A graduate of Radcliffe College, Dr. Allen also received her master's degree there and later earned her doctoral degree. She also headed the French department at Woodmere Academy, Woodmere, N. Y.

Returning to her alma mater to teach in areas of special education and psychology is Miss M. Naomi Brown, of Brandon, Va. Miss Brown, '56 earned her master's degree at Virginia State College with a major in clinical psychology. She has served as staff psychologist at the Central State Hospital at Petersburg, Va., and as clinical psychologist at O'Berry Center, at Goldsboro.

From the Philippines comes Miss Felicitas Cabbat to teach courses and direct research and independent studies in nutrition and biochemistry. Miss Cabbat earned her M. S. degree in nutritional biochemistry from the University of Hawaii and her M. A. in business administration from Jackson College, Honolulu.

Horace Farlowe, of Raleigh, joins the faculty as a teacher of art. A graduate of Atlantic Christian College, he holds the M. A. degree from East Carolina College in sculpture and industrial arts. He has also pursued courses in architecture at North Carolina State University at Raleigh.

New Member of the business education faculty will be Miss Carolyn Kimble, of Columbia, S. C. She is a graduate of Allen University in her native city and received the M. A. degree from New York University. Her work experience includes being secretary to the associate dean of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences at NYU and work as secretary at S. C. State College.

Named to direct the Programmed Learning Laboratory to be initiated in September is Norman Licht, of Detroit, Mich. Mr. Licht, whose master's thesis at Wayne State University was on "The Teaching Machine--A Study in Programmed Instruction," is also a graduate of the Teacher Experimental Education Project (TEEP) under a grant from the Ford Foundation. He has already applied for a patent on a teaching machine which he developed.

Two teachers of English join the faculty this year, namely Miss Sarah Staves, of Long Island City, N. Y., presently a candidate for the Ph. D. in English at the University of Virginia, and Miss Doris Lucas, of Knightdale, who holds the M. A. degree from North Carolina College at Durham. Miss Staves, a Woodrow Wilson intern, in addition to teaching courses, will conduct projects in English for superior students.

From India will come Miss Margaret Peter to teach economics. A lecturer at Maharani's College at Bangalore, she holds the M. A. degree from Mysore University where she also did her undergraduate work. She is one of seven Indian lecturers who will teach in various American women's colleges as participants in the United States - India Women's College Faculty Exchange Program.

Miss Helen Skipper, of Roanoke, Va., a graduate of Adelphi University, Garden City, N. Y., will teach dance, with special emphasis on ballet, in the physical education area. Employed as a teacher of political science and social science is Sim Williams, of Montgomery, Ala. A graduate of Alabama State College, he earned the M. A. degree at Atlantic University and has been a teacher in the city schools of Talladega, Ala.

SOPHOMORE OFFICERS... Chosen to lead the sophomore class at Bennett College for the 1965-66 academic year are, left to right, seated: Misses Lula Spears, of Bordentown, N.J., secretary; Annie Lineberger, of Maiden, N.C., president; and Juanita White, of Mount Pleasant, S.C., vice president; standing: Gwendolyn Morse, of Ninety-Six, S.C., assistant secretary; Freya Lineberger, of Gastonia, N.C., parlimentarian; Shirley Hayes, of Church Road, Va., student-at-large, and Bertha Burris, of High Point, treasurer.

JUNIOR CLASS LEADERS---Leaders of the junior class at Bennett College for the 1965-66 academic year are, left to right; Misses Gwendolyn Leecost, of Richmond, Va., co-treasurer; Janie Wilson, of Hightstown, N.J., secretary; Shirley Neal, of Charlotte, assistant secretary; Eddye Pope of Washington, D.C., president; Barbara English, of Atlanta, Ga., co-treasurer; Marta Ellison, of Laurinburg, N.C., parliamentarian, and Rowena McDaniel, of Lynchburg, Va., vice president.

Class of 1922 Holds Reunion At Bennett

GREENSBORO—The class of 1922 held its reunion in Greensboro, at the home of Mrs. Mabel Aldridge Watson at 512 Julian Street. It was a picnic affair on the back lawn.

It was quite an occasion for some had not seen each other since that time. There was a collection of class programs, class day dress, rings, commencement programs and group pictures. It was most amusing to hear the class song, which was set to music by one of our classmates, the late Mrs. Mabel Bullock Jackson.

A short memorial was breathed for the deceased members of the class.

They discussd their chilfiren and grandchildren and other members of the family.

The class members present were: Mrs. Mattie Cardwell Peoples, Winston-Salem; Miss Betsy Franklin, Madison, Mrs. Lessie Spearman, Washington, D. C., Mrs. Zenobia Walker Reynolds, Mrs. Mary Stephens Reddick, Mrs. Agnes Taylor Pinnix, Mrs. Mattie Dorsett Eccles, all of Greensboro, Mrs. Elizabeth Hamlin Baker, Winston-Salem, Mrs. Mattie Jones Haizlip, High Point, Mrs. Fannie McCallum, Guilford College, Rev. G. Haven Caldwell, Greensboro, who was Dean of the college at that time, Robert Rogers, Greensboro, and Rev. L. A. Brown, Greensboro, who was a student at Bennett at that time.

After all the remniscing of the pass, a picnic dinner was served, and pictures were taken. Each member gave a vote of thanks to the hostess for the idea.

Bennett College adds 11 teachers

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Announcement of the addition of eleven persons to the faculty and staff at Bennett College for the 1965-66 academic year was made this week by President Willa B. Player.

Dr. Annie W. Allen, of Seal Harbor, Maine, at one time dean of women and associate professor of French at Fisk University, will teach French. A graduate of Radcliffe College, Dr. Allen also received her master's degree there and later earned her doctoral degree. She also headed the French department at Woodmere Academy, Woodmere, N.Y.

* * *

RETURNING TO her alma mater to teach in areas of special education and psychology is Miss M. Naomi Brown, of Brandon, Va. Miss Brown, '56, earned her master's degree at Virginia State College with a major in clinical psychology. She has served as staff psychologist at the Central State Hospital at Petersburg, Va., and as clinical psychologist at O'Berry Center, at Goldsboro.

Frim the Philippines comes Miss Felicitas Cabbat to teach courses and direct research and independent studies in nutrition and biochemistry. Miss Cabbat earned her M.S. degree in nutritional biochemistry from the University of Hawaii and her M.A. in business administration from Jackson College, Honolulu.

HORACE FARLOWE, of Raleigh, joins the faculty as a teacher of art. A graduate of Atlantic Christian College, he holds the M.S. degree from East Carolina College in sculpture and industrial arts. He has also pursued courses in architecture at North Carolina State University at Raleigh.

New member of the business education faculty will be Miss Carolyn Kimble, of Columbia, S.C. She is a graduate of Allen University in her native city and received the M.A. degree from New York University. Her work experience includes being secretary to the associate dean of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences at NYU, and work as secretary at S.C. State College.

NAMED TO direct the Programmed Learning Laboratory to be initiated in September is Norman Licht, of Detroit, Mich. Mr. Licht, whose master's thesis at Wayne State University was on "The Teaching Machine — A Study in Programmed Instruction," is also a graduate of the Teacher Experimental Education Project (TEEP) under a grant from the Ford Foundation. He has already applied for a patent on a teaching machine which he developed.

Two teachers of English join the faculty this year, namely, Miss Sarah Staves, of Long Island City, N.Y., presently a candidate for the Ph.D. in English at the University of Virginia, and Miss Doris Lucas, of Knightdale, N.C., who holds the M.A. degree from North Carolina College at Durham. Miss Staves, a Woodrow Wilson intern, in addition to teaching courses, will conduct projects in English for superior students.

* * *

FROM INDIA will come Miss Madgaret Peter to teach economics. A lecturer at Maharani's College at Bangalore, she holds the M.A. degree from Mysore University where she also did her undergraduate work. She is one of seven Indian lecturers who will teach in various American women's colleges as participants in the United States - India Women's College Faculty Exchange programs.

Miss Helen Skipper, of Roanoke, Va., a graduate of Adelphi University, Garden City, N.Y., will teach dance, with special emphasis on ballet, in the physical education area. Employed as a teacher of political science and social science is Sim Williams, of Montgomery, Ala. A graduate if Alabama State College, he earned the M.A. degree at Atlanta University and has been a teacher in the city schools of Talladega, Ala.

Bennett Adds 11 To Staff

Dr. Willa B. Player, Bennett College president, said 11 new faculty members will join the staff for the 1965-66 academic year.

Dr. Arnie W. Allen of Seal Harbor, Me., will teach French. She is a graduate of Radcliffe College and has been dean of women and associate professor of French at Fisk University. Dr. Allen also headed the French department at Woodmere Academy in New York.

Miss M. Naomi Brown of Brandon, Va., a 1956 Bennett graduate, will teach special education and psychology. She received her MA degree in clinical psychology at Virginia State College and has served as staff psychologist at hospitals in Virginia and North Carolina.

Direct Research

Miss Felicitas Cabbat of the Philippines will direct research in nutrition and biochemistry at Bennett. Miss Cabbat received her MS degree from the University of Hawaii and her MA in business administration from Jackson College in Honolulu.

Horace Farlowe of Raleigh joins the faculty as a teacher of art. He is a graduate of Atlantic Christian College and received his M.A. degree in sculpture and industrial arts from East Carolina College.

Miss Carolyn Kimble of Columbia, S.C., a graduate of Allen University will be business education instructor at the college. She received her M.A. degree from New York University.

A programmed learning laboratory to be initiated this fall will be under direction of Norman Licht of Detroit. Licht received his MA degree from Wayne State University and is inventor of a teaching machine, an experimental teaching device.

English Instructors

Two instructors in English have been appointed at the college: Miss Sarah Staves of Long Island City, N.Y., presently a candidate for her Ph.D. in English at the University of Virginia, and Miss Doris Lucas of Knightdale, who holds an M.A. degree in English from North Carolina College in Durham.

Miss Margaret Peter of India will teach economics at the college. Miss Peter, who holds an M.A. degree, is one of seven Indian lecturers who will teach in various American women's colleges in a faculty exchange program.

Miss Helen Skipper of Roanoke, Va., a graduate of Adelphi University, New York, will teach dance and physical education and Sim Williams of Montgomery, Ala., who received his M.A. degree at Atlanta University will teach both political and social science.

CIVIL DEFENSE--Col. J.M. McGough, head of the civil defense program for Guilford County, presents certificates to four Bennett College students who were among campus group successfully completing intensive six-week training course. Left to right: Misses Barbara English, of Atlanta, Ga.; Mary Jacobs, of Mebane, N.C.; Ella Coleman, of Lynchbufg, Va., and Donna Offutt, of Louisville, Kentucky only person to score 100 in final examination.

EYES IN THEIR HANDS - These two young women, enrolled in the summer Scholars Program at Bennett College, are learning to stretch their imaginations through art. Left to right, Misses Deborah Bibb, of Birmingham, Ala., and Janice Johnson, of Greensboro, both of whom have been awarded scholarships permitting them to register as Bennett freshmen in September.

Bennett Makes Staff Changes

Promotions and changes of assignments within the Bennett College faculty and staff have been announced by President Willa B. Player.

Mrs. Minnie B. Smith, director of co-curricular activities for a number of years, now fills the newly created post of financial aid officer. She is succeeded by Mrs. Necia Boyers whose assistant will be Mrs. Marie Torian, who served last year as director of career guidance and placement.

Dr. Richard L. Fields, director of the Saturday School last year, has been named director of teacher education. His assistant will be Miss Mary Ann Rogers.

Bennett Freshmen Attend Services

Bennett College freshmen, attending their first worship service at the college Sunday, were urged by the Rev. A. Knighton Stanley, professor of religious ethics, to "lift themselves out of the trivial and commonplace.

"You are a chosen generation," he said, "so take seriously your educational venture."

Freshmen will register today and Tuesday and complete orientation examinations. Classes for all students begin at Bennett on Wednesday.

Over 100 Student Leaders Invited To Take Part In Bennett College Confab

GREENSBORO - More than 100 student leaders have been invited to participate in the annual Bennett College student leadership conference to be held here, September 13-15.

Miss Mittie White, '65, of Newark, N. J., president of the Student Senate, stated that this year's theme would be "No Man Is An Island, No Tree Stands Alone," and that a nationally-known consultant in the field of education, yet to be named, will meet with the students.

Among matters to be discussed will be a report of the Faculty-Student Summer Seminar on their six-week deliberation of rules, standards and procedures governing student life. Student members, in addition to Miss White, were:

Misses Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, D. C., president of the David D. Jones Student Union; Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S. C., National Student Association coordinator; Ann Middleton, of Atlanta, Ga., and Theresa Hall, of Washington, D. C.

Working with them were Mrs. Mary Eady, registrar, and the Rev. A. Knighton Stanley, of the religious life staff.

BENNETT COLLEGE — Parents of Bennett freshman were urged Thursday to "let their daughters grow up" and treat them with understanding now that they have left home. Speaker was Dr. Francis L. Grandison, professor of psychology.

* * *

BRENDA J. ARRINGTON, senior elementary education major at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., is concentrating in art. Miss Arrington studied art under Mrs. Amy Falls at Trenton School of Industrial Arts and had a full PAL Scholarship during the four years she studied there. Although this is her first one - woman show, she has exhibited in Trenton, N.J. and Greensboro, N.C. Miss Arrington plans to become an art specialist upon graduation.

The Bennett College Class Of 1922 Holds Reunion; Other News

The 1922 class of Bennett College held a reunion July 26, 1965 in Greensboro, N. C. This reunion was at 512 Julian St., home of Mrs. Mabel Alridge Watson. Being in the form of an outdoor picnic made it most enjoyable. It was quite an occasion for all, especially for those who had not seen their classmates since the day of graduation.

Among the activities enjoyed was the showing of class dresses, rings, group pictures, and a marvelous collection of class programs, including the commencement program. It was most amusing to hear the class song being sung by the group. It was written by two of the class members: words by Mrs. Mattie Dorsett Eccles, Director of the Metropolitan Day Nursery, Greensboro, N. C., and set to music by the late Mrs. Mabel Bullock Jackson.

After singing the class song a short and heartfelt memorial was held for the deceased members of the class. Each was then given an opportunity to tell of some of their experiences. It was at this time that an even deeper sense of appreciation was felt by all for the founders of Bennett College. A very interesting conversation was carried on concerning children, grandchildren, and other members of the families.

The group was indeed grateful to have in their midst two guests; Rev. G. Haven Caldwell, Greensboro, N. C., who was Dean of Bennett College in 1922, and Rev. L. A. Brown, Greensboro, N. C., who was a student of Bennett College at that time.

Following the reminiscing of the past ,a delicious picnic dinner was served, pictures were taken, and a vote of thanks was extended to the hostess for her warm hospitality and for her having initiated the splendid idea.

Class members present were: Mrs. Mattie Cardwell Peoples and Mrs. Elizabeth Hamlin Baker of Winston-Salem, N. C., Mrs. Mattie Jones Haizlip, High Point, N. C., Miss Fannie McCallum, Guilford College, Miss Betsy Franklin, Madison, Mrs. Lessie Spearman, Washington, D. C., Mrs. Zenobia Walker Reynolds, Mrs. Mary Stephens Redick, Mrs. Agnes Taylor Pinnix, Mrs. Mattie Dorsett Eccles, Mr. Robert Rogers, all of Greensboro, N. C.

IN SCIENCE HONORARY--Bennett College students who were last week inducted into Beta Kappa Chi, science honorary society, are shown "on line" before induction into the campus chapter. Left to right: Misses Amanda Houston, of Kinston, N.C.; Lily So, of Indonesia; Gloria Benson, of Columbia, S.C.; Wei Lie So, of Indonesia; Kate Aseme, of Nigeria, West Africa; Patricia Faison, of New Bern; Wilma Griffin, of Columbus, Ga.; Theresa Hall of Washington, D.C., and Darilyn Wilds of Georgetown, S.C.

SOPHOMORE OFFICERS—Chosen to lead the sophomore class at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., for the 1965 - 66 academic year are, left to right, seated: Misses Lula Spears, Bordentown, N. J., secretary; Annie Lineberger, Maiden, N. C., president; and Juanita White, Mount Pleasant, S. C., vice president. Standing: Gwendolyn Morse, Ninety - Six, S. C., assistant secretary; Freya Lineberger, Gastonia, N. C., parliamentarian; Shirley Hayes, Church Road, Va., student - at - large, and Bertha Burris, High Point, treasurer.

Bennett College News

Announcement of the addition of eleven persons to the faculty and staff at Bennett College for the 1965-66 academic year was made this week by President Willa B. Player.

Dr. Annie W. Allen, of Seal Harbor, Maine, at one time dean of women and associate professor of French at Fisk University, will teach French. A graduate of Radcliffe College, Dr. Allen also received her master's degree there and later earned her doctoral degree. She also headed the French department at Woodmere Academy, Woodmere, N. Y.

Returning to her alma mater to teach in areas of special education and psychology is Miss M. Naomi Brown, of Brandon, Va. Miss Brown, '56, earned her master's degree at Virginia State College with a major in clinical psychology. She has served as staff psychologist at the Central State Hospital at Petersburg, Va., and as clinical psychologist at O'Berry Center, at Goldsboro.

From the Philippines comes Miss Felicitas Cabbat to teach courses and direct research and independent studies in nutrition and biochemistry. Miss Cabbat earned her M.S. degree in nutritional biochemistry from the University of Hawaii and her M.A. in business administration from Jackson College, Honolulu.

Horace Farlowe, of Raleigh, joins the faculty as a teacher of art. A graduate of Atlantic Christian College in sculpture and industrial arts. He has also pursued courses in architecture at North Carolina State University at Raleigh.

New member of the business education faculty will be Miss Carolyn Kimble, of Columbia, S. C. She is a graduate of Allen University in her native city and received the M.A. degree from New York University. Her work experience includes being secretary to the associate dean of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences at NYU, and work as secretary at S. C. State College.

Named to direct the Programmed Learning Laboratory to be initiated in September is Norman Licht, of Detroit, Mich. Mr. Licht, whose master's thesis at Wayne State University was on "The Teaching Machine--A Study in Programmed Instruction," is also a graduate of the Teacher Experimental Education Project (TEEP) under a grant from the Ford Foundation. He has already applied for a patent on a teaching machine which he developed.

Two teachers of English join the faculty this year, namely, Miss Sarah Staves, of Long Island City, N. Y., presently a candidate for the Ph.D in English at the University of Virginia, and Miss Doris Lucas, of Knightdale, N. C., who holds the M.A. degree from North Carolina College at Durham. Miss Staves, a Woodrow Wilson intern, in addition to teaching courses, will conduct projects in English for superior students.

From India will come Miss Margaret Peter to teach economics. A lecturer at Maharani's College at Bangalore, she holds the M.A. degree from Mysore University where she also did her undergraduate work. She is one of seven Indian lecturers who will teach in various American women's colleges as participants in the United States-India Women's College Faculty Exchange program.

AT BENNETT COLLEGE ANNUAL FACULTY CONFERENCE

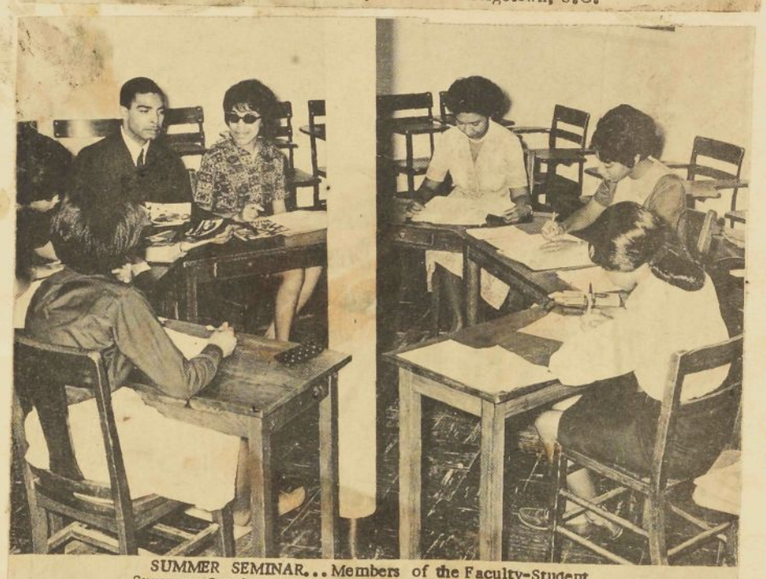

The annual faculty fall conference at Bennett College has been scheduled for September 9-16 and will address itself to the theme: "Strengthening the College Program Through Self Study and Projection—A Continuing Responsibility."

President Willa B. Player will preside at the first general session which will be held at 9 a.m. on Friday, September 10, in Holgate Library. At this time, Dr. C. G. Winston, dean of instruction, and Dr. M. F. Shute, director of the self-study, will outline and explain the conference program.

Meetings of the divisions of instruction will be held in the afternoon and Saturday morning has been designated for faculty conferences with division chairmen. An outdoor picnic supper at the President's Home is set for Saturday evening and on Sunday, the Bennett group will worship at St. Matthews Methodist Church in whose original edifice, the college was founded.

Morning and afternon sessions have been scheduled on Monday for meetings of the 12 subject matter area groups involved in the self-study. At 7 p.m., Mrs. Constance H. Marteena, librarian, will make a presentation and there will be a report from the Faculty-Student Summer Seminar in the form of a roundtable discussion.

Summary reports from self-study groups will be made at the 7 p.m. session on Tuesday. At 9:30 a.m. on Wednesday, the general session will be devoted to "Important Concerns Within the Academic Community." A joint banquet with student leaders will be held at 7 p.m. in the dining center of the David D. Jones Student Union, with Miss Mary Ann Rogers as toastmistress. Thursday will be devoted to partivipation in the freshman orientation program.

SUMMER SEMINAR... Members of the Faculty-Student Summer Seminar at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., completing final draft of report on standards and procedures for student living for 1965-66 academic year. Left to right: Misses Ann Middleton and Theresa Hall, the Rev. A. Knighton Stanley, Miss Gretta Middleton, Mrs. Mary M. Eady, registrar; Misses Mittie White, chairman, and Ernestine Mitchell.

Mrs. Falkener Will Address Conference

Mrs. Waldo Falkener, a member of the English faculty at A&T College and will speak at the opening session of the annual student leadership conference at Bennett College today at 9 a.m.

Approximately 100 student leaders attended a dinner last night in the David D. Jones Student Union at which time Mittie White, '66, president of the Student Senate presided and President Willa B. Player spoke.

Following Mrs. Falkener's address, the students will attend workshops dealing with academic freedom, parliamentary procedures and student rights. These will continue through the afternoon and Tuesday morning. That afternoon, the students will hear an address by Mrs. E. L. Raiford, of the faculty. Final session will be held on Wednesday morning.

Freshmen and new students are scheduled to arrive on Thursday at which time a Parents' Day program will open the orientation activities which will culminate with registration on Sept. 20. Upperclassmen will register on the following day and classes will begin at 8 a.m. on Sept. 22.

Over half of Bennett '65 grads 'back in school'

GREENSBORO, N. C. — More than one - half of the members of the 1965 graduating class at Bennett College will be teaching or attending graduate school, according to questionnaires returned to the placement office.

Employed as teachers and/or librarians are: Misses Bettie Alston and Bernice Walker, Rocky Mount, N. C.; Carolyn Carter, Elizabethtown, N. C.; Sygnora Fogg and Mrs. Pearl Otho Wyckoff, Newport News, Va.; Frances Gaskin and Mesdames Johnsie Dalton and Bertha Otey Craven, Greensboro; Betty Foster, Alice Griffin, Elsie Jacobs, Alice Powell, Lillie Madison, High Point, N. C.; Margaret Hill and Mrs. Jacqueline Glenn Daye, Richmond, Va.

JOYCE HAYNES, Naomi Largent, Carolyn Tarpley, Paula Lewis, Baltimore, Md.; Bette Holmes, Paulsboro, N. J.; Mae Jeffries, Reidsville, N. C.; Joan Mitchell, Danville, Va.; Geraldine Murphy, Camp LeJeune, N. C.; Janice Norwood, Raleigh, N. C.; Edna Smith, Hampton, Va.; Doris Tate, Warrenton, N. C.; Anthanette Thomas, Williamsburg, Va.; Willie Wagstaff, Sanford, N. C.; Gloria Miller, Charlotte, N. C.; Carolyn Rhinehardt, Mooresville, N. C.; Linda A. Hardy, Mocksville, N. C.; Diane Moore, Front Royal, Va.; Dorothy Sims, Centreville, Md.; Joyce M. Brown, Middletown, N. J.; Mrs. Clemontene Watkins Rountree, Washington, D. C.; Mary Lownes, Bowling Green, Va.; Jean Bailey, Hollywood, Fla.; Norma Hester, East Islip, N. Y.; Barbara James, Charleston, S. C.; Barbara Hammond, Simpsonville, S. C.; Brenda Thornton, Gardner, S. C.; Gwendolyn Washington, Camden, S. C.; Mrs Marie Pouncy House, St Louis, Mo., and Irene Walker, Columbia, S. C.

* * *

ATTENDING graduate schools are: Misses Wendy Parker, Fashion Institute of Technology, New York City; Jane Ryder, University of Chicago; Cleo Bibby, N. C. College, Durham; Mary Adams, Smith College, Northampton, Mass.; Genevieve Gadsden and Sandra Vails, Atlanta University; Edna Hardy and Marilyn Mackel, Howard University; Essie Lias, Fairview Park, Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio.

Employed in on - teaching jobs are: Misses Resna Allen, Peace Corps; Phyllistine Ward, Agricultural Extension Service of N. C.; Del Tricia Currie, recreation specialist, Fort Jackson, S. C.; Margie Dillard, asst. home agent, Agricultural Extension Service of Va.; Josie Wills, secretary, Boylan Haven - Mather Academy, Camden, S. C.; and Darlene Green, caseworker, Department of Public Assistance of Philadelphia.

People in the News

Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C.; Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, dean of instruction; and James J. Scarlette, business manager, represented the institution recently at a seminar on educational management at Knox College, Galesburg, Ill.

Dr. Charles E. Garth, professor of sociology and, director of the Saturday School at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., has returned after spending the past academic year at Maharani's College, Bangalore, India.

Returning to her post at Isabella Thoburn College, at Lucknow, India, was Dr. Anna Chapandapillai, who spent the past academic year teaching mathematics at Bennett. These teachers were a part of an international cultural exchange the United States-India Women's College Exchange Program initiated last year.

SOPHOMGRE OFFICERS -- Chosen to lead the sophomore class at Bennett College for the 1965-66 academic year are, left to right, seated: Misses Lula Spears, of Bordentown, N. J., secretary; Annie Lineberger, of Maiden, president; and Juanita White, of Mount Pleasant, S. C., vice-president. Standing: Misses Gwendolyn Morse, of Ninety-Six, S. C., assistant secretary; Freya Linberger, of Gastonia, parliamentarian; Shirley Hayes, of Church Road, Va., student-at-large, and Bertha Burris, of High Point, treasurer.

Bennett President Lists 11 Appointed To Faculty

GREENSBORO, N. C. — President Willa B. Player has announced the addition of 11 persons to the faculty and staff at Bennett College for the 1965-66 academic year.

Dr. Annie W. Allen, of Seal Harbor, Me., at one time dean of women and associate professor of French at Fisk University, will teach French.

Returning to her alma mater to teach in areas of special education and psychology is Miss M. Naomi Brown of Brandon, Va. She earned her master's degree at Virginia State College and has served as staff psychologist at Central State Hospital in Petersburg, Va., and clinical psychologist at O'Berry Center, at Goldsboro, N. C.

FROM THE Philippines comes Miss Felicitas Cabbat to teach courses and direct research and independent studies in nutrition and biochemistry. She has masters degrees in nutritional biochemistry and business administration.

Horace Farlowe of Raleigh, joins the faculty as a teacher of art. A graduate of Atlantic Christian College, he holds the M. A. degree from East Carolina College in sculpture and industrial arts and studied architecture at North Carolina State University.

New members of the business education faculty will be Miss Carolyn Kimble, of Columbia, S. C., graduate of Allen University in her native city and holds the M. A. degree from New York University.

NAMED TO direct the programmed learning laboratory being initiated this month is Norman Licht of Dertoit. He is inventor of a teaching machine.

Two teachers of English joined the faculty this term, namely, Miss Sarah Staves of Long Island City, N. Y., candidate for the Ph.D. in English at the University of Virginia, and Miss Doris Lucas of Knightdale, N. C., who holds the M. A. degree from North Carolina College in Durham.

FROM INDIA comes Miss Margaret Peter to teach economics. She is one of seven Indian lecturers who will teach in American women's colleges.

Miss Helen Skipper of Roanoke, Va., a graduate of Adelphi University in Garden City, N. Y., will teach dance, with special emphasis on ballet, in the physical education area. Employed as a teacher of political science and social science is Sim Williams of Montgomery, Ala.

Among 100 student leaders who attend a student leadership ference at Bennett College, in Greensboro, N.C., on Sept. 13-15, are the Misses Mittie White of Newark, N.J., president of Bennett's Student Senate; Ernestine Mitchell of Washington, D.C., president of David D. Jones Student Union; Gretta Middleton of Charleston, S.C., National Student Association coordinator; Ann Middleton of Atlanta, Ga., and Theresa Hall of Washington, D.C. . . . The

Gets Methodist Scholarship

GREENSBORO - Five Bennett College students -- two of them entering freshmen -- have been awarded scholarships for 1965-66 by the Board of Education of the Methodist Church, at Nashville, Tenn.

Upper class students receiving awards are Misses Jamelle Rackley, of Norfolk, Va.; Betty Jackson, of Easleu, S. C. Misses Bessie Goins, of Lenoir, and Mamie Funderburk, of Cheraw, S. C., are the freshmen.

National Methodist Scholarship Awards cover tuition and fees up to $500 and are granted on the basis of superior academic standing, leadership ability, active, churchmanship, character, personality and need.

Bennett To Begin Orientation Week

A week of freshman orientation begins at Bennett College this morning with a program for parents and a campus tour for the students in the afternoon.

Friday morning the students will be welcomed by President Willa B. Player. Testing will follow for the remainder of the morning and afternoon and will be resumed on Saturday morning.

That afternoon there will be auditions for the freshman choir and for the talent show to be held on Sept. 25.

Sunday at 11 a.m., the students will attend a worship service at which the Rev. A. Knighton Stanley, director of religious activities, will speak. From 7 to 9 p.m., freshmen and new students will attend a reception at the president's home.

1965 BENNETT GRADS IN TEACHING JOBS

More than one half of the members of the 1965 graduating class at Bennett College will be teaching or attending graduate school, according to questionnaires returned to the placement office.

Employed as teachers and/or librarians are: Misses Bettie Alston and Bernice Walker, Rocky Mount, N. C.; Carolyn Carter, Elizabethtown, N. C.; Sygnora Fogg and Mrs. Pearl Otho Wyckoff, Newport News, Va.; Frances Gaskin and Mesdames Johnsie Dalton and Bertha Otey Craven Greensboro; Betty Foster, Alice Griffin, Elsie Jacobs, Alice Powell, Lillie Madison, High Point, N. C.; Margaret Hill and Mrs. Jacqueline Glenn Daye, Richmond, Va.; Joyce Haynes, Naomi Largent, Carolyn Tarpley, Paula Lewis, Baltimore, Md.; Bette Holmes, Paulsboro, N. J.; Mae Jeffries, Reidsville, N. C.; Joan Mitchell, Danville, Va.; Geraldine Murphy, Camp LeJeune, N. C.; Janice Norwood Raleigr, N. C.; Edna Smith, Hampton, Va; Doris Tate, Warrenton, N. C.; Anthanette Thomas, Williamsburg, Va.; Willie Wagstaff, Sanford, N. C.; Gloria Miller Charlotte, N. C.; Carolyn Rhinehardt, Moresville, N. C.; Linda A. Hardy, Mocksville, N. C.; Diane Moore, Front Royal, Va.; Dorothy Sims, Centreville, Md.; Joyce M. Brown, Middletown, N. J.; Mrs. Clemontene Watkins Rountree, Washington, D. C.; Mary Lownes, Bowling Green, Va.; Jean Bailey, Hollywood, Fla.; Norma Hester, East Islip, N. Y.; Barbara James, Charleston, S. C.; Barbara Hammond, Simpsonville, S. C.; Brenda Thornton, Gardner, S. C., Gwendolyn Washington, Camden, S. C.; Mrs Marie Pouncy House, St Louis, Mo., and Irene Walker, Columbia, S. C.

Attending graduate schools are Misses Wendy Parker, Fashion Institute of Technology, New York City; Jane Ryder, University of Chicago; Cleo Bibby, N. C. College, Durham; Mary Adams, Smith College Northampton, Mass.; Genevieve Gadsden and Sandra Vails, Atlanta University; Edna Hardy and Marilyn Mackel, Howard, University; Essie Lias, Fairview Park Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio.

Employment in non-teaching jobs are: Misses Resna Allen, Peace Corps, Phyllistine Ward, Agricultural Extension Service of N. C.; Del Tricia Currie, Recreation Specialist, Fort Jackson, S. C.; Margie Dillard, Asst. Home Agent, Agricultural Extension Service of Va.; Josie Wills, Secretary, Boylan Haven-Mather Academy, Camden, S.C., and Darlene Green, Caseworker, Department of Public assistance of Philadelphia.

Over Half Of Bennett's 1965 Class Either Teaching Or In Grad School

GREENSBORO -- More than one-half of the members of the 1965 graduating class at Bennett College will be teaching or attending graduate school, according to questionaries returned to the placement office.

Employed as teachers and/or librarians are: Misses Bettie Alston and Bernice Walker, Rocky Mount; Carolyn Carter, Elizabethtown; Sygnora Fogg and Mrs. Pearl Otey Craven, Greensboro; Betty Foster, Alice Griffin, Elsie Jacobs, Alice Powell, Lillie Madison, High Point; Margaret Hill and Mrs. Jacqueline Glenn Daye, Richmond, Va.; Joyce Haynes, Naomi Largent, Carolyn Tarpley and Paula Lewis, Baltimore, Md.; Bettie Holmes, Paulsboro, N. J.; Mae Jeffries, Reidsville, N. C.; Joan Mitchell, Danville, Va.; Geraldine Murphy, Camp LeJeune, and Janice Norwood, Raleigh; Edna Smith, Hampton, Va.; Doris Tate, Warrenton; Anthanette Thomas, Williamsburg, Va.; and Willie Wagstaff, Sanford.

Also, Gloria Miller, Charlotte; Carolyn Rhinehardt, Mooresville; Linda A. Hardy, Mocksville; Diane Moore, Front Royal, Va.; Dorothy Sims, Centerville, Md.; Joyce M. Brown, Middletown, N. J.; Mrs. Clemontene Watkins Rountree, Washington, D. C.; Mary Lownes, Bowling Green, Va.; Jean Bailey, Hollywood, Fla.; Norma Hester, East Islip, N. Y.; Barbara James, Charleston, S. C.; Barbara Hammond, Simpsonville, S. C.; Brenda Thornton, Gardner, S. C.; Gwendolyn Washington, Camden, S. C.; Mrs. Marie Pouncey House, St. Louis, Mo.; and Irene Walker, Columbia, S. C.

Attending graduate schools are: Misses Wendy Parker, Fashion Institute of Technology, New York City; Jane Ryder, University of Chicago; Cleo Bibby, North Carolina College, Durham; Mary Adams, Smith College, Northampton, Mass.; Genevieve Gadsden, and Sandra Vails, Atlanta University; Edna Hardy and Marilyn Mackel, Howard University; Essie Lias, Fairview Park Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio.

Employed in non-teaching jobs are: Misses Resna Allen, Peace Corps, Phyllistine Ward, Agricultural Extension Service of N. C.; Del Tricia Currie, Recreation Specialist, Fort Jackson, S. C.; Margie Dillard, Asst. Home Agent, Agricultural Extension Service of Va.; Josie Wills, Secretary, Boylan Haven-Mather Academy, Camden, S. C., and Darlene Green, Caseworker, Department of Public Assistance of Philadelphia.

Exchange Students

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Two honor students from Bennett College will spend the fall semester on the University of Rochester (N.Y.) campus under a student exchange program between that university and four predominantly Negro institutions.

They are Misses Charie Jones, an English major from Danville, Va., and Rena Holloway, a biology major, from Lincolnton, N.C., both sophomores.

Bennett Has 5 New Staff Members

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Newly appointed alumnae secretary and placement officer at Bennett College is Mrs. Ernestine H. Gray,, a 1953 graduate.

Mrs. Gray, a native of Greensboro, and mother of three sons — 10, 7 and 1 1/2 — majored in social studies, with a psychology minor, while at Bennett. She has done advanced work in education at the University of California at Berkeley and also attended the University of Wuerzburg in Germany.

WHILE IN Germany, she supervised the Wuerburg Nursery School for dependents of army personnel. She also taught courses in Orleans, France, to soldiers wishing to complete their high school education.

She has taught part time in the public schools of Berkeley and served as a clerk-typist for the Bureau of Public Assistance in Los Angeles. At Bennett, she was president of the freshman class, a member of the freshman choir. She was also a representative to the Student Senate, a junior counselor and a member of Sigma Rho Sigma, social science honorary society.

FOUR OTHER persons have been recently added to the Bennett faculty - staff. They are: Mrs. Dorisetne D. Bowens, of Asheboro, N. C., a graduate of A. and T. College, physical education; Mrs. Mary H. Johnson, of Richmond, Va., a graduate of Virginia State College, with a master of arts degree from Hampton Institute, mathematics.

Reuben G. Pierce, of Petersburg, Va., who holds the bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Omaha, Nebraska, and is a candidate for the Ed.D. degree at Teachers College, Columbia University, biology and Miss Lucy Waddell, of Sanford, N. C., a Bennett graduate, employed as a residence counselor.

230 Freshmen To Enter Bennett College Sept. 22

GREENSBORO -- A class of 230 freshmen -- largest in the history of the institution -- is scheduled to report to Bennett College this week for a period of orientation preceding the opening of the college on September 22.

A Parents' Day meeting has been scheduled for 10:30 a. m. on September 16 at which time Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, dean of instruction, will preside and welcoming remarks will be given by President Willa B. Player.

"A Descriptive Summary of the Freshman Class" will be made by Mrs. Mary T. Coleman, director of admissions and Dr. Francis L. Grandison, professor of psychology and counselor, will make a presentation, "The First Year and How Parents Can Help."

Following a question period, the parents will be guests at a luncheon in the dining center of the David D. Jones Student Union, at which time they will have an opportunity to confer with individual members of the college faculty.

A part of the freshman orientation program, which will extend through registration on September 20, will be a session devoted to a discussion of four books which all entering students were required to read during the summer. These books are "A Preface to History," by Carl Gustavson; "The Decline of Pleasure," by Walter Ker; "Human Heredity" by Ashley Montagu and "Joy in the Morning" by Betty Smith.

All freshmen will be required to take a battery of tests which will provide information for use in counseling and placement purposes. They will also be conducted on a tour to acquaint them with the physical characteristics of the campus.

Freshmen and new students will attend their first campus worship service at 11 a. m. on Sunday, September 19, in the Science Assembly, at which time the minister will be the Rev. A. Knighton Stanley, director of religious activities.

for several years, Dr. Neblett formerly served as chairman of the Plainfield Traffic Commission. He has been a member of the Board of Education since December, 1963, by appointment of Mayor R. C. Maddox.

University; and registrar and director of student personnel services at Florida Memorial College.

Between 1956 and 1960 as secretary - coordinator of the executive commission of the general board of education for AME Colleges, he wrote evaluative standards and a report of the survey of these institutions.

A former editor of the SPHINX, official organ of the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity, he holds membership in many professional and honor societies including Alpha Kappa Mu and Beta Kappa Chi.

VESPER SERVICE—Dr. Donald C. Dearborn, president of Catawba College, will speak at the first vesper service of the academic year at Bennett College at 4 p.m. Sunday.

DEARBORN SPEAKS — Dr. Donald C. Dearborn, president of Catawba College, addressed Bennett College students Sunday at the year's first vesper service.

Freshmen Are Daughters, Sisters Of Bennett Grads

GREENSBORO, N. C. —A marked increase in the number of daughters of graduates and sisters of graduates and/or undergraduates is noted in the class of 230 freshmen who registered at Bennett College last week.

Peggie Belle, of Greensboro, is the daughter of Mrs. Eliza Belle and sister of Barbara Belle, '68 and Sherida Lewis, of McLeansville, whose sister, Cynthia, is a member of the class of '68, is the daughter of Mrs. Ella Lewis.

OTHER DAUGHTERS and their mothers are:

Millie, daughter of Mrs. Eva Dunston, of Danville, Va.; Elsie, daughter of Mrs. Elsie Bookhart, of Montclair, N. J.; Cassandra, daughter of Mrs. Esther Brabble, of Chesapeake, Va.; Doris, daughter of Mrs. Susie Collins, of Washington, D. C.; Brenda, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Edwards, of Siler City, N. C.

Also Modgie, daughter of Mrs. Frances Enzlow, of Greensboro; Bessie, daughter of Mrs. Louise Goins, of Lenoir, N. C.; Mattie, daughter of Mrs. Mattie Hall, of Kirkwood, Mo.; Cheryl, daughter of Mrs. Wilhelmina Peterson, of Spartanburg, S. C., and Doris, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Smith, of Warrenton, N. C.

FRESHMEN WHO are sisters of graduates or undergraduates include:

Misses Callie Brown, of Atlanta Ga., sister of Emma, '64; Jacqueline Campbell, of Montgomery, Ala., sister of Frances, '65 and Nellie, '68; Cecil Davis, of High Point, N. C., sister of Mrs. Barbara Reives, '57.

Stephanie Jackson, of Atlanta, Ga., sister of Adrian, '66; Beverly Walker, of Harrisburg, Pa., sister of Brenda, '66, and Judith Murray, of Washington, D. C., sister of Patricia, '65.

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Classes began Wednesday at Bennett College after a week devoted to a student leadership conference and freshman orientation. The leadership conference was devoted to workshops in academic freedom, parliamentary procedure, and student rights. The orientation program opened with Parents Day and closed with registration Monday.

Mrs. Gray Is Bennett's New Alumnae Sec'y

GREENSBORO - Newly appointed alumnae secretary and placement officer at Bennett College is Mrs. Ernestine Gray, a 1953 graduate.

Mrs. Gray, a native of Greensboro, and mother of three sons -- 10, 7 and 1 1/2 - majored in social studies, with a psychology minor, while at Bennett. She has done advanced work in education at the University of California at Berkeley and also attended the University of Wuerzburg in Germany.

While in Germany, she supervised the Wuerzburg Nursery School for dependents of army personnel. She also taught courses in Orleans, France, to soldiers wishing to complete their high school education.

She has taught part time in the public schools of Berkeley and served as a clerk-typist for the Bureau of Public Assistance in Los Angeles. At Bennett, she was president of the freshman class, a member of the freshman choir. She was also a representative to the Student Senate, a junior counselor and a member of Sigma Rho Sigma, social science honorary society.

Four other persons have been recently added to the Bennett faculty-staff. They are:

Mrs. Dorislene D. Bowens, of Asheboro, N. C., a graduate of A&T College, physical education; Mrs. Mary H. Johnson, of Richmond, Va., a graduate of Virginia State College, with a master of arts degree from Hampton Institute, mathematics.

Reuben G. Pierce, of Petersburg, Va., who holds the bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Omaha, Nebraska, and is a candidate for the Ed. D. degree at Teachers College, Columbia University, biology and Miss Lucy Waddell, of Sanford, N. C., a Bennett graduate, employed as a residence counselor.

BENNETT NEWCOMERS - Fourteen of the persons who joined the Bennett College faculty and staff this year are shown in front of Holgate Library. Left to right: Norman Licht, director of programmed learning laboratory: Miss Carolyn Kimble, business education; Dr. Annie W. Allen, French, Horace Farlowe, art; Miss Doris Lucas, English; Miss Naomi Brown, special education-psychology; Mrs. Dorislene Bowens, physical education; Mrs. Geraldine Westerband, library; Miss Helen Skipper, dance; Mrs. Bessie Zeigler, secretary; Sim Williams, political science; Mrs. Ernestine Gray, alumnae secretary and placement officer; Mrs. Mary H. Johnson, mathematics; and Miss Lucy Waddell, residence counselor.

Dr. Player Announces Promotions

GREENSBORO - Promotions and changes of assignments within the Bennett College faculty and staff were announced this week by President Willa B. Player.

Mrs. Minnie B. Smith, director of co-curricular activities for a number of years, now fills the newly created post of financial aid officer. She is succeed by Mrs. Necia Boyers whose assistant will be Mrs. Marie Torian, who served last year as director of career guidance and placement.

Dr. Richard L. Fields, director of the Saturday School last year, has been named director of teacher education. His assistant will be Miss Mary Ann Rogers. New director of permissions will be Miss Mildred Tucker, who also serves as director of residence life.

AMONG THE 300 freshmen at Shaw University, Raleigh, N.C., this term are, left, Miss Sharon O'Neil of Atlantic Highlands, N.J., and Miss Patricia Dowell of North Wilkesboro, N.C.

MEMORIAL HELD

Dr. Harry V. Richardson, president of the Interdenominational Theological Center, Atlanta, spoke for Bennett College's annual Annie Merner Pfeiffer memorial service Sunday in the chapel which bears her name. Mrs. Pfeiffer, before her death in 1946, contributed more than a million dollars which made possible six of the present campus buildings and also gave to the endowment fund.

Parents urged to cut "apron strings"

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Parents of freshmen were urged to "let their daughters grow up" and to treat them with understanding, now that they have left home, during the annual Parents' Day program at Bennett College last Thursday.

Speaker was Dr. F. L. Grandison, professor of psychology, who suggested to the more than 100 parents present that they give their offspring an opportunity to discover their best selves.

President Willa B. Player welcomed the group and Mrs. Mary T. Coleman, director of admissions, gave a descriptive summary of the class of 231 freshmen.

AN OPPORTUNITY for parents to meet various members of the faculty and administrative staff was given at a luncheon in the Student Union.

Among parents registered were:

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Campbell, Montgomery, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Brabble, Chesapeake, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Overton, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Jones, Hampton, Va.; Mrs. S. T. Kelling, Roanoke, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Serafie, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Theodore Jones, Pine Bluff, Ark.; Mrs. Doris F. Wilson, Akron, Ohio;

Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Pierce, Williamsburg, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. James E. Byrd, Williamsburg, Va.; Mrs. Catherine McCastle, Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. Sarah S. Thompson, Greenville, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. George Arrington, Atlanta, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Alphonso Poindexter, Winston-Salem; Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Thompson, Akron, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tunstall, Ashland, Va.; Edward S. Mitchell, Barnesville, N. C.;

Mrs. Cecelia McCall, New York, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. R. Roberson, Stuart, Va.; Mrs. Carrie W. Williams, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. John Bookhart, Montclair, N. J.; Mrs. Edwina Beverly, Lynchburg, Va. Rev. and Mrs. Ernest R. Bibson, Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. I. Williams, Winston-Salem, Mrs. L. G. Smith, Evanston, Ill. Mrs. Catherine J. Smith, Warrenton, N. C.; Mrs. Ella Tyler, New Kent, Va.; Mrs. Juanita Grant, Macon, Ga.; Mrs. Van L. Pinnix, Martinsville, Va.; Mrs. Cira Boyd, Greensboro; Mr. and Mrs. Haywood Torrence, Hampton, Va.; Prentiss D. York, Pittsburgh, Pa.;

Mr. and Mrs. Otha Cox, Sr., Rocky Mount, N. C.; Mrs. Florence E. Johnson, Forgmore, S. C.; Mrs. Nettie Fowler, Albany, Ga.; Mrs. Barbara S. Boykin and Mrs. Lucy Shell, both of Kenbridge, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Allen William Woodruff, S. C.; Mrs. Fleming Cheek, Greensboro; Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar Hilliard, Nashville, N. C.; Mrs. Lucille Page, Raleigh; Mrs. Evelyn Mainer, Greensboro; Dr. and Mrs. Howard Townes, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. Maude Royall, Philadelphia, Pa.;

Mrs. Blanche Mitchell, Winston-Salem; Mr. and Mrs. Foster Fountain, Woodbridge, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. William Walker, Harrisburg, Pa.; Mrs. Minnie Royals, Whiteville, N. C.; H. J. Powell, Hallsboro, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. I. Payne, Nanuet, N. Y.; Mrs. Margaret Woods, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morris, Cape Charles, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Mason, Jacksonville, Fla.

—Fourteen of the persons who joined the Bennett College faculty and staff this year are shown in front of Holgate Library. Left to right: Norman Licht, director of programmed learning laboratory; Miss Carolyn Kimble, business education; Dr. Annie W. Allen, French; Horace Farlowe, art; Miss Doris Lucas, English; Miss Naomi Brown, special education - psychology; Mrs. Dorislene Bowens, physical education; Mrs. Geraldine Westerband, library; Miss Helen Skipper, dance; Mrs. Bessie Zeigler, secretary and placement officer, cal science; Mrs. Ernestine Gray, alumnae secretary and placement officer Mrs. Mary H. Johnson, mathematics; and Miss Lucy Waddell, residence counselor.

Records show Bennett becoming 'a family affair'

GREENSBORO, N. C. — A marked increase in the number of daughters of graduates and sisters of graduates and/or undergraduates is noted in the class of 230 freshmen who registered at Bennett College last week.

Peggie Belle, of Greensboro, is the daughter of Mrs. Eliza Belle and sister of Barbara Belle, '68 and Sherida Lewis, of McLeansville, whose sister, Cynthia, is a member of the class of '68, is the daughter of Mrs. Ella Lewis.

Other daughters and their mothers are:

Millie, daughter of Mrs. Eva Dunston, of Danville, Va.; Elsie, daughter of Mrs. Elsie Bookhart, of Montclair, N. J.; Cassandra, daughter of Mrs. Esther Brabble, of Chesapeake, Va.; Doris, daughter of Mrs. Susie Collins, of Washington, D. C.; Brenda, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Edwards, of Siler City, N. C.; Modgie, daughter of Mrs. Frances Enzlow, of Greensboro; Bessie, daughter of Mrs. Louise Goins, of Lenoir, N. C.; Mattie, daughter of Mrs. Mattie Hall, of Kirkwood, Mo.; Cheryl, daughter of Mrs. Wilhelmina Peterson, of Spartanburg, S. C., and Doris, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Smith, of Warrenton, N. C.

Freshmen who are sisters of graduates or undergraduates include:

Misses Callie Brown, of Atlanta, Ga., sister of Emma, Montgomery, Ala., sister of '64; Jacqueline Campbell, of Montgomery, Ala., sister of Frances, '65 and Nellie, '68; Cecil Davis, of High Point, N. C., sister of Mrs. Barbara Reives, '57;

Stephanie Jackson, of Atlanta, Ga., sister of Adrian, '66; Beverly Walker, of Harrisburg, Pa., sister of Brenda, '66, and Judith Murray, of Washington, D. C., sister of Patricia, '65.

Bennett notes faculty changes

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Promotions and changes of assignments within the Bennett College faculty and staff were announced last by President Willa B. Player.

Mrs. Minnie B. Smith, director of co - curricular activities for a number of years, now fills the newly created post of financial aid officer. She is succeeded by Mrs. Necia Boyers whose assistant will be Mrs Marie Torian, who served last year as director of career guidance and placement.

Dr. Richard L. Fields, director of the Saturday School last year, has been named director of teacher education. His assistant will be Miss Mary Ann Rogers. New director of permissions will be Miss Mildred Tucker, who also serves as director of residence life.

AMONG THE 300 freshmen at Shaw University, Raleigh, N.C., this term are, left, Miss Sharon O'Neil of Atlantic Highlands, N.J., and Miss Patricia Dowell of North Wilkesboro, N.C.

PRETTY FACES on Bennett College campus, Greensboro, N. C., this term are, from left: Freshmen Sherida Lewis and Jessie Robinson, both of Greensboro, N. C., Barbara Jones of Birmingham, Ala., Sharon Clay of Hartford of Birmingham. The Ford of Birmington. The young women were photographed during a reception given for freshman by the college president, Dr. Willa B. Player, Sunday evening.

MRS. GRAY, NEW BENNETT COLLEGE SECRETARY

Newly appointed alumnae secretary and placement officer at Bennett College is Mrs Ernestine H. Gray, a 1953 graduate.

Mrs. Gray, a native of Greensboro, and mother of three sons—10, 7 and 1½—majored in social studies, with a psychology minor, while at Bennett. She has done advanced work in education at the University of Wuerzburg in Berkeley and also attended the University of Wuerzburg in Germany.

While in Germany, she supervised the Wuerzburg Nursery School for dependents of army personnel. She also taughe courses in Orleans, France, to soldiers wishing to complete their high school education.

She has taught part time in the public schools of Berkeley and served as a clerk-typist for the Bureau of Public Assistance in Los Angeles. At Bennett, she was president of the freshman class, a member of the freshman choir. She was also a representative to the Student Senate, a junior counselor and a member of Sigma Rho Sigma, social science honorary society.

Four other persons have been recently added to the Bennett faculty-staff. They are: Mrs. Dorislene D. Bowens. of Asheboro, N. C., a graduate of A&T College, physical education; Mrs. Mary H. Johnson, of Richmond, Va., a graduate of Virginia State College, with a master of arts degree from Hampton Institute, mathematics; Reuben G. Pierce, of Petersburg, Va., who holds the bachelor's and master's degree from the University of Omaha, Nebraska, and is a candidate for the Ed.D. degree at Teachers College, Columbia University, biology and Miss Lucy Waddell, of Sanford, N. C., a Bennett graduate, employed as a residence counselor.

Bennett Holds Initial Chapel

The largest student body in the history of Bennett College, 633 women, were invited by President Willa B. Player to "participate in a partnership in education" at the first morning chapel program of the year Wednesday.

There are 228 freshmen, 154 sophomores, 113 juniors, 136 seniors and 2 special students enrolled.

"As we begin this year," said Dr. Player, "I would like to leave three words with you—emergence, access and commitment. These are key words for the student in the liberal arts college today and I urge you to discover positive approaches toward realizing them."

STUDENT LEADERS REPORT - Miss Mittie White, '66, of Newark, N. J., president of the Student Senate and chairman of the Faculty-Student Summer Staff, reports group's recommendations concerning rules and procedures for students to a session of the annual faculty-staff fall conference. Awaiting their turn to be heard are Misses Ann Middleton, '66, of Atlanta, Ga., and Theresa Hall, '67, of Washington, D. C.

32 High School Salutatorians, Valedictorians Bennett Frosh

GREENSBORO - Among the 321 freshmen at Bennett College this fall are 32 young women who were either salutorians or valedictorians in their respective high schools.

The class also includes 17 young women who were finalists in the National Achievement Scholarship Program, 11 of whom were also valedictorians.

Valedictorians include:

Misses Catherine Blackwell, of Rockingham; Callie Brown, of Atlanta, Ga.; Marcenia Brown of Hickory; Vera Fowler, of Albany, Ga.; Julia Greene, of Mullins, S. C.; Peggy Hemphill, of Charlotte; Joyce Hilliard, of Nashville, N. C.; Emma Jones, of Fayetteville; Lenora Jones, of Uniontown, Ala.; Carolyn Morings, of Ahoskie; Fannie Perry, of Louisburg; Ida Pinnix, of Martinsville, Va.; Peggy Richmond, of Burlington; Patricia Turner, of Raleigh; Beverly Roberts, of Newark, N. J.; Bonnie Warren, of Glen Raven, N. C.; Thelma Williams, of Woodruff, S. C.; and Brenda Woodard, of Apex, N. C.

Miss Hemphill and Richmond are also recipients of $1,000 scholarships awarded by the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundations.

Between one sunrise and the next, the human heart beats 100 thousand times, says the North Carolina Heart Association.

Mrs. Falkener Speaker At Bennett College

GREENSBORO - Mrs. Waldo Falkener, a member of the English faculty at A&T College and active in local civic and political affairs, spoke at the opening session of the annual Student Leadership Conference at Bennett College on Monday.

Some 100 student leaders attend a dinner Sunday night in the David D. Jones Student Union at which Mittie White, '65, president of the Student Senate presided and President Willa B. Player spoke.

Following Mrs. Falkener's address, the students attended workshops dealing with academic freedom, parlimentary procedures and student rights. These continued through the afternoon and Tuesday morning. That afternoon, the students heard an address by Mrs. E. L. Raiford, of the faculty. Final session was held on Wednesday morning.

Freshmen and new students arrived on Thursday at which time a Parents Day program opened the orientation activities which culminated with registration on September 20. Upperclassmen registered on the following day and classes began at 8 a. m. September 22.

Greeted At Faculty-Staff Picnic

Miss Margaret Peter, exchange professor in economics, from Maharani's College in Bangalore, India, is greeted by President Willa B. Players of Bennett College, during annual faculty-staff picnic which was forced indoors because of rain.

32 at Bennett headed classes

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Among the 321 freshmen at Bennett College this fall are 32 young women who were either salutatorians or valedictorians in their respective high schools.

The class also includes 17 young women who were finalists in the National Achievement Scholarship Program, 11 of whom were also valedictorians.

VALEDICTORIANS include:

Catherine Blackwell, of Rockingham, N.C.; Callie Brown, of Atlanta, Ga.; Marcenia Brown, of Hickory N.C.; Vera Fowler, of Albany, Ga.; Julia Greene, of Mullins, S.C.; Peggy Hemphill, of Charlotte; Joyce Hilliard, of Nashville, N.C.; Emma Jones, of Fayetteville N.C.; Lenora Jones, of Uniontown, Ala.;

Carolyn Morings, of Ahoskie, N.C.; Fannie Perry, of Louisburg, N.C.; Ida Pinnix of Martinsville, Va.; Peggy Richmond, of Burlington, N.C.; Patricia Turner, of Raleigh; Beverly Roberts, of Newark, N.J.; Bonnie Warren, of Glen Raven, N.C.; Thelma Williams, of Woodruff, S.C.; and Brenda Woodard, of Apex, N.C.

Misses Hemphill and Richmond are also recipients of $1,000 scholarships awarded by the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation.

Pfeiffer Gifts Are Recognized

"A blessing always comes from an act of gratitude," Dr. Harry V. Richardson of Atlanta said in his Annie Merner Pfeiffer Memorial Day address at Bennett College Sunday.

The speaker, president of the Interdenominational Theological Center, spoke in gratitude for the many gifts of Mrs. Pfeiffer to educational institutions around the world.

"By an act of gratitude," said Dr. Richardson, "we come to recognize our dependence on others and we are also made aware of how others depend upon us. Knowing how to be grateful will help us to move through life with joy and satisfaction."

BENNETT SOPHOMORE OFFICERS — Chosen to lead the sophomore class at Bennett College for the 1965-66 academic year are, left to right, seated: Misses Lula Spears of Bordentown, N.J., secretary; Annie Lineberger of Maiden, N.C., president, and Juanita White of Mt. Pleasant, S.C., vice president. Standing: Gwendolyn Morse of Ninety-Six, S.C., assistant secretary; Freya Lineberger of Gastonia, N.C., parliamentarian; Shirley Hayes of Church Road, Va., student-at-large, and Bertha Burris of High Point, N.C., treasurer.

Bennett Freshmen's Parents Urged To 'Let Their Daughters Grow Up'

GREENSBORO -- Parents of Bennett College freshmen were urged to "let their daughters grow up" and to treat them with understanding, now that they have left home, during the annual Parent s Day program at Bennett College last Thursday.

Speaker was Dr. F. L. Grandison, professor of psychology, who suggested to the more than 100 parents present that they give their offspring an opportunity to discover their best selves. President Willa B. Player welcomed the group and Mrs. Mary T. Coleman, director of admissions, gave a descriptive summary of the class of 231 freshmen.

An opportunity for parents to meet various members of the faculty and administrative staff was given at a luncheon in the Student Union. Among parents registered were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Campbell, Montgomery, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Brabble, Chesapeake, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Overton, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Jones, Hampton, Va.; Mrs. S. T. Keeling, Roanoke, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Seraile, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Theodore Jones, Pine Bluff, Ark.; Mrs. Doris F. Wilson, Akron, Ohio;

Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Pierce, Williamsburg, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. James E. Byrd, Williamsburg, Va.; Mrs. Catherine McCastle, Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. Sarah S. Thompson, Greenville, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. George Arrington, Atlanta, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Alphonso Poindexter, Winston-Salem; Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Thompson, Akron, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tunstall, Ashland, Va.; Mr. Edward S. Mitchell, Barnesville, North Carolina.

Mrs. Cecelia McCall, New York; Mr. and Mrs. R. Roberson, Stuart, Va.; Mrs. Carrie W. Williams, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. John Bookhart, Montclair, N. J.; Mrs. Edwina Beverly, Lynchburg, Va.; Rev. and Mrs. Ernest R. Gibson, Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. I. Williams, Winston-Salem; Mrs. L. G. Smith, Evanston, Ill.; Mrs. Catherine J. Smith, Warrenton; Mrs. Ella Tyler, New Kent, Va.; Mrs. Juanita Grant, Macon, Ga.; Mrs. Van L. Pinnix, Martinsville, Va.; Mrs. Cora Boyd, Greensboro; Mr. and Mrs. Haywood Torrence, Hampton, Va.; Prentiss D. York, Pittsburgh, Pa.;

Mr. and Mrs. Otha Cox, Sr., Rocky Mount; Mrs. Florence E. Johnson, Frogmore, S. C.; Mrs. Nettie Fowler, Albany, Ga.; Mrs. Barbara S. Boykin and Mrs. Lucy Shell, both of Kenbridge, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Williams, Woodruff, S. C.; Mrs. Fleming Cheek, Greensboro; Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar Hilliard, Nashville; Mrs. Lucille Page; Mrs. Evelyn Mainer, Greensboro; Dr. and Mrs. Howard Townes, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. Maude Royall, Philadelphia, Pa.;

Mrs. Blanche Mitchell, Winston-Salem; Mr. and Mrs. Foster Fountain, Woodbridge, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. William Walker, Harrisburg, Pa.; Mrs. Minnie Royals, Whiteville; H. J. Powell, Hallsboro; Mr. and Mrs. I. Payne, Nanuet, N. Y.; Mrs. Margaret Woods, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Monroe, Cape Charles, Va.; and Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Mason, Jacksonville, Fla.

Dr. Richardson To Bennett

GREENSBORO -- Dr. Harry V. Richardson, president of the Interdenominational Theological Center, Atlanta, Ga., will be the speaker for the annual Annie Merner Pfeiffer memorial service to be held on Sunday, October 3, at 4 p. m. in the chapel which bears her name.

REGISTRATION BLUES - Away from the milling throngs, these two Bennett College freshmen cooperate in filling out their class schedule. Left to right: Misses Dorothy Childs, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Eunice Battle, of Castalia, N. C.

Bennett Tests High Schoolers

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Testing of high school students seeking admission to the Saturday School at Bennett College was conducted on Oct. 2, with classes beginning on Oct. 9, Dr. Charles E. Garth, director, announced this week.

WELCOME TO BENNETT - Miss Margaret Peter, exchange professor in economics, from Maharani's College in Bangalore, India, is greeted by President Willa B. Player of Bennett College, during annual faculty-staff picnic which was forced indoors because of rain.

GETTING TO KNOW YOU - These five Bennett College freshmen compare notes during reception given for them on Sunday night by President Willa B. Player at her home. Left to right, Misses Sherida Lewis and Jessie Robinson, both of Greensboro; Barbara Jones, of Birmingham, Ala.; Sharon Clay of Hartford, Conn., and Thelma Ford, also of Birmingham.

Bennett College Plans Programmed Learning Lab

As a means of enriching and enlarging its present developmental services, Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., will open a Programmed Learning Laboratory at the beginning of the 1965-66 academic year.

President Willa B. Player, in making the announcement, said that the laboratory, which will be equipped with the appropriate machines, library, and teaching aids, would be under the direction of Norman Licht of Detroit.

Mr. Licht, whose master's thesis at Wayne State University was on The Teaching Machine—A Study in Programmed Instruction, is also a graduate of the Teacher Experimental Education Project(TEEP) under a grant from the Ford Foundation.

He has already applied for a patent on a teaching machine, which he developed, which offers flexibility in both linear and branching programming techniques.

He is one of the founders of the Research Institute of Programmed Instruction created at Wayne and has had much experience as a consultant and/or lecturer on programmed learning.

The laboratory, supported by a foundation grant, will have four student assistants, with 25 positions for students. It will enable the college to program such courses as atomic physics, Russian, mathematics, English, and adjunct materials for self-instruction.

Commenting on the laboratory, President Player said:

"Talented students will have the opportunity to study independently and to increase their knowledge through self-instruction in their major areas of concentration. Automated instruction provides the opportunity for repetition, correction of errors, and drill without boredom being inflicted on others able to advance at a faster pace."

Dr. Player further pointed out that the college will be able to supplement its curricular offerings in unusual fields without the added expense of new faculty and costly equipment. The expense of running small classes to meet the special interests of high-ability students will also be eliminated.

BENNETT NEWCOMERS...Fourteen of the persons who joined the Bennett College faculty and staff this year are shown in front of Holgate Library. Left to right: Norman Licht, director of programmed learning laboratory; Miss Carolyn Kimble, business education; Dr. Annie W. Allen, French, Horace Farlowe, art; Miss Doris Lucas, physical education; Mrs. Geraldine Westerband, library; Miss Helen Skipper, dance; Mrs. Bessie Zeigler, secretary; Sim Williams; political science; Mrs. Ernestine Gray, alumnae secretary and placement officer; Mrs. Mary H. Johnson, mathematics; and Miss Lucy Waddell, residence counselor.

82 Freshmen Like Science

GREENSBORO - Eighty-two among 321 entering freshmen at Bennett College--one-fourth of the class -- have indicated their preference for careers in the area of science, according to a tabulation just completed by the admissions office.

Twenty have chosen biology and an equal number, mathematics. There are 18 others whose interests embrace pre-med, medical technology, laboratory technology, general science and chemistry. Home economics and physical education, also in the science division, were chosen by 20 and four, respectively.

Next, in order of preference are sociology, 32; English, 24, elementary and/or special education, 21, and business education, 17.

BENNETT NEWS

Our lyceum attractions—beginning on November 26 with the annual appearance of the Morehouse College Glee Club—have been scheduled by Bennett College for the 1965-66 academic year.

Dean Chauncey G. Winston, chairman of the lyceum committee, listed the following additional attractions:

January 14 — Veronica Tyler, soprano soloist; February 21 — Bennington College Dance Group, and March 24—Alirio Diaz, classic guitarist. All programs will begin at 8 p.m.

BENNETT COLLEGE

Miss Theressa Hoover, of New York City, assistant secretary of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, will speak at the Bennett College vesper service on Sunday, October 17, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

BENNETT SPEAKS

"A blessing always comes from an act of gratitude," Dr. Harry V. Richardson, of Atlanta, Ga., said in his Annie Merner Pfeiffer Memorial Day address at Bennett College Sunday.

The speaker, president of the Interdenominational Theological Center, spoke in gratitude for the many benefactions of Mrs. Pfeiffer to educational institutions around the world.

"By an act of gratitude," said Dr. Richardson, "we come to recognize our dependence on others and we are also made aware of how others depend upon us. Knowing how to be grateful will help us to move through life with joy and satisfaction."

Hawaii? No, Greensboro

Performing an authentic version of the Hawaiian hula during annual freshman talent show at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., last week was Miss Dora Dromgoole, Richmond, Calif., who plans a physical education career.

Bennett Lists Lyceum Programs

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Four lyceum attractions, beginning ... 26 with the annual appearance of the Morehouse College Glee Club, have been scheduled by Bennett College for the 1965-66 academic year.

Dean Chauncey G. Winston, lyceum committee chairman, listed the following additional attractions:

Jan. 14, Veronica Tyler, soprano soloist; Feb. ... Bennington College Dance Group, and March 24, Alirio Diaz, classic guitarist. All programs begin at 8 p. m.

BARDOLPH TO SPEAK

Dr. Richard Bardolph, author and professor of history at UNC-G, will speak at 4 p.m. today at the Bennett College vesper services.

* * *

BENNETT SPEAKER — Dr. Richard Bardolph, head of the History Department at UNC-G, spoke on the topic of student religious faith at the Sunday vesper service at Bennett College.

* * *

VESPER SERVICE — Miss Theresa Hoover of New York City, assistant secretary of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, will speak at 4 p.m. today at the Bennett College Vesper service.

BENNETT VESPERS

Miss Theresa Hoover of New York City, representing the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, spoke on "Conversion and Service" at the Bennett College vesper service on Sunday.

Missions Official Bennett Speaker

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Miss Theressa Hoover of New York City, assistant secretary of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, will speak at the Bennett College vesper service Sunday, Oct. 17, at 4 p. m., in Pfeiffer Chapel.

BENNETT SATURDAY CLASSES TO OPEN

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Testing of high school students seeking admission to the Saturday School at Bennett College was conducted on Oct. 2, with classes beginning on Oct. 9, Dr. Charles E. Garth, director, announced this week.

82 at Bennett follow science

Greensboro, N. C. —Eighty-two among the 321 entering freshmen at Bennett College — one - fourth of the class — have indicated their professe for careers in the area of science, according to a tabulation just completed by the admissions office.

Twenty have chosen biology and an equal number, mathematics. There are 18 others whose interests embrace pre-med, medical technology, laborabory technology, general science and chemistry. Home economics and physical education, also in the science division, were chosen by 20 and four, respectively.

Next, in order or preference, are sociology, 32; English, 24; elementary and/or special edu cation, 21, and business education, 17.

'Too many sheep,' professor declares

GREENSBORI, N.C. — "There are three kinds of people in the world today — the sheep, the showoff and the sure," Dr. Donald C. Dearborn declared in his address at the opening vesper service at Bennett College Sunday.

Dr. Dearborn, president of Catawba College, Salisbury, N.C., deplored the fact that much of today's advertising is helping to increase the number of sheep — people who conform.

BENNETT SPEAKER

GREENSBORO, N. C. —Dr. Richard Bardolph, professor of history at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, will speak at the 4 p.m. vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, Oct. 10.

BENNETT SATURDAY CLASSES TO OPEN

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Testing of high school students seeking admission to the Saturday School at Bennett College was conducted on Oct. 2, with classes beginning on Oct. 9, Dr. Charles E. Garth, director, announced this week.

