BENNETT COLLEGE PUBLICITY

May 1959 -
April 1962

MADE BY Burrelle's
ESTABLISHED 1888
BA 7-5371
PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU
165 CHURCH STREET
NEW YORK 7, N. Y

Student Activities Highlight Bennett College Campus

STUDY IN CONCENTRATION---Whatever Purnell Wooley was saying, he captured the undivided attention of these two young women at the College Party held at Bennett College. Smiling at left is Miss Eunice Alston, of Burlison, Tenn., while Miss Elishama Madison soberly ponders the significance of her escort's remark. Wooley is a senior at neighboring A & T College.

BENNETT BRIDAL SHOWER---Members of Omicron Eta Chi, home economics organization, who gave a surprise shower for Misses Anece Faison (standing left center) of Dudley, N. C. and Ruby Starks, of Troutman, N. C., both graduating seniors who have wedding dates this summer.

BALLOON GAZING---The balloon took the place of the crystal ball for this group at the College Party held at Bennett College. George Boykins, senior at A & T College, seems to be looking into it for some portent of what the future holds for Miss Leola Burton, sophomore, of Brooklyn, N. Y. Extra hand is from "outer space."

STUDENT GOVERNMENT HEADS---Shown clockwise at table at their first regular meeting are newly elected officers of the Student Senate at Bennett College. Left to right: Misses Linda Brown, parliamentarian, Akron, Ohio; Roslyn Smith, assistant secretary, Princeton, W. Va.; Mary Boone, secretary, Sanford, N. C.; Gloria Brown, president, Bronx, N. Y.; Gwendolyn Mackel, vice-president, Chicago, Ill. and Iris Jeffries, treasurer, Burlington, N. C.

MAY DAY ACTIVITY---Foreign students from Bennett College joined by foreign male students from neighboring A & T College who took part in the annual May Day festivities at Bennett College. The theme of this year's observance was "Around the World in 80 Minutes."

ON TOP COMMITTEE---Miss Laura (Frankie) Sawyer, a rising senior sociology major, of Salisbury, N. C. who was recently elected as student representative to the central administrative committee at Bennett College.

SENIOR DAY AT BENNETT---Members of the senior class at Bennett College accompanied by their "sophomore sisters" (carrying robes) march to Pfeiffer Chapel for a traditional robing ceremony which highlighted the senior day exercises. The seniors will wear this academic attire for all Sunday vesper services from now until commencement. Immediately behind marshall (left) is Miss Nannie Poole, of Baltimore, Md., class president.

Science Interest Increasing at Bennett College

Lab Experiment—Typical of the many students attending Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., and studying physical sciences and mathematics is Helen Brown, a junior, who is majoring in chemistry. She is shown performing a laboratory experiment.

GREENSBORO, N. C.—Indicative of its continuing emphasis on the physical sciences and mathematics is the recent grant to Bennett College of $40,570 by the National Science Foundation.

As a result of this grant, the college will be able to conduct a six-week training program for high school graduates and upperclass high school students from June 22 to July 31.

Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the science division and director of the program, pointed out that 11th and 12th grade students of high ability and special talent in the sciences and mathematics would be eligible, along with 1959 high school graduates, to participate in the program.

■

BECAUSE ENROLLMENT must necessarily be limited, interested students should make early application by writing to Dr. J. Henry Sayles, Director Summer Science Training Program, Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C.

Each student accepted will be granted travel expenses, room, board, tuition, fees, books and necessary materials and supplies.

During the past 10 years, there has been a marked increase in the number and percentage of Bennett students choosing the physical sciences and mathematics as their major study. Some of these persons have expressed the desire to teach in these fields, either on the secondary or college level. A considerable number, however, plan careers in medicine, dentistry, nursing and medical technology.

—more for your money in The Courier—

SCIARA insects produce families all of the same sex—male.

Two Greensboro Girls Graduate With High Honors At Bennett

Shown here are Misses Josephine Raiford, valedictorian and Barbara Campbell, editor of the Bennett Banner, both of Greensboro, N. C. wearing happy smiles following their graduation at Bennett College Monday.

Local Area Graduates Listed

Thirteen of the 83 member graduating class at Bennett College are from Greensboro and one from Guilford College, according to a list released by the registrar's office.

The class, which will hold its baccalaureate service Sunday at 4 p.m. with commencement Monday, includes 48 persons from North Carolina and six from neighboring South Carolina.

Dr. R. O'Hara Lanier of the Phelps-Stokes Fund, New York City, will preach the baccalaureate sermon at 4 p.m. Sunday in Pfeiffer Chapel and Monday at 10:30 a.m., Dr. Buell Gallagher, president of City College, New York, will deliver the commencement address. President Willa B. Player will confer degrees.

Graduates Listed

North Carolinians in the class are:

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE — Richetta L. Bell, Reidsville; Terrance A. Fagan, Plymouth; Anece D. Faison, Dudley; Honora L. Glover, Greensboro; Inez C. Jones, Lenoir; Rivers E. Millner, Draper; Barbara C. Partee, Salisbury; Josephine A. Raiford, Greensboro; Rosenell Spears, Winston-Salem; Ruby N. Starks, Troutman; and Mary J. Williams, Winston-Salem.

BACHELOR OF ARTS—Janet Allen, Spring Hope; Ida Bullock, Manson; Barbara B. Campbell, Greensboro; Clara Carter, Yadkinville; Jamesena Chalmers, Fayetteville; Barbara Davis, Greensboro; Diamia Grostin, Charlotte; Mrs. Iris Harper DeBerry, Winston-Salem; Rosalind Goodson, Clayton; Janie Graves, Greensboro; Shirley P. Haith, Greensboro; Mildred Hamlett, Semora.

Also, Emily Harris, Warrenton; Ruth Hawkins, Louisburg; Joyce Holmes, Goldsboro; Doris Jeffers, Greensboro; Gladys Jeffries, Guilford College; DeQuincy Johnson, Lenoir; Mary Knight, Greensboro; Carolyn Lowry, Greensboro; Carolyn Martin, Durham; Emma Lee Martin, Mount Olive; Geraldine McDade, Efland; Helen McEachern, Rowland; Gwendolyn McKee, Greensboro.

Also, Queen Murphy, Fayetteville; Mildred Plowden, Greensboro; Laura Rowe, Goldsboro; Hattie Sellers, Greensboro; Mary Shoffner, Greensboro; Ann F. Smith, Greensboro; Essie Smith, Timberlake; Mary L. Spivey, Windsor; Hazeline Taylor, Charlotte; Margaret Townes, Norlina; Robina Whitted, Hillsboro; Nancy Williams, Morganton.

Graduates from South Carolina are:

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE — Kay F. Hudson, Saint George; Nannie M. Hughes, Cheraw; Elizabeth B. Miller, Camden; BACHELOR OF ARTS — Ruby Ferguson, Easley; Gladys Graham, Florence.

Four members of the class are from Virginia: Misses Shirley Bennett, Bracey; Eleanor Fisher, Richmond; LaVerne Greene, Chatham and Anita Duckett, Roanoke.

Bennett Classes Slate Luncheon

Representatives from six graduating classes will be honored at the All-Bennett Luncheon to be held Saturday at 1 p.m. in the David D. Jones Student Union at Bennett College.

Honor classes this year are the classes of 1934, 1939, 1944, 1949, 1954 and 1958.

Dr. Virginia S. Nyabongo, '34, of Tennessee State University, Nashville, Tenn., will preside. Mrs. Julia Ross Flint, '39, of Cincinnati, Ohio, will present the reunion classes and Mrs. Fannie Lea Hunnant, class of '45, of Greensboro, president of the Bennett graduate association, will present the various graduate clubs which will report on alumni giving.

1959 BENNETT CLASS---Shown here are members of the class of 1959 at Bennett College, who are scheduled to receive degrees at the 86th commencement of the Greensboro, N. C., institution June 1, in Pfeiffer Chapel. President Willa B. Player will confer degrees.

NOBLE ADDRESSES STUDENTS

College is not a place where, for four years, students prepare for life, but a place for living a full life every day, Dr. Jeanne Noble of New York City told student leaders at Bennett College Sunday following their service of installation.

Dr. Noble, who in addition to being a guidance counselor at The City College is also national president of Delta Sigma Theta sorority, spoke on "For a Journey [illegible] Unknown."

She pointed out to the students who will head campus organizations for the 1959-60 academic year that one of the major complaints on many campuses is that of apathy but that she does not believe this to be the case at Bennett if her conversations with student leaders are indicative.

She further called attention to the fact that there is not one college with enough counselors. "While there are students who will avoid the responsibilities of leadership, they are still very much concerned about finding Meaningfulness in their individual lives."

Dr. Noble said: "I would like to leave with you four platitudes for a journey into the unknown, namely: live life today; act, rather than think your way to significance; remember that spiritual things are worthwhile.

BENNETT COLLEGE

A distinctive college for women

Greensboro, N. C.

A four-year, accredited Class "A" Liberal Arts College

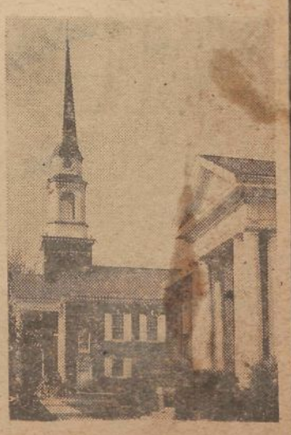
Holding Full Membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools
Exceptionally Well Qualified to Prepare Serious-minded
Students for Intelligent Living and Useful Careers

CURRICULUM

The Humanities . . . The Sciences (Biology, Chemistry, Mathematics)
The Social Sciences

Outstanding offerings include studies in the theatre arts, library science, secretarial science, medical secretarial and laboratory technology, teacher education, physical education, psychology, Russian, nursery school education, art, clothing and sociology.

Unique programs in pre-medical education, home economics



Bennett College stresses high standards of character, morality, scholarship. Individualized instruction enables each student to make maximum use of her abilities and special talents.

For additional information, write:

DIRECTOR OF ADMISSIONS, BENNETT COLLEGE, GREENSBORO, N. C.
OPENING DATE FOR FALL SEMESTER, SEPT. 9, 1959

PRESIDENT—SPEAKER—AND TWO VALEDICTORIANS
Dr. Willa Player, president of Bennett College, chats with Dr. Buell Gallagher just before degrees were given at the college yesterday. Dr. Gallagher, president of the City College of New York, was commencement speaker. Valedictorians were Jamesena Chalmers (in robe) of Fayetteville and Josephine Raiford of Greensboro.

(Daily News staff photo.)

Busy Twin City Native Directs National Race Relations Program

By LUIX OVERBEA
Staff Reporter

GREENSBORO—One of the nation's busy men, Dr. R. O'Hara Lanier, project director of the Phelps-Stokes Fund in New York City, spent a fast-moving 12 hours yesterday in his native state of North Carolina.

Of this half day, he had about 15 minutes to chat with his father, Atty James S. Lanier of 713 N. Chestnut Street in Winston-Salem. Dr. Lanier was in Greensboro to deliver the baccalaureate sermon at Bennett College.

During a brief interview he talked about his work with the Phelps-Stokes Fund and the influence of Winston-Salem on his life. A world-wide figure, he has served as president of Texas Southern University, acting president of Hampton Institute, U. S. ambassador to Liberia and in other distinguished positions.

DR. R. O'HARA LANIER
. . . native makes good . . .

Race Relations

As project director of the Phelps-Stokes Fund, Dr. Lanier plans to improve African-American relations and to promote good race relations in the South. Both purposes emphasize a better utilization of Negroes in these efforts.

Currently, the fund is working with North Carolina College and Shaw University and a group of high schools in this state to improve teaching of Negro children and better prepare them for college work. He explained:

"If we are going to be equal we shall have to do a better job in training youthful Negroes of today. This program is designed to coordinate the subjects taught in high school with the demands of college education."

During the summer the Phelps-Stokes Fund will take this effort one step further by taking high school graduates planning to enroll in college in September and placing them in Dillard University in New Orleans and in the colleges of the Atlanta University system in Atlanta.

"These young people will learn how to study, how to read and comprehend and how to diagnose mathematics. This summer effort, we believe, will better prepare them for real college work."

Dr. Aaron Brown is director of the North Carolina efforts and will lead the summer project.

Dr. Lanier, himself, is working directly with a program called "Identification and Placement of Negro Talent." This is a world wide effort to place Negroes in international positions, especially in Africa. It seeks to place them in foreign service, with foreign business firms and with foreign governments. It emphasizes needs of underdeveloped nations, encouraging Negroes to meet these needs.

Larger View

"It is time for Negroes to look at the world with a larger view," Dr. Lanier said. "They should broaden their horizons. They should feel kinship to Africa and make contributions to the development of Africa. Through this work they may provide service, make a good living and use the skills they have not had a chance to use in America."

Good race relations in the United States is vital to America's world position, he said. "When Negroes are used on the basis of ability rather than race, we shall have the answer to communism," he said. "When we act rather than talk, our world position will be strengthened."

Dr. Lanier hopes to work more with Negro colleges in the South to prepare their students for "new roles" in world affairs.

"My job is so fascinating I hardly have time to visit home," he said. He did not visit Winston-Salem yesterday because his father came to Greensboro to hear him speak.

Visits Rarely

The son gets to see his father only once or twice a year, usually while passing through Winston-Salem where he attended the old Depot Street School and Slater Academy, now Winston-Salem Teachers College.

"I remember the teachers who made me hustle. The easy ones I have forgotten. There is too great a tendency today to let children do as they please. This has now become license. Corporal punishment is not the answer, but order is needed. Someone must have authority.

Dr. Lanier plans to go to Africa this summer to find out what the needs of the independent nations are, then return home to find the persons to fill these needs. The Phelps-Stokes Fund, he said, has very little money of its own, but conducts its work with money supplied by other funds.

"My job," he said, "is to stimulate people to think, to prepare, to find jobs."

Nation's Hope Is Outlined By Speaker

BY WILLIAM R. WEAVER
Greensboro Daily News Staff Writer

America's great hope for a better, more peaceful world lies in its support and practice of the basic principles of democracy.

That was the message of Dr. Buell G. Gallagher, president of City College of New York, yesterday at the 88th commencement exercises at Bennett College.

Dr. Gallagher drew his conclusions from an exposition of history of 2,400 years ago by describing the government and peoples of two cities of widely different philosophies, Athens and Sparta.

Sparta, he said, was the prototype of the totalitarian state, wherein youth were trained for the military life from early childhood, where their only respect was for their superior officer. It was the original garrison state, which had the "original iron curtain."

Comparison Inescapable

His listeners found the comparison of Sparta with Russia and Athens with America inescapable.

Then, Dr. Gallagher discussed the Athenian state, where democracy made strangers welcome, commerce flourished and ideas were expressed freely. The Athenians, he stated, found their strength in commerce and "bound their allies with golden chains of gratitude."

Athens declined, Dr. Gallagher asserted, because she took on "the spirit of her adversary and expediency took the place of principle. Athens no longer went to the aid of her small allies." And Spartans conquered the Athenian state, which had developed "ethical dry rot."

Keep Freedom Alive

To keep its freedom and democrary alive, the government and people of the United States must "make no difference in freedom anywhere," he said.

Where welfare for the greatest and the least must be a concern, there must be "no bobtailed proletariat." Where democracy is strong, there must be equality and no "second-class citizens," he said.

Ethical integrity must be maintained in private life and public policy if democracy is to survive, he concluded.

Dr. Willa B. Player, Bennett president, charged the graduating class of 83 members to think straight, develop a great sympathy and understanding of people, learn to endure suffering and lead useful lives of service as their "holy task."

Choir Sings

The college choir was accompanied by Clarence E. Whiteman. Also participating were the Rev. Oscar H. Wyche of New Canaan, Conn., and the Rev. Edwin S. Harrison of Houston, Tex.

Valedictorians were Jamesena Chalmers of Fayetteville and Josephine Anne Raiford of Greensboro and the salutatorian was Queen Esther Murphy of Fayetteville. Miss Chalmers was awarded the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship for study at Syracuse University and Mary Jane Williams of Winston-Salem, the assistantship in chemistry at the University of Pittsburgh.

Other awards and recipients were—Belle Tobias Scholarship, Priscilla Rogers, Philadelphia; Lula Donnell Prize, Barbara Byrd, Greensboro; Class of 1921 Prize, Miss Williams; Irma Graham Prize, Miss Raiford; Goode Prize for Home Economics, Edith Tucker, Elkin; Omicron Eta Chi Award, Alma T. Pinnix, Reidsville; David D. Jones Leadership Award, Miss Murphy; Faculty Scholarship Award, Gloria Eugenia Brown, Bronx, N.Y.; Florence Turverey Reeves Award, Jacqueline B. Daise, Wilmington.

Outdoor Fashion Show Models

Shown here are some of the students in clothing and textiles at Bennett College who appeared in the annual outdoor fashion show last week. Left to right: Misses Delores Snellings, of Raleigh, N. C.; Margirie Wilson, Clinton, N. C.; Gladys Hemingway, Georgetown, S. C.; Edith Tucker, Elkin, N. C.; Doris Best, Goldsboro, N. C.; Barbara Freeman, Lawrenceville, Va.; Arneese Woods, Darlington, S. C., and LaRita Waters, Jacksonville, Fla.