AND MUSIC, TOO — Billed as "Cherry and Sue", this folk - singing duo scored a solid hit in the annual freshman talent show at Bennett College, last week. They are Cherylynn Woods, Philadelphia, Pa., and Susan Bishop, of Milford, Conn.

Freshmen Seem To Like Science

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Eighty-two among the 321 entering freshmen at Bennett College — one-fourth of the class — have indicated their preference for careers in the area of science, according to a tabulatiin just completed by the admissions office.

Twenty have chosen biology and an equal number, mathematics. There are 18 others whose interests embrace pre-med, medical technology, laboratory technology general science and chemistry. Home economics and physical education, also in the science division, were chosen by 20 and four, respectively.

Next, in order of preference, are sociology, 32; English, 24; elementary andor special education, 21, and business education, 17.

Author-Teacher Bennett Speaker

GREENSBORO, N C. — Dr. Richard Bardolph, author and professor of history at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, will speak at the 4 p.m. vesper service at Bennett Cllege on Sunday

Bennett College News

DR. D. C. DEARBORN BENNETT SPEAKER

There are three kinds of people in the world today—the sheep, the showoff and the sure, Dr. Donald C. Dearborn declared in his address at the opening vesper service at Bennett College, Sunday.

Dr. Dearborn, president of Catawba College, Salisbury N.C., deplored the fact that much of today's advertising is helping to increase the number of sheep—people who conform.

"One of the purposes of our colleges," he said, "is to make shepherds instead of sheep. The showoff, a rebel against conformity, eventually finds himself conforming, too. But the sure people are the ones who have remade the world. They have their own sense of values and the courage to make their own choices."

BENNETT NEWS

Eighty-two among the 321 entering freshmen at Bennett College—one fourth of the class—have indicated their preference for careers in the area of science, according to a tabulation just completed by the admissions office.

Twenty have chosen biology and an equal number, mathematics. There are 18 others whose interests embrace pre-med, medical technology, laboratory technology, general science and chemistry. Home economics and physical education, also in the science division, were chosen by 20 and four, respectively.

Next, in order of preference, are sociology, 32; English, 24; elementary and/or special education, 21, and business education, 17.

Dr. Richard Bardolph, author and professor of history at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, will speak at the 4 p. m. vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, October 10.

Testing of high school students seeking admission to the Saturday School at Bennett College was conducted on October 2, with classes beginning on Oct 9, Dr. Charles E. Garth, director, announced this week.

AND MUSIC, TOO--Billed as "Cherry and Sue" this folk-singing duo scored a solid hit in the annual freshman talent show at Bennett College last week. They are Cherylynne Woods, of Philadelphia, Pa., and Susan Bishop, of Milford, Conn.

Kin Of Bennett Grads Now Attending College

GREENSBORO - A marked increase in the number of daughter of graduates and sisters of graduates and/or undergraduates is noted in the class of 230 freshmen who registered at Bennett College last week.

Peggie Belle, of Greensboro, is the daughter of Mrs. Eliza Belle and sister of Barbara Belle, '68 and Sherida Lewis, of McLeansville, whose sister Cynthia, is a member of the class of '68, is the daughter of Mrs. Ella Lewis.

Other daughters and their mothers are:

Millie, daughter of Mrs. Eva Dunston, of Danville, Va.; Elsie, daughter of Mrs. Elsie Bookhart, of Montclair, N. J.; Cassandra, daughter of Mrs. Esther Brabble, of Chesapeke, Va.; Doris, daughter of Mrs. Susie Collins, of Washington, D. C.; Brenda, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Edwards, of Siler City; Modgie, daughter of Mrs. Frances Enzlow, of Greensboro; Bessie, daughter of Mrs. Louise Goins, of Lenoir; Mattie, daughter of Mrs. Mattie Hall, of Kirkwood, Mo.; Cheryl, daughter of Mrs. Wilhemnia Peterson, of Spartanburg, S. C.; and Doris, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Smith, of Warrenton.

Freshmen who are sisters of graduates or undergraduates include:

Misses Callie Brown, of Atlanta, Ga.; sister of Emma, '64; Jacqueline Campbell, of Montgomery, Ala., sister of Frances, '65 and Nellie, '68; Cecil Davis, of High Point, sister of Mrs. Barbara Reives, '57;

Stephanie Jackson, of Atlanta, Ga., sister of Adrian, '66; Beverly Walker, of Harrisburg, Pa.; sister of Brenda, '66, and Judith Murray, of Washington, D. C., sister of Patricia, '65.

OFF TO GOODSTART - Performing an authentic version of the Hawaiian hula during annual freshman show as Bennett College last week was Miss Dora Dromgcole, of Richmond, California, who plans a physical education career.

CAN YOU TELL?— Miss Barbara Hill, Bennett College freshman, from Jacksonville, N. C., seems to be puzzling out the meaning of welded steel sculpture, one of several by George Jolley, art instructor at Radford (Va.) College which are presently on exhibit at the Greensboro, N.C. institution.

OFF TO GOOD START... Performing an authentic version of the Hawaiian hula during annual freshman talent show at Bennett College last week was Miss Dora Dromgoole, of Richmond, Calif., who plans a physical education career.

"Blessing Always Comes With Act Of Gratitude:" Richardson

GREENSBORO - "A blessing always comes from an act of gratitude," Dr. Harry V. Richardson, of Atlanta, Ga., said in his Annie Merner Pfeiffer Memorial Day address at Bennett College Sunday.

The speaker, president of the Interdenominational Theological Center, spoke in gratitude for the many benefactions of Mrs. Pfeiffer to educational institutions around the world.

"By an act of gratitude," said Dr. Richardson, "we come to recotnize our dependence on others and we are also made aware of how others depend upon us. Knowing now to be grateful will help us to move through life with joy and satisfaction."

DORA DROMGOOLE ... lotta shakin' goin' on

ANOTHER KICK: Dora Dromgoole of Richmond, Calif., was a big hit with her wiggly dance during the annual freshman talent show at Bennett College . . .

Annie Pfeiffer Memorial Day

GREENSBORO, N. C. — "A blessing always comes from an act of gratitude," Dr. Harry V. Richardson, of Atlanta, Ga., said in his Annie Merner Pfeiffer Memorial Day address at Bennett College recently.

Dr. Richardson, president of the Interdenominational Theological Center, spoke in gratitude for the many benefactions of Mrs. Pfeiffer to educational institutions around the world.

"By an act of gratitude," said Dr. Richardson, "we come to recognize our dependence on others, and we are also made aware of how others depend upon us. Knowing how to be grateful will help us to move through life with joy and satisfaction."

Four Lyceums Set

GREENSBORO - Four lyceum attractions -- beginning on November 26 with the annual appearance of the Morehouse College Glee Club -- have been scheduled by Bennett College for the 1965-66 academic year

Dean Chauncey G. Winston, chairman of the lyceum committee, listed the following additional attractions:

January 14 -- Veronica Tyler, soprano soloist; February 21 - Bennington College Dance Group, and March 24 - Alirio Diaz, classic guitarist. All programs will begin at 8 p.m.

Miss Hoover To Bennett

GREENSBORO - Miss Theressa Hoover, of New York City, assistant secretary of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church will speak at the Bennett College vesper service on Sunday, October 17, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

CAN YOU TELL? --Miss Barbara Hill, Bennett College freshman, from Jacksonville, seems to be puzzling out meaning of welded steel sculpture, one of several by George Kolley, art instructon at Redford (Va.) College which are presently on exhibit at the Greensboro institution.

Bennett College News

Speaker for the annual Founders' Day program at Bennett College on Sunday at 11 a.m. will be Dr. J. Edward Carothers, of New York City.

Dr. Carothers, associate general secretary of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, is in charge of the church extension strategy of Methodism, including the formation of new congregations, administering a $28,000,000 loan fund for church building, the board's architectural service and a professional fund-raising service.

He has written more than 200 articles in journals and magazines and is the author of a book, Personal Religious Living. For 12 years he has broadcast on both local and network radio and television programs.

Bennett trustees will hold their fall meeting on Saturday at which time President Willa B Player will make her annual report. A number of trustees are expected to remain for the Sunday program which will be held in Pfeiffer Chapel.

BENNETT NEWS

"A man is not truly free until he becomes the slave of right and truth," Dr. Richard Bardolph, head of the history department at UNC-G, told the Bennett College vesper audience on Sunday.

The speaker based his meditation on St. Paul's warning, "Watch ye, stand fast in the faith; quit you like men; be strong." He emphasized the indispensability of the student's religious faith for life in an imperiled world.

"The truly moral and virtuous life," he said, "is the life of the man who knows how to yield his mind and bridle his will to the sweet captivity of faith and to the servitude of God's holy will, which alone makes men free."

BENNETT NEWS

An exhibition of art work by students from member institutions of the Piedmont University Center, Inc., was on display in the Fine Arts Building at Bennett College last week.

Included were oils, water colors collages, sculptures and crafts. Bennett was represented by Misses Geraldine Kearney and Ann Middleton and by Miss Maxine Twitty, a 1965 graduate.

On exhibit in Holgate Library was an abstract wood sculpture by the distinguished Japanese sculptor, Sofu Teshigahara, also provided through the courtesy of the Piedmont Center.

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Speaker for the annual Founders'Day program at Bennett College on Sunday a 11 a.m. will be Dr. J. Edward Carothers, of New York City. Dr. Carothers, associate general secretary of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, is in charge of the church extension strategy of Methodism, including the formation of new congregations, administering a $28,000,000 loan fund for church building, the board's architectural service and a professional fund.

SEEING DOUBLE... Among this year's freshmen at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C. are Marla and Margot Beverly, fraternal twins of Lynchburgh, Va. Both are majoring in elementary education.

UNC History Head Bennett Speaker

GREENSBORO, N. C.—"A man is not truly free until he becomes the slave of right and truth," Dr. Richard Bardolph, head of the history department at the University of North Carolina, told the Bennett College vesper audience on Oct. 10.

The speaker based his meditation on St. Paul's warning, "Watch ye, stand fast in the faith; quit you like men; be strong." He emphasized the indispensability of the student's religious faith for life in an imperiled world.

"The truly moral and virtuous life," he said, "is the life of the man who knows how to yield his mind and bridle his will to the sweet captivity of faith and to the servitude of God's holy will, which alone makes men free."

Bennett Art Work In Exhibition

GREENSBORO, N. C.—An exhibition of art work by students from member institutions of the Piedmont University Center, Inc., was on display in the Fine Arts Building at Bennett College last week.

Included were oils, water colors, collages, sculptures and crafts. Bennett was represented by Misses Geraldine Kearney and Ann Middleton and by Miss Maxine Twitty, a 1965 graduate.

GETTING TO KNOW YOU — These five Bennett College freshmen compare notes during a reception given for them on Sunday night by President Willa B. Player, at her home. Left to right: The Misses Sherida Lewis and Jessie Robinson, both of Greensboro, N.C.; Barbara Jones of Birmingham, Ala.; Sharon Clay of Hartford, Conn., and Thelma Ford, also of Birmingham.

AND MUSIC, TOO... Billed as "Cherry and Sue" this folk-singing due scored a solid hit in the annual freshman talent show at Bennett College recently. They are Cherylynne Woods, of Philadelphia, Pa., and Susan Biship, of Milford, Conn.

CAN YOU TELL?... Miss Barbara Hill, Bennett College freshman, from Jacksonville, N. C., seems to be puzzling out meaning of welded steel sculpture, one of several by George Jolley, art instructor at Radford (Va.) College which are presently on exhibit at the Greensboro, N. C., institution.

Bennett College Vesper Service Speaker

Miss Theressa Hoover, of New York City, representing the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, spoke on "Conversion and Service" at the Bennett College vesper service on Sunday.

Pointing out that the two words are actually sides of the same coin, Miss Hoover noted that service has taken on the aura of the extra-religious and that conversion, for many people, has more meaning in the secular sense.

"Conversion," she said, "is a turning toward God with a critical decision to enter into His purposes and work. Love is an essential part of the element of service and motivation to service must consider what benefits will be received by the person performing the service as well as by the person receiving it."

BENNETT NEWS

A discussion of three current domestic problems by members of the social science division featured the Monday contemporary affairs assembly at Bennett College.

The matter of reapportionment in state legislatures was presented by Marvin Mood and the growing problems of water pollution were discussed by Sim Williams. Dr. Dorothy Bardolph spoke about North Carolina's controversial speaker ban law. Dr. Rose Karfiol presided.

BENNETT COLLEGE

Dr. Kenneth I. Brown, of St. Louis, Mo., retired executive director of the Danforth Foundation, will speak at the Sunday vesper service at Bennett College on November 7.

They're Chatting At President's Reception

These five Bennett College freshmen compare notes during reception given for them by President Willa B. Player at her home. Left to right, Misses Sherida Lewis and Jessie Robinson, both of Greensboro; Barbara Jones, of Birmingham, Ala.; Sharon Clay of Hartford, Conn. and Thelma Ford, also of Birmingham.

Student Union President With Cabinet Members

Miss Ernestine Mitchell, senior, of Washington, D. C., second from left, president of the David D. Jones Student Union board of management at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C. meets with members of her cabinet to complete program plans for the year. Others left to right, Misses Elaine Upton, pianist, of Sweetwater, Tenn.; Brenda Walker, vice president, of Harrisburg, Pa. and Roma Best, treasurer, of Greensboro.

Art Exhibit At Bennett College

GREENSBORO - An exhibition of art work by students from member institutions of the Piedmont University Center, Inc., was on display in the Fine Arts Building at Bennett College last week.

Included were oils, water colors, collages, sculptures and crafts. Bennett was represented by Misses Geraldine Kearney and Ann Middleton and by Miss Maxine Twitty, a 1965 graduate.

On exhibit in Holgate Library was an abstract wood sculpture by the distinguished Japanese sculptor, Safu Teshigahara, also provided through the courtesy of the Piedmont Center.

HEAD STUDENT UNION – Miss Ernestine Mitchell, senior, of Washington, D. C. (second from left) president of the David D. Jones Student Union board of management at Bennett College, Greensboro, meets with members of her cabinet to complete program plans for the year. Others left to right: Misses Elaine Upton, pianist, of Sweetwater, Tenn.; Brenda Walker, vice-president, of Harrisburg, Pa.; and Roma Best, treasurer, of Greensboro.

Bennett College Welcomes Five Additional Personnel

Newly appointed alumnae secretary and placement officer at Bennett College is Mrs. Ernestine H. Gray, a 1953 graduate.

Mrs. Gray, a native of Greensboro, and mother of three sons, 10, 7, and 1½, majored in social studies, with a psychology minor.

She has done advanced work in education at the University of California at Berkeley and also attended the University of Wuerzburg in Germany.

Supervised Nursery School

While in Germany, she supervised the Wuerzburg Nursery School for dependents of army personnel. She also taught courses in Orleans, France, to soldiers wishing to complete their high-school education.

She has taught part-time in the public schools of Berkeley and served as a clerk-typist for the Bureau of Public Assistance in Los Angeles.

Active at Bennett

At Bennett, she was president of the freshman class and a member of the freshman choir. She was also a representative to the student senate, a junior counselor and a member of Sigma Rho Sigma, social science honorary society.

Other Additions

Four other persons have been recently added to the Bennett faculty staff.

They are: Mrs. Dorislene D. Bowens of Asheboro, N.C., a graduate of A and T College, physical education; Mrs. Mary H. Johnson of Richmond, Va., a graduate of Virginia State College, with a master of arts degree from Hampton Institute, mathematics.

Others include Reuben G. Pierce of Petersburg, Va., who holds the bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Omaha, Nebr., and is a candidate for the Ed.D. degree at Teacher's College, Columbia University, biology; and Miss Lucy Waddell, of Sanford, N.C., a Bennett graduate, employed as a residence counselor.

College Board Makes Bennett, Smith Members

Bennett College and Ben L. Smith High School are among the 26 Southern colleges and 14 secondary schools voted into membership Wednesday at the annual two-day business meeting of the College Entrance Examination Board held in New York.

The College Board is a national membership association of 43 public and independent colleges and universities, 231 secondary schools and 47 education associations. The board was founded in 1900 by education leaders who recognized the need for an association which would provide direction, coordination and research in facilitating the transition of students from secondary school to college.

Patterson heads Bennett trustees

GREENSBORO, N.C. Three members of the board of trustees at Bennett College were re-elected to terms ending in 1968 at the annual meeting Saturday.

They are Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, of New York City, chairman; Dr. John A. Tarpley, of Greensboro, treasurer; and Miss Margaret Forsyth, of New York City.

Citations for long service on the board were authorized for Mrs. Julius W. Cone, of Greensboro, and Miss Muriel Day, former secretary of educational work for the Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Church.

IN HER REPORT to the trustees, which has as its theme: "Earning Our Way," President Willa B. Player highlighted contributions being made by graduates across the nation, the increased number of faculty studying for the doctorate and new academic opportunities being provided for high school graduates of high ability.

During the meeting 29 students who are daughters of Bennett graduates were presented to the trustees.

Bennett College Elects Trustees

Three members of the board of trustees at Bennett College were re-elected to terms ending in 1968 at the annual meeting yesterday.

They are Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, of New York City, chairman; Dr. John A. Tarpley, of Greensboro, treasurer, and Miss Margaret Forsyth, of New York City.

Citations for long services on the board were authorized for Mrs. Julius W. Cone, of Greensboro, and Miss Muriel Day, former secretary of educational work for the Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Church.

During the meeting 29 students who are daughters of Bennett graduates were presented to the trustees.

Dr. Carothers Founder's Day Speaker Sun.

GREENSBORO - Speaker for the annual Founder's Day program at Bennett College on Sunday at 11 a. m. will be Dr. J. Edward Carothers, of New York City.

Dr. Carothers, associate general secretary of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, is in charge of the church extension strategy of Methodism, including the formation of new congregations, administering a $28,000,000 loan fund for church building, the board's architectural service and a professional fund-raising service.

He has written more than 200 articles in journals and magazines and is the author of a book, Personal Religious Living. For 12 years he has broadcast on both local and network radio and television programs.

Bennett trustees will hold their fall meeting on Saturday at which time President Willa B. Player will make her annual report. A number of trustees are expected to remain for the Sunday program which will be held in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Active Role In Politics Advocated

"It is utterly impossible to be a Christian and remain aloof from politics," Dr. J. Edward Carothers, of New York City, declared in his Founders' Day address at Bennett College Sunday.

Dr. Carothers, who is associate general secretary of the national division of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, said, "This means taking sides on issues, but does not mean partisan politics. The ultimate purpose of all political transactions should be the establishment of justice, and justice is moral."

Gifts of $3,812 to the scholarship fund were presented to President Willa B. Player. The faculty-staff contribution of $1,890 was presented by Dr. Rose Karfiol and the student gift of $1,922, by Miss Mittie White, '66, president of the Student Senate.

PRETTY BARBARA HILL, a freshman at Bennett College, seems deeply interested in welded steel sculpture by George Jolley, currently on exhibition at the Greensboro, N.C., institution.

Charlotte girl named at Bennett

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Miss Mary Murphy, an elementary education major, of Charlotte, last week was elected president of the freshman class at Bennett College.

Miss Murphy, who was valedictorian of her class at Sterling High School, will have serving with her:

Misses Sandra Wilson, of Greensboro, vice president; Brenda Edwards, of Siler City, N.C., secretary; June Tunstall, of Ashland, Va., treasurer; and Judith Mitchell, of Cincinnati, Ohio, member-at-large.

Seniors Discuss Employment Opportunities

Miss Virginia Weissinger, of New York City, competitions editor of Mademoiselle magazine, chats with these two Bennett College seniors about the publication's upcoming competitions and employment opportunities. Listening intently (left to right) are Misses Gail Hickerson, of Lenoir, N. C., editor of the Bennett Banner, student newspaper, and Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, D. C., presently a member of the magazine's college board, who plans a career as a fashion coordinator.

HEAD STUDENT UNION... Miss Ernestine Mitchell, senior, of Washington, D. C. (second from left) president of the David D. Jones Student Union board of management at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., meets with members of her cabinet to complete program plans for the year. Others left to right: Misses Elaine Upton, pianist, of Sweetwater, Tenn.; Brenda Walker, vice president, of Harrisburg, Pa., and Roma Best, treasurer, of Greensboro.

N.Y. Speaker At Bennett

Speaker for the annual Founders' Day program at Bennett College on Sunday at 11 a.m. will be Dr. J. Edward Carothers of New York City.

Dr. Carothers, associate general secretary of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, is in charge of the church extension strategy of Methodism, including the formation of new congregations, administering a $28,000,000 loan fund for church building, the board's architectural service and a professional fund-raising service.

Carothers

Bennett trustees will hold their fall meeting today at which time President Willa B. Player will make her annual report. A number of trustees are expected to remain for the Sunday program which will be held in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Miss T. Hoover Is Heard At Bennett College

GREENSBORO - Miss Theressa Hoover, of New York City, representing the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, spoke on "Conversion and Service" at the Bennett College vesper service on Sunday.

Pointing out that the two words are actually sides of the same coin, Miss Hoover noted that service has taken on the arm of the extra-religious and that conversion, for many people, has more meaning in the secular sense.

"Conversion," she said, "is a turning toward God with a critical decision to enter into his purpose and work. Love is an essential part of the element of service and motivation to service must consider what benefits will be received by the person performing the service as well as by the person receiving it."

QUESTION AND ANSWER - Miss Virginia Weissinger, of New York City, competitions editor of Mademoiselle magazine, chats with these two Bennett College seniors about the publication's upcoming competition and employment opportunities. Listening intently (left to right) are Miss Gail Hickerson, of Lenoir, editor of the Bennett Banner, student newspaper, and Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, D. C., presently a member of the magazine's college board, who plans a career as a fashion coordinator.

Chatting at College Book Fair

Dr. Frances Eldridge (seated) professor of English at Chatham College, Pittsburgh, Pa., chats about books with Dr. Dorothy Bardolph, chairman of the library committee (left) and Mrs. Constance N. Marteena, librarian; following her address opening fourth annual Paperback Book Fair at Bennett College in Greensboro, N. C., last week.

QUESTION AND ANSWER... Miss Virginia Weissinger, of New York City, competitions editor of Mademoiselle magazine, chats with these two Bennett College seniors about the publication's upcoming competitions and employment opportunities. Listening intently (left to right) are Misses Gail Hickerson, of Lenoir, N. C., editor of the Bennett Banner, student newspaper, and Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, D. C., presently a member of the magazine's college board, who plans a career as a fashion coordinator.

U.N. DOLL DISPLAY — Miss Myrtle Capehard, left, of Raleigh, N.C., admires doll held by Miss Carol Taylor, of Atlantic City, N.J., during exhibit marking United Nations Day at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., last week. Dolls were made available by Mrs. Estelle Eaton, director of Merner residence hall.

Bennett College hears Methodist missionary

GREENSBORO, N.C. —Theressa Hoover, of N. Y., representing the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, spoke on "Conversion and Service" at a recent Bennett College vesper service.

Pointing out that the two words are actually sides of the same coin, Miss Hoover noted that service has taken on the aura of the extra - religious and that conversion, for many people, has more meaning in the secular sense.

MRS. OLIVIA STOKES SPEAKER

GREENSBORO - Mrs. Olivia P. Stokes, of Boston, Mass., director of the department of religious education of the Massachusetts Council of Churches, will speak at the 4 p. m. vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, November 21.

VESPER SPEAKER — Dr. Samuel M. Williams, chairman of the Morehouse College Department of Philosophy in Atlanta, Ga., will be vesper speaker at 4 p.m. today in Pfeiffer Chapel at Bennett College.

MISS GAIL HICKERSON of Lenoir, N.C., left, editor of the Bennett (College) Banner, student newspaper; and Miss Ernestine Mitchell of Washington, D.C., a member of Madesmoiselle magazine's college board, who plans a career as a fashion coordinater, discusses the magazine's upcoming competitions and ployment opportunities with Miss Virginia Wissinger of New York City, Mademoiselle editer.

Bennett Speaker Urges Taking Part In Politics

GREENSBORO, N. C.—"It is utterly impossible to be a Christian and remain aloof from politics," Dr. J. Edward Carothers, of New York City, declared in his Founders' Day address at Bennett College.

The speaker, who is associate general secretary of the national division of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, hastened to add that "this means taking sides on issues, but does not mean partisan politics." The ultimate purpose of all political transactions should be the establishment of justice, and justice is moral."

DR. CAROTHERS observed that religion has been so busy observing values of the past that it has neglected to see that some of these values should be discarded. He pointed out that there is a desperate need for a new mind and a new heart in the church.

"I salute those people," he declared, "who have at last found that the kingdom of God is not something that you build, but that it is something of the present moment. Today, the kingdom of God is the scientific method—the nuclear power plant, the desalinization of water."

GIFTS OF $3,812 to the scholarship fund were presented to President Willa B. Player. The faculty-staff contribution of $1,890 was presented by Dr. Rose Karfiol, and the student gift of $1,922, by iMss Mittie White, '66, of Newark, N. J., president of the Student Senate.

BENNETT SPEAKER

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Dr. Samuel W. Williams, chairman of the department of philosophy, Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., will be the Bennett College vesper speaker Nov. 14, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

BENNETT SPEAKER

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Dr. Kenneth I. Brown, of St. Louis, Mc., retired executive director of the Danforth Foundation, will speak at the Sunday vesper service at Bennett College on Nov. 7.

MLLE. EDITOR CHATS — Miss Virginia Weissinger of New York City, competitions editor of Mademoiselle magazine, chats with these two Bennett College seniors about the publication's upcoming competitions and employment opportunities. Listening intently are (left to right) Miss Gail Hickerson of Lenoir, N. C., editor of the Bennet Banner, the student newspaper, and Miss Ernestine Mitchell of Washington, D.C., presently a member of the magazine's college board, who plans a career as a fashion coordinator.

Seek friendship, Bennett group told

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Bennett College students were urged to cultivate the art of receiving as well as the art of generous giving by Dr. Kenneth I. Brown, of St. Louis, Mo., at the last week's assembly.

Dr. Brown, former executive director of the Danforth Foundation, also urged the students to seek out new friends from all cultures, age groups and walks of life if they are to have a full life.

"What is the center of your life?" he asked. "I think that it should be friendship — the kind the requires creative time and thought and loving care.'

BENNETT LECTURE — Dr. Broadus Mitchell, professor of economics at Hofstra University, Long Island, will speak at 10:40 a.m., in the Science Assembly at Bennett College. He is being presented under the visiting scholars' program of Piedmont University Center Inc. of Winston-Salem.

* * *

VESPER SPEAKER—Dr. Kenneth I. Brown of St. Louis, Mo., former executive director of the Danforth Foundation, spoke at the regular Sunday vesper service at Bennett College.

64 Bennett College Seniors Begin Teaching Experiences

Student teaching experiences for 64 Bennett College seniors begin this week in 11 local public schools and in schools in three other North Carolina communities, Dr. Richard L. Fields, director of teacher education, has announced.

Teaching in high schools—24 of them at the local Dudley High School, are 38 seniors while 26 will be teaching in eight local elementary schools. Three are in the area of special education. All are scheduled to complete their assignments by January 14, 1966.

The list follows: DUDLEY HIGH SCHOOL, Greensboro: Cheryl Bright, Washington, N. C.; Marian Kelly, South Norwalk, Conn.; Doris Forney, Hickory, N. C.; Priscilla Brunson, Orangeburg, S. C.; Mildred Reddick, Huntsville, Ala.; Doris Martin, Reidsville, N. C.; Viola Owens, Asheville, N. C.; Sandra Satterwhite, Montclair, N. J.; Dorothy Butler, Birmingham, Ala.; Madeline Harris, Sanford, N. C.; Faye McClain, Wilson, N. C.; Regina Williams, Camden, N. J.; Carolyn Maddox, Salisbury, N. C.; Jennie Russell, Landis, N. C.; Willa Foster, Charlotte, N. C.; Rosemary Williams, Camden, N. J.; Carolyn King, Waycross, Ga.; Deloris Lowrance, Winston-Salme, N. C.; Doris Knotts, Lexington, N. C.; Marilyn Livisay, Princeton, W. Va.; Tagiilima Muasau, American Samoa; Betty Jackson, Easley, S. C.; Shirley Jackson, Parkton, N. C.; Mary E. Holder, Middlesex, N. C.

LINCOLN JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL, Greensboro: Alice Easley, Greelyville, S. C.; Barbara Washington, Yonges Island, S. C.; Constance Mitchell, Dallas, Texas; Genevieve Williams, Greensboro; Wilma Mann Clark, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Eva Rice, Washington, D. C.

PRICE JR. HIGH SCHOOL, Greensboro: Genevieve Holland, Richmond, Va.; Mamie Anderson, Whiteville, N. C.; Adrian Jackson, Atlanta, Ga.;

DAVID D. JONES, Greensboro: Bettye James, Murfreesboro, Tenn.

CHARLES MOORE, Greensboro: Ernestine Reddick, Kinston, N. C.

ROBERSONVILLE HIGH SCHOOL, Robersonville, N. C.: Delores Parker, Oak City, N. C.

WILLIAM PENN HIGH SCHOOL, High Point, N. C.: Patricia Hall, Orangeburg, S. C.

SEDALIA HIGH SCHOOL, Sedalia, N. C.: Lowee Waters, Jacksonville, Fla.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

BLUFORD SCHOOL, Greensboro: Ruby C. Chesson, South Norfolk, Va.; Joan B. Turner, Raleigh, N. C.

HAMPTON SCHOOL, Greensboro: Delphine L. Coward, Durham, N. C.; Paulette A. Grant, Philadelphia, Pa.; Juanita C. Foy, Yonkers, N. Y.; Elnora P. Harris, Baltimore, Md.

DAVID D. JONES SCHOOL, Greensboro: Jackie Outterbridge, Greenville, N. C.; Sondra Stevens, Evanston, Ill.; Betty J. Williams, Cincinnati, Ohio; Louise Ball, Bryson City, N. C.; Mary Ann Douglass, Detroit, Mich.; Bettye M. Hill, Greensboro.

JONESBORO SCHOOL, Greensboro: Brenda J. Arrington, New York City; Jewell L. Merritt, Durham, N. C.; Monica S. Sloan, New Orleans, La.

CHARLES H. MOORE SCHOOL, Greensboro: Patricia Harris, Detroit, Mich.; Brenda D. Walker, Harrisburg, Pa.

MOUNT ZION SCHOOL, Greensboro: Sadie Goode, Greensboro; Freda K. Thompson, New Rochelle, N. Y.

RENA BULLOCK SCHOOL, Greensboro: Victoria Hillman, Washington, D. C.; Jean M. Rollins, Cleveland, Ohio.

WASHINGTON ST. SCHOOL, Greensboro: Ernestine Collins, Georgetown, N. C.; Freda P. Isaacs, Cincinnati, Ohio; Charlie M. Roundtree, Southern Pines, N. C.; Charlotte Tenbrook, Newport News, Va.; Andrea E. Williams, Wilmington, Dela.

UN Doll Display

Miss Myrtle Capehart (left) of Raleigh, N. C., admires doll held by Miss Carol Taylor of Atlantic City, N. J., during exhibit marking United Nations Day at Bennett College recently. Dolls were made available by Mrs. Estelle Eaton, director of Merner residence hall.

AT BOOK FAIR - Dr. Frances Eldridge (seated) professor of English at Chatham College, Pittsburgh, Pa., chats about books with Dr. Dorothy Bardolph, chairman of the library committee (left) and Mrs. Constance H. Marteena, librarian, following her address opening the fourth annual Paperback Book Fair at Bennett College in Greensboro last week.

64 Bennett students practice teaching

GREENSBORO N.C. — Student teaching experiences for 64 Bennett College seniors began this week in 11 local public schools and in schools in three other North Carolina communities, Dr. Richard L. Fields, director of teacher education, has announced.

Teaching in high schools — 24 of them at the local Dudley High School, are 38 seniors while 26 will be teaching in eight local elementary schools. Three are in the area of special education. All are scheduled to complete their assignments Jan. 14.

The list follows:

DUDLEY HIGH SCHOOL, Greensboro: Cheryl Bright, Washington, N.C.; Marian Kelly, South Norwalk, Conn.; Priscilla Brunson, Orangeburg, S. C.; Mildred Reddick, Doris Forney, Hickory, N.C.; Huntsville, Ala.; Doris Martin, Reidsville, N.C.; Viola Owens, Asheville, N.C.; Sandra Satterwhite, Montclair, N.J.; Dorothy Butler, Birmingham, Ala.; Madeline Harris, Sanford, N.C.; Faye McClain, Wilson, N.C.; Regina Williams, Camden, N.J.; Carolyn Maddox, Salisbury, N.C.; Jennie Russell, Landis, N.C.; Rosemary Williams, Camden, N.C.; Carolyn King, Waycross, Ga.; Deloris Lowrance, Winston - Salem, N.C.; Doris Knotts, Lexington, N.C.; Marilyn Livisay, Princeton, W. Virginia; Tagilima Muasau, American Samos; Betty Jackson, Parkton, N.C.; Mary E. Holder, Middlesex, N.C.

* * *

LINCOLN JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL, Greensboro: Alice Easley, Greelyville, S.C.; Barbara Washington, Yonges Island, S.C.; Constance Mitchell, Dallas, Texas; Genevieve Williams, Greensboro; Wilma Mann Clark, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Eva Rice Washington, D.C.

Price Junior High School, Greensboro: Genevieve Holland, Richmond, Va.; Mamie Anderson, Whiteville, N.C.; Adrian Jackson, Atlanta, Ga.;

David D. Jones School Greensboro: Bettye James, Murfreesboro, Tenn.

Charles Moore School, Robersonville, N.C.; Patricia Hall, Orangeburg, S.C.

Sedalia High School, Sedalia, N.C.; Lowee Waters, Jacksonville, Fla.

* * *

Bluford School, Greensboro: Ruby C. Chesson, South Norfolk, Va.; Joan B. Turner, Raleigh, N.C.

Hampton School, Greensboro: Delphine L. Coward, Durham, N.C.; Paulette A. Grant, Philadelphia, Pa.; Juanita C. Foy, Yonkers, N.Y.; Elnora P. Harris, Baltimore, Md.

David D. Jones School, Greensboro: Jackie Outterbridge, Greenville, N.C.; Sondra Stevens, Evanston, Ill.; Betty J. Williams, Cincinnati, Ohio; Louise Ball, Bryson City, N.C.; Mary Ann Douglass, Detroit, Mich.; Bettye M. Hill, Greensboro.

Jonesboro School, Greensboro: Brenda J. Arrington, New York City; Jewelle L. Merritt, Durham, N.C.; Monica S. Sloan, New Orleans, La.

Charles H. Moore School, Greensboro: Patricia Harris, Detroit, Mich.; Brenda D. Walker, Harrisburg, Pa.

Mount Zion School, Greensboro: Sadie Goode, Greensboro Freda K. Thompson, Rochelle, N.Y.

Rena Bullock School, Greensboro: Victoria Hillman, Washington, D.C.; Jean M. Rollins, Cleveland, Ohio

Washington Street School, Greensboro: Ernestine Collins, Georgetwon, S.C.; Freda P. Isaacs, Cincinnati, Ohio; Charles M. Roundtree, Southern Pines, N.C.; Charlotte Tenbrook, Newport News, Va.; Andrea E. Williams, Wilmington, Dela.

Bennett Theatre Guild In Mystery

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Moments of fear and horror are in prospect as the Theatre Guild at Bennett College presents John Kirkpatrick's mystery, "Eight Women and a Ghost" in the Little Theatre, November 11, 12 and 13 at 8 p.m.

The play, directed by Fred A. Eady, concerns a legendary murder, a present one and attempted one in a deserted barn on a lonely road in Virginia. Members of the cast include:

MISSES Judith Murray, of Washington, D. C.; Shirley Smedley, of Birmingham, Ala.; Andrea Mast, of Houston, Tex.; Cleo Walker, of New Haven Conn.; Saundra Jenkins, of Orangeburg, S.C.; Lynne Fountain, of Woodbridge, Va.; Lillie Coley-Green, of New York, N. Y., and Patricia Greene, of Baltimore, Md.

Bennett Theatre to present mystery

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Moments of fear and horror are in prospect when the Theatre Guild at Bennett College presents John Kirkpatrick's mystery, "Eight Women and a Ghost" in the Little Theatre, Nov. 11, 12 and 13 at 8 p.m.

The play, directed by Fred A. Eady, concerns a legendary murder; a present one, and an attempted one in a deserted barn on a lonely road in Virginia. Members of the cast include:

Misses Judith Murray, of Washington, D.C.; Shirley Smedley, of Birmigham, Ala.; Andrea Mast, of Houston, Tex.; Cleo Walker, of New Haven, Conn.; Saundra Jenkins, of Orangeburg, S.C.; Lynne Fountain, of Woodbridge, Va.; Lillie Coley-Greene, of New York, N.Y., and Patricia Greene, of Baltimore, Md.

3 Members Of Bennett's Trustees Are Re-Elected

GREENSBORO - Three members of the board of trustees at Bennett College were re-elected to terms ending in 1968 at the annual meeting Saturday.

They are Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, of New York City, chairman; Dr. John Cone, of Greensboro, treasurer, and Miss Margaret Forsyth, of New York City.

Citations for long service on the board were authorized for Mrs. Julius W. Cone, of Greensboro, and Miss Muriel Day, former secretary of educational work for the Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Church.

In her report to the trustees which has as its theme: "Earning Our Way," President Willa B. Player highlighted contributions being made by graduates across the nation, the increased number of faculty studying for the doctorate and new academic opportunities being provided for high school graduates of high ability.

During the meeting 29 students who are daughters of Bennett graduates were presented to the trustees.

***

Faith in one's self is the foundation of success.

Miss Mary Murphy Prexy Of Bennett College's Frosh

GREENSBORO - Miss Mary Murphy, an elementary education major, of Charlotte, last week was elected president of the freshman class at Bennett College.

Miss Murphy, who was valedictorian of her class at Sterling High School, will have serving with her:

Misses Sandra Wilson, of Greensboro, vice president; Brenda Edwards, of Siler City, secretary; June Tunstall, of Ashland, Va., treasurer, and Judith Mitchell, of Cincinnati, Ohio, member-at-large.

Bennett Vespers

Dr. Kenneth I. Brown, of St. Louis, Mo., retired executive director of the Danforth Foundation, will speak at the Bennett College vesper service today at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel. Dr. Brown will also speak at the Monday morning assembly and is expected to visit classes before leaving the campus.

CONCERT—A preview in minfature of her concert at Carnegie Hall, New York City on Oct. 28, will be given by Mrs. Lily Keleti, pianist-in-residence at Bennett College, at 10 a.m. today in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Education Speaks

Much of the conflict between the younger and older generations could be eliminated if they "dealt with each other as persons rather than vertical forces," Dr. Albert E. Manly said at the Sunday morning worship service at Bennett College. Dr. Manly is president of Spelman College in Atlanta.

Bennett College News

BENNETT COLLEGE

Bennett College students were urged to cultivate the art of receiving as well as the art of generous giving by Dr. Kenneth I. Brown of St. Louis, Mo., at the Monday assembly.

Dr. Brown, former executive director of the Danforth Foundation also urged the students to seek out new friends from all cultures, age groups and walks of life if they are to have a full life.

"What is the center of your life?" he asked. "I think that it should be friendship — the kind that requires creative time and thought and loving care."

Dr. Brown also spoke at the Sunday vesper service at which time he stated that unless the love of God passes through man to his fellowman, the encounter with God's love has failed.

BENNETT NEWS

"Rebellion, when it explodes out of bounds, becomes insurrection," Rabbi Joseph Asher, of Temple Emanuel, told Bennett College students at their Friday assembly.

Speaking on "More Rebels Than Causes," Rabbi Asher stated that "young Negro students gave America its first real cause in many years — civil rights. Although there is still resistance to civil rights in the South, the South will never be the same."

The speaker warned that proliferation kills many good causes and cited the anti-Viet Nam demonstrations as an instance of a good cause being taken over by professionals.

"The sorriest people in the world," he declared, "are those revolutionaries who are successful. The first thng for these people to learn is how to become respectable."

BENNETT NEWS

Moments of fear and horror are in prospect when the Theatre Guild at Bennett College presents John Kirkpatrick's mystery, "Eight Women and a Ghost" in the Little Theatre, November 11, 21 and 13 at 8 p.m.

The play ,directed by Fred A. Eady, concerns a lengendary murder, a present one and attempted one in a deserted barn on a lonely road in Virginia. Members of the cast include:

Misses Judith Murray, of Washington, D. C.; Shirley Smedley, of Birmingham, Ala.; Andrea Mast, of Houston, Tex.; Cleo Walker, of New Haven, Conn.; Saundra Jenkins, of Orangeburg, S. C.; Lynne Fountain, of Woodbridge, Va.; Lillie Coley-Greene, of New York, N. Y., and Patricia Greene, of Baltimore, Md.

BENNETT NEWS

Winners in the fourth annual creative room contest conducted by the Home and Family Life Education department at Bennett College were announced this wek by Mrs. Louise G. Streat, director.

Residents of each of the seven dormitories competed for the coveted blue ribbons denoting first place. White ribbons were awarded for rooms which in the opinion of the judges qualified for second place.

Top awards went to the following roommates:

PFEIFFER HALL: Misses Jane Cromwell, Jemmie Peevy and Freida Frances; JONES HALL: Jo Anne Coble, Doris Collins and Judith Mitchell; REYNOLDS HALL: Peggy Patrick, Carolyn Gardner and Edna Turner; CONE HALL: Lily So and Amanda Houston; BARGE HALL: Christine Clements, Beryl Payne and Margie Parker; MERNER HALL: Elaine James and Messeret Taddesse, and KENT HALL: Barbara Gadsden and Henrietta Harris.

BENNETT NEWS

Mrs. Olivia P. Stokes, of Boston, Mass., director of the department of religious education of the Massachusetts Council of Churches, will speak at the 4 p.m. vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, November 12.

BENNETT NEWS

Dr. Broadus Mitchell professor of economics at Hofstra University, Hempstead, Long Island, spoke on "The Changing Constitution of the U. S." at Bennett College on Wednesday.

The speaker, who at one time was an associate professor at the John Hopkins University in Baltimore, Md., also held informal discussions with students dealing with "What Is Wealth?" and "Alexander Hamilton Today."

BENNETT NEWS

Dr. Albert Manley, president of Spelman College, Atlanta, Ga., will speak at the 11 a. m. worship service at Bennett College on Sunday, November 28.

BENNETT NEWS

Dr. Samuel W. Williams chairman of the department of philosophy, Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., will be the Bennett College vesper speaker November 14, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

BENNETT NEWS

Speaker for the fall honors convocation at Bennett College on November 19 will be John Steers, manager of educational relations for the IBM Corporation, Armonk, N. Y.

BENNETT NEWS

Miss Mary Murphy, an elementary education major, of Charlotte, last week was elected president of the freshman class at Bennett College.

Miss Murphy, who was valedictorian of her class at Sterling High School, will have serving with her:

Misses Sandra Wilson, of Greensboro, vic president; Brenda Edwards of Siler City, N. C., secretary; June Tunstall of Ashland, Va., treasurer, and Judith Mitchell, of Cincinnati, Ohio, member-at-large.

U. N. DOLL DISPLAY - Miss Myrtle Capehart (left) of Raleigh, N. C., admires doll held by Miss Carol Taylor, of Atlantic City, N. J., during exhibit marking United Nations Day at Bennett College on Sunday. Dolls were made available by Mrs. Estelle Eaton, director of Merner residence hall.

U.N. DOLL DISPLAY...Miss Myrtle Capeheart (left) of Raleigh, N. C. admires doll held by Miss Carol Taylor, of Atlantic City, N.J., during exhibit marking United Nations Day at Bennett College on Sunday, Dolls were made available by Mrs. Estelle Eaton, director of Merner residence hall.

Their Room Won First Prize

The dormitory room of Misses Elaine James, of Hillsboro, N. C. (left) and Messeret Taddesse, of Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, was awarded first prize for Merner Hall in the fourth annual Creative Room Contest at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C. last week.

Name neatest at Bennett

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Winners in the fourth annual creative room contest conducted by the Home and Family Life Education department at Bennett College were announced this week by Mrs. Louise G. Streat, director.

Residents of each of the seven dormitories competed for the coveted blue ribbons denoting first place. White ribbons were awarded for rooms which in the opinion of the judges qualified for second place.

Top awards went to the following roommates:

PFEIFFER HALL, Misses Jane Cromwell, Jemmie Peevy and Freida Frances; Jones Hall: Jo Anne Cole, Doris Collins and Judith Mitchell; Reynolds Hall, Peggy Patrick, Carolyn Gardner and Edna Turner; Cone Hall, Lily So and Amanda Houston; Barge Hall, Christine Clements, Beryl Payne and Margie Parker; Merner Hall: Elaine James and Messrs Taddesse, and Kent Hall; Barbara Gadsden and Henrietta Harris

BENNETT INDUCTION - Two of the 21 Bennett College students who were inducted last week into Omicron Eta Chi, home economics club, received their certificates. Gloria Taylor, of Rowland, receives certificate from Betty Jackson, president, of Easley, S. C., while Shirley Jackson, vice president, of Parkton, gives certificate to Cynthia Fierson, of Florence, S. C. Watching proceedings is Norma Cobbs, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

'Living Madonnas'

GREENSBORO, NC. — The annual "Living Madonnas" program at Bennett College will be presented in Pfeiffer Chapel at 7 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 12, James C. McMillan, chairman of the committee in charge of the event, announced this week.

This year's production, featuring student models, is based upon masterpieces in the North Carolina Museum of Art of Raleigh and will consist of eight scenes. Sets are being executed by Horace Farlowe, of the art department with music by the freshman choir, under the direction of Edward Loew.

Long a traditional event to usher in the Christmas season at the College, the "Living Madonnas" attracts viewers from many parts of the state as well as from the local community.

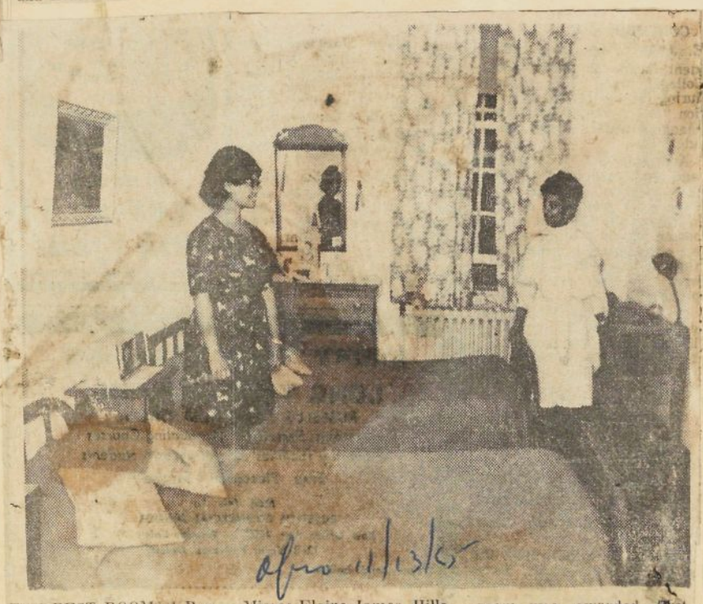

Creative Room Contest Winners

Winners in the fourth annual creative room contest conducted by the Home and Family Life Education department at Bennett College were announced this week by Mrs. Louise G. Streat, director.

Residents of each of the seven dormitories competed for the coveted blue ribbons denoting first place. White ribbons were awarded for rooms which in the opinion of the judges qualified for second place.

Top awards went to the following roommates.

Pfeiffer Hall, Misses Jane Cromwell, Jemmie Peevy and Freida Frances; Jones Hall, Jo Anne Coble, Doris Collins and Judith Mitchell; Reynolds Hall, Peggy Patrick, Carolyn Gardner and Edna Turner; Cone Hall, Lily So and Amanda Houston; Marge Hall, Christine Clements, Beryl Payne and Maggie Parker; Merner Hall, Elaine James and Messeret Taddesse and Kent Hall, Barbara Gadsden and Henrietta Harris.

THE BEST ROOM at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., happens to be one in Merner Hall, occupied by Misses Elaine James, Hillsboro, N.C., left, and Messeret Taddesse, of Addis Ababa, Ethiopia. Their room was awarded first prize in the fourth annual Creative Room contest, held recently on the Greensboro campus.

MISS GAIL HICKERSON of Lenoir, N.C., left, editor of the Bennett (College) Banner, student newspaper; and Miss Ernestine Mitchell of Washington, D.C., a member of Madesmoiselle magazine's college board, who plans a career as a fashion coordinater, discusses the magazine's upcoming competitions and ployment opportunities with Miss Virginia Wissinger of New York City, Mademoiselle editor.

INTERNATIONAL DOLL DISPLAY—Miss Myrtle Capeahrt (left) of Raleigh, N.C., admires a doll held by Miss Carol Taylor of Atlantic City, N.J., during an exhibit marking United Nations Day, at Bennett College last week. Dolls were made available by Mrs. Estelle Eaton, director of Merner Residence Hall.

AREA GIRLS AT BENNETT—Freshmen from Eastern North Carolina communities now attending Bennett College in Greensboro, are, left to right: front row: Bessie Scott, Goldsboro; Linda Long, Hillsboro, and Julia Redding, Durham; back row: Barbara Dicks, Wilmington, and Lillian McClain, Raleigh.

Greensboro rites for Mrs. Clara Rogers

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Last rites for Mrs. Clara S. Rogers, 69, wife of Lawrence W. Rogers, superintendent of buildings and grounds at Bennett College, were conducted recently at St. Matthews Methodist Church. Interment was in Maplewood Cemetery.

Following Scripture readings by the Revern Otis Hairston and G. Haven Caldwell, the Rev. G. M. Phelps delivered the eulogy based upon verses from John 14:

A native of Hampton, Va., and a graduate of Hampton Institute and Cheyney (Pa.) State Teachers' College. Mrs. Rogers was a member of St. Matthews Wesleyan Service Guild.

• • •

SHE ALSO held membership in Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, the Hampton Alumni Association, the YWCA and the Warnersville Coterie Club.

Other survivors include a daughter, Mary Ann, a teacher at Bennett College, and a brother, Joseph E. Smith, Sr., of Roxbury, Mass.

Methodists In Seminar At Bennett

A Weekend Mission Seminar for members of the Weleyan Service Guild of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church begins its first full day today at Bennett College.

The members, all employed Methodist women, registered and met at an orientation dinner Friday night.

Today they begin their studies with an "introduction to (the) college philosophy and program" at the school, followed by a tour of facilities of the college.

This afternoon they are to tour the "surrounding community," including the remainder of Bennett College, UNC-G, Greensboro College, L. Richardson Hospital, A&T College and Guilford Battleground Park.

The Don Trexler Singers are to entertain them tonight, after an earlier meeting at Saint Matthews Methodist Church with members of the Central Methodis Jurisdiction.

Miss Lillian Johnson of New York City, guild national executive secretary, said one aim of the weekend session here, last of 10 such gatherings in the United States, is to interest women in the possibilities of becoming missionaries or deaconesses in this country or abroad.

Dr. J. S. Carothers Founder's Day Speaker At Bennett

It is utterly impossible to be a Christian and remain aloof from politics" Dr. J. Edward Carothers, of New York City, declared in his Founders' Day address at Bennett College Sunday.

The speaker, who is associate general secretary of the national division of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, hastened to add that "this means taking sides on issues, but does not mean partisan politics." The ultimate purpose of all political transactions should be the establishment of justice, and justice is moral."

Dr. Carothers observes that religion has been so busy observing values of the past that it has neglected to see that some of these values should be discarded. He pointed out that there is a desperate need for a new mind and a new heart in the church.

"I salute those people," he declared," who have at last found that the kingdom of God is not something that you build but that it is something of the present moment. Today, the kingdom of God is the scientific method — the nuclear power plant, the desalinization of water."

Gifts of $3,812 to the scholarship fund were presented to President Willa B. Player. The faculty-staff contribution of $1,890 was presented by Dr. Rose Karfiol and the student gift of $1,922 by Miss Mittie White, '66, of Newark, N. J. president of the Student Senate.

Three member of the board of trustees at Bennett College were re-elected to terms ending in 1968 at the annual meeting Saturday.

They are Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, of New York City, chairman; Dr. John A. Tarpley, of Greensboro, treasurer, and Miss Margaret Forsyth of New York City.

Citations for long service on the board were authorized for Mrs. Julius W. Cone of Greensboro, and Miss Muriel Day, former secretary of educational work for the Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Church.

In her report to the trustees, which has as its theme: "Earning Our Way," President Willa B. Player highlighted contributions being made by graduates across the nation, the increased number of faculty studying for the doctorate and new academic opportunities being provided for high school graduate of high ability.

During the meeting 29 students who are daughters of Bennett graduates were presented to the trustees.

Last Rites Held For Mrs. Clara S. Rogers

GREENSBORO — Last rites for Mrs. Clara S. Rogers, 69, wife of L. W. Rogers, superintendent of buildings and grounds at Bennett College, were conducted Thursday at St. Matthews Methodist Church.

Mrs. Rogers, a former employee of Bennett and A. and T. college, died on November 1 following a lengthy illness. Interment was in Maplewood Cemetery.

Following Scripture readings by the Revs. Otis Hairston and G. Haven Caldwell, the Rev. G. M. Phelps delivered the eulogy based upon verses from John 14: "Set your troubled hearts at rest. Trust in God always; trust also in Me."

"It was this trust that sustained and strengthened her," the minister said. "She was unafraid and she rendered service to many."

A native of Hampton, Va., and a graduate of Hampton Institute and Cheyney (Pa.) State Teachers' College, the deceased was a member of St. Matthews and of the Wesleyan Service Guild. She also held membership in Delta Sigma Theta sorority, the Hampton Alumni Association, the YWCA and the Warnersville Coterie Club.

Other survivors include a daughter, Miss Mary Ann Rogers, a teacher at Bennett College and a brother, Joseph E. Smith, Sr., of Roxboro, Mass.

Accept Change, Honor Students At Bennett Told

"Change used to take at least a generation; now it comes as we turn our backs," John C. Steers, International Business Machine official of Armonk, N.Y., said in his address at the third annual fall honors convocation at Bennett College Friday.

Steers, manager of education relations for IBM, speaking on "Inheriting a Revolution," told the honorees to accept the nature and challenge of change which can be found all around them.

"If there were one thing I had to offer as most important for those we recognize as honor students today, for those who will strive for honor in their work in the future, for students everywhere at any level, it would be to learn how to learn."

Bennett College Seniors Begin Teacher Training

GREENSBORO — Student teaching experiences for 64 Bennett College seniors began this week in 11 local public schools and in schools in three other North Carolina communities Dr. Richard L. Fields, director of teacher education, has announced.

Teaching in high schools—24 of them at the local Dudley High School, are 38 seniors while 26 will be teaching in eight local elementary schools. Three are in the area of special education. All are scheduled to complete their assignments by January 14, 1966.

HAVE BEST ROOM... Misses Elaine James, of Hillsboro, N.C. (left) and Messeret Taddesse, of Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, whose room was awarded first prize for Merner Hall in fourth annual Creative Room contest at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., last week.

3 Kinds Of People

GREENSBORO, N. C. — "Three are three kinds of people in the world today — the sheep, the showoff and the sure," Dr. Donald C. Dearborn declared in his address at the opening vesper service at Bennett College Sunday.

Dr. Dearborn, president of Catawba College, Salisbury, N. C., deplored the fact that much of today's advertising is helping to increase the number of sheep — people who conform.

One of the purposes of our colleges, he said, is to make shepards instead of sheep. The showoff, a rebel against conformity, eventually finds himself conforming, too. But the people are the ones who remade the world. They have their own sense of values and the courage to make their own choices.

U.N. DOLL DISPLAY — Miss Myrtle Capehard, left, of Raleigh, N.C., admires doll held by Miss Carol Taylor, of Atlantic City, N.J., during exhibit marking United Nations Day at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., last week. Dolls were made available by Mrs. Estelle Eaton, director of Merner residence hall.

Carolina Times 11/13/65

Program Here Will Feature IBM Official

News 11/18/65

John C. Steers, a top official of the International Business Machines Corp., of Armonk, N.Y., will be the speaker for the annual fall honors convocation at Bennett College Friday at 10 a.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Steers

The speaker, who is manager of educational relations for IBM, is a graduate of Fordham University and has been employed by the corporation since 1949. He is consultant for a number of national organizations, among them the American Council on Education and the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation Project.

Twenty-six students — 10 sophomores, 10 juniors and six seniors — will be honored for academic achievement.

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Dr. L. C. Wright, professor of history at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, spoke on 'Problems of Post - World War II Japan" at the Bennett College general assembly on Dec .6. The program, to be held in Pfeifer Chapel, is the third in a series dealing with Non-Western Studies inaugurated this fall under the direction of Dr. Shang Ling Fu.

AT BOOK FAIR... Dr. Frances Eldridge (seated) professor of English at Chatham College, Pittsburgh, Pa., chats about books with Dr. Dorothy Bardolph, chairman of the library committee (left) and Mrs. Constance H. Marteens, librarian, following her address opening fourth annual Paperback Book Fair at Bennett College in Greensboro, N. C., last week.

Rabbi Orator At Bennett

Carolina 11/20/65

GREENSBORO -- "Rebellion, when it explodes out of bounds, becomes insurrection," Rabbi Joseph Asher, of Temple Emanuel, told Bennett College students at their Friday assembly.

Speaking on "More Rebels Than Causes," Rabbi Asher stated that "Young Negro students gave America its first real cause in many years -- civil rights. Although there is still resistance to civil rights in the South, the South will never be the same."

The speaker warned that proliferation kills many good causes and cited the anti-Viet Nam demonstrations as an instances of a good cause being taken over by professionals.

"The sorriest people in the world," he declared, "are those revolutionaries who were successful. The first thing for these people to learn is how to become respectable."

"Eight Women And A Ghost"

Carolina 11/20/65

GREENSBORO - Moments of [illegible] and horror are in prospect [illegible] the Theatre Guild at Ben[illegible] College presents John [illegible] mystery, "Eight Women and a Ghost" in the Little Theatre, November 11, 12, and 18 at 8 p. m.

The play, directed by Fred A. Eady, concerns a legendary murder, a present one and attempted one in a deserted barn on a lonely road in Virginia. Members of the cast include:

Misses Judith Murray, of Washington, D. C.; Shirley Smedley, of Birmingham, Ala.; Andrea Mast, of Houston, Tex.; Cleo Walker, of New Haven, Conn.; Saundra Jenkins, of Orangeburg, S. C.; Lynne Foun-

Eleven Bennett College Seniors Elected To Who's Who

FO 11/19/65

Election of 11 Bennett College seniors to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" was announced this week.

The group includes two students from Africa, one from Indonesia, three from North Carolina and one each from Maryland, South Carolina, New York, New Jersey and the District of Columbia.

They are:

Kate Aseme, of Nigeria, a pre-medicine major who is a member of the International Relations Club, Science Seminar and Beta Kappa Chi, national science honorary; Nancy L. Ball, of Bryson City, N. C., an elementary education major, who is a member of the student chapter of the National Education Foundation and the Inter-relations Club;

Patricia Greene, of Baltimore, Md., an English major who plans a career in journalism and spent her junior year as an exchange student at Syracuse University; Amanda Houston, of Kinston, N. C., a mathematics major, who is president of Alpha Kappa Mu, national honor society, and treasurer of the Student Senate; Sandra K. Johnson, of Siler City, N. C., a nutrition major, who is treasurer of Omicron Eta Chi, home economics club and also of the Senior Honor Society;

Gretta A. Middleton, of Charleston, S. C., a political science major, who is National Student Association coordinator for the Student Senate and a member of the Little Theatre Guild and the Inter-Dormitory Council;

Thelma A Morgan, of Sierra Leone, a French major, who is president of the International Relations Club, and a member of the Modern Language Club and of the Spanish Club; Eva F. Rice, of Washington, D. C., an English major, who is president of the Senior Honor Society and vice president of Alpha Kappa Mu; Wei Lie So, of Sumatra, Indonesia, a pre-medicine major, who is a member of the International Relations Club, secretary of Alpha Kappa Mu and holds membership in Beta Kappa Chi and on the Marshal Board;

Freda Kay Thompson, of New Rochelle, N. Y., an elementary education major, who is chairman of the Inter-Dormitory Council and holds membership in the Senior Honor Society and the Student Senate; Mittie B. White, of Newark, N. J., a nutrition major, who is president of the Student Senate.

Bennett College News

Three performances of "Eight Women and a Ghost," the John Kirkpatrick murder mystery, were given by the Little Theatre Guild at Bennett College last week under the direction of Fred A. Eady.

In the cast were Misses Judith Murray, of Washington, D. C.; Shirley Smedley, of Birmingham, Ala.; Andrea Mast, of Houston, Tex.; Cleo Walker, of New Haven, Conn.; Saundra Jenkins, of Orangeburg, S. C.; Lynne Fountain, of Woodbridge, Va.; Lillie Coley-Greene, of New York City, and Patricia Greene, of Baltimore, Md.

BENNETT COLLEGE

Dr. Shang-Ling Fu, director of the newly-created department of Non-Western Studies at Bennett College, gave two lectures last week.

The first was on "Dr. Sun-Yat Sen and Modern Sociology" and the second was "Religion in Contemporary China."

BENNETT NEWS

The Rev. A. Knighton Stanley, director of religious activities, will speak at the 4 p. m. vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, December 5.

AREA GIRLS AT BENNETT - Frehsmen from Eastern North Carolina communities now attending Bennett College in Greensboro, are, left to right: front row: Bessie Scott, Goldsboro; Linda Long, Hillsboro; and Julia Redding, Durham; back row: Barbara Dicks, Wilmington, and Lillian McClain, Raleigh.

"Impossible To Be A Christian Aloof From Politics- "Carothers

Carolina 11/20/65

GREENSBORO--"It is utterly impossible to be a Christian and remain aloof from politics," Dr. J. Edward Carothers, of New York City, declared in his Founders' Day address at Bennett College Sunday.

The speaker, who is associate general secretary of the national division of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, hastened to add that "this means taking sides on issues, but does not mean partisan politics." The ultimate purpose of all political transactions should be the establishment of justice, and justice is moral."

Dr. Carothers observes that religion has been so busy observing values of the past that it has neglected to see that some of these values should be discarded. He pointed out that there is a desperate need for a new mind and a new heart in the church.

"I salute those people," he declared, "who have at last found that the kingdom of God is not something that you build but that it is something of the present moment. Today, the kingdom of God is the scientific method -- the nuclear power plant, the desalinization of water."

Gifts of $3,812 to the scholarship fund were presented to President Willa B. Player. The faculty-staff contribution of $1,890 was presented by Dr. Rose Karfiol and the student gift of $1,922, by Miss Mittie White, '66, of Newark, N. J.; president of the Student Senate.

Hear Hofstra Prof

Carolina 11/20/65

GREENSBORO--Dr. Broadus Mitchell, professor of economics at Hofstra University, Hempstead, Long Island, spoke on "The Changing Constitution of the U. S." at Bennett College on Wednesday.

The speaker, who at one time was an associate professor at the John Hopkins University in Baltimore, Md., also held informal discussions with students dealing with "What is Wealth?" and "Alexander Hamilton Today."

64 Bennett Seniors Now Cadet Tutors

Carolina 11/20/65

GREENSBORO -- Student teaching experiences for 64 Bennett College seniors began this week in 11 local public schools and in schools in three other North Carolina communities, Dr. Richard L. Fields, director of teacher education, has announced.

Teaching in high schools -- 24 of them at the local Dudley High School, are 38 seniors while 26 will be teaching in eight local elementary schools. Three are in the area of special education. All are scheduled to complete their assignments by January 14, 1966.

The list follows: Dudley High School, Greensboro: Cheryl Bright, Washington, N. C.; Marian Kelly, South Norwalk, Conn.; Doris Forney, Hickory, N. C.; Priscilla Brunson, Orangeburg, S. C.; Mildred Reddick, Huntsville, Ala.; Doris Martin, Reidsville, N. C.; Viola Owens, Asheville; Sandra Satterwhite, Montclair, N. J.; Dorothy Butler, Birmingham, Ala.; Madeline Harris, Sanford, N. C.; Faye McClain, Wilson; Regina Williams, Camden, N. J.; Carolym Maddox, Salisbury, N. C.; Jennie Russell, Landis; Willa Foster, Charlotte; Rosemary Williams, Camden, N. J.; Carolyn King, Waycross, Ga.; Deloris Lowrance, Winston-Salem; Doris Knotts, Lexington; Marilyn Livisay, Princeton, W. Va.; Tagilima Muasau, American Samoa; Betty Jackson, Easley, S. C.; Shirley Jackson, Parkton, N. C.; Mary E. Holder, Middlesex.

Lincoln Junior High School, Greensboro: Alice Easley, Greelyville, S. C.; Barbara Washington, Yonges Island, S. C.; Constance Mitchell, Dallas, Texas; Geneviveve Williams, Greensboro; Wilma Mann Clark, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Eva Rice, Washington, D. C.

Price Junior High School, Greensboro: Genevieve Holland, Richmond, Va.; Mamie Lowee Waters, Jacksonville, Fla.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

Bluford School, Greensboro: Ruby C. Chesson, South Norfolk, Va.; Joan B. Turner, Raleigh.

Hampton School, Greensboro: Delphine L. Coward, Durham; Paulette A. Grant, Philadelphia, Pa.; Juanita C. Foy, Yonkers, N. Y.; Elnora P. Harris, Baltimore, Md.;

David D. Jones School: Greensboro: Jackie Outterbridge, Greenville; Sondra Stevens, Evanston, Ill.; Betty J. Williams, Cincinnati, Ihio; Louise Ball, Bryson City; Mary Ann Douglass, Detroit, Mich.; Bettye M. Hill, Greensboro;

Jonesboro School, Greensboro: Brenda J. Arrington, N. Y. C.; Jewelle L. Merritt, Durham; Monica S. Sloan, New Orleans, La.

Charles H. Moore School, Greensboro: Patricia Harris, Detroit, Mich.; Brenda D. Walker, Harrisburg, Pa.

Mount Zion School, Greensboro: Sadie Goode, Greensboro; Freda K. Thompson, New Rochell, N. Y.

Rena Bullock School, Greensboro: Victoria Hillman, Washington, D. C.; Jean M. Rollins, Cleveland, Ohio.

Washington Street School, Greensboro: Ernestine Collins, Georgetown, S. C.; Freda P. Isaacs, Cincinnati, Ohio; Charlie M. Roundtree, Southern Pines; Charlotte Tenbroook, Neport News, Va.; Andrea E. Williams, Wilmington, Dela.

SPELMAN PREXY SETS VISITS

GREENSBORO -- Dr. Albert Manley, president of Spelman College, Atlanta, Ga., will speak at the 11 a. m. worship service at Bennett College on Sunday, November 28.

* * *

Methodists Will Hold Seminar On Missions

News 11/18/65

Employed Methodist women from throughout the U.S. will attend a national Weekend Missions Seminar Friday through Sunday at Bennett College.

This is the final of 10 such seminars being held across the U.S. by the Wesleyan Service Guild of the national Board of Missions, the Methodist Church, and home missions projects. (The Guild is the organization for employed and professional Methodist women).

Mrs. Robert Ayers of Pleasant Garden, presiding officer of the Guild for the Western North Carolina Methodist Conference, is in charge of this meeting and is being assisted by a local committee from the Greensboro Guild and Bennett College.

They will spend the weekend at the college, registering at 4 p.m. Friday, spending most of Saturday in the community surrounding Bennett College, and closing the meeting Sunday afternoon.

* * *

THE PRIMARY goal of this new aproach in involvement of the Guilders is to give each woman participating "deepened understanding of the total mission of the church and of the important place which home missions work has in the mission."

Miss Lillian Johnson of New York City, national executive secretary of the Guild, said it is also hoped that, after seeing the pressing need for full-time workers, some women may inquire about the possibility of becoming missionaries or deaconesses, either in the U.S. or overseas.

The program will open with a 7:30 p.m. dinner Friday, to be followed by the community program Saturday. On Saturday morning, the program will include a tour of Bennett and workshop participation in the Saturday school for high school students.

* * *

DURING the afternoon, the Guilders will visit, via bus, the community surrounding Bennett College, seeing urban renewal housing projects, the new L. Richardson Memorial Hospital, A&T College, and then will go to the Guilford Battleground Park, Greensboro College campus, and UNC at Greensboro.

Saturday night the seminar participants will meet Guilders from the Central Methodist Jurisdiction at St. Matthews Methodist Church. On Sunday, the Guilders will attend morning worship at several Greensboro churches, have dinner with the Bennett College student body, and close the meeting by attending college vespers that afternoon.

Dr. Brown Urges Bennett Students To Cultivate Art Of Receiving, Giving

GREENSBORO -- Bennett College students were urged to cultivate the art of receiving as well as the art of generous giving by Dr. Kenneth I. Brown, of St. Louis, Mo., at the Monday assembly.

Dr. Brown, former executive director of the Danforth Foundation, also urged the students to seek out new friends from all cultures, age groups and walks of life if they are to have a full life.

"What is the center of your life?" he asked. "I think that it should be friendship -- the kind that requires creative time and throught and loving care."

Dr. Brown also spoke at the Sunday vesper service at which time he stated that unless the love of God passes through man to his fellowman, the encounter with God's love has failed.

Carolina 11/20/65

JOHN STEERS TO BENNETT

GREENSBORO -- Speaker for the fall honors convocation at Bennett College on November 19 will be John Steers, manager of educational relations for the IBM Corporation, Armonk, New York.

Bennett artist wins $1,000 sculpture prize

News 11/18/65

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Horace Farlowe, a member of the Bennett College art faculty, was recently awarded a $1,000 prize for his sculpture, "Limestone," in the North Carolina Artists' Annual Exhibition at the North Carolina Museum of Art at Raleigh.

By winning the purchase prize, Mr. Farlowe captured the state's top art award. The figure which measures 46" x 39" x 24" is of cantilevered construction from limestone boulders and weights 800 pounds.

Bennett speaker urges dropping of 'age' bars

12/1/65

GREENSBORO, N. C. — "Much of the conflict between the younger and older generations could be eliminated if they dealt with each other on horizontal, rather than vertical levels," Dr. Albert E. Manley said at the Sunday morning worship service at Bennett College.

Dr. Manley, president of Spelman College in Atlanta, Ga., said that each generation has something to offer but that communication is difficult because it is attempted from different levels.

"Parents and adults working with young adults," he declared, "should consider them as partners, reasoning things out together, with mutual respect for the opinions of each other."

Bennett thespians play with murder

Carolina 11/27/65

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Three performances of "Eight Women and a Ghost," were given by the Little Theatre Guild at Bennett College.

last week under the direction of Fred A. Eady.

In the cast were Misses Judith Murray, of Washington, D.C.; Shirley Smedley, of Birmingham, Ala.; Andrea Mast, of Houston, Tex.; Cleo Walker, of New Haven, Conn.; Saundra Jenkins, of Orangeburg, S.C.; Lynne Fountain, of Woodbridge, Va.; Lillie Coley-Greene, of New York City, and Patricia Green, of Baltimore, Md.

FRESHMAN OFFICERS - Recently elected officers of the freshman class at Bennett College are, left to right: Misses Mary Murphy, president, of Charlotte; Sandra Wilson, vice president, of Greensboro; Brenda Edwards, secretary, of Siler City; June Tunstall, treasurer, of Ashland, Va.; and Judith Mithcell, member-at-large, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

11/18/65

Seminar To Open Women To Meet Here

Women of the national Methodist Church are sponsoring one of the first Mission Weekends here at Bennett College, with registration beginning tomorrow. The seminar will end with a vesper program on Sunday.

Mrs. Robert Ayers of Pleasant Garden is the local coordinator of the two day session, while Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, will serve as official hostess.

The missions seminar, which has attracted about thirty women from over the east coast, will feature a number of speakers, including Miss Marlene Harmon, a Greensboro College graduate and a former missionary to Africa.

Having served in the Congo from 1954 through 1962, Miss Harmon prepared many primers and graded materials for adult Swahili-speaking Congolese. Since her return as an evacuee in 1962, she has been on the staff of Mrs. C. A. Bender, official observer from the Methodist Church to the United Nations.

Miss Harmon recently joined the new Joint Action in Recruitment Project as Associate Secretary of Missionary personnel. In this capacity she visits college and university campuses as a representative of the Presbyterian Church and the United Church of Christ.

It was a happy coincidence that brought Miss Harmon to the Mission Weekend in Greensboro. She had been assigned to visit the campuses at UNC-G and A&T College during the current week.

Her coming here was great news to Mrs. Robert Ayers, (also a GC graduate and an old friend of Miss Harmon's) since her goals are closely linked with those of the Wesleyan Service Guild in encouraging people to become involved in areas of great human need.

Marlene Harmon, whose hometown is Gastonia, was the first recipient of the Western North Carolina Conference Scholarship.

During the weekend, the group will tour the Greensboro community with emphasis on slum area redevelopment, and a study of Project Headstart activities here.

On Saturday night they will attend the concert given by the Don Trexler Singers.

Other speakers for the seminar will be Dr. Player, Mrs. Lillian A. Johnson of New York City, and Mrs. C. C. Cranford of Asheboro.

Wesleyan Guild members are invited to attend the sessions. Local registration fee for commuters will be $5.

MISS HARMON

DR. PLAYER

MRS. AYERS

37.

Missions Seminar Near End

Stokes

The national Weekend Missions Seminar being held at Bennett College by the Wesleyan Service Guild of the Methodist Church, will end today with two talks by Dr. Olivia P. Stokes of Boston, Mass., director of the department of religious education of the Massachusetts Council of Churches.

Dr. Stokes will speak at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel and at 7 p.m. in the Student Union. She will remain on campus Monday for conferences with students.

The purpose of the weekend seminar is to allow members of the guild to see the total mission of the church and of the place which home missions work has in the mission. About 27 Methodist women made up of social workers, secretaries, librarians and teachers have been on campus and touring the Greensboro area.

Saturday the group was told of a humanities seminar and scholar study at Bennett attended last summer by high school students. The summer program was called Saturday School and interested students from the Piedmont commuted to Bennett. The group saw students specializing in home economics sketching and designing for textiles.

The weekend seminar is one of 10 meetings being held throughout the United States.

WHO'S WHO AT BENNETT — Ten of eleven seniors at Bennett College were selected to be included in the forthcoming edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." Reading down, front row: Misses Wei Lie So, Nancy L. Ball, Gretta Middleton, Kate Aseme, Patricia Greene and Amanda Houston. Back row: Freda Thompson, Mittie White, Sandra Johnson and Thelma Morgan.

Eleven Bennett seniors elected to Who's Who

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Election of 11 Bennett College seniors to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" was announced last week.

The group includes two students from Africa, one from Indonesia, three from North Carolina and one each from Maryland, South Carolina, New York, New Jersey and the District of Columbia. They are:

Kate Aseme, of Nigeria, a pre-medicine major; Nancy L. Ball, of Bryson City, N.C., an elementary education major; Patricia Greene, of Baltimore, Md., an English major; Amanda Houston, of Kinston, N.C., a mathematics major, and Sandra K. Johnson, of Silver City, N.C., a nutrition major.

* * *

ALSO GRETTA A. Middleton, of Charleston, S.C., a political science major; Thelma A. Morgan, of Sierra Leone, a French major, and Eva F. Rice, of Washington, D.C., an English major.

Also Wei Lie So, of Sumatra, Indonesia, a pre-medicine major; Freda Kay Thompson, of New Rochelle, N.Y., an elementary education major; and Mittie B. White, of Newark, N.J., a nutrition major.

GREENSBORO, N.C. — The Bennett College Choir and the Morehouse College Glee Club of Atlanta, Ga., appeared in a formal chapel presentation of "The Peaceable Kingdom" by Randall Thompson Friday morning. This year's collaboration marked the 8th annual joint performance of the two choirs. Although the visit of Morehouse has been an annual week-end event for many years at Thanksgiving time, the formal chapel sing was not initiated until 1957.

Methodist Women to Hold Seminar at Bennett College

GREENSBORO — Employed Methodist women from throughout the U.S. will head for Greensboro this month for a national Weekend Missions Seminar, November 19-21, on the Bennett College campus.

This is the final of ten such seminars being held across the U.S. by the Wesleyan Service Guild of the national Board of Missions, the Methodist Church, at home missions projects. (The Guild is the organization for employed and professional Methodist women).

Mrs. Robert Ayers of Pleasant Garden, presiding officer of the Guild for the Western North Carolina Methodist Conference, is in charge of this meeting and is being assisted by a local committee from the Greensboro Guild and Bennett College.

The Methodist business and professional women who will participate will spend the week end at the college, registering at 4 p.m. Nov. 19, spending most of Nov. 20 in the community surrounding Bennett College, and closing the meeting Sunday afternoon, Nov. 21.

The primary goal of this new approach in involvement of the Guilders is to give each woman participating "deepened understanding of the total mission of the Church and of the important place which home missions work has in the mission."

Miss Lillian Johnson of New York City, national executive secretary of the Guild, said it is also hoped that, after seeing the pressing need for full-time workers, some women may inquire about the possibility of becoming missionaries or deaconesses, either in the U.S. or overseas.

GUILD SEMINAR HELD

Members of the Wesleyan Service Guild of the Methodist Church, holding a weekend meeting at Bennett College, were introduced to the college philosophy and program of the school today and given a tour of the college facilities. Tonight they will attend the Don Trexler Singers concert at Town Hall after an earlier meeting at St. Matthews Methodist Church with members of the Central Methodist Jurisdiction.

...ERS... Recently elected officers of the ...nnett College are, left to right: Misses ...ent, of Charlotte; Sandra Wilson, vice ...sboro; Brenda Edwards, secretary, of ..., June Tunstall, treasurer, of Ashland, ...tchell, member-at-large, of Cincinnati

BENNETT NEWS

Dr. L. C. Wright, professor of history at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, will speak on "Problems of Post-World War II, Japan" at the Bennett College general assembly on December 6 at 10 am.

The program, to be held in Pfeiffer Chapel, is the third in a series dealing with Non-Western Studies inaugurated this fall under the direction of Dr. Shang-Ling Fu.

Chaplain To Speak

The Rev. A. Knighton Stanley, director of religious activities at the college, will speak at the 4 p.m. vesper service today at Bennett College in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Bennett Assembly

Dr. L. C. Wright, professor of history at UNC-G, will speak on the problems of Post World War II Japan at the Bennett College Assembly at 10 a.m. today.

Helplessness Of Man Cited

"The recent electrical blackout of the northeastern United States was probably one of the best things that could happen to show man's helplessness before God," Dr. Olivia P. Stokes of Boston, Mass., said in her vesper message at Bennett College on Sunday.

The occasion marked the closing of the weekend missions seminar of the Wesleyan Service Guild of the Methodist Church. Dr. Stokes, director of religious education for the Massachusetts Council of Churches, spoke on "Dual Citizenship."

"We are at one time citizens of the U.S. and of the kingdom of God," she said, adding that man, with all of his technology, could not prevent the recent blackout.

Negro College Fund Aids 6 State Schools

The United Negro College Fund announced Tuesday the distribution of $83,209 to six predominantly Negro institutions in North Carolina.

The six North Carolina colleges are among the 33 member schools who received a total of $500,000. James W. Bryant, executive vice president of the fund, said.

The disbursement, Bryant said, supplements $3,730,000 distributed by the fund earlier in the year. A final distribution of funds for 1965 will be made in January.

North Carolina institutions receiving money were: Bennett College, Greensboro, $15,465; Barber-Scotia, Concord, $11,615; Johnson C. Smith University, Charlotte, $16,845; Livingstone College, Salisbury, $13,495; Saint Augustine's College, Raleigh, $13,485, and Shaw University, Raleigh, $12,300.

Georgia got the largest portion of the money for its seven Negro colleges, a total of $105,850. For four institutions Alabama got $70,018, Virginia $60,757 for three schools, and the rest of the total was divided among 13 colleges and universities in the Southeastern states and Texas.

Drive Reports Scheduled Here

First week reports from workers in the annual United Negro College Fund campaign here are scheduled for this weekend.

C. M. Vanstory Jr., chairman of the board of the North Carolina National Bank, and co-chairman Vance H. Chavis, principal of Lincoln Junior High School, expect to exceed the $10,000 local goal before the close of the campaign on Dec. 11.

There are 33 Southern colleges and universities in the fund which is seeking nationally to raise over $5 million to be distributed among them to help meet their 1956-66 budget.

BENNETT INDUCTION... Two of the 21 Bennett College students who were inducted last week into Omieron Eta Chi, home economics club, receive their certificates. Gloria Taylor, of Rowland, N. C., receives certificate from Betty Jackson, president of Easley, S. C., while Shirley Jackson, vice president, of Parkton, N. C. gives certificate to Cynthia Fierson, of Florence, S. C. Watching proceedings in Norma Cobbs, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Rev. Stanley To Speak At Bennett

GREENSBORO--The Rev. A. Knighton Stanley, director of religious activities, will speak at the 4 p. m. vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, Decem...

PENNSYLVANIA GIRLS AT BENNETT — Shown are eight of 11 freshmen from Pennsylvania and Delaware now attending Bennett College in Greensboro, N.C. Left to right, front row: Marvenise York of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Carol O. Shockley, of Wilmington, Del.; Christa C. Williams of Philadelphia, Pa., and Laurette Wright of Pittsburgh. Back row: Cheryl Royall of Philadelphia; Beverly E. Walker of Harrisburg, Pa.; Janell Overton of Philadelphia, and Jeanne M. Byrd of Philadelphia.

AT BOOK FAIR—Dr. Frances Eldridge (seated), professor of English at Chatham College, Pittsburgh, Pa., chats about books, with Dr. Dorothy Bardolph (left), chairman of the library committee, and Mrs. Constance H. Marteena, librarian, following her address opening the fourth annual Paperback Book Fair at Bennett College, in Greensboro, N.C.

College Singers Will Present Joint Program

The Bennett College Choir and the Morehouse College Glee Club of Atlanta will appear in a formal chapel presentation of "The Peaceable Kingdom" by Randall Thompson Friday at 10 a.m.

This year's collaboration will mark the eighth annual joint performance of the two choirs and the second time the Peaceable Kingdom will have been sung by them.

Although the visit of Morehouse has been an annual week-end event for many years at Thanksgiving time, the formal chapel sing was not initiated until 1957.

IN MURDER MYSTERY - Scence from "Eight Women and A Ghost," a murder mystery performed by members of the Bennett College Theatre Guild. Left to right: Misses Andrea Mast, of Houston, Texas; Cleo Walker, of New Haven, Conn.; Shirley Smedley, of Birmingham, Ala., and Judith Murray, of Washington, D. C. Fred A. Eady directed.

LECTURES AT BENNETT COLLEGE

GREENSBORO -- Dr. Shang-Ling Fu, director of the newly created department of Non-Western Studies at Bennett College, gave two lectures last week.

The first was on "Dr. Sun-Yat Sen and Modern Sociology" and the second was "Religion in Contemporary China."

Eleven Bennett Seniors Listed In "Who's Who"

GREENSBORO -- Election of 11 Bennett College seniors to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" was announced this week.

The group includes two students from Africa, one from Indonesia, three from North Carolina and one each from Maryland, South Carolina, New York, New Jersey and the District of Columbia.

They are:

Kate Aseme, of Nigeria, a pre-medicine major who is a member of the International Relations Club, Science Seminar and Beta Kappa Chi, national science honoarary; Nancy L. Ball, of Bryson City, an elementary education major, who is a member of the student chapter of the National Education Association and the International Relations Club.

Patricia Greene, of Baltimore, Md., an English major who plans a career in journalism and spent her junior year as an exchange student at Syracuse University; Amanda Houston, of Kinston, a mathematics major, who is president of Alpha Kappa Mu, national honor society, and treasurer of the Student Senate; Sandra K. Johnson, of Siler City, a nutrition major, who is treasurer of Omicron Eta Chi, home economics club and also of the senior Honor Society.

Gretta A. Middleton, of Charleston, S. C., a political science major, who is National Student Association coordinator for the Student Senate and a member of the Little Theatre Guild and the Inter-Dormintory Council.

Thelma A. Morgan, of Sierra Leone, a French major, who is president of the International Relations Club, and a member of the Modern Language Club and of the Spanish Club; Eva F. Rice, of Washington, D. C., an English major, who is president of the Senior Honor Society and vice president of Alpha Kappa Mu; Wei Lie So, of Sumatra, Indonesia, a pre-medicine major, who is a member of the International Relations Club, secretary of Alpha Kappa Mu and holds membership in Beta Kappa Chi and on the Marshal Board.

Freda Kay Thompson, of New Rochelle, N. Y., an elementary education major, who is chairman of the Inter-Dormitory Council and holds membership in the Senior Honor Society and the Student Senate; Mittie B. White, of Newark, N. J., a nutrition major, who is president of the Student Senate.

IN MURDER MYSTERY... Scene from "Right Women and A Ghost," a murder mystery performed by members of the Bennett College Theatre Guild. Left to right: Misses Andrea Mast, of Houston, Texas; Cleo Walker, of New Haven, Conn.; Shirley Smedley, of Birmingham, Ala., and Judith Murray, of Washington, D.C. Fred A. Eady directed.

BENNETT WHO'S WHO - Ten of 11 seniors at Bennett College who last week were selected to be included in the 1965-66 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." Reading down, first row: Misses Wei Lie So, Nancy L. Ball, Gretta Middleton, Kate Aseme, Patricia Greene and Amanda Houston; back row: Freda Thompson, Mittie White, Sandra Johnson and Thelma Morgan.

AREA GIRLS AT BENNETT — Freshmen from Eastern North Carolina communities now attending Bennett College in Greensboro, are, from left to right: Bessie Scott, Goldsboro; Linda Long, Hillsboro; and Julia Redding, Durham. Back row: Barbara Dicks, Wilmington, and Lillian McClain, Raleigh.

Bennett honors convocation speaker; Speed of change in our time stressed

GREENSBORO, N.C. — "Change used to take at least a generation; now it comes as we turn our backs, John C. Steers, International Business Machines official of Armonk, N.Y., said in his address at the third annual fall honors convocation at Bennett College, Friday.

Mr. Seers, managr of education relations for IBM, speaking on "Inheriting a Revolution," told the honorees to accept the nature and challenge of change which can be found all around them.

"The revolutionary nature of our times is unique," he declared, "and for you, our students, it has awesome implications that must be recognized so that the futre you build is optimum and the achievement of your potential is not crippled by patterns and atitudes that have become obsolete."

* * *

MR. STEERS then posed two questions: "What is the nature and challenge of change as you will meet it in the next five years and throughout the 70's" and "What is your response to this challenge — most importantly as a student, then as a woman, and as a colored American as well?"

"If there were one thing I had to offer as most important or those we recognize as honor students today, for those who will strive for honor in their work in the future, for students everywhere at any level, it would be to learn how to learn. Learn to see learning as a life-long process, and never close the door to intellectual growth," he said.

* * *

PRESIDENT Willa B. Player presented certificates to 26 students and five seniors who have been on the honor roll for six consecutive semesters also received gold keys.

The Alpha Kappa Mu Scholarship Award for Freshmen was presented by Miss Amanda Houston, chapter president, to Miss Carolyn Lowery, of Clover, S.C. A similar award was held for Miss Cherie Jones, of Danville, Va., presently an exchange student at the University of Rochester, N.Y.

Receiving certificates were: Seniors, Kate N. Aseme, Aba, Nigeria; Amanda M. Houston, Kinston, N.C.; Betty J. Jackson, Easley, S.C.; Carolyn J King, Waycross, Ga.; Eva F Rice, Washington, D.C.; and Wei Lie So, Medan, Indonesia;

* * *

JUNIORS, Gloria J. Benson, Columbia, S.C.; Jessie M. Cardwell, Greensboro, N.C.; Mary C. Cole, Chapel Hill, N.C.; Patricia A. Faison, New Bern, N.C.; Wilma J. Griffin, Columbus, Ga; Theresa A. Hall, Washington, D.C.; Mary D. Jacobs, Mebane, N.C.; Sharyn C. Marshall, Atlantic City, N.J.; Rowena L. McDaniel, Lynchburg, Va; Glenda F Smith Greensboro NC;

Sophomores Aretha L. Butler, Columbia, S.C.; Edrice R. Glass, Atlanta, Ga.; Barbara L. Jackson, Richmond, Va.; Cherie D. Jones, Danville, Va.; Carolyn T. Lowery, Clover, S.C.; Eleanor A. Mitchell, Orlando, Fla.; Johnnie M. Montgomery, Greensboro, N.C.; Lillian L. Pinder, Titusville, Fla.; Deborah F. Suber, Philadelphia, Pa.; Hattie M. Yeargin, Greenville, S.C.

SCHOLAR HONORED — Miss Carolyn Lowery, left, of Clover, S.C., holds one of the two Alpha Kappa Mu scholarship trophies for freshmen presented by Miss Amanda Houston, chapter president, of Kinston, N.C. during annual honors day convocation at Bennett College, Greensboro.

CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS

GREENSBORO - Christmas vacation at Bennett College begins, on December 20, and ends at 8 a.m. on January 3, 1966, it was announced this week.

CHRISTMAS CANDLELIGHT SERVICE SET FOR SUNDAY

GREENSBORO--The annual Christmas candlelight service by the Bennett College choir is scheduled for 7 p. m. Sunday, December 19 in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Mrs. Mary Crawford, with Miss Charlotte Alston at the organ, will direct the singers in a program of traditional seasonal music, including carols from a number of foreign lands.

WELCOME TO BENNETT COLLEGE — Miss Margaret Peter, exchange professor in economics from Maharani's College in Bangalore, India, is greeted by President Willa B. Player of Bennett College during recent faculty - staff affair.

Choirs Heard

GREENSBORO--The Bennett College Choir and the Morehouse College Glee Club of Atlanta, Ga., appeared in a formal chapel presentation of "The Peaceable Kingdom" by Randall Thompson Friday morning.

This year's collaboration marked the 8th annual joint performance of the two choirs. Although the visit of Morehouse has been an annual week-end event for many years at Thanksgiving time, the formal chapel

"Change Now Comes As We Turn Our Backs, "Steeres Declares

GREENSBORO - "Change used to take at least a generation; now it comes as we turn our backs," John Steers, International Business Machines official of Armonk, N. Y., said in his address at the third annual honors convocation at Bennett College on Friday.

Mr. Steers, manager of education relations for IBM, speaking on "Inheriting a Revolution," told the honorees to accept the nature and challenge of change which can be found all around them.

"The revolutionary nature of our times is unique," he declared, "and for you, our students, it has awesome implications that must be recognized so that the future you build is optism and the achievement of your potential is not crippled by patterns and attitudes that have become obsolete."

Mr. Steers then posed two questions: "What is the nature and challenge of change as you will meet it in the next five years and throughout the 70's?" and "What is your response to this challenge--most importantly as a student, then as a woman, and as a Negro as well?"

"If there were one thing I had to offer as most important for those we recognize as honor students today, for those who will strive for honor in their work in the future, for students everywhere at any level, it would be to learn how to learn. Learn to see learning as a life-long process, and never close the door to intellectual growth," he said.

President Willa B. Player presented certificates to 26 students and five seniors who have been on the honor roll for six consecutive semesters, also received gold keys. The Alpha Kappa Mu Scholarship Award for freshmen was presented by Miss Amanda Houston, chapter president, to Miss Carolyn Lowery, of Clover, S. C. A similar award was held for Miss Cherie Jones, of Danville, Va., presently an exchange student at the University of Rochester, N. Y.

Receiving certificates were: Seniors, Kate N. Aseme, Aba, Amanda M. Houston, Kinston; Betty J. Jackson, Easley, S. C.; Carolyn J. King, Waycross, Ga.; Eva R. Rice, Washington, D. C.; and Wei Lie So, Medan, Indonesia.

Juniors, Gloria J. Benson, Columbia, S. C.; Jessie M. Cartrell, Greensboro; Mary C. Cole, Chapel Hill; Patricia A. Faison, New Bern; Wilma J. Griffin, Columbus, Ga.; Theresa A. Hall, Washington, D. C.; Mary D. Jacobs, Mebane; Sharyn C. Marshall, Atlantic City, N. J.; Rowena L. McDaniel, Lynchburg, Va.; Glenda F. Smith, Greensboro.

Sophomores, Aletha L. Butler, Columbia, S. C.; Edrice R. Glass, Atlanta, Ga.; Barbara L. Jackson, Richmond, Va.; Cherie D. Jones, Danville, Va.; Carolyn T. Lowery, Clover, S. C.; Eleanor A. Mitchell, Orlando, Fla.; Johnnie M. Montgomery, Greensboro; Lillian L. Pinder, Titusville, Fla.; Deborah F. Suber, Philadelphia, Pa.; Hattie M. Yeargin, Greenville, S. C.

REASON TO SMILE - Twenty-three of the 26 Bennett College students who were recognized for academic achievement during annual fall honors convocation at the Greensboro institution last week.

Bennett College News

"LIVING MADONNAS" CHRISTMAS PROGRAM TO BE HELD AT BENNETT C.

The annual "Living Madonnas" program at Bennett College will be presented in Pfeiffer Chapel at 7 p.m. on Sunday, December 12, James C. McMillan, chairman of the committee in charge of the event, announced this week.

This year's production, featuring student models, is based upon masterpieces in the North Carolina Museum of Art of Raleigh and will consist of eight scenes. Sets are being executed by Horace Farlowe, of the art department with music by the Freshman choir under the direction of Edward Lowe.

Long a traditional event to usher in the Christmas season at the College, the "Living Madonnas" attracts viewers from many parts of the state as well as from the local community.

BENNETT NEWS

Horace Farlowe, a member of the Bennett College art faculty, on Wednesday night was awarded a $1,000 prize for his sculpture, "Limestone," in the North Carolina Artists' Annual Exhibition at the North Carolina Museum of Art at Raleigh.

By winning the purchase prize, Mr. Farlowe captured the state's top art award. The figure which measures 46" x 39" x 24" is of cantilevered construction from limestone boulders and weighs 800 pounds.

A graduate of Atlantic Christian College, the sculptor earned his master's degree at East Carolina College. He is married and the father of two children.

SCHOLAR HONORED... Miss Carolyn Lowery (left) of Glover, S.C., holds one of two Alpha Kappa Mu scholarship trophies for freshman presented by Miss Amanda Houston, chapter president, of Kinston, N.C., during annual honors day convocation at Bennett College recently.

Bennett Art Staffer Wins $1,000 Award

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Horace Farlowe, a member of the Bennett College art faculty, has been awarded a $1,000 prize for his sculpture, "Limestone," in the North Carolina Artists' Annual Exhibition at the North Carolina Museum of Art at Raleigh.

By winning the purchase prize, Mr. Farlowe captured the state's top art award. The figure which measures 46"x39'x24' is of cantilevered construction from limestone boulders and weighs 800 pounds.

A graduate of Atlantic Christian College, the sculptor earned his master's degree at East Carolina College. He is married and the father of two children.

Bennett Statter Wins Sculpture Prize

GREENSBORO - Horace Farlowe, a member of the Bennett College art faculty on Wednesday night was awarded a $1,000 prize for his sculpture, "Limestone," in the North Carolina Artists' Annual Exhibition at the North Carolina Museum of Art in Raleigh.

By winning the purchase prize, Mr. Farlowe captured the state's top art award. The figure which measures 42"X39" X24" is of cantilevered construction from limestone boulders and weighs 800 pounds.

A graduate of Atlantic Christian College, the sculptor earned his master's degree at East Carolina College. He is married and the father of two children.

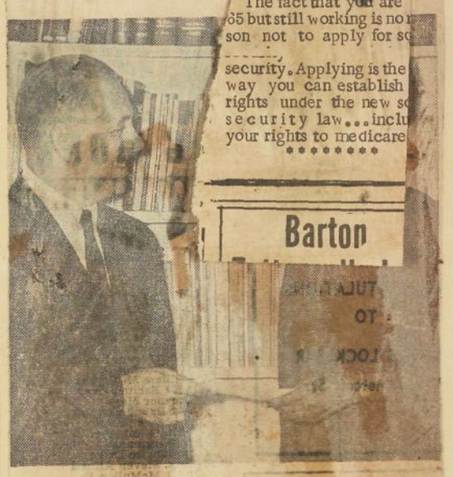

Bennett Assembly

Louis Brooks, executive director of the Greensboro Human Relations Commission, will explain suit with pearsl and purpose use, or with blous[illegible] 10 a.m. as[illegible] College on [illegible]ls, if you prefer, [illegible]ding on the weather.

ursday, December 9, 1965

The fact that you are 65 but still working is no[illegible] son not to apply for so[illegible] security. Applying is the way you can establish rights under the new so[illegible] security law...inclu[illegible] your rights to medicare.

* * * * * * * *

SCHOOL BOOSTED: Adam Orgera, local representative of the Sears, Roebuck Foundation, presents a check for $600 to President Willa B. Player of Bennett College. It is part of $1,000,000 in unrestricted grants of the foundation under a continuing program of aid to privately supported colleges and universities, 19 of which are in North Carolina.

Speaker To Talk On New Japan

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Dr. L. C Wright, profesor of history at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, will speak on 'Problems of Post-World War II Japan' at the Bennett College general assembly on Dec. 6.

The program, to be held in Pfeiffer Chapel,, is the third in a series dealing with Non-Western Studies inaugurated this fall under the direction of Dr. Shang -Ling Fu

Living Madonnas At Bennett College Sun.

GREENSBORO - The Annual "Living Madonnas" program at Bennett College will be presented in Pfeiffer Chapel at 7 p. m. on Sunday, Dec. 12, James C. McMillan, chairman of the committee in charge of the event, announced this week.

This year's production, featuring student models, is based upon masterpieces in the North Carolina Museum of Art of Raleigh and will consist of eight scenes. Sets are being executed by Horace Farlowe, of the art department with music by the freshman choir under the direction of Edward Lowe.

Long a traditional event to usher in the Christmas season at the college, the 'Living Madonnas' attracts viewers from many parts of the state as well as from the local community.

SCHOLAR HONORED - Miss Carolyn Lowery (left) of Clover, S. C., holds one of two Alpha Kappa Mu scholarship trophies for freshman presented by Miss Amanda Houston, chapter president, of Kinston, N.C., during annual honors day convocation at Bennett College last week.

TH CAROLINA, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1965 PRICE 5 CENTS

N.C.-Virginia Mid-Year Conference To Be Held At Bennett College

The mid-year conference on Christian Higher Education of the North Carolina-Virginia Annual Conference of the Methodist Church is being held at Bennett College on December 14, beginning at 10 a. m.

The conference, called by Bishop Charles F. Golden, head of the Nashville-Carolina Area, replaces the previously-styled "roll call" held each December and will be presided over by the Rev James E McCallum, chairman of the conference board of education. President Willa B Player will bring greetings from the college.

A presentation — "Annual Conference Responsibility for Christian Higher Education" — will be made by the Rev. J. T. Jones, chairman of the committee on higher education. The Rev W. M. Wells, state director of the Methodist Student Movement for North Carolina, will also speak.

Following a report by the Rev L. A. Brown, conference treasurer, Bishop Golden will make closing remarks and announcements after which the ministers will be guests of the college at a luncheon in the dining center of the David D. Jones Student Union.

Bennett College To Hold Christmas Candlelight Services Sunday

The annual Christmas candlelight service by the Bennett College choir is scheduled for 7 p. m. Sunday, December 19, in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Mrs. Mary Crawford, with Miss Charlotte Alston at the organ, will direct the singers in a program of traditional seasonal music, including carols from a number of foreign lands.

"Japan is the only nation in the world whose constitution outlaws war," Dr. L. C. Wright, professor of history at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, told the Bennett College assembly on Monday.

Dr. Wright, who has spent considerable time traveling and studying in the Middle East and Far East, spoke on "Problems of the Post-World War II Japan," and said that the Japanese must "export or die" because they are not economically self-sufficient.

"Japan, however," he said, has the highest rate of economic growth of any country in the world — its economy is booming but there is not the mobility in society found in Western countries."

His address was the third in a series dealing with Non-Western Studies inaugurated in the fall under the direction of Dr. Shang-Ling Fu.

BENNETT NEWS

Christmas vacation at Bennett College begins on December 20 and ends at 8 a. m. on January 3, 1966, it was announced this week.

"Much of the conflict between the younger and older generations could be eliminated if they dealt with each other on horizontal, rather than vertical levels," Dr. Albert E. Manley said at the Sunday morning worship service at Bennett College.

Dr. Manley, president of Spelman College in Atlanta, Ga., said that each generation has something to offer but that communication is difficult because it is attempted from different levels.

"Parents and adults working with young adults," he declared, "should consider them as partners, reasoning things out together, with mutual respect for the opinions of each other."

Dr. Manley Addresses Collegians

GREENSBORO - "Much of the conflict between the younger and older generations could be eliminated if they dealt with each other on horizontal, rather than vertical levels," Dr. Albert E. Manley said at the Sunday morning worship service at Bennett College.

Dr. Manley president of Spelman College in Atlanta, said that each generation has something to offer but that communication is difficult because it is attempted from different levels.

"Parents and adults working with young adults,' he declared, "should consider them as partners, reasoning things out together, with mutual respect for the opinions of each other.'

Bennett choir to sing at annual service

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The annual Christmas candlelight service by the Bennett College choir is scheduled for 7 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 19 in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Mrs. Mary Crawford, with Miss Charlotte Alston at the organ, will direct the singers in a program of traditional seasonal music, including carols from a number of foreign lands.

Living Madonnas At Bennett

The annual "Living Madonnas" program at Bennett College will be presented in Pfeiffer Chapel at 7 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 12, James C. McMillan, chairman of the committee in charge of the event, announced this week.

This year's production, featuring student models, is upon masterpieces in the North Carolina Museum of Art of Raleigh and will consist of eight scenes. Sets are being executed by Horace Farlowe, of the art department with music by the freshman choir under the direction of Edward Lowe.

Long a traditional event to usher in the Christmas season at the college, the "Living Madonnas" attract viewers from many parts of the state as well as from the local community.

Spelman President Bennett Speaker

GREENSBORO, N. C. — "Much of the conflict between the younger and older generations could be eliminated if they dealt with each other on horizontal,, rather than vertical levels,' Dr. Albert E. Manley said at a Sunday morning worship service at Bennett College.

Dr. Manley president of Spelman College in Atlanta, said that each generation has something to offer but that communication is difficult because it is attempted from different levels.

"Parents and adults working with young adults,' he declared, "should consider them as partners, reasoning things out together, with mutual respect for the opinions of each other.'

Bennett College Is Meeting Site

The mid-year conference on Christian Higher Education of the North Caolina-Virginia Annual Conference of the Methodist Church will be held at Bennett College, beginning at 10 a.m. today.

The conference, called by Bishop Charles F. Golden, head of the Nashville-Carolina Area, replaces the previously styled "roll call" held each December and will be presided over by the Rev. James E. McCallum, chairman of the conference board of education. President Willa B. Player will bring greetings from the college.

Bennett College Plans Seminar

An in-service seminar for Bennett College seniors presently engaged in student teaching in the public schools will be held Saturday beginning at 10:30 a.m. in the Science Assembly on campus.

Dr. Richard L. Fields, director of teacher education, has also invited cooperating teachers from the several schools to participate. A luncheon will follow in the dining center of the Student Union.

Bennett College

The annual "Living Madonnas" program at Bennett College will be presented in Pfeiffer Chapel at 7 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 12, James C. McMillan, chairman of the committee in charge of the event, announced this week.

Student models will recreate eight masterpieces from the North Carolina Museum of Art in Raleigh. Music during the viewing will be provided by the Freshman Choir directed by Edward Lowe. Organ preludes and interludes will be played by Miss Charlotte Alston, with narration by Miss Andrea Mast, a senior [illegible] Tex.

Lecture Planned

"Symbolism in Chinese Art" will be the [illegible] of the Fourth Lecture in the program of "Non Western Studies" to be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Science Building on the campus of Bennett College. Dr. Shang-Ling Fu, director of Non-Western Studies at Bennett, will be the speaker.

SCHOLAR HONORED - Miss Carolyn Lowery (left) of Clover, S.C., holds one of two Alpha Kappa Mu scholarship trophies for freshmen presented by Miss Amanda Houston, chapter president, of Kinston, N.C., during annual honors day convocation at Bennett College last week.

HOMETOWN TALK - Miss Marshalyn Yeargin, a sophomore, of Greenville, S. C., chats with her "homey," Joseph Vaughn, a student at Furman University, during intermission at annual Thanksgiving Ball at Bennett College recently.

Bennett honors convocation speaker; Speed of change in our time stressed

GREENSBORO, N.C. — "Change used to take at least a generation; now it comes as we turn our backs, John C. Steets, International Business Machines official of Armonk, N.Y., said in his address at the third annual fall honors convocation at Bennett College, Friday.

Mr. Seers, managr of education relations for IBM, speaking on "Inheriting a Revolution," told the honorees to accept the nature and challenge of change which can be found all around them.

"The revolutionary nature of our times is unique," he declared, "and for you, our students, it has awesome implications that must be recognized so that the futre you build is optimum and the achievement of your potential is not crippled by patterns and atitudes that have become obsolete."

* * *

MR. STEERS then posed two questions: "What is the nature and challenge of change as you will meet it in the next five years and throughout the 70's" and "What is your response to this challenge — most importantly as a student, then as a woman, and as a colored American as well?"

"If there were one thing I had to offer as most important or those we recognize as honor students today, for those who will strive for honor in their work in the future, for students everywhere at any level, it would be to learn how to learn. Learn to see learning as a life-long process, and never close the door to intellectual growth," he said.

* * *

PRESIDENT Willa B. Player presented certificates to 26 students and five seniors who have been on the honor roll for six consecutive semesters also received gold keys.

The Alpha Kappa Mu Scholarship Award for Freshmen was presented by Miss Amanda Houston, chapter president, to Miss Carolyn Lowery, of Clover, S.C. A similar award was held for Miss Cherie Jones, of Danville, Va., presently an exchange student at the University of Rochester, N.Y.

Receiving certificates were: Seniors, Kate N. Aseme, Aba, Nigeria; Amanda M. Houston, Kinston, N.C.; Betty J. Jackson, Easley, S.C.; Carolyn J King, Waycross, Ga.; Eva F Rice, Washington, D.C.; and Wei Lie So, Medan, Indonesia;

* * *

JUNIORS, Gloria J. Benson, Columbia, S.C.; Jessie M. Cardwell, Greensboro, N.C.; Mary C. Cole, Chapel Hill, N.C.; Patricia A. Faison, New Bern, N.C.; Wilma J. Griffin, Columbus, Ga; Theresa A. Hall, Washington, D.C.; Mary D. Jacobs, Mebane, N.C.; Sharyn C. Marshall, Atlantic City, N.J.; Rowena L. McDaniel, Lynchburg, Va; Glenda F Smith Greensboro NC;

Sophomores Aretha L. Butler, Columbia, S.C.; Edrice R. Glass, Atlanta, Ga.; Barbara L. Jackson, Richmond, Va.; Cherie D. Jones, Danville, Va.; Carolyn T. Lowery, Clover, S.C.; Eleanor A. Mitchell, Orlando, Fla.; Johnnie M. Montgomery, Greensboro, N.C.; Lillian L. Pinder, Titusville, Fla.; Deborah F. Suber, Philadelphia, Pa.; Hattie M. Yeargin, Greenville, S.C.

SCHOLAR HONORED — Miss Carolyn Lowery, left, of Clover, S.C., holds one of the two Alpha Kappa Mu scholarship trophies for freshmen presented by Miss Amanda Houston, chapter president, of Kinston, N.C. during annual honors day convocation at Bennett College, Greensboro.

WELCOME TO BENNETT COLLEGE — Miss Margaret Peter, exchange professor in economics from Maharani's College in Bangalore, India, is greeted by President Willa B. Player of Bennett College during recent faculty - staff affair.

CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS

GREENSBORO - Christmas vacation at Bennett College begins, 1965 December 20, and ends at 8 a.m. on January 3, 1966, it was announced this week.

CHRISTMAS CANDLELIGHT SERVICE SET FOR SUNDAY

GREENSBORO--The annual Christmas candlelight service by the Bennett College choir is scheduled for 7 p. m. Sunday, December 19 in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Mrs. Mary Crawford, with Miss Charlotte Alston at the organ, will direct the singers in a program of traditional seasonal music, including carols from a number of foreign lands.

Choirs Heard

GREENSBORO--The Bennett College Choir and the Morehouse College Glee Club of Atlanta, Ga., appeared in a formal chapel presentation of "The Peaceable Kingdom" by Randall Thompson Friday morning.

This year's collaboration marked the 8th annual joint performance of the two choirs. Although the visit of Morehouse has been an annual week-end event for many years at Thanksgiving time, the formal chapel

"Change Now Comes As We Turn Our Backs, "Steeres Declares

GREENSBORO - "Change used to take at least a generation; now it comes as we turn our backs," John Steers, International Business Machines official of Armonk, N. Y., said in his address at the third annual honors convocation at Bennett College on Friday.

Mr. Steers, manager of education relations for IBM, speaking on "Inheriting a Revolution," told the honorees to accept the nature and challenge of change which can be found all around them.

"The revolutionary nature of our times is unique," he declared, "and for you, our students, it has awesome implications that must be recognized so that the future you build is optism and the achievement of your potential is not crippled by patterns and attitudes that have become obsolete."

Mr. Steers then posed two questions: "What is the nature and challenge of change as you will meet it in the next five years and throughout the 70's?" and "What is your response to this challenge--most importantly as a student, then as a woman, and as a Negro as well?"

"If there were one thing I had to offer as most important for those we recognize as honor students today, for those who will strive for honor in their work in the future, for students everywhere at any level, it would be to learn how to learn. Learn to see learning as a life-long process, and never close the door to intellectual growth," he said.

President Willa B. Player presented certificates to 26 students and five seniors who have been on the honor roll for six consecutive semesters, also received gold keys. The Alpha Kappa Mu Scholarship Award for freshmen was presented by Miss Amanda Houston, chapter president, to Miss Carolyn Lowery, of Clover, S. C. A similar award was held for Miss Cherie Jones, of Danville, Va., presently an exchange student at the University of Rochester, N. Y.

Receiving certificates were: Seniors, Kate N. Aseme, Aba, Amanda M. Houston, Kinston; Betty J. Jackson, Easley, S. C.; Carolyn J. King, Waycross, Ga.; Eva R. Rice, Washington, D. C.; and Wei Lie So, Medan, Indonesia.

Juniors, Gloria J. Benson, Columbia, S. C.; Jessie M. Cartrell, Greensboro; Mary C. Cole, Chapel Hill; Patricia A. Faison, New Bern; Wilma J. Griffin, Columbus, Ga.; Theresa A. Hall, Washington, D. C.; Mary D. Jacobs, Mebane; Sharyn C. Marshall, Atlantic City, N. J.; Rowena L. McDaniel, Lynchburg, Va.; Glenda F. Smith, Greensboro.

Sophomores, Aletha L. Butler, Columbia, S. C.; Edrice R. Glass, Atlanta, Ga.; Barbara L. Jackson, Richmond, Va.; Cherie D. Jones, Danville, Va.; Carolyn T. Lowery, Clover, S. C.; Eleanor A. Mitchell, Orlando, Fla.; Johnnie M. Montgomery, Greensboro; Lillian L. Pinder, Titusville, Fla.; Deborah F. Suber, Philadelphia, Pa.; Hattie M. Yeargin, Greenville, S. C.

REASON TO SMILE - Twenty-three of the 26 Bennett College students who were recognized for academic achievement during annual fall honors convocation at the Greensboro institution last week.

Bennett College News

"LIVING MADONNAS" CHRISTMAS PROGRAM TO BE HELD AT BENNETT C.

The annual "Living Madonnas" program at Bennett College will be presented in Pfeiffer Chapel at 7 p.m. on Sunday, December 12, James C. McMillan, chairman of the committee in charge of the event, announced this week.

This year's production, featuring student models, is based upon masterpieces in the North Carolina Museum of Art of Raleigh and will consist of eight scenes. Sets are being executed by Horace Farlowe, of the art department with music by the Freshman choir under the direction of Edward Lowe.

Long a traditional event to usher in the Christmas season at the College, the "Living Madonnas" attracts viewers from many parts of the state as well as from the local community.

BENNETT NEWS

Horace Farlowe, a member of the Bennett College art faculty, on Wednesday night was awarded a $1,000 prize for his sculpture, "Limestone," in the North Carolina Artists' Annual Exhibition at the North Carolina Museum of Art at Raleigh.

By winning the purchase prize, Mr. Farlowe captured the state's top art award. The figure which measures 46" x 39" x 24" is of cantilevered construction from limestone boulders and weighs 800 pounds.

A graduate of Atlantic Christian College, the sculptor earned his master's degree at East Carolina College. He is married and the father of two children.

SCHOLAR HONORED... Miss Carolyn Lowery (left) of Glover, S.C., holds one of two Alpha Kappa Mu scholarship trophies for freshman presented by Miss Amanda Houston, chapter president, of Kinston, N.C., during annual honors day convocation at Bennett College recently.

Dr. Manley Addresses Collegians

GREENSBORO - "Much of the conflict between the younger and older generations could be eliminated if they dealt with each other on horizontal, rather than vertical levels," Dr. Albert E. Manley said at the Sunday morning worship service at Bennett College.

Dr. Manley, president of Spelman College in Atlanta, Ga., said that each generation has something to offer but that communication is difficult because it is attempted from different levels.

"Parents and adults working with young adults," he declared, "should consider them as partners, reasoning things out together, with mutual respect for the opinions of each other."

Bennett choir to sing at annual service

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The annual Christmas candlelight service by the Bennett College choir is scheduled for 7 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 19 in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Mrs. Mary Crawford, with Miss Charlotte Alston at the organ, will direct the singers in a program of traditional seasonal music, including carols from a number of foreign lands.

Bennett Art Staffer Wins $1,000 Award

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Horace Farlowe, a member of the Bennett College art faculty, has been awarded a $1,000 prize for his sculpture, "Limestone," in the North Carolina Artists' Annual Exhibition at the North Carolina Museum of Art at Raleigh.

By winning the purchase prize, Mr. Farlowe captured the state's top art award. The figure which measures 46"X39"X24" is of cantilevered construction from limestone boulders and weighs 800 pounds.

A graduate of Atlantic Christian College, the sculptor earned his master's degree at East Carolina College. He is married and the father of two children.

Bennett Staffer Wins Sculpture Prize

GREENSBORO - Horace Farlowe, a member of the Bennett College art faculty on Wednesday night was awarded a $1,000 prize for his sculpture, "Limestone," in the North Carolina Artists' Annual Exhibition at the North Carolina Museum of Art in Raleigh.

By winning the purchase prize, Mr. Farlowe captured the state's top art award. The figure which measures 42"X39" X24" is of cantilevered construction from limestone boulders and weighs 800 pounds.

A graduate of Atlantic Christian College, the sculptor earned his master's degree at East Carolina College, he is married and the father of two children.

ursday, December 9, 1965

SCHOOL BOOSTED: Adam Orgera, local representative of the Sears, Roebuck Foundation, presents a check for $600 to President Willa B. Player of Bennett College. It is part of $1,000,000 in unrestricted grants of the foundation under a continuing program of aid to privately supported colleges and universities, 19 of which are in North Carolina.

Speaker To Talk On New Japan

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Dr. L. C Wright, profesor of history at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, will speak on "Problems of Post-World War II Japan' at the Bennett College general assembly on Dec. 6.

The program, to be held in Pfeiffer Chapel,, is the third in a series dealing with Non-Western Studies inaugurated this fall under the direction of Dr. Shang -Ling Fu

Living Madonnas At Bennett College Sun.

GREENSBORO - The Annual "Living Madonnas" program at Bennett College will be presented in Pfeiffer Chapel at 7 p. m. on Sunday, Dec. 12, James C. McMillan, chairman of the committee in charge of the event, announced this week.

This year's production, featuring student models, is based upon masterpieces in the North Carolina Museum of Art of Raleigh and will consist of eight scenes. Sets are being executed by Horace Farlowe, of the art department with music by the freshman choir under the direction of Edward Lowe.

Long a traditional event to usher in the Christmas season at the college, the 'Living Madonnas' attracts viewers from many parts of the state as well as from the local community.

SCHOLAR HONORED - Miss Carolyn Lowery (left) of Clover, S. C., holds one of two Alpha Kappa Mu scholarship trophies for freshman presented by Miss Amanda Houston, chapter president, of Kinston, during annual honors day convocation at Bennett College last week.

TH CAROLINA, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1965 PRICE 5 CENTS

N.C.-Virginia Mid-Year Conference To Be Held At Bennett College

The mid-year conference on Christian Higher Education of the North Carolina-Virginia Annual Conference of the Methodist Church is being held at Bennett College on December 14, beginning at 10 a. m.

The conference, called by Bishop Charles F. Golden, head of the Nashville-Carolina Area, replaces the previously-styled "roll call" held each December and will be presided over by the Rev James E McCallum, chairman of the conference board of education. President Willa B Player will bring greetings from the college.

A presentation — "Annual Conference Responsibility for Christian Higher Education" — will be made by the Rev. J. T. Jones, chairman of the committee on higher education. The Rev W. M. Wells, state director of the Methodist Student Movement for North Carolina, will also speak.

Following a report by the Rev L. A. Brown, conference treasurer, Bishop Golden will make closing remarks and announcements after which the ministers will be guests of the college at a luncheon in the dining center of the David D. Jones Student Union.

Bennett College To Hold Christmas Candlelight Services Sunday

The annual Christmas candlelight service by the Bennett College choir is scheduled for 7 p. m. Sunday, December 19, in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Mrs. Mary Crawford, with Miss Charlotte Alston at the organ, will direct the singers in a program of traditional seasonal music, including carols from a number of foreign lands.

"Japan is the only nation in the world whose constitution outlaws war," Dr. L. C. Wright, professor of history at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, told the Bennett College assembly on Monday.

Dr. Wright, who has spent considerable time traveling and studying in the Middle East and Far East, spoke on "Problems of the Post-World War II Japan," and said that the Japanese must "export or die" because they are not economically self-sufficient.

"Japan, however," he said, has the highest rate of economic growth of any country in the world — its economy is booming but there is not the mobility in society found in Western countries."

His address was the third in a series dealing with Non-Western Studies inaugurated in the fall under the direction of Dr. Shang-Ling Fu.

BENNETT NEWS

Christmas vacation at Bennett College begins on December 20 and ends at 8 a. m. on January 3, 1966, it was announced this week.

"Much of the conflict between the younger and older generations could be eliminated if they dealt with each other on horizontal, rather than vertical levels," Dr. Albert E. Manley said at the Sunday morning worship service at Bennett College.

Dr. Manley, president of Spelman College in Atlanta, Ga., said that each generation has something to offer but that communication is difficult because it is attempted from different levels.

"Parents and adults working with young adults," he declared, "should consider them as partners, reasoning things out together, with mutual respect for the opinions of each other."

Living Madonnas At Bennett

The annual "Living Madonnas" program at Bennett College will be presented in Pfeiffer Chapel at 7 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 12, James C. McMillan, chairman of the committee in charge of the event, announced this week.

This year's production, featuring student models, is upon masterpieces in the North Carolina Museum of Art of Raleigh and will consist of eight scenes. Sets are being executed by Horace Farlowe, of the art department with music by the freshman choir under the direction of Edward Lowe.

Long a traditional event to usher in the Christmas season at the college, the "Living Madonnas" attract viewers from many parts of the state as well as from the local community.

Spelman President Bennett Speaker

GREENSBORO, N. C. — "Much of the conflict between the younger and older generations could be eliminated if they dealt with each other on horizontal,, rather than vertical levels,' Dr. Albert E. Manley said at a Sunday morning worship service at Bennett College.

Dr. Manley president of Spelman College in Atlanta, said that each generation has something to offer but that communication is difficult because it is attempted from different levels.

"Parents and adults working with young adults,' he declared, "should consider them as partners, reasoning things out together, with mutual respect for the opinions of each other.'

Bennett College Is Meeting Site

The mid-year conference on Christian Higher Education of the North Caolina-Virginia Annual Conference of the Methodist Church will be held at Bennett College, beginning at 10 a.m. today.

The conference, called by Bishop Charles F. Golden, head of the Nashville-Carolina Area, replaces the previously styled "roll call" held each December and will be presided over by the Rev. James E. McCallum, chairman of the conference board of education. President Willa B. Player will bring greetings from the college.

Bennett College

The annual "Living Madonnas" program at Bennett College will be presented in Pfeiffer Chapel at 7 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 12, James C. McMillan, chairman of the committee in charge of the event, announced this week.

This year's production, featuring student models, is based upon masterpieces in the North Carolina Museum of Art of Raleigh and will consist of eight scenes. Sets are being executed by Horace Farlowe, of the art department with music by the freshman choir under the direction of Edward Lowe. Organ preludes and interludes will be played by Miss Charlotte Alston, with narration by Miss Andrea Mast, a senior [illegible], Tex.

Lecture Planned

"Symbolism in Chinese Art" will be the topic of the Fourth Lecture in the program of "Non Western Studies" to be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Science Building on the campus of Bennett College. Dr. Shang-Ling Fu, director of Non-Western Studies at Bennett, will be the speaker.

Bennett College Plans Seminar

An in-service seminar for Bennett College seniors presently engaged in student teaching in the public schools will be held Saturday beginning at 10:30 a.m. in the Science Assembly on campus.

Dr. Richard L. Fields, director of teacher education, has also invited cooperating teachers from the several schools to participate. A luncheon will follow in the dining center of the Student Union.

SCHOLAR HONORED - Miss Carolyn Lowery (left) of Clover, S.C., holds one of two Alpha Kappa Mu scholarship trophies for freshmen presented by Miss Amanda Houston, chapter president, of Kinston, N.C., during annual honors day convocation at Bennett College last week.

HOMETOWN TALK - Miss Marshalyn Yeargin, a sophomore, of Greenville, S. C., chats with her "homey," Joseph Vaughn, a student at Furman University, during intermission at annual Thanksgiving Ball at Bennett College recently.

Dancer Never Dreamed Of 'Nutcracker' Role

When Olivia Skipper, a Virginian, finished college in the North, she skipped South as fast as she could to start her career as a teacher at Bennett College in Greensboro.

When a faculty friend, Dr. George Breathett, told her about auditions for the Dec. 15 production of "The Nutcracker" by the Greensboro Civic Ballet, she jumped for joy.

A dance major in college, she had come to Bennett in June to teach dance, never dreaming she would get a chance to audition for an established dance company.

Judges looked with favor on the audition of the trim, soft-spoken young woman, and when "The Nutcracker" is presented at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Aycock Auditorium, Miss Skipper will be among those performing.

She will be among the dancing candy canes and reed flutes and the waltzing flowers when the traditional Christmas-time ballet is presented.

Her pleasure at being able to dance in an actual performance in her new hometown will be great, but no greater than the pleasure of the part of the Civic Ballet for having added a capable young dancer to the company.

MISS SKIPPER grew up in Roanoke, where she studied the dance six years with Marie Beheler and Guy Manson, private teachers. She graduated from Adelphi University, Garden City, Long Island, N.Y., and was hoping to join the Bennett faculty.

"I knew Bennett's reputation, and I applied for and got the job as dance instructor in the physical education department," Miss Skipper said.

She was not a stranger to Greensboro before joining the faculty, however, as she often drove her father, George Skipper, to A&T College for summer school classes. Miss Skipper's father, who got his master's in August, and her mother are teachers.

"I FIND the people very cultural," Miss Skipper said of the Piedmont. "There are far more opportunities here than we have in Virginia. North Carolina is very progressive and cultural-minded.

"The Civic Ballet is a wonderful opportunity for dancers—especially 13 to 16 years of age—to get the experience of doing professional performances.

"Those who should want to become professional dancers need the experience of professional performances," she said, "rather than just dance school recitals."

Miss Skipper is enjoying her own apartment here. "After four years in a college dorm, I couldn't wait," she said. "Besides, I want to learn to cook—for future use."

She smiled and nodded. There soon will be a ring on her third finger, left hand, job she wanted, an apartment a ballet company to share with and a fiance. They plan June. No wonder Miss Skipper likes her new hometown.

OLIVIA SKIPPER
Life Of Hero

Art Forum

By Owen Lewis
Daily News Art Editor

HORACE FARLOWE of Greensboro won the first prize of $1,000 for his rugged, architectural cantilevered organization of shapes in chisled limestone. Farlowe also had a polished symmetrical marble form included.

Daily News Photo By John Page

Winner

Horace Farlowe, art instructor at Bennett College, won the $1,000 first prize for his massive sculpture, "Limestone," in the North Carolina Artists Annual Exhibition at the N.C. Museum of Art in Raleigh.

Bishop calls for church conference

GREENSBORO, N.C. — The mid-year conference on Christian Higher Education of the North Carolina-Virginia Annual Conference of the Methodist Church will be held at Bennett College this week, beginning Tuesday, Dec. 14.

The conference, called by Bishop Charles F. Golden, head of the Nashville-Carolina area, replaces the previously-styled "roll call" held each December and will be presided over by the Rev. James E. McCallum, chairman of the conference board of education. President Willa B. Player will bring greetings from the college.

A PRESENTATION — "Annual Conference Responsibility for Christian Higher Education" — will be made by the Rev. W. M. Wells, state director of the Methodist Student Movement for North Carolina, will also speak.

Following a report by the Rev. L. A. Brown, conference treasurer, Bishop Golden will make closing remarks and announcements after which the ministers will be guests of the college at a luncheon in the dining center of the David D. Jones Student Union.

CHRISTMAS PREVIEW— A preview of some of the clothes which Bennett College students may be wearing during the coming Christmas holidays was provided by these models in the Charm School being conducted under the auspices of the David D. Jones Student Union at the Greensboro, N.C. institution. Seated are Misses Gayle Johnson of Chicago, Ill., and Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S.C. Standing: Misses Paulette Grant, Philadelphia, Pa.; Ellarene Jenkins, Detroit, Mich.; Betty J. Williams, Cincinnati, Ohio; Cheryl Royall, Philadelphia, Pa.; Lawrancella Wright, Clairton, Pa.; Barbara Turner, Raleigh; Paula Howze, Petersburg, Va. and Andrea Mast, Houston, Texas.

Bennett Hosts Mid-Year Christian Ed. Conference

GREENSBORO - The mid-year conference on Christian Higher Education of the North Carolina-Virginia Annual Conference of the Methodist Church is being held at Bennett College on December 14, beginning at 10 a.m.

The conference, called by Bishop Charles F. Golden, head of the Nashville-Carolina area, replaces the previously-styled "roll call" held each December and will be presided over by the Rev. James E. McCallum, chairman of the conference board of education. President Willa B. Player will bring greetings from the college.

A presentation -- "Annual Conference Responsibility for Christian Higher Education" -- was made by the Rev. J. T. Jones, chairman of the committee on higher education. The Rev. W. M. Wells, state director of the Methodist Student Movement for North Carolina, also spoke.

Following a report by the Rev. L. A. Brown, conference treasurer, Bishop Golden made closing remarks and announcements after which the ministers will be guests of the college at a luncheon in the dining center of the David D. Jones Student Union.

CHRISTMAS PREVIEW - A preview of some of the clothes which Bennett College students may be wearing during the coming Christmas holidays was provided by these models in the Charm School being conducted under the auspices of the David D. Jones Student Union at the Greensboro Institution. Seated are Misses Gayle Johnson of Chicago, Ill., and Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S. C. Standing: Misses Paulette Grant, of Philadelphia, Pa.; Ellarene Jenkins of Detroit, Mich.; Betty J. Williams, of Cincinnati, Ohio; Cheryl Royall, of Philadelphia, Pa.; Lawrencella Wright, of Clairton, Pa.; Barbara Turner, of Raleigh; Paula Howze, of Petersburg, Va., and Andrea Mast, of Houston, Texas.

ART TABLEAU — "Madonna and Child With Two Angels," by Francia, was one of eight art masterpieces recreated in living tableaux by Bennett College students. The Madonna is Miss Jamelle Rackley of Norfolk, Va. The angels are Miss Ernestine Collins of Georgetown, S.C., left, and Miss Wei Lie So of Indonesia.

Nearly $8,000 Given Bennett

Methodists of the North Carolina-Virginia conference reported nearly $8,000 in contributions to Bennett College for the first six months of their 1965 fiscal year during their mid-year conference on Christian higher education at the college yesterday.

The Rev. L. A. Brown of Greensboro, conference treasurer, reported a total of $7,740 received but said that contributions received after his report was prepared would raise this amount by at least $500. The Central District, headed by the Rev. J. W. Gwyn, reported $3,243, and next in order was the Western District of the Rev. J. J. Patterson, with $2,326. The Eastern District of the Rev. J. W. Ferree contributed $1,318, and the Virginia District of the Rev. J. B. Bethea, reported $853.

HOMETOWN TALK--Miss Marshalyn Yeargin, a sophomore, of Greensboro, S.C., chats with her "homey," Joseph Yeargin, a student at Furman University, during intermission of annual Ball at Bennett College, Friday night.

Bennett College

The annual Christmas candlelight service of the Bennett College Choir will be held in Pfeiffer Chapel Sunday at 7 p.m. The choir will sing songs and carols from many countries. Mrs. Mary Jane M. Crawford will direct, and Miss Charlotte Alston, college organist, will accompany the choir.

AT THE BALL--Miss Patricia Paison, a junior, New Bern, N.C., listens attentively to her date James Tatem of New York City, at the annual ball held at Bennett College.

Dr. L. C. Wrigh Speaks On War At Bennett College

GREENSBORO - "Japan is the only nation at the Univerthe only nation in the world whose constitution outlaws war," Dr. L. C. Wright, professor of history at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, told the Bennett College assembly on Monday.

Dr. Wright, who has spent considerable time traveling and studying in the Middle East and Far East, spoke on "Problems of the Post-World War II Japan," and said that the Japanese must "export or die" because they are not economically self-sufficient.

"Japan, however," he said, "has the highest rate of economic growth of any country in the world -- its economy is booming but there is not the mobility in society found in Western countries."

His address was the third in a series dealing with Non-Western Studies inaugurated in the fall under the direction of Dr. Shang-Ling Fu.

Living Madonnas Held At Bennett College

LIVING MADONNAS — "Adorations of the Shepherds," one of eight art masterpieces recreated by Bennett College students Sunday night at the annual "Living Madonnas" presentation. Madonna is Sandra Holly of Jackson, Miss.; Joseph is Edwina Wright, of Halifax, Va., and the shepherds are Shirley V. Poole of Durham and Cynthia Hampton, of Greensboro.

The annual "Living Madonnas" program at Bennett College was presented in Pfeiffer Chapel at 7 p.m. on Sunday.

Student models re-created eight masterpieces from the North Carolina Museum of Art in Raleigh, and music during the tableaux was provided by the Fresh'n'a Choir, directed by Edward Lowe. Organ preludes and interludes were played by Miss Charlotte Alston, with narration by Miss Andrea Mast, a senior, of Houston, Texas.

Scene I. The Annunciation with Saints and Donors: Madonna, Judith Murray, Washington, D. C.; Angel, Ruthie Sanders, Camden, N. J.

Scene II. The Nativity: Madonna, Patricia Greene, Baltimore, Md.; Joseph, Doris Martin, Reidsville, N. C.; Shepherdess, LaRue Hodges, Whiteville, N. C.; Shepherds, Gwendolyn Morse, Ninety-Six, S. C.; Theresa Hall, Washington, D. C.

Scene III. Adoration of the Shepherds: Madonna, Sandra Holly, Jackson, Miss; Joseph, Edwina Wright, Halifax, Va., Shepherds, Shirley V. Poole, Durham, N. C.; Cynthia Hampton, Greensboro, N. C.

Scene IV. Madonna and Child with Two Angels: Madonna, Jamelle Rackley, Norfolk, Va.; Angels, Ernestine Collins, Georgetown, S. C.; Wei Lie So, Indonesia.

Scene V. Adoration of the Kings. Madonna, Cleo Walker, New Haven, Conn. Joseph, Ernestine Reddick, Kinston, N. C. Kings, Barbara Gadsden, Mt Pleasant, S. C.; Margaret Thompkins, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Marshalyn Yeargin, Greenville, S. C.;

Scene VI. Virgin Mary and Christ Child; Madonna, Nancy Shade, Atlantic City.

Scene VII. Flight Into Egypt: Madonna, Marquita Rhaney, Tallahassee, Fla.; Joseph, Shirley V. Poole, Durham, N. C.; Shepherds, Judi Sullivan, Shrewsbury, N. J.; Barbara Ann Washington, Yonges Island, S. C.; Fosterlyn R. Fountain, Woodbridge, Va.

Scene VIII. Madonna With the Protective Cloak: Madonna, Janice Hendricks, Kingsport, Tenn.

A Preview Of Fashions For The Holidays

A preview of some of the clothes which Bennett College students may be wearing during the coming Christmas holidays was provided by these models in the Charm School being conducted under the auspices of the David D. Jones Student Union at the Greensboro, N. C. institution.

Seated are Misses Gayle Johnson of Chicago, Ill., and Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S. C. Standing: Misses Paulette Grant, of Philadelphia, Pa.; Ellarene Jenkins of Detroit, Mich.; Betty J. Williams of Cincinnati, Ohio; Cheryl Royall, of Philadelphia; Lawrencella Wright, of Clairton, Pa.; Barbara Turner, of Raleigh; Paula Howze, of Petersburg, Va. and Audrea Mast, of Houston, Texas.

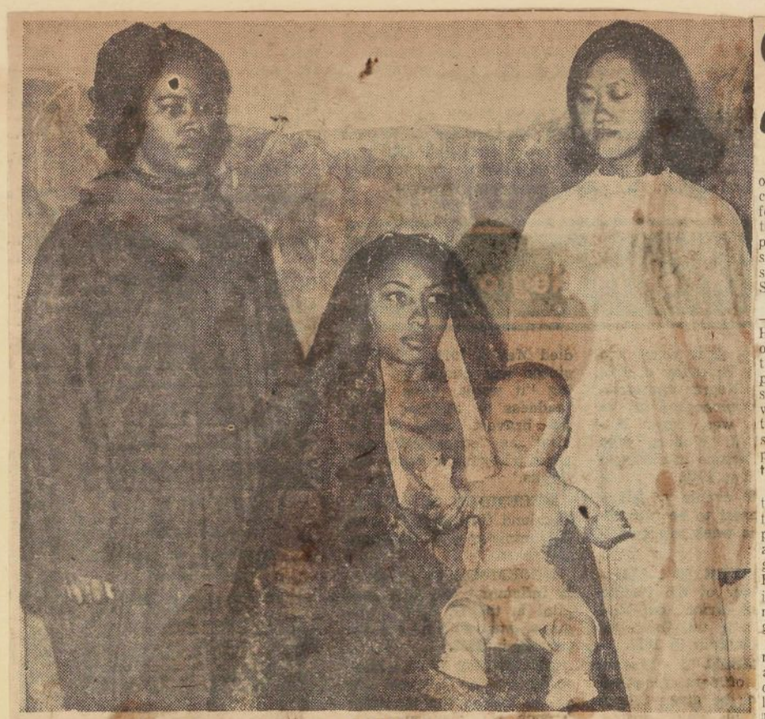

AT THANKSGIVING BALL... Miss Patricia Faison, a junior, of New Bern, N.C., listens attentively to her date, James Tatem, of New York City, during intermission at annual Thanksgiving Ball at Bennett College, recently.

CHRISTMAS PREVIEW... A preview of some of the clothes which Bennett College students may bewearing during the coming Christmas holidays was provided by these models in the Charm School being conducted under the auspices of the David D. Jones Student Union at the Greensboro, N.C., institution. Seated are Misses Gayle Johnson of Chicago, Ill., and Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S.C. Standing: Misses Paulette Grant, of Philadelphia, Pa.; Ellarene Jenkins, of Detroit, Mich.; Betty J. Williams, of Cincinnati, Ohio; Cheryl Royall, of Philadelphia, Pa.; Lawrencella Wright, of Clairton, Pa.; Barbara Turner, of Raleigh; Paula Howze, of Petersburg, Va., and Andrea Mast, of Houston, Texas.

HOMETOWN TALK... Miss Marshalyn Yeargin, a sophomore, of Greenville, S.C., chats with her "homey," Joseph Vaugh, a student at Furman University, during intermission at annual Thanksgiving Ball at Bennett College, recently.

Madonna And Child With Two Angels

"Madonna and Child with Two Angels," by Francis, one of eight art masterpieces re-created by Bennett College students Sunday night, Dec. 12, at the annual "Living Madonnas" presentation. Madonna is Jamelle Rackley, of Norfolk, Va. and angels are Ernestine Collins, left, of Georgetown, S. C. and Wei Lie So, of Indonesia.

LIVING MADONNAS—"Adoration of the Shepherds," one of eight art masterpieces re-created by Bennett College students Sunday night at the annual "Living Madonnas" presentation. Madonna is Sandra Holly, of Jackson, Miss.; Joseph is Edwina Wright, of Halifax, Va., and the shepherds are Shirley V. Poole of Durham and Cynthia Hampton, of Greensboro.

"LIVING MADONNAS"--"Adoration of the Kings," one of eight art masterpieces re-created by Bennett College students Sunday night at the annual "Living Madonnas" presentation. Madonna is Cleo Walker of New Haven, Conn.; Joseph is Ernestine Reddick, of Kinston; and the kings are Barbara Gadsden, of Mt. Pleasant, S. C., Margaret Thompkins, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., and Marshalyn Yeargin, of Greenville, S. C.

Gap between classroom and teaching explored

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Means of bridging the gap between college classroom and a professional teaching career in the public schools were explored during an inservice seminar for Bennett College student teachers held last Saturday on the campus.

Two local school principals —A. H. Peeler of Price Junior High, and Mrs. Flossie Alston, of the Charles Moore elementary school—gave the viewpoint of principals toward the student teachng experience, while Mrs. Mary P. Reese, a teacher at the David D. Jones school, spoke from the viewpoint of the cooperating or critic teacher.

Mr. Peeler told the prospective teachers that they need to establish two basic principles as their guides. "Skills are necessary," he said, "and good relations are mandatory. Remember that success comes in direct proportion to the manner in which you are able to get others to relate to you.

MRS. ALSTON spoke of the need of recognizing each child as a separate individuality and of the need to "re-teach as long as there is need." Mrs. Reese stressed the need for cooperating teachers to create an atmosphere in which the aspiring teacher can achieve greatest growth and suggested that there is also a need for cooperating teachers and student teachers to learn more about each other before the teaching experience begins.

MISS MARIAN P. KELLY, A senior, of Norwalk, Conn., spoke on "A student Teacher Looks at the Student Teaching Experience." A discussion period followed these presentations, which attracted some 25 teachers from the local schools and some 60 seniors now engaged in student teaching.

Dr. Richard L. Fields, director of teacher education, planned and organized the seminar, assisted by Miss Elnora Harris, president of the student NEA chapter and Miss Ernestine Reddick, president of the Special Education Club at the college.

'Living Madonnas' featured in Yule Bennett program

GREENSBORO, N.C. — The annual "Living Madonnas" program at Bennett College was presented in Pfeiffer Chapel last Sunday evening.

Student models re-created eight masterpieces from the North Carolina Museum of Art in Raleigh and music during the viewing was provided by the Freshman Choir, directed by Edward Lowe. Organ preludes and interludes were played by Miss Charlotte Alston, with narration by Miss Andrea Mast, a senior, of Houston, Texas.

Scene I. The Annunciation with Saints and Donors: Madonna, Judith Murray, Washington, D.C.; Angel, Ruthie Sanders, Camden, N.J.

Scene II. The Nativity: Madonna, Patricia Green, Baltimore Md.; Joseph, Doris Martin, Reidsville, N.C.; Shepherdess, LaRue Hodges, Whiteville, N.C.; Shepherds, Gwendolyn Morse, Ninety-Six, S.C.; Theresa Hall, Washington, D.C.

Scene III. Adoration of the Shepherds: Madonna, Sandra Holly, Jackson, Miss.; Joseph, Edwina Wright, Halifax Va.; Shepherds, Shirley V. Poole, Durham, N.C.; Cynthia Hamton, Greensboro, N.C.

Scene IV. Madonna and Child with Two Angels: Madonna, Jamelle Rackley, Norfolk, Va.; Angels, Ernestine Collins, Georgetown, S.C.; Wei Lie So, indonesia.

Scene V. Adoration of the Kings, Madonna, Cloe Walker, New Haven Conn., Joseph, Ernestine Reddick, Kinston, N.C.; Kings Barbara Gadsden, Mt. Pleasant, S.C.; Margaret Thompkins, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Marshalyn Yeargin, Greenville, S.C.