Twin Citians Graduate At Bennett

By Luix Overbea
Staff Reporter

GREENSBORO — Expediency instead of principle will mean the failure of democracy and the success of communism, Dr. Buell Gallagher of New York declared yesterday as he addressed the 86th commencement of Bennett College at Pfeiffer Chapel.

Three Winston-Salem students were among the 83 women receiving bachelor of arts and bachelor of science degrees.

Comparing the world struggle between the United States for democracy and Russia for communism to the ancient conflict between Sparta and Athens, Dr. Gallagher, president of the City College of New York, said the United States will fall as did Athens if it loses its position as defender of right and freedom.

"Flaws in the Athens democracy caused that city to fall, he said. These flaws, he said, included slavery, loss of moral integrity and eventual loss of faith in democracy in favor of expediency.

Fruitless Victory

Sparta conquered, he said, but the victory was fruitless because Sparta had nothing to contribute to civilization. He explained:

"Sparta was powerless to replace, revise or even appreciate what it had conquered."

Dr. Gallagher listed four things the United States must do to avoid the fate of Athens:

—The free world must be a unit, maintained as a unit with no differences anywhere.

—There must be no bobtailed proletariat anywhere in the world

—Democracy must be strengthened through equality. There should be no second class citizens.

Principels Asked

—There must be no surrender of principle to expediency either in private life or public policy. Integrity is a vital part of democracy.

"We must glory in tribulations," Dr. Gallagher reasoned, "knowing that tribulations bring patience, and patience, experience, and experience hope."

Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett, presided and introduced the speaker. She also gave her final charge to the seniors to do straight thinking, to have great understanding and to live fruitful lives of service.

Music was by the choir with Clarence E. Whiteman at the organ. The Rev. Oscar H. Wyche of New Canaan, Conn., gave the invocation, The Rev. Edwin S. Harrison pronounced the benediction.

Winston-Salem graduates were Miss Rosenell Spears, daughter of Mrs. Olivia Spears, 1313 Alder Street, and Miss Mary Jane Williams, daughter of Mrs. Amy Penn, 2200 Doune Street, B.S. degrees, and Mrs. Iris Harper DeBerry, wife of Lacy DeBerry, 939 Mock Street, B.A. degree.

Other Graduates

Among other graduates were: Richetta L. Bell, Reidsville, Rivers E. Millner of Draper and Barbara C. Partee of Salisbury, B.S. degrees, and Nancy Williams of Morganton, B.A. degree.

Miss Williams was announced as winner of an assistantship in chemistry at the University of Pittburgh during the 1959 - 60 school year and winner of the Class of 1921 prize. She was one of the most active students on the campus.

A 1954 graduate of Atkins High School, Mrs. DeBerry majored in social science with a minor in history.

Miss Spears is a 1955 graduate of Atkins. Her major was biology, and her minor was mathematics. Her ambition is to become a biology instructor. At Bennett she was a member of the Photography Club, the Tom Mu Club and the YWCA.

Mrs. F. L. Hinnant Presents $1,000 Check To Bennett President

Mrs. Fannie Lea Hinnant, right, president of the National Bennett College Graduate Association, presents check for $1,000 to President Willa B. Player representing contribution of the Greensboro Chapter to the Loyalty Fund of the college.

Native of Twin City Speaks at Bennett

Special to the Journal

GREENSBORO—America must conquer its racial and economic problems if democracy is to overcome communism in the struggle for world supremacy, Dr. R. O'Hara Lanier of the Phelps-Stokes Fund in New York declared yesterday.

A native of Winston-Salem, Dr. Lanier preached the baccalaureate of Bennett College at Pfeiffer Chapel on the topic, "What Is Man?"

He noted four areas in which Americans must progress to triumph in world affairs:

—God has given man the power to conquer space, but man has not been able to conquer Little Rock, unemployment and world starvation.

—Communism and democracy are battling for the uncommitted peoples of the world, and communism is gaining.

—Race conflict is now on a world-wide basis, Asia for Asians, Africa for Africans. Democracy has been identified with colonialism. "We must prove that they are not synonymous."

—Property rights appear to be winning out over human rights.

Dr. Lanier then called for a new type of man to meet these problems and thrust America forward in world affairs. "This man must be able to put Christian principles into practice," he said. "This man must be educated in the liberal tradition, a man who is able to live with his fellow man."

Among the persons attending the baccalaureate was Atty. James O. Lanier of 713 N. Chestnut Street in Winston-Salem, the speaker's father.

Miss Mary Jane Williams, a member of the graduating class, read the lesson from the Old Testament, Psalm 139.

Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett, presided. Music was by the Glee Club and Clarence E. Whiteman, organist.

Commencement exercises will be held at 10:30 a.m. today in Pfeiffer Chapel with Dr. Buell Gallagher, president of City College of New York, as speaker.

Award Winners Announced At Bennett Honors Day

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Miss Gloria E. Brown, a rising senior, of the Bronx, N. Y. was announced as winner of the annual $250 Faculty Scholarship for next year during the Honors Day program at Bennett College last week.

Miss Brown, who will also serve as president of the Student Senate, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Brown and a sociology major.

MISS JOSEPHINE Raiford, senior, of Greensboro was announced as the ranking member of her class. The second place went to Miss Jamesena Chalmers of Fayetteville, N.C. Miss Raiford also won the Irma Graham Prize for excellence in science.

Among other awards announced were the following:

The Belle Tobias Scholarship, awarded annually to the freshman making the most improvement — Miss Priscilla Rogers, of Philadelphia, Pa.

THE LULA Donnell Prize, given each year to the freshman from Greensboro with the most outstanding record—Miss Barbara Byrd.

The Goode Prize, for home economics —Miss Edith Tucker, of Elkin, N. C.

The David D. Jones Leadership Award —Miss Queen Esther Murphy, of Fayetteville, N. C.

The Florence Reeves Award, for the student who achieves most in the area of race relations—Miss Jacqueline Daise, of Wilmington, N. C.

THE OMICRON Eta Chi Award —Miss Alma Pinnix, of Reidsville, N. C. and The Class of 1921 Prize —Miss Mary Jane Williams, of Winston-Salem, N. C. Miss Williams was also announced as having received a graduate teaching assistantship in bio-chemistry at the University of Pittsburgh for the academic year 1959-60.

Elected to Alpha Kappa Mu National Honor Society were: Misses Carolyn Martin, of Durham, N. C.; Mary Shoffner, Greensboro, N. C.; and Veronica Dean, Miami, Fla., all seniors; and Misses Laura Sawyer, of Salisbury, N. C.; Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, of Freetown Sierra Leone and Mrs. Marie S. Moore, Winston-Salem, N. C.

MISS DEAN and Miss Edna Jackson, of Ridgeway, S. C. were elected to Beta Kappa Chi, science honorary society.

For outstanding service in the area of audio-visual aids, the following students received awards from the Tomu Club: Misses Rosenell Spears, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Mozelle Flowers, Shannon, N. C.; Ruby Wilson, Greenville, N. C. and Janie Graves, Greensboro, N. C.

MERIT AWARDS from the Women's Athletic association went to Misses Ruth Hawkins, Louisburg, N. C.; Hazeline Taylor, Charlotte, N. C. and Nancy Williams, Morganton, N. C. The WAA cup award for two years of outstanding participation went to Miss Veronica Dean, of Miami, Fla.

Bennett Soprano's Voice Sparks Global Romance

The old adage that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach has been disproved here by a rising senior at Bennett College—Bernice Green of Anderson, S. C., who used a beautiful singing voice to precipitate an international romance which will end at the altar Monday.

On that date, in St. Mary's Catholic Church in her home city she will become the bride of Adebisi Otudeko, of Ibadan, Nigeria, who, for the past two years, has been studying toward his doctorate at University of Chicago.

Otudeko came to last year's commencement at Bennett for the graduation of his cousin, Ayo Salako. He was her guest at the annual concert given by the college choir and on that occasion Bernice Green, a first soprano, sang the solo in "Sanctus," by Antonin Dvorak.

It was love at first sound as well as at first sight for the young Nigerian who insisted that he must be introduced to the possessor of such a lovely voice. Since Bennett is a woman's college, it was apparent that this would not present a major problem.

Bernice Green left Bennett for the Westminster Choir School in New Jersey and Otudeko returned to his University of Chicago studies in political science, but a spark had been kindled, and through telephone calls, the U. S. mail and one of the country's major airlines, the spark fanned into a flame which culminated in their engagement in August.

The couple will remain in the United States until late August when they sail for England and then on to Lagos, Nigeria, where her husband will resume his duties as a government official.

GETS ASSISTANTSHIP—Miss Mary J. Williams, Bennett College senior, was notified that she has been awarded a teaching assistantship in bio-chemistry at the University of Pittsburgh for the 1959-60 academic year. Miss Williams, who was valedictorian at the Atkins High School in her native city, is the daughter of Mrs. Amy W. Penn.

Alumna Boosts UNCF On Cleveland Radio

Valena Minor Williams, women's director of Cleveland's WABQ, boosts UNCF over the airways "above and beyond the call of duty"—even for a Bennett alumna.

Ohio volunteers are grateful for Mrs. Williams' weekly 10-minute interviews with UNCF presidents and campaign workers. Six UNCF spot announcements each day help, too.

In Mother's Footsteps

In private life this radio personality is Mrs. John B. Williams. "Her four daughters," she promises, "will some day swell the matriculation rolls at UNCF's Bennett College (Greensboro, N. C.)."

Purpose of College

GREENSBORO, N. C. — "The purpose of a college is to have you grow — not all at once, but gradually, throughout your four years," Miss Ruth Rush of Atlanta, Georgia, said to Bennett College students Monday morning.

Miss Rush, who has served as dean of women at N. C. College at Durham and at Spelman College in Atlanta, reminded the students that growth comes from within, not from without.

She concluded her remarks by asking each student to make a self-analysis by answering for herself the following questions:

1. Have I improved some skill or talent this year?
2. Have I gained some interest which I did not have formerly?
3. Am I developing a growing interest in social problems?

Gloria Brown, Others Win Bennett's Scholarships

GREENSBORO—Miss Gloria E. Brown, a rising senior of the Bronx, N. Y. was announced as winner of the annual $250 Faculty Scholarship for next year during the Honors Day program at Bennett College Friday.

Miss Brown, who will also serve as president of the Student Senate, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Brown and a sociology major.

Miss Josephine Raiford, senior, of Greensboro, was announced as the ranking member of her class. The second place went to Miss Jamesena Chalmers of Fayetteville, Miss Raiford also won the Irma Graham Prize for excellence in science.

Among other awards announced were the following:

The Belle Tobias Scholarship, awarded annually to the freshman making the most improvement — Miss Priscilla Rogers, of Philadelphia, Penn.

The Lula Donnell Prize, given each year to the freshman from Greensboro with the most outstanding record — Miss Barbara Byrd.

The Goode Prize, for home economics—Miss Edith Tucker, of Elkin.

The David D. Jones Leadership Award—Miss Queen Esther Murphy, of Fayetteville.

The Florence Reeves Award, for the student who achieves most in the area of race relations—Miss Jacqueline Daise, of Wilmington.

The Omicron Eta Chi Award — Miss Alma Pinnix, of Reidsville and the Class of 1921 Prize — Miss Mary Jane Williams, of Winston-Salem. Miss Williams was also announced as having received a graduate teaching assistantship in bio-chemistry at the University of Pittsburgh for the academic year 1959-60.

Elected to Alpha Kappa Mu National Honor Society were: Misses Carolyn Martin, of Durham; Mary Shoffner, Greensboro, and Veronica Dean, Miami, Fla., all seniors; and Misses Laura Sawyer, of Salisbury; Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, of Freetown Sierra Leone and Mrs. Marie S. Moore, Winston-Salem.

Miss Dean and Miss Edna Jackson, of Ridgeway, S. C. were elected to Beta Kappa Chi, science honorary society.

For outstanding service in the area of audio-visual aids, the following students received awards from the Tomu Club: Misses Rosenell Spears, Winston-Salem; Mozelle Flowers, Shannon; Ruby Wilson, Greenville; and Janie Graves, Greensboro.

Merit awards from the Women's Athletic Association went to Misses Ruth Hawkins, Louisburg; Hazeline Taylor, Charlotte.

Five At Bennett Win Awards

Five Bennett College students are recipients of national scholarship awards from the Board of Education of the Methodist Church, it was announced here this week.

The awards cover tuition and fees up to $500 and were granted on the basis of "superior academic standing, leadership ability, active church membership, character, personality and need." They are among 500 such awards given annually.

Bennett students receiving scholarships are:

Miss Mary Jane Williams of Winston-Salem; Miss Jo Ann Martin of Leaksville; Miss Margaret Bailey of Fruitland, Md.; Miss Frances McCallum of Red Springs, and Miss Idajeanne Robinson, of Oberlin, Ohio.

Summer Program Set At College

Summer conference programs to be held at Bennett College have been announced by President Willa P. Player.

Dr. Hobart S. Jarrett, chairman of the division of humanities will be director of the conference series.

The first, to be held June 16-19, will be Convocation of the South of the Congregational Christian Church, to which some 400 persons are expected.

Other sessions and their dates are as follows:

June 22-27 — Baltimore Area Leadership School; June 22 to July 17—Baltimore Area Pastors' School; June 23 to July 3—School of Missions and Christian Service; July 6-11—North Carolina Youth Assembly, and July 21-31—Seminar on Christian Social Relations.

Bennett Announces Scholarship Awards

Miss Gloria E. Brown, a rising senior, of the Bronx, N. Y. was announced as winner of the annual $250 Faculty Scholarship for next year during the Honors Day program at Bennett College Friday.

Miss Brown, who will also serve as president of the Student Senate, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Brown, and a sociology major.

Miss Josephine Raiford, senior, of Greensboro was announced as the ranking member of her class. The second place went to Miss Jamesena Chalmers of Fayetteville, N. C. Miss Raiford also won the Irma Graham Prize for excellence in science.

NATIONAL COUNCIL OF BENNETT PARENTS MEET

The annual meeting of the National Council of Bennett College Parents will be held Sunday beginning at 9:30 a. m. in the David D. Jones Student Union.

Joseph T. Harrington, president, of New York City, will preside. A feature of the meeting in addition to reports will be a symposium, "The Responsibility of the Home in the Total Education of the Student." Mrs. Blanche Raiford, of the college language faculty, is chairman

MISS SHIVERS FETED IN CONCERT

A program featuring the works of Handel, Mendelssohn, Beethoven and Tschaikowsky was sung by Miss Lady Ann Shivers, Bennett College contralto of Aberdeen, Miss., in the final of the series of recitals by senior music students, Sunday night in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Miss Shivers sang the difficult recitative and aria, "Adieu, Forets," from Tschaikowsky's "Jeanne d'Arc" to close the first half of her five-part program. Her performance of "O Thou That Tellest Good Tidings to Zion" from Handel's "Messiah" and "O Rest in the Lord" from Mendelssohn's "Elijah" met high favor with the audience.

Demonstrating range, shading and depth of feeling, the young singer was poised and effective in Rachmaninoff's "In the Silence of the Night" and "Lullaby" by Scott. She closed her program with a group of four

Gloria Brown apro 6/6/59 winner of Bennett award

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Miss Gloria E. Brown, a senior, of the Bronx, N.Y., was announced as winner of the annual $250 Faculty Scholarship for next year during the Honors Day program at Bennett College, Friday.

Miss Brown, who will also serve as president of the Student Senate, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Brown and a sociology major.

MISS JOSEPHINE RAIFORD, senior, of Greensboro, was announced as the ranking member of her class. The second place went to Miss Jamesena Chalmers of Fayetteville, N.C. Miss Raiford also won the Irma Graham Prize for excellence in science.

Among other awards announced were the following:

The Belle Tobias Scholarship awarded annually to the freshman making the most improvement — Miss Priscilla Rogers, of Philadelphia, Pa.

The Lula Donnell Prize, given each year to the freshman from Greensboro with the most outstanding record — Miss Barbara Byrd.

The Goode Prize, for home economics — Miss Edith Tucker, of Elkin, N.C.

The David D. Jones Leadership Award — Miss Queen Esther Murphy of Fayetteville, N.C.

* * *

THE FLORENCE REEVES AWARD, for the student who achieves most in the area of race relations — Miss Jacqueline Daise, of Wilmington, N.C.

The Omicron Eta Chi Award — Miss Alma Pinnix, of Reidsville, N.C. and The Class of 1921 Prize — Miss Mary Jane Williams, of Winston-Salem, N.C. Miss Williams was also announced as having received a graduate teaching assistantship in bio-chemistry at the University of Pittsburgh for the academic year 1959-60.

Elected to Alpha Kappa Mu National Honor Society were: Misses Carolyn Martin, of Durham, N.C.; Mary Shoffner, Greensboro, N.C.; and Veronica Dean, Miami, Fla., all seniors; and Misses Laura Sawyer, of Salisbury, N.C.; Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, of Freetown Sierra Leone and Mrs. Marie S. Moore, Winston-Salem, N.C. Miss Dean and Miss Edna Jackson, of Ridgeway, S.C. were elected to Beta Kappa Chi science honorary society.

* * *

FOR OUTSTANDING SERVICE in the area of audio-visual aids, the following students received awards from the Tomu Club: Misses Rosenell Spears, Winston-Salem, N.C.; Mozelle Flowers, Shannon, N.C.; Ruby Wilson, Greenville, N.C. and Janie Graves, Greensboro, N.C. Merit awards from the Women's Athletic Association went to Misses Ruth Hawkins, Louisburg, N.C.; Hazeline Taylor, Charlotte, N.C. and Nancy Williams, Morganton, N.C. The WAA cup award for two years of outstanding participation went to Miss Veronica Dean of Miami, Fla.

Greensboro Girl Top Ranking Grad

Carolina Times 6/6/59

GREENSBORO—Miss Gloria E. Brown, a rising senior, of the Bronx, N. Y., was announced as winner of the annual $250 Faculty Scholarship for next year during the Honors Day program at Bennette College on Friday, May 29.

Miss Brown, who will also serve as president of the Student Senate, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wiliam E. Brown and a sociology major.

Miss Josephine Raiford, senior, of Greensboro was announced as the ranking member of her class. The second place went to Miss Jamesena Chalmers of Fayetteville, N. C. Miss Raiford also won the Irma Graham Prize for excellence in science.

Among other awards announced were the following:

The Belle Tobias Scholarship, awarded annualy to the freshman making the most improvement—Miss Priscilla Rogers, of Philadelphia, Penn.

The Lula Donnell Prize, given each year to the freshman from Greensboro with the most outstanding record — Miss Barbara Byrd.

The Goode Prize, for home economics Miss Edith Tucker, of Elkin, N. C.

The David D. Jones Leadership Award—Miss Queen Esther Murphy, of Fayettevile, N. C.

The Florence Reeves Award, for the student who achieves the most in the area of race relations —Miss Jacqueline Daise, of Wilmington, N. C.

The Omicron Eta Chi Award—Miss Alma Pinnix, of Reidsville, N. C., and The Class of 1921 Prize —Miss Mary Jane Williams, of Winston-Salem, N. C. Miss Williams was also announced as having received a graduate teaching assistantship in bio-chemistry at the University of Pittsburgh for the academic year 1959-60.

Elected to Alpha Kappa Mu National Honor Society were: Misses Carolyn Martin, of Durham, N. C.; Mary Shoffner, Greensboro, N. C.; and Veronica Dean, Miami, Fla., all seniors; and Misses Laura Sawyer, of Salisbury, N. C.; Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, of Freetown Sierra Leone and Mrs. Marie S. Moore, Winston-Salem, N. C.

Miss Dean and Miss Edna Jackson, of Ridgeway, S. C were elected to Beta Kappa Chi, science honorary society.

MRS. HOWARD LEE ALFORD

The former Miss Evelyn Constantine Jones, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Jones of Asheboro, N. C., was wed recently to an assistant instructor at A. and T. College, Greensboro, where he is working toward his master's degree in education. Mrs. Alford, a graduate of Bennett College, holds her master's degree in childhood education from Columbia University.

• GLORIA E. BROWN of the Bronx, N. Y., was named winner of the annual $250 faculty scholarship at Bennett College...

Bennett Grads Standing By Tree They Planted In '49

9 ft 9 6/13/59

Members of the class of 1949 who returned to Bennett College for their reunion last week are shown standing by the magnolia tree which they planted years ago. Left to right are Mrs. Joyce Butler Williams, Winnfield, La.; Miss Annie Mae Morrow, Charlotte, N. C.; Mrs. Rebecca Thomas McDonald, Lumberton, N. C.; Mrs. Margaret Pleasants McMillan, Greensboro, N. C.; Mrs. Mollye Hughes Briley, Lumberton, N. C.; Mrs. Charlotte Davis Atkins, Tarrytown, N. Y.; Mrs. Mary Dulin Hudson, Mocksville, N. C.; Miss Melba Davis, Rocky Mount, N. C.; Mrs. Margaret Wallington Phillips, Greensboro, N. C.; Mrs. Bettye McConnaughay McLaurin, Charlotte, N. C., and Miss Ethel Harrell, Laurinburg, N. C.

GADABOUTING U. S. A.

- He "fell" for her voice
- Ensign Powell takes bride
- Pearllie Ball led the class
- "Eppies" frolic in Petersburg

WITH LULA JONES GARRETT

MRS. ADEBISI OTUDEKO
(Voice inspired love)

He fell in love with her voice. Saturday, they were wed. Come fall, Dr. and Mrs. Adebisi Otudeko will depart for home in Nigeria.

It all happened at Bennett College. Mr. Otudeko, a native of Ibidan, Nigeria, heard Miss Bernice Green, of Anderson, S.C., sing at the commencement exercises, last year; surrendered immediately to Cupid, asked her to be his wife.

The bride will be a senior at Bennett next term. Mr. Otudeko has completed work on his doctorate at the University of Chicago. They will live in Lagos.

MISS GRACE M. COLEMAN
(Awarded scholarship)

And speaking of graduate study, Grace M. Coleman of Lynchburg, Va. has been awarded a scholarship by Indiana University to continue her work toward a master's degree in library science. Miss Coleman, a 57 graduate of Bennett, is the daughter of Dr and Mrs. W. R. Coleman of Charlotte, N.C.

Bennett Senior, Husband To Make Home In Nigeria

$ 6/13/59

GREENSBORO, N. C.—The old adage that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach has been disproved here by a rising senior at Bennett, Miss Bernice Green, of Anderson, S. C.

It was not her culinary skill but her beautiful singing voice that precipitated an international romance that ended at the altar on June 8.

MISS BERNICE GREEN
To Live in Nigeria

FOR ON THAT date, in St. Mary's Catholic Church in her home city, with Father Brendan Pyle officiating, she became the bride of Adebisi Otudeko, of Ibadan, Nigeria, who, for the past two years, has been studying toward his doctorate at the University of Chicago.

Mr. Otudeko came to last year's commencement at Bennett for the graduation of his cousin, Miss Ayo Salako. He was her guest at the annual concert given by the college choir and on that occasion Miss Green, a first soprano, sang the solo in "Sanctus," by Antonin Dvorak.

IT WAS LOVE at first sound as well as at first sight for the young Nigerian who insisted that he must be introduced to the possessor of such a lovely voice. Since Bennett is a woman's college, it was apparent that this would not present a major problem.

When Miss Green left Bennett for the Westminister Choir School in New Jersey and Mr. Otudeko returned to his University of Chicago studies in political science, a spark had been kindled and through telephone calls, the U. S. mail and one of the country's major airlines, the spark fanned into a flame which culminated in August when Mr. Otudeko placed a diamond engagement ring around the proper finger of Miss Green's left hand.

The couple will remain in the United States until late August when they sail for England and then on to Lagos, Nigeria, where her husband will resume his duties as a government official.

Lovely Voice Wins A Hubb For Rising Bennett Senior

GREENSBORO—The old adage that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach has been disproved here by a rising senior at Bennett—Miss Bernice Green, of Anderson, S. C.

It was not her culinary skill but her beautiful singing voice that precipitated an international romance that will end at the altar on June 8.

For on that date, in St. Mary's Catholic Church in her home city, with Father Brendan Pyle officiating, she will become the bride of Adebisi Otudeko, of Ibadan, Nigeria, who, for the past 2 years, has been studying toward his doctorate at the University of Chicago.

Mr. Otudeko came to last year's commencement at Bennett for the graduation of his cousin, Miss Ayo Salako. He was her guest at the annual concert given by the college choir and on that occasion Miss Green, a first soprano, sang the solo in "Sanctus," by Antonin Dvorak.

It was love at first sound as well as at first sight for the young Nigerian who insisted that he must be introduced to the possessor of such a lovely voice. Since Bennett is a woman's college, it was apparent that this would not present a major problem.

When Miss Green left Bennett for the Westminister Choir School in New Jersey and Mr. Otudeko returned to his University of Chicago studies in political science, a spark had been kindled and through telephone calls, the U. S. mail and one of the country's major airlines, the spark fanned into a flame which culminated in August when Mr. Otudeko placed a diamond engagement ring around the proper finger of Miss Green's left hand.

The couple will remain in the United States until late August when they sail for England and then on to Lagos, Nigeria, where her husband will resume his duties as a government official.

All Bennett Luncheon

$ 6/13/59

Graduates who returned for the All-Bennett luncheon here Saturday reported cash gifts of over $2,500 to the Loyalty Fund.

Topping the list of graduate chapters was Greensboro with a gift of $1,000. The Delaware Valley Chapter presented $500 and the sum of $560 was received from graduates who are not affiliated with any chapter.

Of the reunion classes, the class of 1949 had the largest representation—12. The honor class was the class of 1934 which had five members present. Other classes in reunion were 1939, 1944, 1954 and 1958.

Dr. Virginia S. Nyabongo, of Tennessee State University, Nashville, a member of the honor class, presided at the luncheon. Mrs. Lula Ross Flint, of Cincinnati, Ohio, a member of the class of 1939, presented the classes in reunion and Mrs. Fannie Lea Hinnant, '45, president of the national Graduate Association, presented the chapters which reported to the Loyalty Fund.

Musical numbers were provided by Mrs. Frances R. Miller, '39, of St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. Jessie L. Dickson, '39, of Amelia, Va., and Miss Lady Ann Shivers, a member of the graduating class, from Aberdeen, Miss. Remarks and introductions were made by President Willa B. Player.

83 Bennett Seniors Challenged By CCNY's Dr. Buell Gallagher

GREENSBORO — The fact that freedom is indivisible and that there should be no difference in its practice anywhere was pointed up to the 83 graduates of Bennett College by Dr. Buell G. Gallagher, president of City College of New York in his address at the 86th commencement exercises here Monday.

Dr. Gallagher, who served as president of Talladega College at Talladega, Alabama, from 1933 to 1943, drew a parallel between Sparta and Athens and the present-day world. He described Sparta as the "perfect prototype of the totalitarian state" and Athens, a center of culture and the arts, as the "citadel of free inquiry and democratic culture."

"Of Athens," he declared, "in trying to meet Sparta on the latter's terms, destroyed herself, losing her own democratic integrity. In 404 B. C., in the 28th year of a debilitating war, Athens surrendered and an insolent Spartan garrison stood atop the Acropolis."

Stating that "there can be no bobtailed proletariat anywhere in the free world," Dr. Gallagher declared that the military, economic and moral power of the free world must be built as a unit and that ethical integrity must be nurtured and maintained in private life and in public policy.

"With confidence, we look ahead to the time when little children can play without fear and the aged can walk with dignity," the speaker declared as he challenged the graduates to help strengthen democracy "so that there will be no second-class citizenship anywhere."

President Willa B. Player, who introduced Dr. Gallagher, said in her charge to the graduates that "because of the kind of education you have had here, the college expects certain things of you as representative of Bennett."

She counseled them to make their impact upon society through straight thinking, understanding people, the ability to interpret facts and through commitment to the ideals of service which their college symbolizes.

BENNETT COLLEGE PRESIDENT IN KENTUCKY

Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, and Francis L. Grandison, director of counseling services, are in Berea, Kentucky this week attending a teacher conference sponsored by the Danforth Foundation at Berea College.

Dr. Player was scheduled to lead the vesper hour on June 12 and on June 17, closing day of the conference, she will deliver the educational lecture which is aimed at focusing attention on all of the varying aspects of the sessions. She will also be a consultant at one of the several seminars.

Mr. Grandison, who was accompanied by his wife and two small daughters, will be studying on a Danforth Foundation fellowship next year at New York University, working on his doctorate in psychology.

ATTEND CONFERENCE

Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, and Francis L. Grandison, director of counseling services, will be in Berea, Ky., this week attending a teacher conference sponsored by the Danforth Foundation at Berea College which begins on Thursday. Dr. Player is scheduled to lead the vesper hour on Friday and on the closing day of the conference she will deliver the educational lecture which is aimed at focusing attention on all of the varying aspects of the sessions. She will also be a consultant at one of the several seminars.

Drama At Bennett

JOHNNY GOODING as "Menalaos," is shown as he prepares to stab "Helen of Troy," portrayed by Miss Wilhelma Gatewood, as Miss Sandra Downing, as "Talthybios" (left center) and Nannie Poole, as "Hecuba" look on in horror. Occasion was the staging of "Trojan Women" by the Bennett College Senior Theatre Guild for the commencement weekend.

MODELS ON PARADE — Bennett college, Greensboro, N. C. coeds recently displayed their own handiwork during the annual outdoor fashion show. Photo below, Misses Elizabeth Hale (left) of Lynchburg, Va. and Carolyn Cotten of Fairboro, N. C. stroll down the runway during the fashion show, wearing garments which they designed and made. Miss Hale won the fourth annual clothing award for the cocoa suit which she is wearing and a knitted jacket and dress. Miss Cotten is wearing a floral suit and hat which she designed and made. Center photo: Pausing on the runway to show off their creations are (from left) Misses Dolores Snellings of Raleigh, N. C.; Margirie Wilson of Clinton, N. C.; Gladys Hemingway of Georgetown, S. C., Edith Tucker of Elkin, N. C., Doris Best of Goldsboro, N. C.; Barbara Freeman of Lawrenceville, Va.; Arnesse Woods of Darlington, S. C., and Larita Waters of Jacksonville, Fla. Photo right: Miss Billie Ann Martin of Gastonia, N. C., a sociology major, who nevertheless has a yen for making her own clothes, models the duster, linen dress and headpiece which she wore in the fashion show.

Bennett College Graduates Classes From 1920 - 1959

Graduates representing classes from 1920 through 1958 returned to their alma mater last week for the annual meeting of the Bennett College Graduate Association and to attend the All-Bennett luncheon which followed.

Among those registered were the following:

1920—Mrs. B. F. Tay'or, New York, N. Y.

1923—Joseph T. Harrington, New York, N. Y.

1930—Mrs. Alma T. Taylor, Greensboro.

1931—Mrs. Madeline B. Best, Greensboro; Mrs. Zenobia Headen, Greensboro; Mrs. Madeline M. Turner, Greensboro; Mrs. Nelle A. Coley, Greensboro; Mrs. Lillian W. Snipes, Greensboro.

1932—Mrs. Miriam W. Fountain, High Point, N. C.; Mrs. William M. Grimes, Greensboro.

1933—Mrs. Vina W. Webb, Sedalia, N. C.; Mrs. Evelyn Crawford, Bronx, N. Y.

1934—Mrs. Jessie L. Dickson, Amalia, Va.; Dr. Virginia S. Nyabongo, Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. Clara H. Echols, Greensboro; Mrs. Birdie Lee Vaughn, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Mrs. Grace C. Gates, Baltimore, Md.

1936—Mrs. Sarah W. Herbin, Greensboro.

1937—Mrs. Bernadine Totten, Greensboro; Mrs. Fannie S. Leary, Greensboro.

1938—Mrs. Hattie O. Bailey, Chester, Pa.; Miss Amaleta Moore, Greensboro; Mrs. Bernice Norwood, Greensboro.

1939—Mrs. Bennie Mae Fuller, Asheville, N. C.; Mrs. Dorothy M. Marbury, Wilmington, Del.; Mrs. Julia Ross Flint, Cincinnati, Ohio; Mrs. Frances R. Miller, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. Georgia H. Lampkin, Chester, Pa.

1942—Mrs. Ethel E. Echols, Greensboro; Mrs. Olivia Wormack, Greensboro; Mrs. Lottie W. Sydnor, Buffalo Junction, Va.

1944—Mrs. Frankie H. Oden, Milledgeville, Ga.

1945—Mrs. Nancy Y. Lee, Greensboro; Mrs. Fannie Lea Hinnant, Greensboro.

1946—Dr. Annie Lou Gist, Greensboro.

1949—Mrs. Rebecca T. McDonald, Lumberton; N. C.; Mrs. Joyce B. Williams, Winnfield, La.; Mrs. Daniel J. McLaurin, Charlotte, N. C.; Miss Ethel Harrell, Laurinburg, N. C.; Mrs. Annie Mae Morrow, Mebane, N. C.; Mrs. Magdalene D. Hudson, Macksville, N. C.; Mrs. Margaret P. McMillan; Greensboro; Miss Melba Davis, Rocky Mount, N. C.; Mrs. Mollye H. Bailey, Lumberton, N. C.; Mrs. Charlotte D. Atkins, Tarrytown, N. Y.; Mrs. Margaret W. Phillips, Greensboro; Mrs. Bettye S. McConnaughey, Charlotte, N. C.

1950—Miss Loretta Bennett, Greensboro.

1952—Mrs. Barbara H. Bryan, Greensboro; Mrs. Eva B. Dunston, Danville, Va.

1953—Mrs. Christien A. Bizzell, Greensboro; Mrs. Florence S. Breathett, Greensboro.

1954—Mrs. Eugenia M. Duncan, Charleston, S. C.; Mrs. Ellease R. Browning; Greensboro; Mrs. Vera A. Hairston, Danville, Va.

1955—Mrs. Zepplyn S. Averett, Greensboro; Mrs. Jean P. Haith, Greensboro.

1956—Miss Loretta L. Free, Greensboro; Miss Josephine Hunter, Raleigh, N. C.; Mrs. Mary Brown Robbins, Greensboro.

1958—Miss Jimmie English, Camden, S. C.; Miss Rosemary Wright, Camden, S. C.

BENNETT MATH AND SCIENCE LECTURES

Announcement of the names of eight lecturers for the National Science Foundation's summer training program in mathematics and science for high school students to be held at Bennett College, June 22 to July 31, was announced this week by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director.