Scene VI Virgin Mary and Christ Child: Madonna, Nancy Shade Atlantic City

Scene VII. Flight Into Egypt: Madonna, Marquita Rhane, Tallahassee, Fla.; Joseph, Shirley V. Poole, Durham, N.C.; Shepherds, Judi Sullivan, Shrewsburg, N.J., Barbara Ann Washington, Yonges Island, S.C.; Fosterlyn R. Fountain, Woodbridge, Va.

Scene VIII. Madonna Wit the Protective Cloak: Ma[illegible] Janice Hendricks, Kingsport, Tenn.

Candle service held at Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The Bennett College choir in its annual candlelight service last Sunday night, featured, in addition to a number of traditional carols, "A Babe is Born, and Epiphany carol arranged by Lee Pattison.

Three 17th century Spanish pieces, arranged, translated and edited by Robert Goodale were also heard. They were "The Angels Are Flying," "The Kings Follow the Star" "See the Shepherds Dancing."

Mrs. Mary M. Crawford also directed the group in the familiar "Little Drummer Boy" and "See the Shepherds Dancing."

[illegible] politan origin. The honor soloist was Miss Elaine James, a junior, of Greensboro, who was featured in "O holy Night" Miss Charlotte Alston, college organist, accompanied the choir.

Bennett College Christmas Family

Unable, because of time and distance restrictions, to spend the Christmas holidays in their native countries, members of Bennett College's international student colony, nevertheless, enjoyed the hospitality of the season as guests in homes of relatives or friends.

To New England and to Georgia and as far away as Kansas they traveled to spend a typically American Christmas.

Miss Thelma Morgan, a senior of Sierra Leone, West Africa, visited Miss Carolyn King, a classmate, at Waycross, Ga., and Miss Ona Budd, a freshman, of the same country, spent the holidays with Miss Zenora Williams, '64, of her native land, in Washington. Miss Kathleen Kponou, a freshman, also of Sierra Leone, visited her brother in New Haven, Conn.

Miss Tagiilima Muasau, a senior, of American Samoa, split her holiday with friends in Falls Church, Va., and Oakdale, Conn. Misses Evangeline Choto and Sophie Jamakanga, both sophomores, of Rhodesia, spent the vacation period in Manhattan, Kansas, and New York City, respectively.

Also visiting in New York were Misses Helen Clendinen, a sophomore, from the Virgin Islands, who visited a sister, and Changocho Kalawe, a sophomore, of Zambia, Africa, who visited friends there, while Miss Freida Francis, a sophomore, from the Virgin Islands, visited friends in Brooklyn, N. Y. Miss Yvonne Hodge, a senior, also of the Virgin Islands, visited her roommate in Sanford, N. C.

To Washington, where she visited a friend, went Miss Messeret Taddesse, a junior, of Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, while in nearby Lanham, Md., was Miss Eileen Pratt, a sophomore, of Sierra Leone, West Africa. To High Point, to visit their sponsor, went the So sisters — Lily and Wei Lie — of Indonesia.

Remaining in Greensboro, for visits with their respective sponsors, were Misses Kate Aseme, a senior, from Nigeria; Prathin Pattabongs, a junior from Thailand, and Patricia Piggott, a senior, from Panama.

BENNETT COLLEGE

First speaker of the New Year for the Bennett College vesper service will be Dr. L. C. Dowdy, president of A & T College, who will be heard in Pfeiffer Chapel on January 9 at 4 p.m.

Three Of Eight 'Living Madonnas' Re-Created By Bennett College Students

AN ART MASTERPIECE, "Madonna and Child with Two Angels," by Francis. Madonna is Jamelle Rackley, of Norfolk, Va., and angels, left to right: Ernestine Collins, of Georgetown, S.C., and Wei Lie So, of Indonesia.

"VIRGIN MARY and Christ Child" by Guido Reni, recreated at the annual "Living Madonnas" presentation. Madonna is Nancy Shade, a senior of Atlantic City, N.J.

"ADORATION OF THE KINGS," included one of eight masterpieces. Madonna is Cleo Walker of New Haven, Conn.; Joseph is Ernestine Reddick, of Kinston, N.C. and the kings are Barbara Gadsden, of Mt. Pleasant, S.C., Margaret Thompkins, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., and Marshalyn Yeargin, of Greenville, S.C.

Half Of Fiscal Year

N. C. - Va. Methodists Give $8,000 To Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Methodists of the North-Carolina Virginia conference reported nearly $8,000 in contributions to Bennett College for the first six months of their fiscal year during their mid-year conference on at the college last week.

The Rev. L. A. Brown, of Greensboro, conference treasurer, reported a total of $7,740 received, but said that contributions recieved after his report was prepared would raise this amount by at least $500. The Central District, headed by the Rev. J. W. Gwyn, reported $3,243 and next in order was the Western District, of the Rev. J. J. Patterson, with $2326. The Eastern District of the Rev. J. W. Ferree contributed $1,318 and the Virginia District of the Rev. J. B. Bethea, reported $853.

DR. WILLA B. Player, president of the college, in welcoming the ministers and their wives, told them of the calls for bids to be submitted shortly for a new residence hall and a two-story infirmary. Money is still being sought, she said, for a new science hall to cost more than one million dollars for which $400,,000 must yet be raised. She said that the current worth of the institution is now close to $8 million.

"Annual Conference Responsibility for Christian Higher Education" was the subject of a presentation by the Rev. J. T. Jones, chairman of the conference committee on higher education, and the Rev. W. M. Wells, Jr., state director, spoke on "The Methodist Student Movement of North Carolina.'

CLOSING remarks were made by Bishop Charles Golden, of Nashville, Tenn., who emphasized the need for sharing conference responsibilities and announced a church-manship seminar to be held, March 23-24 at Richmond, Va. Later, the ministers and their wives were guest at a luncheon.

Methodists Report 8G's To Bennett

GREENSBORO - Methodists of the North-Carolina Virginia conference reported nearly $8,000 in contributions to Bennett College for the first six months of their fiscal year during their mid-year conference on Christian higher education at the college last week.

The Rev. L. A. Brown, of Greensboro, conference treasurer, reported a total of $7,740 received but said that contributions received after his report was prepared would raise this amount by at least $500. The Central District, headed by the Rev. J. W. Gwyn, reported $3,243 and next in order was the Western District, of the Rev. J. J. Patterson, with $2,326. The Eastern District of the Rev. J. W. Ferree contributed $1,318 and the Virginia District of the Rev. J. B. Bethea, reported $853.

Dr. Willa B. Player, president of the college, in welcoming the ministers and their wives, told them of the building program which calls for bids to be submitted shortly for a new residence hall and two-story infirmary. Money is still being sought, she said, for a new science hall to cost more than one million dollars for which $400,00 must yet be raised. She said that the current worth of the institution is now close to $8 million.

RITA JAIN MODELS THE EVER-ELEGANT SARI

Nothing beats the sari for figure flattery, ease and even economy. To explore its advantages and learn the "how to's" of the sari, we asked the woman who has not one, but 50.

She is Rita Jain, professor of economics and child development at Bennett College. The wife of Mahesh Jain, professor of business administration at A&T College, she arrived here from New Delhi six years ago.

Her wardrobe ranges from simple daytime saris in checks and gay patterns to formal ones heavy with gold and silver embroidery.

$8,000 reported at Bennett parley

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Methodists of the North - Carolina Virginia conference reported nearly $8,000 in contributions to Bennett College for the first six months of their fiscal year during their mid - year conference on Christian higher education at the college last week.

The Rev. L. A. Brown, of Greensboro, conference treasurer, reported a total of $7,740 received but said that contributions received after his report was prepared would raise this amount by at least $500.

The Central District, headed by the Rev. J. W. Gwyn, reported $3,243 and next in order was the Western District, of the Rev. J. J. Patterson, with $2,326. The Eastern District of the Rev. J. W. Ferree contributed $1,318 and the Virginia District of the Rev. J. B. Bethea, reported $853.

DR. WILLA B. PLAYER, president of the college, in welcoming the ministers and their wives, told them of the building program which calls for bids to be submitted shortly for a new residence hall and a two - story infirmary.

Money is still being sought, she said, for a new science hall to cost more than one million dollars, for which $400,000 must yet be raised. She said that the current worth of the institution is now close to $8 million.

"Annual Conference Responsibility for Christian Higher Education" was the subject of a presentation by the Rev. J. T. Jones, chairman of the conference committee on higher education, and the Rev. W. M. Wells Jr., state director, spoke on "The Methodist Student Movement of North Carolina."

Closing remarks were made by Bishop Charles Golden, of Nashville, Tenn., who emphasized the need for sharing conference responsibilities and announced a churchmanship seminar to be held March 23 - 24 at Richmond, Va.

HAVE YOU BEEN GOOD? Little Denise Phillips received gift from Santa Claus during the Christmas party held at Bennett College's Children's House last week in Greensboro.

LIVING MADONNAS--"Adoration of the Shepherds," one of eight art masterpieces recreated by Bennett College students Sunday night at the annual "Living Madonnas" presentation. Madonna is Sandra Holly, of Jackson, Miss.; Joseph is Edwina Wright, of Halifax, Va., and the shepherds are Shirtley V. Poole of Durham and Cynthia Hampton, of Greensboro.

LIVING MADONNAS--"Madonna and Child with Two Angels," by Franci, one of eight art masterpieces recreated by Bennett College students Sunday night at the annual "Living Madonna" presentation. Madonna is Jamelle Rackley, of Norfolk, Va., and angels, left to right, are Ernestine Collins, of Georgetown, S.C., and Wei Lie So, of Indonesia.

Annual "Living Madonnas" Program Staged At Bennett

GREENSBORO - The annual "Living Madonnas" program at Bennett College was presented in Pfeiffer Chapel at 7 p. m. on Sunday.

Student models re - created eight masterpieces from the North Carolina Museum of Art in Raleigh and music during the viewing was provided by the Freshman Choir, directed by Edward Lowe. Organ preludes and interludes were played by Miss Charlotte Alston, with narration by Miss Andrea Mast, a senior, of Houston, Texas.

Scene I. The Annunciation with Saints and Donors: Madonna, Judith Murray, Washington, D. C.; Angel, Ruthie Sanders, Camden, N. J.

Scene II. The Nativity: Madonna, Patricia Greene, Baltimore, Md.; Joseph, Doris Martin, Reidsville; Shepherdess, LaRue Hodges, Whiteville; Shepherds, Gwendolyn Morse, Ninety-Six, S. C.; Theresa Hall, Washington, D. C.

Scene III. Adoration of the Shepherds: Madonna, Sandra Holly, Jackson, Miss.; Joseph, Edwina Wright, Halifax, Va.; Shepherds, Shirley V. Poole, Durham; Cynthia Hampton, Greensboro.

Scene IV. Madonna and child with Two Angels: Madonna, Jamelle Rackley, Norfolk, Va.; Angels, Ernestine Collins, Georgetown, S. C.; Wei Lie So, Indonesia.

Scene V. Adoration of the Kings: Madonna, Cleo Walker, New Haven, Conn.; Joseph, Ernestine Reddick, Kinston; Kings, Barbara Gadsden, Mt. Pleasant, S. C.; Margaret Thompkins, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Marshalyn Yeargin, Greenville, S. C.

Scene VI. Virgin Mary and Christ Child: Madonna, Nancy Shade, Atlantic City.

Scene VII. Flight Into Egypt: Madonna, Marquita Rhanney, Tallahassee, Fla.; Joseph, Shirley V. Poole, Durham; [illegible] Sullivan, Shrewsbury, N.J.; Barbara Ann Washington, Yongas Island, S. C.; Fosterlyn R. Fountain, Woodbridge, Va.

Scene VIII. Madonna With the Protective Cloak: Madonna Janice Hendricks, Kingsport, Tenn.

China Is Topic Of Bennett Talk

"The Agrarian Pattern in China" will be the subject of an address by Dr. Norman W. Schul, professor of geography at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, at the Monday morning assembly at Bennett College.

This will be the fifth lecture in the Non-Western Studies program inaugurated this year under the direction of Dr. Shang-Ling Fu.

BENNETT COLLEGE

Dr. Norman W. Schul, professor of geography at the University of North Carolina in Greensboro, will deliver the fifth lecture in the Non-Western Studies at Bennett College on Monday, January 10, at 10 a.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

AREA GIRLS AT BENNETT. Eleven freshmen from Pennsylvania and Delaware are now attending Bennett College in Greensboro, N.C. Among them are (front row) Marvenise York, Pittsburgh; Carol O. Shockley, Wilmington; Christa C. Williams, Philadelphia, and Laurette Wright, Pittsburgh, and (back row) Cheryl Royall, Philadelphia; Beverly E. Walker, Harrisburg; Janell Overton, Philadelphia, and Jeanne M. Byrd, Philadelphia.

LIVING MADONNAS... Typifying the spirit of Christmas is the "Virgin Mary and Christ Child" by Guido Reni, one of the eight art masterpiecws re-created by Bennett College students Sunday night at the annual "Living Madonnas" presentation. Madonnas is Nancy Shade, a senior, of Atlantic City, N.J.

Have You Been Good?

Little Denise Phillips receives a gift from Santa Claus during a Christmas party held at Bennett College's Children House in Greensboro, N. C.

Holidays Bright For International Students

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Unable, because of time and distance restrictions, to spend the Christmas holidays in their native countries, members of Bennett College's international student colony, nevertheless, enjoyed the hospitality of the season as guests in homes of relatives or friends.

To New England and to Georgia and as far away as Kansas they traveled to spend a typically American Christmas.

MISS THELMA Morgan, a senior of Sierra Leone, West Africa, visited Miss Carolyn King, a classmate, at Waycross, Ga., and Miss Ina Bull, a freshman, of the same country, spent the holidays with Miss Zenora Williams, 64, of her native land, in Washington. Miss Kathleen Kponou, a freshman, also of Sierra Leone, visited her brother in New Haven, Conn.

Miss Tagiilima Muasau, a senior, of American Samoa, split her holiday with friends in Falls Church, Va., and Oakdale, Conn. Misses Evangeline Choto and Sophie Jamakanga, both sophomores, of Rhodesia, spent the vacation perlod in Manhattan, Kansas, and New York City, respectively.

ALSO VISITING in New York were Misses Helen Clendinen, a sophomore, from the Virgin Islands, who visited a sister, and Changocho Kayawe, a sophomore, of Zambia, Africa, who visited friends there, while Miss Freida Francis, a sophomore, from the Virgin Islands, visited friends in Brooklyn, N.Y. Miss Yvonne Hodge, a senior, also of the Virgin Islands, visited her roommate in Sanford, N. C.

To Washington, where she visited a friend, went Miss Messeret Taddesse, a junior, of Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, while in nearby Lanham, Md., was Miss Eileen Pratt, a sophomore, of Sierra Leone, West Africa. To High Point, to visit their sponsor, went the So sisters — Lily and Wei Lie — of Indonesia.

Remaining in Greensboro, for visits with their respective sponsors, were Misses Kate Aseme, a senior, from Nigeria; Prathin Pattabongs, a junior from Thailand, and Patricia Piggott, a senior, from Panama.

42

Dr. L. C. Dowdy Bennett Speaker

GREENSBORO—First speaker of the New Year for the Bennett College vesper service will be Dr. L. C. Dowdy president, of A&T College, who will be heard in Pfeiffer Chapel on January 9 at 4 p. m.

Schul To Speak

Dr. Norman W. Schul, acting head of the Geography Department at UNC-G, will speak at the general assembly at Bennett College Monday at 10 a.m. Dr. Schul's topic will be "Agrarian Patterns in China." The lecture is the fifth in a series on non-Western studies.

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Final examination marking the end of the first semester at Bennett College will be held Jan. 24 - 28. Pre - registration for the second semester which will begin on Jan. 31 was held last week.

Bennett's Foreign Students Spend Holidays With Relatives

GREENSBORO -- Unable, because of time and distance restrictions, to spend the Christmas holidays in their native countries, members of Bennett College's international student colony, nevertheless, enjoyed the hospitality of the season as guest in homes of relatives or friends.

The New England and to Georgia and as far away as Kansas they traveled to spend a typically American Christmas.

Miss Thelma Morgan, a senior of Sierra Leone, West Africa, visited Miss Carolyn King, a classmate, at Waycross, Ga., and Miss Ina Bull, a freshman, of the same country, spent the holidays with Miss Zenora Williams, '64, of her native land, in Washington. Miss Kathleen Kponou, a freshman, also of Sierra Leone, visited her brother in New Haven, Conn.

Miss Tagiilima Muasau, a senior, of American Samoa, split her holiday with friends in Falls Church, Va., and Oakdale, Conn. Misses Evangeline Choto and Sophie Jamakanga, both sophomores, of Rhodesia, spent the vacation period in Mahanttan, Kansas, and New York City, respectively.

Also visiting in New York were Misses Helen Clendinen, a sophomore, from the Virgin Islands, who visited a sister, and Changocho Kayawe, a sophomore, of Zambia, Africa, who visited friends there, while Miss Freida Francis, a sophomore, from the Virgin Islands, visited friends in Brooklyn, N. Y. Miss Yvonne Hodge, a senior, also of the Virgin Islands, visited her roommate in Sanford.

To Washington, where she visited a friend, went Miss Messeret Taddesse, a junior, of Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, while in nearby Lanham, Md., was Miss Eileen Pratt, a sophomore, of Sierra Leone, West Africa. To High Point, to visit their sponsor, went the So sisters--Lily and Wei Lie, of Indonesia.

Remaining in Greensboro, for visits with their respective sponsors, were Misses Kate Aseme, a senior, from Nigeria; Prathin Pattabongs, a junior from Thailand, and Patricia Piggott, a senior, from Panama.

Bishop F. P. Corson To Speak At Memorial Service For Dr. Jones; College Gets $22,355 Grant

Bishop Fred P. Corson, of Philadelphia, Pa., one of the outstanding scholars and leaders of Methodism, will be the speaker for the annual David D. Jones service of remembrance to be held in Pfeiffer Chapel on the Bennett College campus, Sunday, January 16, at 4 p.m.

Dr. Jones served as president from 1926 until shortly before his death in 1956 and was associated with the guest speaker in many undertakings.

Bishop Corson, holder of nearly a score of honorary degrees from colleges and universities across the nation, has served as a college president and has been a visiting lecturer at many institutions of higher learning. A member of Phi Beta Kappa, he has served as president of the Council of Bishops and of the General Board of Education of the Methodist Church.

He is the author of many volumes, among them "The Obligation of the Church-Related College to the Future" and "The Minister and Christian Higher Education."

Representing the alumnae will be Mrs. Sarah Herbin, '36, of Greensboro, field representative of the North Carolina Fund.

Bennett College is the recipient of a grant of $22,355 from the National Science Foundation to be used for a summer science and mathematics program for secondary students.

The six-week program will be held during June and July and again will be headed by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the college's science division, who has been in charge of seven previous ones.

High-ability high school juniors and seniors who qualify for admission, will receive instruction in biology, chemistry, physics and mathematics. An enrollment of around 80 is anticipated.

In addition to classes, laboratory periods, seminars and films, there will be a number of field trips to places of scientific interest in the state and also a trip to Washington during which the students will visit, among other places, Howard University and the Smithsonian Institute.

BENNETT NEWS

Soprano Veronica Tyler, one of the most sought-after young artists on the musical scene, will be heard in concert at Bennett College on January 14, at 8 p.m., in Pfeiffer Chapel — the second program in the current lyceum series.

A graduate of Peabody Conservatory of Music with further study as a scholarship student at the Juilliard School of Music, Miss Tyler has met with phenomenal success since her first New York appearance in 1961.

She made her first appearance on national television with Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic and since then has made appearances with New York's leading musical organization, among them the New York City Opera, the Collegiate Chorale and the Golden Band. She has recorded on the Columbia label.

She won first prize at the 1963 Munich International Competition where critics described her as "a lyrical soprano of enchanting sweetness and ardour."

BENNETT COLLEGE NEWS

Students in the Junior Seminar in Field Experience at Bennett College last week launched "Operation Share Your Library," a month-long effort to provide books for disadvantaged members of the local community.

Under the direction of Dr. Charles Garth, faculty advisor, they are seeking contributions of used books — particularly for young children and teen-agers — which will be distributed among the community centers at which the students are giving volunteer service.

Bennett College students were urged by President Willa B. Player to seek personal satisfaction from just being the best they are able to be in her address at the first all-college assembly of the New Year.

Expressing alarm at the "passive resistance to new opportunities" found on many college campuses, Dr. Player urged that the students resolve to begin the year by concentrating on three things.

"First," she said, "you should seek a restatement of your individual purpose — your reason for being here. Secondly, you should seek to develop a genuine affection for others and, third, you should make a commitment to a growing self by getting personal satisfaction from just being the best you are able to be."

HAVE YOU BEEN GOOD?---Little Denise Phillips receives gift from Santa Claus during Christmas party held at Bennett College's Children's House last week in Greensboro, N.C.

Science Funds Given Bennett

Bennett College is the recipient of a grant of $22,355 from the National Science Foundation to be used for a summer science and mathematics program for secondary students.

The six-week program will be held June 20 to July 29 and again will be headed by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the college's science division, who has been in charge of seven previous programs.

High-ability high school juniors and seniors who qualify for admission will receive instruction in biology, chemistry, physics and mathematics. An enrollment of around 80 is anticipated.

Be Responsible Students Urged

Students of responsibility develop into citizens of responsibility, Dr. Lewis C. Dowdy, president of A&T College, told Bennett College vesper audience on Sunday.

"The dues you will pay in society of responsible citizens, he said, "will be high, and you have but a short time in which to make your contribution."

RECOGNITION FOR their readiness to assist student causes at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., came to Lester P. Wiggins, mechanical engineer, left; and James C. McMillan, art department head, right, at dinner sponsored by the David D. Jones Student Union Cabinet. Miss Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, stands between Miss Brenda Walker of Harrisburg, Pa., vice president; and Mrs. Necia Boyers, director of co-curricular activities.

Appearance Scheduled By Singer

Veronica Tyler, a talented young soprano, will be heard in recital at Bennett College Friday at 8 p.m. in Pfeiffer College. This will be the second program in the current Lyceum Series.

Miss Tyler is a graduate of Peabody Conservatory of Music and also studied at the Juilliard School of Music. She made her first appearance on national television in 1961 with Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic and since then has made appearances with some of New York's leading musical organizations, including the New York City Opera, the Collegiate Chorale and the Goldman Band.

She has recorded on the Columbia label and won first prize at the 1963 Munich International Competition.

VERONICA TYLER
To Sing He

Methodist Scholar

Bishop Fred P. Corson of Philadelphia, one of the outstanding scholars and leaders of Methodism, will be the speaker for the annual David D. Jones service of remembrance to be held in Pfeiffer Chapel on the Bennett College campus, Sunday at 4 p.m.

Conson

A member of Phi Beta Kappa, he has served as president of the Council of Bishops and of the General Board of Education of the Methodist Church.

Representing the alumnae will be Mrs. Sarah Herbin, '36, of Greensboro, field representative of the North Carolina Fund.

Methodists Make More Than $7,500 Contributon to Bennett

GREENSBORO — Methodists of the North-Carolina Virginia conference reported nearly $8,000 in contributions to Bennett College for the first six months of their fiscal year during their mid-year conference on Christian higher education at the college recently.

The Rev. L. A. Brown, of Greensboro, conference treasurer, reported a total of $7,740 received but said that contributions received after his report was prepared would raise this amount by at least $500. The Central District, headed by the Rev. J. W. Gwyn, reported $3,243 and next in order was the Western District, of the Rev. J. J. Patterson, with $2,236. The Eastern District of the Rev. J. W. Ferree contributed $1,318 and the Virginia District of the Rev. J. B. Bethea, reported $853.

Dr. Willa B. Player, president of the college in welcoming the ministers and their wives, told them of the building program calls for bids to be submitted shortly for a new residence hall and a two-story infirmary. Money is still being sought, she said, for a new science hall to cost more than one million dollars for which $400,000 must yet be raised. She said that the current worth of the institution is now close to $8 million.

"Annual Conference Responsibility for Christian Education" was the subject of a presentation by the Rev. J. T. Jones, chairman of the conference committee on higher education, and the Rev. W. M. Wells, Jr., state director, spoke on "The Methodist Student Movement of North Carolina." tist Church, being brought

Bennett Receives Grant For Science

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Bennett College is the recipient of a grant of $22, ,355 from the National Science Foundation to be used for a summer science and mathemaics program for secondary students.

The six-week program will be held during June and July and again will be headed by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the college's science division, who has been in charge of seven previous

Memorial Address Slated By Bishop

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Bishop Fred P. Carson, of Philadelphia, one of the outstanding scholars and leaders of Methodism, will be the speaker for the annual David D. Jones service of remembrance to be held on the Bennett College campus Sunday, Jan. 16, at 4 p.m.

Dr. Jones served as president from 1926 until shortly before his death in 1956 and was associated with the guest speaker in many undertakings.

Veronica Tyler, Soprano, Appears At Bennett Fri.

GREENSBORO -- Soprano Veronica Tyler, one of the most sought-after young artists on the musical scene, will be heard in concert at Bennett College on January 14, at 8 p. m. in Pfeiffer Chapel -- the second program in the current lyceum series.

A graduate of Peabody Conservatory of Music with further study as a scholarship student at the Juilliard School of Music, Miss Tyler has met with phenomenal success since her first New York appearance in 1961.

She made her first appearance on national television with Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic and since then has made appearances with New York's leading musical organizations, among them the New York City Opera, the Collegiate Chorale and the Goldman Band. She has recorded on the Columbia label.

She won first prize at the 1963 Munich International Competition where critics described her as "a lyrical soprano of enchanting sweetness and ardour."

IN BENNETT RECITAL — Veronica Tyler, lyric soprano, who ll be presented in recital at tt College at 8 p.m. on ry 14 in Pfeiffer Chapel, d program in the current m series.

Population Of China Increasing, Says Bennett College Speaker

"The population of China is increasing at such a rate that not enough food can be produced to feed the people," Dr. Norman W. Schul, professor of geography at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, told the Monday morning assembly at Bennett College.

"One of the chronic problems of China," he said, "has been the inability of the people to extract enough food from the land, and remember that 80 per cent of the population is rural.

Dr. Schul, whose lecture, "Argarian Patterns in China," was the fifth in the current Non-Western Studies series, said that the present Communist regime inherited this problem when it began a series of land reforms in 1949. Some merchanization of farms has helped, he said, but the problem is still acute.

DR. DOWDY SPEAKS AT BENNETT

Students of responsibility develop into citizens of responsibility, Dr. Lewis C. Dowdy, president of A & T College, told the Bennett College vesper audience on Sunday.

"The true student of responsibility," he said, "is continually in search of new problems to solve, new truths to be revealed. The dues you will pay in the society of responsible citizens will be high and you have such a short time in which to make your contribution."

He urged the students to keep up a continuing self-competition and never to be satisfied with their accomplishments.

An 11 a.m. morning worship musicale by Miss Charlotte Alston, college organist, will take the place of the usual afternoon vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, January 23.

Final examination marking the end of the first semester at Bennett College will be held January 24-28.

Pre-registration for the second semester which will begin on January 31 was held last week.

Dr. Schul In Greensboro

GREENSBORO -- "The Agrarian Pattern in China" was the subject of an address by Dr. Norman W. Schul, professor of geography at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, at the Monday morning assembly at Bennett College.

Musicale Scheduled

An 11 a.m. worship musicale by Miss Charlotte Alston, college organist, will replace the afternoon vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday. The program includes compositions by Couperin, Sweelinck, Buxtehude, Bach, Dipre and Benoit.

Honored At Birthday Dinner

Recognition for their readiness to assist student causes at Bennett College came to Lester P. Wiggins, mechanical engineer, (left) and James C. McMillan, art department head, at recent birthday dinner sponsored by the David D. Jones Student Union cabinet. Miss Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, D. C., president, stands between Miss Brenda Walker, of Harrisburg, Pa., vice president, and Mrs. Necia Boyers, director of co-curricular activities, to see that honorees are at ease.

Bishop Honors Late Educator At College Here

Parallels in the lives of Jesus and Dr. David D. Jones were drawn by Bishop Fred P. Corson of Philadelphia, Pa., in his address Sunday honoring the late educator at Bennett College.

Speaking on "The Christian Assurance of Success," Bishop Corson stated that it is perfectly normal for a person to want to be a success but explained that success is a Christian virtue.

"Just as Jesus did," he said, "Dr. Jones learned early in life to do the best he could with what he had, and secondly, he had a good cause. In addition, he did the best that he could for that cause and he was wise to align himself with something that nothing could stop."

Bennett To Open Bids On Buildings

Bids will be opened at 2 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 3 for two new buildings at Bennett College here, an infirmary of approximately 12,577 square feet and a dormitory of approximately 35,000 square feet.

The general contract will cover all phases of work and include subcontracts. Bids will be for the work separated or combined.

Architect for the project is the local firm of Loewenstein-Atkinson & Associates. Six general contractors already have indicated they will submit bids.

Bishop Corson To [illegible] At Bennett For Jones Service

GREENSBORO--Bishop Fred Corson, of Philadelphia, Pa., [illegible] of the outstanding scholars [illegible] leaders of Methodism, will the speaker for the annual [illegible] D. Jones service of remembrance to be held in Pfeiffer Chapel on the Bennett College campus, Sunday, January [illegible] at 4 p. m.

Dr. Jones served as president from 1926 until shortly before his death in 1956 and was associated with the guest speaker in many undertakings.

Bishop Corson, holder of nearly a score of honorary degrees from colleges and universities across the nation, has served as a college president and has been a visiting lecturer at many institutions of higher learning.

Representing the alumnae will be Mrs. Sarah Herbin, '36, of Greensboro, field representative of the North Carolina Fund.

IN APPRECIATION - Recognition for their readiness to assist student causes at Bennett College came to Lester P. Wiggins, mechanical engineer, (left) and James C. McMillan, art department head, at recent birthday dinner sponsored by the David D. Jones Student Union cabinet. Miss Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, D. C., president, stands between Miss Brenda Walker, of Harrisburg, Pa., vice president, and Mrs. Necia Boyers, director of co-curricular activities, to see that honorees are at ease.

"Seek Personal Satisfaction," Dr. Player Urges Bennettites

GREENSBORO -- Bennett College students were urged by President Willa B. Player to seek personal satisfaction from just being the best they are able to be in her address at the first all-college assembly of the New Year.

"First," she said, "you should seek a restatement of your individual purpose--your reason for being here. Secondly, you should seek to develop a genuine affection for others and, third, you should make a commitment to a growing self by getting personal satisfaction from just being the best you are able to be."

[illegible]dents Launch 'Operation Share Your Library'

GREENSBORO -- Students in the Junior Seminar in Field Experience at Bennett College last week launched "Operation Share Your Library," a month-long effort to provide books for disadvantaged members of the local community.

Under the direction of Dr. Charles Garth, faculty advisor, they are seeking contributions of used books--particularly for young children and teen-agers which will be distributed among the community centers at which the students are giving volunteer service.

IN APPRECIATION...Recognition for their readiness to assist student causes at Bennett College came to Lester P. Wiggins, mechanical engineer, (left) and James C. McMillan, art department head, at recent birthday dinner sponsored by the David D. Jones Student Union cabinet. Miss Ernestine Mitchell, of Washington, D.C., president, stands between Miss Brenda Walker, of Harrisburg, Pa., vice president, and Mrs. Necia Boyers, director of co-curricular activities, to see that honorees are at ease.

EDUCATION CONFERENCE...Some of the public school principals and co-operating teachers who participated in recent in-service seminar for Bennett College's student teachers held at the Greensboro, N.C. institution. Dean C. G. Winston and Dr. Richard L. Fields, director of teacher education, who organized the seminar, are shown in front.

Bennett To Put Multi-Learning Plans In Action

BY DOROTHY BENJAMIN
Record Staff Writer

"It shows what you can do with some money, some skill in the maintenance department and an interesting teacher," Dr. Willa Player, president of Bennett College, said of the school's new multi-learning center.

The new center for programmed learning has been built on the ground floor of the library under the supervision of the teacher, Norma Licht. It is designed to meet the special needs of Bennett students.

In the center the students will use tapes, textbooks, projectors—all types of audio-visual aids and learning machines. It will permit students to work individually, in pairs or as a class. One student and her teacher are working on a study of irregular French verbs.

Next semester Licht plans to begin a seminar for student teachers which we hopes to enlarge to include any public school teacher in the area who wishes to attend during the school year or in the summer. The seminar will offer information on how to program materials and how to use the machines.

"We also hope to have a limited number of machines the high schools can use and Bennett can use in educational research work in the schools, both the schools from which we draw our own students and the students in our Saturday School program," Dr. Player said.

The new course in non-Western studies, which has been conducted as a series of lectures this semester, will offer classroom work next semester. It is under the direction of Dr. Shang-Ling Fu, professor of sociology, who will teach one course. Miss Margaret Peter, an exchange teacher from India, will teach another course. These will include the history of the Far East, Indian economy or Chinese social thought. Later an introduction to the Chinese language, inter-cultural relations and culture of the Far East may be added.

Bids are being taken for a new dormitory at Bennett. It will be a twin to the existing Cone Dormitory and house 138 girls. It will cost $470,000 and two-thirds will be on three levels with a terrace, suite for the housemother and a post-office.

Bids also are being taken for a new $160,000 infirmary. It will be a two-story, brick, colonial structure with a nursing station upstairs. The examining rooms on the second floor will be arranged so they can, when not being used for students once or twice a year, be used as dormitory facilities by visiting groups.

"We hope this work will be completed by fall but certainly by the second semester. This means we will have to hold enrollment at 650 students. We have built a third floor of rooms on Pfeiffer to accommodate the overflow. Most of our rooms have three girls now," Dr. Player said.

Construction of the new infirmary will enable the college to renovate Kent Hall, now used as the infirmary, for teacher's offices. There may be some classrooms on the first floor of Kent.

"This would take care of overcrowding in the academic situation until we get our new science building. We have $1,078,000 for the science building but will have to raise $400,000 from alumnae, friends, foundations, corporations," she said.

Bennett has been awarded a Sloan Foundation Grant and it is hoped, with matching grants $200,000 in new money can be raised. The foundation will match dollar for dollar money given by alumnae and will give $1 for every $2 raised in the community.

College officials hope to put on a fund-raising campaign in the local community to secure the balance of funds for the science building.

Bennett has three programs for promising high school students. These are the Saturday School, the Scholar's Program and the Science Institute with about 350 10th, 11th and 12th graders enrolled. There is a possibility these three programs may be combined. The Scholar's Program and the Science Institute are operated during the summer and the Saturday School each week during the regular school year.

"Remarkably, we got back as members of our freshman class this year all of the students in the Scholar's Program last summer," Dr. Player said.

College officials will be looking careully into the special features provided for by the Higher Education Act of 1965 as a means of implementing the school's program.

Bennett's Final Examination

GREENSBORO -- Final Examination marking the end of the first semester at Bennett College will be held January 24-28.

Pre-registration for the second semester which will begin on January 31 was held last week.

Morning Worship Musicale

GREENSBORO--An 11 a. m. morning worship musicale by Miss Charlotte Alston, college organist, will take the place of the usual afternoon vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, January 23.

Population Of China Talked At Bennett

GREENSBORO "The population of China is increasing at such a rate that not enough food can be produced to feed people," Dr. Norman W. Schul, professor of geography at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, told the Monday morning assembly at Bennett College.

"One of the chronic problems of China," he said, "has been the inability of the people to extract enough food from the land, and remember that 80 per cent of the population is rural."

Dr. Schul, whose lecture, "Agrarian Patterns in China," was the fifth in the current Non-Western Studies series, said that the present Communist regime inherited this problem when it began a series of land reforms in 1949. Some mechanization of farms has helped, he said, but the problem is still acute.

Dr. L. C. Dowdy Bennett Speaker

GREENSBORO -- Students of responsibility develop into citizens of responsibility, Dr. Lewis C. Dowdy, president of A&T College, told the Bennett College vesper audience on Sunday.

"The true student of responsibility," he said "is continually in search of new problems to solve, new truths to be revealed. The dues you will pay in the society of responsible citizens will be high and you have such a short time in which to make your contribution."

He urged the students to keep up a continuing self-competition and never to be satisfied with their accomplishments.

Bennett Bids Top $770,000

Low bids totaling $771,625 were entered for construction of two new buildings on the campus of Bennett College here.

Bids were opened in the office of the architect, Loewenstein-Atkinson & Associates.

First project was an infirmary of approximately 12,577 square feet. Low bidder of seven was Brooks Lumber Co. at $263,333.

The other project was a dormitory of 35,000 square feet. Low bidder was Abrams Construction Co. at $508,292.

In each instance, all subcontracts were included in the general contract. Bids combining the two projects were entered, but only three were received and separate bids were lower.

Bennett Thespians In 'Brief Music'

GREENSBORO, N. C. — "Brief Music, a sentimental comedy in thre'e acts, will be presented Feb. 10, 11 and 12 by the Bennett College Theatre Guild in the Little Theatre at 8 p. m.

Leading roles will be played by Misses Shirley Smedley, of Birmingham, Ala., and Andrea Mast, of Houston, Texas. Others in the cast include Misses Saundra Jenkins of Orangeburg, S. C.; Fosterlyn Fountain, of Woodbridge, Va.; Judith Sullivan, of New Shrewsbury, N. J.; Judith Murray, of Washington, D. C., and Cleo Walker, of New Haven, Conn.

FROM MODEL TO EMBASSY FIRST LADY

D. C. EMBASSY TO GET 1ST NEGRO WOMAN CHATELAINE

After six and a half years in British Guiana, Sarah Lou Harris Carter, still looking like the high fashion model, shopped for an embassy residence in Washington, D. C., recently, friends learned that she will return in late spring 1966 as wife of the Ambassador to the United States from British Guiana.

By then the country will become independent and be known as Guyiana. When her husband, John Carter Q.C. (Queen's Counsel), was named Ambassador-designate to the U. S., it marked the first time a Negro from a South American country has been named to serve to represent his country in diplomatic relations with the U. S.

Another first will be marked when Mrs. Carter becomes the first American Negro woman to serve as chatelaine of an embassy in Washington. Born in Wilkesboro, N. C., and a graduate of Bennett College, Mrs. Carter taught third grade in her hometown before embarking on a career in fashion, radio and singing.

A former model (l), Mrs. Carter is escorted by Robert Hill (l) and William Buntyn at a Harlem benefit party

Atty. Carter, a native, who now serves as pro-chancellor of the University of Guiana, was educated at the University of London. He supported the minority party of Prime Minister Forbes Burnham, which defeated the Cheddi Jagan regime. Atty. Carter is a member of the West Indian Cricket Board and secretary of the Leagues of Colored Peoples of London.

While living in New York, Mrs. Carter traveled throughout the U. S. presenting fashion shows for sororities and schools. She also had a popular radio show on which she interviewed interesting people. During this time, her picture appeared on more than 25 magazine covers.

As she shopped in D. C. for an embassy residence, Mrs. Carter remarked that the thought of being an embassy hostess is "frightening," but she added, "I will just be myself and do my best." Her U. S. friends who know her ability and charm feel that Mrs. Carter may well set a brand new pace in Washington diplomatic circles with her beauty, brains and wit.

Ambassador and Mrs. Carter (l) are shown with L. Forbes Burnham, who is now Prime Minister of British Guiana.

FOR EMPHASIS - Bishop Charles F. Golden, head of the Nashville-Carolina Area of the Methodist Church, drives home a point during address at recent mid-year conference on Christian higher education held by the North Carolina-Virginia Conference at Bennett College, Greensboro. Nearly $8,000 in contributions for the college were reported.

Bennett Activities

The speaker for the 4 p.m. vesper service today at Bennett College will be Dr. Chadbourne Dunham of Wesleyan University in Middleton, Conn.

Saturday, approximately 75 high school principals, counselors and parents from North Carolina and Virginia attended the fifth annual Saturday School conference at Bennett. Dr. Charles E. Garth, director, spoke to the group.

Dean To Speak

Katherine Taylor, dean of student services at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, will speak in Pfeiffer Chapel at Bennett College on Monday at 10 a.m. The lecture is the seventh in a series under the auspices of the Non-Western Studies program. Dean Taylor's topic will be "Tranquility and A Cup of Tea," dealing with Japan.

SINGER AND ADMIRERS--Soprano Veronica Tyler, following her concert at Bennett College last week, chats with two officers of campus Music Club during reception which followed. Katherine Williams, president, of Tarboro, is at right and Claudette Parker, assistant secretary, of Bah... is at left.

Veronica Tyler Thrills Audience At Bennett

GREENSBORO --Demonstrating almost flawless voice contol and displaying a wide range of moods in a program dominated by the works of Richard Strauss and Francis Poulenc, Veronica Tyler, soprano, captivated her audience at Bennett College, Friday night.

The singer, with Warren Wilson providing effective and unobtrusive accompaninebt, opened her program with the difficult "Exulate Jubilate" by Mozart and closed it with three bright folk pieces by Benjamin Britten and three spirituals--"Sweet Little Jesus Boy," "City Called Heaven" and "Let Us Break Bread Together."

MEMORIAL PRINCIPALS —Bishop Fred P. Corson, Philadelphia, Pa., who delivered the address at Bennett College's annual service of remembrance for Dr. David D. Jones, its president for 30 years, is flanked by Mrs. Sarah Herbin, left, of Greensboro, who gave tribute from alumnae, and President Willa B. Player, who presided.

SHE RESIGNS —Dr. Willa Player, president of Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., since 1955, has resigned to accept a position with the U. S. Office of Education. She will be director of the division of collete support. Dean Chauncey Winston has been named Bennett's acting president.

Bennett College News

The population of China is increasing at such a rate that not enough food can be produced to feed the people," Dr. Norman W. Schul, professor of geography at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, told the Monday morning assembly at Bennett College.

"One of the chronic problems of China," he said, "has been the inability of the people to extract enough food from the land, and remember that 80 per cent of the population is rural."

Dr. Schul, whose lecture, Agrarian Patterns in China, was the fifth in the current Non-Western Studies series, said that the present Communist regime inherited this problem when it began a series of land reforms in 1949. Some mechanization of farms has helped, he said, but the problem is still acute.

GREENSBORO—Students of responsibility develop into citizens of responsibility, Dr. Lewis C. Dowdy, president of A&T College, told the Bennett College vesper audience.

"The true student of responsibility," he said, "is continually in search of new problems to solve, new truths to be revealed. The dues you will pay in the society of responsible citizens will be high and you have such a short time in which to make your contribution."

He urged the students to keep up a continuing self-competition and never to be satisfied with their accomplishments.

* * *

GREENSBORO — An 11 a.m. morning worship musicale by Miss Charlotte Alston, college organist, will take the place of the usual afternoon vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, January 23.

* * *

GREENSBORO — Final examination marking the end of the first semester at Bennett College will be held January 24-28.

Pre-registration for the second semester which will begin on January 31 was held last week.

Bennett College News

Parallels in the lives of Jesus and Dr. David D. Jones were drawn by Bishop Fred P. Corson, of Philadelphia, Pa., in an address commemorating the late educator at Bennett College.

Speaking on "The Christian Assurance of Success," Bishop Corson stated that it is perfectly normal for a person to want to be a success but explained that success is a Christian virtue.

"Just as Jesus did," he said, Dr. Jones learned to do the best he could with what he had, and secondly, he had a good cause for action, he did the best he could for that cause and was wise to align himself with something that nothing could stop.

Mrs. Sarah Herbin, '36 of Greensboro, representing the alumnae, recalled the concern which Dr. Jones had for people, saying that one of his favorite inquiries of students was "What is your purpose?"

"More representatives of this college have enrolled in the Peace Corps than from any college of comparable size in the southeast," Avanis Stone, visiting Peace Corps official, told the Bennett College assembly here.

Mr. Stone, who is director of small college recruiting for the southeast and national director of physical training programs for overseas volunteers, was accompanied by Dr. Fred Madison, director of the Mid-West Region, and Miss Sandy Tyler who recently returned to the U.S. from a tour of duty in Pakistan.

The group spent two days on campus interviewing students and giving tests to juniors and seniors who indicated an interest in volunteering for the corps. Mr. Stone said that the corps presently has only four per cent Negro participation and expressed concern that more college students become involved in the program.

Demonstrating almost flawless voice control and displaying a wide range of moods in a program dominated by the works of Richard Strauss and Francis Poulenc, Veronica Tyler, soprano, captivated her audience at Bennett College, Friday night.

The singer, with Warren Wilson providing effective and unobtrusive accompaniment, opened her program with the difficult "Exultate Jubilate" by Mozart and closed it with three bright folk pieces by Benjamin Britten and three spirituals — "Sweet Little Jesus Boy," "City Called Heaven" and "Let Us Break Bread Together."

(1) SINGERS AND ADMIRERS...Soprano Veronia Tyler, following her concert at Bennett College last week, chats with two officers of campus Music Club during reception whic followed. Esterine Williams, president, of Tarboro, N.C., isat right and Claudette Parker, assistant secretary, Now of Bahama, N.C. is at left.

(2) MEMORIAL PRINCIPALS...Bishop Fred P. Corson, of Philadelphia, Pa., who delivered the address at Bennett College's annual service of remembrance for Dr. David D. Jones--its president for 30 years--flanked by Mrs. Sarah--Herbin (left), of Greensboro, who gave tribute from alumnae, and President Willa B. Player, who presided.

Bennett Speaker Draws Parallels In Lives Of Jesus, Dr. D. Jones

GREENSBORO --Parallels in the lives of Jesus and Dr. David D. Jones were drawn by Bishop Fred P. Corson, of Philadelphia, Pa., in his address commemorating the late educator at Bennett College on Sunday.

Speaking on "The Christian Assurance of Success," Bishop Corson stated that it is perfectly normal for a person to want to be a success but explained that success is a Christian virtue.

"Just as Jesus did," he said, "Dr. Jones learned early in life to do the best he could with what he had, and secondly, he had a good cause. In addition, he did the best that he could for that cause and he was wise to align himself with something that nothing could stop."

Mrs. Sarah Herbin, '36 of Greensboro, representing the alumnae, recalled the concern which Dr. Jones had for people, saying that one of his favorite inquiries of students was: "What is your purpose?"

Many From Bennett In Peace Corps

GREENSBORO--"More representatives of this college have enrolled in the Peace Corps than any college of comparable size in the Southeast," Avatus Stone, visiting Peace Corps official, told the Bennett College assembly here Monday morning.

Mr. Stone, who is director of small college recruiting for the Southeast and national director of physical training programs for overseas volunteers, was accompanied by Dr. Fred Madison, director of the Mid-West Region, and Miss Sandy Tyler who recenlty returned to the U. S. from a tour of duty in Pakistan.

The group spent two days on campus interviewing students and giving tests to juniors and seniors who indicated an interest in volunteering for the corps. Mr. Stone said that the corps presently has only four per cent Negro participation and expressed concern that more college students become involved in the program.

Bennett To Hear Talk On India

"Women of India" will be the subject of a lecture by Miss Margaret Peter, exchange professor of economics, at the Bennett College general assembly on Monday morning.

The lecture is a part of the Non-Western Studies Program. The speaker, a member of the faculty at Maharinis College at Bangalore, is expected to devote a portion of her remarks to the recent election of Mrs. Indira Gandhi as prime minister of India.

Seven Bennett Seniors Scheduled For Graduation

Seven Bennett College seniors were scheduled to complete requirements for graduation at the close of the first semester on January 28.

In the group are:

Mrs. Patricia G. Brown, of Baltimore, Md., English; Mrs. Sadie E. Goods, or Greensboro. biology and elementary education; Misses Mary Holder, of Middlesex, N. C., home economics; Doris Knotts, of Lexington, N. C. business education; Theresa Mobley, of Hallsboro, N. C., business education; Thelma Morgan, of Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa, French, and Jackie Outterbridge, of Greenville. N. C., elementary education.

They will rejoin members of their class at commencement exercises to be held on June 6.

Miss Sarah B. Wiley, sophomore business education major, will represent Bennett College in the "Miss National UNCF" contest which will be a highlight of the annual meeting of the National Alumni Council to be held February 10-13 in Cleveland, Ohio.

A Bennett "granddaughter," Miss Wiley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shelley Wiley, of Route 1, McLeansville, N. C., and was named "Miss UNCF of Bennett' last week. She is a graduate of Notre Dame High School, of Greensboro and plans a career as an executive secretary.

She is vice president of the Women's Athletic Association, secretary of the Non-Resident Club and a member of the Modern Dance Group. Last year she was a member of the freshman choir.

Dr. Donald Matthews, director of the North Carolina Center for Education in Politics at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, will be on the Bennett College campus on February 10 as a participant in the Visiting Scholars Program of the Piedmont University Center.

At 3:30 p.m. he will conduct a seminar on "The Changing U. S. Senate" for all social science majors and minors and at 7 p.m. in the Science Assembly he will lecture on "The Impact of Negro Voting on Southern Politics."

Two Bennett College students—a junior and a sophomore—will be engaged in exchange programs with DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind., and Willamette University, Salem, Oregon, respectively, during the second semester which began this week.

Miss Debra Morris, of Washington, D. C., a junior political science major, will be at DePauw and coming from that institution is Miss Cynthia Stahler, a sophomore, majoring in philosophy and religion.

Going to Willamette is Miss Cynthia Lewis, of McLeansville, N. C., a sophomore, psychology major. From Willamette came Miss Doris Rose, a junior English major.

"Outside pressures calls for inner braces," the Rev. James Cannon, director of the United Southern Christian Fellowship Foundation at A & T College, told Bennett College students on Wednesday.

MEMORIAL PRINCIPALS -- Bishop Fred P. Corson, of Philadelphia, Pa., who delivered the address at Bennett College's annual services of remembrance for Dr. David D. Jones -- its president for 30 years -- is flanked by Mrs. Sarah Herbin (left), of Greensboro, who gave tribute from alumnae, and President Willia B. Player, who presided.

Bennett's Miss "UNCF"

Miss Sarah B. Wiley, sophomore business education major, will represent Bennett College in the "Miss National UNCF" contest which will be a highlight of the annual meeting of the National Alumni Council to be held Feb. 10-13 in Cleveland Ohio.

A Bennett "granddaughter," Miss Wiley is the daughter of Mr. and Ms. Shelley Wiley, of Ropte 1, McLeansville, N. C., and was named "Miss UNCF of Bennett' last week. She is a graduate of Notre Dame High School, of Greensboro and plans a career as an executive secretary.

She is vice president of the Women's Althetic Association, secretary of the Non-Resident Club and a member of the Modern Dance Group. Last year she was a member of the freshman chair.

MISS SARAH WILEY

REV. CANNON SPEAKS AT BENNETT COLLEGE

GREENSBORO -- "Outside pressures calls for inner braces," the Rev. James Cannon, director of the United Southern Christian Fellowship Foundation at A&T College, told Bennett College students on Wednesday.

Dr. Willa Player Quits Bennett For U.S. Post

Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College since 1955, has resigned to accept a position with the U.S. Office of Education of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

She will be director of the division of college support of the government agency effective March 1.

Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, dean of instruction, will be acting president after that date.

Announcement of the acceptance of the resignation was made "with profound regret" by the trustees and Dr. F. D. Patterson of New York City, board chairman, at a general assembly program Tuesday.

Dr. Player's resignation terminates 35 years of service to Bennett beginning when she was instructor in the language department. She also has been director of admissions, coordinator of instruction and vice president.

Under Dr. Player's leadership, the college has expanded its enrollment, strengthened the faculty and the physical plant of the college has undergone substantial development.

Bennett is a liberal arts college for women and is one of two such colleges in the country which has a predominantly Negro enrollment. Bennett, Methodist affiliated, has 650 students.

* * *

DR. PLAYER received her bachelor of arts degree from Ohio Wesleyan University, her master of arts degree from Oberlin College, and her doctorate of education from Columbia University.

She has studied in France, at the University of Chicago, and the University of Wisconsin, and holds a number of honorary degrees.

A former Ford Fellow, Dr. Player holds memberships in a number of church, civic and educational groups.

* * *

BENNETT TRUSTEES appointed an interim committee to conduct the affairs of the college pending the selection of a successor to Dr. Player.

DR. WILLA B. PLAYER
. . . To Federal Post

They are Mrs. Mary Eady, registrar; James J. Scarlette, business manager; Dr. George Breathett of the office of educational planning and development; Dr. Marlowe F. Shute, director of self study and evaluation services; and Dr. Winston, chairman.

Dr. Player Quits Bennett After 35 Yrs.

GREENSBORO - Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College for the past ten years, has resigned her position, effective Tuesday, March 1.

On that date she will assume position of director of the Division of College Supports in the United States Office of Education, Department of Health Education and Welfare, with offices in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Player came to Bennett 35 years ago. Here she held her only position of teacher, for 25 years, and president.

She succeeded the late Dr. David D. Jones, who served as Bennett's president for some 25 years.

Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, dean of instruction at Bennett, will take over as acting president of the all-women college, upon Dr. Player's departure.

Dr. Player was the Women's Day speaker in Raleigh at the First Baptist Church in Raleigh in October 1964.

She is widely hailed as an educator and speaker.

Seven Seniors At Bennett Now Graduates

GREENSBORO -- Seven Bennett College seniors were scheduled to complete requirements for graduation at the close of the first semester on January 28.

In the group are:

Mrs. Patricia G. Brown, of Baltimore, Md., English; Mrs. Sadie E. Goode, of Greensboro, biology and elementary education; Misses Mary Holder, of Middlesex, home economics; Doris Knotts, of Lexington, business education; Theresa Mobley, of Hallsboro, business education; Thelma Morgan, of Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa, French, and Jackie Outterbridge, of Greenville, elementary education.

They will rejoin members of their class at commencement exercises to be held on June 6.

Dr. Matthews To Speak At Bennett February 10

GREENSBORO -- Dr. Donald Matthews, director of the North Carolina College for Education in Politics at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, will be on the Bennett College Campus on Feb. 10 as a participant in the Visiting Scholars Program of the Piedmont University Center.

At 3:30 p. m. he will conduct a seminar on "The Changing U. S. Senate" for all social science majors and minors and at 7 p. m. in the Science Assembly he will lecture on "The Impact of Negro Voting on Southern Politics."

There is, for instance, that flock of serious minded young women on campuses across the South, who have been actively engaged in furthering the interests of the United College Fund, and will be off, next week, to attend the 20th annual National UNCF Conference in Cleveland, Ohio.

There's Hazel Burnett, senior business education major at Saint Augustine's College who will represent that institution. Miss Burnett is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Burnett of Raleigh.

There's Marian Grace Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Thompson of Dillon, S.C., who will represent Barber-Scotia College of Concord, N.C.

There's Carolyne A. Russell, junior from Detroit, Mich., a social studies major, who will represent Tuskegee Institute, Ala.

And there's Sarah B. Wiley of McLeansville, N.C. a sophomore business education major, who will represent Bennett College.

* * *

MISS SARAH WILEY
(Bennett's choice)

Miss Wiley To Represent Bennett Soon

GREENSBORO--Miss Sarah B. Wiley, sophomore business education major, will represent Bennett College in the "Miss Nation UNCF" contest which will be a highlight of the annual meeting of the National Alumni Council to be held Feb. 10-13 in Cleveland, Ohio.

A Bennett "granddaughter," Miss Wiley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shelley Wiley, of Rt. 1, McLeansville, N. C., and was named "Miss UNCF of Bennett" last week. She is a graduate of Notre Dame High School, of Greensboro and plans a career as an executive secretary.

She is vice president of the Women's Athletic Association, secretary of the Non-Resident Club and a member of the Modern Dance Group. Last year she was a member of the freshman choir.

Effective March 1
Dr. Player To Leave Post At Bennett For U.S. Job

The board of trustees of Bennett College has announced the resignation of Dr. Willis B. Player, president, to become director of the division of college support of the U.S. Office of Education, effective March 1.

Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, dean of instruction, will become acting president on that date.

Dr. Player has been at Bennett 35 years and has served as president since 1955. She has been an instructor in the language department, director of admissions, coordinator of instruction and vice president.

She received her AB degree from Ohio Wesleyan University, her MA from Oberlin College and her doctor of education degree from Columbia University.

The interim committee to conduct college affairs pending the selection of a new president includes Mrs. Mary Eady, registrar; James J. Scarlette, business manager; Dr. George Breathett of the office of educational planning and development; Dr. Marlowe F. Shute, director of self study and evaluation services, and Dr. Winston.

Exchange Students

Two Bennett College students—a junior and a sophomore—will be engaged in exchange programs with DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind. and Willamette University, Salem, Ore., respectively, during the second semester which began thish week.

Miss Debra Morris, of Washington, D. C., a junior political science major, will be at DePauw and coming from that institution is Miss Cynthia Stahler, a sophomore, majoring in philosophy and religion.

Going to Willamette is Miss Cynthia Lewis, of McLeansville, N. C. a sophomore, psychology major. From Willamette came Miss Doris Rose, a junior-English maor.

Peace Corps Representatives With Students

Peace Corps representatives who visited Bennett College last week talk with students interested in the volunteer program. In rear are Avatus Stone and Dr. Fred Madison, regional directors, and Miss Sandy Tyler, recently returned from Parkistan. In front are Misses Rose Myers, of Mt. Pleasant, S. C., a senior, who has completed a part of her orientation; Messeret Taddease, a junior, of Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, and Brenda Stallworth, a senior, from Brewton, Ala.

Two Students At Bennett In Exchange

GREENSBORO -- Two Bennett College students -- a junior and a sophomore -- will be engaged in exchange programs with DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind., and Willamette University, Salem, Oregon, respectively, during the second semester which began this week.

Miss Debra Morris, of Washington, D. C., a junior political sceince major, will be at DePauw and coming from that institution is Miss Cynthia Stahler, a sophomore, majoring in phHosophy and religion.

Going to Williamette is Miss Cynthia Lewis, of McLeansville, N. C., a sophomore, psychology major. From Williamette came Miss Doris Rose, a junior-English major.

Bennett Visitor

Dr. Donald Matthews, director of the N.C. Center for Education in Politics at UNC-CH, will speak twice at Bennett College today. He will discuss the U.S. Senate at 3:30 p.m. and the impact of Negro Voting on southern politics at 7 o'clock.

IN QUEEN CONTEST -- Miss Sarah B. Wiley, of McLeansville, a sophomore business education major, who will represent Bennett College in the "Miss National UNCF" contest at the annual National Alumni Council meeting, February 10-13 in Cleveland, Ohio.

MID-YEAR GRADS -- Four of the seven Bennett College seniors who completed requirements for graduation at the close of the first semester are, left to right: Miss Thelma Morgan, Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa; Miss Mary Holder, of Middlesex; Mrs. Sadie E. Goode, of Greensboro, and Miss Jackie Outterbridge, of Greenville.

FOR PEACE CORPS -- Peace Corps representatives who visited Bennett College last week, talk with students interested in the volunteer program. In rear are Avatus Stone and Dr. Fred Madison, regional directors and Miss Sandy Tyler, recently returned from Patistan. In front are Misses Rose Myers, of Mt. Pleasant, S. C., a senior, who has completed a part of her orientation; Messeret Taddesse, a junior, of Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, and Brenda Stallworth, a senior, from Brewton, Ala.

Dr. Player's Example

The selection of Dr. Willa Player, president of Bennett College since 1955, to head the division of college support of the U. S. Office of Education is high compliment to her and the institution with which she has been connected for 35 years.

Along the road to the presidency she served as instructor in the language department, director of admissions, co-ordinator of instruction and vice president. Her leadership, inspiration and vision have thus been wrought into the college and become a major factor in its growth and excellence.

But the dual compliment to Dr. Player and the institution which she will leave in a few short weeks in no wise minimizes regret at her departure or relieves the responsibility of those at the college who meanwhile will carry on in her stead.

Particularly heavy is the responsibility for selection of her successor. Following in the footsteps of Dr. Player and the late Dr. David D. Jones presents a real challenge. But it is the kind of challenge that the right successor will accept—to carry Bennett forward in its dedicated purpose.

To Dr. Player, in her new field of service to education, our congratulations and good wishes. Her loss to Bennett is also a loss to the community. But there is satisfaction in knowing that her contribution will be lasting, that her influence will endure and that what has already gone into Bennett offers ample assurance of its future. The college and its leadership will follow the gleam.

Dr. Willa B. Player Resigns Presidency Of Bennett College; Served Ten Years

Announcement of the acceptance "with profound regret" by the Bennett College board of trustees of the resignation of President Willa B. Player, was made by Dr. F. D. Patterson, of New York City, board chairman, at a general assembly on Tuesday.

The resignation, he said, will become effective on March 1 when Dr. Player assumes the position of director of the division of college support in the U. S. Office of Education of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Dr. Player's resignation will officially terminate 35 years of service to Bennett, the last 10 of which were in the position of president.

Under her leadership, the college has expanded its enrollment, strengthened the faculty and the physical plant of the college has undergone substantial development.

An interim committee to conduct the affairs of the college and consisting of the following persons was designated by the board:

Mrs. Mary Eady, registrar; James J. Scarlette, business manager; Dr. George Breathett, of the office of educational planning and development; Dr. Marlowe F. Shute, director of self-study and evaluation services, and Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, dean of instruction, who will serve as chairman. Dr. Winston will assume the position of acting president on March 1 when Dr. Player takes up her new duties.

The trustees also appointed a committee on the selection of a successor to Dr. Player and this committee will report its recommendations to the board when a selection has been made.

DR. WILLA B. PLAYER

Openng of the second semester at Bennett College on Monday was marked by the enrollment of eight new students and the return of three others—two from first semester exchange programs.

Entering students include Misses Claudette Banze, of Elizabethville, Congo; Judith James, of New Brunswick, N. J.; Sharon O'Neil, of Atlantic Highlands, N. J., and Carol Hill, of Mount Vernon, N. Y.

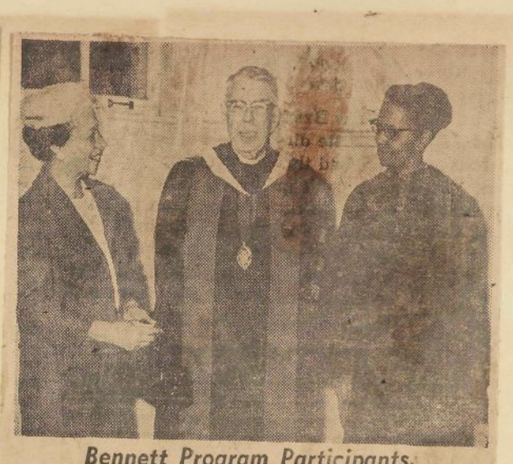

Returning from a semester on exchange at the University of Rochester are Rena Holloway, of Lincolnton, N. C., and Cherie Jones, of Danville, Va. Also returning was Doreen Manley, of Cofield, N. C.

Transfer students are Misses Melanie Birchette, of Jersey City, N. J., and Patricia Kersh, of Chicago, Ill. An exchange student from Willamette University, Salem, Oregon, is Miss Doris Rose while Miss Cynthia Stahler is an exchange student from DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind.

"Brief Music," a sentimental comedy in three acts, will be presented Feb. 10, 11 and 12 by the Bennett College Theatre Guild in the Little Theatre at 8 p.m.

Leading roles will be played by Misses Shirley Smedley, of Birmingham, Ala., and Andrea Mast, of Houston, Texas. Others in the cast include Misses Sandra Jenkins, of Orangeburg, S. C.; Fosterlyn Fountain, of Woodbridge, Va.; Judith Sullivan, of New Shrewsbury, N. J.; Judith Murray, of Washington, D. C., and Cleo Walker, of New Haven, Conn.

Speaker for the 4 p.m. vesper service on Sunday, February 13 at Bennett College will be Dr. Chadburne Durham, of Wesleyan University, Middleton, Conn.

Bennett Program Participants

Bishop Fred P. Corson of Philadelphia, Pa., who delivered the address at Bennett College's annual service of remembrance for Dr. David D. Jones, its president for 30 years, is flanked by Mrs. Sarah Herbin (left), of Greensboro, who gave tribute from alumnae and President Willa B. Player, who presided.

Bennett Plans School Meeting

Approximately 125 high school principals, teachers, counselors and parents have been invited to participate in the fifth annual conference of Bennett College's Saturday School Saturday.

Dr. Charles Garth, director, said that this year's theme will be "Five Years of Service: An Assessment," and will center around a panel of "graduates" who will evaluate the Saturday School experience in relation to their current pursuits.

Mrs. Mary T. Coleman, director of admissions, and Dr. F. L. Grandison, school counselor, will discuss new opportunities for high school and college students. There will be a special session for parents as well as a tour of classes and facilities.

FOR EMPHASIS -- Bishop Charles F. Golden, head of the Nashville-Carolina Area of the Methodist Church, drives home a point during an address at recent mid-year conference on Christian higher education held by the North Carolina-Virginia Conference at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C. Nearly $8,000 in contributions for the college were reported.

Bennett College Play

The Little Theater of Bennett College is enacting "Brief Music" tonight and Saturday at 8 p.m. There is no admission charge.

Bennett College News

BENNETT LIBRARY RECEIVES GRANT OF $1,000

A grant of $1,000 to the Holgate Library at Bennett College by the Association of College and Research Libraries — a division of the American Library Association — was announced this week.

The Bennett grant — one of 78 selected from among 373 applicants — will enable the college to gain a matching grant of similar amount from other sources, thus making possible the expenditure of $2,000.

Mrs. Constance H. Martee, librarian, said that these funds would be used to purchase general reference books for foreign languages not offered in the curriculum books required for specific subject matter in French, German, Spanish, Russian, Italian and Portuguese.

BENNETT DANCE TOUR

Bennington College's Dance Tour group, bringing a repertoire of original works by students, will appear in the Bennett College Little Theatre on Feb. 21 at 8 p.m.

The Vermont institution, which opened in 1932, elevated its dance division at the outset to parity with other academic divisions, a status then a novelty in the collegiate world. As a result it quickly became a major center of modern dance.

In the group are 10 student dancers, most of whom have had years of dance training, some with professional dance experience before enrolling in college.

"Too many of us seek to make God into our own image," the Rev. David Byers, of New Haven, Conn., told the Bennett College vesper audience on Sunday.

The minister, who is general secretary of the Yale University Christian Association, said that those who seek the real God will find Him at the center of their everyday lives.

Speaker for the 4 p.m. vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, February 20, will be Dr. Louis W. Norris, president of Albion College, Albion, Michigan.

Bennett Gets Library Grant

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The Holgate Library at Bennett College has received a $1,000 grant from the Association of College and Research Libraries, a division of the American Library Association.

The Bennett grant - one of 78 selected from among 373 applicants — will enable the college to gain a matching grant of a similar amount from other sources, thus making possible the expenditure of $2,000.

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Opening of the second semester at Bennett College on Monday was marked by the enrollment of eight new students and the return of three others — two from first semester exchange programs.

Entering students include Misses Claudette Banze, of Elizabethville, Congo; Judith James, of New Brunswick, N.J.; Sharon O'Neil, of Atlanta Highlands, N.J., and Carol Hill, of Mount Vernon, N.Y.

Returning from a semester on exchange at the University of Rochester are Rena Holloway, of Lincolnton, N.C., and Cherie Jones, of Danville, Va. Also returning was Doreen Manley, of Cofield, N.C.

Transfer students are Misses Melanie Birchette, of Jersey City, N.J., and Patricia Kersh, of Chicago, Ill. An exchange student from Williamette University, Salem, Oregon, is Miss Dorie Rose while Miss Cynthia Stahler is an exchange student from DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind.

For Federal Post

Dr. W. Player Resigns As Bennett President

GREENSBORO, N. C. — nnouncement of the acceptance "with profound regret" y the Bennett College board f trustees of the resignation f President Willa B. Player, as made by Dr. F. D. Patterson, of New York City, rd chairman, at a general embly on Tuesday.

position of president.

The resignation, he said, l become effective on rch 1 when Dr. Player asnes the position of director the division of college sup't in the U. S. Office of ucation of the Department Health, Education and

James J. Scarlette, business manager; Dr. George Breathett, of the office of educational planning and development; Dr. Marlowe F. Shute, director of self-study and evaluation services, and Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, dean of instruction, who will serve as chairman. Dr. Winston will assume the position of acting president on March 1 when Dr. Player takes up her new duties.

The trustees also appointed a committee on the selection of a successor to Dr. Player and this committee will report its recommendations to the board when a selection has been made.

DR. WILLA B. PLAYER
Will Resign

Under her leadership, the college has expanded its enrollment, strengthened the faculty and the physical plant has undergone substantial development.

An interim committee to conduct the affairs of the college was designated by the board:

MRS. MARY Eady, registrar: James J. Scarlette, business manager; Dr. George Breathett, of the office of educational planning and development; Dr. Marlowe F. Shute, director of self-study and evaluation services, and Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, dean of instruction, who will serve as chairman. Dr. Winston will assume the position of acting president on March 1 when Dr. Player takes up her new duties.

The trustees also appointed a committee on the selection of a successor to Dr. Player.

TO PRESENT PLAY

A sentimental three-act comedy, "Brief Music," will be presented tonight and Friday night at 8 o'clock in the Bennett College Theatre by the college Theatre Guild. Leading roles will be played by Shirley Smedley of Birmingham, Ala., and Andrea Mast of Houston, Texas.

GRADUATES -- Lovely Jackie Outerbridge of Greenville, N.C., was a mid-year graduate of Bennett College. She was one of seven seniors who completed requirements for first semester graduation.

Dr. Willa Player Resigns As President Of Bennett College

GREENSBORO—"Announcement of the acceptance "with profound regret" by the Bennett College board of trustees of the resignation of President Willa B. Player, was made by Dr. F. D. Patterson, of New York City, board chairman, at a general assembly on Tuesday.

The resignation, he said, will become effective on March 1 when Dr. Player assumes the position of director of the division of college support in the U.S. Office of Education of the Department of Helath, Education and Welfare.

Dr. Player's resignation will officially terminate 35 years of service to Bennett, the last 10 of which were in the position of president.

Under her leadership, the college has expanded its enrollment, strengthened the faculty and the physical plant of the of the college has undergone substantial development.

An interim committee to conduct the affairs of the college and consisting of the following persons was designated by the board:

Mrs. Mary Eady, reistrar; James J. Scarlette, business manager; Dr. George Breathett, of the office of educational planning and development;

DR. PLAYER

--Player

Continued from front page

Dr. Marlowe F. Shute, director of self-study and evaluation services and Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, dean of instruction, who will serve as chairman. Dr. Winston will assume the position of acting president on March when Dr. Player takes up her new duties.

Dance Group

Bennington College's Dance Tour group bringing a repertoire of original works by students will appear in the Bennett College Little Theatre at 8 o'clock tonight.

Honor For Player

Dr. Willa Player, who has resigned as president of Bennett College, will be honored at a convocation at 4 p.m. Saturday in Pfeiffer Chapel at the college.

College Fund Has Campaign Aide

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Bennington College's Dance Tour group, bringing a repertoire of original work by Bennett College Little Theatre Feb. 21 at 8 p. m.

The group consists of 10 student dancers, most of whom have had years of dance training, some with professional experience prior to enrolling in college.

The Vermont institution, which opened in 1932, quickly elevated its dance division to equality with other academic divisions, a status then a novelty in the collegiate world. As a result, the college soon became a major center of modern dance.

ONE MUST EAT--The fourth heavy snow in Greensboro, in less than three weeks is braved by these Bennett College students on their way to the dining center in the David D. Jones Student Union. One must eat, despite 13 inches of the white stuff.

BISHOP CORSON, GUEST -- Bishop Fred P. Corson, of Philadelphia, Pa., who delivered the address at Bennett College's annual service of remembrance for Dr. David D. Jones -- its president for 30 years -- is flanked by Mrs. Sarah Herbin (left), of Greensboro, who gave tribute from alumnae, and President Wills B. Player, who presided. Bishop Corson, holder of nearly a score of honorary degrees from college and universities across the nation, has served as a college president and has been a visiting lecturer at many institutions of learning.

Dr. Willa Player's Resignation Accepted "With Profound Regret"

GREENSBORO -- Announcement of the acceptance "with profound regret" by the Bennett College board of trustees of the resignation of President Willa B. Player, was made by Dr. F. D. Patterson, of New York City, board chairman, at a general assembly last Tuesday.

The resignation, he said, will become effective on March 1 when Dr. Player assumes the position of director of the division of college support in the U. S. Office of Education of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Dr. Player's resignation will officially terminate 35 years of service to Bennett, the last 10 of which were in the position of president.

Under her leadership, the college has expanded its enrollment, strengthened the faculty and the physical plant of the college has undergone substantial development.

An interim committee to conduct the affairs of the college an consisting of the following persons was designed by the board:

Mrs. Mary Eady, registrar; James J. Scarlette, business manager; Dr. George Breathett, of the office of educational planning and development; Dr. Marlowe F. Shute, director of self-study and evaluation services, and Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, dean of instruction, who will serve as chairman. Dr. Winston will assume the position of acting president on March 1 when Dr. Player takes up her new duties.

The trustees also appointed a committee on the selection of a successor to Dr. Player and this committee will report its recommendations to the board when a selection has been made.

Spring Honors

Spring for the annual spring honors convocation at Bennett College Friday will be Mrs. Barbara D. Finberg, executive assistant with the Carnegie Corp. of New York. The occasion will honor sophomores, juniors and seniors who have achieved academic excellence by the presentation of certificates and awards. Mrs. Finberg, a graduate of Stanford University, received her master of arts degree from American University of Beirut, specializing in Near Eastern studies.

Finberg

Bishop Charles F. Golden, head of the Nashville-Carolina Area of The Methodist Church, drives home a point during address at recent mid-year conference on Christian higher education held by the North Carolina-Virginia Conference at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C. Nearly $8,000 in contributions for the college were reported.

SINGER AND ADMIRERS--Soprano Veronica Tyler following her concert at Bennett College last week, chats with two officers of campus Music Club during reception which followed. Katherine Williams, president, of Tarboro, N.C. is at right and Claudette Parker, assistant secretary, of Bahama, N.C., is at left.

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Opening of the second semester at Bennett College on Monday was marked by the enrollment of eight new students and the return of three others — two from first semester exchange programs.

Entering students include Misses Claudette Banze, of Elizabethville, Congo; Judith James, of New Brunswick, N.J.; Sharon O'Neil, of Atlanta Highlands, N.J., and Carol Hill, of Mount Vernon, N.Y.

Returning from a semester on exchange at the University of Rochester are Rena Holloway, of Lincolnton, N.C., and Cherie Jones, of Danville, Va. Also returning was Doreen Manley, of Cofield, N.C.

Transfer students are Misses Melanie Birchette, of Jersey City, N.J., and Patricia Kersh, of Chicago, Ill. An exchange student from Williamette University, Salem, Oregon, is Miss Dorie Rose while Miss Cynthia Stahler is an exchange student from DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind.

75 High School Principals Meet At Bennett College

In spite of inclement weather, some 75 high school principals, counselors and parents from North Carolina and Virginia attended the fifth annual Saturday School conference at Bennett College on Saturday.

Dr. Charles E. Garth, director, who welcomed the group, traced the growth of the once-a-week school for high-ability high school juniors and seniors and pointed to the need—after five years of operation—for an assessment of the program which is financed by the Carnegie Corporation of New York.

A symposium, featuring five former Saturday School students, brought out ways in which the experience had been helpful to them in college and made some suggestions for further enriching it. In this group was Linda Raiford, of Greensboro, now attending Howard University in Washington, D. C., on a scholarship.

These "graduates" suggested that it might be helpful if oral languages and a course in speech were added to the present curriculum, stating that this would further serve to bridge the present gap between high school and college. The curriculum now includes English, mathematics, reading and social science.

While parents visited classes, administrators and teachers engaged in a statistical [illegible]uation of the school and [illegible]owing lunch, a session for [illegible] was held with Dr. E. L. [illegible]ison, counselor, and Mrs. [illegible]T. Coleman, director of admissions for Bennett, speaking and answering questions.

BENNETT COLLEGE

The idea of not allowing oneself to become involved is an attitude deeply engraved upon the American conscience, Dr. Chadbourne Dunham told the Bennett College vesper audience on Sunday.

The speaker, a member of the faculty of Wesleyan University, of Middleton, Conn., stated that this attitude, however, is not new and gave examples dating from Homer's Illiad to Dostoevsky's "The Brothers Karamazov" to illustrate his thesis.

Bennett

Dr. James H. Laird, minister of Central Methodist Church, Detroit, Mich., will speak at the 4 p.m. vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, February 27.

Bennett College will be the host to the annual Winter Sports Day of the Women's Sports Day Association on February 25 and 26.

Representatives from Hampton Institute, Virginia State College, S. C. State College, N. C. College, N. C. A & T College, Livingstone College and from the host institution will compete in volleyball, shuffleboard, basketball, bowling and relays on both days. Closing activity will be a banquet at 6:30 on Saturday.

Speaker for the annual spring honors convocation at Bennett College on Feb. 25 will be Mrs. Barbara D. Finberg, executive assistant with the Carnegie Corporation of New York.

The occasion will honor sophomores, juniors and seniors who have achieved academic excellence by the presentation of certificates and awards.

Mrs. Finberg, a graduate of Stanford University, received her master of arts degree from American University of Beirut, specializing in Near Eastern Studies. Before coming to Carnegie she had worked for the Institute of International Education and the U. S. Department of State.

VALENTINE INVITATION - This Bennett College sophomore -- Miss Cheri Jones, of Danville, Va., -- seems to have succeeded in letting Cupid know her sentiments about Valentine's Day, which was Monday.

Bennett Head Gets HEW Post

GREENSBORO, N. C.--Announcement of the acceptance "with profound regret" by the Bennett College board of trustees of the resignation of President Willa B. Player, was made by Dr. F. D. Patterson, of New York City, board chairman, at a general assembly recently.

The resignation, he said, will become effective on March 1, when Dr. Player assumes the position of director of the division of college support in the U. S. Office of Education of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Dr. Player's resignation will officially terminate 35 years of service to Bennett, the last 10 of which were in the position of president.

Under her leadership, the college has expanded its enrollment, strengthened the faculty and the physical plant of the college has undergone substantial development.

An interim committee to conduct the affairs of the college and consisting of the following persons was designated by the board:

Mrs. Mary Eady, registrar; James J. Scarlette, business manager; Dr. George Breathett of the office of educational planning and development; Dr. Marlowe F. Shute, director of self-study and evaluation services, and Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, dean of instruction, who will serve as chairman. Dr. Winston will assume the position of acting president on March 1 when Dr. Player takes up her new duties.

The trustees also appointed a committee on the selection of a successor to Dr. Player and this committee will report its recommedations to the board when a selection has been made.

Bennett College To Host Women's Sports Day Soon

DURHAM - The Winter Sports Day of the National Women's Sports' Day Association will convene at Bennett College, Greensboro, Feb. 25-26, according to Mrs. Jennie D. Taylor, national president of the organization.

North Carolina College will be represented by 12 students at the event, which will feature bowling, volleyball, basketball, and shuffleboard.

A skills test related to the activities engaged in will be given to determine the "WSDA Lady of the Year." A basketball officials' test will also be given for those desiring ratings.

The NCC participants will be Alice Jones, Sanford; Emma Stephenson, Washington, D. C.; Joyce Turner, South Mills; Mary Felton, Elizabeth City; Claudette Williams, Enfield; Fay Archer, Winton; Charlene Witherspoon, Philadelphia, Pa.; and Catherine Gamble, Mozelle Harris, Claudette Prince, Jeanette Amos, and Janice Ginyard, president of the Women's Athletic Association at NCC, all of Durham.

They will be accompanied by Mrs. Taylor, who is director of women's athletics at NCC.

Bennett Alumni Baby Contest

Members of the Greensboro chapter of the Bennett College Graduate Association cleared more than $500 for the college's Loyalty Fund as a result of a baby contest which ended Sunday with the presentation of prizes.

Top honors went to Mrs. Bobbie T. Humphrey, '52, for her son, Michael while in second place was Mrs. Rosa F. Hooker, '53 and son, Grady. Third honors went ot Mrs. Honora G. Brown, 59, and her daughter, Helen. Prizes were $50 and $25 savings bonds and a $10 gift certificate

Honors Given Dr. Player

BY OWEN LEWIS
Daily News Staff Writer

With the joyous sounds of Bach, Beethoven and Brahms, with 18 expressions of tribute, with tangible gifts and unanimous thanks, Dr. Willa Player was bade farewell Saturday as president of Bennett College.

Dr. Player, who has been with the college since 1930 and has served as president since 1955, leaves March 1 to take a position in Washington as director of the Bureau of College Support, Office of Education, Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

* * *

ABOUT 400 persons gathered in Pfeiffer Chapel on the Bennett campus to honor Dr. Player. The college choir and organist performed, and Lily Keleti, pianist played Brahms' "Rhapsody in B Minor."

Bishop Prince A. Taylor of Princeton, N.J., speaking for the Methodist Church, said, "Her contribution was marked not simply by tenure but by insight and creativity as a teacher and administrator. She never accepted second best."

DR. WILLA PLAYER
. . . A Farewell

Mrs. Carl H. King of Statesville, for the Women's Division of Christian Service, called Dr. Player "a professionally qualified woman, a missionary for a new day."

Dr. A. R. Keppel of Winston-Salem, director of the Piedmont University Center, referred to "the stamp of gracious living she has left on those of us who have worked with her."

Mayor William L. Trotter Jr. presented her a key to the city and said, "With sincere regret, we bid you farewell."

Bland Worley, representing the business community, said, "Because of your contributions Greensboro is a better town in which to live."

* * *

DR. LEWIS C. DOWDY, president of A&T College read a citation from the trustees, faculty, students and alumni of A&T and presented Dr. Player a plaque. "The quality of your work praises you," he said.

P. J. Weaver, superintendent of Greensboro city schools, said, "You'll never know how many children you've helped by helping their teachers. It is encouraging that there's enough sanity left in Washington to come to Greensboro and get you."

Mrs. Alma Tarpley Taylor of Greensboro presented Dr. Player a big, heavy, gift-wrapped box on behalf of the Greensboro chapter of Bennett alumnae. "We are grateful for her upreach and her outreach," Mrs. Taylor said.

* * *

MRS. BLANCHE RAIFORD presented Dr. Player a large silver bowl on behalf of the faculty, staff and students. Mittie White, president of the Student Senate, presented gold charm replicas of three Bennett buildings.

"I am deeply grateful to you for this heart-warming occasion," Dr. Player said in her response. "No task can be larger than the one I've had here. No love can be greater than that I have for you. No work can be more challenging than that at Bennett."

Bennett Speaker

Dr. James H. Laird, minister of Central Methodist Church, Detroit, Mich., will speak today at a 4 p.m. vesper service at Bennett College in Pfeiffer Chapel.

$1000 Grant For Library At Bennett

GREENSBORO -- A grant of $1,000 to the Holgate Library at Bennett College by the Association of College and Research Libraries -- a division of the American Library Association -- was announced this week.

The Bennett grant -- one of 78 selected from among 373 applicants -- will enable the college to gain a matching grant of similar amount from other sources, thus making possible the expenditure of $2,000.

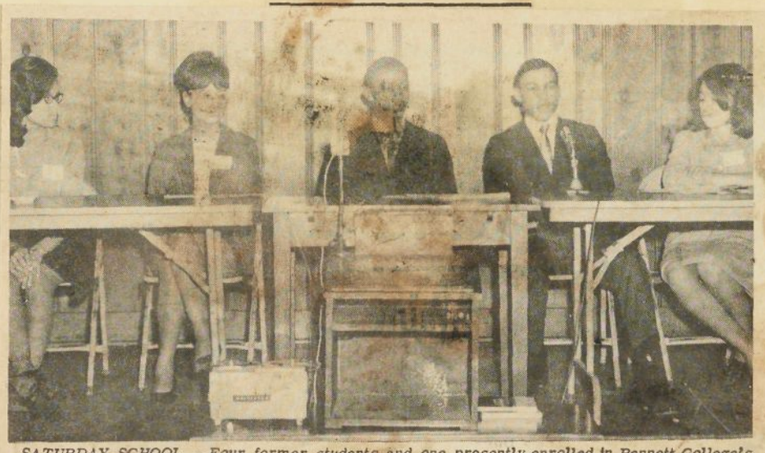

Dr. Dunham Is Speaker At Bennett

GREENSBORO--The idea of not allowing oneself to become involved is an attitude engraved upon the American conscience, Dr. Chadbourne Dunham told the Bennett College vesper audience on Sunday.

The speaker, a member of the faculty of Wesleyan University, of Middleton, Conn., stated that this attitude, however, is not new and gave examples dating from Homer's Illiad to Dostoevsky's "The Brothers Karamazov" to illustrate his thesis.

NASA Speaker

Closing lecturer for Science Emphasis Week at Bennett College will be David Woods, of the NASA program, Langley Field, Va., who will speak on "The Apollo Space Program" in the Science Assembly at 11:15 a.m. today. On Thursday afternoon, Dr. L. D. Quinn, of the department of chemistry at Duke University, lectured on "A New Aspect of the Biological Chemistry of Phosphorous."

SATURDAY SCHOOL --Four former students and one presently enrolled in Bennett College's Saturday School for high school juniors and seniors tell during Saturday conference how experience has helped them. Left to right: Linda Raiford (Howard U.), Cherie Jones (Bennett) Harlen Smith, of Smith High School, Ira Palmer, of the Saturday School and Alma Robinson (Middlebury College).

75 Attend Bennett's Saturday School

GREENSBORO -- In spite of inclement weather, some 75 high school principals, counselors and parents from North Carolina and Virginia attended the fifth annual Saturday School conference at Bennett College on Saturday.

Dr. Charles E. Garth, director, who welcomed the group, traced the growth of the once-a-week school for high-ability high school juniors and seniors and pointed to the need--after five years of operation -- for an assessment of the program which is financed by the Carnegie Corporation of New York.

A symposium, featuring five former Saturday School students, brought out ways in which the experience had been helpful to them in college and made some suggestions for further enriching it. In this group was Linda Raiford, of Greensboro, now attending Howard University in Washington, D. C., on a scholarship.

These "graduates" suggested that it might be helpful if oral languages and a course in speech were added to the present curriculum, stating that this would further serve to bridge the present gap between high school and college. The curriculum now includes English, mathematics, reading and social science.

While parents visited classes, administrators and teachers engaged in a statistical evaluation of the school and, following lunch, a session for parents was held with Dr. F. L. Grandison, counselor, and Mrs. Mary T. Coleman, director of admissions for Bennett, speaking and answering questions.

* * *

BENNETT BABIES —Participants in baby contest sponsored by the Greensboro, N.C. chapter of the Bennett College Graduate Association, shown following awarding of prizes last week. Left to right, seated: Mesdames Dorothy H. Williams, with Maloney; Rosa F. Hooker, with Grady, second prize; Bobbie T. Humphrey, with Michael, first prize; Ernestine H. Gray, with Gary, Back row: Mesdames Barbara M. Herbin, with Kevie; Honora G. Brown, with Helen, third prize, and Jacqueline J. Lyons, with Lynell.

Greater Guilford In Brief

Bennett Lecture

The eighth lecture in the non-western series at Bennett College will be presented at 10 a.m. today in the college assembly hall by Dr. David Hyatt, executive vice president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

He was formerly press attache to the American Embassy in Pakistan and a member of the faculty of Cornell University.

He will speak on "Pakistan and India" with a special emphasis on how to build brotherhood.

IN BENNETT PLAY...Shown in after-party scene from "Brief Music," a comedy performed by Bennett College Theatre Guild recently are, left to right: Misses Cleo Walker, of New Haven, Conn.; Judith Murray, of Washington, D.C.; Saundra Jenkins, of Orangeburg, S.C., and Lynn Fountain, of Woodbridge, Va.

Ex-Diplomat Says:

U.S. Leads World In Brotherhood

Nations which point the accusing finger of prejudice and discrimination at the United States in many instances are ignoring greater injustices in their own countries, Dr. David Hyatt, executive vice president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, told students at Bennett College today.

Speaking at a student assembly in the eighth lecture in the college's non-western series, Dr. Hyatt, who returned to his post several months ago after a leave of absence in which he served as press attache for the United States embassy in Pakistan, said that, with all of its shortcomings, this nation can still be proud of itself.

"It is great," he said, "because it has a soul. It is trying and working more than any other country to make the brotherhood of man a part of the way of Democratic life."

Dr. Hyat, a former newsman and college professor, said that education is the only route for winning friends in South Asia and this road is blocked by the extreme poverty and its accompanying lack of understanding and concern for nothing more than "getting a meal a day."

Democracy just has not penetrated the people of the region, he said, and the word is spread that the United States does not practice what it preaches. Examples of the latter, he said, are the big play, often failing to tell the whole story, of this country's racial incidents such as the Watts riots in Los Angeles.

His stay in Pakistan endowed him with "a new sense of the humanitarianism in the United States," Dr. Hyatt said.

Emphasizing the role of the individual in bringing to this country the type of picture to which fingers cannot be pointed, Dr. Hyatt said this cannot be done just by passing laws.

Fund Presents Bennett $60,783

Bennett College received $60,783.50 in the final 1965 disbursement Tuesday by the United Negro College Fund.

The total for the 33 member colleges and universities for the year was a record $2,000,000 in disbursements.

Other North Carolina colleges receiving funds were Barber-Scotia College, Concord, $45,652.25; Johnson C. Smith University, Charlotte, $66,207.17.

Alumnae Vesper Speaker

Mrs. James T. Young, principal of an elementary school in Rochester, N. Y., will be the speaker for the annual alumnae vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, March 6 at 4 p. m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

A native North Carolinian, Mrs. Young was graduated from Bennett in 1944, earned her M. Ed. from the University of Rochester in 1957 and is at present a doctoral candidate there while on leave.

Mrs. Young, mother of three, has lived in Rochester for 22 years and employed by the Rochester schools for 14 years. A member of Alpha Kappa Mu and Delta Kappa Gamma, she was recently chosen as one of the seven most outstanding women in the city by the joint boards of the YWCA and the Jewish Youth Organization for outstanding service to the community.

Bennett College Receives $60,783

Bennett College of Greensboro today received $60,783.50 from the United Negro College Fund.

The fund distributed the record sum of about $2,000,000 to its 33 member colleges and universities. The disbursement, totaling $1,955,009, exceeds all previous allotments derived from annual appeal funds and represents the final distribution of gifts received by the organization during its 1965 campaign.

Other North Carolina colleges receiving funds were Barber-Scotia College, Concord, $45,652.25; Johnson C. Smith University, Charlotte, $66,207.17; Livingston College, Salisbury, $53,041; St. Augustine's College, Raleigh, $53,001.70, and Shaw University, Raleigh, $48,344.41.

Thespians In Comedy Scene At Bennett College

Shown in after-party scene from "Brief Music," a comedy performed by the Bennett College Theatre Guild in Greensboro last week are, left to right, Misses Cleo Walker of New Haven, Conn., Judith Murray of Washington, D. C., Saundra Jenkins of Orangeburg, S. C. and Lynn Fountain of Woodbridge, Va.

Dr. Willa B. Player Bids Farewell To Bennett College

Leaders in religion, education, business and industry joined with Bennett College alumnae, faculty -staff and students to bid farewell to President Willa B. Player at a special convocation here Saturday.

Dr. Player relinquished the administrative reins of the institution as of March 1 to Dean Chauncey G. Winston, who becomes acting president. On that same date she assumed the directorship of the division of college support in the U. S. Office of Education of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Player came to the college in 1930 and assumed the presidency in 1955 after Dr. David D. Jones was retired. She was the recipient of a number of gifts, among them a silver service from the Greensboro graduate chapter, a silver bowl from the faculty and staff, several gold charm replicas of campus buildings from the student body, and a key to the city presented by Mayor William L. Trotter.

Dean Winston, who presided, recognized the presence in the audince of a number of special guests, among them, Mrs. David D. Jones, wife of the late president and Mrs. Raymond Brown, of Akron, Ohio, sister of Dr. Player.

In his tribute to Dr. Player, Bishop Prince A. Taylor, of Princeton, N. J.—a trustee and former Bennett teacher—who represented the Methodist Church —said: "She never accepted a second best as long as the best was within her reach."

Calling Dr. Player "a new missionary for a new day," Mrs. Carl King, of Statesville, also a trustee, who represented the Woman's Division of Christian Service, described her as a PQW —"a professionally qualified woman."

Dr. J. A. Tarpley, treasurer of the trustee board, representing that body said: "She has already honored herself by building her own monument from which none can detract."

Dr. A. R. Keppel, executive director of the Piedmont University Center, Inc., said: "She has been a pillar of great strength in the establishment and operation of the center which she served as secretary since its inception. . . she is simply moving into another house and expanding her neighborhood."

From neighboring A & T College came Dr. L. C. Dowdy who said: "We are thankful for what you have done to help the state colleges realize that they and the private institutions are fighting the same battle," before presenting to her a citation from the "3400 students, 10,000 graduates, faculty and trustees" of institution.

Others who made expressions of appreciation to Dr. Player included: Vance H. Chavis, representing the United Negro College Fund; Dr. G. H. Evans, for the community; Bland W. Worley for the business community; Dr. J. Ralph Jolly, for the private colleges; Philip J. Weaver, for the city school system.

The Rev. G. M. Phelps, '14, for the graduates before 1930, and Mrs. T. Taylor, '30, for the graduates after 1930; Miss Mittie White, '66' for the student body and Mrs. Blanche Raiford, for the faculty-staff. Letters were read from Dr. A. Hollis Edens, executive director of the Mary Reynolds Babcock Foundation; Bishop Charles L. Golden, of the Nashville-Carolina Area of the Methodist Church, and a telegram from Dr. F. D. Patterson, chairman of the board.

In her response, Dr. Player said:

"All of us are aware of the fact that no single person ever does all by himself. If we have had the slightest opportunity to render the slightest service, we owe it to you. I am deeply grateful to you.

"But please remember that no task can be greater for me than the task here and that government or no government, it will always be Bennett."

Following the program, Dr. Player stood for nearly two hours in the reception line receiving the congratulations and appreciation from the hundreds of persons who gathered to bid her goodbye.

Homemaking Institute

Raising the level of aspiration of students and their parents will be the aim of the 40th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College to be held March 13-20.

Mrs. Louise G. Streat, chairman of the committee planning the observance, said that this year's institute will be built around seminars in which women who have achieved in outstanding careers will serve as discussants.

An added feature this year will be a workshop for parents at which they will be brought up-to-date on the many new employment opportunities now open to their daughters after graduation.

Vesper Speaker

Young

Mrs. James T. Young, principal of an elementary school in Rochester, N.Y., will be the speaker for the annual alumnae vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel. A native North Carolinian, Mrs. Young was graduated from Bennett in 1944, earned her MEd from the University of Rochester in 1957 and is at present a doctoral candidate there while on leave.

Chemistry Lecturer

Dr. E. Bright Wilson, professor of chemistry at Harvard University, will lecture at Bennett College Wednesday under the auspices of the Piedmont University Center, Inc., of Winston-Salem.

Dr. Mays To Speak At Bennett College's 40th Annual Homemaking Institute

Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., will deliver the address marking the close of the 40th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College on Sunday, March 20, at 4 p. m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

At that time, Mrs. Louise G. Streat, chairman of the Institute committee, will also give a summary of the week's activities which had as a theme: "Opportunities and Aspirations: A New Perspective for Women."

The Institute opened on Monday with a "Town Hall type meeting with the following women as panelist consultants:

Mrs. Audrose M. Harvey, home economist, of Rochester, N. Y.; Dr. Helen Smith, dentist, business and civic leader of Los Angeles, Calif.; Miss Marian Wright, attorney, of Jackson, Miss., recently named by a national magazine as one of the nation's outstanding young women; and Dr. Ella Haith Weaver on sabbatical leave from Brooklyn College to serve as speech consultant to the Job Corps for Women.

Following this session there were three seminar sessions which were continued during the afternoon.

Scheduled for Wednesday morning was another "Town Hall" session with the following persons as panelists-consultants:

Mrs. Majorie Gay Brown, home economist, of Stamford, Conn.; Mrs. Mary E. Funneyeye, psychiatric social worker, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; the Rev. Julia McClain Walker, professor of religion at Morris Brown College, Atlanta, Ga.; and Miss Philippa Schuyler, pianist, author and world traveler, of New York City.

Seminar sessions similar to those on Monday were also scheduled. A seminar for some 100 parents has been scheduled for Saturday morning in the Sciences Assembly. Theme will be "Recognizing and Dealing with the Aspirational Levels of Students." Object of this session will be to acquaint parents with the newer employment opportunities open to their daughters and to encourage parents not to stand in the way of their daughters should they seek "non - traditional" employment.

Bennett bids outgoing prexy farewell at special program

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Leaders in religion, education, business and industry joined with Bennett College alumnae, faculty-staff and students to bid farewell to President Willa B. Player at a special convocation here Saturday, March 5.

DR. WILLA B. PLAYER
Honored at farewell

Dr. Player relinquished the administrative reins of the institution as of March 1 to Dean Chauncey G. Winston, who becomes acting president. On that same date she assumed the directorship of the division of college support in the U.S. Office of Education of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, in Washington, D.C.

Dr. Player came to the college in 1930 and assumed the presidency in 1955 after Dr. David D. Jones was retired. She was the recipient of a number of gifts, among them a silver service from the Greensboro graduate chapter, a silver bowl from the faculty and staff, several gold charm replicas of campus buildings from the student body, and a key to the city presented by Mayor William L. Trotter.

Dean Winston, who presided recognized the presence in the audience of a number of special guests, among them, Mrs. David D. Jones, wife of the late president and Mrs. Raymond Brown of Akron, Ohio, sister of Dr. Player.

* * *

IN HIS tribute to Dr. Player, Bishop Prince A. Taylor, of Princeton, N.J.—A trustee and former Bennett teacher—who represented the Methodist Church—said "She never accepted a second best as long as the best was within her reach."

Calling Dr. Player "a new missionary for a new day," Mrs. Carl King, of Statesville, also a trustee, who represented the Woman's Division of Christian Service, described her as a PQW—"a professionally qualified woman."

Dr. J.A. Tarpley, treasurer of the trustee board, representing that body said: "She has already honored herself by building her own monument from which none can detract."

Dr. A. R. Keppel executive director of the Piedmont University Center, Inc., said: "She has been a pillar of great strength in the establishment and operation of the center which she served as secretary since its inception . . . She is simply moving into another house and expanding her neighborhood."

* * *

FROM NEIGHBORING A and T College came Dr. L. C. Dowdy who said: "We are thankful for what you have done to help the state colleges realize that they and the private institutions are fighting the same battle," before presenting to her a citation from the "3400 students, 10,000 graduates, faculty and trustees" of institution.

Others who made expression of appreciation to Dr. Player included: Vance H. Chavis, representing the United College Fund; Dr. G. H. Evans, for the community; Bland W. Worley for the business community; Dr. J. Ralph Jolly, for the private colleges; Philip J. Weaver, for the city school system;

The Rev. G. M Phelps, '14 for the graduates before 1930, and Mrs. Alma T. Tayylor,'30 for the graduates after 1930; Miss Mittie White, '66, for the student body and Mrs. Blanche Raiford, for the faculty-staff.

Letters were read from Dr. A. Hollis Edens, executive director of the Mary Reynolds Babcock Foundation; Bishop Charles L. Golden, of the Nashville-Carolina Area of the Methodist Church, and a telegram from Dr. F. D. Patterson chairman of the board.

* * *

IN HER response, Dr. Player said:

"All of us are aware of the fact that no single person ever does all by himself. If we have had the slightest opportunity to render the slightest service, we owe it to you. I am deeply grateful to you.

"But please remember that no task can be greater for me than the task here and that government or no government, it will always be Bennett."

Following the program, Dr. Player stood for nearly two hours in the reception line receiving the congratulations and appreciation from the hundreds of persons who gathered to bid her goodbye.

BENNETT BABIES -- Participants in baby contest, sponsored by the Greensboro, chapter of the Bennett College Graduate Association, shown following awarding of prizes on Sunday. Left to right, seated: Mesdames Dorothy H. Williams, with Melloney; Rosa F. Hooker, with Grady, second prize; Bobbie T. Humphrey, with Michael, first prize; Ernestine H. Gray, with Gary. Back row: Mesdames Barbara M. Herbin, with Kevie; Honora G. Brown, with Helen, third prize, and Jacqueline J. Lyons, with Lynell.

ALL ABOUT DANCING -- Three members of Bennington (Vt.) College dance group which performed at Bennett College, Greensboro, last week, chat with Miss Olivia Skippper (left), teacher of ballet at Bennett, and one of her students, Miss Betty Williams, '66, (right) of Cincinnati, Ohio. The visitors are March Ozanich, Anita Dancoff and Laurie Freedman.

DR. WILLA B. PLAYER, whose tenure as president of Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., ended last week, greets Dr. Samuel Duncan, president of Livingstone College, Salisbury, during reception which followed convocation in her honor on Saturday. Dr. Player has accepted a post with the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Washington.

67 students honored at Bennett convocation

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Pointing out that education today is the biggest industry in the United States, Mrs. Barbara Finberg, of New York, Friday challenged Bennett College students to decide early the careers they would like and then prepare for them.

Mrs. Finberg, executive assistant with the Carnegie Corporation of New York, was speaking at the fourth annual Spring Honors Convocation at which 67 students were recognized for academic achievement.

"If we can discover the ways to help every child begin to learn when he shows curiosity and begins to ask question, rather than forcing him to wait until the system says 'it's time,' we will have ventured far in new educational directions," she said.

* * *

RECEIVING ACHIEVEMENT certificates were:

Freshmen — Rose M. Allen, Greensboro; Yvonne J. Allen, New Haven, Conn.; Audrey L. Arrington and Callie L. Brown, Atlanta; Karen S. Burnett, Graham; Dorothy D. Childs, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Constance G. Clarke, Akron, Ohio; Jo Anne Coble, Wilson; Nellie R. Dixon, Laurinburg; Vera C. Fowler, Albany, Ga.;

Julia T. Greene, Mullins, S.C.; Dianne D. Hackett, Richmond, Va.; Cynthia J. Hampton, Greensboro; Peggy A. Hemphill, Charlotte; Angelene Johnson, Reidsville; Janice M. Johnson, Burlington; Minnie Pearl Johnson, Dallas, Texas; Emma J. Jones, Fayetteville; Lenora Y. Jones, Uniontown, Ala.; Celesta S. Lewis, Newport News, Va.; Barbara S. Loftin, New York; Kay W. McCastle, Cleveland, Ohio; Jo Anne Morrow, Atlanta; Shirley D. Pettus, South Hill, Va.; Ida P. Pinnix, Martinsville, Va.;

* * *

ANITA L. PINSON, Greensboro; D'jaris A. Ragland, Birmingham, Ala.; Peggy A. Richmond, Burlington; Beverly A. Roberts, Newark, N.J.; Doris J. Scott, Richmond, Va.; Roy L. Skinner, Lake City, S.C.; Ava D. Taylor, Birmingham, Ala.;

Margaret A. Thompkins, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Joan E. Thompson, Akron, Ohio; Mary L. Thompson, Charlotte; Gloria Y. Torrence, Hampton, Va.; June R. Turnbull, Ashland, Va.; Colleen L. Turner, Richmond, Va.; Bonnie G. Warren, Glen Rayen and;

Thelma M. Williams, Woodruff, S.C.; Sandra L. Wilson, Greensboro; Betty L. Wright, Denmark, S.C.; Laurette Wright, Pittsburgo, Pa.; Patricia A. Wynn, Kenbridge, Va.;

* * *

SOPHOMORES — Aretha Butler, Eastover, S.C.; Edrice R. Glass, Atlanta, Ga.; Eleanor A. Mitchell, Orlando, Fla.; Johnnie M. Montgomery, Greensboro, Lillian L. Pinder, Titusville, Fla.; Deborah Suber, Philadelphia; Marshalyn Yeangin, Greenville, S.C.; Carolyn T. Lowery, Clover, S.C.

Juniors — Gloria J. Benson, Columbia, S.C.; Jessie M. Cardwell, Greensboro; Gardenia V. Cole, Clover, S.C.; Mary C. Cole, Chapel Hill; Patricia A. Faison, New Bern, Wilma J. Griffin, Columbus, Ga.; Theresa A. Hall, Washington; Mary D. Jacobs, Mebane; Sharyn C. Marshall, Atlantic City, N.J.; Glenda F. Smith, Greensboro; Seniors — Kate N. Aseme, Nigeria; Amanda M. Houstin, Kinston; Marian P. Kelly, South Norwalk, Conn.; Carolyn J. King, Waycross, Ga.; Eva F. Rice, Wasnington.

Participants In Greensboro Baby Contest

Participants in baby contest sponsored by the Greensboro, N. C. chapter of the Bennett College Graduate Association are shown above. Left to right, seated: Mesdames Dorothy H. Williams, with Melloney; Rosa F. Hooker, with Grady, second prize; Bobbie T. Humphrey, with Michael, first prize and Ernestine H. Gray, with Gary. Back row: Mesdames Barbara M. Herbin, with Kevie; Honora G. Brown, with Helen, third prize, and Jacqueline J. Lyons, with Lynell.

Leaves Bennett

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College at Greensboro, N.C., has been named director of the Division of College support in the U.S. Office of Education, the White House announced this week.

Dr. Player will handle the grant program for small colleges and universities under the 1965 Higher Education Act. She has been on the faculty of Bennett College since 1930.

Dr. L. W. Morris Bennett Speaker

GREENSBORO--That man is made up of virtues and vices and that the problem of the Christian is to learn how to master the mixture, was the thesis of the vesper address by Dr. Louis W. Norris, president of Albion (Mich.) College, at Bennett College on Sunday.

Honoree And Guest At Reception

Dr. Willa B. Player, whose tenure as president of Bennett Colllege ended last week, greets Dr. Samuel Duncan, president of Livingstone College, Salisbury, during reception which followed convocation in her honor.

Farewell Convention Held For Dr. Willa Player

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Leaders in religion, education, business and industry joined with Bennett College alumnae, a faculty-staff and students to bid farewell to President Willa B. Player at a special convocation here Saturday.

Dr. Player relinquished the administrative reins of the institution as of March 1 to Dean Chauncey G. Winston, who becomes acting president. On that same date she assumed the directorship of the division of college support in the U. S. office of Education of the Department of Health, education and Welfare, in Washington, D. C.

DR. PLAYER came to the college in 1930 and assumed the presidency in 1955 after Dr. David D. Jones was retired. She was the recepient of a number of gifts, among them a silver service from the Greensboro graduate chater, a silver bowl frm the faculty and staff, several gold charm replicas of campus buildings from the student body, and a key to the city presented by Mayor William L. Trotter.

Dean Winston, who presided, recognized the presence in the audience of a number of special guests, among them, Mrs. David D. Jones, wife of the late president and Mrs Raymond Brown, of Akron, Ohio, sister of Dr. Player.

IN HIS TRIBUTE to Dr. Player, Bishop Prince A. Taylor, of Princeton, N. J.—a trustee and former Bennett teacher -- who represented the Methodist Church — said: "She never accepted a second best as long as the best was within her reach."

Calling Dr. Player "a new missionary for a new day," Mrs. Carl King, of Statesville, also a trustee, who represented the Woman's Division of Christian Service, described her as a PQW — "a professionally qualified woman."

DR. J. A. TARPLEY, treasurer of the trustee board representing that body said: "She has already honored herself by building her own monument frm which none can detract."

Dr. A. R. Keppel, executive director of the Piedmont University Center, Inc., said: "She has been a pillar of great strength in the establishment and operation of the center which she served as secretary since its inception. . . She is simply moving into another house and expanding her neighborhood."

FROM NEIGHBORING A. and T. College came Dr. L. C. Dowdy who said: "We are thankful for what you have done to help the state colleges realize that they and the private institutions are fighting the same battle," before presenting to her a citation from the "3400 students, 10,000 graduates, faculty and trustees," of institution.

Others who made expressions of appreciation to Dr. Player included: Vance H. Chavis, representing the United Negro College Fund; Dr. G. H. Evans, for the community; Bland W. Worley for the business community; Dr. J. Ralph Jolly, for the private colleges; Phelps, '14, for the graduates before 1930, and Ms. Alma T. Taylor, '30, for the graduates after 1930; Miss Mittie White, '66, for the student body and Mrs. Blanche Raiford, for the faculty-staff. Letters were read from Dr. A. Hollis Edens, executive director of the Mary Reynolds Babcock Foundation; Bishop Charles L. Golden, of the Nashville-Carolina Area of the Methodist Church, and a telegram from Dr. F. D. Patterson, chairman of the board.

In her response, Dr. Plaer said:

"All of us are aware of the fact that no single person ever does all by himself. If we have had the slightest opportunity to render the slightest service, we owe it to you. I am deeply grateful to you.

"But please remember that no task can be greater for me than the task here and that government or no government, it will always be Bennett."

FOLLOWING the program, Dr. Player stood for nearly two hours n the reception line receiving the congratulations and appreciation from the hundreds of persons who gathered to bid her goodbye.

PROUD MOTHERS -- This group of mothers show pride in presenting their youngsters in the baby contest sponsored by the G[illegible]ensboro, N.C., chapter of the Bennett College Graduate Associatio[illegible]n, left to right, seated, Mesdames Dorothy Williams, with Mallorey[illegible]ooker, with Grady, second prize; Bobbie Humphrey, with Michael, first prize and Ernestine Gray, with Gary. Back row, Mesdames Barbara Herbin, [illegible]onora Brown, with Dalan, third prize; and Jacqueline Lyons, wit[illegible]ynell.

Homemaking Institute At Bennett

GREENSBORO -- Raising the level of aspiration of students and their parents will be the aim of the 40th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College to be held March 13-20.

Mrs. Louise G. Streat, chairman of the committee planning the observance, said that this year's institute will be built around seminars in which women who have achieved in outstanding careers will serve as discussants.

An added feature this year will be a workshop for parents at which they will be brought up-to-date on the many new employment opportunities now open to their daughters after graduation.

Bennett College to host foreign church leaders

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Educators, nurses, homemakers and community leaders are among 12 Christian women leaders from 11 countries who will be guests of Bennett College next weekend.

The visitors were brought to the U. S. in January under the auspices of the Methodist Board of Missions and will leave Sunday for Asheville. They come from Uraguay, Pakistan, Okinawa, Korea, Rhodesia, Brazil, India, the Philippines, the Congo, Bolivia and Mexico.

Bennett Parents

More than 100 parents are expected at Bennett College today for a special seminar, "Recognizing and Dealing With the Aspirational Levels of Students." The program begins at 9:30 a.m. in the Science Assembly, and will be led by the Bennett faculty.

"BEST OF LUCK" -- Dr. Willa B. Player, whose tenure as president of Bennett College ended this week, greets Dr. Samuel Duncan, president of Livingstone College, Salisbury, during reception which followed convocation in her honor on Saturday. At right, Mrs. David D. Jones, wife of Bennett's late president, greets another guest.

Honor 57 At Spring Convocation

GREENSBORO --Pointing out that education today is the biggest industry in the United States, Mrs. Barbara Finberg, of New York City, on Friday challenged Bennett College students to decide early the careers they would like and then prepare for them.

Mrs. Finberg, executive assistant with the Carnegie Corporation of New York, was speaking at the fourth annual Spring Honors Convocation at which 67 students were recognized for academic achievement.

"If we can discover the ways to help every child begin to learn when he shows curiosity and begins to ask questions, rather than forcing him to wait until the system says, 'it's time,'" we will have ventured far in new educational directions," she said.

Receiving certificates for achievement were:

Freshmen: Rose M. Allen, Greensboro; Yvonne J. Allen, New Haven, Conn.; Audrey L. Arrington, Atlanta, Ga.; Callie L. Brown, Atlanta, Ga.; Karen J. Burnett, Graham; Dorothy D. Childs, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Constance C. Clarke, Akron, Ohio; Jo Anne Coble, Wilson; Nellie R. Dixon, Laurinburg; Vera C. Fowler, Albany, Ga.; Julia I. Greene, Mullins, S. C.; Dianne D. Hackett, Richmond, Va.; Cynthia J. Hampton, Greensboro; Peggy A. Hemphill, Charlotte; Angelene Johnson, Reidsville; Janice M. Johnson, Burlington; Minnie Pearl Johnson, Dallas, Texas; Emma J. Jones, Fayetteville; Lenora Y. Jones, Uniontown, Ala.; Celesta S. Lewis, Newport News, Va.; Barbara S. Loftin, New York City; Kay W. McCastle, Cleveland, Ohio; Jo Anne Morrow, Atlanta, Ga.; Shirley D. Pettus, South Hill, Va.; Ida Patricia Pinnix, Martinsville, Va.; Anita L. Pinson, Greensboro; D'jaris A. Ragland, Birmingham, Ala.; Peggy A. Richmond, Burlington; Beverly A. Roberts, Newark, N. J.; Doris J. Scott, Richmond, Va.; Roy L. Skinner, Lake City, S. C.; Ava D. Taylor, Birmingham, Ala.; Margaret A. Thompkins, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Joan E. Thompson, Akron, Ohio; Mary L. Thompson, Charlotte; Gloria Y. Torrence, Hampton, Va.; June R. Tunstall, Ashland, Va.; Colleen L. Turner, Richmond, Va.; Bonnie G. Warren, Glen Raven, N. C.; Thelma M. Williams, Woodruff, S. C.; Sandra L. Wilson, Greensboro; Betty L. Wright, Denmark, S. C.; Laurette Wright, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Patricia A. Wynn, Kenbridge, Va.

Sophomores: Aretha Butler, Eastover, S. C.; Edrice R. Glass, Atlanta, Ga.; Eleanor A. Mitchell, Orlando, Fla.; Johnnie M. Montgomery, Greensboro; Lillian L. Pinder, Titusville, Fla.; Deborah Suber, Phila., Pa.; Marshalyn Yeargin, Greenville, S. C.; Carolyn T. Lowery, Clover, S. C.

Juniors: Gloria J. Benson, Columbia, S. C.; Jessie M. Cardwell, Greensboro; Cardenia V. Cole, Clover, S. C.; Mary C. Cole, Chapel Hill; Patricia A. Faison, New Bern; Wilma J. Griffin, Columbus, Ga.; Theresa A. Hall, Washington, D. C.; Mary D. Jacobs, Mebane; Sharyn C. Marshall, Atlantic City, N. J.; and Clenda F. Smith, Greensboro.

Seniors: Kate N. Aseme, Nigeria, W. Africa; Amanda M. Houstin, Kinston; Marian P. Kelly, South Norwalk, Conn.; Carolyn J. King, Waycross, Ga.; and Eva F. Rice, Washington, D. C.

Student Chosen As 'Safe Driver'

Amelia Barksdate of 2013 Lutheran St., a Bennett College student with only eight months' driving experience, was chosen "Safe Driver of the Week" by Greensboro police.

First seen in the business district, she was watched as she made her way through heavy traffic and away from the core of the city. For her selection she received a certificate of appreciation from the police department and gifts from several merchants.

9 Consultants To Lead Homemaking Seminars

The wife of the first Negro cabinet member, a woman dentist-business executive and a pianist-composer-author are among the nine consultants who will appear during the 40th annual Homemaking Institute which opens at Bennett College here Monday.

Dr. Ella Haith Weaver, wife of Dr. Robert C. Weaver, recently appointed Secretary of Housing, and Urban Development by President Johnson, is presently on leave as director of clinical practice in speech and hearing thereapy at Brooklyn College, to serve as speech consultant to the Job Corps for women.

Dr. Helen G. Smith, of Los Angeles, Calif., operates a modern motel and office building. Miss Philippa Schuyler of New York City, who was composing music at the age of four and who at 14 made her debut as a pianist with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, is the third of this group.

Theme of the institute is "Opportunity and Aspiration: A New Perspective for Women," It will be explored by the consultants on Monday and Wednesday during chapel programs and seminars which have been organized according to divisions of instruction — science, social sciences and the humanities.

A seminar for parents — to which over 100 have accepted invitations — will be held on Saturday from 9:30 to 1:00 p.m.

Bennett Institute Launched

A young woman attorney, who turned down an oportunity to practice in Wall Street to accept the challenge of working in Mississippi where there were only three Negro lawyers in the entire state, sparked the opening session of the 40th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College on Monday.

Miss Marian E. Wright, a graduate of the Yale University Law School said that "I came South because most of the talent was going elsewhere," and accepted work as one of the few NAACP Legal Defense Fund lawyers in Mississippi.

She challenged the students to come out of their ivory towers and to work with people who are trying to help themselves. She rapped the so-called middle class as being "too comfortable" and as "having to much to lose" to become engaged in the struggle for human rights and dignity.

Dr. Helen Smith, Los Angeles dentist and business executive, continued the emphasis upon non-traditional employment patterns by urging the students to consider dentistry as a career which is both remunerative and provides the satisfaction of being of service.

Miss Eleanor Barnwell, who works with the Great Cities School Improvement Project in Detroit, Mich., told of the efforts to increase the competencies of children and Mrs. Audrose Harvey, home economist of Rochester, N.Y., told of the work there in helping to raise family living standards.

The need for speech therapists was emphasized by Dr. Ella Haith Weaver, who is presently speech consultant to the Job Corps for Women. Wife of Dr. Robert C. Weaver, secretary of Housing and Urban Development, she said that classroom teachers can do much to help in the area of speech by setting examples for the young to emulate. She urged a strong background in psychology, anatomy, physiology and neurology for those students interested in a career of speech correction.

During morning and afternoon seminars, the consultants answered may questions regarding career opportunities and responsibilities in keeping with the theme: "Opportunity and Aspiration — A New Perspective for Women."

The program resumes on Tuesday at 10 a.m. when four other consultants, among them a minister and a concert pianist, will tell of career opportunities in their areas.

Bennett Seniors Receive Advice On Work-Time

Pointing to the multitude of graduate scholarships and fellowships available and to the wide range of employment opportunities now beckoning, Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, acting president, challenged Bennett College students, particularly seniors, to make better use of their time in the days that remain before commencement, in his Senior Day address Friday.

"Use your time fruitfully," he said, "study harder and complete your plans for next year—whether it be a job or graduate school. I hope that some of you will pursue the doctorate. It would be fine in future years if one of you could qualify to become president of Bennett."

The seniors received their caps and gowns from their sophomore "sisters" and heard that their present leader in scholarship is Miss Amanda Houston, a mathematics major, of Kinston, who has a 2.83 academic average out of a possible 3.0 points.

Seminar Held

More than 100 parents of Bennett College students from nine states attended a seminar Saturday. They discussed with faculty members points of view on recognizing and dealing with aspirational levels of the students.

The seminar was the third session of the 4th annual Homemaking Institute which closes today at 4 p.m. with an address by Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta.

Leaders, Faculty-Staff And Students Bid Farewell To Dr. Willa B. Player

GREENSBORO -- Leaders in religion, education, business and industry joined with Bennett College alumnae, faculty-staff and students to bid farewell to President Willa B. Player at a special convocation here Saturday.

Dr. Player relinquished the administrative reins of the institution as of March 1 to Dean Chauncey G. Winston, who becomes acting president. On that same date she assumed the directorship of the division of college support in the U. S. Office of Education of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Player came to the college in 1930 and assumed the presidency in 1955 after Dr. David P. Jones was retired. She was the recipient of a number of gifts, among them a silver service from the Greensboro graduate chapter, a silver bowl from the faculty and staff, several gold charm replicas of campus buildings from the student body, and a key to the city presented by Mayor William L. Trotter.

Dean Winston, who presided, recognized the presence in the audience of a number of special guests, among them, Mrs. David D. Jones, wife of the late president and Mrs. Raymond Brown, of Akron, Ohio, sister of Dr. Player.

In his tribute to Dr. Player, Bishop Prince A. Taylor, of Princeton, N. J.--a trustee and former Bennett teacher -- who represented the Methodist Church -- said. "She never accepted a second best as long as the best was within her reach."

Calling Dr. Player "a new missionary for a new day," Mrs. Carl King, of Statesville, also a trustee, who represented the Woman's Division of Christian Service, described her as a PQW--"a professionally qualified woman."

Dr. J. A. Tarpley, treasurer of the trustee board, representing that body said: "She has already honored herself by building her own monument from which none can detract."

Dr. A. R. Keppel, executive director of the Piedmont University Center, Inc., said: "She has been a pillar of great strength in the establishment and operation of the center which she served as secretary since its inception . . . She is simply moving into another house and expanding her neighborhood."

From neighboring A&T College came Dr. L. C. Dowdy who said: "We are thankful for what you have done to help the state colleges realize that they and the private institutions are fighting the same battle," before presenting to her a citation from the "3400 students, 10,000 graduates, faculty and trustees' of institution.

Others who made expressions of appreciation to Dr. Player included: Vance H. Chavis, representing the United Negro College Fund; Dr. G. H. Evans, for the community; Bland W. Worley for the business community; Dr. J. Ralph Jolly, for the private colleges; Philip J. Weaver, for the city school system.

The Rev. G. M. Phelps, '14, for the graduates before 1930, and Mrs. Alma T. Taylor, '30, for the graduates after 1930; Miss Mittie White, '66, for the student body and Mrs. Blanche Raiford, for the faculty-staff. Letters were read from Dr. A. Hollis Eden, executive director of the Mary Reynolds Babcock Foundation; Bishop Charles L. Golden, of the Nashville-Carolina Area of the Methodist Church, and a telegram from Dr. F. D. Patterson, chairman of the board.

In her response, Dr. Player said:

"All of us are aware of the fact that no single person ever does all by himself. If we have had the slightest opportunity to render the slightest service, we owe it to you. I am deeply grateful to you.

"But please remember that no task can be greater for me than the task here and that government or no government, it will always be Bennett."

Speaker At Bennett

GREENSBORO -- "A self-imposed guilt-feeling is one of the tragedies of our times," Dr. James H. Laird, minister of the Central Methodist Church, of Detroit, Mich., told the Bennett College vesper audience on Sunday, marking the opening of the Lenten season.

"We condemn ourselves because of our failures," he declared, "but we need not because God knows and extends his love to us in spite of them."

SPEAKER AND HONOREES -- Mrs. Barbara Finberg, of the Carnegie Corporation of New York, who spoke last week at the annual spring honors convocation at Bennett College, Greensboro, chats with seven sophomores who were among the 67 students honored for academic achievement. Left to right: Misses Edrice Glass, of Atlanta, Ga.; Deborah Suber, of Philadelphia, Pa.; Aretha Butler, of Eastover, S. C.; Marshalyn Yeargin, of Greenville, S. C.; Lillian Pinder, of Titusville, Fla.; Eleanor Mitchell, of Orlando, Fla., and Johnnie Montgomery, of Greensboro.

NASA MAN VISITS -- David Woods, representative of NASA from Langley Field, Va., (second from right) who spoke during Science Emphasis Week at Bennett College, Greensboro, last week, is shown with his student-faculty hosts. Left to right: Miss Wei Lie So, president of Beta Kappa Chi; Samuel Byers, instructor in physics and mathematics; Miss Lela Hankins, instructor in biology and chairman of the observance; and Miss Beverly Neyland, vice-president of the Science Seminar.

IN ALUMNAE PROGRAM —Mrs. Alice H. Young, second from right, administrator in the Rochester, N.Y. public school system, who delivered the address at the annual alumnae vesper service at Bennett College, recently, chats with three of her hostesses following a morning workshop in education. Left to right: Mrs. Ernestine H. Gray, director of placement and alumnae affairs; Miss Mary A. Rogers, president of the National Graduate Association, and Mrs. Madeline Best, president of the local graduate chapter.

Homemaking Session At Bennett Ends March 20

GREENSBORO — Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College in Atlanta, will deliver the address marking the close of the 40th annual home-making institute at Bennett College on Sunday, March 20, at 4 p. m.

Mrs. Louise G. Streat, institute committee chairman, will give a summary of the week's activities which has as a theme: "Opportunities and Aspirations: A New Perspective for Women."

The institute opened on Monday with a "Town Hall" type meeting with the following women as panelist-consultants:

Mrs. Audrose M. Harvey, home economist,, of Rochester N. Y.; Dr. Helen Smith, dentist, business and civic leader of Los Angeles," Miss Marian Wright, attorney, of Jackson, Miss., recently named by a national magazine as one of the nation's outstanding young women; and Dr. Ella Haith Weaver, on sabbatical leave from Brooklyn College to serve as speech consultant to the women's Job Corps.

Scheduled for Wednesday morning was another session with the following persons as panelists-consultants:

Mrs. Majorie Gay Brown, home economist, of Stamford, Conn.; Mrs. Mary E. Funneye, psychiatric social worker, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; the Rev. Julia McClain Walker, professor of religion at Morris Brown College, Atlanta, Ga.; and Miss Philippa Schuyler, pianist, author and world traveler, of New York City.

A seminar for some 100 parents has been scheduled for Saturday morning to acquaint parents with newer employment opportunities open to their daughters and to encourage parents not to stand in the way of their daughters should they seek "non-traditional" employment.

In Alumnae Program At Bennett

Mrs. Alice H. Young (second from right) administrator in the Rochester, N. Y. public school system, who delivered the address at the annual alumnae vesper service at Bennett College chats with three of her hostesses following a morning workshop in education. Left to right: Mrs. Ernestine H. Gray, director of placement and alumnae affairs; Miss Mary Ann Rogers, president of the National Graduate Association, and Mrs. Madeline Best, president of the local graduate chapter.

C4—Greensboro Daily News, Thursday, March 17, 1966

Bennett Students Are Urged To Move Into Mainstream

The need for more students to move into the mainstream of American life and of world affairs following graduation was emphasized by the four women consultants during the second general session of the 40th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College on Wednesday.

Addressing themselves to the institute theme: "Opportunity and Aspiration—A New Perspective for Women," the speakers were unanimous in pointing up the many opportunities for women to serve mankind which today are going begging.

Mrs. Marjorie G. Brown, home economist and guidance counselor in the Stamford (Conn.) public schools, said that history has proved that women have been able to combine careers and homemaking successfully. Citing statistics which indicate that 25 per cent of Negro families are headed by women as against only 8 per cent for whites, Mrs. Brown pointed out that while a matriarchial system may have its drawbacks, it is encouraging to note that these women—working against great odds—have been able to keep their families together.

A view of the role of women of the world, with emphasis upon Africa from which she only recently returned, was given by Miss Philippa Schuyler of New York City, concert pianist-composer-author. She told of handicaps which the African women who achieves must overcome in a highly patriarchial society.

Bennett Speaker

Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, acting president, will speak at Bennett College's annual Senior Day exercises at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Dr. B. Mays Will Deliver Address At Bennet Sun.

GREENSBORO -- Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., will deliver the address marking the close of the 40th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College on Sunday, March 20, at 4 p. m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

At that time, Mrs. Louise G. Streat, chairman of the institute committee, will also give a summary of the week's activities which had as a theme: "Opportunities and Aspirations: A New Perspective for Women."

The institute opened on Monday with a "Town Hall" type meeting with the following women as panelist-consultants:

Mrs. Audrose M. Harvey, home economist, of Rochester, N. Y.; Dr. Helen Smith, dentist, business and civic leader of Los Angeles, Calif.; Miss Marian Wright, attorney, of Jackson, Miss., recently named by a national magazine as one of the nation's outstanding young women; and Dr. Ella Haith Weaver, on sabbatical leave from Brooklyn College to serve as speech consultant to the Job Corps for Women.

Following this session, there were three seminar sessions which were continued during the afternoon.

Scheduled for Wednesday morning was another "Town Hall" session with the following persons as panelist-consultants:

Mrs. Majorie Gay Brown, home economist, of Stamford, Conn.; Mrs. Mary E. Funneye, psychiatric social worker, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; the Rev. Julia McClain Walker, professor of religion at Morris Brown College, Atlanta, Ga.; and Miss Philippa Schuyler, pianist, author and world traveler, of New York City.

Seminar sessions similar to those on Monday were also scheduled. A seminar for some 100 parents has been scheduled for Saturday morning in the Science Assembly. Theme will be "Recognizing and Dealing with the Aspirational Levels of Students." Object of this session will be to acquaint parents with the newer employment opportunities open to their daughters and to encourage parents not to stand in the way of their daughters should they seek "non-traditional" employment.

"If we do what we can, then God will do for us what we cannot," Mrs. Alice H. Young, of Rochester, N.Y., declared in her address at the annual alumnae vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday.

Mrs. Young, who received her master of education degree from the University of Rochester, and is presently a doctoral candidate there while on leave from her post as an administrator of the Rochester public schools, spoke on "Keys to an Abundant Life."

Educators, nurses, homemakers and community leaders are among 12 Christian women leaders from 11 countries who will be guests of Bennett College this weekend.

The visitors who were brought to the U.S. in January under the auspices of the Methodist Board of Missions, will leave Sunday for Asheville.

They come from Uraguay, Pakistan, Okinawa, Korea, Rhodesia, Brazil, India, the Philippines, the Congo, Bolivia and Mexico.

Noble Goals— Keys To Life

"It is not necessarily how long one lives, but how well and how noble are one's goals," Dr. Benjamin E. Mays declared in his address marking the close of the 40th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College Sunday.

Dr. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, spoke on "The Unattainable Goals," explaining that there is no tragedy when one fails to reach his goal, but rather when one has no goals to reach for.

Lecture Today

"The Philippines in Perspective" will be the subject of a lecture to be given at Bennett College today at 10 a.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel by Miss Felicitas S. Cabbatt, instructor in nutrition and chemistry. Miss Cabbatt, a native, will be the ninth lecturer in the program of Non-Western Studies.

Dr. Benjamin Mays to Address Bennett College Institute Sun.

GREENSBORO — Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., will deliver the address marking the close of the 40th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College on Sunday, March 20, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

At that time, Mrs. Louise G. Streat, chairman of the institute committee, will also give a summary of the week's activities which had as a theme: "Opportunities and Aspirations; A New Perspective for Women."

The institute opened on Monday with a "Town Hall" type meeting with the following women as panelist-concultants:

Mrs. Audrose M. Harvey, home economist, of Rochester, N.Y.; Dr. Helen Smith, dentist, business and civic leader of Los Angeles, Calif.; Miss Marian Wright, attorney, of Jackson, Miss., recently named by a national magazine as one of the nation's outstanding young women; and Dr. Ella Haith Weaver, on sabbatical leave from Brooklyn College to serve as speech consultant to the Job Corps for Women.

Following this session, there were three seminar sessions which were continued during the afternoon.

Scheduled for Wednesday morning was another "Town Hall" session with the following persons as panelists-consultants:

Mrs. Majorie Gay Brown, home economist, of Stamford, Conn.; Mrs. Mary E. Funneye, psychiatric social worker, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; the Rev. Julia McClain Walker, professor of religion at Morris Brown College, Atlanta, Ga.; and Miss Philippa Schuyler, pianist, author and world traveler, of N. Y. City.

Visit Atlanta

Dr. Shang-ling Fu and Mrs. Chen-te Fu are visiting the Atlanta University Center on behalf of the Non-Western Studies Program at Bennett College. Dr. Fu, professor of sociology and director of the program at Bennett, will address a convocation of the University Center at Spelman College.

IN ALUMNAE PROGRAM - Mrs. Alice H. Young, (second from right) administrator in the Rochester, N. Y. public school system, who delivered the address at the annual alumnae vesper service at Bennett College Sunday, chats with three of her hostesses following a morning workshop in education. Left to right: Mrs. Ernestine H. Gray, director of placement and alumnae affairs; Miss Mary Ann Rogers, president of the National Graduate Association, and Mrs. Madeline Best, president of the local graduate chapter.

SAFE DRIVER -- Miss Amelia Barksdale, of Greensboro, a Bennett College sophomore, who last week was chosen "Safe Driver of the Week" by the local police department, demonstrates form which helped her earn the award. Although she has been driving only eight months, she was chosen to receive a certificate of appreciation and gifts from several merchants.

Leaders To Bennett College

GREENSBORO -- Educators, nurses, homemakers and community leaders are among 12 Christian women leaders from 11 countries who will be guests of Bennett College next weekend.

The visitors who were brought to the U. S. in January under the auspices of the Methodist Board of Missions, will leave Sunday for Asheville. They come from Uraguay, Pakistan, Okinawa, Korea, Rhodesia, Brazil, India, the Philippines, the Congo, Bolivia and Mexico.

HONOR SENIORS

Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, acting president, will speak at Bennett College's annual Senior Day exercises at 4 p.m. today in Pfeiffer Chapel. A magnolia tree will be planted in honor of the former president, Willa B. Player, during the ceremonies.

Dr. C. Winton To Bennett

GREENSBORO -- Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, acting president of Bennett College, will make the principle address when Senior Day is observed at Bennett College on Friday.

This is the occasion upon which the seniors receive their academic caps and gowns from their sophomore sisters to be worn on all formal occasions between now and commencement day.

Bennett College News

D. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College Atlanta, Ga., will deliver the address marking the close of the 40th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College on Sunday, March 20, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

MEET HARVARD SCIENTIST -- Dr. E. Bright Wilson, (second from right) professor of chemistry at Harvard University, pauses after Bennett College lecture to chat with Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the science division, and two freshmen -- Misses Sylvia Potts, of Lousiville, Ky., (left) and Ida Pinnix, of Martinsville, Va. Lecture was one in visiting scholars series sponsored by the Piedmont University Center, Inc., of Winston-Salem.

At that time, Mrs. Louise G. Streat, chairman of the institute committee, will also give a summary of the week's activities which had as a theme: "Opportunities and Aspirations: A New Perspective for Women."

The institute opened on Monday with a "Town Hall" type meeting with the following women as panelist-consultants:

Mrs. Audrose M. Harvey, home economist, of Rochester, N.Y.; Dr. Helen Smith, dentist, business and civic leader of Los Angeles, Calif.; Miss Marian Wright, attorney of Jackson, Miss., recently named by a national magazine as one of the nation's outstanding young women; and Dr. Ella Haith Weaver, on sabbatical leave from Brooklyn College to serve as speech consultant to the Job Corps for Women.

Following this session, there were three seminar sessions which were continued during the afternoon.

Scheduled for Wednesday moning was another "Town Hall" session with the following persons as panelists-consultants:

Mrs. Marjorie Gay Brown, home economist, of Stamford, Conn.; Mrs. Mary E. Funneye, psychiatric social worker, of Brooklyn, N.Y.; the Rev. Julia McClain Walker, professor of religion at Morris Brown College, Atlanta, Ga.; and Miss Philippa Schuyler, pianist, author and world traveler, of New York City.

Seminar sessions similar to those on Monday were also scheduled. A seminar for some 100 parents has been scheduled for Saturday morning in the Science Assembly. Theme will be "Recognizing and Dealing with the Aspirational Levels of Students." Object of this session will be to acquaint parents with the newer employment opportunities open to their daughters and to encourage parents not to stand in the way of their daughters should they seek "non-traditional" employment.

"If we do what we can, then God will do for us what we cannot," Mrs. Alice H. Young, of Rochester, N.Y., declared in her address at the annual alumnae vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday.

Mrs. Young, who received her master of education degree from the University of Rochester, and is presently a doctoral candidate there while on leave from her post as an administrator of the Rochester public schools, spoke on "Keys to an Abundant Life."

Educators, nurses, homemakers and community leaders are among 12 Christian women leaders from 11 countries who will be guests of Bennett College this weekend.

The visitors who were brought to the U.S. in January under the auspices of the Methodist Board of Missions, will leave Sunday for Asheville.

They come from Uraguay, Pakistan, Okinawa, Korea, Rhodesia, Brazil, India, the Philippines, the Congo, Bolivia and Mexico.

Bennett Vespers

The Rev. W. R. Crawford, pastor of Brooks Memorial Church in High Point, will speak at Bennett College vespers Sunday at 4 p.m.

Group Hears Mrs. Lucas

"Every citizen of the United States who travels abroad is a spokesman for his country."

With this quote from a former president of the United States, Mrs. John S. Lucas, vice president of Lucas Travel Agency, presented an interesting picture of "Americans Abroad — Citizen Diplomats", when the Altrusa Club of Greensboro met last night at the Greensboro Woman's Club.

The speaker was introduced by Miss Ruth Clinard, vice chairman of the international relations committee. Mrs. Lucas continued, "Each of us who visits other lands has a responsibility to represent our country in a manner reflecting the best of our national traditions and ideals.

"Travelers are in a real sense the first line of our diplomacy and influence abroad. To do this effectively, we must be informed on our national goals and objectives and able to interpret them to others."

Mrs. Lucas gave 10 commandments for the traveler, including courtesy. "If you say 'please' and 'thank you'", she said, "you are internationally understood and appreciated.

Also, knowledge of the history and customs of the countries one visits enhances the enjoyment for the traveler and it is appreciated by the natives.

A question and answer period followed the talk.

During business new officers were elected. They include Mrs. Adolph Pell, president; Miss Helen Doyle, vice president; Miss Jane Weaver, corresponding secretary; Miss Peggy Anne Rice, recording secretary, and Mrs. Odessa N. Bussey, treasurer.

Mrs. Addie Morris Williams and Miss Ruth Steelman were named to two-year board terms.

Some foreign students in area colleges were present as guests. They included Mrs. Nahid Saroya of Teheran, Iran, graduate student at the University of North Carolina here; Patrick Massu of Santiago, Chile, senior at Guilford College;

And, Miss Tagilima Gala Mussau of Pago Pago, Tutuila, American Samoa, senior at Bennett College, and Miss Kate Aseme, Aba, Nigeria, West Africa, senior at Bennett College.

LEFT TO RIGHT, MRS. CRIMM, MISS MUSASU, MISS COHEN AND MISS ASEME

Mrs. Jarrell To Open Week Of Humanities

Opening program of the annual Humanities Week at Bennett College tonight will feature Mrs. Randall Jarrell, wife of the late author-poet at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, lecturing on "A Look at the Magic of Creative Ideas."

The 7:30 o'clock program in the parlor of Laura Cone Hall, also will feature selected stories, poems and plays written by students.

Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m. in the faculty lounge of the David D. Jones Student Union, three faculty members and a student will be featured in "A Look at the Structure of Ancient Languages."

Highlight of the week will be an address Friday at 10 a.m. by Dr. Guy Owen, professor of English at North Carolina State at Raleigh on "The Use of Folklore in Fiction."

50

The Greensboro Record

Page 1—Section B — Friday, March 18, 1966

Federal Post Is Taken Over By Dr. Player

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Willa B. Player, former president of Bennett College, Greensboro, was sworn in Wednesday as director of the Division of College Support in the Office of Education.

Harold Howe II, U.S. Commissioner of Education, administered the oath.

The Division of College Support in the Bureau of Higher Education will administer two grant programs authorized by the 1965 Higher Education Act.

One program deals with strengthening small and developing colleges and universities and the other supports workshops and institutes to train faculty members of higher education institutions in use of new educational techniques.

'Art Is Fooling'

Gilbert F. Carpenter, head of the art department at UNC-G, will speak Friday (April Fool's Day) at 10 a.m. in Pfeiffer College Auditorium at Bennett College. His speech, "Art Is Fooling," is the tenth in a series of lectures sponsored by the office of non-Western studies.

(Record staff photo.)

FOREIGN VISITORS VIEW BENNETT CAMPUS
Methodist Women Tour In Greensboro Area

SPEAKER AND HONOREES — Mrs. Barbara Finberg, of the Carnegie Corporation of New York, who spoke recently at the annual spring honors convocation at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., chats with seven sophomores who were among the 67 students honored for academic achievement. Left to right: Miss Edrice Glass, of Atlanta, Ga.; Deborah Suber, of Philadelphia, Pa,; Aretha Butler, of Eastover, S.C.; Marshalyn Yeargin, of Greenville, S.C.; Lillian Pinder, of Titusville, Fla.; Eleanor Mitchell, of Orlando, Fla., and Johnnie Montgomery, of Greensboro.

SAFE DRIVER — Miss Amelia Barksdale, of Greensboro, a Bennett College sophomore, who was chosen "Safe Driver of the Week" by the local police department, demonstrates form which helped her earn the award. Although she has been driving only eight months, she was chosen to receive a certificate of appreciation and gifts from several merchants.

Guitarist Opens Series Tonight

Classical guitarist Alirio Diaz will play at four colleges in the Piedmont area this week, beginning with a program at 8 o'clock tonight at Elon College.

The guitarist will play at 10:20 a.m. Wednesday at High Point College, 8 p.m. Thursday at Bennett College and 8 p.m. Friday in Dana Auditorium at Guilford College.

Members of the North Carolina Society of the Classic Guitar will welcome Diaz to the area at an informal gathering after the Guilford recital.

"Safe Drive Of The Week"

Miss Amelia Barksdale of Greensboro, a Bennett College sophomore, last week was chosen "Safe Driver of the Week" by the local police department.

With only eight months' driving experience, Miss Barksdale received, in addition to a certificate of appreciation from the police department gifts from several merchants.