Augmenting the local staff of seven teachers will be the following:

Dr. Leigh C. Anderson, chairman of the department of chemistry at the University of Michigan; Dr. James S. Lee, chairman of the department of biology at North Carolina College in Durham; Dr. J. H. Saylor, chairman of the department of chemistry, Dr. Harold W. Lewis, associate professor of physics and Dr. Henry S. Roberts, associate professor of zoology, all of Duke University; Dr. Kelso B. Morris, professor of chemistry at Howard University; Dr. Walter R. Talbot, chairman of the department of mathematics at Lincoln (Mo.) University, and Dr. Maurice Whittinghill, professor of zoology at the University of North Carolina.

The following members of the Bennett College faculty compose the local teaching staff in addition to Dr. Sayles, namely:

Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, associate director and professor of chemistry; Dr. Roy Lee, physics and chemistry; Van S. Allen, biology; James J. Scarlette, mathematics and Willie L. Young, biology. Mrs. Clara H. Echols, teacher of mathematics at the William Penn High School in High Point, rounds out the staff. She is a specialist in synthetic projective geometry.

Dr. Sayles revealed this week that he received 739 applications and that of this number, there ware 471 who met the requirements for admission. Already, 65 girls and 25 boys have been accepted for the program. All of their expenses, including travel, will be borne by the National Science Foundation. They will come from eight states and the District of Columbia.

However, Dr. Sayles said that Bennett College is offering tuition grants to ten other youngsters who will be required to furnish the money for all other expenses. In a word to parents, he pointed out that the college is accepting these students on a first-come-first-served basis for those who meet the requirements. There are still a few vacancies in this group, he revealed.

8 Lecturers At Banquet Announced

The names of eight visiting lecturers for the National Science Foundation's summer training program in mathematics and science for high school students to be held at Bennett College, June 22 to July 31, have been announced by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director.

Supplementing the local staff of seven teachers will be the following: Dr. Leigh C. Anderson chairman of the department of chemistry, University of Michigan; Dr. James S. Lee, chairman of the department of biology, North Carolina College; Dr. Harold W. Lewis, associate professor of physics, Dr. J. H. Saylor, chairman of the department chemistry, and Dr. Henry Roberts, associate professor zoology, all of Duke Univer Dr. Kelso B. Morris, profe of chemistry, Howard Universi. Dr. Walter R. Talbot, chairman of the department of mathematics, Lincoln (Mo.) University; and Dr. Maurice Whittinghill, professor of zoology, University of North Carolina.

Dr. Sayles said that he has received 789 applications and that of this number, 471 have met the requirements for admission. Already, 65 girls and 25 boys have been accepted for the program. All their expenses, including travel, will be borne by the National Science Foundation. They will come from eight states and the District of Columbia.

However, Dr. Sayles said that Bennett College is offering tuition grants to ten other youngsters who will be required to furnish the money for all other expenses. In a word to parents, he pointed out that the college is accepting these students on a first-come-first-served basis for those who meet the requirements. There still are a few vacancies in this group, he added.

Bennett lists visiting staff

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Dr. J. Henry Sayles last week released the names of eight visiting lecturers for the National Science Foundation's summer institute to be held at Bennett College June 22 to July 31.

Augmenting the local staff of seven teachers will be Dr. Leigh C. Anderson, chemistry, of Michigan; Dr. James S. Lee, biology, North Carolina College; Dr. Saylor, chemistry; Dr. Harold W. Lewis, physics, and Dr. Henry S. Roberts, zoology, all of Duke University; Dr. Kelso B. Morris, chemistry, Howard University; Dr. Walter R. Talbot, mathematics, Lincoln (Mo.) University, and Dr. Maurice Whittinghill, zoology University of North Carolina.

* * *

THE FOLLOWING members of the Bennett College faculty compose the local teaching staff in addition to Dr. Sayles, namely:

Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, chemistry; Van S. Allen, biology; James J. Scarlette, mathematics, and Willie L. Young, biology.

Mrs. Clara H. Echols, teacher of mathematics at the William Penn High School in High Point, rounds out the staff. She is a specialist in synthetic projectve geometry.

Bennett Graduate Ass'n holds annual conference

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Graduates representing classes from 1920 through 1958 returned to their alma mater last week for the annual meeting of the Bennett College Graduate Association and to attend the All-Bennett luncheon which followed.

Among those registered were the following:

Mrs. B. F. Taylor, New York, 1920; Joseph T. Harrington, New York, 1923; Mrs. Alma T. Taylor, Greensboro, 1930; Mrs. Madeline B. Best, Greensboro; Mrs. Zenobia Headen, Greensboro; Mrs. Madeline M. Turner, Greensboro; Mrs. Nelle A. Coley, Greensboro; Mrs. Lillian W. Snipes, Greensboro, 1931;

Mrs. Miriam W. Fountain, High Point, N.C.; Mrs. William M. Grimes, Greensboro, 1932; Mrs. Vina W. Webb, Sedalia, N.C.; Mrs. Evelyn Crawford, Bronx, N.Y., 1933; Mrs. Jessie L. Dickson, Amalia, Va.; Dr. Virginia S. Nyabongo, Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. Clara H. Echols, Greensboro; Mrs. Birdie Lee Vaughn, Winston-Salem, N.C.; Mrs. Grace C. Gates, Baltimore, 1934;

Mrs. Sarah W. Herbin, Greensboro, 1936; Mrs. Bernadine Totten, Greensboro; Mrs. Fannie S. Leary, Greensboro, 1937; Mrs. Hattie O. Bailey, Chester, Pa.; Miss Amaleta Moore, Greensboro; Mrs. Bernice Norwood, Greensboro, 1938;

Mrs. Bennie Mae Fuller, Asheville, N.C.; Mrs. Dorothy M. Marbury, Wilmington, Del.; Mrs. Julia Ross Flint, Cincinnati, Ohio; Mrs. Frances R. Miller, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. Georgia H. Lampkin, Chester, Pa., 1939;

Mrs. Ethel E. Echols, Greensboro; Mrs. Olivia Wormack, Greensboro; Mrs. Lottie W. Sydnor, Buffalo Junction, Va., 1942;

Mrs. Frankie H. Oden, Milledgeville, Ga., 1944; Mrs. Nancy Y. Lee, Greensboro; Mrs. Fannie Lea Hinnant, Greensboro, 1945; Dr. Annie Lou Gist, Greensboro, 1946;

Mrs. Rebecca T. McDonald, Lumberton, N.C.; Mrs. Joyce B. Williams, Winnfield, La.; Mrs. Daniel J. McLaurin, Charlotte, N.C.; Miss Ethel Harrell, Laurinburg, N.C.; Mrs. Annie Mae Morrow, Mebane, N.C.; Mrs. Magdalene D. Hudson, Mocksville, N.C.;

Also Mrs. Margaret P. McMillan, Mrs. Margaret P. McMillan, Greensboro; Miss Melba Davis, Rocky Mount, N.C.; Mrs. Mollye H. Bailey, Lumberton, N.C.; Mrs. Charlotte D Atkins, Tarrytown, N.Y.; Mrs. Margaret W. Phillips, Greensboro; Mrs. Bettye S. McConnaughey, Charlotte, N.C., 1949;

Miss Loretta Bennett, Greensboro, 1950; Mrs. Barbara H. Bryan, Greensboro; Mrs. Eva B. Dunston, Danville, Va., 1952; Mrs. Christine A. Bizzell, Greensboro; Mrs. Florence S. Breathett, Greensboro, 1953; Mrs. Eugenia M. Duncan, Charleston, S.C.; Mrs. Ellease R. Browning, Greensboro; Mrs. Vera A. Hairston, Danville, Va., 1954;

Mrs. Zepplyn S. Averett, Greensboro; Mrs. Jean P. Haith, Greensboro, 1955; Miss Loretta L. Free, Greensboro; Miss Josephine Hunter, Raleigh, N.C.; Mrs. Mary Brown Robbins, Greensboro, 1956; Miss Jimmie English, Camden, S.C.; Miss Rosemary Wright, Camden, S.C., 1958.

Bennett Graduate

Miss Rosalind Hortense Goodson, of Clayton, N. C., received the Bachelor of Arts degree from Bennett College during the commencement exercises on June 1.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Mattie Siler Goodson and the late H. D. Goodson, of Clayton and the fifth members of her immediate family to attend Bennett.

Meetings crowd Bennett campus

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Some 100 high school students are enrolled in the six-week mathematics and science training program sponsored by the National Science Foundation on the Bennett College campus.

During the same time, three other groups are holding meetings. They are: The Baltimore Pastor's School of which the Rev. Charles L. Carrington of Jamaica, N.Y. is dean; The Baltimore Area Leadership School with the Rev. Howard A. Bailey of Yeadon, Pa. as dean, and the Congregational Christian Church.

$1,000 To Loyalty Fund

Mrs. Fannie Lea Hinnant, right, president of the National Bennett College Graduate Association, presents check for $1,000 to President Willa B. Player, representing contribution of the Greensboro Chapter to the Loyalty Fund of the college.

Bennett Students Show Appreciation For The Finer A

"PETER GUNN" AT BENNETT---Wearing trench coats, berets and "shades," members of dance group of Bennett College perform "Peter Gunn" number, choreographed by Mrs. Dolly Turner to theme music of the TV detective show for their Saturday night recital.

PIANIST AND ADMIRERS---Miss Philippa Schuyler, pianist of New York City, smiles after receiving bouquet of carnations following her concert at Bennett College. Student admirers from left to right are: Misses Avis McCarther, Mt. Airy, N. C.; Juanita Spear, Bridgeport, Conn. and Jean Sparrow, Covington, Va.

POET AT BENNETT---Sterling A. Brown, right, poet-author, professor of English at Howard University, chats with Miss Anne Hanks, a sophomore, of Westminster, S. C. and Dr. Hobart S. Jarrett, chairman of the Humanities Division, during his visit to Bennett College. Mr. Brown was guest lecturer during Humanities Week and spoke on "The Negro in Fine Arts". He also read several of his own poems.

LET THERE BE MUSIC---Members of the chorus of the Rena Bullock School, Greensboro, N. C., who sang on the program of the 33rd annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College. At piano is Mrs. Frances Enzlow, a Bennett graduate, who directed the singers.

"IT'S A BABY"---The discovery of a basket containing a baby which had been left on the steps of their convent, causes quite a stir among the nuns as shown here in a scene from "The Cradle Song", which was presented by the combined Theatre Guilds at Bennett College. Holding the infant, is Miss Jacquelyn Florance, of Greensboro, who played the part of the Prioress, while the Vicaress played by Miss Tressie Wright, of Atlanta, Ga. (extreme right) peers toward the group, which made the startling discovery.

CALL OF THE OUTDOORS---Miss Joan Cooley, senior, of Hendersonville, N. C., takes her easel outside the Fine Arts Building at Bennett College to complete a landscape under the watchful eye of James C. Millan, her instructor. Art classes are permitted to heed the call of the great outdoors in the spring, but no matter what the temperature, all other classes are confined to the classroom.

The Bennett College Choir, Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, director, ma... a tour of Eastern cities before school closed.

Conference Series Opened At Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Bennett college began this week a series of summer conference programs at an attendance of approximately 400. Dr. Robert S. Jarrett, Bennett humanities division chairman, is director of the series.

The first of the series, a convention of the Congregational Christian church, will end on Friday, June 19.

Other sessions and their dates are as follows: June 22-27 —Baltimore area leadership school; June 22 to July 17 —Baltimore area pastors' school; June 23 5o July 3 — school of missions and Christian service; July 6-11 —North Carolina youth assembly, and July 21-31 Seminar on Christian social relations.

95 ATTEND SUMMER TRAINING PROGRAM

Following a battery of tests, counseling and a period of orientation, the 95 high school students attending the summer training program in science and mathematics at Bennett College, settled down to their second week of work in their six-week program.

The program, sponsored by the National Science Foundation and directed by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, has attracted high school graduates and rising seniors from nine states and the District of Columbia.

Heading the registration is North Carolina, with 59, of whom 18 are from Greensboro. There are seven each from Arkansas, South Carolina and Virginia, with five from Texas, two each from West Virginia, Tennessee and the District of Columbia, and one each from Florida and Alabama.

TOP BENNETT SENIOR--Miss Josephine Raiford, of Greensboro, N. C., a senior chemistry major who presently is leading her class with a 2.82 academic average out of a 3.00, is shown as she was robed by her "sophomore sister", Miss Maryland Baker of Lexington, Va. during senior day exercises at Bennett College.

BERNICE GREEN, Bennett College senior of Anderson, S. C., was married June 8 to Adebisi Otudeko of Ibidan, Nigeria. Mr. Otudeko heard Miss Green sing at last year's commencement exercises and fell in love. He has completed work on his doctorate at the University of Chicago. The happy pair will go to Lagos, Nigeria, in the fall.

Mrs. Otudeko

Bishop Love Conducted Communion at Bennett

Bishop Edgar A. Love of Baltimore, Md., conducted the communion service which marked the close of the Baltimore Area Leadership School at Bennett College here Saturday.

An activity of the Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church, the school this year attracted nearly 100 persons concerned with the educational program of the denomination on all age levels. A faculty of 10, headed by the Rev. Howard A. Bailey, dean, of Yeadon, Pa., offered a one-week program of courses which covered evangelism counseling, recreation and adult work.

A number of district superintendents, church school superintendents and workers with children, youth and adults were in attendance.

BENNETT COMMENCEMENT--Scene of and principals in the 86th commencement exercises at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., May 31 and June 1. Dr. Lanier preached the baccalaureate sermon at 4 p.m. on May 31 and on June 1 at 10:30 a.m. Dr. Gallagher delivered the commencement address. Dr. Player presided at both exercises in Pfeiffer Chapel and conferred degrees.

College Students Wed in N. Carolina

GREENSBORO, N. C.—A graduate of Bennett College married a graduate of A. and T. College following the commencement exercises, in the Bennett Chapel. Miss Anece Dione Faison, daughter of the late Mrs. Nancy Simmons Faison of Dudley and J. D. Faison of Brooklyn, N. Y., married Verable L. McCloud, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie D. McCloud of Mount Airy, N. C. Mr. McCloud was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Force Reserve on their wedding day.

Bridal attendants were Miss Dolores G. McCloud, sister of the groom, Flint, Mich.; Misses Inez Jones, Emma Martin, Wilhelmina Gatewood, Ruby Starks; Nanie Poole of Baltimore, and LaRita Waters of Miami. Jean Simkins was flower girl.

Ivor Carr, New York, was best man. Ushers were Curtis Mooty, William Chapman, Paul Reed, James Jones, David Murray and Mizel Hawkins.

Courier 6/27/59

MRS. V. L. McCLOUD
. . . graduates wed

Tears of Joy—

Helping to keep alive the tradition that Bennett College graduates always cry — for Joy — is Helen McEachern, of Rowland, N. C., shown being consoled by Hilda Harris, a rising senior, of Philadelphia. Degrees were conferred upon 83 graduates at commencement exercises.

Courier 6/27/59

Teachers Named For Institute

GREENSBORO, — Announcement of the names of eight visiting lecturers for the National Science Foundation's summer training program in mathematics and science for high school students to be held at Bennett College, June 22 to July 31, was announced this week by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director.

Augmenting the local staff of seven teachers will be the following: Carolina Times 6/27/59

Dr. Leigh C. Anderson, chairman of the department of chemistry at the University of Michigan; Dr. James S. Lee, chairman of the department of chemistry, Dr. Harold W. Lewis, associate professor of physics and Dr. Henry S. Roberts, associate professor of zoology, all of Duke University; Dr. Kelso B. Morris, professor of chemistry at Howard University; Dr. Walter R. Talbot, chairman of the department of mathematics at Lincoln (Mo.) University, and Dr. Maurice Whittinghill, professor of zoology at the University of North Carolina.

The following members of the Bennett College faculty compose the local teaching staff in addition to Dr. Sayles, namely:

Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, associate director and professor of chemistry; Dr. Roy Lee, physics and chemistry; Van S. Allen, biology; James J. Scarlette, mathematics and Willie L. Young, biology. Mrs. Clara H. Echols, teacher of mathematics at the William Penn High School in High Point, rounds out the staff. She is a specialist in synthetic projective geometry.

Church Delegates Elect Enright President

The Rev. J. T. Enright of Charleston, S.C., was elected president of the Convention of the South, Negro Congregational Christian Churches, yesterday at the biennial meeting at St. Stephen's Congregational Christian Church.

He succeeds the Rev. F. A. Hargett of Greensboro. Other officers elected are the Rev. J. A. Alston of Suffolk, Va., vice president; the Rev. J. D. Farrar, Newport News, Va., treasurer; the Rev. J. P. Jenkins, Norfolk, Va., secretary.

Arthur D. Shores, Birmingham, Ala., lawyer, was the main speaker at a meeting of the Laymen's Fellowship last night.

The solution of today's problems does not call upon man's technical skill and scientific knowledge, but upon the exercise of the doctrine of "love your neighbor as yourself and do unto others as you would have them do unto you," Shores said.

The biennial meeting will close today. The Convention of the South includes 222 churches in 13 southern states.

HELPING to keep alive the tradition that Bennett graduates always cry-for-joy is Miss Helen McEachern of Rowland, N.C., (right) who's being congratulated by a friend, Miss Hilda Harris, a senior, of Philadelphia. Degrees were conferred upon 83 graduates at the Bennett, N. C., school.

Courier 6/20/59

Editor Speaks at Bennett

"The Kingdom of God is not something to be attained only after death, nor is it an earthly institution," the Rev. L. Scott Allen of New Orleans, La., declared in a recent vesper message at Bennett College.

The minister, who is editor of THE CENTRAL CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, a semimonthly Methodist publication, explained that the true kingdom of God is the divine rule of God in the hearts of men.