Professor Speaks At Arts Festival

A belief that the dying American village and the vanishing American farm have contributed to a loss of vitality and reality in American fiction was expressed by Dr. Guy Owen, in an address highlighting the annual Festival of the Arts at Bennett College today.

Dr. Owen, professor of English at North Carolina State University at Raleigh, who has just completed his third novel, spoke on "The Use of Folklore in Fiction."

Referring to himself as a novelist-historian, Dr. Owen explained his use of folklore. "First, I use it because it is there," he stated. "I feel that it lends a sense of the past to my writing. In addition, folklore provides a setting and lastly, it is honest."

That there are not more Negro novelists and poets in the South to dig deeper into the Negro backgrounds, was deplored by the speaker. "Much of our culture will vanish if we do not record it in our time," he said.

Foreign Women Find—

Americans: Generous But Unconcerned

BY DOROTHY BENJAMIN
Record Staff Writer

Many Americans appear to be unconcerned or uninformed about such vital issues as racial integration in the United States, poverty throughout the world and the reasons for U. S. involvement in Viet Nam.

Twelve Christian women leaders from India, South America and Africa expressed this opinion today during a brief visit to Greensboro.

"Americans are the most likable people in the world . . . Americans are very kind and generous. . . . Americans have a great awareness of the responsibility of the United States in the international field and fight to see the U. S. presents a good face to the rest of the world but their tourists make a poor impression outside the U. S.," were among their observations.

A Uruguayan members of the team was distressed because when she asked why the United States forces are fighting in Viet Nam she got no answer.

"A woman told me, 'President Johnson knows what he is doing.' That's no answer," she said.

Another South American said that while Americans are very much aware of the Viet Nam conflict there is a "non-awareness of why the U. S. is in Viet Nam."

They also have found a tendency among Americans with whom they have come in contact during their visit to develop a certain deafness when questions are asked about racial integration.

"I'm sick of all this integration business but I do wish the smaller communities in your country would have more evidence of it. The leftists in South America make such an issue of racial problems in the United States. Most of them have never been here and don't know how it is," said Mrs. Ruth Kuhlmann of Brazil.

The woman will visit local churches while they are here. They asked, "Are the churches integrated?"

Mrs. Blanche Raiford, teacher of French and Spanish at Bennett College where the visitors are being housed, explained there might be more members of one race at the churches because "people go to the churches nearer their homes."

Mrs. Angela B. Mequi of the Philippines said she was disappointed at a church service in Burlington last night "not to see another Negro person there"; and when she asked about it she received no answer.

Several of the women expressed surprise at the apparent complete freedom of speech exhibited by a woman United Nations correspondent in criticizing U.S. policy in Viet Nam in a speech they heard at Buck Hill Falls, Pa., recently.

Another American woman upset them with "the fences she had built around her well-organized life."

Miss Violeta Briata of Uruguay said, "This woman told me she had many old clothes to give away but could find no one to whom to give them."

Mrs. Rudo Grace Kapenzi of Rhodesia spoke of the "tremendous job" American Christians are doing in the education of Africans and Miss Eunice Zambrana of Bolivia discussed the great educational and social programs in her country.

"Bolivia is strongly Catholic but now it is changing. The biggest change has been in the last 10 years. The government is Catholic but there are no restrictions on other religions," Miss Zambrana said.

Another South American member of the group said there is a reaction all over South America for the Protestant Church and against the Catholic Church which "kept the people in ignorance and poverty but Pope John made a great impact."

Mrs. Young Nai Kim Kang of Korea described the current "30,000,000 People for Christ" movement in her country where Buddhism and Confucionism are the major religions.

The local visitors included 10 of the Team of Fourteen, a Methodist world friendship group who are visiting with large and small groups of Methodist women in this country to relate how Methodism is working in their nations and to observe it at work here.

Mrs. Margaret Ferreira of the office of the board of missions of the Methodist Church, New York City, is the coordinator for the tour. They will go to Asheville when they leave here Sunday.

Bennett seniors told to 'use time fruitfully'

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Pointing to the multitude of graduate scholarships and the wide range of employment opportunities available for qualified graduates, Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, acting president of Bennett College, told senior students to "use your time fruitfully", in his address at the Senior Day celebrations and banquet hosted by the sophomore students.

DR. WINSTON, who expressed the hope that perhaps "one of you would qualify to be president of Bennett", listened to an address by leading scholar, Amanda Houston, a mathematics major from Kinston, and witnessed the planting and dedicating of a magnolia tree in honor of former president Dr. Willa B. Player.

Outstanding Women Serve As Consultants At Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C. —A young woman attorney, who turned down an opportunity to practice in Wall Street to accept the challenge of working in Mississippi where there were only three Negro lawyers in the entire state, of th 40th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College on Monday.

Miss Marian E. Wright,, a graduate of the Yale University Law School said that 'I came South because most of the talent was going elsewhere ,' and accepted work as one of the few NACP Legal Defense Fund lawyers in Mississippi.

SHE CHALLENGED the students to come out of their ivory towers and to work with people who are trying to help themselves. She rapped the so-called middle class as being "too comfortable' and as "having too much to lose' to become engaged in the struggle for human rights and dignity.

Dr. Helen Smith, Los Angeles dentist and business executive, continued the emphasis upon non-traditional employment patterns by urging the students to consider dentistry as a career which is both remunerative and being of service.

MRS. ELEANOR Barnwell, who works with the Great Cities School Improvement Project in Detroit, Mich., told of the efforts to increase the competencies of children and Mrs. Audrose Harvey,, home economist of Rochester, N. Y., told of the work there in helping to raise family living standards.

The need for speech therapists was emphasized by Dr. Ella Haith Weaver, who is presently speech consultant to the Job Corps of Women. Life of Dr. Robert C. Weaver, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development (HUD,) she said that classroom teachers can do much to help in the area of speech by setting examples for the young to emulate. She urged a strong background in psychology, anatomy, physiology and neurology for those students interested in a career of speech correction.

DURING MORNING and afternoon seminars, the consultants answered many questions regarding career opportunities and responsibilities in keeping with the theme: 'Opportunity and Aspiration — A New Perspective for Women.'

The institute continued on Wednesday with presentation by the following consultants: Mrs. Marjorie Brown, home economist and guidance counselor with the Stamford (Conn.) public schools; Mrs. Mary Funnye, psychiatric caseworker, Brooklyn, New York; Miss Philippa Schuyler, concert pianist, composer, author, New York City, and the Reverend Julia Walker, minister and college professor of Atlanta, Ga.

A SEMINAR for parents was held on Saturday with the theme 'Recognizing and Dealing with the Aspirational Levels of Students.'

Consultants At Homemaking Institute

Consultants taking part in the morning panel opening the 40th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., are, left to right: Miss Eleanor Barnwell, of Detroit; Mrs. Audrose Harvey, of Rochester, N. Y.; Dr. Helen Smith, of Los Angeles, Calif.; Dr. Ella Haith Weaver of Washington, D. C. and Miss Marian E. Wright, attorney of Jackson, Miss.

Woman Att'y Sparks 40th Homemaking Talks

GREENSBORO -- A young woman attorney, who turned down an opportunity to practice in Wall Street to accept the challenge of working in Mississippi where there were only three Negro lawyers in the entire state, sparked the opening session of the 40th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College on Monday.

Miss Marian E. Wright, a graduate of the Yale University Law School said that "I came South because most of the talent was going elsewhere," and accepted work as one of the few NAACP Legal Defense Fund lawyers in Mississippi.

She challenged the students to come out of their ivory towers and to work with people who are trying to help themselves. She rapped the so-called middle class as being "too comfortable" and as "having too much to lose" to become engaged in the struggle for human rights and dignity.

Dr. Helen Smith, Los Angeles dentist and business executive, continued the emphasis upon non-traditional employment patterns by urging the students to consider dentistry as a career which is both remunerative and provides the satisfaction of being of service.

Miss Eleanor Barnwell, who works with the Great Cities School Improvement Project in Detroit, Mich., told the efforts to increase the competencies of children and Mrs. Audrose Harvey, home economist of Rochester, N. Y., told of the work there in helping to raise family living standards.

The need for speech therapists was emphasized by Dr. Ella Haith Weaver, who is presently speech consultant to the Job Corps for Women. Wife of Dr. Robert C. Weaver, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), she said that classroom teachers can do much to help in the area of speech by setting examples for the young to emulate. She urged a strong background in psychology, anatomy, physiology and neurology for those students interested in a career of speech correction.

During morning and afternoon seminars, the consultants answered many questions regarding career opportunities and responsibilities in keeping with the theme: "Opportunity and Aspiration -- A New Perspective for Women."

The institute continued on Wednesday with presentation by the following consultants: Mrs. Marjorie Brown, home economist and guidance counselor with the Stamford (Conn.) public schools; Mrs. Mary Funnye, psychiatric caseworker, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Miss Philippa Schuyler, concert pianist, composer, author, New York City, and the Rev. Julia Walker, minister and college professor of Atlanta, Ga.

A seminar for parents was held on Saturday with the theme "Recognizing and Dealing with the Aspirational Levels of Students."

Dr. Player Leaves Bennett

The resignation of Dr. Willa B. Player from the presidency of Bennett College in Greensboro, N.C., marked the culmination of a rather significant era in the history of this institution.

Dr. Player, whose relationship to Bennett covers a period of 35 years, is to be commended for the many outstanding improvements that were realized both in the intellectual and physical features of the college during the span of her administrative career.

Bennett College has been known for a number of years not as a Negro Methodist institution, but as a quality school, the cultural benefits of which are worthy to be desired by any young person of any race.

Her most noble dream for the school and its alumnae was that the best should be attained.

A host of friends will be interested in Dr. Player's success as she goes into a new field of service with the federal government.

Woman Attorney Speaks At Bennett College

A young woman attorney, who turned down an opportunity to practice in Wall Street to accept the challenge of working in Mississippi where there were only three Negro lawyers in the entire state, sparked the opening session of the 40th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College on Monday.

Miss Marian E. Wright, a graduate of the Yale University Law School said that "I came South because mots of the talent was going elsewhere," and accepted work as one of the few NAACP Legal Defense Fund lawyers in Mississippi.

She challenged the students to come out of their ivory towers and to work with people who are trying to help themselves. She rapped the so-called middle class as being "too comfortable" and as "having too much to lose" to become engaged in the struggle for human rights and dignity.

Dr. Helen Smith, Los Angeles dentist and business executive, continued the emphasis upon non-traditional employment patterns by urging the students to consider dentistry as a career which is both remunerative and provides the satisfaction of being of service.

Miss Eleanor Barnwell, who works with the Great Cities School Improvement Project in Detroit, Mich., told of the efforts to increase the competencies of children and Mrs. Audrose Harvey, economist of Rochester, N. Y., told of the work there in helping to raise family living standards.

The need for speech therapists was emphasized by Dr. Ella Haith Weaver, who is presently speech consultant to the Job Corps for Women. Wife of Dr. Robert C. Weaver, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), she said that classroom teachers can do much to help in the area of speech by setting examples for the young to emulate. She urged a strong background in psychology, anatomy, physiology and neurology for those students interested in a career of speech correction.

During morning and afternoon seminars, the consultants answered many questions regarding career opportunities and responsibilities in keeping with the theme: "Opportunity and Aspiration—A New Perspective for Women."

The institute continued on Wednesday with presentation by the following consultants: Mrs. Marjorie Brown, home economist and guidance counselor with the Stamford (Conn.) public schools; Mrs. Mary Funnye, psychiatric caseworker, Brooklyn, New York; Miss Philippa Schuyler, concert pianist, composer, author, New York City, and the Reverend Julia Walker, minister and college professor of Atlanta, Ga.

A semina for parents was held on Saturday with the theme "Recognizing and Dealing with the Aspirational Levels of Students."

BENNETT PANEL -- Consultants taking part in the Monday morning panel opening the 40th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College, Greensboro, are, left to right: Miss Eleanor Barnwell, of Detroit; Mrs. Audrose Harvey, of Rochester, N. Y.; Dr. Helen Smith, of Los Angeles, Calif.; Dr. Ella Haith Weaver, of Washington, D. C., and Miss Marian E. Wright, of Jackson.

BENNETT PANEL -- Consultants taking part in the Monday morning panel opening the 40th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., are, left to right: Miss Eleanor Barnwell, of Detroit; Mrs. Audrose Harvey, of Rochester, N. Y.; Dr. Helen Smith, of Los Angeles, Calif.; Dr. Ella Haith Weaver, of Washington, D. C., and Miss Marian E. Wright, of Jackson, Miss.

Bennett College Head Gets Government Post

Announcement of the acceptance "with profound regret" by the Bennett College board of trustees of the resignation of President Willa B. Player, was made by Dr. F. D. Patterson, of New York City, board chairman, at a general assembly on the college campus.

The resignation became effective on March 1 when Dr. Player assumed the position of director of the division of college support in the U.S. Office of Education of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Served College 35 Years

Dr. Player's resignation officially terminated 35 years of service to Bennett, the last 10 of which were in the position of president.

Under her leadership, the college has expanded its enrollment, strengthened the faculty and the physical plant of the college has undergone substantial development.

An interim committee to conduct the affairs of the college and consisting of the following persons was designated by the board:

Mrs. Mary Eady, registrar; James J. Scarlette, business manager; Dr. Marlowe F. Shute, director of self-study and evaluation services, and Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, dean of instruction, who will serve as chairman. Dr. Winston assumed the position of acting president on March 1.

The trustees also appointed a committee on the selection of a successor to Dr. Player and this committee will report its recommendations to the board when a selection has been made.

Employment Opportunities Are Talked

GREENSBORO -- Pointing to the multitude of graduate scholarships and fellowships available and to the wide range of employment opportunities now beckoning Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, acting president, challenged students, particularly seniors, to make better use of their time in the days that remain before commencement, in his Senior Day address on Friday.

"Use your time fruitfully," he said, "study harder and complete your plans for next year -- whether it be a job or graduate school. I hope that some of you will pursue the doctorate. It would be fine in future years if one of you could qualify to become president of Bennett."

The seniors received their caps and gowns from their sophomore sisters and heard that their present leader in scholarship is Miss Amanda Houston, a mathematics major of Kinston, who has a 2.83 academic average out of a possible 3.0 points. Running a close second is Miss Eva Rice, an English major, of Washington, D. C.

Following this program, the seniors planted and dedicated a magnolia tree in honor of former president, Dr. Willa B. Player and later were guests of the sophomores at a banquet.

Bennett Vespers

Dr. F. D. Patterson, of New York City, will be the vesper speaker Sunday at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel of Bennett College, of which he is chairman of the board of trustees.

COLLEGES

GREENSBORO, N.C. — The annual spring vacation at Bennett College will begin at 5:15 p.m. April 7 and end at 8 a.m. on April 18, it was announced this week.

Bennett Professor

Dr. Charles E. Garth, sociology professor and director of the Saturday School at Bennett College, will attend the annual meeting of the Southern Sociological Society in New Orleans, La., this weekend.

SHOP TALK—Dr. Willa B. Player shares school notes with U.S. Education Commissioner Harold Howes II, left, and Peter Muirhead, Associate Commissioner and Director of the Bureau of Education. She is the new director of the Division of College Support in the Bureau of Higher Education.

In the Office of Education

A New Player In the Cast

By Carolyn Lewis
Washington Post Staff Writer

Small colleges will continue to have a major part in American education, said Dr. Willa B. Player, former president of Bennett College in Greensboro, N.C., who was sworn in as director of the Division of College Support in the Bureau of Higher Education, U.S. Office of Education, on March 23.

The small college, as opposed to heavily-populated universities, she said, "is better geared to serve individual students, particularly those we are trying to help out of disadvantaged backgrounds."

Dr. Player, a softly-spoken but highly articulate Ph.D. from Columbia University's Teachers College, explained that the Bureau of Higher Education is trying to encourage small colleges to share the facilities of larger universities, "so they can command the same kind of high quality students, faculty, and federally-supported programs.

"I believe the large universities see this as a service they can render to small colleges. After all, a lot of the talent from small colleges will go on to their graduate schools," she said.

IN HER NEW JOB as director of the Division of College Support, Dr. Player will be in charge of a grants program authorized under Title III of the Higher Education Act of 1965, for strengthening small developing colleges and universities.

A native of Jackson, Mississippi, she credits the "unfulfilled aspirations" of her parents with the educational opportunities she received.

"Though my father was not a highly educated man," she said, "he was determined to move to a place where my sister and I would have a better chance to be educated."

Her father had a baritone voice of great promise, she said, while her mother wanted to become a teacher. Neither of them fulfilled their aspirations, "but they saw to it that their children would fulfill theirs."

They moved to Akron, Ohio, where Dr. Player graduated from West High School. She obtained her bachelor of arts degree at Ohio Wesleyan in 1929, a master's degree at Oberlin College in 1930, and a doctorate in education from Columbia University in 1948.

OUT OF THE whole wide spectrum of academic learning, Willa Player chose Latin as her discipline.

The study of Latin led Dr. Player into the study of French (she attended the University of Grenoble for one year), art, history, and philosophy.

DR. PLAYER was appointed coordinator of instruction at Bennett College in 1948, and was named president five years later.

In 1961, she served as an education consultant for the Agency for International Development (AID), conducting workshops for women educators in Kenya and Nigeria.

Bennett senior gets Fulbright scholarship

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Miss Carolyn J. King, a senior French major at Bennett College, was notified this week that she has been awarded a Fulbright scholarship to study French literature at the University Besancon for the 1966-67 academic year.

The daughter of Mrs. Aaron C. King will sail from New York City on Sept 15 on the S. S. France and following a period of orientation in Paris, will report to the university to begin her studies on Oct. 3.

J. B. Duoselle, executive director of the Office of European Programs of the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs of the U. S. Department of State, in making the announcement said that the grant will cover all expenses, transportation and allowances included.

Miss King, as a child, exhibited an interest in foreign French and, in addition to summer study in Canada and Mexico, spent her junior year at Universite Laval in Quebec. She plans a career as an interpreter and is the seventh Fulbright Scholar produced by Bennett College since 1953.

TWO OF MISS KING'S classmaes were also notified this week of academic Awards. Miss Kate Aseme, of Nigeria, was notified by her government that she has been awarded an all-expense scholarship by the African Scholarship Program for American Universities (ASPAU) for her freshman year in medical school. She has been accepted by the Howard University Medical School.

Miss Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S. C., a political science major, has been notified that she has been awarded a $4,00 fellowship grom Program, jointly sponsored by the University of per the Foreign Afairs Scholar Program, jointly sponsored by the U. S. State Department and Howard University, for graduate study in economics. She will work furing the summer in the State Department and in the fall will attchoice.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS — Three of five Bennett College students who have been awarded 1965 - 66 scholarships valued at up to $500 from the Methodist Board of Education, Nashville, Tenn., read conditions of their awards. Left to right: Misses Bessie L. Goins, Lenoir, N. C.; Priscilla Brunson, Orangeburg, S. C., and Betty Jackson of Easley, S. C.

100 parents at Bennett for annual Homemaking Institute

GREENSBORO, N.C. — "It is not necessarily how long one lives, but how well and how noble one's goals," Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, declared in his address marking the close of the 40th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College on Sunday.

Dr. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., spoke on "The Unattainable Goals," explaining that there is no tragedy when one fails to reach his goal but when one has no goals to which to aspire.

* * *

"METHUSELAH," said Dr. Mays, lived to be 969 and did nothing. In fact, he was mentally and spiritually dead centuries before he was buried. Kill the dream and you kill the man. Stocks and bonds and bank accounts may keep breath in our bodies, but only ideals will keep us alive."

A summary of the week's activities was given by Mrs. L. G. Streat, institute chairman.

* * *

SOME 100 PARENTS of Bennett students from nine states gathered for a Saturday seminar during which they exchanged, with members of the faculty points of view on recognizing and dealing with the aspirational levels of their daughters.

They were cautioned by members of the faculty panel against pressuring their offspring into particular career choices and to recognize that aspirations are subject to change as their daughters mature.

A TREE GROWS — Miss Viola Owens, of Asheville, N. C., throws first shovel of earth around magnolia tree which Bennett seniors planted recently in honor of former president, Dr. Willa B. Player.

Bennett Prof At Conference

GREENSBORO -- Dr. Charles E. Garth, professor of sociology at Bennett College, attended the U. S.-India Women's College Exchange Program Conference at Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg, Virginia, on March 27-29.

Purpose of the conference was to enable American lecturers going to India for the 1966-67 academic year to hear comments from teachers who have participated in the exchange. Dr. Garth was at Marahani's College at Bangalore for the 1964-65 school year.

Bennett Plans Musical Play

Kurt Weil's "Down In The Valley," a play set to music, will be presented by the Bennett College Theater Guild tonight at 8 o'clock in the college's Little Theater.

The performance, directed by Fred A. Eady, will mark the closing of the annual Festival of the Arts and will feature male and female choruses. Miss Saundra Jenkins of Orangeburg, S.C., is cast in the feminine lead.

Bennett Senior Awarded Fulbright Scholarship

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Miss Carolyn J. King, a senior French major at Bennett College, was notified last week that she has been awarded a Fulbright scholarship to study French literature at the University Besancon for the 1966-67 academic year.

The daughter of Mrs. Aaron C. King will sail from New York City on September 15 on the S. S. France and following a period of orientation in Paris, will report to the university to begin her studies on October 3.

J. B. DUOSELLE, executive director of the Office of European Programs of the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs of the U. S. Department of State, in making the announcement said that the grant will cover all expenses, transportation and allowances included.

Miss King, as a child, exhibited an interest in foreign languages, particularly French and, in addition to summer study in Canada and Mexico, spent her junior year at Universite Laval in Quebec. She plans a career as an interpreter and is the seventh Fulbright Scholar produced by Bennett College since 1953.

TWO OF MISS KING'S classmates were also notified this week of academic awards Miss Kate Aseme, of Nigeria, was notified by her government that she has been awarded an all-expense scholarship by the African Scholarship Program for American Universities (ASPAU) for her freshman year in medical school. She has been accepted by the Howard University Medical School.

Miss Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S. C., a political science major, has been notified that she has been awarded a $4,000 fellowship from the Foreign Affairs Scholars Program, jointly sponsored by the U. S. State Department and Howard University, for graduate study in economics. She will work during the summer in the State Department and in the fall will attend a university of her choice.

Conducts Seminar

GREENSBORO -- The First Secretary of the Japanese Embassy in Washington, D. C.-- Jidetoshi Ukawa -- conducted a seminar on Japan on Monday as a feature of the program

ON HUMANITIES PROGRAM -- Mrs. Randall Jarrell, of Greensboro, who read some of her late husband's poetry on the program opening the annual Humanities Week at Bennett College, Monday, is flanked by two student participants -- Misses Gretta Middleton (left) of Charleston, S. C., and Angeline Johnson, of Reidsville, N. C.

Dr. Patterson Speaks

Dr. F. D. Patterson, chairman of the board of trustees of Bennett College, spoke to the Vesper audience at Bennett College Sunday afternoon.

PLAY IS TONIGHT

Kurt Weill's "Down in the Valley," will be presented by the Bennett College Theater Guild tonight at 8 o'clock in the college's Little Theater. Fred A. Eady will direct with Miss Saundra Jenkins in the lead.

Seniors Plant Tree

Miss Viola Owens, of Asheville, N. C., throws first shovel of earth around magnolia tree which Bennett College seniors planted last Friday in honor of former president, Dr. Willa B. Player.

Miss Carolyn King Of Bennett To Study In France In '66-'67

GREENSBORO - Miss Carolyn J. King, a senior French major at Bennett College, was notified this week that she has been awarded a Fulbright scholarship to study French literature at the University Besancon for the 1966-67 academic year.

The daughter of Mrs. Aaron C. King will sail from New York City on September 15 on the S. S. France and following a period of orientation in Paris, will report to the University to begin her studies on October 3.

J. B. Duoselle, executive director of the Office of European Programs of the Bureau of Education and Cultural Affairs of the U. S. Department of State, in making the announcement said that the grant will cover all expenses, transportation and allowances included.

Miss King, as a child, exhibited an interest in foreign languages, particularly French and, in addition to summer study in Canada and Mexico, spent her junior year at Universite Laval in Quebec. She plans a career as an interpreter and is the seventh Fulbright Scholar produced by Bennett College since 1953.

Two of Miss King's classmates were also notified this week of academic awards. Miss Kate Aseme, of Nigeria, was notified by her government that she has been awarded an all-expense scholarship by the African Scholarship Program for American Universities (ASPAU) for her freshmen year in medical school. She has been accepted by the Howard University Medical School.

Miss Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S. C., a political science major, has been notified that she has been awarded a $4,000 fellowship from the Foreign Affairs Scholars Program, jointly sponsored by the U. S. State Department and Howard University, for graduate study in economics. She will work during the summer in the State Department and in the fall will attend a university of her choice.

Musical Play

A musical play, "Down in the Valley," will be enacted tonight and Saturday at 8 o'clock in Bennett College's Little Theatre. There is no admission charge.

Bennett produces 'Down in Valley'

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Kurt Weil's "Down in the Valley, a play set to music, was Bennett College Theatre Guild presented recently by the in the Little Theatre.

Directed by Fred A. Eady, the production, featured a mixed chorus and Saundra Jenkins, of Orangeburg, S. C., and Evander Gilmer, of A and T college in the leading roles. It marked the end of the annual Festival of the Arts sponsored by the college's humanities division.

Bennett sets summer high schooler session

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Bennett College has scheduled its second Humanities Summer School for high - ability high school students for June 20 to July 29, Dr. Helen Trobian, the director announced this week.

The six - week sessions will be open to students now in the 10th, 11th and 12th grades. Courses will be ofered in literature, philosophy, social sciences, modern languages, music, art, drama and dance. There will also be conferences, field trips and laboratory experiences designed for college-bound youth with demonstrated ability.

WIN SCHOLARSHIPS -- Three of five Bennett College students who have been awarded 1964-66 scholarships valued at up to $500 from the Methodist Board of Education, Nashville, Tenn., read conditions of their awards. Left to right: Misses Bessie L. Goins, of Lenoir; Priscilla Brunson, of Orangeburg, S. C., and Betty Jackson, of Easley, S. C.

HERE'S OUR FOUNDER - Three students from the Republic of Liberia show a visitor from their homeland the North Carolina College campus during her visit to the institution Monday. From left are Mrs. Zaria Dempster, junior; Ellen Liles, senior; Mrs. Laura W. Tucker, cultural attache and student advisor of the Liberian Embassy, Washington; and Ella Hansforth, freshman. The statue is of Dr. James E. Shepard, who founded the college in 1910 and was its president until his death in 1947.

Dr. Mays Challenges Audience At Bennett

GREENSBORO - "It is not necessarily how long one lives, but how well and how noble one's goals," Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, declared in his address marking the close of the 40th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College on Sunday.

Dr. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., spoke on "The Unattainable Goal" explaining that there is no tragedy when one fails to reach his goal but when one has no goals to which to aspire.

"Methuselah," said Dr. Mays, "lived to be 969 and did nothing. In fact, he was mentally and spiritually dead centuries before he was buried. Kill the dream and you kill the man. Stocks and bonds and bank accounts may keep breath in our bodies, but only ideals will keep us alive."

A summary of the week's activities was given by Mrs. L. G. Streat, institute chairman.

Some 100 parents of Bennett students from nine states gathered for a Saturday seminar during which they exchanged, with members of the faculty points of view on recognizing and dealing with the aspirational levels of their daughters.

Coming the longest distance were parents from Alabama, while others came from Georgia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Virginia and the District of Columbia, as well as from the Carolinas.

They were cautioned by members of the faculty panel against pressuring their offspring into particular career choices and to recognize that aspirators are subject to change as their daughters mature. Later, in five workshops, they were able to express their personal views. Additionally, they were guests at a luncheon.

Bennett College News

A young woman attorney, who turned down an opportunity to practice in Wall Street to accept the challenge of working in Mississippi where there were only three Negro lawyers in the entire state, sparked the opening session of the 40th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College on Monday.

Miss Marian E. Wright, a graduate of the Yale University Law School, said that "I came South because most of the talent was going elsewhere," and accepted work as one of the few NAACP Legal Defense Fund lawyers in Mississippi.

She challenged the students to come out of their ivory towers and to work with people who are trying to help themselves. She rapped the so-called middle class as being "too comfortable" and as "having too much to lose" to become engaged in the struggle for human rights and dignity.

Dr. Owen Lectures

Dr. Guy Owen, professor of English at North Carolina State University at Raleigh, will lecture on "The Use of Folklore in Fiction" as a highlight of the annual Humanities Week at Bennett College on Friday, March 25 at 10 a.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

The week, which began on Monday night with Mrs. Randall Jarrell, wife of the late author-poet at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, lecturing on "A Look at the Magic of Creative Ideas," has as its theme "The Humanities Revisited."

A program dealing with the structure of ancient languages—Chinese, Iraqui, Aribic, Hindustani and Amharic—scheduled for last night with three faculty members—Miss Marget Peter, of India; Dr. Shang-Ling Fu, of China; Dr. Majid Al-Radawy, of Iraq—and a student, Miss Taddessee Messeret, of Ethiopia, as participants.

Following a program of folk music and folk dances in the Little Theatre on Friday night, student awards for creativity in writing and art will be presented to be followed by a reception and autographing session with Dr. Owen in the David B. Jones Student Union.

Other activities, to be extended over the following week will include plays in German, French and Spanish by students of the modern language department and a Little Theatre production, "Down in the Valley," by Kurt Weill, on the nights of April 1 and 2, with Fred A. Eady directing.

Safe Driver Award

Miss Amelia Barksdale of Greensboro, a Bennett College sophomore, last week was chosen "Safe Driver of the Week" by the local police department.

With only eight months' driving experience, Miss Barksdale received, in addition to a certificate of appreciation from the police department gifts from several merchants.

Seminar On Japan

The First Secretary of the Japanese Embassy in Washington D.C. Jidetoshi Ukawa—conducted a seminar on Japan on Monday as a feature of the program of Non-Western Studies at Bennett College.

All the flowers of all the tomorrows are in the seeds of today.

Dr. Owen Of NCSU Talks At Bennett

GREENSBORO -- Dr. Guy Owen, professor of English at North Carolina State University at Raleigh, will lecture on "The Use of Folklore in Fiction" as a highlight of the annual Humanities Week at Bennett College on Friday, March 25 at 10 a. m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

The week, which began on Monday night with Mrs. Randall Jarrell, wife of the late author-poet at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, lecturing on "A Look at the Magic of Creative Ideas," has as its theme "The Humanities Revisited."

A program dealing with the structure of ancient languages -- Chinese, Iraqui, Arabic, Hindustani and Amharic -- was scheduled for Wednesday night, with three faculty members -- Miss [illegible], of India; Dr. [illegible], of China; Dr. Majid Al-Radawy, of Iraq -- and a student, Miss Taddessee Messeret, of Ethiopia, as participants.

Following a program of folk music and folk dances in the Little Theatre on Friday night, student awards for creativity in writing and art will be presented.

A TREE GROWS... Miss Viola Ownes, of Asheville, N. C., throws first shovel of earth around magnolia tree which Bennett College seniors planted recently in honor of former president, Dr. Willa B. Player.

Scholarship To Europe Awarded

Miss Carolyn J. King, a senior French major at Bennett College, was notified that she has been awarded a Fulbright scholarship to study French literature at the University Besancon for the 1966-67 academic year.

A daughter of Mrs. Aaron C. King, she will sail from New York City on Sept. 15 and following a period of orientation in Paris will report to the university to begin her studies on Oct. [illegible].

Two of Miss King's classmates were also notified this week of academic awards. Miss Kate Aseme of Nigeria was notified by her government that she has been awarded an all-expense scholarship by the African Scholarship Program for American Universities (ASPAU) for her freshman year in medical school. She has been accepted by the Howard University Medical School.

Miss Gretta Middleton of Charleston, S.C., a political science major, has been notified that she has been awarded a $4,000 fellowship from the Foreign Affairs Scholars Program, jointly sponsored by the U.S. State Department and Howard University, for graduate study in economics. She will work during the summer in the State Department and in the fall will attend a university of her choice.

BENNETT COLLEGE HONOR ROLL

Miss Ida Pinnix, a freshman, of Martinsville, Va., with a straight "A" record, topped 81 Bennett College students who made the dean's list for the first semester.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Van Pinnix was valedictorian at Albert Harris High School from which she was graduated in 1965. She plans a career as a medical technologist.

The complete list follows:

Freshmen — Rose M. Allen, Greensboro; Yvonne J. Allen, New Haven, Conn.; Audrey L. Arrington and Callie L. Brown, Atlanta, Ga.; Karen J. Burnett, Graham, N. C.; Dorothy D. Childs, Pittsburgh, Penn.; Constance C. Clark, Akron, Ohio; Jo Anne Coble, Wilson, N. C.; Nellie R. Dixon, Laurinburg, N. C.; Vera C. Fowler, Albany, Ga.; Julia I. Greene, Mullins, S. C.; Dianne D. Hackett, Richmond, Va.; Cynthia J. Hampton, Greensboro; Peggy A. Hemphill, Charlotte, N. C.; Angelene Johnson, Reidsville, N. C.; Janice M. Johnson, Burlington, N. C.; Minnie P. Johnson, Dallas, Texas; Emma J. Jones, Fayetteville, N. C.; Celesta S. Lewis, Newport News, Va.; Barbara S. Loftin, New York City; Kay W. McCastle, Cleveland, Ohio; Jo Anne Morrow, Atlanta, Ga.; Shirley D. Pettus, South Hill, Va.; Ida P. Pinnix, Martinsville, Va.; Anita L. Pinson, Greensboro; D'jaris A. Ragland, Birmingham, Ala.; Peggy A. Richmond, Burlington; Beverly A. Roberts, Newark, N. J.; Doris J. Scott, Richmond, Va.; Roy L. Skinner, Lake City, S. C.; Ava D. Taylor, Birmingham, Ala.; Margaret A. Thompkins, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Joan E. Thompson, Akron, Ohio; Mary L. Thompson, Greenville, S. C.; Gloria Y. Torrence, Hampton, Va.; June R. Tunstall, Ashland, Va.; Colleen L. Turner, Richmond, Va.; Bonnie G. Warren, Glen Raven, N. C.; Thelma M. Williams, Woodruff, S. C.; Sandra L. Wilson, Greensboro, N. C.; Betty L. Wright, Denmark, S. C.; Laurette Wright, Pittsburg, Penn.; Patricia A. Wynn, Kenbridge, Va.;

Eastover, S. C.; Rossie Caldwell, Orangeburg, S. C.; Cynthia Frierson, Florence, S. C.; Edrice Glass, Atlanta, Ga.; Eleanor Mitchell, Orlando, Fla.;

Juniors—Gloria Benson, Columbia, S. C.; Jessie Cardwell, Greensboro; Gardenia Cole, Clover. S. C.; Mary Cole, Chapel Hill, N. C.; Sandra Days, Magazine, Ala.; Patricia Faison, New Bern, N. C.; Wilma Griffin, Columbus, Ga.; Mary Jacobs, Mebane, N. C.; Barbara Lake, Graham. N. C.; Glenda Smith, Greensboro, Judith Sullivan, Shrewsbury, N. J.; Messeret Taddesse, Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.;

Seniors — Brenda Arrington New York City; Kate Aseme, Nigeria; Nancy Ball, Bryson City, N. C.; Ruby Chesson, South Norfolk, Va.; Elnora Harris, Baltimore, Md.; Gail Hickerson, Lenoir, N. C.; Victoria Hillman, Washington, D. C.; Marian Kelly, South Norwalk, Conn.; Carolyn Maddox, Salisbury, Md.; Gretta Middleton, Charleston, S. C.; Barbara Pharris, Birmingham, Ala.; Ernestine Reddick, Kinston, N. C.; Eva Rice, Washington, D. C.; Charlie Roundtree, Southern Pines, N. C.; Monica Sloan, New Orleans, La.; Dorinda Smith, New Haven, Conn.; Charlotte Tenbrook, Newport News, Va.; Freda K. Thompson, New Rochelle, N. Y.; J. Barbara Turner, Raleigh, N. C.; Shirley Watson, Bethlehem, Penn.

BENNETT NEWS

Four members of the Bennett College faculty have been awarded summer study scholarships by the Piedmont University Center, Inc., of Winston-Salem, it was announced this week.

Recipients, their fields, the awards and the institutions at which they will study are:

Edward Lowe, music, $1,000, Syracuse University; Miss Carolyn L. Kimble, business education $1,000, New York University; Mrs. Marianne Rosthal, languages, $500, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and Mrs. Carrie M. Shuté, foods and nutrition, $500, Columbia University.

MISS EMMA STEPHENSON displays trophy after being named "Athlete of the Year" at the annual Women's Sports Day Association meet held at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., recently. A senior at North Carolina College, Miss Stephenson is a physical education major from Conway, N.C.

Ida Pinnix places first on Bennett's dean's list

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Miss Ida Pinnix, a freshman, from Martinsville, Va., with a straight "A" record, topped 81 Bennett College students who made the dean's list for the first semester.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Van Pinnix, she was valedictorian at Albert Harris High School from which she was graduated in 1965. She plans a career as a medical technologist.

Other honor students are:

* * *

FRESHMEN — Rose M. Allen, Greensboro; Yvonne J. Allen, New Haven, Conn.; Audrey L. Arrington and Callie L. Brown, Atlanta, Ga.; Karen J. Burnett, Graham, N.C.; Dorothy D. Childs, Pittsburgh, Penn.; Constance C. Clarke, Akron, Ohio; Jo Anne Coble, Wilson, N.C.; Nellie R. Dixon, Laurinburg, N.C.; Vera C. Fowler, Albany, Ga.;

Julia I. Greene, Mullens, S.C.; Dianne D. Hackett, Richmond, Va.; Cynthia J. Hampton, Greensboro; Peggy A. Hemphill, Charlotte, N.C.; Angelene Johnson, Reidsville, N.C.; Janice M. Johnson, Burlington, N.C.; Minnie P. Johnson, Dallas, Texas; Emma J. Jones, Fayetteville, N.C.; Celesta S. Lewis, Newport News, Va.;

Barbara S. Loftin, New York City; K. W. McCastle, Cleveland, Ohio; Jo Anne Morrow, Atlanta, Ga.; Shirley D. Pettus, South Hill, Va.; Ida P. Pinnix, Martinsville, Va.; Anita L. Pinson, Greensboro; D'jaris A. Raglan, Birmingham, Ala.; Peggy A. Richmond, Burlington, N.C.; Beverly A. Roberts, Newark, N.J.;

Doris J. Scott, Richmond, Va.; Roy L. Skinner, Lake City, S.C.; Ava D. Taylor, Birmingham, Ala.; Margaret A. Thompkins, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Joan E. Thompson, Akron, Ohio; Mary L. Thompson, Greenville, S.C.; Gloria Y. Torrence, Hampton, Va.; June R. Tunstall, Ashland, Va.;

Colleen L. Turner, Richmond Va.; Bonnie G. Warren, Glen Raven, N.C.; Thelma M. Williams, Woodruff, S. C.; Sandra L. Wilson, Greensboro, N.C.; Betty L. Wright, Denmark, S.C. Laurette Wright, Pittsburgh, Penn.; Patricia A. Wynn, Kenbridge, Va.

SOPHOMORES — Aretha Butler, Eastover, S.C.; Rossie Caldwell, Orangeburg, S.C.; Cynthia Frierson, Florence, S.C.; Edrice Glass, Atlanta, Ga.; Eleanor Mitchell, Orlando, Fla.

JUNIORS — Gloria Benson, Columbia, S.C.; Jessie Cardwell, Greensboro; Gardenia Cole, Clover, S.C.; Mary Cole, Chapel Hill, N.C.; Sandra Days Magazine, Ala.; Patricia Faison, New Bern, N.C.; Wilma Griffin, Columbus, Ga.; Mary Jacobs, Mebane, N.C.; Barbara Lake, Graham, N.C.; Glenda Smith, Greensboro; Judith Sullivan, Shrewsbury, N.J.; Messeret Taddesse, Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

SENIORS — Brenda Arrington, New York City; Kate Aseme, Nigeria; Nancy Ball, Bryson City, N.C.; Ruby Chesson, South Norfolk, Va.; Elnora Harris, Baltimore, Md.; Gail Hickerson, Lenoir, N.C.; Victoria Hillman, Washington, D.C.; Marian Kelly, South Norwalk, Conn.;

Carolyn Maddox, Salisbury, Md.; Gretta Middleton, Charleston, S.C.; Barbara Pharris, Birmingham, Ala.; Ernestine Reddick, Kinston, N.E.; Eva Rice, Washington, D.C.; Charlie Roundtree, Southern Pines, N.C.; Monica Sloan, New Orleans, La.; Dorinda Smith, New Haven, Conn.; Charlotte Tenbrook, Newport News, Va.; Freda K. Thompson, New Rochelle, N.Y.; J. Barbara Turner, Raleigh, N.C.; Shirley Watson, Bethlehem, Penn.

VIOLA OWENS, Bennett College senior, plants a tree on the campus, in the traditional ceremony which honored the former president, Dr. Willa B. Player. Miss Owens throws a shovel-full of earth a round the magnolia tree which eventually will be one of the most beautiful trees on the camps.

Music Comes Out Here . . .

Alirio Diaz, Venezuelan-born classic guitarist, who performed at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., last week, explains structure of instrument to Miss Eloise Franklin, music major, of Augusta, Ga.

Music Comes Out Here . . .

Alirio Diaz, Venezuelan-born classic guitarist, who performed at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., last week, explains structure of instrument to Miss Eloise Franklin, music major, of Augusta, Ga.

Bennett College News

Miss Ida Pinnix, a freshman, of Martinsville, Va., with a straight "A" record, topped 81 Bennett College students who made the dean's list for the first semester.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Van Pinnix, Miss Pinnix was valedictorian at Albert Harris High School from which she was graduated in 1965. She plans a career as a medical technologist.

A belief that the dying American village and the vanishing American farm have contributed to a loss of vitality and reality in American fiction was expressed by Dr. Guy Owen, in an address highlighting the annual Festival of the Arts at Bennett College on Friday, April 1st.

Dr. Owen, professor of English at North Carolina State University at Raleigh, who has just completed his third novel, spoke on "The Use of Folklore in Fiction."

Referring to himself as a novelist-historian, Dr. Owen explained his use of folklore. "First, I use it because it is there," he stated. "I feel that it lends a sense of the past to my writing. In addition, folklore provides a setting and lastly, it is honest."

That there are not more Negro novelists and poets in the South to dig deeper into the Negro backgrounds, was deplored by the speaker. "Much of our culture will vanish if we do not record it it in our time," he said.

On Friday night, Dr. Owen presented awards to the following students who participated in the creative writing and art contests:

FIRST PRIZE IN POETRY—Miss Jerry D. Green, of Thomasville, Ga.; FIRST PRIZE IN SHORT FICTION—Miss Angelene Johnson, of Reidsville; FRST PRIZE IN ART—Miss Emily Jackson, Teaneck, N.J.; HONORABE MENTION IN ART—Miss Geraldine Kearney, of Philadelphia, Pa.

Miss Andrea Mast, of Houston, Tex., received a certificate of merit for her drama entry. Receiving certificates of merit for short stories were Misses Jocelyn Adkins, of Fort Valley, Ga., and Diane Collins, of Atlanta, Ga.

The annual spring vacation at Bennett College will begin at 5:15 p.m. today and end at 8 a.m. on April 18, it was announced this week.

Greensboro Grist

RELIGION DISCUSSED

"The Religions of Japan" was the topic of Dr. Grimsley T. Hobbs, president of Guilford College, when spoke yesterday at Bennett College as a part of the non-western studies program.

81 Bennett Students On Dean's List

GREENSBORO -- Miss Ida Pinnix, a freshman, of Martinsville, Va., with a straight "A" record, topped 81 Bennett College students who made the dean's list for the first semester.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Van Pinnix, Miss Pinnix was valedictorian at Albert Harris High School from which she was graduated in 1965. She plans a career as a medical technologist.

The complete list follows:

Freshmen -- Rose M. Allen, Greensboro; Yvonne J. Allen, New Haven, Conn.; Audrey L. Arrington and Callie L. Brown, Atlanta, Ga.; Karen J. Burnett, Graham; Dorothy D. Childs, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Constance C. Clarke, Akron, Ohio; Jo Anne Coble, Wilson; Nellie R. Dixon, Laurinburg; Vera C. Fowler, Albany, Ga.; Julia I. Greene, Mullens, S. C.; Dianne D. Hackett, Richmond, Va.; Cynthia J. Hampton, Greensboro; Peggy A. Hemphill, Charlotte; Angelene Johnson, Reidsville; Janice M. Johnson, Burlington; Minnie P. Johnson, Dallas, Texas; Emma J. Jones, Fayetteville; Celesta S. Lewis, Newport News, Va.; Barbara S. Loftin, New York City; Kay W. McCastle, Cleveland, Ohio; Jo Anne Morrow, Atlanta, Ga.; Shirley D. Pettus, South Hill, Va.; Ida P. Pinnix, Martinsville, Va.; Anita L. Pinson, Greensboro; D'jaris A. Ragland, Birmingham, Ala.; Peggy A. Richmond, Burlington; Beverly A. Roberts, Newark, N. J.; Doris J. Scott, Richmond, Va.; Roy L. Skinner, Lake City, S. C.; Ava D. Taylor, Birmingham, Ala.; Margaret A. Thompkins, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Joan E. Thompson, Akron, Ohio; Mary L. Thompson, Greenville, S. C.; Gloria Y. Torrence, Hampton, Va.; June R. Tunstall, Ashland, Va.; Colleen L. Turner, Richmond, Va.; Bonnie G. Warren, Glen Raven; Thelma M. Williams, Woodruff, S. C.; Sandra L. Wilson, Greeensboro; Betty L. Wright, Denmark, S. C.; Laurette Wright, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Patricia A. Wynn, Kenbridge, Va.;

Sophomores -- Aretha Butler, Eastover, S. C.; Rossie Caldwell, Orangeburg, S. C.; Cynthia Frierson, Florence, S. C.; Edrice Glass, Atlanta, Ga.; Eleanor Mitchell, Orlando, Fla.;

Juniors -- Gloria Benson, Columbia, S. C.; Jessie Cardwell, Greensboro; Gardenia Cole, Clover, S. C.; Mary Cole, Chapel Hill; Sandra Days, Magazine, Ala.; Patricia Fairson, New Bern; Wilma Griffin, Columbus, Ga.; Mary Jacobs, Mebane; Barbara Lake, Graham; Glenda Smith, Greensboro; Judith Sullivan, Shrewsbury, N. J.; Messeret Taddesse, Addis Ababa, Ethiopia;

Seniors -- Brenda Arrington, New York City; Kate Aseme, Nigeria; Nancy Ball, Bryson City; Ruby Chesson, South Norfolk, Va.; Elmora Harris, Baltimore, Md.; Gail Hickerson, Lenoir; Victoria Hillman, Washington, D. C.; Marian Kelley, South Norwalk, Conn.; Carolyn Maddox, Salisbury, Md.; Gretta Middleton, Charleston, S. C.; Barbara Pharris, Birmingham, Ala.; Ernestine Reddick, Kinston; Eva Rice, Washington, D. C.; Charlie Roundtree, Southern Pines; Monica Sloan, New Orleans, La.; Dorinda Smith, New Haven, Conn.; Charlotte Tenbrook, Newport News, Va.; Freda K. Thompson, New Rochelle, N. Y.; J. Barbara Turner, Raleigh; Shirley Watson, Bethlehem, Pa.

Bennett College News

Members of the Greensboro chapter of the Bennett College Graduate Association cleared more than $500 for the college's Loyalty Fund as a result of a baby contest which ended Sunday with the presentation of prizes.

Top honors went to Mrs. Bobbie T. Humphrey, '52, for her son, Michael while in second place was Mrs. Rosa F. Hooker, '53 and son, Grady. Third honors went to Mrs. Honora G. Brown, '59, and her daughter, Helen. Prizes were $50 and $25 savings bonds and a $10 gift certificate.

That man is made up of virtues and vices and that the problem of the Christian is to learn how to master the mixture, was the thesis of the vesper address by Dr. Louis W. Norris, president of Albion (Mich.) College, at Bennett College on Sunday.

GREENSBORO, GA. C. — Sim E. Williams, instructor in political science and history at Bennett College, has been awarded a scholarship to attend an Institute in European History at Tulane University in New Orleans, La., from June 13 to Aug. 5.

AUTHOR AUTOGRAPHS -- Dr. Guy Owen, professor of English at North Carolina State University at Raleigh, and the author of three novels, autographs one of his books for Miss Andrea Mast, a senior, of Houston, Texas, during annual Festival of the Arts staged by the humanities division at Bennett College, Greensboro. Miss Mast received a certificate of merit in the drama division.

Dr. Guy Owen Highlights Annual Festival Of Arts

GREENSBORO--A belief that the dying American village and the vanishing American farm have contributed to a loss of vitality and reality in American fiction was expressed by Guy Owen, in an address highlighting the annual Festival of the Arts at Bennett College Friday.

Dr. Owen, professor of English at North Carolina State University at Raleigh, who has just completed his third novel, spoke on "The Use of Folklore in Fiction."

Referring to himself as a novelist-historian, Dr. Owen explained his use of folklore. "First, I use it because it is there," he stated. "I feel that it lends a sense of the past to my writing. In addition, folklore provides a setting and lastly, it is honest."

That there are not more Negro novelists and poets in the South to dig deeper into the Negro backgrounds, was deplored by the speaker. "Much of our culture will vanish if we do not record it in our time," he said.

On Friday night, Dr. Owen presented awards to the following students who participated in the creative writing and art contests:

First Prize in Poetry -- Miss Jerry D. Green, of Thomasville, Ga.; First Prize in Short Fiction -- Miss Angelene Johnson, of Reidsville; First Prize in Art -- Miss Emily Jackson, Teaneck, N. J.; Honorable Mention in Art -- Miss Geraldine Kearney, of Philadelphia, Pa.

Miss Andrea Mast, of Houston, Tex.; received a certificate of merit for her drama entry. Receiving certificates of merit for short stories were Miss Jocelyn Adkins, of Fort Valley, Ga., and Miss Diane Collins, of Atlanta, Ga.

Certificates of merit in poetry were awarded to: Misses Annie Barrow, of Greenville, Constance Clarke, of Akron, Ohio; Jennifer Jones, of Hampton, Va.; Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S. C.; Linda Price, of Snow Camp; Sara Wiley, of McLeansville; and Ednita Wright, of Society Hill, S. C.

ACTING PRESIDENT — Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, seated, acting president of Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., exchanges views with Dr. F. D. Patterson, of New York City, chairman, of the trustee board, during his recent visit to the campus.

Bennett College Schedules Humanities Conference

Bennett College has scheduled its second Humanities Summer School for high-ability high school students for the period June 2[illegible] to July 29, Dr. Helen Trobian, director announced this week

The six-week sessions will be open to students now in the 10th, 11th and 12th grades. Courses will be offered in literature, philosophy, social sciences, modern languages, music, art, drama and dance and there will also be conferences, field trips and labratory experiences designed for college-bound youth with demonstrated ability.

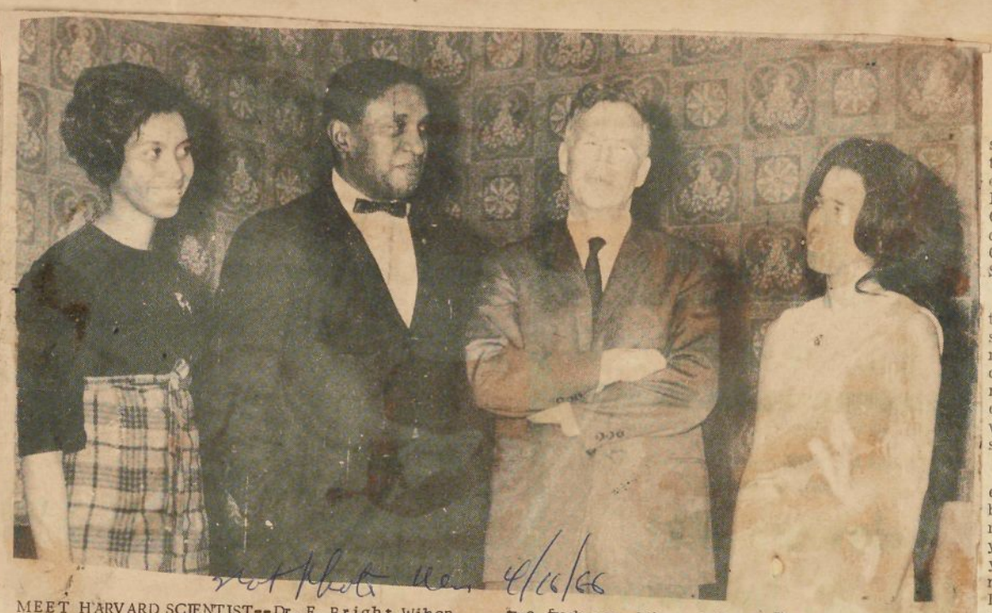

Dr. Trobian stated that there would be a limited number of scholarships and financial assistance to persons meeting the requirements.

Dr. Emory Ross, author, missionary and humanitarian and an official of the Phelps-Stokes Fund of New York City will be the speaker at the April 24 vesper service at Bennett College at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

BENNETT NEWS

Kurt Weil's "Down in the Valley," a play set to music was presented on Friday and Saturday nights by the Bennett College Theatre Guild in the Little Theatre

Directed by Fred A. Eady, the production, which featured a mixed chorus of singers and Miss Saundra Jenkins, of Orangeburg, S. C., and Evander Gilmer, of A & T College in the leading roles, marked the end of the annual Festival of the Arts sponsored by the college's humanities division.

MEET HARVARD SCIENTIST--Dr. E. Bright Wilson, (second from right) professor of chemistry at Harvard University, pauses after Bennett College lecture to chat with Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the science division, and two freshmen--Misses Sylvia Potts, of Louisville, Ky., (left) and Ida Pinnix, of Martinsville, Va. Lecture was one in visiting scholars series sponsored by the Piedmont University Center, Inc., of Winston-Salem.

Bennett College News

"Life moves with such a swift tempo that the capacity for adjustment is the very essence of survival," Dr. F. D. Patterson, of New York City, chairman of the board of trustees, told the Bennett College vesper audience on Sunday.

Stating that "I have come to regard education as life itself, rather than as a preparation for life," Dr. Patterson challenged the students to make the most of the many opportunities before them, whether in a job or graduate school.

The end of want and poverty, he explained, will not be the end of anything but really the beginning. "Unless you accept a goal that is beyond materialism, you will not be happy but frustrated. Identify yourselves with the vital needs of mankind and you will find rewards hardly even suggested by the material comforts of life."

Miss Sarah B. Wiley, of McLeansville, a rising junior business education major at Bennett College, was notified this week that she has been accepted for the Piedmont University Center's Overseas Summer Study-Travel Program, and will study in Spain.

The center, a cooperative educational venture by 17 of the state's colleges, is making it possible for two groups to study in France and Spain for eight weeks. They leave New York on June 13 and will return on August 8.

Miss Carolyn J. King, a senior French major at Bennett College, was notified that she has been awarded a Fulbright scholarship to study French literature at the University Besancon for the 1966-67 academic year.

J. B. Duoselle, executive director of the Office of European Programs of the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs of the U.S. Department of State, in making the announcement said that the grant will cover all expenses, transportation and allowances included.

Miss Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S.C., a political science major, has been notified that she has been awarded a $4,000 fellowship from the Foreign Affairs Scholars Program, jointly sponsored by the U.S. State Department and Howard University, for graduate study in economics. She will work during the summer in the State Department and in the fall will attend a university of her choice.

"It is not necessarily how long one lives, but how well and how noble one's goals," Dr. Beanjamin. E Mays declared in his address marking the close of the 40th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College on Sunday.

Dr. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., spoke on "The Unattainable Goals," explaining that there is no tragedy when one fails to reach his goal but when one has no goals to which to aspire.

A summary of the week's activities was given by Mrs. L. G. Streat, institute chairman.

Some 100 parents of Bennett students from nine states gathered for a Saturday seminar during which they exchanged, with members of the faculty, points of view on recognizing and dealing with the aspirational levels of their daughters.

Coming the longest distance were parents from Alabama, while others came from Georgia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Virginia and the District of Columbia, as well as from the Carolinas.

They were cautioned by members of the faculty panel against pressuring their offspring into particular career choices and to recognize that aspirations are subject to change as their daughters mature. Later, in five workshops, they were able to express their personal views. At 1 p.m., they were guests at a luncheon.

Pointing to the multitude of graduate scholarships and fellowships available and to the wide range of employment opportunities now beckoning Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, acting president, challenged studies, particularly seniors, to make better use of their time in the days that remain before commencement, in his Senior Day address on Friday.

"Use your time fruitfully," he said, "study harder and complete your plans for next year—whether it be a job or graduate school. I hope that some of you will pursue the doctorate. It would be fine in future years if one of you could qualify to become president of Bennett."

Dr. Charles E. Garth, professor of sociology at Bennett College, attended the U.S.-India Women's College Exchange Prgoram Conference at Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg, Va., March 27-29.

Purpose of the conference was to enable American lecturers going to India for the 1966-67 academic year to hear comments from teachers who have participated in the exchange. Dr. Garth was at Marahani's College at Bangalore for the 1964-65 school year.

ON HUMANITIES PROGRAM--Mrs. Randall Jarrell, of Greensboro, who read some of her late husband's poetry on the program opening the annual Humanities Week at Bennett College recently, is flanked by two student participants--Misses Gretta Middleton (left) of Charleston, S.C., and Angeline Johnson, of Reidsville, N.C.

IN ALUMNAE PROGRAM -- Mrs. Alice H. Young, (second from right) administrator in the Rochester, N.Y. public school system, who delivered the address at the annual alumnae vesper service at Bennett College Sunday, chats with three of her hostesses following a morning workshop in education. Left to right: Mrs. Ernestine H. Gray, director of placement and alumnae affairs; Miss Mary Ann Rogers, president of the National Graduate Association, and Mrs. Madeline Best, president of the local graduate chapter.

IN ALUMNAE PROGRAM---Mrs. Alice H. Young (second from right) administrator in the Rochester, N.Y. public school system, who delivered the address at the annual alumnae vesper service at Bennett College Sunday, chats with three of her hostesses following a morning workshop in education. Left to right: Mrs. Ernestine H. Gray, director of placement and alumnae affairs; Miss Mary Ann Rogers, president of the National Graduate Association, and Mrs. Madeline Best, president of the local graduate chapter.

Bennett Choir Will Sing In Williamsburg

WILLIAMSBURG — The alumnae of Bennett College will present The Bennett College Senior Choir, of Greensboro, N. C., in concert on Sunday, April 24, at 4:30 p.m., at Berkeley High School in Williamsburg.

The female voiced choir, under the direction of Mrs. Mary Jane Crawford, has made numerous appearances in cities throughout the United States and Canada.

This year the choir's appearances, outside the college were at a minimum, but a long standing request made by graduates in this area was fulfilled by the administration at Bennett College.

Weil's Musical Play Presented

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Kurt Weil's "Down in the Valley," a play set to music, was presented by the Bennett College Theatre Guild in the little theatre.

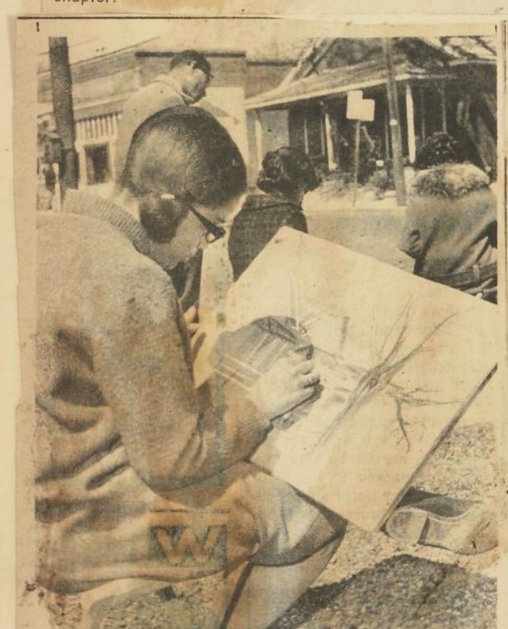

Directed by Fred A. Eady, the production, which featured a mixed chorus of singers and Miss Saundra Jenkins, of Orangeburg, S. C., and Evander Gilmer, of A. and T. College in the leading roles, marked the end of the annual festival of the arts sponsored by the college's humanities division.

AUTHOR AUTOGRAPHS...Dr. Guy Owen, professor of English at North Carolina State University at Raleigh, and the author of three novels, autographs one of his books for Miss Andrea Mast, a senior, of Houston, Texas, during annual Festival of the Arts staged by the humanities division at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C. Miss Mast received a certificate of merit in the drama division.

ON HUMANITIES PROGRAM--Mrs. Randall Jarrell, of Greensboro, who read some of her late husband's poetry on the program opening the annual Humanities Week at Bennett College, Monday, is flanked by two student participants -- Misses Gretta Middleton (left) of Charleston, S.C., and Angeline Johnson, of Reidsville, N.C.

OUTDOOR SKETCHING -- Sketching property near Bennett College in Greensboro, N. C. Miss Mattie Hall (foreground) of Kirkwood, Mo. completes her drawing of property near the college, which will soon become a redevelopment area. James C. McMillan (left) checks the sketches being made by two other class members. Miss Hall is a freshman at Bennett.

Bennett College News

Bennett College has scheduled its second Humanities Summer School for high-ability high school students for the period June 20 to July 29, Dr. Helen Trobian, director, announced.

The six-week sessions will be open to students now in the 10th, 11th and 12th grades. Courses will be offered in literature, philosophy, social sciences, modern languages, music, art, drama and dance and there will also be conferences, field trips and laboratory experiences designed for college-bound youth with demonstrated ability.

Dr. Emory Ross, author, missionary and humanitarian and an official of the Phelps-Stokes Fund of New York City will be the speaker at the April 24 vesper service at Bennett College at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Kurt Weil's "Down in the Valley," a play set to music, was presented on Friday and Saturday nights by the Bennett College Theatre Guild in the Little Theatre.

Directed by Fred A. Eady, the production, which featured a mixed chorus of singers and Miss Saundra Jenkins, of Orangeburg, S.C., and Evander Gilmer, of A&T College in the leading roles, marked the end of the annual Festival of the Arts sponsored by the college's humanities division.

books and travel and all tuition charges are waived.

Persons interested in either program should address requests for applications to the respective directors at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C. 27402.

BENNETT NEWS

Miss Bernardine Harris, senior psychology major, of Roanoke, Va., was elected May Queen at Bennett College last week and, with her court, will reign over May Day festivities at the College on May 7.

Maid of honor will be Miss Sandra Satterwhite, senior English major, of Montclair, N. J., who was runner-up in campus-wide balloting. The following class representatives will round out the court

SENIORS — Misses Wei Lie So, of Indonesia and Cheryl Bright, of Washington, N. C.; JUNIORS — Diane Wyche, of Charlotte, and Margarie Hamlin, of Florence, S. C.; SOPHOMORES — Jennie Peevy, of Birmingham, Ala., and Carolyn Peace, of Norfolk, Va.; FRESHMEN — Linda Long, of Hillsboro, N.C., and Susan Bishop of Milford, Conn.

VESPER SPEAKER

Speaker for the vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday May 1, will be the Rev. John W. Annas, Jr., pastor of the Skaneateles (N. Y.) Methodist Church.

BENNETT NEWS

Two lectures by Dr. Alfred B. Heilbrun, Jr., director of the Psychological Center at Emory University, were given at Bennett College.

Dr. Heilbrun, who appeared under the auspices of the Visiting Scientist Program of the American Phychological Association, spoke on "Personality Measurement" and "Maternal Childrearing and Subsequent Psychopathology in Children."

DR. EMORY ROSS, AUTHOR, SPEAKER AT BENNETT SUNDAY VESPER

GREENSBORO — Dr. Emory Ross, author, missionary and humanitarian and an official of the Phelps-Stokes Fund of New York City will be the speaker at the April 24 vesper service at Bennett College at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Attends Conference

Mrs. Mary T. Coleman, admissions director of Bennett College, will attend a conference in Princeton, N.J. Thursday and Friday with officers of six other predominantly southern Negro colleges.

Bennett College Gets Grant of $14,461

A grant of $14,461 to Bennett College from the National Science Foundation for the support of two in-service institutes for science teachers was announced this week

Both institutes are scheduled for the 1966-67 academic year. The first of these, for which $7,940 was appropriated, will be for 30 elementary teachers (Grades 1-6) and will cover modern mathematics and physical science. Director will be Dr. J. Henry Sayles, professor of chemistry and chairman of the science division.

The second program is an in-service institute in biology (BSCS) for 25 secondary school teachers and is to enable teachers to become familiar with the yellow version of BSCS biology. Reuben Pierce will be the director of this program.

There are no age or sex limitations for either of these institutes but eligibility requirements include the bachelor's degree and proof of current employment in a school system. All courses will be for credit, each participant will receive an allowance for

College Housing Loan Increased

A housing loan to Bennett College has been increased from $657,000 to $690,000, Rep. Horace Kornegay of Greensboro announced Friday in Washington.

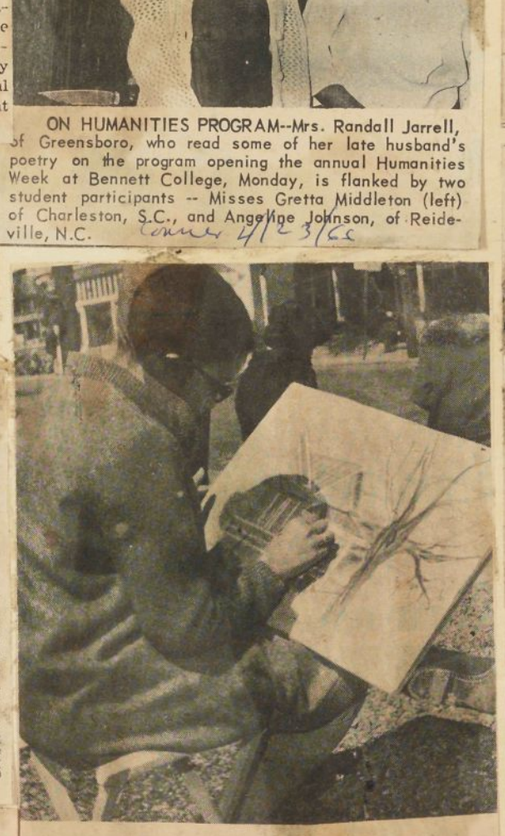

The money will be used for construction of a dormitory and an infirmary. The loan will be supplemented by $155,000 of the college's funds, Kornegay said. The loan was made under the Federal Housing and Urban Development program.

Professor To Speak

Dr. Henry W. Wells, professor of Asian poetry, drama and art in Post College of Long Island University in Brooklyn, N.Y., will give two lectures and conduct two seminars at Bennett College Monday under the auspices of the Non-Western Studies Program of the college. Wells will lecture on "Literature East and West" in Pfeiffer Chapel at 10 a.m. and on "Chinese Poetry" at 7:30 p.m. in the science assembly. His seminars will be "Oriental Drama" at 10:40 a.m. in the Little Theater and on "East West Relations" in Room 10 of Goode Gymnasium at 3:25 p.m.

Benefit Recital

Robert T. Taylor Jr. of New York, baritone, will appear in a benefit recital for the Bennett College Loyalty Fund at Pfeiffer Chapel at the college at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. Taylor is a graduate of Dudley High School and A&T College.

OUTDOOR CLASSROOM... Miss Mattie Hall, foreground of Kirkwood, Mo., a Bennett College freshman, puts finishing touches on sketch of property near college which soon will given way to redevelopment, while James C. McMillan checks progress being made by two other members of class.

Two Lectures Are Scheduled At Bennett

Two lectures by Dr. Alfred B. Heilbrun Jr., director of the Psychological Center at Emory University, will be given today at Bennett College.

Dr. Heilbrun, who is appearing under the auspices of the visiting scientist program of the American Psychological Association, will speak at 10 a.m. on "Personality Measurement" and at 2:15 p.m. on "Maternal Child Rearing and Subsequent Psychopathology in Children." Both sessions will be in the Science Building.

At 9 a.m. Friday Dr. Heilbrun will meet informally with students in the faculty lounge of the Student Union.

College Housing Loan Increased

A college housing loan, previously advanced to Bennett College here by the federal government, has been upped to $690,000, according to an announcement today by Rep. Horace R. Kornegay in Washington.

The college had previously received a loan of $657,000 for construction of a new dormitory and infirmary. That total has now been increased by $33,000.

The total is to be supplemented by $155,000 of the college's own funds, Kornegay indicated.

The loan was made under the federal Housing and Urban Development program.

Vesper Service

Speaker for the 4 p.m. vesper service at Bennett College today will be the Rev. James A. Cannon, director of the United Southern Christian Fellowship Foundation at A&T College.

Vesper Sermon

"The Search for Meaning in Life" was the subject of the sermon by the Rev. J. A. Cannon, director of the United Southern Christian Fellowship Foundation at A&T College, at the Bennett College vesper service Sunday.

Play Planned

Members of the Theatre Guild at Bennett College, directed by Fred A. Eady, will perform "Eight Women and a Ghost," a murder mystery, at Brown Summit High School at 10 a.m. today.

Greensboro Grist

BREATHETT SERVES

Dr. George Breathett, chairman of the division of social sciences at Bennett College, is at Columbia University in New York City where he is serving as a panelist and discussant at a conference on American secondary education sponsored by Teachers' College this week.

Bennett Freshman Choir To Perform

The annual concert by the freshman choir at Bennett College will be given Sunday at 8 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Miss Chrystal Merriwether, contralto of Houghton, Wash., will sing Saint-Saens "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" and Joan Thompson of Akron, Ohio, will play two organ selections.

College Speaker

Dr. Donald R. Mathews, professor of political science at UNC in Chapel Hill, will speak at Guilford and Bennett colleges Thursday and Friday. His topic will be "The Changing U.S. Senate." Dr. Mathews will speak at Harrison Auditorium at Bennett at 8 p.m. Thursday and at Dana Auditorium at Guilford at 10:30 a.m. Friday. The meetings are open to the public.

CONCERT SET

The freshman choir of Bennett College will present a concert at 8 p.m. Sunday in Pfeiffer Chapel. Chrystal Merriwether, contralto, of Houghton, Wash., will sing a solo and Joan Thompson of Akron, Ohio, will play two organ selections.

Music, Drama, Dance At Bennett

Presentations involving music, drama and dance by residents of each of the seven dormitories at Bennett College will feature the annual Spring Festival program to be held in front of Pfeiffer Chapel on Saturday at 2 p.m.

The crowning of Miss Bernadine Harris, of Roanoke, Va., as May Queen will take place at the beginning of the program.

Co-ed gains Bennett award

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Members of the faculty and staff at Bennett College voted this week to award their annual $500 scholarship for the 1966-67 academic year to Miss Aretha L. Butler, junior English major, of Eastover, S. C.

MISS BUTLER one of six children of the Rev. and Mrs. Isaac Butler, was valedictorian of the 1964 graduating class at Hopkins High School in Eastover and plans a teaching career. Her mother and father also teach.

She has been recognized at each of the honors convocations held since her enrollment here and at the end of the first semester had a cumulative average of 2.76 out of a possible 3.0.

52

FOR PEACE CORPS...Peace Corps representatives who visited Bennett College recently, talk with students interested in the volunteer program. In rear are Avatus Stone and Dr. Fred Madison, regional directors and Miss Sandy Tyler, recently returned from Patistan. In front are Misses Rose Myers, of Mt. Plasant, S.C., a senior, who has completed a part of her orientation; Messeret Taddessa, a junior, of Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, and Brenda Stallworth, a senior, from Brewton, Alabama.

Bennett College News

A plea for more and better translations of the literature of other countries was made by Dr. Henry W. Wells in the first of four talks at Bennett College on Monday.

Dr. Wells, professor of Asian poetry, drama and art at Post College of Long Island (NY) University, was presented as the eleventh in a continuing series of lecturers sponsored by the Non-Western Studies program at the college.

Referring to the need for Americans to know other peoples of the world through their fine arts and literature, Dr. Wells stated that he was heartened by the fact that Americans today are reading more and more about Japanese art.

"No flowering tree can bloom anywhere in the world without an indebtedness to the painters and poets of China," he said. "We must do what the arts teach us to do — to look into each others faces. It is very hard to look a man directly in the face and then destroy him."

ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Dr. Shang-Ling Fu, professor of sociology and director of non-Western studies at Bennett College, is participating in a conference on "Problems and Possibilities of International Studies in the Southeast" today and tomorrow at Duke University.

FIRST HAND VIEW — Mrs. Marjorie G. Brown, Bennett College graduate and admissions counselor of Norwalk, Conn., points out a campus landmark to four Connecticut high school seniors who recently flew to the Greensboro, N.C. institution for a first-hand look at some of the things about which they had heard so much. Visitors include Misses Twanda Bowers, Rippowan High School, Stamford; Susie Wilson and Carolyn Crocker, of Brien McMahon High School, Norwalk; and Mae Fields, New Canaan High School.

JOURNAL AND GUIDE Saturday, May 7,

Bennett College Meets The Needs Of A Changing Society

GREENSBORO, N. C. — In its continuing effort to enrich its offerings and to keep its program flexible to meet the educational needs of a changing society, Bennett College this year opened a Programed Learning Laboratory and introduced a program of Non-Western Studies.

The laboratory, equipped with the latest in appropriate machines, library and teaching aids, is under the direction of Norman Licht, who holds the master's degree from Wayne State University in Detroit and who has already applied for a patent on a teaching machine which he has developed.

SUPPORTED BY a foundation grant, the laboratory has four student assistants and 25 positions for students. It enables the college to program such courses as atomic physics, Russian, mathematics, English and adjunct materials for instruction.

The college thus can supplement its curricular offerings in unusual fields without the added expense of new faculty and costly equipment. The expense of running small classes to meet the special interests of high ability students can also be eliminated.

HEADING THE program of Non-Western Studies is Dr. Shang-Ling Fu, professor of sociology. Visiting lecturers, assigned readings and films have complemented classroom sessions in an effort to acquaint the students with comparative cultures in another part of the world.

China, Japan and India have been studied in depth in history, religion, art and philosophy and lecturers have included natives of these countries, Americans who have lived and studied there and diplomatic representatives.

Bennett College News

There are no age or sex limitations for either of these institutes but eligibility requirements include the bachelor's degree and proof of current employment in a school system. All courses will be for credit, each participant will receive an allowance for books and travel and all tuition charges are waived.

Persons interested in either program should address requests for applications to the respective directors at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C. 27402

Miss Bernardine Harris, senior psychology major, of Roanoke, Va., was elected May Queen at Bennett College last weekend and, with her court, will reign over May Day festivities at the College on May 7.

Maid of honor will be Miss Sandra Satterwhite, senior English major, of Montclair, N.J., who was runner-up in campus-wide balloting. The following representatives will round out the court:

SENIORS — Misses Wei Lie So, of Indonesia and Cheryl Bright, of Washington, N.C.; JUNIORS — Diane Wyche, of Charlotte, and Margaret Hamlin of Florence, S.C.; SOPHOMORES—Jennie Peevy, of Birmingham, Ala., and Carolyn Peace, of Norfolk, Va.; FRESHMEN — Linda Long, of Hillsboro, and Susan Bishop, of Milford, Conn.

Speaker for the vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, May 1, will be the Rev. John W. Annas, Jr., pastor of the Skaneateles (N.Y.) Methodist Church.

Two lectures by Dr. Alfred B. Heilbrun, Jr., director of the Psychological Center at Emory University, were given at Bennett College.

Dr. Heilbrun, who appeared under the auspices of the Visiting Scientist Program of the American Psychological Association, spoke on "Personality Measurement" and "Maternal Childrearing and Subsequent Psychopathology in Children."

A grant of $14,461 to Bennett College from the National Science Foundation for the support of two in-service institutes for science teachers has been announced.

Both institutes are scheduled for the 1966-67 academic year. The first of these, for which $7,940 was appropriated, will be for 30 elementary teachers (Grades 1-6) and will cover modern mathematics and physical science. Director will be Dr. J. Henry Sayles, professor of chemistry and chairman of the science division.

The second program is an in-service institute in biology (BSCS) for 25 secondary school teachers and is to enable teachers to become familiar with the yellow version of BSCS biology. Reuben Pierce will be the director of this program.

ACTING PRESIDENT...Dr. Chauncey G. Winston (seated), acting president of Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., exchanges views with Dr. F.D. Patterson, of New York City, chairman of the trustee board, during his visit to campus recently.

Bennett Vespers

The Rev. John W. Annas Jr., pastor of James Methodist Church in Syracuse, N. Y., will speak Sunday at the 4 p.m. vesper service in Pfeiffer Chapel at Bennett College.

MEET HARVARD SCIENTIST -- Dr. E. Bright Wilson, (second from right) professor of chemistry at Harvard University, pauses after Bennett College lecture to chat with Dr. J. Henry Saylers, chairman of the science division, and two freshmen--Misses Sylvia Potts, of Louisville, Ky., (left) and Ida Pinnix, of Martinsville, Va. Lecture was one in visiting scholars series sponsored by the Piedmont University Center, Inc., of Winston-Salem.

APRIL 30, 1966 COURIER COLLEGE SUPPLEMENT - Page 21

Bennett Lists 81 For The Dean

GREENSBORO, N.C.--Miss Ida Pinnix, a freshman, of Martinsville, Va., with a straight "A" record, topped 81 Bennett College students who made the dean's list for the first semester.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Van Pinnix, Miss Pinnix was valedictorian at Albert Harris High School from which she was graduated in 1965. She plans a career as a medical technologist.

The complete list follows:

Freshmen - Rose M. Allen, Greensboro; Yvonne J. Allen, New Haven, Conn.; Audrey L. Arrington and Callie L. Brown, Atlanta, Ga.; Karen J. Burnett, Graham, N.C.; Dorothy D. Childs, Pittsburgh, Penn.; Constance C. Clarke, Akron, Ohio; Jo Anne Coble, Wilson, N.C.; Nellie R. Dixon, Laurinburg, N.C.; Vera C. Fowler, Albany, Ga.; Julia I. Greene, Mullens, S.C.; Dianne D. Hackett, Richmond, Va.; Cynthia J. Hampton, Greensboro; Peggy A. Hemphill, Charlotte, N.C.; Angelene Johnson, Reidsville, N.C.; Janice M. Johnson, Burlington, N.C.; Minnie P. Johnson, Dallas, Texas; Emma J. Jones, Fayetteville, N.C.; Celesta S. Lewis, Newport News, Va.; Barbara S. Loftin, New York City; Kay W. McCastle, Cleveland, Ohio; Jo Anne Morrow, Atlanta, Ga.; Shirley D. Pettus, South Hill, Va.; Ida P. Pinnix, Martinsville, Va.; Anita L. Pinson, Greensboro; D'jaris A. Ragland, Birmingham, Ala.; Peggy A. Richmond, Burlington, N.C.; Beverly A. Roberts, Newark, N.J.; Doris J. Scott, Richmond, Va.; Roy L. Skinner, Lake City, S.C.; Ava D. Taylor, Birmingham, Ala.; Margaret A. Thompkins, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Joan E. Thompson, Akron, Ohio; Mary L. Thompson, Greenville, S.C.; Gloria Y. Torrence, Hampton, Va.; June R. Tunstall, Ashland, Va.; Collen L. Turner, Richmond, Va.; Bonnie G. Warren, Glen Raven, N.C.; Thelma M. Williams, Woodruff, S.C.; Sandra L. Wilson, Greensboro, N.C.; Betty L. Wright, Denmark, S.C.; Lauret e Wright, Pittsburgh, Penn.; Patricia A. Wynn, Kenbridge, Va.;

Sophomores - Aretha Butler, Eastover, S.C.; Rossie Caldwell, Orangeburg, S.C.; Cynthia Frierson, Florence, S.C.; Edrice Glass, Atlanta, Ga.; Eleanor Mitchell, Orlando, Fla.

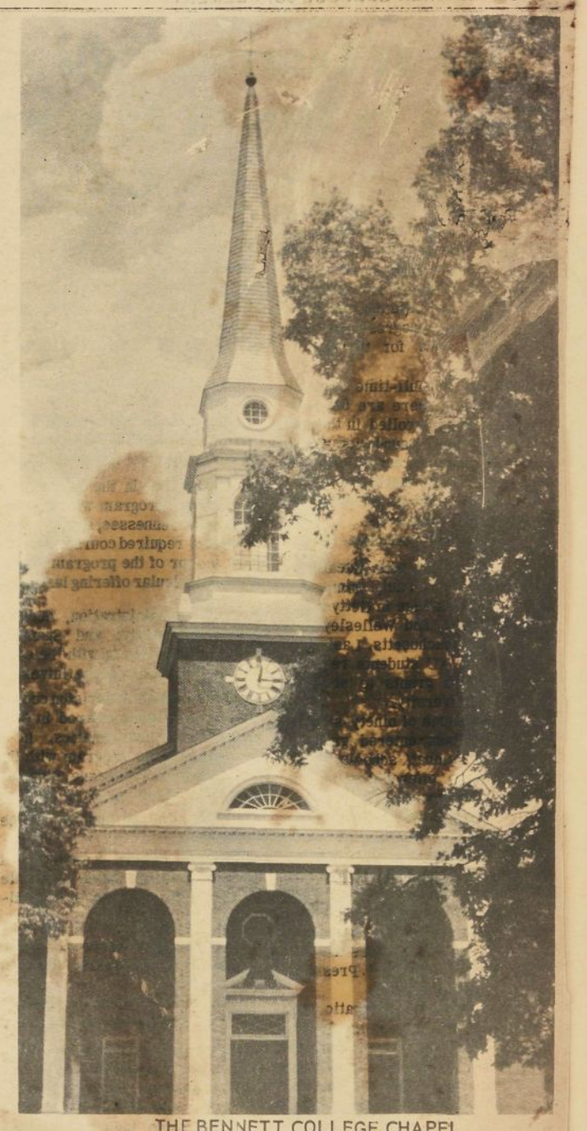

Juniors - Gloria Benson, Columbia, S.C.; Jessie Cardwell, Greensboro; Gardenia Cole, Clover, S.C.; Mary Cole, Chapel Hill, N.C.; Sandra Days, Magazine, Ala.; Patricia Faison, New Bern, N.C.; Wilma Griffin, Columbus, Ga.; Mary Jacobs, Mebane, N.C.; Barbara Lake, Graham, N.C.; Glenda Smith, Greensboro; Judith Sullivan, Shrewsbury, N.J; Messeret Taddesse, Taddesse, Addis Ababa, Addis Ababa, Ethiopia;

Seniors - Brenda Arrington, New York City; Kate Aseme, Nigeria Nancy Ball, Bryson City, N.C.; Ruby Chesson, South Norfolk, Va.; Shoba Harris, Baltimore, Md.; Gail Hickerson, Lenoir, N.C.; Victoria Hillman, Washington, D.C.; Marian Kelly, South Norwalk, Conn.; Carolyn Maddox, Salisbury, Md.; Gretta Middleton, Charleston, S.C.; Barbara Pharris, Birmingham, Ala.; Ernestine Reddick Kinston, N.C.; Eva Rice, Washington, D.C.; Charlie Roundtree, Southern Pines, N.C.; Monica Sloan, New Orleans, La.; Dorinda Smith, New Haven, Conn.; Charlotte Tenbrook, Newport News, Va.; Freda K. Thompson, New Rochelle, N.Y.; J. Barbara Turner, Raleigh, N.C.; Shirley Watson, Bethlehem, Penn.

A 'Mermaid" Emerges With Smiles

Smiling Miss Dora Dromgoole of Richmond, Calif., Bennett freshman, emerges from pool after a refreshing dip.

THE BENNETT COLLEGE CHAPEL
. . . symbol of priceless Christian education

WON SCHOLARSHIPS...Three of five Bennett College students who have been awarded 1965-66 scholarships valued at up to $500 from the Methodist Board of Education, Nashville, Tenn., read conditions of their awards. Left to right: Misses Bessie L. Goins, of Lenoir, N.C.; Priscilla Brunson, of Orangeburg, S.C., and Betty Jackson of Easley, S.C.

Prayer not a gadget, Bennett audience told

GREENSBORO, N.C. — "Prayer is not a gadget for getting from God the things that we want, but it can be a means of getting to God," the Rev. John W. Annas, Jr., pastor of James Methodist Church, Syracuse, N.Y., told the Bennett College vesper audience on a recent Sunday.

"You should remember, however," he said, "that the things which you can do for yourself, God will not do."

DEAN SMITH WILL SPEAK AT BENNETT

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Dr. Samuel R. Smith, dean of students, Greensboro College will deliver the address when Bennett College observes the anniversary of student leaders at 4 p.m. of Sunday, May 15, in Pfeiffer Cha-

53

Connecticut High School Seniors At Bennett

Mrs. Marjorie Gay Brown, Bennett College graduate and admissions counselor of Norwalk, Conn., points out a campus landmark to four Connecticut high school seniors who recently flew to the Greensboro, N. C. institution for a first-hand look at some of the things about which they had heard so much. Visitors include Misses Twand Bowers, of Rippowan High School, Stamford; Susie Wilson and Carolyn Crocker, of Brien McMahon High School, Norwalk and Mae Fields of New Canaan High School.

Bennett College Votes $300 Scholarship Award

BENNETT VOTED $300 SCHOLARSHIP AWARD

Members of the faculty and staff at Bennett College voted this week to award their annual $300 scholarship for the 1966-67 academic year to Miss Aretha L. Butler, a rising junior English major, from Eastover, S. C.

Miss Butler, one of six children of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Butler, was valedictorian of the 1964 graduating class at Hopkins High School in Eastover and plans a teaching career. Her mother and father also teach.

She has been recognized at each of the honors convocations held since her enrollment here and at the end of the first semester had a cumulative average of 2.76 out of a possible 3.0.

SOPHOMORES TO PARTICIPATE IN AFRICAN STUDY

Two rising sophomores at Bennett College have been chosen to participate in an African travel-study tour for eight weeks this summer.

Misses Sandra Holly, a pre-med major, of Jackson, Miss., and Beverly Roberts, an English major, of Newark, N. J., have been awarded scholarships by the college and by the Methodist Board of Education for the project.

Miss Holly, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Holly, was salutatorian at Lanier Senior High School and Miss Roberts, daughter of Mrs. Mary Roberts, was valedictorian at South Side High School. They will visit nine countries in Africa, with side trips to England, France, Israel, Greece and Italy.

BENNETT SOCIAL SCIENCE STUDIES

Five members of the social science division at Bennett College participated on the program of the Association of Social Science Teachers who held their 31st annual meeting at A & T College last week.

Presenting papers were Sim Williams, economics; Dr. Rose Karfiol, economics; Drs. Charles E. Garth and Shang-Ling Fu, sociology. Dr. George Breathett, a past president, served as co-chairman of the local arrangements committee.

BENNETT NEWS

"Prayer is not a getting from God the things we want but it can be a means of getting to God," the Rev. John W. Annas, Jr., pastor of James Methodist Church, Syracuse, N. Y., told the Bennett College vesper audience on Sunday.

"You should remember, however," he said, "that the things which you can do for yourself, God will not do."

BENNETT NEWS

Sim E Williams, instructor in political science and history at Bennett College, has been awarded a scholarship to attend an Institute in European History at Tulane University in New Orleans, La., from June 13 to Aug. 5.

BENNETT NEWS

Dr. Samuel R. Smith, dean of students, Greensboro College will deliver the address when Bennett College observes the anniversary of student leaders at 4 p.m. on Sunday, May 15, in Pfeiffer Chapel.

African Travel Study Tour

Two rising sophomores at Bennett College have been chosen to participate in an African travel-study tour for eight weeks this summer.

Misses Sandra Holly, a pre-med major, of Jackson, Miss., and Beverly Roberts, an English major, of Newark, N. J., have been awarded scholarships by the college and by the Methodist Board of Education for the project.

Miss Holly, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Holly, was salutatorian at Lanier Senior High School and Miss Roberts, daughter of Mrs. Mary Roberts, was valedictorian at South Side High School. They will visit nine countries in Africa, with side trips to England, France, Israel, Greece and Italy.

BENNETT MERMAID -- Miss Dora Dromgoole, of Richmond, Calif., Bennett College freshman, emerges from pool after refreshing dip.

Dr. H. W. Wells Makes Plea For Better Translations

GREENSBORO -- A plea for more and better translations of the literature of other countries was made by Dr. Henry W. Wells in the first of four talks at Bennett College on Monday.

Dr. Wells, professor of Asian poetry, drama and art at Post College of Long Island (N. Y.) University, was presented as the eleventh in a continuing series of lecturers sponsored by the Non-Western Studies program at the college.

Referring to the need for Americans to know other peoples of the world through their fine arts and literature, Dr. Wells stated that he was heartened by the fact that Americans today are reading more and more about Japanese art.

"No flowering tree can bloom anywhere in the world without an indebtedness to the painters and poets of China," he said. "We must do what the arts teach us to do -- to look into each others faces. It is very hard to look a man directly in the face and then destroy him."

Bennett to hold baptism service

GREENSBORO, N. C.— The annual christening service for children of Bennett College graduates will be held in Pfeiffer Chapel on Sunday, May 8 (Mothers Day) at 4 p.m.

The Rev. John G. Corry, former college chaplain, now of Nashville, Tenn., will officiate and also deliver the sermon.

Graduates returning for this service include Mrs. Lemuel L. Johnson (Maurice Pitts, '55) of Winston-Salem, a son; Mrs. Richard J. Lyons (Jacquelyn Jeffers, '39) of Greensboro, a daughter; and Mrs. Robert Robbins (Helen Strickland, '62) of Greensboro, a son.

GREENSBORO, N.C. — A plea for more and better translations of the literature of other countries was made by Dr. Henry W. Wells in the first of four talks at Bennett College recently. Dr. Wells, professor of Asian poetry, drama and art at Post College of Long Island (NY) University, was presented as the eleventh in a continuing series of lecturers sponsored by the Non - Western Studies program at the college.

* * *

DR. KARFIOL HONORED

Dr. Rose Karfiol, professor of economics at Bennett College who is retiring after 19 years at the school, was honored at a program at 10 a.m. today in Pfeiffer Chapel. Dr. Karfiol, a native of Germany, received her doctorate from the University of Cologne.

Bennett's May Queen

Miss Bernadine Harris, senior psychology major of Roanoke, Va., will be crowned May Queen and reign over the Spring Festival at Bennett College on Saturday, May 7. Presentations involving music, drama and dance by residents of each of the seven dormitories at Bennett College will feature the annual Spring Festival program to be held in front of Pfeiffer Chapel at 2 p. m.

The crowning of the May Queen will take place at the beginning of the program.

BERNADINE HARRIS

Christening Service

The annual christening service for children of Bennett College graduates will be held in Pfeiffer Chapel on Sunday, May 8 (Mothers Day) at 4 p. m.

The Rev. John G. Corry, former college chaplain, now of Nashville, Tenn., will officiate and also deliver the sermon.

Graduates returning for this service include Mrs. Lemuel J. Johnson (Maurice Pitts, '55) of Winston-Salem, a son; Mrs. Richard J. Lyons (Jacquelyn Jeffers, '59) of Greensboro, a daughter; and Mrs. Robert Robbins (Helen Strickland, '62) of Greensboro, a son.

The Rev. John G. Corry, former college chaplain, now of Nashville, Tenn., will officiate and also deliver the sermon.

Graduates returning for this service include Mrs. Lemuel L. Johnson (Maurice Pitts, '55) of Winston-Salem, a son; Mrs. Richard J. Lyons (Jacquelyn Jeffers, '59) of Greensboro, a daughter, and Mrs. Robert Robbins (Helen Strckland, '62) of Greensboro, a son.

Presentations involving music, drama and dance by residents of each of the seven dormitories at Bennett College will feature the annual Spring Festival program to be held in front of Pfeiffer Chapel on Saurday at 2 p. m.

The crowning of Miss Bernadine Harris, of Roanoke, Va., as May Queen will take place at the beginning of the program.

Bennett College News

A plea for more and better translations of the literature of other countries was made by Dr. Henry W. Wells in the first of four talks at Bennett College on Monday.

Dr. Wells, professor of Asian poetry, drama and art at Post College of Long Island (NY) University was presented as the eleventh in a continuing series of lecturers sponsored by the Non-Western Studies program at the college.

Referring to the need for Americans to know other peoples of the world through their fine arts and literature, Dr. Wells stated that he was heartened by the fact that Americans today are reading more and more about Japanese art.

"No flowering tree can bloom anywhere in the world without an indebtedness to the painters and poets of China," he said. "We must do what the arts teach us to do—to look into each others faces. It is very hard to look a man directly in the face and then destroy him."

"The Search for Meaning in Life" was the subject of the sermon by the Rev J. A. Cannon, director of the United Southern Christian Fellowship Foundation at A&T College, at the Bennett College vesper service on Sunday.

"Many people," he said, spend much time and energy in the search for health, for beauty, for fame and for fortune, but what good is a life which has attained these if it has no meaning?

"Life has meaning when we think of someone instead of something, when we love people and use things rather than love vice to others, we can find true meaning in life."

The annual christening service for children of Bennett College graduates will be held in Pfeiffrr Chapel on Sunday, May 8 (Mothers Day) at 4 p. m.

things and use people. In ser-

Bennett Plans Second School In Humanities

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Bennett College has scheduled its second Humanities Summer School for high-ability high school students for the period June 20 to July 29, Dr. Helen Trobian, director announced this week.

The six-weeks sessions will be open to students now in the 10th, 11th and 12th grades Courses will be offered in literature, philosophy, social sciences, modern languages, music, art, drama and dance and there will also be conferences, field trips and laboratory experiences designed for college-bound youth with demonstrated ability.

Dr. Trobian stated that there would be a limited number of scholarships and financial assistance to persons meeting the requirements.

Bennett May Day

Bernadino Harris, a senior from Roanoke, Va., will be crowned May queen today at Bennett College in a program which begins at 2 p.m. Her maid of honor will be Sandra Satterwhite of Montclair, N.J.

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Five members of the social science division at Bennett College participated on the program of the Association of Social Science Teachers who held their 31st annual meeting at A and T College last week.

GREENSBORO, N.C. — The National Science Foundation has granted $14,461 to Bennett College for the support of two in-service institutes for science teachers.

The first of these institutes will be for 30 elementary school teachers and will cover modern mathtematics and physical science.The second program is an in-service institute in biology for 25 secondary school teachers.

Bennett students get African tour funds

GREENSBORO N.C. — Two sophomores at Bennett College have been chosen to participate in an African travel-study tour for eight weeks this summer.

Sandra Holly, a pre-med major, of Jackson, Miss., and Beverly Roberts, an English major, of Newark, N.J., have been awarded scholarships by the College and the Methodist Board of Education for the project.

They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Holly, and Mrs. Mary Roberts. They will visit nine countries in Africa, with side trips to England, France, Israel, Greece and Italy.

President Named

Armita Blackwell, of Philadelphia, Pa., rising senior, was chosen president of the student senate for 1966-67 at campus elections held at Bennett College recently. Other officers named were Claudia Thomas, vice president; Janice Wilson, secretary; Theresa Hall, treasurer and Frances Kelly, parliamentarian.

"The Search For Meaning In Life"

"The Search for Meaning in Life" was the subject of the sermon by the Rev. J. A. Cannon, director of the United Southern Christian Fellowship Foundation at A&T College, at the Bennett College vesper service on Sunday.

"Many people," he said, "spend much time and energy in the search for health, for beauty, for fame and for fortune, but what good is a life which has attained these if it has no meaning?

"Life has meaning when we think of someone instead of something, when we love people and use things rather than love things and use people. In service to others, we can find true meaning in life."

The annual christening service for children of Bennett College graduates will be held in Pfeiffer Chapel on Sunday, May 8 (Mothers Day) at 4 p.m.

The Rev. John G. Corry, former college chaplain, now of Nashville, Tenn., will officiate and also deliver the sermon.

Graduates returning for this service include Mrs. Lemuel L. Johnson (Maurice Pitts, '55) of Winston-Salem, a son; Mrs. Richard J. Lyons (Jacquelyn Jeffers, '59) of Greensboro, a daughter, and Mrs. Robert Robbins (Helen Strickland, '62) of Greensboro, a son.

Dr. Samuel R. Smith, dean of students, Greensboro College will deliver the address when Bennett College observes the anniversary of student leaders at 4 p. m. on Sunday, May 15, in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Lecture On Nile

"Cultures in the Nile Valley" will be the topic of Dr. F. A. Williams, director of planning and development at A&T College, when he gives the closing lecture in the non-Western studies program at Bennett College Monday at 10 a.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

FIRST-HAND VIEW -- Mrs. Marjorie Gay Brown, Bennett College graduate and admissions counselor of Norwalk, Conn., points out a campus landmark to four Connecticut high school seniors who recently flew to the Greensboro institution for a first-hand look at some of the things about which they had heard so much. Visitors include Misses Twanda Bowers, of Rippowan High School, Stamford; Susie Wilson and Carolyn Crocker, of Brien McMahon High School, Norwalk and Mae Fields of New Canaan High School.

Bennett Gets An NSF Grant

GREENSBORO -- A grant of $14,461 to Bennett College from the National Science Foundation for the support of two in-service institutes for science teachers was announced last week.

Both institutes are scheduled for the 1966-67 academic year. The first of these, for which $7,940 was appropriated, will be for 30 elementary teachers (Grades 1-6) and will cover modern mathematics and physical science. Director will be Dr. J. Henry Sayles, professor of chemistry and chairman of the science division.

The second program is an in-service institute in Biology (BSCS) for 25 secondary school teachers and is to enable teachers to become familiar with the yellow version of BSCS biology. Reuben Pierce will be the director of this program.

There are no age or sex limitations for either of these institutes but eligibility requirements include the bachelor's degree and proof of current employment in a school system. All courses will be for credit, each participant will receive an allowance for books and travel and all tuition charges are waived.

Persons interested in either program should address requests for applications to the respective directors at Bennett College, Greensboro, North Carolina 27402.

Christenings Planned For Bennett Babies

GREENSBORO -- The annual christening service for children of Bennett College graduates will be held in Pfeiffer Chapel on Sunday, May 8 (Mother's Day) at 4 p. m.

The Rev John G. Corry, former college chaplain, now of Nashville, Tenn., will officiate and also deliver the sermon.

Graduates returning for this service include Mrs. Lemuel L. Johnson (Maurice Pitts, '55) of Winston-Salem, a son; Mrs. Richard J. Lyons (Jacquelyn Jeffers, '59) of Greensboro, a daughter, and Mrs. Robert Rob-

2 Lectures Set

GREENSBORO -- Two lectures by Dr. Alfred B. Heilbrun, Jr., director of the Psychological Center at Emory University, were given at Bennett College.

Dr. Heilbrun, who appeared under the auspices of the Visiting Scientist Program of the American Psychilogical Association, spoke on "Personality Measurement" and "Maternal Childrearing and Subsequent Psychopathology in Children."

Dr. Smith Speaker

GREENSBORO - Dr. Samuel K. Smith, dean of students, Greensboro College will deliver the address when Bennett College observes the anniversary of student leaders at 4 p. m. on Sunday, May 15, in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Bennett Sophomores To Africa

GREENSBORO - Two rising sophomores at Bennett College have been chosen to participate in an African travel-study tour for eight weeks this summer.

Misses Sandra Holly, a pre-med major, of Jackson, Miss., and Beverly Roberts, an English major, of Newark, N. J., have been awarded scholarships by the college and by the Methodist Board of Education for the project.

Miss Holly, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Holly, was salutatorian at Lanier Senior High School and Miss Roberts, daughter of Mrs. Mary Roberts, was valedictorian at South Side High School. They will visit nine countries in Africa, with side trips to England, France, Israel, Greece and Italy.

"Search For Meaning In Life" Subject Of Rev. J. A. Cannon

GREENSBORO -- "The Search for Meaning in Life" was the subject of the sermon by the Rev. J. A. Cannon, director of the United Southern Christian Fellowship Foundation at A&T College, at the Bennett College vesper service on Sunday.

"Many people," he said, "spend much time and energy in the search for health, for beauty, for fame and for fortune, but what good is a life which has attained these if it has no meaning?

"Life has meaning when we think of someone instead of something, when we love people and use things rather than love things and use people. In service to others, we can find true meaning in life."

SPRING FESTIVAL SET

GREENSBORO -- Presentations involving music, drama and dance by residents of each of th seven dormitories at Bennett College will feature the annual Spring Festival program to be held in front of Pfeiffer Chapel on Saturday at 2 p.m.

The crowning of Miss Bernadine Harris, of Roanoke, Va., as May Queen will take place at the beginning of the program.

Miss Harris May Queen At Bennett

GREENSBORO -- Miss Bernardine Harris, senior psychology major, of Roanoke, Va., was elected May Queen at Bennett College last week and, with her court, will reign over May Day festivities at the College on May 7.

Maid of honor will be Miss Sandra Satterwhite, senior English major, of Montclair, N. J., who was runner-up in campus-wide balloting. The following class representatives will round out the court:

Seniors: Misses Wei Lie So, of Indonesia and Cheryl Bright, of Washington, N. C.; Juniors: Diane Wyche, of Charlotte, and Margarie Hamlin, of Florence, S. C.; Sophomores: Jennie Peevy, of Brimingham, Ala., and Carolyn Peace, of Norfolk, Va.; Freshmen: Linda Long, of Hillsboro, and Susan Bishop, of Mulford, Conn.

MAY 1 VESPER SPEAKER

GREENSBORO -- Speaker for the vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, May 1, will be the Rev. John W. Annas, Jr., pastor of the Skaneateles (N.Y.) Methodist Church.

Members of the faculty and staff at Bennett College voted this week to award their annual $300 scholarship for the 1966-67 academic year to Miss Aretha L. Butler, a rising junior English major, from Eastover, S. C.

Miss Butler, one of six children of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Butler, was valedictorian of the 1964 graduating class at Hopkins High School in Eastover and plans a teaching career. Her mother and father also teach.

She has been recognized at each of the honors conventions held since her enrollment here and at the end of the first semester had a cumulative average of 2.76 out of a possible 3.0.

Two rising sophomores at Bennett College have been chosen to participate in an African travel-study tour for eight weeks this summer.

Misses Sandra Holly, a pre-med major, of Jackson, Miss., and Beverly Roberts, an English major, of Newark, N. J., have been awarded scholarships by the college and by the Methodist Board of Education for the project.

Miss Holly, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Holly, was salutatorian at Lanier Senior High School and Miss Roberts daughter of Mrs. Mary Roberts was valedictorian at South Side High School. They will visit nine countries in Africa, with side trips to England, France, Israel, Greece and Italy.

Five members of the social science division at Bennett College participated on the program of the Association of Social Science Teachers who held their 31st annual meeting at A&T College last week.

Presenting papers were Sim Williams, economics; Dr. Rose Karfiol, economics; Drs. Charles E. Garth and Shang-Ling Fu, sociology. Dr. George Breathett, a past president, served as co-chairman of the local arrangements committee.

"Prayer is not a gadget for getting from God the things that we want but it can be a means of getting to God," the Rev. John W. Annas, Jr., pastor of James Methodist Church, Syracuse, N. Y., told the Bennett College vesper audience on Sunday.

"You should remember, however," he said, "that the things which you can do for yourself, God will not do."

Sim E. Williams, instructor in political science and history at Bennett College, has been awarded a scholarship to attend an Institute in European History at Tulane University in New Orleans, La., from June 13 to August 5.

Bennett Seniors

Marian Patricia Kelly of South Norwalk, Conn., will speak Sunday at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel when Bennett College seniors hold their annual vesper service.

Bennett News

MISS ARMITA BLACKWELL CHOSEN PRESIDENT OF STUDENTS

Miss Armita Blackwell, a rising senior biology major, of Philadelphia, Pa. was chosen president of the Student Senate for 1966-67 in campus-wide elections at Bennett College last week.

Elected to serve with her were Misses Claudia Thomas, of Des Moines, Iowa, vice president; Janice Wilson, of Hightstown, N. J., secretary; Theresa Hall, of Washington, D. C.; treasurer, and Frances Kelly, of Richmond, Va. parliamentarian.

Miss Eddyce Pope, of Washington, D. C.; was elected president of the David D. Jones Student Union. Serving with her will be Misses Edna Jackson, of Birmingham, Ala., vice president; Jeanette Griffis, of Wilson, N. C., secretary; Prathin Pattabongs, of Bangkok, Thailand, treasure, and Jemmie Peevy, of Birmingham, Ala., pianist.

Chosen student representative to the Central Administrative Committee was Miss Beverly Neyland, of Tallahassee, Florida. Other election results follow:

Misses Sandra Holly, of Jackson, Miss., Sunday School superintendent; Jamesina Brown of Portsmouth, Va., president of the Inter-Dormitory Council; Diane Wyche, of Charlotte, chairman of the Recreational Council; Carolyn Peace, of Norfolk, Va., president of the Pre-Alumnae Association, and Edrice Glass, of Atlanta, Ga., chairman of the Mid-Week Vesper Committee.

MAY DAY

Representatives of Cone Residence Hall, with their skit, "Snow Black and the Seven Whites," captured first honors on the annual May Day program here Saturday.

Competitors geared their original presentations to the theme: "Fantasy Land." Second honors went to Reynolds Hall while Merner was third. Honorable mention went to Barge Hall.

Prior to the program, Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, acting president, crowned the queen, Miss Bernadine Harris of Roanoke, Va.

CHILDREN CHRISTENED

Children of three graduates were christened during the annual Mother's Day vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday.

The Rev. John G. Corry, former director of religious activities, but now pastor of Clark Memorial Church, Nashville, Tenn., performed the baptismal rites and delivered the sermon, titled "Victorious Living."

Stating that there is no magic formula for the victorious life, the minister said: No one is ever lonely or bored who looks on other people with the eyes of Jesus. Once you take an interest in other people, they cease to be dull."

NEWS OF BENNETT

The annual spring art exhibit of Bennett College students opened on Saturday and will continue for a week. Featured are paintings, sculptures, ceramics, drawings and crafts.

MISS BERNADINE HARRIS
(Bennett May Queen)

Lovely Bernadine Harris, a senior psychology major from Roanoke, Va., will be crowned May Queen and reign over the Spring Festival at Bennett College, Saturday.

ASIAN EXPERT - Dr. Henry W. Wells, professor of Asian poetry, drama and art at Post College, Long Island University, who delivered a series of lectures at Bennett College last week, is shown with his host, Dr. Shang-Ling Fu, (right) director of Non-Western Studies, and two students, -- Misses Jamesina Brown (left) of Portsmouth, Va., and Winona McDowell, of Charlotte, following his second presentation.

Bennett Given Science Grant For Teachers

news 5/1/66

A grant of $14,461 to Bennett College from the National Science Foundation for the support of two in-service institutes for science teachers was announced last week.

Both institutes are scheduled for the 1966-67 academic year. The first of these, for which $7,940 was appropriated, will be for 30 elementary teachers (Grades 1-6) and will cover modern mathematics and physical science.

The second program is an in-service institute in biology for 25 secondary school teachers and is to enable teachers to become more familiar with the subject.

There are no age or sex limitations for either of these institutes but eligibility requirements include the bachelor's degree and proof of current employment in a school system. All courses will be for credit, each participant will receive an allowance for books and travel and all tuition charges are waived.

Persons interested in either program should address request for applications to the respective directors at Bennett College.

A&T pastor delivers Bennett College sermon

GREENSBORO, N.C.— "The Search for Meaning in Life" was the subject of the sermon by the Rev. J. A. Cannon, director of the United Southern Christian Fellowship Foundation at A and T College, at a recent Bennett College vesper service.

"Many people," he said, "spend much time and energy searching for health, beauty, fame and fortune, but what good is a life which has attained these if it has no meaning? "Life has meaning when we love people and use things rather than love things and use people."

Warning Offered

Dr. Samuel R. Smith, dean of students at Greensboro College, speaking to student leaders at Bennett College Sunday, warned them that unless they have spirit and character, their campus will not have it.

Stating that "the moral decline of our society is evident everywhere," Dr. Smith urged the students to "get in stride with God now, for later on you will have neither the will nor the desire."

Retiring Professor

A program honoring Dr. Rose Karfiol, professor of economics at Bennett College, who is retiring at the end of the current school year after 19 years, will be held this morning in Pfeiffer Chapel at 10 o'clock. Dr. Karfiol, a native of Germany, received her doctorate from the University of Cologne and has been teaching at Bennett since 1947.

news 5/18/66

'Snow Black And 7 Whites' Staged At Bennett

Greensboro 5/28/66

GREENSBORO--Representatives of Cone Residence Hall, with their skit, "Snow Black and the Seven Whites," captured first honors on the annual May Day program here Saturday.

Competitors geared their original presentations to the theme: "Fantasy Land." Second honors went to Reynolds Hall while Merner was third. Honorable mention went to Barge Hall.

Prior to the program, Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, acting president, crowned the queen, Miss Bernadine Harris, of Roanoke, Virginia.

12 Seniors Get $1,000 Bennett Grants

Greensboro 5/28/66

GREENSBORO -- Scholarship awards of $1,000 each to 12 senior high school girls to attend Bennett College in the fall were made last week by representatives of the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation of Winston-Salem.

The twelve finalists were picked from a group of 26 who came to the campus for interviews. Four alternates were chosen. The scholarships are renewable, depending upon academic averages maintained and continuing need.

Selected were: Alice E. Baldwin, Wilmington; Linda J. Bost, Salisbury; LaVerne Brown, Hickory; Jannifer English, Efland; Ruth Davis, Garysburg; Patricia Herring, Greensboro; Evelyn Hooks, Pollocksville; Blossie Hughes, Rocky Mount; Margaretia Jackson, High Point; Sandra Philpott, Durham; Mary Shanks, Burlington, and Queen Wiggs, Goldsboro.

Alternate candidates are: Geraldine Battle, Rocky Mount; Margaret Broadnax, Leaksville; Lottie Evans, Charlotte, and Geraldine Gleaves, Maxton.

Bennett holds student polls

Pho 5/21/66

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Miss Armita Blackwell, a senior biology major, of Philadelphia, Student Senate for 1966-67 in Pa. was chosen president of the campus-wide elections at Bennett College last week.

Elected to serve with her were Misses Claudia Thomas, of Des Moines, Iowa, vice president; Janice Wilson, of Hightstown, N.J., secretary; Theresa Hall, of Washington, D.C., treasurer, and Frances Kelly, of Richmond, Va., parliamentarian.

Miss Eddyce Pope, of Washington, D.C., was elected president of the David D. Jones Student Union. Serving with her will be Misses Edna Jackson, of Birmingham, Ala., vice president; Jeanette Griffis, of Birmingham, Ala., pianist.

* * *

CHOSEN STUDENT representative to the Central Administrative Committee was Miss Beverly Neyland, of Tallahassee, Fla.

Other election results follow: Misses Sandra Holly, of Jackson, Miss., Sunday school superintendent; Jamesina Brown, of Portsmouth, Va., president of the Inter-Dormitory Council; Diane Wyche, of Charlotte, chairman of the Recreational Council;

Carolyn Peace, of Norfolk, Va., president of the Pre-Alumnae Association, and Edrice Glass, of Atlanta, Ga., chairman of the Mid-Week Vesper Committee.

"Snow Black" gets best play prize

Pho 5/21/66

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Representatives of Cone Residence Hall, with their skit, "Snow Black and the Seven Whites," captured first honors on the annual May Day program at Bennett College on Saturday.

Competitors geared their original presentations to the theme: "Fantasy Land." Second honors went to Reynolds Hall while Merner was third. Honorable mention went to Barge Hall. Prior to the program, Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, acting president, crowned the queen, Miss Bernadine Harris, of Roanoke, Va.

SPRING ART EXHIBIT

GREENSBORO -- The annual spring art exhibit of Bennett College students opened on Saturday and will continue for a week. Featured are paintings, sculptures, ceramics, drawings and crafts.

Greensboro 5/21/66

SENIOR CLASS VESPERS

GREENSBORO -- Members of the senior class at Bennett College will conduct the vesper service on Sunday, May 22, at 4 p. m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

BENNETT CHRISTENING - Children of three Bennett graduates, their parents and godparents are shown in front of Pfeiffer Chapel following annual Mother's Day christening service at the Greensboro institution on Sunday. (See story).

Greensboro 5/21/66

Miss Blackwell To Head Bennett's Student Senate

Greensboro 5/21/66

GREENSBORO -- Miss Armita Blackwell, a rising senior biology major, of Philadelphia, Pa., was chosen president of the Student Senate for 1966-67 in campus-wide elections at Bennett College last week.

Elected to serve with her were Misses Claudia Thomas, of Des Moines, Iowa, vice president; Janice Wilson, of Hightstown, N. J., secretary; Theresa Hall, of Washington, D. C., treasurer, and Frances Kelly, of Richmond, Va., parliamentarian.

Miss Eddyce Pope, of Washington, D. C., was elected president of the David D. Jones Student Union. Serving with her will be Misses Edna Jackson, of Birmingham, Ala., vice-president; Jeanette Griffis, of Birmingham, Ala., pianist.

Chosen student representative to the Central Administrative Committee was Miss Beverly Neyland, of Tallahassee, Fla. Other election results follow:

Miss Sandra Holly, of Jackson, Miss., Sunday School Superintendent; Jamesina Brown, of Portsmouth, Va., president of the Inter-Dormitory Council; Diane Wych, of Charlotte, chairman of the Recreational Council; Carolyn Peace, of Norfolk, Va., president of the Pre-Alumnae Association, and Edrice Glass, of Atlanta, Ga., chairman of the Mid-Week Vesper Committee.

Children Of Three Grads Christened

Greensboro 5/21/66

GREENSBORO -- Children of three graduates were christened during the annual Mother's Day vesper service at Bennett College on last Sunday.

The Rev. John G. Corry, former director of religious activities, but now pastor of Clark Memorial Church, Nashville, Tenn., performed the baptismal rites and delivered the sermon, titled "Victorious Living."

Stating that there is no magic formula for the victorious life, the minister said: "No one is ever lonely or bored who looks on other people with the eyes of Jesus. Once you take an interest in other people, they cease to be dull."

Bennett Holds Recognition Event Today

Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, acting president of Bennett College, will speak at the college's annual Student Recognition Day today at 10 a.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Students receiving graduate scholarships include Miss Amanda Houston of Kinston, a mathematics grant to the University of Michigan; Miss Carolyn Conway of Jacksonville, Fla., a sociology scholarship to Atlanta University; and Miss Doris Forney of Hickory, a library science scholarship to Atlanta University.

Miss Lily So, of Indonesia, has received a chemistry grant to Syracuse University, and her sister, Miss Wei Lie So, has won a biology grant to Illinois Institute of Technology in Chicago.

Bennett College News

Greensboro News 5/20/66

Miss Armita Blackwell, a rising senior biology major, of Philadelphia, Pa. was chosen president of the Student Senate for 1966-67 in campus-wide elections at Bennett College last week.

Elected to serve with her were Misses Claudia Thomas, of Des Moines, Iowa, vice president; Janice Wilson, of Hightstown, N. J., secretary; Theresa Hall, of Washington, D. C., treasurer, and Frances Kelly, of Richmond, Va., parliamentarian.

Miss Eddyce Pope, of Washington, D. C., was elected president of the David D. Jones Student Union. Serving with her will be Misses Edna Jackson, of Birmingham, Ala., vice president; Jeanette Griffin, of Wilson, (N.C.), secretary; Prathin Pattabongs, of Bangkok, Thailand, treasurer, and Jemmie Peevy, of Birmingham, Ala., pianist.

Chosen student representative to the Central Administration Committee was Miss Beverly Neyland, of Tallahassee, Florida. Other election results follow:

Misses Sandra Holly, of Jackson, Miss., Sunday School superintendent; Jamesina Brown, of Portsmouth, Va., president of the Inter-Dormitory Council; Diane Wyche, of Charlotte, chairman of the Recreational Council; Carolyn Peace, of Norfolk, Va., president of the Pre-Alumnae Association, and Edrice Glass, of Atlanta, Ga., chairman of the Mid-Week Vesper Committee.

Children of three graduates were christened during the annual Mother's Day vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday.

The Rev. John G. Corry, former director of religious activities, but now pastor of Clark Memorial Church, Nashville, Tenn., performed the baptismal rites and delivered the sermon, titled "Victorious Living."

Representatives of Cone Residence Hall, with their skit "Snow Black and the Seven Whites," captured first honor on the annual May Day program here Saturday.

Competitors geared their original presentation to the theme: "Fantasy Land." Second honors went to Reynolds Hall while Merner was third. Honorable mention went to Barge Hall.

Prior to the program, Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, acting president, crowned the queen, Miss Bernadine Harris, of Roanoke, Va.

$1,000 Scholarships Awards At Bennett College

Scholarship awards of $1,000 each to 12 senior high school girls to attend Bennett College in the fall were made last week by representatives of the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation of Winston-Salem.

The twelve finalists were picked from a group of 26 who came to the campus for interviews. Four alternates were chosen. The scholarships are renewable, depending upon academic averages maintained and continuing need.

Selected were: Alice E. Baldwin, Wilmington; Linda J. Bost, Salisbury; LaVerne Brown, Hickory; Jannifer English, Efland; Ruth Davis, Garysburg; Patrice Herring, Greensboro; Evelyn Hooks, Pollocksville; Blossie Hughes, Rocky Mount; Margaretia Jackson, High Point; Sandra Philpott, Durham; Mary Shanks, Burlington, and Queen Wiggs, Goldsboro.

Alternate candidates are: Geraldine Battle, Rocky Mount; Margaret Broadnax, Leaksville; Lottie Evans, Charlotte, and Geraldine Gleaves, Maxton.

BENNETT COLLEGE

Dr. Samuel R. Smith, dean of students at Greensboro College, speaking to student leaders at Bennett College Sunday, warned them that unless they have spirit and charater, their campus will not have it.

Stating that "the moral decline of our society is evident everywhere, Dr. Smith urged the students to "get in stride with God now, for later on you will have neither the will nor the desire."

A charge to next year's campus officers was given by Miss Mittie White, '66, of Newark, N. J., president of the Student Senate, and the response was made by Miss Armita Blackwell, '67, of Philadelphia, next year's president.

HERBERT FLAMER of Danville, Va., Miss Eddyce Pope of Washington, Tony Backus of Greensboro, N.C. and Miss Paula Martin of Danville, were guests at the All - College Party at Bennett College, last week.

Pho 5/28/66

4 On Bennett Faculty Given Scholarships

Greensboro 5/28/66

GREENSBORO -- Four members of the Bennett College faculty have been awarded summer study scholarships by the Piedmont University Center, Inc., of Winston-Salem, it was announced last week.

Recipients, their fields, the amounts of the awards and the institutions at which they will study are:

Edward Lowe, music, $1,000, Syracuse University; Miss Carolyn L. Kimble, business education, $1,000, New York University; Mrs. Marianne Rosthal, languages, $500, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and Mrs. Carrie M. Shute, foods and nutrition, $500, Columbia University.

BENNETT NEWS

Miss Joanne E. Schenck, of Waco, N. C., a rising senior at Bennett College, was notified this week that she is one of 20 college students who have been accepted for the Summer Intern Program of the Peace Corps in Washington, D. C.

A social science major with a minor in business education Miss Schenck, valedictorian of her high school class, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Schenck.

She will report for assignment on July 5 and will work until early in September. Duties will include junior level administrative assignments, research, writing and other special assignments. Nominees must rate in the upper one-third of their class scholastically.

BENNETT NEWS

Closing Sunday vesper service at Bennett College will be held at 11 a.m. on May 29 and will feature a program by the combined choir of the college.

BENNETT NEWS

Four members of the Bennett College faculty have been awarded summer study scholarships by the Piedmont University Center, Inc., of Winston-Salem, was announced this week.

Recipients, their fields, the awards and the institutions at which they will study are:

Edward Lowe, music, $1,000, Syracuse University; Miss Carolyn L. Kimble, business education $1,000, New York University; Mrs. Marianne Rosthal, languages, $500, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and Mrs. Carrie M. Shute, foods and nutrition, $500, Columbia University.

Daily News Photo By Jim Wommack

Bennett Teacher Norman Licht Tests Janelle Rackley In Laboratory

Student Progresses At Own Pace

News 5/21/66

Bennett Using Programmed Learning

BY DOUGLAS M. YOUNG
Daily News Staff Writer

"These courses are not designed to take the place of the teacher, but to amplify the teacher's role. The teacher teaches the student to make certain judgments as a human being. The materials in programmed learning support those judgments."

Norman Licht, whose thesis at Wayne State University dealt with studies in programmed learning, and who is a graduate of the Teacher Experimental Education Project (TEEP), described one aspect of programmed learning being employed this year by Bennett College students.

The new programmed learning laboratory in the basement of the Bennett College library is a new three-year project being offered with the aid of funds from the Doris Duke Foundation.

In addition to amplifying the role of the teacher, Licht said the lab is designed for independent and directed study by students as well as being a research-oriented center for further development of programmed instruction as an educational tool.

* * *

THE STUDY phase of the program can be both remedial and enriching, the principle being that the student be allowed to progress in the work at her own pace with material that suits her ability.

For instance, a French student wishes to improve her ability to speak the language. First, she will tape record a passage to determine her proficiency now and to detect problem areas in pronunciation, enunciation and her understanding of the French language.

Beginning at her level of need, she studies "frames of information," bits of language from a special programed instruction textbook. The "frames of information" ultimately accumulate into a large body of knowledge.

Books will tell her about the language, but are not much help orally. The lab provides a tape recorder, an eight milimeter camera and "rear screen" to aid her.

The "rear screen" is perhaps the most unusual tool in the learning lab. It looks much like a television screen except for the fact that it's all done by mirror. The camera projects through the mirrors into a dark area and on to a mass of finely ground glass which scatters the picture over the screen, even in a brightly lighted room.

The film is silent and the student must discover what is being done in the film and put it together with what is being said simultaneously on the tape recorder.

* * *

PROGRAMED LEARNING is in three phases, Licht said: small "frames of information," feedback and confirmation of results.

"Feedback" means "the student knows when she is incorrect and knows how to correct it," Licht said. "The correct responses are reinforced rather than the incorrect ones."

Research work in the lab has been extensive, Licht said. One English instructor found that her students felt as though she were taking a more active interest in their work after she started taping comments on themes rather than making the usual red marks.

The students came to the lab to hear the comments and then made the red mark corrections on their papers themselves.

Sam Byers, physics in[structor] at Bennett, found some of his students lac[k] some basic trigonometry n[ecessary] in his course. As [an] experiment with Licht, he d[i]vided his class into three groups. Group A is being taught the trigonometry by Byers; Group B is receiving some instruction by Byers while supplementing it with programmed instruction, and Group C is working entirely with programmed instruction.

* * *

AN INTERESTIN[G] fect of the experi[ment] said, is the fear members of Group cause they are not with the professor fect their grades, e they are learning body of knowledg

Licht predicts t[he] will be eliminat[ed] grammed learni[ng] to develop, as it feels that even[tu]grammed instruct[ion] to the ungraded

"Nobody fa[vors] gramed learning. "Some students ju[st] er to do the shouldn't measure student stays in sc[hool] rather the fact that t[he] certain experiences a st[u]must have."

Licht's faith in the future of programmed learning is supported by the National Education Association (NEA) which reported last fall that from 1962 to 1963 use of programmed material in the public schools tripled.

The problem, as Licht see[s] it, is getting the materials programmed fast enough to keep up with the vast explosion of knowledge in the modern 20th Century.

Commencement Exercises

Bennett Speakers Announced

The executive director of one of the nation's outstanding educational foundations and Methodism's youngest bishop will be the speakers for Bennett College's 93rd commencement exercises here June 5-6.

Bishop James S. Thomas, of Des Moines, Iowa, head of the Iowa Area of the Methodist Church, will deliver the baccalaureate address on Sunday, June 5, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Speaker for the commencement program at 10:30 a.m. on Monday, June 6, will be Dr. Arnold J. Zufcher, of New York City, executive director of the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation.

Bishop Thomas; a native of

THOMAS ZUFCHER

Orange, S.C., is the son of a Methodist minister. He received his Ph.D. degree from Claflin College, Gammon Theological Seminary and Drew University. He is a Bennett trustee.

He is the second Negro Methodist bishop to lead a predominantly white area, being the leader of some 300,000 Methodists and 916 churches in Iowa. Earlier he was associate to director of the Division of Higher Education of the Board of Education of the Methodist Church.

Dr. Zufcher, a graduate of Oberlin College, earned his doctorate at Princeton. He has been a college teacher of political science and is a member of the American Science Association.

A member of Phi Beta Kappa, he is a member of the visiting committee of the Harvard University Graduate School of Education.

"Snow Black" gets best play prize

Pho 5/28/66

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Representatives of Cone Residence Hall with their skit, "Snow Black and the Seven Whites," captured first honors on the annual May Day program at Bennett College on Saturday.

Competitors geared their original presentations to the theme: "Fantasy Land." Second honors went to Reynolds Hall while Merner was third. Honorable mention went to Barge Hall. Prior to the program, Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, acting president, crowned the queen, Miss Bernadine Harris, of Roanoke, Va.

INTERMISSION - Shown during intermission at an annual All- College Party at Bennett College last week are left to right, Miss Eddyce Pope of Washington, D. C., and her escort Herbert Flamer and Miss Paula Martin, of Danville, Va., and Tony Backus.

Greensboro 5/28/66

12 high school seniors receive scholarship aid

Pho 5/28/66

GREENSBORO. N.C. Scholarship awards of $1,000 each to 12 senior high school girls were made last week by representatives of the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation of Winston-Salem. The students will attend Bennett College beginning this fall.

The twelve seniors were picked from a group of 26 who came to the campus for interview. Four alternates were chosen. The scholarships are renewable, depending upon academic averages maintained and continuing need.

Selected were: Alice E. Baldwin, Wilmington; Linda J. Bost, Salisbury; LaVerne Brown, Hickory; Jannifer English; Efland; Ruth Davis, Garysburg; Patrice Herring, Greensboro; Evelyn Hooks, Pollocksville; Blossie Hughes, Rocky Mount; Margaretia Jackson, High Point; Sandra Philpott, Durham; Mary Shanks, Burlington, and Queen Wiggs, Goldsboro.

Alternate candidates are: Geraldine Battle, Rocky Mount; Margaret Broadnax, Leaksville; Lottie Evans, Charlotte, and Geraldine Gleaves, Maxton.

Intern Program

Miss Joanne E. Schenck, of Waco, N. C., a rising senior at Bennett College, was notified last week that she is one of 20 college students who have been accepted for the Summer Intern Program of the Peace Corps in Washington, D. C.

A social science major with a minor in business education, Miss Schenck, valedictorian of her high school class, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Schenck.

She will report for assignment on July 5 and will work until early in September. Duties will include junior level administrative assignments, research, writing and other special assignments. Nominees must rate in the upper one-third of their class scholastically.

55

FLOWERS FOR THE FAIR - Miss Theresa Hall, rising senior, of Washington, D. C., admires spring blossoms on Bennett College campus just before unseasonal cold snap killed them off.

New Head Of Bennett Is Chosen

Bennett College's new president will be Dr. Isaac H. Miller, 45, associate professor of biochemistry at Meharry Medical College at Nashville, Tenn.

He succeeds Dr. Willa B. Player who resigned in February to become director of the division of college support of the U.S. Office of Education.

Dr. Miller is to assume his duties in early September.

A graduate of Livingstone College at Salisbury, Dr. Miller received his doctorate from the University of Wisconsin.

He is a former member of the A&T faculty and has taught in the public schools of Granite Quarry and Salisbury.

Dr. Chauncy G. Winston, dean of instruction, has been serving as acting president since Dr. Player's resignation.

Cite Junior At Bennett

GREENSBORO, N.C.--Members of the faculty and staff at Bennett College voted, last week, to award their annual $300 scholarship for the 1966-67 academic year to Miss Aretha L. Butler, a rising junior English major, from Eastover, S.C.

Miss Butler, one of six children of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Butler, was valedictorian of the 1964 graduating class at Hopkins High School in Eastover and plans a teaching career. Her mother and father also teach.

Bennett College News

Four members of the Bennett College faculty have been awarded summer study scholarships by the Piedmont University Center, Inc., of Winston-Salem, it was announced this week.

Recipients, their fields, the amounts of the awards and the institutions at which they will study are:

Edward Lowe, music, $1,000, Syracuse University; Miss Carolyn L. Kimble, business education, $1,000, New York University; Mrs. Marianne Rosthal, languages, $500, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and Mrs. Carrie M. Shute, foods and nutrition, $500, Columbia University.

Scholarship awards of $1,000 each to 12 senior high school girls attend Bennett College in the fall were made last week by representatives of the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation of Winston-Salem.

The twelve finalists were picked from a group of 26 who came to the campus for interview. Four alternates were chosen. The scholarships are renewable, depending upon academic averages maintained and continuing need.

Selected were: Alice E. Baldwin, Wilmington; Linda J. Bost, Salisbury; LaVerne Brown, Hickory; Jannifer English, Efland; Ruth Davis, Garysburg; Patrice Herring, Greensboro; Evelyn Hooks, Pollocksville; Margaretia Jackson, High Blossie Hughes, Rocky Mount; Point; Sandra Philpott, Durham; Mary Shanks, Burlington, and Queen Wiggs, Goldsboro.

Dr. Samuel R. Smith, dean of students at Greensboro College, speaking to student leaders at Bennett College Sunday, warned them that unless they have spirit and character, their campus will not have it.

Stating that "the moral decline of our society is evident everywhere, Dr. Smith urged the students to "get in stride with God now, for later on you will have neither the will nor the desire."

Miss Joanne E. Schenck, of Waco, (N.C.), a rising senior at Bennett College, was notified this week that she is one of 20 college students who have been accepted for the Summer Intern Program of the Peace Corps in Washington, D. C.

Closing Sunday vesper service at Bennett College will be held at 11 a. m. on May 29 and will feature a program by the combined choirs of the college.

DR. ARNOLD J. ZURCHER
(Bennett speaker)

BISHOP JAMES S. THOMAS
(Also at Bennett)

Bennett College Commencement Exercises

A class of 126—largest in the history of Bennett College—will receive degrees at the 93rd commencement exercises to be held on Monday.

Ninety-five will receive the A. B. degree and 31, the B. S. There were 22 states and five foreign countries represented, namely, Africa, American Samoa, Indonesia, Panama and the Virgin Islands. North Carolina led the states with 38, followed by South Carolina with 12 and Virginia with eight. There were two from California this year.

The list of graduates follows:

North Carolina

B. S.

Ada Chesnutt, Clinton; Jerryline Elliott, Whiteville; Willa Foster, Charlotte; Marlene Hardin, Charlotte; Mary Holder; Middlesex;; Amanda Houston, Kinston; Shirley Jackson, Parkton; Delois Lowrance, Winston-Salem; Zelma Moore, Clarkton; Edna Rich, Raleigh; Jennie Wright, Landis and Seleah Wyche, Henderson.

A. B.

Mamie Anderson, Whiteville; Nancy Ball, Bryson City; Cheryl Bright, Washington; Delphine Coward, Durham; Jacqueline Croom, Kinston; Doris Forney, Hickory; Teresa Groton, Durham; Madaline Harris, Sanford; Gail Hickerson, Lenoir; Bettye Hill, Greensboro;

Patricia Hooper, Greensboro, Doris Knotts, Lexington; Doris Martin, Reidsville; Faye McClain, Wilson; Winona McDowell, Charlotte; Jewel Merritt, Durham; Theresa Mobley, Hallsboro; Jackie Outterbridge, Greenville; Viola Owens, Asheville; Delores Parker, Oak City; Hattie Plummer, Manson; Ernestine Reddick, Kinston; Charlie Mae Roundtree, Southern Pines; Barbara Turner, Raleigh; Genevieve Williams, Greensboro; Katherine Williams, Tarboro.

South Carolina

B. S.

Alice Easley, Greeleyville; Carolyn Hayes, Denmark; Betty Jackson, Easley; Rose Meyers, Mt. Pleasant; Barbara Washington, Yonges Island.

A. B.

Willa Bing, Allendale; Miriam Bogan, Columbia; Priscilla Brunson, Orangeburg; Ernestine Collins, Georgetown; Patricia Hall, Orangeburg; Gloria Lemmon, Lake City; Gretta Middleton, Charleston;

Virginia

B. S.

Seporia Holland, Richmond;

A. B.

Ruby Chesson, West Chesapeake; Delores Comer, Richmond; Bonita Davis, Norfolk; Bernadine Harris, Roanoke; Iris McDaniel, Danville; Charlotte Tenbrook, Newport News; Delores Wyatt, Dewitt.

D. C. and Maryland

B. S.

Carolyn Maddox McKie, Salisbury, Md.; Ernestine Mitchell, Washington, D. C.;

A. B.

Patricia Boggs, Washington, D. C.; Patricia Greene Brown, Baltimore; Elnora Harris, Baltimore; Victoria Hillman, Washington, D. C.; Judith Jones, Washington, D. C.; Eva Rice, Washington, D. C.;

Pennsylvanian and New Jersey

B. S.

Mittie White, Newark, N. J.

A. B.

Wilma Mann Clark, Pittsburgh; Paulette Grant, Philadelphia; Geraldine Kearney, Philadelphia; Leona Leach, Montclair, N. J.; Sandra Satterwhite, Montclair, N. J.; Diane Savage, Teaneck, N. J.; Nancy Shade, Atlantic City; Brenda Walker, Harrisburg, Pa.; Shirley Watson, Bethlehem, Pa.; Regina Williams, Camden, N. J. and Lawrencella Wright, Clairton, Pa.

Alabama

B. S.

Brenda Stallworth, Brewton

A. B.

Dorothy Butler, Birmingham; Sandra Cummings, Montgomery; Barbara Pharris, Birmingham; Mildred Reddick, Huntsville; Shirley Smedley, Birmingham and Jothany Williams, Tuskegee.

Florida

B. S.

Brenda Jackson, Jacksonville; Mamie Lias, Winter Park; Gwendolyn McQueen, Delray Beach.

A. B.

Carolyn Conway, Jacksonville; Lowee Waters, Jacksonville.

Other States

B. S.

Ann F. Middleton, Atlanta, Ga.

A. B.

Ellen C. Alexander, Hartford, Conn; Brenda Joyce Arrington, New York City; Cheryl Carter, Jesup, Ga.; Lillie Coley Greene, Los Angeles, Calif.; Glenda E. Davis, Atlanta, Ga.; Mary A. Douglass, Detroit, Mich.; Juanita C. Foy, Yonkers, New York; Linda M. Grigsby, Warren, Ohio; Sharon E. Hardiman, Kansas City, Kansas; Patricia Harris, Detroit, Mich.; Margaret R. Hayden, Nashville, Tenn.; Freda P. Isaacs, Cincinnati, Ohio; Adrian O. Jackson, Atlanta, Ga.; Bettye A. James, Murfreesboro, Tenn.; Marian P. Kelly, Norwalk, Conn.; Carolyn J. King, Waycross, Ga.; Marilyn Y. Livisay, Princeton, W. Va.; Andrea D. Mast, Houston, Texas; Shirley A. Matthews, San Francisco, Calif.; Constance M. Mitchell, Dallas, Texas; Jean M. Rollins, Warrensville Heights, Ohio; Monica S. Sloan, New Orleans, La.; Dorinda M. Smith, New Haven, Conn.; Sondra L. Stevens, Evanston, Ill.; Freda K. Thompson, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Cleo A. Walker, New Haven, Conn.; Andrea E. Williams, Wilmington, Del.; Betty J. Williams, Cincinnati, Ohio.

FOREIGN

B. S.

Kate N. Aseme, Nigeria, West Africa; Yvonne A. Hodge, St. Johns, Virgin Islands; Patricia M. Piggott, Republic of Panama; Lily and Wei Lie So, Indonesia.

A. B.

Thelma A. Morgan, Sierra Leone, West Africa, Tagiilima Muasau, American Samoa.

MONDAY, JUNE 6

BENNETT COLLEGE, Greensboro, N.C. — Commencement: 10:30 a.m., Monday, June 6, Dr. Arnold J. Zurcher, of New York City, executive director of the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, speaker: Baccalaureate: 4 p.m., Sunday, June 5, Bishop James S. Thomas, of Des Moines, Iowa, head of the Iowa area of the Methodist church, speaker.

DEFIANT DAMSEL... Miss Saundra Jenkins, in the role of Jennie Parsons, defies orders of her father, played by Willie McGriff, to come into the house while a would-be suitor, Thomas Bouche, played by Vincent Spencer, waits. Male characters are A&T College students.

SAFE DRIVER... Miss Amelia Barkscale, of Greensboro, N.C., a Bennett College sophomore, who recently was chosen "Safe Driver of the Week" by the local police department, demonstrates from which helped her earn the award. Although she has been driving only eight months, she was chosen to receive a certificate of appreciation and gifts from several merchants.

JOIN BENNETT FAMILY: Dr. Isaac H. Miller Jr. is the new president of Bennett College and he, his wife and five children will join the Bennett family about Sept. 1. Dr. Miller, a North Carolina native and former professor at A&T College here, is an associate professor of biochemistry at Meharry Medical College, Nashville, Tenn.

Students get awards at Bennett fete

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Announcement of the award of a John Hay Whitney Fellowship for the study of mathematics to Amanda M. Houston, of Kinston, was made during the recent annual Student Recognition assembly at Bennett College on Friday.

Miss Houston will study at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. Lily So, of Indonesia, received an assistantship for graduate study in chemistry at Syracuse University.

Her sister, Wei Lie So, received an assistantship for graduate study in biology at the Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago.

Awards in the Harvard-Yale-Columbia intensive summer studies program have been made to Jamelle Rackley, of Norfolk, Va.; Barbara Woods of Winston-Salem and Mary Cole, of Chapel Hill.

GRANTS OF $710 each for summer study at Harvard were made to Gloria Benson, of Columbia, S.C., mathematics, and Patricia A. Faison, of New Bern, chemistry.

Other awards announced were:

Carolyn Conway, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Doris Forney, of Hickory, Atlanta University scholarships in sociology and library science; Joanne Schenek, of Waco, N.C., Peace Corps Summer intern program; Freda Thompson, of New Rochelle, N.Y., "Crossroads Africa" summer scholarship.

Volunteers for the Peace Corps advanced summer training program for college juniors are: Jacqueline Martin, of Washington, assigned to the Philippines; Helen Thomas, of Albany, Ga., assigned to India; Dola Little, of Houston, Tex., assigned to Peru, and Norma Cobb, of Pittsburgh, Pa., assigned to Bolivia.

ASSIGNED to the regular Peace Corps program for college seniors are Rose Myers, of Greensboro, to Ethiopia; Nancy Shade, of Atlantic City, to Brazil, and Mittie White, of Newark, N.J., to India.

The Catherine H. Waddell Scholarship of $300, awarded annually to a junior or senior, went to Patricia Faison, Sanda the George M. Bell Scholarship also awarded annually to a junior or senior, went to Mary Jacobs, of Mebane.

Ida Pinnix, of Martinsville, Va., received the Belle Tobias Scholarship of $75 awarded annually to the freshman considered to have made the most outstanding improvemen during the year.

Choir Event Is Planned At Bennett

Miss Diamia E. Croslin of Charlotte, a 1959 graduate of Bennett College, will be guest soloist when the Bennett Choir, directed by Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, gives its annual spring concert Saturday at 8 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Traditional spirituals, with Misses Ellen Alexander of Hartford, Conn., and Katherine Williams of Tarboro as soloists, will be sung and the Bennett Ensemble will sing several secular numbers.

Miss Charlotte Alston is organ accompanist and Misses Freya Lineberger of Gastonia and Eloise Franklin of Augusta, Ga., will be piano accompanists.

Bennett Grads Donate $6,500

Contributions of $6,500 for the Loyalty Fund were reported by graduates at the All-Bennett luncheon held Saturday in the college dining center.

The Greensboro chapter, with $3,264, topped all other contributors, the next closest being the Washington chapter with $1,037. Gifts from individuals amounted to $604.

Honor class this year was the class of 1941, with Dr. Dorothy Brown, of Nashville, Tenn., serving as presiding officer. Other classes in reunion were 1936, 1946, 1951, 1956 and 1961.

A highlight of the luncheon came when Dr. Rose Karfiol, professor of economics, who retires this year, was presented an honorary membership in the national association by Miss Mary A. Rogers, president, of Greensboro.

RECEIVE AWARDS: Barbara Woods of Winston-Salem and Jamelle Rackley of Norfolk, Va., both rising seniors at Bennett College, have received awards in the Harvard-Yale-Columbia Intensive Summer Studies Program. The award covers all expenses for six weeks of study at one of the institutions this summer and $500 for their senior year at Bennett.