"God does not ask us to help Him build this kingdom but to share in a kingdom that He has already built," Allen continued. "Many of us are rejecting this gift of God, such as the atheists, the supporters of white supremacy and even those members of the church who are insincere."

The speaker also chided the church for its frequent failure to speak out when God would have it do so, citing this silence as indicative of acceptance or approval of those things which God does not approve.

"Christianity ought to be taught just as other things are taught in our schools," Dr. J. A. Tarpley, principal of Dudley High School, Greensboro, N. C., told Bennett College students recently.

Dr. Tarpley, who is also a Bennett trustee, spoke on "Some Fundamental Concepts in Christian Education."

Regarding social and moral propriety, the speaker said that parents, instead of asking their children where they are going should ask: "Who is going to be there?"

"TROJAN WOMEN" AT BENNETT — Johnny Gooding, as Menalaos, shown as he prepares to stab Helen of Troy, portrayed by Miss Wilhelma Gatewood, and Miss Sandra Downing, as Faithybois (left center) and Nannie Poole, as Hecuba, look on in horror during presentation of "The Trojan Women" the Euripides tragedy which was presented by the Bennett College Senior Theatre Guild for the commencement week end.

MASTER OF MUSIC — Clarence E. Whiteman, Bennett College organist and music instructor, recently received the degree of Master of Music from the Manhattan School of Music, New York City.

Courier 7/4/59

MERMAIDS — Relaxing on diving board at the Hayes-Taylor "Y" pool are these members of a physical education class at Bennett College, Greensboro. Left to right: Misses Alice Bowen, sophomore, of Washington, N. C.; Lucy Howell, sophomore, of Concord, and Joan Didier, junior, of Jamaica, British West Indies.

Carolina 6/27/59

SCORED IN CONCERT — Members of the Bennett College Senior Choir shown immediately following their annual concert in the Little Theatre at the Greensboro institution recently. Center, wearing corsage, is Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, director.

Carolina 6/27/59

Two Groups Meet Here At Bennett

In addition to some 100 high school students enrolled in the six-week training program in mathematics and science sponsored by the National Science Foundation, two adult groups of the Methodist Church open their sessions at Bennett College tomorrow.

The Baltimore Area Pastor's School which offers a four-year conference course of study will be in session until July 17. Serving again as dean this year is the Rev. Charles L. Carrington, of Jamaica, N. Y.

The Baltimore Area Leadership School which also opens Monday will extend through June 27. It will be attended by district superintendents and pastors, executives of conference boards of education and by workers with children, youth and adults.

Dean of the school will be the Rev. Howard A. Bailey, of Yeadon, Pa. Classes are being held in the morning with the afternoons devoted to the work of four interest groups.

They're Tears Of Happiness

←

Graduates Of Bennett College For Past 38 Years Return

Carolina Times 6/20/59

GREENSBORO—Graduates representing classes from 1920 through 1958 returned to their alma mater last week for the annual meeting of the Bennett College Graduate Association and to attend the All-Bennett luncheon which followed.

Among those regsitered were the following:

1920, Mrs. B. F. Taylor, New York; 1923, Joseph Harrington, New York;; 1930, Mrs. Alma Tahlor, Greensboro; 1931, Mrs. Madeline Best, Mrs. Zenobia Headen, Mrs. Madeline Turner, Mrs. Nellie Coley, Mrs. Lillian Snipes, Greensboro.

1932, Mrs. Miriam Fountain, High Point Mrs. William Grimes, Greensboro; 1933, Mrs Vina Webb, Sedalia, Mrs. Evelyn Crawford, Bronx; 1934, Mrs. Jessie Dickson, Amalia, Va.; Dr. Virginia Nyabongo, Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. Clara Echols, Greensboro; Mrs. Birdie Vaughn, Winston-Salem; Mrs. Grace Cates, Baltimore, Md.

1936, Mrs. Sarah Herbin, Greensboro; 1937, Mrs. Bernadine Totten, Mrs. Fannie Leary, Greensboro; 1938, Mrs. Hattie Bailey, Chester, Pa.; Miss Amaleta Moore, Mrs. Bernice Norwood, Greensboro; 1939, Mrs. Bennie Fuller, Asheville; Mrs. Dorothy Marbury, Wilmington, Del.; Mrs. Julia R. Flint, Cincinnati, Ohio; Mrs. Frances Miller, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. George Lampkin, Chester, Pa.

1942, Mrs. Ethel Echols, Mrs. Olivia Womack, Greensboro; Mrs. Lottie Syndor, Buffalo Junction, Va.; 1944, Mrs. Frankie Oden, Milidgeville, Ga.; 1945, Mrs. Nancy Lee, Mrs. Fannie Hinnat, Greensboro; 1946, Dr. Annie Gist, Greensboro.

1949, Mrs. Rebecca McDonald, Lumberton; Mrs. Joyce Williams, Winnfield, La.; Mrs. Danie McLaurin, Charlotte; Miss Ethel Harrell, Laurinburg; Mrs. Annie Morrow, Mebane; Mrs. Magdalene Hudson, Mocksville; Mrs. Margaret McMillan, Mrs. Margaret Phillips, Greensboro; Miss Melba Davis, Rocky Mount; Mrs. Mollye Bailey Lumberton; Mrs. Charlotte Atkins, Tarreyton, N. Y.; Mrs. Betty Connaughey, Charlotte.

1950, Miss Loretta Bennet, Greensboro; 1952, Mrs. Barbara Bryan, Greensboro; Mrs. Eva Dunston, Danville, Va.; 1953, Mrs Christine Bizzell, Mrs. Florence Breathett, Greensboro; 1954, Mrs Eugenia Duncan, Charleston, S. C.; Mrs. Elease Browning, Greensboro; Mrs. Vera Hairston, Danville, Va.

1955 ,Mrs. Zepplyn Averett, Mrs Jean Haith, Greensboro; 1956, Miss Loretta Free, Mrs. Mary Brown Greensboro; Miss Josephine Hunter, Raleigh; Mrs. Mary Brown Greensboro; 1958, Miss Jimmie English, Miss Rosemary Wright Camden, S. C.

6 BENNETT TEACHERS TO STUDY

Carolina Times 6/20/59

Six members of the Bennett College faculty are or will be enrolled for graduate work in a number of areas this summer.

Recipients of summer study grants from the Board of Education of the Methodist Church are Mrs. Blanche Raiford, language instructor, who will be studying at Michigan State University, East Lansing, Mich., and Mrs. Minnie B. Smith, director of co-curricular activities, who will study at the University of Denver.

Dr. Rose Karfiol, instructor in economics, is doing post-doctoral study at American University in Washington. Others who will take summer work are Miss Joyce C. Johnson, physical education, at Boston Uni.; Clarence E. Whitman, college organist, at the Union Theological Seminary School of Sacred Music in New York, and Miss Margarie Mays, assistant in the records office, at Michigan State University.

YOUTH ASSEMBLY OF N.C. CONVENES AT BENNETT

The annual Youth Assembly of the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church will be held at Bennett College, July 6-11, the Rev. Douglass Moore, director, of Durham, announced this week.

Morning classes will be held and the afternoons will be devoted to workshops and interest groups. These include worship, arts and crafts, music, fellowship and dramatics.

The assembly will close on Saturday, July 11, with a 6 a.m. communion service conducted by the Rev. John Corry.

WSCS TO CONVENE AT BENNETT

The School of Missions of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church, will convene at Bennett College June 28-July 3. Registration begins Monday, June 29. Mrs. Fannie McCallum is dean of the school.

SUMMER ACTIVITIES ANNOUNCED AT BENNETT

Carolina Times 7/4/59

The campus of Bennett College which came alive with summer activity last week when some 300 members of the Congregational Christian Church held their sessions there, continued to buzz this week as three more groups opened their activities here.

In addition to some 100 high school students enrolled in the six-week training program in mathematics and science sponsored by the National Science Foundation, two adult groups of the Methodist Church opened their sessions here on Monday.

The Baltimore Area Pastor's School, which offers a four-year conference course of study, will be in session until July 17. Serving again as dean this year is the Reverend Charles L. Carrington, of Jamaica, N. Y.

Included in the curriculum are courses in practical theology, sociology, the rural church, the city church and both the Old and New Testaments.

The Baltimore Area Leadership School which also opened Monday will extend through June 27. It is being attended by district superintendents and pastors, executives of conference boards of education and by workers with children, youth and adults.

Dean of the school is the Reverand Howard A. Bailey, of Yeadon, Pa. Classes are being held in the morning with the afternoon devoted to the work of four interest groups. The places of recreation and music in the program of the church are being taught by the Reverend R. Harold Hipps, of Greensboro, and the Reverend Julius S. Carroll, Jr., of Baltimore, respectively.

It's Just A Matter Of Education

Courier 6/27/59

Relaxing on diving board at the Hayes-Taylor "Y" pool in Greensboro, N. C., are members of a physical education class at Bennett college. From left to right, are: Misses Alice Bowen, sophomore, of Washington, N. C.; Lucy Howell, sophomore, of Concord, N. C., and Joan Didier, junior, of Jamaica, British West Indies.

Commencement Participants At Bennett College

PA., N.Y., CONN. AND KOREA BENNETT SENIORS---Left to right, Misses Ada Lomax, Tobyhanna, Pa.; Seunghi Choi, Seoul, Korea; Doris Wyche, New Canaan, Conn., and Barbara Moyer, White Plains, N. Y.

GETS ASSISTANTSHIP---Miss Mary J. Williams, Bennett College senior, who was notified that she has been awarded a teaching assistantship in bio-chemistry at the University of Pittsburgh for the 1959-60 academic year. Miss Williams, who was valedictorian at the Atkins High School in her native city, is the daughter of Mrs. Amy W. Penn. She is a member of Alpha Kappa Mu, Beta Kappa Chi, Senior Marshall Board and the Science Seminar.

WOODROW WILSON FELLOW---Miss Jamesena Chalmers, Bennett College senior of Fayetteville, N. C., who became the first of her school to receive a fellowship from the Woodrow Wilson Foundation. An English major, she will pursue graduate work next fall at Syracuse University.

1959 BENNETT CLASS---Shown here are members of the class of 1959 at Bennett College who were scheduled to receive degrees at the 86th commencement of the Greensboro, N. C. institution on the morning of June 1, in Pfeiffer Chapel. President Willa B. Player will confer degrees.

N. C. SENIORS AT BENNETT---Shown above are members of the 1959 class at Bennett College from the state of North Carolina. They represent, as has been the case in the past, 50 per cent of this year's class.

VA., W. VA., MD. AND D. C. BENNETT SENIORS---Left to right, front row, Misses Millie Adams, Princeton, W. Va.; Shirley Bennett, Bracey, Va.; LaVerne Greene, Chatahm, Va.; Edwina Bratcher, Washington, D. C. and Nannie Poole (president) Baltimore, Md. Back row, Anita Duckett, Roanoke, Va.; LaVonne Barbour, Annapolis, Md.; Eleanor Fields, Richmond, Va. and Wilhelma Gatewood, Gary, W. Va.

NIGERIAN NURSE AT BENNETT---Mrs. Julia E. Mensah, of Ibadan, Nigeria, chats with Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, before opening session of the 33rd annual Homemaking Institute. Mrs. Mensah told of the important leadership roles which African women are playing today. She is head nurse at the University Teaching Hospital in Ibadan.

BENNETT MERMAIDS — Relaxing on diving board at the Mayes-Taylor "Y" pool are these members of a physical education class at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C. Left to right: Misses Alice Bowen, sophomore, of Washington, N. C.; Lucy Howell, sophomore, of Concord, N. C. and Neval Didier, junior, of Kingston, Jamaica, British West Indies.

10 Bennett Grads To Further Studies

At least 10 members of the 1959 graduating class at Bennett College have indicated that they will be attending graduate schools in the fall, it was revealed this week.

Scheduled to attend medical school are Misses Ruth Anderson of Philadelphia, Wilhelmina Bundy, of Johnson City, Tenn., and Inez Jones, of Lenoir, N. C. Miss Jamesena Chalmers, of Fayetteville, will study at Syracuse University on a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, Miss Mary Jane Williams of Winston-Salem, will be working on a teaching assistantship in bio-chemistry at the University of Pittsburg.

Miss Nancy Choi, of Seoul, Korea, an English major, will be attending school as will Mrs. Young Tack Park, also of Seoul, a home economics major. Miss Rivers Millner, of Draper, N.C., will be attending the school of nursing at Wayne University in Detroit. Miss Cecile Harrison, a sociology major, of Houston, Texas, began her work on Wednesday in the Smith College for Social Work at Northampton, Mass.

Miss Mary B. Knight, of Greensboro, an Englih major, will also be in graduate school.

Also attending school, but from the other side of the teacher's desk, will be the following members of the class who have accepted public school employment:

Misses Millie Adams, home economics, of Princeton, W. Va., at Elizabethton, Tenn.; Clara F. Carter, elementary education, of Yadkinville, N. C., and Anita Duckett, elementary education, of Roanoke, Va., at Sanford, N. C.; Wilhelma Gatewood, commercial education, of Gary, W. Va., at Elizabeth City, N. C., Rosalind Goodson, elementary education, of Clayton, N. C., at Smithfield, N. C.

Bennett College To Be Site Of Social Change Seminar

Program plans have been completed for the National Seminar of the Woman's Division of Christian Service, to be held July 21 to 31 at Bennett College.

Theme of the seminar is "The Family in a World of Rapid Social Change" and addresses and discussion groups will deal with aspects of this theme.

Speakers during the first week of the seminar include Miss Margaret Forsyth, executive of the foreign division, National Board of the YWCA; Dr. Dorothy Lee, anthropologist; Dr. Wolfgang Stolper, professor of economics, University of Michigan; Dr. Willa Player, president of Bennett College; Dr. J. E. Carothers, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Schenectady, N. Y.; and Mrs. Grace Barbey and Dr. Zahir Ahmed of the United Nations' staff.

Among the second week speakers will be Dr. Theodore E. Tucker, secretary for Africa, division of foreign missions, National Council of Churches; Miss Eleanor French, director-elect, department of Christian social relations, United Church Women; and Miss Eva Shipstone, professor of psychology, Isabella Thoburn College, Lucknow, India.

Dr. James K. Mathews, associate general secretary of the division of world missions, Methodist Board of Missions, will speak each morning during the first week. Participants on various panels and discussion group leaders will include missionaries, deaconesses and elected and staff members of the woman's division.

About 140 women from all parts of the United States, are expected to attend. Women from overseas, in addition to Miss Shipstone, will include Mrs. Jonah Chitombo of Southern Rhodesia; Mrs. Ang Kim Kiat of Singapore; and Mrs. H. B. Whitaker of England.

Mrs. Chitombo, the wife of Rev. Jonah Chitombo, a Methodist district superintendent in Rhodesia, is a graduate of Methodist mission schools and a trained nurse. Mrs. Ang is a teacher at Fairfield Methodist Girls' School in Singapore. Mrs. Whitaker is a magistrate of the Borough of Gravesend in Kent, England, and a Methodist local preacher.

Chairman of the seminar's program committee is Mrs. Ralph T. Wilson Sr., of 402 Forest Drive, Laurens, S. C., a member of the woman's division. The seminar is a quadrennial conference of the division, with the Department of Christian Social Relations having administrative responsibility. Mrs. A. R. Henry of 608 Wilson Ave., Menomonie, Wis., is chairman of the department.

Missions School Opening Monday

A School of Missions in Christian Service conducted by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the North Carolina Methodist Conference will open at Bennett College tomorrow and continue through Friday.

The school, which will offer courses in five major areas, will have Miss Fannie McCallum as dean. A course on "The Christian Mission in Africa" will be taught by Mrs. C. C. Long. Dr. C. C. Armstrong and Mrs. D. D. Jones, both of Bennett College, will conduct courses on the Gospel of Luke and "The Role of the United Nations in World Affairs" respectively. Mrs. Dorothi P. Jones, of Reidsville, will conduct courses in "The Church's Mission in Town and Country" while the Bible Hour courses will be taught by the several district superintendents.

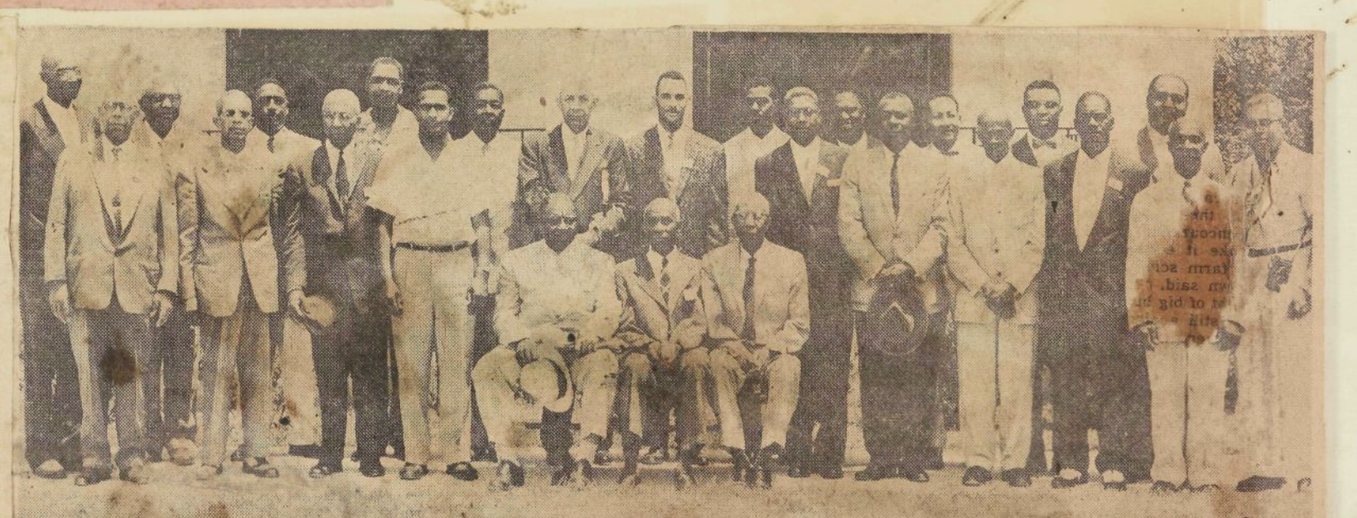
The morning hours will be given to class meetings with the afternoons devoted to study and clinics. Evening assembly programs have been scheduled for 7:15 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Mrs. G. M. Phelps, of Greensboro, is registrar and Mrs. Mary N. Morrison, of Statesville, is chairman.

Miss Joan Martin Studies At Bennett

LEAKSVILLE, N. C. —Miss Joan Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wartefus Martin of 320 North Henry street, is an assistant laboratory technician in the science department at Bennett college, Greensboro.

The graduate of Douglass high school is gaining summer experience in a science program sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

SCORED IN CONCERT — Members of the Bennett College Senior Choir shown immediately following their annual concert in the Little Theatre at the Greensboro, N. C. institution. Center, wearing corsage, is Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, director.



Congregational Laymen Hold Session In Greensboro

Churchmen from 13 southern states closed their biennial session of the Laymen's Fellowship of the Convention of the South of Congregational Christian Churches last week on the campus of Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C. They pledged full support to help the convention raise $50,000 for the denomination's Christian Education Fund.

The group elected Elgin Hychew of New Orleans, La., president; Frank D. Bartlett, Newport News, Va., vice-president; A. C. Claiborne, Charleston, S. C., secretary, and Harold Thomas, Atlanta, Ga., treasurer.

The convention of 222 churches is expected to go to First Congregational Christian Church, Talladega, Ala., the Rev. Oliver Wendell Holmes, pastor, in 1961. (Lee Photo)

Many Return For Graduation At Bennett College

KOREAN GRAD AT BENNETT---Mrs. Young Tack Lee Park, of Seoul, Korea, who was graduated from Bennett College during 86th commencement exercises at the Greensboro, N. C. institution.

1949 BENNETT GRADUATES---Members of the class of 1949 who returned to Bennett College for their reunion are shown standing by the magnolia tree which they planted years ago. Left to right are Mrs. Joyce Butler Williams, Winnfield, La.; Miss Annie Mae Morrow, Charlotte, N. C.; Mrs. Rebecca Thomas McDonald, Lumberton, N. C.; Mrs. Margaret Pleasants McMillan, Greensboro, N. C.; Mrs. Mollye Briley, Lumberton, N. C.; Mrs. Charlotte Davis Atkins, Tarrytown, N. Y.; Mrs. Mary Dulin Hudson, Mocksville, N. C.; Miss Melba Davis, Rocky Mount, N. C.; Mrs. Margaret Wallington Phillips, Greensboro, N. C.; Mrs. Bettye McConnaughay McLaurin, Charlotte, N. C. and Miss Ethel Harrell, Laurinburg, N. C.

TEARS AS USUAL---Helping to keep alive the tradition that Bennett graduates always cry--for joy--is Miss Helen McEachern, of Rowland, N. C., shown being consoled by Miss Hilda Harris, a rising senior, of Philadelphia, Penn. Degrees were conferred upon 83 graduates at commencement exercises.

BENNETT GRADS RETURN---Some of the Bennett graduates who returned for the annual meeting of the alumni association are shown on the steps of Pfeiffer Chapel. Center on front row, holding white bag, is Mrs. Fannie Lea Hinnant, president of the organization.

SENIOR BREAKFAST AT BENNETT---Dr. Willa B. Player (head of table) and some of the seniors that she entertained at breakfast, a tradition in which each senior has an opportunity to breakfast with the college head in her home. Counterclockwise from Dr. Player's right are: Misses Joyce Holmes, of Goldsboro, N. C.; Mary Spivey, Windsor, N. C.; Doris Wyche, New Canaan, Conn.; Beatrice Gregory, Princeton, N. J.; Millie Adams, Princeton, W. Va.; LaVerne Greene, Chatham, Va.; Nannie Hughes, Cheraw, S. C.; Theoria Houston, Miami, Fla.; Elizabeth Miller, Camden, S. C. and Ruby Starks, Troutman, N. C.

PRELUDE TO SUMMER---Misses Margaret Reed, rising junior, of Starr, S. C., and Lillie Perkins, rising senior, of Cheraw, N. C., are radiant with smiles as they "look southward" from their perch atop the Bennett College wall to the route they planned to take for their summer vacation.

1960 CLASS HEADS AT BENNETT — These young women were recently elected to head their respective classes at Bennett College for the 1959-60 academic year. Left to right: Misses Roslyn Cheagle, Lynchburg, Va., sophomore; Mrs. Marie Moore, Winston-Salem, senior, and Jacqueline Boseman, Baltimore, Md., junior.

BENNETT MERMAIDS—Relaxing on diving board at the Hayes-Taylor "Y" pool are these members of a physical education class at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C. Left to right: The Misses Alice Bowen, sophomore, of Washington, N. C.; Lucy Howell, sophomore, of Concord, N. C., and Joan Didier, junior, of Jamaica, BWI. 7/4/59

Courier Magazine Section

Whiteman Earns Degree

College Organist Now A "Master"

CLARENCE WHITEMAN
Earns Master's Degree

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Clarence E. Whiteman, Bennett college organist and music instructor, recently received the degree of master of music from the Manhattan School of Music, New York City.

Mr. Whiteman, who was cited as one of the "outstanding students" holds an associate membership in the American Guild of Organists and a licentiate at Trinity College of Music, London, England.

HE IS A graduate of Lincoln university in Pennsylvania, School of Sacred Music, Union Theological Seminary of New York and the Guilmant Organ School.

He has served as organist and choir master of several large New York churches.

Miss Jacqueline Boseman
(Bennett class president)

Baltimore's lovely Jacqueline Boseman, a junior at Bennett College, was elected by her classmates to head the class for the 1959-60 academic year.

BENNETT ART EXHIBIT---Two art students at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C. view student exhibits in the Fine Arts Building which remained on display through commencement. They are: Misses Gloria Adams (left), of Bronx, N. Y., whose painting of her roommate is in the background and Adell Taylor, of Charlotte, N. C., who exhibited a textile design and several copper enamel pieces.

HERE'S HOW IT IS DONE---Miss Geraldine McDade, a commercial education senior, of Efland, N. C. demonstrates use of the electric typewriter as five high school seniors, who attended the Bennett College Youth Days program, look on. Left to right: Misses Ozzietta Thompson, of West Charlotte High School, Charlotte, N. C.; Dorothy Worthy, also of West Charlotte High and Nancy Helms, of Carver High School, Fieldale, Va.

Methodists Hold School For Leaders

GREENSBORO, N. C.— Bishop Edgar A. Love of Baltimore, Md., conducted the communion service which marked the close of the Baltimore Area Leadership School at Bennett College Saturday.

An activity of the Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church, the school this year attracted nearly 100 persons concerned with the educational program of the denomination of all age levels. A faculty of 10, headed by the Rev. Howard A. Bailey, dean, of Yeadon, Pa., offered a one-week program of courses which covered evangelism, counseling, recreation and adult work.

A NUMBER of district superintendents, church school superintendents and workers with children, youth and adults were in attendance.

The following courses were offered:

"Evangelism of Children, Dr. Mary Alice Jones; "Counseling Youth," the Rev. Marcus J. Birrell; "What is Ahead In Christian Education?", the Rev. J. Irvin McDonough; audio-visual features, the Rev. Ernest T. Dizon, all of the General Board of Education, Nashville; "New Frontiers for Adults," the Rev. R. Delbert Bynum, minister of education, Grace Methodist Church, Greensboro; Recreational Leadership, the Rev. R. Harold Hipps, minister of education, West Market Street Methodist Church, Greensboro.

Speakers Are Named

Program plans have been completed for the National Seminar of the Women's Division of Christian Service, to be held July 21-31 at Bennett College. Theme of the seminar is "The Family in a World of Rapid Social Change."

Speakers during the first week of the seminar include Miss Margaret Forsyth, executive of the foreign division, National Board of the YWCA; Dr. Dorothy Lee, anthropologist; Dr. Wolfang Stolper, professor of economics, University of Michigan; Dr. Willa Player, president of Bennett College; Dr. J. E. Carothers, pastor of First Methodist Church, Schenectady, N.Y. and Mrs. Grace Barbey and Dr. Zahir Ahmed of the United Nations' staff.

Second Week's Speakers

Among the second week speakers will be Dr. Theodore L. Tucker, secretary for Africa, Division of Foreign Mission, National Council of Churches, Miss Eleanor French, director-elect, Department of Christian Social Relations, United Church Women, and Miss Eva Shipstone, professor of psychology, Isabella Thoburn College, Lucknow, India.

Dr. James K. Mathews, associate general secretary of the Division of World Missions, Methodist Board of Missions, will speak each morning during the first week. Participants on various panels and discussion group leaders will include missionaries, deaconesses and elected and staff members of the Woman's Division.

About 140 women, from all parts of the United States, are expected to attend. Women from overseas, in addition to Miss Shipstone, will include Mrs. Jonah Chitombo of Southern Rhodesia; Mrs. Ang Kim Kiat of Singapore, and Mrs. H. B. Whitaker of England.

Mrs. Chitombo, wife of the Rev. Jonah Chitombo, a Methodist district superintendent in Rhodesia, is a graduate of Methodist mission schools and a trained nurse. Mrs. Ang is a teacher at Fairfield Methodist Girls' School in Singapore. Mrs. Whitaker is a magistrate of the Borough of Gravesend in Kent, England, and a Methodist local preacher.

Chairman of the seminar's program committee is Mrs. Ralph T. Wilson Sr., Laurens, S.C., a member of the Woman's Division. The seminar is a quadrennial conference Mrs. A. R. Henry of Menomonie, Wis., is department chairman.

TO SERVE COMMITTEE

Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College has accepted an invitation to serve as a member of the national women's planning committee of the Japan International Christian University Foundation Inc., New York City. Dr. Player also is vice president of the North Carolina Council of Churches.

Assembly Set At Bennett

More than 100 persons are expected at Bennett College Monday for the opening of the Youth Assembly sponsored by the North Carolina Methodist Conference.

The Assembly, which again will be directed by the Rev. Douglas Moore of Durham, executive secretary of the conference Board of Christian Education, will be in session through Saturday July 11.

The program will include classes, workshops and interest groups, which will include worship, arts and crafts, music, fellowship and dramatics.

The Rev. John Corry will conduct a communion service at 6 a.m. Saturday which will mark the close of the Assembly.

LAST OF THE YEAR---Final dance of the year was the Junior-Se Prom at Bennett College and these seniors and their escorts dis mixed emotions about it. Left to right: Eugene Blakely, Miss Er Martin, Spurgeon Cameron and Miss Nancy Williams. The young are students at neighboring A & T College.

Leadership school at Bennett closes

afro 7/11/59

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Bishop Edgar A. Love of Baltimore conducted the communion service which marked the close of the Baltimore Area Leadership School at Bennett College here Saturday.

An activity of the Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church, the school this year attracted nearly 100 persons concerned with the educational program of the denomination on all age levels.

A faculty of 10, headed by the Rev. Howard A. Bailey, dean of Yeadon, Pa., offered a one-week program of courses which covered evangelism counciing, recreation, and adult work.

Registered were the following from the three conferences which make up the area:

DELAWARE CONFERENCE

Miss Barbara T. Brown, Herman Brown, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Irving Elzey, Harold Smith, Rev. W. C. Strother Jr., Philadelphia;

Reuben Carter, John A. McRae, Miss Joan Wormsley, Jamaica, N.Y.; Rev. H. E. Anderson, Salisbury, Md.; Arnold and Frederick Arnold, Trenton, N.J.; Calvin Byrd, Delman, Del; Wayne Bailey, Yeadon, Pa.; Theodore Booth, White Plains, N.Y.; Lawrence Brown, Middleton, Del.; Miss Ruth Brown, Montclair, N.J.;

Sylvanus Brown, Centreville, Md.; James Carroll, Chester, Pa.; Mrs. Carolyn Dorman, Snow Hill, Md.; Rev. Claude Edmonds, Denton, Md.; Rev. Edwin Ellis, Princess Anne, Md.; Mrs. Louise Evans, Chester, Pa.; Mrs. Lucille Flemming, Newark, N.J.; Mrs. Jean Forth, Atlantic City, N.J.; Rev. S. G. Fullman, Woodbury, N.J.; Revs. William Johnson, Mt. Vernon, N.Y.; Rev. Trevor C. Jones, Easton, Md.; Rev. Edgar Jordan, Centerville, Md.;

Waldo Kiah, Princess Anne, Md.; David B. Nickerson, Townsend, Del.; Rev. Carlton Parker, Bridgeton, N.J.; Mrs. Louise Purnell, Girdletree, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Stanley, Dover, Del.; Rev. Crawford L. Trader, Easton, Md.

EAST TENN. CONFERENCE

Rev. J. S. Colter, Chattanooga; Miss Alberta Council, South Pittsburg; Rev. G. W. Hollowell, Cloverland; Robert E. Lyle, Harriman, and William A. Reid, Knoxville.

N.C. CONFERENCE

Rev. L. A. Brown, Miss Loretta Free, Miss Estelle McCallum and Miss Fannie McCallum, Greensboro; Mrs. Lillie Mae Barber, Mrs. Gladys Costner, Rev. J. T. Jones, Gastonia; Mrs. Eloise Dillahunt, Miss Myra Roseman, Winston - Salem; Miss Frances Beatty, Shelby; Joseph B. Bethea, Elkin; Mrs. Ruth Goolsby, Walnut Cove; Rev. G. E. Hogue, Laurinburg; Mrs. Delilah Knight, Spindale; Rev. Douglass Moore, Durham; Miss Olivia Peace, Hoffman; Rev. R. C. Sharpe, Fayetteville and Cleo H. Connor, Sherrills Ford.

WASHINGTON CONFERENCE

Mrs. Loretta Brooks, Annapolis; Mrs. Florence Davis, Cumberland; Mesdames Bernice Finch, Juanita Ellison, Bernice Gordon, Malcomia Phillips and Edna Williams and Rev. Willard Williams, all of Baltimore; Miss Yvonne Fisher, Glen Burnie; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Luckett, College Park, and Mrs. Elinora Williams, Frederick.

Washington, D.C.: Rev. Emma P. Hill, Rev. Jon Iseminger, Mrs. Beatrice Miller and Rev. Florence P. Simms.

Virginia: Mr. and Mrs. William Avery; and Mrs. Virgie Broady, Roanoke. Mrs. Anita Snowden, Arlington.

West Virginia: Mrs. Catherine Baker, Keyser; Mrs. Mary Brooks, Moorefield; Rev. J. W. Carroll, McKeesport.

Pennsylvania: Rev. Ernest P. Clark and Mrs. Elinora Mann, Pittsburgh.

Staff Members

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Bailey, Yeadon, Pa.; the Revs. Delbert R. Byrum and Harold R. Hipps, both of Greensboro; Julius Carroll, Washington, D.C.; William M. James, N.Y., N.Y., and Marcus Birrell, Ernest Dixon, Miss Mary Jones and Rev. J. Irvin McDonoud

95 Take Bennett Summer Program

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Following a battery of tests, counseling and a period of orientation, the 95 high school students attending the summer training program in science and mathematics at Bennett College, settled down to their second week of work in their six-week program.

The program, sponsored by the National Science Foundation and directed by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, has attracted high school graduates and rising seniors from nine states and the District of Columbia.

HEADING THE registration is North Carolina, with 59, of whom 18 are from Greensboro. There are seven each from Arkansas, South Carolina and Virginia, with five from Texas, two each from West Virginia, Tennessee and the District of Columbia, and one each from Florida and Alabama.

1960 CLASS HEADS — These young women were recently elected to head their respective classes at Bennett college for the 1959-60 academic year. From left, they are Misses Roslyn Cheagle, Lynchburg, Va., sophomore; Mrs. Marie Moore, Winston-Salem, N. C., senior and Jacqueline Boseman, Baltimore, Md., junior.

MISS ROSLYN CHEAGLE (Class president)

Methodist Women told to hold seminar on 'social change'

afro 7/11/59

GREENSBORO, N.C. The National Seminar of the Women's Division of Christian Service will be held July 21 to 31 at Bennett College, here.

Theme of the seminar is "The Family in a World of Rapid Social Change" and addresses and discussion groups will deal with aspects of this theme.

Speakers during the first week of the seminar include Miss Margaret Forsyth, executive of the Foreign Division, National Board of the YWCA; Dr. Dorothy Lee, anthropologist; Dr. Wolfgang Stolper, professor of economics, University of Michigan;

Dr. Willa Player, president of Bennett College; Dr. J. E. Carothers, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Schenectady, N.Y.; and Mrs. Grace Barbey and Dr. Zahir Ahmed of the United Nations staff.