Dr. Isaac H. Miller Jr. named Bennett president

NEW YORK — The appointment of Dr. Isaac H. Miller Jr. as the new president of Bennett College was announced this week by Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, chairman of the board of Bennett College.

Dr. Miller, who will assume office on Sept. 1, is an associate professor of biochemistry at Meharry Medical College and a former professor of chemistry at the Agricultural and Technical College of North Carolina.

He is also a Council Member, Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, and has served as a research scientist at the Institute.

IN ANNOUNCING the selection of the new president, Dr. Patterson declared: "We are convinced that the appointment of this distinguished nuclear scientist and experienced teacher will enhance educational standards at Bennett College and contribute to the further acquisition of a highly qualified faculty.

"For the first time in the College's 93-year history," Dr. Patterson added, "Bennett faculty members worked closely with the institution's governing Board in establishing criteria for the selection of a new president. Dr. Miller's appointment therefore opens up a challenging era of cooperative action directed at the best interests of the student body and the community - at - large."

BENNETT COLLEGE, founded in 1873, is one of the 33 colleges and universities affiliated with the United Negro College Fund.

Dr. Miller attended high school in Salisbury, N.C., received a bachelor of science from Livingstone College, and a Ph.D. in biochemistry from the University of Wisconsin.

During the past 15 years, he has conducted extensive research in the fields of enzyme and isotope methodology and gas and thinlayer chromatography. He is the author of numerous scientific articles.

The new president is chairman of the Official Board, Clark Memorial Methodist Church in Nashville, Tenn., and has long been active in civic and communal affairs.

'66 class told to fight apathy

GREENSBORO, N.C. — "Before we can overcome any external barriers to success, we must overcome those internal obstacles which we ourselves, create," Miss Marian Kelly, '66, of South Norwalk, Conn., told members of her class at their annual vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday.

Choosing as her subject, "Are You Ready to Leap Over the Wall?" Miss Kelly warned her classmates of the dangers of becoming apathetic about conditions which face them, stating that only failure can result when one gives up trying.

GREENSBORO, N.C. — A program of recognition for Dr. Rose Karfiol, professor of economics, who retires this year after 19 years at Bennett College, was held recently at the college. Dr. Karfiol, a native of Germany, who received her Ph.D. at the University of Cologne, was lauded for her "dedication to the teaching profession and for her sincere interest in the welfare of students".

LIBRARY SERVICES, an important facility in the successful functioning of any university or college, will also benefit from several study grants offered to successful librarians.

Three members of the library staff at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., are recipients of summer study grants from the Jesse Noyes Scholarship Fund through the offices of the United College Fund.

Miss Fannie Fisher, reference librarian, will study at the University of Minnesota; Mrs. Libbie M. Lofton, of materials of learning laboratory, at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and Mrs. Geraldine Westerhand, library assistant, at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

FELLOWSHIP AWARDED

Jacqueline Parham of Washington, N.C., a rising senior at Bennett College, has been notified that she is one of 30 students awarded Association of American Geographers Fellowships to a summer institute in geography at Clark University, Worcester, Mass., June 13-Aug. 5.

Cosmopolitan Affair

Bennett To Graduate Biggest Class Today

A class of 126—the largest in the history of Bennett College—will receive degrees at the 93rd commencement exercises to be held at 10:30 a.m., today in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Dr. Arnold J. Zurcher of New York City, executive director of the Alfred Sloan Foundation, will be the commencement speaker.

The graduation will be, in a sense, a cosmopolitan affair with 22 states and five foreign countries represented, including Africa, American Samoa, Indonesia, Panama and the Virgin Islands.

The urgent need to build bridges across the chasms that separate men was stressed by Bishop James S. Thomas of Des Moines, Iowa, in his baccalaureate address Sunday.

Bishop Thomas, head of the Iowa Area of the Methodist Church and a Bennett trustee, said: "For all intents and purposes, the boundaries of life are down. Men no longer will be satisfied to be divided into the haves and the have-nots and it is up to you who have had the advantages of education to share them with those less fortunate than yourselves."

He suggested the building of three types of bridges, namely the bridge between intellectualism and non-intellectualism, a bridge between critical analysis and creative solutions and lastly, a bridge of faith growing out of a love of God and the understanding that all things past, present and future are in His hands.

Nuclear Scientist New Bennett President

Dr. Miller Takes Post On Sept. 1

Faculty Aided Board On Standards For Its Selection

NEW YORK — Appointment of Dr. Isaac H. Miller Jr. as the new president of Bennett College was announced here by Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, Bennett board chairman.

Dr. Miller, who will assume office on Sept. 1, is an associate professor of bio - chemistry at Meherry Medical College in Nashville, Tenn., and a former professor of chemistry at Agricultural and Technical College of North Carolina (A. and T in Greensboro).

He is also a council member of Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, and has served as a research scientist there.

IN ANNOUNCING selection of the new president, Dr. Patterson declared: "We are convinced that the appointment of this distinguished nuclear scientist and experienced teacher will enhance educational standards at Bennett College and contribute to the further acquisition of a highly qualified faculty.

"For the first time in the college's 93 - year history," Dr. Patterson added, "Bennett faculty members worked closely with the institution's governing board in establishing criteria for the selection of a new president. Dr. Miller's appointment therefore opens up a challenging era of cooperative action directed at the best interests of the student body and the community-at-large."

BENNETT College, founded in 1873, is one of 33 colleges and universities affiliated with the United Negro College Fund. The fund's 1966 appeal will assist the institution in its efforts to expand faculty and to provide scholarship and other financial aid to more than half of the students attending the college.

Dr. Miller attended high school in Salisbury, N. C., received a bachelor of science degree at Livingston College, and a Ph.D in bio-chemistry at the University of Wisconsin.

DURING THE past 15 years, he has conducted extensive research in the fields of enzyme and isotope methodology and gas and thin - layer chromatography. He is the author of numerous scientific articles.

The new president is chair-

Bennett's New President With Family

Dr. Isaac H. Miller, newly-appointed president of Bennett College, Greensboro, is pictured with his wife, Effie, and their five children. Dr. Miller, currently associate professor of biochemistry at Meharry Medical College and a former professor of chemistry at A. and T. College, will assume office at Bennett on Sept. 1.

RALEIGH, N. C., SATURDAY JUNE 4, 1966

Bishop Thomas And Dr. Zurcher Bennett Commencement Figures

GREENSBORO -- The executive director of one of the nation's outstanding educational foundations and Methodism's youngest bishop will be the speakers for Bennett College's 93rd commencement exercises on June 5-6.

Bishop James S. Thomas, of Des Moines, Iowa, head of the Iowa Area of the Methodist Church, will deliver the baccalaureate address on Sunday, June 5 at 4 p. m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Speaker for the commencement program at 10:30 a. m. on Monday, June 6, will be Dr. Arnold J. Zurcher, of New York City, executive director of the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation.

Bishop Thomas, a native of Orangeburg, S. C., is the son of a Methodist minister. He received his Ph. D. degree from Cornell University, after having earned degrees from Claflin College, Gammon Theological Seminary and Drew University. He is a Bennett trustee.

He is the second Negro Methodist bishop to lead a predominantly white area, being the leader of some 300,000 Methodists and 916 churches in Iowa. Before his elevation to the bishopric in 1964, he was associate director of the Division of Higher Education of the Board of Education of the Methodist Church. He has been a frequent lecturer on college campuses.

ON THE LINE - Making final appearance as probates before induction into Bennett College chapter of Alpha Kappa Mu, national honor society, are, left to right: Misses Mary Cole, of Chapel Hill; Kate Aseme, of Nigeria, W. Africa; Carolyn King, of Waycross, Ga.; Gardenia Cole, of Clover, S. C.; Mary Jacobs, of Mebane; Mrs. Jessie Cardwell, of Greensboro and Miss Betty Jackson, of Easley, S. C.

Dr. Isaac H. Miller, Jr. Is New Bennett College Prexy

NEW YORK, N. Y. -- The appointment of Dr. Isaac H. Miller, Jr. as the new president of Bennett College, Greensboro, North Carolina, was announced last Friday by Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, chairman of the board of Bennett College.

Dr. Miller, who will assume office on September 1, is an associate professor of biochemistry at Meherry Medical College and a former professor of chemistry at the Agricultural and Technical College of North Carolina. He is also a Council Member, Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, and has served as a research scientist at the Institute.

In announcing the selection of the new president, Dr. Patterson declared: "We are convinced that the appointment of this distinguished nuclear scientist and experienced teacher will enhance educational standards at Bennett College and contribute to the further acquisition of a highly qualified faculty.

"For the first time in the college's 93-year history," Dr. Patterson added, "Bennett faculty members worked closely with the institution's governing board in establishing criteria for the selection of a new president. Dr. Miller's appointment therefore opens up a challenging era of cooperative action directed at the best interests of the student body and the community-at-large."

Bennett College, founded in 1873, is one of the 33 colleges and universities affiliated with the United Negro College Fund. The Fund's 1966 appeal will assist the institution in its efforts to expand faculty and to provide scholarship and other financial aid to more than half of the students attending the college.

Dr. Miller attended high school in Salisbury, N. C., received a Bachelor of Science degree from Livingstone College there, and a Ph. D. in biochemistry from the University of Wisconsin. During the past 15 years, he has conducted extensive research in the fields of enzyme and isotope methodology and gas and thin-layer chromatography. He is the author of numerous scientific articles.

The new president is chairman of the Official Board, Clark Memorial Methodist Church in Nashville, Tenn., and has long been active in civic and communal affairs.

4 Bennett Teachers Get Scholarships

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Four members of the Bennett College faculty have been awarded summer study scholarships by the Piedmont University Center, Inc., of Winston - Salem, it was announced recently.

Recipients, their fields, the amounts of the awards and the institutions at which they will study are:

EDWARD LOWE, music, $1,000, Syracuse University; Miss Carolyn L. Kimble, business education, $1,000, New York University; Mrs. Marianne Rosthal, languages, $500, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and Mrs. Carrie M. Shute, foods and nutrition, $500, Columbia University.

PLAY OPENS

"Ask for Me Tomorrow," by Joseph Hayes, the story of the relationship between an ambitious, eager girl just out of college and her domineering mother, opens the commencement season at Bennett College at 8 p.m. Friday in the Little Theatre. The cast, composed of seniors, is headed by Andrea Mast of Houston, Texas, and Saundra Jenkins of Orangeburg, S.C.

Dr. Karfiol Is Honored By Bennett

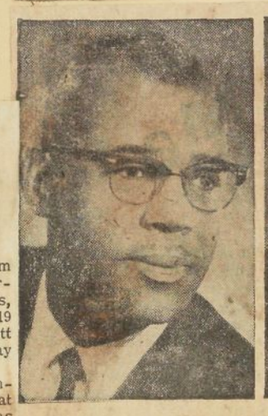

GREENSBORO -- A program of recognition for Dr. Rose Karfiol, professor of economics, who retires this year after 19 years of service at Bennett College, was held Wednesday morning in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Dr. Karfiol, a native of Germany, who received her Ph. D. at the University of Cologne, was lauded for her "Dedication to the teaching profession and for her sincere interest in the welfare of students" by Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, acting president. She was the recipient of several gifts, among them a scroll containing the photographs of her majors and minors in economics.

Fashion Winners Model Their Creations

Adjudged to have shown the most creativity in last week's fashion show at Bennett College was Miss Ernestine Mitchell (third from left), senior, of Washington, D. C. To her right is Miss Barbara Gadsden, junior, of Mount Pleasant, S. C., first award winner. Others in photo, left to right, winning honorable mention are Misses Gloria Taylor, freshman, of Rowland, N. C.; Sandra Daye, junior, of Magazine, Ala., and Doris Evans, freshman, of Greensboro.

Bennett College Finals Speakers

Bishop James S. Thomas of Des Moines, Iowa, at left, head of the Iowa Area of the Methodist Church, will deliver the baccalaureate address Sunday, June 5, at Bennett College, Greensboro. He will speak in Pfeiffer Chapel at 4 p.m.

Speaker for the commencement program at 10:30 a. m. on Monday, June 6, will be Dr. Arnold J. Zurcher, of New York City, executive director of the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation.

Librarian To Study

Three members of the library staff aot Bennett College are recipients of summer study grants from the Jesse Noyes Scholarship Fund through the office of the United College Fund.

Miss Fannie Fisher, reference librarian, will study at the University of Minnesota; Mrs. Libbie M. Lofton, of materials of learning laboratory, at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and Mrs. Geraldine Westerband, library assistant at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

12 Hi School Seniors Get Scholarships

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Scholarship awards of $1,000 each to 12 senior high school girls to attend Bennett College in the fall were made by representatives of the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation of Winston-Salem.

The twelve finalists were picked from a group of 26 who came to the campus for interviews. Four alternates were chosen. The scholarships are renewable, depending upon academic averages maintained and continuing need.

SELECTED were: Alice E. Baldwin, Wilmington; Linda J. Bost, Salisbury; LaVerne Brown, Hickory; Jannifer English, Efland; Ruth Davis, Garysburg; Patrice Herring, Greensboro; Evelyn Hooks, Pollocksville; Blossie Hughes, Rocky Mount; Margaretia Jackson, High Point; Sandra Philpott, Durham; Mary Shanks, Burlington, and Queen Wiggs, Goldsboro.

Alternate candidates are: Geraldine Battle, Rocky Mount; Margaret Broadnax, Leaksville; Lottie Evans, Charlotte, and Geraldine Gleaves, Maxton.

Bennett College News

The executive director of one of the nation's outstanding educational foundations and Methodism's youngest bishop will be the speakers for Bennett College's 93rd commencement exercises on June 5-6.

Bishop James S. Thomas, of Des Moines, Iowa, head of the Iowa Area of the Methodist Church, will deliver the baccalaureate address on Sunday, June 5 at 4 p. m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Speaker for the commencement program at 10:30 a. m. on Monday, June 6, will be Dr. Arnold J. Zurcher, of New York City, executive director of the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation.

Bishop Thomas, a native of Orangeburg, S. C., is the son of a Methodist minister. He received his Ph. D. degree from Cornell University, after having earned degrees from Claflin College, Gammon Theological Seminary and Drew University. He is a Bennett trustee.

He is the second Negro Methodist bishop to lead a predominantly white area, being the leader of some 300,000 Methodists and 916 churches in Iowa. Before his elevation to the bishopric in 1964, he was associate director of the Division of Higher Education of the Board of Education of the Methodist Church. He has been a frequent lecturer on college campuses.

Announcement of the award of a John Hay Whitney Fellowship for the study of mathematics to Miss Amanda M. Houston, of Kinston, was made during the annual Student Recognition assembly at Bennett College on Friday.

Miss Houston will study at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. Miss Lily So, of Indonesia, received an assistantship for graduate study in chemistry at Syracuse University, while her sister, Miss Wei Lie So, received an assistantship for graduate study in biology at the Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago, Ill.

Summer study awards in Harvard-Yale-Columbia Intensive Summer Studies Program have been made to Misses Jamelle Rackley, of Norfolk, Va.; Barbara Woods of Winston-Salem and Mary Cole, of Chapel Hill. These awards cover all expenses, plus $500 for the senior year at Bennett, and the students will be assigned to one of the three participating institutions.

Three members of the library staff at Bennett College are recipients of summer study grants from the Jesse Noyes Scholarship Fund through the offices of the United Negro College Fund.

Miss Fannie Fisher, reference librarian, will study at the University of Minnesota; Mrs. Libbie M. Lofton, of materials of learning laboratory, at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and Mrs. Geraldine Westerband, library assistant, at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

A program of recognition for Dr. Rose Karfiol, professor of economics, who retires this year after 19 years of service at Bennett College, was held in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Dr. Karfiol, a native of Germany, who received her Ph.D at the University of Cologne, was lauded for her "dedication to the teaching profession and for her sincere interest in the welfare of students" by Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, acting president. She was the recipient of several gifts, among them a scroll containing the photographs of her majors and minors in economics.

Commencement activities at Bennett College will be ushered in on Friday, June 3, when members of the senior class hold their annual class day program at 3 p. m. in the Little Theatre.

That night at 8 o'clock, the Theatre Guild, featuring graduating members, will present the Joseph Hayes play, "Ask for Me Tomorrow," directed by Fred A. Eady.

3 Receives Grants For Summer Work

GREENSBORO -- Three members of the library staff at Bennett College are recipients of summer study grants from the Jesse Noyes Scholarship Fund through the offices of the United Negro College Fund.

Miss Fannie Fisher, reference librarian, will study at the University of Minnesota; Mrs. Libbie M. Lofton, of materials of learning laboratory, at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and Mrs. Geraldine Westerband, library assistant, at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

BENNETT COLLEGE'S NEW FIRST FAMILY - The new president of Bennett College, Greensboro, Dr. Isaac H. Miller, Jr., right foreground, his wife Effie, and their five children. (See story).

RALEIGH, N. C., SATURDAY JUNE 4, 1966

PROSPECTIVE GRADS - Some of the North Carolina seniors at Bennett College who are scheduled to receive their degrees at commencement exercises on June 6 at the Greensboro institution.

Bennett College Senior Speaks

GREENSBORO -- "Before we can overcome any external barriers to success, we must overcome those internal obstacles which we ourselves, create," Miss Marian Kelly, '66, of South Norwalk, Conn., declared when members of her class held their annual vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday.

Choosing as her subject, "Are You Ready to Leap Over the Wall?" Miss Kelley warned her classmates of the danger of becoming apathetic about conditions which face them, stating that only failure can result when one gives up trying.

His Goal: Development

Dr. Miller To Investigate New Areas

BY DOUGLAS M. YOUNG
Daily News Staff Writer

"We more or less had a closed society on the campus that provided a social outlet and this was all there was to it. It did not, at the time, cause a great deal of emotional concern or distress. I dare say the Livingstone student of today doesn't feel the same as we did then."

Dr. Isaac H. Miller Jr., recently named the new president of Bennett College, was remembering his days as a student at Livingstone College in Salisbury. Dr. Miller has replaced Dr. Willa Player who resigned to take a position with the U. S. Office of Education.

The 45-year-old associate professor of biochemistry at Meharry Medical College in Nashville, Tenn., is no stranger to the Piedmont area of North Carolina. He and his family came to Salisbury from his native Jacksonville, Fla. in 1929.

* * *

AFTER graduating from Livingston, he taught in the public schools in Rowan County and Salisbury. Later, after receiving his doctorate at the University of Wisconsin, he taught for four years at A&T College before moving to Nashville.

As a young man, Dr. Miller delivered the Salisbury Post, the local newspaper, and waited on tables at the Salisbury Country Club and at special parties given by the late Dr. Howard Omwake, when he was president of Catawba College.

After graduating from Price High School in Salisbury, he entered Livingstone.

* * *

"THIS was a time when we tended to 'know our place,' as the saying goes," Dr. Miller said. "We knew where we were acceptable and where we were not acceptable. We went to the rear door of a restaurant. We went to the Capitol Theatre (in Salisbury) and sat in the balcony and thought nothing about it."

Dr. Miller, a witness to the breaking barriers of segregation in Nashville, Tenn., harbors no bitterness about the past. He taught school in Granite Quarry, now the home of a revived Ku Klux Klan. He has heard of the Klan activities only through newspaper accounts.

Man In The News

"I always thought there was a very wholesome relationship between whites and Negroes when I taught school in Granite Quarry and Salisbury," he said. "It would be my feeling that there is still a very wholesome relationship. Anyway, I don't believe that Granite Quarry represents North Carolina."

* * *

DID THIS relationship extend to the quality of schooling for the Negro in Rowan County and Salisbury?

"No," Dr. Miller said. "This was not the case. I knew the Negro schools were not as good. I feel very strongly that segregation perpetuates the atmosphere whereby the Negro does not get his fair share."

World War II interrupted Dr. Miller's teaching career in Salisbury. He spent three years in the Army, 18 months of that time with the 92nd Infantry Division in the Italian theater of operation. Much of that time was spent walking as a "foot soldier" from the Arno River to the Po River in Italy.

* * *

WHEN the war ended, Dr. Miller began his study in his field of interest, biochemistry. He remained at the University of Wisconsin from 1946 until 1950 before joining the staff at A&T College. While teaching at A&T, he finished work on his doctorate from Wisconsin which was awarded him in 1951.

In 1954 he became associate professor of biochemistry at Meharry Medical College. He has remained in Nashville since then and has been active in the civic and community affairs of that city. Dr. Miller is chairman of the board of the Clark Memorial Methodist Church there.

Dr. Miller expects to be "in and out" of Greensboro during the summer as he gradually begins to assume the reins of leadership at Bennett. On Sept. 1, the new job officially begins.

* * *

"IT'S a little early," Dr. Miller said, "but I have been giving a good deal of thought concerning my plans for Bennett. I want to give the college the type of leadership it has been accustomed to having. I want to look into new areas of development in keeping with the changing times.

"I have an interest in seeing the development of the natural and physical sciences," he continued. "I would like to see even more emphasis placed on chemistry, biology and physics. But I am also just as interested in continuing the development of the liberal arts tradition for which Bennett is known."

The academic curriculum and the development of an educational philosophy for a college go hand in hand. Over the years, Dr. Miller has decided for himself what he thinks a student and an institution should contribute.

* * *

"MY FEELING is that of a college graduate of any institution is obligated to contribute to his society by total involvement in the community," Dr. Miller said. "This means he should be variously prepared. He should be prepared to go into politics and civic affairs. I want to see that students graduate from Bennett College with the feeling that they are ready to make a vital contribution and be in the mainstream of American life."

Dr. Miller was reminded that in stating his goals he said "He". Did this mean that Bennett College, after 93 years as a girls' institution, might be contemplating a change in the future?

"No indeed," Dr. Miller said. "I used the 'He' categorically. But we are in a period when there is little restriction on the kind of professional involvement in which a woman can become a part. We are in a time when women are doing a lot of things they've never done before."

THE BENNETT College faculty is integrated. Would it be in Dr. Miller's plans to push for an integrated student body?

"Bennett should be for all students," Dr. Miller said. "I would make no special effort to see that there is an integrated college, but I would want to make available such an attractive program at Bennett that it would attract all students."

DR. ISAAC MILLER
. . . No Stranger

CONCERT SET

The Bennett College Choir Concert will give its annual spring recital at 8 p.m. Saturday in Pfeiffer Chapel. Soloists will be Diamia E. Crosslin of Charlotte, a 1959 graduate, Ellen Alexander of Hartford, Conn., and Katherine Williams of Tarboro.

* * *

Spring concert at Bennett College

GREENSBORO, N.C.—The Bennett College Choir presented its annuel spring concert on Saturday night with Miss Diamia Croslin, '59, of Charlotte, a former member as guest artist.

Directed by Mrs. Mary J. Crawford and with Miss Charlotte Alston at the organ, the group sang early and contemporary sacred music and a number of traditional spirituals. Several secular numbers were sung by the Bennett Ensemble.

Piano accompanists were Misses Freya Lineberger, of Gastonia and Eloise Franklin, of Augusta, Ga.

TEN STAR CUTLINES SONGFEST WINNERS — Residents of Merner Hall

Commencement day held at Bennett College, 126 students get degrees

GREENSBORO, N.C. —A class of 126 - largest in the history of Bennett College received degrees at the 93rd commencement exercises held on Monday, May 30.

Ninety-five received the A.B. degree and 31, the B.S. There were 22 states and five foreign countries represented, namely, Africa, American Samoa, Indonesia, Panama and the Virgin Islands.

North Carolina led the states with 38, followed by South Carolina with 12 and Virginia with eight. There were two from California this year.

THE LIST of graduates follows:

Add to Commencement at Bennett

NORTH CAROLINA

B.S.

Ada Chesnutt, Clinton; Jerryline Elliott, Whiteville; Willa Foster, Chaslotte; Marlene Hasdin, Charlotte; Mary Holder, Middlesex; Amanda Houston, Kinston; Shirley Jackson, Parkton; Delois Lowrance, Winston - Salem; Zelma Moore, Clarkton; Edna Rich, Raleigh; Jennie Wright, Landis and Seleah Wyche, Henderson.

A.B.

Mamie Anderson, Whiteville; Nancy Ball, Bryson City; Cheryl Bright, Washington; Delphine Coward, Durham; Jacqueline Croom, Kinston; Doris Forney, Hickory; Teresa Groton, Durham; Mafaline Harris, Sanford; Gail Hickerson, Lenoir; Bettye Hill, Greensboro; Patricia Hooper, Greensboro; Doris Knotts, Lexington; Doris Martin, Reidsville; Faye McClain, Wilson; Winona McDowell, Charlotte; Jewel Merritt, Durham; Theresa Mobley, Hailsboro; Jackie Outerbridge, Greenville; Viola Owens, Asheville; Delores Parker, Oak City; Hattie Plummer, Manson; Erniestine Reddick, Kinston; Charlie Mae Roundtree, Southern Pines; Barbara Turner, Raleigh; Genevieve Williams, Greensboro and Katherine Williams, Tarboro.

SOUTH CAROLINA

B.S.

Alice Easley, Greeleyville; Carolyn Hayes, Denmark; Betty Jackson, Easley; Rose Meyers, Mt. Pleasant and Barbara Washington, Yonges Island.

A.B.

Willa Bing, Allendale; Miriam Bogan, Columbia; Priscilla Brunson, Orangeburg; Ernestine Collins, Georgetown; Patricia Hall, Orangeburg; Gloria Lemmon, Lake City; and Gretta Middleton, Charleston;

VIRGINIA

B.S.

Seporia Holland, Richmond

A.B.

Ruby Chesson, West Chesapeake; Delores Comer, Richmond; Bonita Davis, Norfolk; Bernadine Harris, Roanoke; Iris McDaniel, Danville; Charlotte Tenbrook, Newport News and Deloris Wyatt, Dewitt.

D.C. and MARYLAND

B.S.

Carolyn Maddox McKie, Salisbory, Md.; Ernestine Mitchell, Washington, D.C.;

A.B.

Patricia Boggs, Washington, D.C.; Patricia Greene Brown, Baltimore; Elnora Harris, Baltimore; Victoria Hillman, Washington, D.C.; Judith Jones, Washington, D.C.; and Eva Rice, Wasnington, D.C.

PENNSYLVANIA and NEW JERSEY

B.S.

Mittie White, Newark, N.J.

A.B.

Wilma Mann Clark, Pittsburgh; Paulette Grant, Philadelphia; Geraldine Kearney, Philadelphia; Leona Leach, Montclair, N.J.; Sandra Satterwhite, Montclair, N.J.; Diane Savage, Teaneck, N.J.; Nancy Shade, Atlantic City; Brenda Walker, Harrisburg, Pa., Shirley Watson, Bethlehem, Pa.; Regina Williams, Camden, N.J. and Lawrencella Wright, Clairton, Pa.

ALABAMA

B.S.

Brenda Stallworth, Brewton

A.B.

Dorothy Butler, Birmingham; Sandra Cummings, Montgomery; Barbara Pharris, Birmingham; Mildred Reddick, Huntsville; Shirley Smedley, Birmingham and Jothany Williams, Tuskegee.

FLORIDA

B.S.

Brenda Jackson, Jacksonville; Mamie Lias, Winter Park; Gwendolyn McQueen, Delray Beach.

A.B.

Carolyn Conway, Jacksonville; Lowee Waters, Jacksonville.

OTHER STATES

B.S.

Ann F. Middleton, Atlanta, Ga.

A.B.

Ellen C. Alexander, Hartford, Conn.; Brenda Joyce Arrington, New York City; Cheryl Carter, Jesup, Ga.; Lillie Coley - Grene, Los Angeles, Calif.; Glenda E. Davis, Atlanta, Ga.; Mary A. Douglass, Detroit, Mich.; Juanita C. Foy, Yonkers, New York; Linda M. Grigsby, Warren, Ohio; Sharon E. Hardiman, Kansas City, Kansas; Patricia Harris, Detroit, Mich.; Margaret R. Hayden, Nashville, Tenn.; Freda P. Isaacs, Cincinnati, Ohio; Adrian O. Jackson, Atlanta, Ga.; Bettye A. James, Murfreesboro, Tenn.; Marian P. Kelly, Norwalk, Conn.; Carolyn J. King, Waycross, Ga.; Marilyn Y. Livisay, Princeton, W. Va.; Andrea D. Mast, Houston, Texas; Shirley A. Matthews, San Francisco, Calif.; Constance M. Mitchell, Dallas, Texas; Jean M. Rollins, Warrensville Heights, Ohio;

Monica S. Lloan, New Orleans, La.; Dorinda M. Smith, New Haven, Conn.; Sondra L. Stevens, Evanston, Ill.; Freda K. Thompson, New Rochelle, N.Y.; Cleo A. Walker, New Haven, Conn.; Andrea E. Williams, Wilmington, Del.; and Betty J. Williams, Cinlinnati, Ohio.

FOREIGN COUNTRIES

B.S.

Kate N. Aseme, Nigeria, West Afrira; Yvonne A. Hodge, St. Johns, Virgin Islands; Patricia M. Piggott, Republir of Panama; Lily and Wei Lie So, Indonesia.

A.B.

Thelma A. Morgan, Sierra Leone, West Africa and Tagiilma Muasau, American Samoa.

Record Class

126 Get Degrees At Bennett College

BY DOUGLAS M. YOUNG
Daily News Staff Writer

The sound of a single bell outside Pfeiffer Chapel signaled the beginning of the final hour on the campus for 126 graduating seniors at Bennett College Monday morning.

The small, stately chapel was jammed as the largest graduating class in the history of the all-girl institution marched to Mendelssohn in columns of two into the chapel for the last time.

After the invocation by the Rev. John A. Middleton, president of Morris Brown College, Atlanta, Ga., the Bennett College choir presented a moving rendition of the "Hallelujah" anthem from "The Mount of Olives" by Beethoven.

The music set the tone for the address of Dr. Arnold J. Zurcher, executive director of the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation of New York, who told the graduates that human relations always depend on conscience and religion, never on science and technology.

* * *

DR. ZURCHER, a former teacher, said that many would like to turn to science and technology to solve the problems.

"It is science and technology, they say, that will open the doors to economic opportunity for the disadvantaged and oppressed in all countries," Dr. Zurcher said.

But Dr. Zurcher looked back into recent history and told the graduates that this had not been the case. He pointed to the scientific and technological advancements in Germany in the thirties which failed to serve the cause of equality for six million Jews. He pointed to pre-World War II Japan, then the most powerful nation in Asia.

"The one thing the Japanese did not do was to democratize their system of government," Dr. Zurcher said.

"Equality and social decency are the products of will," he said, "both those of the minority and the majority who translate that will into action."

Dr. Zurcher said the 1964 Civil Rights Act was an example of translating that "will into action."

The Sloan Foundation director said the same set of principles applied to education.

* * *

"THE FACILITIES are available," he said, "yet we still produce students who are uneducated and not knowledgeable. Education requires a willingness to dedicate one's self."

One of the final acts in the Bennett graduation exercises was the tradition, which began last year, of the presentation of flags to the college by graduating foreign students.

Presenting new flags from the graduating class of 1966 were Tagiilima Lino Gala Muasau of American Samoa, Yvonne Adele Hodge of St. John, Virgin Islands, and Wei Lei So of Sumatra, Indonesia.

Bennett now has 20 graduates from 16 different countries.

PREXY — Dr. Isaac H. Miller Jr., newly elected president of Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C.

Miss Parham Among 30 To Get Grants

GREENSBORO -- Miss Jacqueline Parham, of Washington, N. C., a rising senior at Bennett College, has been notified that she is one of 30 students who have been awarded Association of American Geographers fellowships to attend a summer institute in geography at Clark University, Worchester, Mass., June 13-August 5.

The institute is co-sponsored by the association and Clark and is supported by the National Science Foundation. All expenses are paid, in addition to a travel allowance and a stipend of $60 a week. Miss Parham, valedictorian of her high school class, plans to teach geography in the elementary schools.

MISS GROTON

GRADUATES FROM BENNETT COLLEGE

MISS TERESA I. GROTON received her B.A. Degree in Elementary Education, June 6 from Bennett College, Greensboro. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Groton, 606 Dunbar Street, she is presently employed in the Pitt County School System, Greenville.

Civil Rights Law Is 'Right,' Bennett Speaker Tells Students

BY DOROTHY BENJAMIN
Record Staff Writer

"We enacted the civil rights law because it was right, not because we could afford it, "Dr. Arnold J. Zurcher, executive director of the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, New York City, told Bennett College graduates today.

Dr. Zurcher pointed out that technological know-how and material wealth do not necessarily make a country just to its minority groups and cited Germany in the 1930's as a prime example.

"In the days that lie ahead, when civil rights become more deeply ensconced, we should remind ourselves that equality and social decency are the products of will, both those of the minority and the majority who translate that will into action. . . . If we want an 'open society' our primary allegiance must be to those who believe in it and practice it," he said.

Dr. Zurcher reminded the graduating seniors that educational achievement "is no more automatic than the achievement of a just society" and it is a very personal achievement. He said there are no alternatives to discipline and self-sacrifice of time and effort in achieving an education because, without them, the best equipment and facilities are no good.

Dr. Chauncy G. Winston, acting president of the college, conducted the 93rd commencement exercises in Pfeiffer Chapel at 10:30 a.m.

Graduating seniors who presented flags from their native lands were Tagiilima Lina Gala Muasau of American Samoa, Yvonne Adele Hodge of St. John, Virgin Islands, and Wei Lei So of Sumatra, Indonesia.

Special awards and scholarships were presented to:

Juanita Dula of Lenoir, Goode Prize for Home Economics; Betty Jean Jackson of Easley, S. C., Omicron Eta Chi Award; Mary D. Jacobs of Mebane, Proctor-Gamble Award in Home Economics and the George M. Bell Scholarship; Aretha Butler of Eastover, S. C., Faculty Scholarship Award; Ida Pinnix of Martinsville, Va., Cressie Thomas Havens Scholarship; Sarah Wiley of McLeansville, Florence Turverey Reeves Award, and Patricia Falson of New Bern, Catherine Hughes Waddell Scholarship.

The invocation was given by Rev. John A. Middleton, president of Morris Brown College, Atlanta, Ga., and the benediction was given by Rev. James C. Peters of St. Mathews Methodist Church here. Mrs. Mary Jane Crawford directed the college choir in singing the "Hallelujah" from "The Mount of Olives" by Beethoven and organ music was provided by Miss Charlotte Alston.

Bishop James S. Thomas of Des Moines, head of the Iowa area of the Methidst Church, gave the baccalaureate sermon at 4 p.m. yesterday in the chapel.

There were about 90 candidates for bachelor of arts degrees and about 29 for bachelor of science degrees.

PROCEEDING ACADEMICALLY: Dr. Arnold J. Zurcher, executive director of the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, New York City, walks a few steps of Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, acting president of Bennett College, today during the academic procession before the 93rd annual commencement speaker. Friends and relatives loaded down with cameras jammed the campus for the final activities of this school year. Staff photo.)

Training Course For Head Start Opens Tuesday

An eight-week Head Start training course for 25 persons, made possible by a grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity, gets under way at Bennett College on Tuesday and ends August 28.

Miss Mary Ann Rogers, assistant director of teacher education at the college, will be in charge of the program, teaching sociology and child development courses. Assisting her will be Mrs. Elsie D. Love, kindergarten teacher at Grimsley High School, and Dr. Adrian Solomon, director of psychological services at Bennett.

The following persons will serve as consultants: Dr. Sarah Morrow, assistant director of the Guilford County Health Department, health; Mrs. Frances Corbett, home economist with the Guilford County Welfare Department nutrition; L. M. Thompson, director of the Guilford County Welfare Department, social services, and Dr. T. H. Dennard who will be assisted by two public health nurses.

Bennett College News

A class of 126—largest in the history of Bennett College— received degrees at the 93rd commencement exercises held on Monday.

Ninety-five received the A. B. degree and 31, the B. S. There were 22 states and five foreign countries represented, namely, Africa, American Samoa, Indonesia, Panama and the Virgin Islands. North Carolina led the states with 38, followed by South Carolina with 12 and Virginia with eight. There were two from California this year.

The Bennett College Choir presented its annual spring concert on Saturday night with Miss Diamia Croslin, '59, of Charlotte, a former member, as guest artist.

Directed by Mrs. Mary J. Crawford and with Miss Charlotte Alston at the organ, the group sang early and contemporary sacred music and a number of traditional spirituals. Several secular numbers were sung by the Bennett Ensemble.

Piano accompanists were Misses Freya Lineberger, of Gastonia and Eloise Franklin, of Augusta, Ga.

Miss Jacueline Parham, of Washington, (N. C.), a rising senior at Bennett College, has been notified that she is one of 30 students who have been awarded Association of American Geographers fellowships to attend a summer institute in geography at Clark University, Worcester, Mass., June 13-August 5.

The institute is co-sponsored by the association and Clark and is supported by the National Science Foundation. All expenses are paid, in addition to a travel allowance and a stipend of $60 a week. Miss Parham, valedictorian of her high school class, plans to teach geography in the elementary schools.

Church Opens Meeting

The North Carolina-Virginia Annual Conference, Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church, began a five-day session Wednesday on the campus of Bennett College.

Chief topic for the conference, which will run through Sunday, will be the discussion of the merger of the all-Negro Central District with the all-white Southeastern Jurisdiction.

A general conference of Methodist leaders voted in 1964 for the complete merger of the groups by 1968.

A discussion of international topics also is expected to take place at the conference on such issues as Red China, the Viet Nam war and the civil rights movement.

Bishop Charles F. Golden of the Nashville-Carolina Area, of which the Central Jurisdiction is a member, will preside at the sessions and will also preach the Sunday morning sermon scheduled for 11 a.m.

Geographers Fellowship

Miss Jacqueline Parham, of Washington, D. C., a rising senior at Bennett College, has been notified that she is one of 30 students who have been awarded Association of American Geographers fellowships to attend a summer institute in geography at Clark University, Worcester, Mass., June 13-August 5.

The institute is co-sponsored by the association and Clark and is supported by the National Science Foundation.

Dr. Isaac Miller Named New President of Bennett College

NEW YORK, N. C.—The appointment of Dr. Isaac H. Miller, Jr. as the new president of Bennett College was announced last week by Dr. F. D. Patterson, chairman of the board of Bennett College.

Dr. Miller, who will assume office on September 1, is an associate professor of biochemistry at the Agricultural and Technical College of North Carolina. He is also a Council Member, Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, and has served as a research scientist at the Institute.

In announcing the selection of the new president, Dr. Patterson declared: "We are convinced that the appointment of this distinguished nuclear scist and experienced teacher will enhance educational standards at Bennett and contribute to the further acquisition of a highly qualified faculty.

"For the first time in the College's 93-year history," Dr. Patterson added, "Bennett faculty members worked closely with the institution's governing board in establishing criteria for the selection of a new president. Dr. Miller's appointment therefore opens up a challenging era of cooperative action directed at the best interests of the student body and the community-at-large."

Bennett College, founded in 1873, is one of the 33 colleges and universities affiliated with the United Negro College Fund. The Fund's 1966 appeal will assist the institution in its efforts to expand faculty and to provide scholarship and other financial aid to more than half of the students attending the College.

MILLER

PROSPECTIVE GRADS—Some of the North Carolina seniors at Bennett College who are scheduled to receive degrees at commencement exercises on June 6 at the Greensboro institution.

SONGFEST WINNERS - Residents of Merner Hall who won first place in inter-dormitory sing at Bennett College last week are shown with Mrs. Estelle Eaton (fourth from left in rear) their dormitory director after receiving trophies for their efforts.

Negro Methodists Study Merger Plan Conditions

BY DOROTHY BENJAMIN
Record Staff Writer
(Another story on Page B8)

"Thou shall open thy hand wide to thy brother," intoned Bishop Charles F. Golden at Bennett College today as Negro Methodists prepared to discuss a merger with their white brothers who are meeting at Lake Junaluska this week.

Both groups, the Western North Carolina Conference (white) and the North Carolina-Virginia Annual Conference of the Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church (Negro), will consider and vote on resolutions which could effect a merger of the two groups.

In an interview after the morning communion service, Bishop Golden of the Nashville-Carolina area said he had no doubt that the conference delegates would vote for transfer and merger-but "the conditions might be different" from those voted on by the white Methodists.

"The Central Jurisdiction conferences are concerned with the dates for transfer and merger, lest they be caught indefinitely with a Negro annual conference which would cause more difficulties and many problems. It would make for racial inclusiveness," Bishop Golden said.

Since the conference being held at Bennett includes churches in North Carolina and Virginia and the conference being held at Junaluska includes only those white churches in the western conference of North Carolina there are additional problems to be considered.

If the Western North Carolina Conference takes in Negro churches in its area which now are in the Central Jurisdiction but, if for some reason, the other white conferences do not act on merger some Negro churches in the state would be merged, and others would not.

"Our conference covers three different annual (white) conferences and each is concerned only with the churches within its own territory. The North Carolina Conference will meet this month and on June 27 in Atlanta the three advisory conferences, Central, Southeastern and South Central, will meet to try to come up with common resolutions on which all can agree. If they agree all the conferences will hold adjourned sessions before the next annual conference to vote on resolutions that might lead to any merger or transfer," Bishop Golden said.

The resolutions dealing with merger and transfer are expected to be presented tomorrow afternoon during the third day of the second session of the North Carolina-Virginia Annual Conference.

Elimination of the Central Jurisdiction and merger of the Negro and white Methodist groups, as ordered by the 1964 General Conference of the Methodist Church, is to be accomplished in two steps. The first is an invitation to the annual conferences of the Central Jurisdiction, such as the one meeting here, to transfer into the Southeastern Jurisdiction (an all-white geographical jurisdiction) merging but remaining segregated.

The second step is an invitation of the annual Negro conferences within the bounds of the Southeastern Jurisdiction to merge into the conferences of the Southeastern Jurisdiction, thus becoming an integrated and geographical section of the Methodist Church.

It is obvious from Bishop Golden's remarks that he and other members of the North Carolina - Virginia Conference do not want to stop on the first step but are anxious to get to step two.

Bishop Golden celebrated Holy Communion this morning and the message was delivered by his predecessor, Bishop Edgar A. Love of Baltimore.

The afternoon session was devoted to reports of the board of ministerial training and qualifications, the committee on conference relations, the inter-conference committee, board of educations and an address by Charles W. Phillips, Guilford County representative to the N. C. General Assembly and a prominent Methodist lay leader.

The approximately 300 delegates will have another business session tomorrow. Saturday will be devoted to business, sermons, ordinational and retirement service. The session will close about noon Sunday with the worship service at which Bishop Golden will deliver the message.

FLOWERS FOR THE FAIR---Miss Theresa Hall, rising senior, of Washington, D.C., admires spring blossoms on Bennett College campus just before seasonal cold snap killed them off.

Approval Is Expected

Negro Methodists To Vote On Unity Proposals Today

Merger Proposal Adopted By Western N.C. Conference. A-7.

Delegates to the all-Negro North Carolina-Virginia Annual Conference of the Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church, meeting here, are expected to vote today for merger with the all-white Western North Carolina Conference.

The merger proposal is expected to come up at today's business session at 3:15 p.m. The conference is being held at Bennett College.

Bishop Charles F. Golden of the Nashville-Carolina area said Thursday he expected the conference delegates would vote for transfer and merger of the Negro church with the all-white Western North Carolina Conference, which is meeting at Lake Junaluska this week.

The 1964 General Conference of the Methodist Church voted for the merger of the Central Jurisdiction with the all-white Southeastern Jurisdiction by 1968.

The Negro conference meeting here includes churches both in North Carolina and Virginia. The Western North Carolina Conference includes only those white churches in the western half of the state.

Because of the disparity, Bishop Golden said, "the conditions of merger for the Negro church body might be different from those voted on by the white Methodists."

Dr. Harry Denman will give the convention address tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Charles W. Phillips, member of the State House from Guilford County, spoke Thursday afternoon. Phillips is a lay leader of the Conference.

Science Institute

Around 250 talented high school boys and girls from across the nation are gathered at Bennett College for the opening Monday of the eighth annual Summer Science Institute and the Humanities Summer School.

Carolina-Virginia Meeting

Negro Methodists Approve Integration Of Conferences

BY ROBERT M. AUMAN
Daily News Staff Writer

Delegates to the all-Negro North Carolina-Virginia Annual Conference of the Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church overwhelmingly approved Friday the "transfer and ultimate merger" of the conference with the three other conferences in the Southeastern Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church.

The delegates meeting in Pfeiffer chapel at Bennett College passed the resolution calling for a "truly racially inclusive" Methodist Church by a vote of 117 to 11. One delegate was recorded as abstaining, and a number of delegates did not vote.

A LONG DEBATE followed among the delegates after the resolution was read by Richard C. Erwin, Methodist layman and lawyer from Winston-Salem.

Opponents to the resolution called it a "piecemeal" effort of the Central Jurisdiction.

The Rev. Charles F. Golden, president and resident bishop of the conference, presided at the business session.

THE DELEGATES applauded frequently during the session

Bishop Golden maintained a neutral position in the matter, but said after the vote had been taken that he felt the resolution left much to be desired.

"Don't be disappointed if your position isn't implemented tomorrow," he cautioned the delegates, reminding them that the merger would not be effective until two-thirds of the annual conferences in the Central and Southeastern juridictions had approved the resolution.

If all of the annual conferences of the Central and Southeastern jurisdictions of the Methodist Church approve the resolution by a two-thirds vote, then the Western North Carolina, the North Carolina, the Virginia and the North Carolina-Virginia annual conferences would be integrated.

The North Carolina-Virginia Conference would become part of the Southeastern Jurisdiction, and the Central Jurisdiction would be eliminated.

The integration of the conferences would not affect immediately local churches.

DAVID S. COLTRANE of Raleigh, chairman of the Governor's Good Neighbor Council, attended the session in his capacity as chairman of the Commission on Inter-Jurisdictional Relations of the North Carolina Conference. Coltrane called the action Friday "a very forward step."

The Western North Carolina Methodist Conference approved Thursday the resolution to set in motion the elimination of the Central Jurisdiction. The delegates in their annual meeting at Lake Junaluska passed the resolution by a vote of 729 to 62.

The North Carolina and the Virginia conferences still must approve the resolution. The North Carolina Methodist Conference includes the eastern part of the state.

If the conferences have not evidenced good faith in the dissolution by September, 1967, then the General Conference of the national Methodist church will direct that a plan be drawn up to abolish the Central Jurisdiction.

Bennett College 6/10/66 Commencement Speaker

"Whatever wealth may do to assist us in realizing decent human relations, such relations have always rested ultimately on conscience and religion and not on scientific knowledge or economics," Dr. Arnold J. Zurcher declared in his commencement address at Bennett College on Monday.

Speaking to a capacity audience in Pfeiffer Chapel and to the overflow in the adjoining Little Theatre where the proceedings could be viewed on two closed-circuit television screens, Dr. Zurcher, executive director of the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation of New York, took as his theme: "The Moral Factor in Social Improvement."

"We enacted the Civil Rights Law because it was right, not because we could afford it," he declared. "We passed the law because it was a matter of conscience. Unless there exists, in a society, the will to maintain the ideal of human dignity and equality, such ideals will not be honored whether the nation is poor or wealthy."

Dr. Zurcher then cited the cases of Germany and Japan, both of which "became highly sophiscated in a scientific and technical sense", but which turned their knowledge and wealth "into a conspiracy against the world."

"Germany," he said, "became a synonym of a denial of equality and human decency in the treatment of her Jewish and other minorities. Japan did little to overcome the feudal repression and status that characterized the bulk of her population. The one thing that pre-war Japan did not do was to democratize her society and use some of the advantages of her material progress to overcome social inequities."

If America wants an open society, its primary allegiance must always be to those who believe in such values and who preach and practice them, the speaker explained. He further pointed out that the "will to achieve" is also of paramount importance in the attainment of an education.

"Let me remind you," he stated, "that there is nothing automatic about educational achievement by the individual, or that it comes about because the environment is favorable. We can have the best plant in the world, the most renowned teachers, the finest building and all the gadgetry with which the progressives in educational theory are so much concerned; and we can still produce an uneducated and unmotivated student."

That there are no alternatives to hard work, a willingness for self-discipline and sacrifice if a person is to become truly educated was also stressed by Dr. Zurcher. He urged the graduating seniors to use their talents and training to develop the moral quality of leadership which society so urgently needs.

Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, acting president, who awarded degrees to 119 seniors—largest class in the history of the college—in his charge to the class, reminded them that they have just completed one phase of their careers. "We have tried to make you become aware of the many opportunities for service to humanity," he said.

Many North Carolinians Among 126 Bennett Grads

GREENSBORO -- A class of 126 -- largest in the history of Bennett College -- received degrees at the 93rd commencement exercises held on Monday.

Ninety-five received the A. B. degree and 31, the B. S. There were 22 states and five foreign countries represented, namely, Africa, American Samoa, Indonesia, Panama and the Virgin Islands. North Carolina led the states with 38, followed by South Carolina with 12 and Virginia with eight. There were two from California this year.

The list of North Carolina graduates follows:

B. S.

Ada Chestnut, Clinton; Jerryline Elliott, Whiteville; Willa Foster, Charlotte; Marlene Hardin, Charlotte; Mary Holder, Middlesex; Amanda Houston, Kinston; Shirley Jackson, Parkton; Delois Lowrance, Winston-Salem; Zelma Moore, Clarkton; Edna Rich, Raleigh; Jennie Wright, Landis and Seleah Wyche, Henderson.

A. B.

Mamie Anderson, Whiteville; Nancy Ball, Bryson City; Cheryl Bright, Washington; Delphine Coward, Durham; Jacqueline Croom, Kinston; Doris Forney, Hickory; Teresa Groton, Durham; Madaline Harris, Sanford; Gail Hickerson, Lenoir; Bettye Hill, Greensboro.

Patricia Hooper, Greensboro; Doris Knotts, Lexington; Doris Martin, Reidsville; Faye McClain, Wilson; Winona McDowell, Charlotte; Jewel Merritt, Durham; Theresa Mobley, Hallsboro; Jackie Outterbridge, Greenville; Viola Owens, Asheville; Delores Parker, Oak City; Hattie Plummer, Manson.

Also, Ernestine Reddick, Kinston; Charlie Mae Roundtree, Southern Pines; Barbara Turner, Raleigh; Genevieve Williams, Greensboro, and Katherine Williams, Tarboro.

By Methodists

Racially Inclusive Church Is Studied

BY DOROTHY BENJAMIN
Record Staff Writer

Resolutions calling for a "truly racially inclusive" Methodist Church were under consideration today by the approximately 300 delegates to the North Carolina-Virginia Annual Conference, Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church (Negro) meeting at Bennett College.

One resolution calls for the "transfer and ultimate merger" of the North Carolina-Virginia Annual Conference of the Methodist Church with the Virginia Annual Conference, the North Carolina Annual Conference and the Western North Carolina Annual Conference of the Southeastern Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church.

Yesterday the Western North Carolina Conference, meeting at Lake Junaluska, voted 729 to 62 to adopt a resolution which would set in motion the elimination of the Central Jurisdiction, the church's all-Negro division. While several conferences in the Southeastern Jurisdiction have adopted the resolution a number of others have yet to vote on the issue.

An order to eliminate the Central Jurisdiction as a racial division was adopted at the 1964 meeting of the General Conference, the governing board of the national Methodist Church. The two-step plan ordered by the General Conference was approved by delegates to the Western North Carolina Conference yesterday.

Under the plan the North North Carolina-Virginia conference would cease to exist as early as 1968 and the churches would become members of the presently all-white Western North Carolina, Eastern North Carolina and Virginia conferences.

Bishop Charles F. Golden, president and resident bishop of the North Carolina-Virginia Conference, said again today he expected the delegates to vote for transfer and merger but he did not know just what form the resolution or resolutions might take.

The first resolution under consideration specifies that after the North Carolina-Virginia Conference is transferred to the Southeastern Jurisdiction it will no longer continue to exist as a racially segregated conference.

Bishop Golden said Negroes feared a "transfer" without "merger" might mean a racially segregated division or conference within the Southeastern Jurisdiction.

The other resolution, under consideration today, is one prepared by the advisory council of the Southeastern Jurisdiction May 11.

It calls for an agreement "that any one or more of the annual conferences . . . may merge, at any time subsequent to transfer, with one or more other annual conferences in such manner or on such basis as will eliminate one or more racially segregated annual conferences provided that the details of merger shall be formulated by joint commissions of the conferences involved in the proposed mergers and approved by such conferences prior to merger, with due consideration to the redrawing of district boundaries, reorganization of boards and agencies, real and other properties, equal rights and status for all ministerial members, pensions and minimum salary."

MID-YEAR GRADS...Four of the seven Bennett College seniors who completed requirements for graduation at the close of the first semester are, left to right: Miss Thelma Morgan, Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa; Miss Mary Holder, of Middlesex, N.C.; Mrs. Sadie E. Goode, of Greensboro, and Miss Jackie Outterbridge, of Greenville, N.C.

AREA GRADUATES---Seniors from Maryland, Delaware, Virginia and the District of Columbia who received degrees from Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., recently are, left to right: Misses Seporia Holland, of Richmond, Va. Delores Comer, Richmond, Va.; Elnora Harris, of Baltimore, Md.; Alice Williams, of Richmond, Va.; Eva Rice, of Washington, D.C.; Bernadine Harris, of Roanoke, Va.; Andrea Williams, of Wilmington, Del.; Charlotte Tenbrook of Newport News, Va.; Victoria Hillman, of Washington, D.C., and Mrs. Carolyn M. Mckie of Salisbury, Md.

Bennett College News

BENNETT STUDENTS MAKE FIELD TRIP TO RALEIGH

Field trips to Raleigh were made last week by students enrolled in the Summer Science Institute and the Humanities Summer School.

The first group toured the Nuclear Reactor Project and the latter group toured the State Legislative Building and the North Carolina Museum of Art. The science group will also visit the Computer Center in Chapel Hill on July 19.

BENNETT

Norman Licht, director of programed learning at Bennett College, has been invited to deliver a paper—"How to Use Programed Learning Laboratories for Teachers and Provide Rewards Relating to Accomplishment"—before a session of the American Management Association in New York City, August 9-12.

BENNETT

Mrs. Charlotte J. Barnes, of Greensboro, began her duties last week as director of alumnae affairs and placement at Bennett College.

A Bennett graduate, who at one time was assistant director of co-curricular activities at the college, she succeeds Mrs. Ernestine H. Gray, who resigned upon the return of her husband from Viet Nam last month for reassignment in the United States.

FASHION WINNERS---Adjudged to have shown the most creativity in a fashion show at Bennett College recently was Miss Ernestine Mitchell, (third from left), senior, of Washington, D.C. To her right is Miss Barbara Gadsden, junior, of Mount Pleasant, S.C., forward first winnner & to her left is Miss Janet Jenkins, also a junior, of Camden, N.C., second award winner. Others in photo, left to right, winning honorable mention are Misses Gloria Taylor, freshman, of Rowland, N.C.; Sandra Daye, junior, of Magainze, Ala., and Doris Evans, freshman of Greensboro.

On Sunday, Bishop James S. Thomas, of Des Moines, Iowa, in his baccalaureate address stressed the need for building bridges across the chasms that separate men today.

"We need a bridge between intellectualism and non-intellectualism," he said, "one between critical analysis and creative solutions and finally, a bridge of faith growing out of a love of God."

New Bennett Scholarship

Members of the Bennett College Graduate Association have established a $500 scholarship to be awarded to a selected rising senior each spring.

The graduates further voted to use an additional $1,000 of their annual Loyalty Fund contribution for the purchase of another mutual funds saving certificate each year, looking torward quicker realization of their goal of a $100,000 annual endowment program to assist the college in its bugetary needs.

A new membership committee was also named to encourage further alumnae participation in the association and in other programs of the college that involve and concern alumnae.

BENNETT COLLEGE COED TO ATTEND SUMMER INSTITUTE

GREENSBORO—Miss Jacqueline Parham, of Washington, N. C. rising senior at Bennett College, has been notified that she is one of 30 students who have been awarded Association of American Geographers fellowships to attend a summer institute in geography at Clark University, Worcester, Mass., June 13-August 5.

The institute is co-sponsored by the association and Clark and is supported by the National Science Foundation All expenses are paid, in addition to a travel allowance and a stipend of $60 a week. Miss Parham, valedictorian of her high school class, plans to teach geography in the elementary schools.

MID-WESTERN GRADS---Receiving degrees from Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C. recently were: left to right, front row -- Misses Rosetta Hayden, of Nashville, Tenn.; Freda Isaacs, of Cincinnati, Ohio; Sandra Stevens, of Evanston, Ill., and Betty Williams, of Cincinnati, Ohio; back row - Jean Rollins, of Warrensville Heights, Ohio; Bettye James of Murfreesboro, Tenn.; Patricia Harris, of Detroit, Mich., and Mary Douglas also of Detroit.

Methodists Turn Study To Reports

Reports today occupied delegates to the second session of North Carolina-Virginia Annual Conference of the Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church, in the fourth day of a five-day conference at Bennett College.

At the 9 a.m. business session, reports of several boards, commissions and committees were heard. Ministers' wives report, report of the board of pensions and completion of conference business were scheduled for 10 a.m.

Rev. Kenneth E. Frazier delivered the noon sermon. Ordination and retirement service was held at 2 p.m. A dinner was set for 5:30 p.m.

A conference fellowship for ministers' wives, with Mrs. J. David Kelly, president, presiding, will be held at 7 p.m.

Yesterday the "transfer and ultimate merger" of all-Negro North Carolina-Virginia Methodist Conference with the church's all-white Southeastern Jurisdiction was approved overwhelmingly by the conference.

The vote was 117 to 11, with a number of delegates not voting. Opponents of the proposal called it a "piecemeal" effort to integrate the church's administrative districts.

The North Carolina-Virginia Conference presently is a member of the all-Negro Central Conference, which is to be absorbed by the all-white or predominantly-white conferences of the church.

Two thirds of the annual conferences in the Central and Southeastern Jurisdictions must approve the merger steps before they become effective.

The Western North Carolina Methodist Conference, meeting this week at Lake Junaluska, approved the first merger step. The Eastern North Carolina Methodist Conference will consider the proposal at its meeting in Rocky Mount next week.

Bennett graduates urged to build moral leadership

GREENSBORO, N.C. — "Whatever wealth may do to assist us in realizing decent human relations, such relations have always rested ultimately on conscience and religion and not on scientific knowledge or economics," Dr. Arnold J. Zurcher declared in his commencement address at Bennett College, on Monday, June 6.

Speaking to a capacity audience in Pfeiffer Chapel and the adjoining Little Theatre where the proceedings were viewed by closed-circuit television, Dr. Zurcher, executive director of the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation of New York City, took as his theme: "The Moral Factor in Social Improvement."

• • •

IF AMERCA wants an open society, its primary allegiance must always be to those who believe in and practice the ideals of human dignity and equality, the speaker explained.

Pointing out that the "will to achieve" is most important in attaining an education, he urged the students to use these talents and training to develop the moral quality of leadership in the society.

• • •

DR. CHAUNCEY G. WINSTON, acting president, who awarded degrees to the 119 seniors in the largest class in the history of the college, reminded them that they have just completed one phase of their careers. "We have tried to make you become aware of the many opportunities for service to humanity," he said.

On Sunday, Bishop James S. Thomas, of Des Moines, Iowa, in his baccalaureate address stressed the need for building bridges across the chasms that separate men today. "We need a bridge between intellectualism and non-intellectualism, between critical analysis and creative solutions and finally, a bridge of faith growing out of a love of God," he concluded.

FASHION WINNERS - Adjudged to have shown the most creativity in last week's fashion show at Bennett College was Miss Ernestine Mitchell, (third from left), senior, of Washington, D. C. To her right is Miss Barbara Gadsden, junior, of Mount Pleasant, S. C., first award winner and to her left is Miss Janet Jenkins, also a junior, of Camden, N. J., second winner. Others in photo, left to right, winning honorable mention are Misses Gloria Taylor, freshman, of Rowland, Sandra Dove, junior, of Magazine, Ala., and Doris Evans, freshman, of Greensboro.

Local Girl Gets Master's Degree

Miss Helen G. Knight, daughter of Mrs. Emma Knight of 507 Ross Avenue, was awarded the master's degree in Social Work from Atlanta University on May 30.

Miss Knight is a 1964 graduate of Bennett College, where she was a member of Phi Gamma Mu National Honor Society. In September she will join the New York City Welfare Department as a social worker.

GETS SCHOLARSHIP

Viola Owens, of Asheville, a 1966 Bennett College graduate in English and drama, has been awarded a $2,800 scholarship to Smith College, Northampton, Mass., for study toward the MA degree in the teaching of English. She is a graduate of Stephens-Lee High School.

BENNETT COMMENCEMENT - Faculty members applaud graduates as they leave Pfeiffer Chapel after receiving their degrees at Bennett College on Monday. There were 119 in the class -- largest in college's history.

Bennett alumni attend reunion

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Contributions of 6,500 for the Loyalty Fund were reported by graduates at the All-Bennett luncheon held Saturday in the college dining center.

The Greensboro chapter, with 3.64 topped all contributors, the next closest being the Washington, D.C. chapter with $1,037. Gifts from individuals amounted to $604.

Honor class this year was the class of 1941, with Dr. Dorothy Brown, of Nashville, Tenn., serving as presiding officer. Other classes in reunion were 1936, 1946, 1951, 1952 and 1961.

• • •

A HIGHLIGHT of the luncheon came when Dr. Rose Karfiol, professor of economics, who retires this year, was presented an honorary membership in the national association by Miss Mary A. Rogers, retiring president, of Greensboro.

In their annual meeting which preceded the luncheon, the graduates elected Mrs. Maxine H. O'Kelley, '49, of Glen Raven, N.C., as their new president. All other officers were re-elected.

NASA MAN VISITS...David Woods, representative of NASA from Langley Field, Va., (second from right) who spoke during Science Emphasis Week at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., recently, is shown with his student-faculty hosts. Left to right: Miss Wei Lie So, president of Beta Kappa Chi; Samuel Byers, instructor in physics and mathematics; Miss Lela Hankins, instructor in biology and chairman of the observance; and Miss Beverly Neyland, vice president of the Science Seminar.

MEMBERS OF THE CLASS OF '41 held reunion on the 25th anniversary of their graduation from Bennett College in Greensboro, N. C., last week.

MRS. HATTIE MASON Amityville, N.Y. | MRS. GERTRUDE NUNNALLY Reidsville, N.C. | MRS. PAULINE FOSTER Greensboro, N.C. | MISS DUDONNA TATE Washington, D.C. | MRS. IRIS W. OFFICER Winston-Salem | DR. DOROTHY BROWN Nashville, Tenn. | MISS CLARETTA RICE Brooklyn, N.Y. | MRS. LUCILLE C. THOMAS Brooklyn, N.Y. | MRS. MELDA MARTIN Washington, D. C. | MRS. RUTH STEVENS Sarasota, Fla.

Wins Scholarship

Miss Aretha L. Butler, rising junior English major of Eostover, S. C., who has been awarded the $300 faculty scholarship for 1966-67 academic year at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C.

MRS. WILLIE J. LEE

Miss Martin Is Bride

LEAKSVILLE — Miss Jo Ann Martin of Washington and Leaksville, was married to Willie James Lee of Washington at 6 p.m. Saturday in St. John's Methodist Church.

The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wartefus Martin, received afterward at the church.

The bridegroom's guardians are Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Watson of Panama City, Fla.

The couple will live at 4910 Fort Totten Drive, N.E., in Washington, where Mr. Lee is a postal clerk. He is a graduate of Talladega College in Alabama, where he joined Omega Psi Phi Fraternity.

The bride graduated from Bennett College in Greensboro and received a masters degree in chemistry from Howard University in Washington. She is a biochemist in the Department of Agriculture in Beltsville, Md.

The bride had Miss Iris Jeffries of Washington for maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Johnson of Winston-Salem, and Miss Amelia Burgess of Washington.

The bridegroom had James E. Porter of Washington for best man. The bride's brother, William W. Martin, ushered with John W. Morton of Washington, and Jessie Manns.

Rising Senior At Bennett To Receive $500

GREENSBORO -- Members of the Bennett College Graduate Association have established a $500 scholarship to be awarded to a selected rising senior each spring.

The graduates further voted to use an additional $1,000 of their annual Loyalty Fund contribution for the purchase of another mutual funds saving certificate each year, looking toward quicker realization of their goal of a $100,000 annual endowment program to assist the college in its budgetary needs.

A new membership committee was also named to encourage further alumnae participation in the association and in other programs of the college that involve and concern alumnae.

Studying In Spain

Miss Sarah B. Wiley, a junior at Bennett College and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Wiley of Greensboro, N. C., is spending the summer in Europe under the auspices of the Piedmont University Spanish Study Tour Center.

Miss Wiley will spend four weeks studying at the University of Burgos at Burgos, Spain. After completing her term at the university she will spend four weeks touring the continent.

Miss Wiley is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Bridgett of Norfolk.

MISS SARAH B. WILEY

Parents meet at Bennett C.

GREENSBORO, N.C. — A panel discussion on "The Role of the Home in the Adjustment of the Bennett Student to Recent Curriculum and Social Change," featured the annual meeting of the National Council of Bennett Parents here, Sunday, June 5.

Panelists, all Bennett grad or present students, were: Mesdames Emma McAdoo, moderator; Blanche R. Raiford, Frances Enzlow and Zepplyn Humphrey, all of Greensboro.

Mrs. Bessie M. Nance, of Greensboro, president, opened the program and greetings from the faculty-staff were brought by Dr. Rose Karfiol, professor of economics, who retires this year.

• • •

REGISTERED FOR THE meeting were: Mrs. Blanche H. Kearney, Philadelphia, Penn.; Mrs. M. H. Davis, Henderson, N.C.; Mrs. Willie M. King, Waycross, Ga.; the Rev. and Mrs. G. M. Phelps, Mrs. Frances L. Enzlow, Mrs. E. E. Nance, Mrs. Zepplyn A Humphrey, and Mrs. E. M. McAdoo, all of Greensboro, N.C.;

Mrs. Jane Rice, Washington, D.C.; Mrs. Catherine P. Williams, Tarboro, N.C.; Mr. and Mrs. S. T Hardiman., Kansas City, Kansas; Mr. C. W. Kimble, Houston, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Smedley, Birmingham, Ala.; Mrs. Alexine A. Smith, Florence, S.C.; Mrs. Louzanne Holder, Middlesex, N.C.; Mrs. Maybell Stancil, Zebulon, N.C.;

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Jackson, Easley, S.C.; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Walker, Harrisburg, Pa.; Mrs. Irene Hardy Sloan, New Orleans, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Jerome V. Boyd, Henderson, N.C.; John W. Long, Cincinnati, Ohio; Wooden Hunte, Pasadena, Texas;

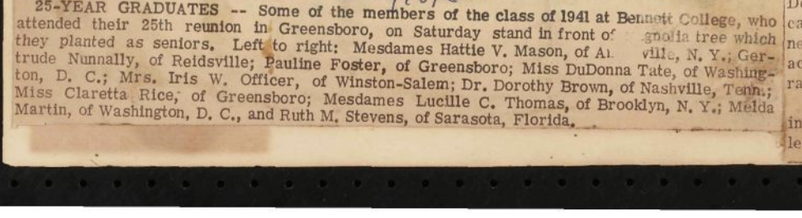

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Hayden, Nashville, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene C. Stallworth Brewton, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson, New Rochelle, N.Y.; and Mr. and Mrs. Myers Rollins, Cleveland, Ohio.

TRIO TO PLAY

The second in a series of cultural programs for students attending the Humanities School at Bennett College will be held tonight when the Faculty Trio from the University of North Carolina at Greensboro will play in Pfeiffer Chapel at 8 o'clock. Members are William Hilbrink, violinist; Arthur Hunkins, cellist and George Klorpes, pianist.

PARENTS' COUNCIL — Some of the members of the National Council of Bennett College Parents who attending last week gather in front of Pfeiffer Chapel after session.

25-YEAR GRADUATES -- Some of the members of the class of 1941 at Bennett College, who attended their 25th reunion in Greensboro, on Saturday stand in front of magnolia tree which they planted as seniors. Left to right: Mesdames Hattie V. Mason, of Amityville, N. Y.; Gertrude Nunnally, of Reidsville; Pauline Foster, of Greensboro; Miss DuDonna Tate, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Iris W. Officer, of Winston-Salem; Dr. Dorothy Brown, of Nashville, Tenn.; Miss Claretta Rice, of Greensboro; Mesdames Lucille C. Thomas, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Melda Martin, of Washington, D. C., and Ruth M. Stevens, of Sarasota, Florida.

Bennett College News

Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, acting president, who awarded degrees to 119 seniors—largest class in the history of the college—in his charge to the class, reminded them that they have just completed one phase of their careers. "We have tried to make you become aware of the many opportunities for service to humanity," he said.

Bishop James S. Thomas, of DesMoines, Iowa, in his baccalaureate address stressed the need for building bridges across the chasms that separate men today.

"We need a bridge between intellectualism and non-intellectualism," he said, "one between critical analysis and creative solutions and finally, a bridge of faith growing out of a love of God."

Contributions of $6,500 for the Loyalty Fund were reported by graduates at the All-Bennett luncheon held recently in the college dining center.

The Greensboro chapter, with $3,264 topped all contributors, the next closest being the Washington, D. C. chapter with $1,037. Gifts from individuals amounted to $604.

Honor class this year was the class of 1941, with Dr. Dorothy Brown, of Nashville, Tenn., serving as presiding officer. Other classes in reunion were 1936, 1946, 1951, 1956 and 1961.

A highlight of the luncheon came when Dr. Rose Karfiol, professor of economics, who retires this year, was presented an honorary membership in the national association by Miss Mary A. Rogers, retiring president, of Greensboro.

In their annual meeting which preceded the luncheon, the graduates elected Mrs. Maxine H. O'Kelley, '49, of Glen Raven, as their new president. All other officers were re-elected.

A panel discussion on "The Role of the Home in the Adjustment of the Bennett Student to Recent Curriculum and Social Change," featured the annual meeting of the National Council of Bennett Parents.

Panelists, all Bennett graduates and mothers of gradua or present students, we Mesdames Emma McAd moderator: Blanche R. Raiford, Frances Enzlow and Zepplyn Humphrey, all of Greensboro.

Mrs. Bessie M. Nance, of Greensboro, president, opened the program and greetings from the faculty-staff were brought by Dr. Rose Karfiol, professor of economics, who retires this year.