AMONG THE second week speakers will be Dr. Theodore L. Tucker, secretary for Africa Division of Foreign Missions, National Council of Churches; Miss Eleanor French director-elect, Department of Christian Social Relations, United Church Women; and Miss Eva Shipstone, professor of psychology, Isabella Thoburn College, Lucknow, India.

Dr. James K. Mathews, associate general secretary of the Division of World Missions, Methodist Board of Missions, will speak each morning during the first week. Participants on various panels and discussion group leaders will include missionaries, deaconesses and elected and staff members of the Woman's Division.

ABOUT 140 women, from all parts of the United States, are expected to attend. Women from overseas, in addition to Miss Shipstone, will include Mrs. Jonah Chitombo of Southern Rhodesia; Mrs. Ang Kim Kiat of Singapore; and Mrs. H. B. Whitaker of England.

Mrs. Chitombo, the wife of the Rev. Jonah Chitombo, a Methodist district superintendent in Rhodesia, is a graduate of Methodist mission schools and a trained nurse. Mrs. Ang Kim Kiat is a teacher at Fairfield Methodist Girls' School in Singapore. Mrs. Whitaker is a magistrate of the Borough of Gravesend, in Kent, England, and a Methodist local preacher.

Chairman of the seminar's program committee is Mrs. Ralph T. Wilson Sr., of 402 Forest Drive, Laurens, S.C., a member of the Woman's Division. The seminar is a quadrennial conference of the division, with the Department of Christian Social Relations having administrative responsibility. Mrs. A. R. Henry, of 608 Wis., is chairman of the department.

Bishop Love Makes Appointments, Methodist Leadership School Ends

Carolinas 7/11/59

GREENSBORO — Bishop Edgar A. Love of Baltimore, Md., conducted the communion service which marked the close of the Baltimore Area Leadership School at Bennett College here Saturday.

An activity of the Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church, the school this year attracted nearly 100 persons concerned with the educational program of the denomination on all age levels.

A faculty of 10, headed by the Rev. Howard A. Bailey, dean, of Yeadon, Pa., offered a one-week program of courses which covered evangelism, counseling, recreation and adult work.

A number of district superintendents, church school superintendents and workers with children, youth and adults were in attendance. Registered were the following from the three conferences which make up the area.

DELAWARE CONFERENCE

Philadelphia: Miss Barbara T. Brown, Hermor Brown, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Irving Elzey, Harold Smith, Rev. W. C. Strother, Jr.

Jamaica, N.Y.: Reuben Carter, John A. McRae Miss Joan Wormsley.

Other cities: Rev. H. E. Anderson, Salisbury, Md.; Arnold and Frederick Arnold, Trenton, N.J.; Calvin Byrd, Delman, Del.; Wayne Bailey, Yeadon, Pa.; Theodore Booth, White Plains, N.Y.; Lawrence Brown, Middleton, Del.; Miss Ruth Brown, Montclair, N.J.; Sylvanus Brown, Centerville, Md.; James Carroll, Chester, Pa.; Mrs. Carolyn Dormon, Snow Hill, Md.; Rev. Claude Edmonds, Denton, Md.; Rev. Edwin Ellis, Princess Anne, Md.;

Mrs. Louise Evans, Chester, Pa.; Mrs Lucille Flemming, Newark, N.J.; Mrs. Jean Forth, Atlantic City, N.J.; Rev. S. G. Fullman, Woodbury, N.J.; Rev. William Johnson, Mt. Vernon, N.Y.; Rev. Trevor C. Jones, Easton, Md.; Rev. Edgar Jordan, Centerville, Md.; Waldo T. Kiah, Princess Anne, Md.; David B. Nickerson, Townsend, Del.; Rev. Carlton Parker, Bridgeton, N.J.; Mrs. Louise Purnell, Girdletree, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Stanley, Dover, Del.; Rev. Crawford L. Trader, Easton, Md.

EAST TENNESSEE CONFERENCE

Rev. J. S. Colter, Chattanooga; Miss Alberta Council, South Pittsburgh; Rev. G. W. Hollowell, Cloverland; Robert E. Lyle, Harriman; and William A. Reid, Knoxville.

NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE

Greensboro: Rev. L. A. Brown, Miss Loretta Free, Miss Estelle McCallum and Miss Fannie McCallum.

Gastonia: Mrs. Lillie Mae Barber, Mrs. Gladys Costner, Rev. J. T. Jones.

Winston-Salem: Mrs. Eloise Dillahunt, Miss Myra Roseman,

Mission School Enrollment Is Listed Here

GREENSBORO—With a registration of 93 women, the School of Missions and Christian Service closed its one-week session at Bennett College last week.

Sponsored by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the North Carolina Methodist Conference, with Mrs. Mary Morrison, of Statesville, as chairman and Miss Fannie McCallum of Greensboro, as dean, the school offered credit courses in three subjects.

Among those registered were the following:

GREENSBORO DISTRICT

Mesdames Ludelia Royster, Oxford; Ophelia Simpson, Leaksville; Greensboro—R. B. Withers Ruth Martin, O. P. Womack, Lena McMillan, Eva Vanstory, Virginia Blount, Nancy Cheek, J. W. Simpson, Madeline Turner, Estelle Tatum, Reatha Donnell, Smitherman, Ruth Comer, Susie W. Brown, G. M. Phelps, J. E. Brower, Ivey Bynum, Nixon Rivers, Willie Mae Price, K. W. Jones, Betty L. Rankins, Katie Hairston, Ollie Yores and Misses Estelle McCallum and Ada Tonkins.

LAURINBURG DISTRICT

Mesdames Catherine Ray, Wilmington; Emily Benton, Rowland; C. A. Hargrove, Maxton; Mary B. Carrell, Rowland; Inez F. Page, Rowland; Mattie J. Fennell, Wilmington; Della McManus, Charlotte; T. H. Wooton, Charlotte; Rebecca Russell, Charlotte; W. M. Dunaway, Fayetteville; Maggie Kemp, Lumberton; Katie Webb, Fayetteville; and James McCallum, Maxton.

WESTERN DISTRICT

Mesdames Ruth Jolley, Lenoir; Mattie Gidney, Shelby; Green Dixon, Granite Falls; Beulah Costner, Stanley; Aurelia Stewart, Mooresville; Carrie E. Williamson, Marion; Agnes B. Jones, Gastonia; Annie Harkness, Marion; Alease Bailey, Wilkesboro.

Mesdames A. W. Stowe, Newton; Mary McGill, Gastonia; M. L. Richardson, Cherryville; Mary L. Gleaves, Shelby; Lillian Gleaves, Shelby; Helen Abernathy, Hickory; Arlette Pearson, Newton; Marion Payne, Thomasville; Connie L. Williams, Marion, and Misses Louise Hood, Shelby; Ruby Mae Gabriel, Statesville and I. R. Jones, Asheville.

WINSTON DISTRICT

Mesdames Louise W. King, Winston-Salem; Zula Lovell, Pilot Mountain; Bessie Satterfield, Mt. Airy; Alma Frost, Winston-Salem; Cozet Belo, Winston-Salem; Helen G. Cole, High Point; Eleanor C. Mills, Winston-Salem; Macie McCauley, Thomasville; J. W. Jones, Asheboro; Ruth Patterson, High Point.

Marion Payne, Thomasville; L. A. Brown, Greensboro; Elizabeth Dula, Lexington, Bessie Yokley, Winston-Salem; C. A. Barrett, Asheboro; L. M. Mayfield, Winston-Salem; A. P. McLeod, High Point, and Misses Annie Jones, High Point; Mary Harrison, Asheboro; Catherine Miller, Winston-Salem, Beatrice Watts, Winston-Salem.

The Woman's Society of Chri... Service Ends Schooling At Be...

F.O. 7/14/59

With a registration of 93 women, the School of Missions and Christian Service closed its one-week session at Bennet College last week.

Sponsored by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the North Carolina Methodist Conference, with Mrs. Mary Morrison, of Statesville, as chairman and Miss Fannie McCallum of Greensboro, as dean, the school offered credit courses in three subjects.

A course in "The Church's Mission in Town and Country" was taught by Mrs. Dorothy P. Jones of Reidsville and one on "The Role of the United Nations in World Affairs" was taught by Mrs. David D. Jones.

Three missionaries were in attendance during the school. They were Miss Mary D. Finch, who formerly served at the Hiroshima Girls' School in Hiroshima, Japan; Miss Evline Weems who served with a Methodist mission in Seoul, Korea, and Miss Ruth Merritt, who recently completed a tour of duty in Brizil. Miss I. R. Jones, retired conference missionary, of Asheville, was also in attendance.

Among those registe... the following:

GREENSBORO DIS...

Mesdames Ludelia ... Oxford; Ophelia Simpso... ers, Ruth Martin, O. ... sville; Greensboro - R. B. ... mack, Lena McMillan, ... Vanstory, Virginia Blount, ... Cheek, J. W. Simpson, M... Turner, Estelle Tatum, ... Donnell, Smitherman, ... Comer, Susie W. Brown, ... Phelps, J. E. Brower, ... Bynum, Nixon Rivers, ... Mae Price, K. W. Jon... L. Rankins, Katie Hair... lie Yores and Misse... McCallum and Ada T...

LAURINBURG RIS...

Mesdames Catherine ... mington; Emily Bent... land; C. A. Hargrove, ... Mary B. Carrell, Rowl... F. Page, Rowland; ... Fennell, Wilmington; ... Manus, Charlotte; T. H... Charlotte; Rebecca ... Charlotte; W. M. G... Fayetteville; Maggie ... Lumberton; Katie Web... teville; and James ... Maxton.

WESTERN DIST...

Mesdames Ruth Jo... noir; Mattie Gidney, ... Green Dixon, Granite Falls; Beulah Costner, Stanley; Aurelia Stewart, Mooresville; Carrie E. Williamson, Marion; Agnes B. Jones; Gastonia; Annie Harkness, Marion; Alease Bailey, Wilkesboro.

Mesdames A. W. Stowe, Newton; Mary McGill, Gastonia; M. L. Richardson, Cherryville; Mary Morrison, Statesville; Louisa Hood, Shelby; Connie Abernathy, Statesville; B. L. Burge, Newton; Anna Wise, Statesville; Mary L. Gleaves, Shelby; Lillian Gleaves, Shelby; Helen Abernathy, Hickory; Arlette Pearson, Newton; Marion Payne, Thomasville; Connie L. Williams, Marion, and Misses Louise Hood, Shelby; Ruby Mae Gabriel, Statesville and I. R. Jones, Asheville.

WINSTON DISTRICT

Mesdames Louise W. King, Winston-Salem; Zula Lovell, Pilot Mountain; Bessie Satterfield, Mt. Airy; Alma Frost, Winston - Salem; Cozet Belo, Winston-Salem; Helen G. Cole, High Point; Eleanor C. Mills, Winston-Salem; Macie McCauley, Thomasville; J. W. Jones, Asheboro; Ruth Patterson, High Point.

Marion Payne, Thomasville; L. A. Brown, Greensboro; Elizabeth Dula, Lexington, Bessie Yokley, Winston-Salem; C. A. Barrett, Asheboro; L. M. Mayfield, Winston-Salem; A. P. McLeod, High Point, and Misses Annie Jones, High Point; Mary Harrison, Asheboro; Catherine Miller, Winston-Salem, Beatrice Watts, Winston-Salem.

Other Cities: Miss Frances Beatty, Shelby; Joseph B. Bethea, Elkin; Mrs. Ruth Goolsby, Walnut Cove; Rev. G. E. Hogue, Laurinburg; Mrs. Delilah Knight, Spindale; Rev. Douglass Moore, Durham; Miss Olivia Peace, Hoffman; Rev. R. C. Sharpe, Fayetteville and Cleo H. Connor, Sherrills Ford.

WASHINGTON CONFERENCE

Maryland: Mrs. Loretta Brooks, Anapolis; Mrs. Florence ... Cumberland; Mesdames ... Finch, Juanita Ellison, Bernice Gordon, Malcomia Phillips and Edna Williams and Rev. Willard Williams, all of Baltimore; Miss Yvonne Fisher, Glen Burnie; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Luckett, College Park and Mrs. Elinora Williams, Frederick.

Washington, D. C.: Rev. Emma P. Hill, Rev. Jon Iseminger, Mrs. Beatrice Miller and Rev. Florence P. Simmons.

Virginia: Mr and Mrs. Willie ... Avery and Mrs. Virbie Broady, Roanoke; Mrs. Anita Snowden, Arlington.

West Virginia: Mrs. Catherine Baker, Keyser; Mrs. Mary Brooks, Moorefield; Rev. J. W. Carroll, McKeesport.

Pennsylvania: Rev. Ernest P. Clark and Mrs. Elinora Mann, Pittsburgh.

THE WYNN SISTERS, of Greensboro, N.C., Margaret Lorraine, left and Hattie Helena, right, graduated at the top of their respective classes in June. Margaret, valedictorian of the 1959 Class at Dudley High School, is a member of the National Honor Society and has received scholarship grants from Hampton Institute and the Greensboro Alumnae chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority and a National science scholarship to attend Bennett College this summer. Hattie finished at the top of the gradu... class at the Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal ... ol in June.

afro 7/11/59

Bennett ... science-math course

afro 7/18/59

GREENSBORO, N.C.— Following a battery of tests, counseling and a period of orientation, some 95 high school pupils were enrolled in the summer training program in science and mathematics at Bennett College.

The six - week program is sponsored by the National Science Foundation and directed by Dr. J. Henry Sayles. The enrollment includes high school graduates and rising seniors from nine states and the District of Columbia.

North Carolina

Cecelia Grer, Belmont; William Greene, William Greene, Andrew Warner, Deaver Brown, Charlotte; Jean Ledbetter, Dunn; Charles Stanback, Ruth Turner, Durham; Raymond Thomas, Gastonia; Edwina Palmer, Gibsonville; Linda Powell, Goldsboro; elsie White, Graham;

Franklin L. Bailey, Waldo Falkener, Evander Gilmer, Thomas Johnson, Roger Ralford, Michael Rivers, Leonard Robinson, Bernard White, Thomasine Corbett, Juanita Caldwell, Delgracia Feaster, Nan Fisher, Paula Jewell, Francine McAdoo, Virginia McAdoo, Margaret Wynn, Margaret Falkener, Mary Young, all of Greensboro; Doris Alexander, Henderson; Oscar Cole, Matthews, Ronald Yokely, Beverly Digs, Lynn Fountain, Bettye Jo Hutton, Gwendolyn Jones, all of High Point;

Margaret Brown, Hunterville; Elaine Ootes, Iron Station; Shirley McDuffie, Laurinburg; Barbara Broadnax, Leaksville; Jean Walker, Lilleton; Doris Perry, Macon; Shirley Foust, Mebane; Mary O'Neil, Morganton;

Opal Hughes, Pilot Mountain; Guytanna Horton, Leah Ramsey, Pittsboro; Giroia Graves, Reidsville; Cora Hodge, Rockingham; Carolyn Wright, Shelby; Sylvia Sharpe, Statesville; Eleanor Smith, Summerfield; Preston Williams, Joan Adams, Catherine Brown, Carlyle Moore, Winston - Salem, and Mary Lownes, Yanceyville.

Alabama

Judy Simmons, Cedar Bluff

Arkansas

Herbert Calhoun, Kenneth Caudle, Theopolis Fair, Thomas McKeel, Clayton McKindra, Clifton Roaf and Evelyn Phipps, all of Pine Bluff.

Florida

Sarah Williams, Miami.

South Carolina

Carol Felton, Florence; Willa Harris, Columbia; Helen McClure, Rock Hill; Gloria Montgomery, Sumter; Elizabeth Patterson, Fort Mill; Delores Timmons, Florence; Sandra White, Columbia.

Tennessee

George Breathett, Memphis; Esther Roberts, Nashville.

Texas

David J. Abner, Houston; Allen Washington, Houston; Leslie ... Dallas; Patricia Jackson, Dallas; Dona Robey, Houston.

Virginia

Vernon Stockton, Roanoke; Bobbie Brown, Amonate; Zelma Hayes, South Hill; Marion Manns, Bassett; Lorraine Ramsey, Amonate; Carolyn Scott, Ruthville Jewell Tucker, Boydton.

West Virginia

Nita Grimes and Carol Watkins both of Madison.

Washington, D.C.

Patricia Patterson and Earline Terrell.

Methodist Women Plan Seminar In Greensboro

dtg 7/11/59

GREENSBORO, N. C.—Program plans have been completed for the National Seminar of the Women's Division of Christian Service, to be held July 21 to 31 at Bennett College at Greensboro. Theme of the seminar is "The Family in a World of Rapid Social Change," and addresses and discussion groups will deal with aspects of this theme.

Speakers during the first week of the seminar include Miss Margaret Forsyth, executive of the Foreign Division, National Board of the YWCA; Dr. Dorothy Lee, anthropologist; Dr. Wolfgang Stolper, professor of economics, University of Michigan; Dr. Willa Player, president of Bennett College; Dr. J. E. Carothers, pastor of First Methodist Church, Schenectady, N. Y., and Mrs. Grace Barbey and Dr. Zahir Ahmed of the United Nations' staff.

AMONG THE second week speakers will be Dr. Theodore L. Tucker, secretary for Africa, Division of Foreign Missions, National Council of Churches; Miss Eleanor French, director-elect, Department of Christian Social Relations, United Church Women; and Miss Eva Shipstone, professor of psychology, Isabella Thoburn College, Lucknow, India.

Dr. James K. Mathews, associate secretary of the Division of World Missions, Methodist Board of Missions, will speak each morning during the first week. Participants on various panels and discussion group leaders will include missionaries, deaconesses and elected and staff members of the Woman's Division.

Seminar at Bennett College

GREENSBORO, N.C. — The National Seminar of the Women's Division of Christian Service, will convene on the campus of Bennett College, July 21.

"The Family in a World of Rapid Social Change" is the theme of the seminar, which ends July 31st.

About 140 women from the U.S. as well as representatives from Rhodesia, Singapore and England are expected to attend.

Addresses and discussion groups will talk on the theme of the seminar.

First week speakers are: Miss Margaret Forsyth, executive, YWCA; Dr. Dorothy Lee, anthropologist; Dr. Wolfgang Stolper, professor of economics, University of Michigan.

Dr. Willa Player, president of Bennett College; Dr. J. E. Carothers, pastor of First Methodist Church, Schenectady, N. Y. and Mrs. Grace Barbey, Dr. Zahir Ahmed of the UN staff.

Speakers for the second week are; Dr. Theodore L. Tucker, National Council of Churches; Miss E. French, director of Churches; Miss E. French, director of Christian Social Relations, United Church Women; Miss Eva Shipstone, Lucknow, India.

Dr. James K. Mathews, Methodist Board of Missions, will speak each morning of the first week.

The panels and discussion groups will include missionaries, deaconesses and elected members of the Woman's Division.

Overseas speakers include: Mrs. Jonah Chitombo, Southern Rhodesia, Mrs. Ang Kim Kiat of Singapore, and Mrs. H. B. Whitaker of England.

Mrs. Ralph T. Wilson Sr. S.C., member of the woman's division, is chairman of the seminar's program committee. The seminar is a quadrennial conference of the division.

Seminar On Family Set At Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C.—Program plans have been completed for the National Seminar of the Woman's Division of Christian Service, to be held July 21 to 31 at Bennett College, here. Theme of the seminar is "The Family in a World of Rapid Social Change," and addresses and discussion groups will deal with the aspects of this theme.

Speakers during the first week of the seminar include Miss Margaret Forsyth, executive of the Foreign Division, National Board of the YWCA; Dr. Dorothy Lee, anthropologist; Dr. Wolfgang Stolper, professor of economics, University of Michigan; Dr. Willa Player, president of Bennett College; Dr. J. E. Carothers, pastor of First Methodist Church, Schenectady, N. Y., and Mrs. Grace Barkey and Dr. Zahir Ahmed of the United Nations' staff.

Among the second week speakers will be Dr. Theodore L. Tucker, secretary for Africa, Division of Foreign Missions, National Council of Churches; Miss Eleanor French, director-elect, Department of Christian Social Relations, United Church Women; Miss Eva Shipstone, professor of psychology, Isabella Thoburn college, Lucknow, India.

LAST OF THE YEAR---Final dance of the year was the Junior-Se Prom at Bennett College and these seniors and their escorts dis mixed emotions about it. Left to right: Eugene Blakely, Miss Er Martin, Spurgeon Cameron and Miss Nancy Williams. The young are students at neighboring A & T College.

Leadership school at Bennett closes

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Bishop Edgar A. Love of Baltimore conducted the communion service which marked the close of the Baltimore Area Leadership School at Bennett College here Saturday.

An activity of the Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church, the school this year attracted nearly 100 persons concerned with the educational program of the denomination on all age levels.

A faculty of 10, headed by the Rev. Howard A. Bailey, dean of Yeadon, Pa., offered a one-week program of courses which covered evangelism, counseling, recreation, and adult work.

Registered were the following from the three conferences which make up the area:

DELAWARE CONFERENCE

Miss Barbara T. Brown, Herman Brown, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Irving Elzey, Harold Smith, Rev. W. C. Strother Jr., Philadelphia; Reuben Carter, John A. McRae, Miss Joan Wormsley, Jamaica, N.Y.; Rev. H. E. Anderson, Salisbury, Md.; Arnold and Frederick Arnold, Trenton, N.J.; Calvin Byrd, Delman, Del.; Wayne Bailey, Yeadon, Pa.; Theodore Booth, White Plains, N.Y.; Lawrence Brown, Middleton, Del.; Miss Ruth Brown, Montclair, N.J.; Sylvanus Brown, Centreville, Md.; James Carroll, Chester, Pa.; Mrs. Carolyn Dorman, Snow Hill, Md.; Rev. Claude Edmonds, Denton, Md.; Rev. Edwin Ellis, Princess Anne, Md.; Mrs. Louise Evans, Chester, Pa.; Mrs. Lucille Flemming, Newark, N.J.; Mrs. Jean Forth, Atlantic City, N.J.; Rev. S. G. Fullman, Woodbury, N.J.; Rev. William Johnson, Mt. Vernon, N.Y.; Rev. Trevor C. Jones, Easton, Md.; Rev. Edgar Jordan, Centreville, Md.; Waldo Kiah, Princess Anne, Md.; David B. Nickerson, Townsend, Del.; Rev. Carlton Parker, Bridgeton, N.J.; Mrs. Louise Purnell, Girdletree, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Stanley, Dover, Del.; Rev. Crawford L. Trader, Easton, Md.

EAST TENN. CONFERENCE

Rev. J. S. Colter, Chattanooga; Miss Alberta Council, South Pittsburg; Rev. G. W. Hollowell, Cloverland; Robert E. Lyle, Harriman, and William A. Reid, Knoxville.

N.C. CONFERENCE

Rev. L. A. Brown, Miss Loretta Free, Miss Estelle McCallum and Miss Fannie McCallum, Greensboro; Mrs. Lillie Mae Barber, Mrs. Gladys Costner, Rev. J. T. Jones, Gastonia; Mrs. Eloise Dillahunt, Miss Myra Roseman, Winston - Salem; Miss Frances Beatty, Shelby; Joseph B. Bethea, Elkin; Mrs. Ruth Goolsby, Walnut Cove; Rev. G. E. Hogue, Laurinburg; Mrs. Delilah Knight, Spindale; Rev. Douglass Moore, Durham; Miss Olivia Peace, Hoffman; Rev. R. C. Sharpe, Fayetteville and Cleo H. Connor, Sherrills Ford.

WASHINGTON CONFERENCE

Mrs. Loretta Brooks, Annapolis; Mrs. Florence Davis, Cumberland; Mesdames Bernice Finch, Juanita Ellison, Bernice Gordon, Malcomia Phillips and Edna Williams and Rev. Willard Williams, all of Baltimore; Miss Yvonne Fisher, Glen Burnie; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Luckett, College Park; and Mrs. Elinora Williams, Fredericks.

Washington, D.C.: Rev. Emma P. Hill, Rev. Jon Iseminger, Mrs. Beatrice Miller and Rev. Florence P. Simms.

Virginia: Mr. and Mrs. William Avery; and Mrs. Virgie Broady, Roanoke; Mrs. Anita Snowden, Arlington.

West Virginia: Mrs. Catherine Baker, Keyser; Mrs. Mary Brooks, Moorefield; Rev. J. W. Carroll, McKeesport.

Pennsylvania: Rev. Ernest P. Clark, and Mrs. Elinora Mann, Pittsburgh.

Staff Members

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Bailey, Yeadon, Pa.; the Revs. Delbert R. Byrum and Harold R. Hipps, both of Greensboro; Julius Carroll, Washington, D.C.; William M. James, N.Y., N.Y., and Marcus Birrell, Ernest Dixon, Miss Mary Jones and Rev. J. Irvin McDonoud.

95 Take Bennett Summer Program

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Following a battery of tests, counseling and a period of orientation, the 95 high school students attending the summer training program in science and mathematics at Bennett College, settled down to their second week of work in their six-week program.

The program, sponsored by the National Science Foundation and directed by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, has attracted high school graduates and rising seniors from nine states and the District of Columbia.

HEADING THE registration is North Carolina, with 59, of whom 18 are from Greensboro. There are seven each from Arkansas, South Carolina and Virginia, with five from Texas, two each from West Virginia, Tennessee and the District of Columbia, and one each from Florida and Alabama.

1960 CLASS HEADS — These young women were recently elected to head their respective classes at Bennett college for the 1959-60 academic year. From left, they are Misses Roslyn Cheagle, Lynchburg, Va., sophomore; Mrs. Marie Moore, Winston-Salem, N. C., senior and Jacqueline Boseman, Baltimore, Md., junior.

MISS ROSLYN CHEAGLE
(Class president)

Methodist Women told to hold seminar on 'social change'

GREENSBORO, N.C. The National Seminar of the Women's Division of Christian Service will be held July 21 to 31 at Bennett College, here.

Theme of the seminar is "The Family in a World of Rapid Social Change" and addresses and discussion groups will deal with aspects of this theme.

Speakers during the first week of the seminar include Miss Margaret Forsyth, executive of the Foreign Division, National Board of the YWCA; Dr. Dorothy Lee, anthropologist; Dr. Wolfgang Stolper, professor of economics, University of Michigan;

Dr. Willa Player, president of Bennett College; Dr. J. E. Carothers, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Schenectady, N.Y.; and Mrs. Grace Barbey and Dr. Zahir Ahmed of the United Nations staff.

AMONG THE second week speakers will be Dr. Theodore L. Tucker, secretary for Africa Division of Foreign Missions, National Council of Churches; Miss Eleanor French director-elect, Department of Christian Social Relations, United Church Women; and Miss Eva Shipstone, professor of psychology, Isabella Thoburn College, Lucknow, India.

Dr. James K. Mathews, associate general secretary of the Division of World Missions, Methodist Board of Missions, will speak each morning during the first week. Participants on various panels and discussion group leaders will include missionaries, deaconesses and elected and staff members of the Woman's Division.

ABOUT 140 women, from all parts of the United States, are expected to attend. Women from overseas, in addition to Miss Shipstone, will include Mrs. Jonah Chitombo of Southern Rhodesia; Mrs. Ang Kim Kiat of Singapore; and Mrs. H. B. Whitaker of England.

Mrs. Chitombo, the wife of the Rev. Jonah Chitombo, a Methodist district superintendent in Rhodesia, is a graduate of Methodist mission schools and a trained nurse. Mrs. Ang Kim Kiat is a teacher at Fairfield Methodist Girls' School in Singapore. Mrs. Whitaker is a magistrate of the Borough of Gravesend in Kent, England, and a Methodist local preacher.

Chairman of the seminar's program committee is Mrs. Ralph T. Wilson Sr., of 402 Forest Drive, Laurens, S.C., a member of the Woman's Division. The seminar is a quadrennial conference of the division with the Department of Christian Social Relations having administrative responsibility. Mrs. A. R. Henry, of 608 Wis., is chairman of the department.

THE WYNN SISTERS, of Greensboro, N.C., Margaret Lorraine, left and Hattie Helena, right, graduated at the top of their respective classes in June. Margaret, valedictorian of the 1959 Class at Dudley High School, is a member of the National Honor Society and has received scholarship grants from Hampton Institute and the Greensboro Alumnae chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority and a National science scholarship to attend Bennett College this summer. Hattie finished at the top of the graduating class at the Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal School in June.

Bishop Love Makes Appointments, Methodist Leadership School Ends

GREENSBORO — Bishop Edgar A. Love of Baltimore, Md., conducted the communion service which marked the close of the Baltimore Area Leadership School at Bennett College here Saturday.

An activity of the Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church, the school this year attracted nearly 100 persons concerned with the educational program of the denomination on all age levels.

A faculty of 10, headed by the Rev. Howard A. Bailey, dean, of Yeadon, Pa., offered a one-week program of courses which covered evangelism, counseling, recreation and adult work.

A number of district superintendents, church school superintendents and workers with children, youth and adults were in attendance. Registered were the following from the three conferences which make up the area.

DELAWARE CONFERENCE

Philadelphia: Miss Barbara T. Brown, Hermor Brown, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Irving Elzey, Harold Smith, Rev. W. C. Strother, Jr.

Jamaica, N.Y.: Reuben Carter, John A. McRae Miss Joan Wormsley.

Other cities: Rev. H. E. Anderson, Salisbury, Md.; Arnold and Frederick Arnold, Trenton, N. J.; Calvin Byrd, Delman, Del.; Wayne Bailey, Yeadon, Pa.; Theodore Booth, White Plains, N. Y.; Lawrence Brown, Middleton, Del.; Miss Ruth Brown, Montclair, N. J.; Sylvanus Brown, Centerville, Md.; James Carroll, Chester, Pa.; Mrs. Carolyn Dormon, Snow Hill, Md.; Rev. Claude Edmonds, Denton, Md.; Rev. Edwin Ellis, Princess Anne, Md.;

Mrs. Louise Evans, Chester, Pa.; Mrs Lucille Flemming, Newark, N. J.; Mrs. Jean Forth, Atlantic City, N. J.; Rev. S. G. Fullman, Woodbury, N. J.; Rev. William Johnson, Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; Rev. Trevor C. Jones, Easton, Md.; Rev. Edgar Jordan, Centerville, Md.; Waldo T. Kiah, Princess Anne, Md.; David B. Nickerson, Townsend, Del.; Rev. Carlton Parker, Bridgeton, N. J.; Mrs. Louise Purnell, Girdletree, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Stanley, Dover, Del.; Rev. Crawford L. Trader, Easton, Md.

EAST TENNESSEE CONFERENCE

Miss Alberta Council, South Pittsburgh.; Rev. G. W. Hollowell, Cloverland; Robert E. Lyle, Harriman; and William A. Reid, Knoxville.

NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE

Greensboro: Rev. L. A. Brown, Miss Loretta Free, Miss Estelle McCallum and Miss Fannie McCallum.

Gastonia: Mrs. Lillie Mae Barber, Mrs. Gladys Costner, Rev. J. T. Jones.

Winston-Salem: Mrs. Eloise Dillahunt, Miss Myra Rosemann.

Other Cities: Miss Frances Beatty, Shelby; Joseph B. Bethea, Elkin; Mrs. Ruth Goolsby, Walnut Cove; Rev. G. E. Hogue, Laurinburg; Mrs. Delilah Knight, Spindale; Rev. Douglass Moore, Durham; Miss Olivia Peace, Hoffman; Rev. R. C. Sharpe, Fayetteville and Cleo H. Connor, Sherrills Ford.

WASHINGTON CONFERENCE

Maryland: Mrs. Loretta Brooks, Anapolis; Mrs. Florence [illegible] Cumberland; Mesdames [illegible] Finch, Juanita Ellison, Bernice Gordon, Malcomia Phillips and Edna Williams and Rev. Willard Williams, all of Baltimore; Miss Yvonne Fisher, Glen Burnie; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Luckett, College Park and Mrs. Elinora Williams, Frederick.

Washington, D. C.: Rev. Emma P. Hill, Rev. Jon Iseminger, Mrs. Beatrice Miller and Rev. Florence P. Simmons.

Virginia: Mr. and Mrs. William Avery; and Mrs. Virgie Broady, Roanoke; Mrs. Anita Snowden, Arlington.

West Virginia: Mrs. Catherine Baker, Keyser; Mrs. Mary Brooks, Moorefield; Rev. J. W. Carroll, McKeesport.

Pennsylvania: Rev. Ernest P. Clark and Mrs. Elinora Mann, Pittsburgh.

Mission School Enrollment Is Listed Here

GREENSBORO—With a registration of 93 women, the School of Missions and Christian Service closed its one-week session at Bennett College last week.

Sponsored by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the North Carolina Methodist Conference, with Mrs. Mary Morrison, of Statesville, as chairman and Miss Fannie McCallum of Greensboro, as dean, the school offered credit courses in three subjects.

Among those registered were the following:

GREENSBORO DISTRICT

Mesdames Ludelia Royster, Oxford; Ophelia Simpson, Leaksville; Greensboro—R. B. Withers Ruth Martin, O. P. Womack, Lena McMillan, Eva Vanstory, Virginia Blount, Nancy Cheek, J. W. Simpson, Madeline Turner, Estelle Tatum, Reatha Donnell, Smitherman, Ruth Comer, Susie W. Brown, G. M. Phelps, J. E. Brower, Ivey Bynum, Nixon Rivers, Willie Mae Price, K. W. Jones, Betty L. Rankins, Katie Hairston, Ollie Yores and Misses Estelle McCallum and Ada Tonkins.

LAURINBURG DISTRICT

Mesdames Catherine Ray, Wilmington; Emily Benton, Rowland; C. A. Hargrove, Maxton; Mary B. Carrell, Rowland; Inez F. Page, Rowland; Mattie J. Fennell, Wilmington; Della McManus, Charlotte; T. H. Wooton, Charlotte; Rebecca Russell, Charlotte; W. M. Gannaway, Fayetteville; Maggie McLean, Lumberton; Katie Webb, Fayetteville; and James McCallum, Maxton.

WESTERN DISTRICT

Mesdames Ruth Jolley, Lenoir; Mattie Gidney, Shelby; Green Dixon, Granite Falls; Beulah Costner, Stanley; Aurelia Stewart, Mooresville; Carrie E. Williamson, Marion; Agnes B. Jones, Gastonia; Annie Harkness, Marion; Alease Bailey, Wilkesboro.

Mesdames A. W. Stowe, Newton; Mary McGill, Gastonia; M. L. Richardson, Cherryville; Mary L. Gleaves, Shelby; Lillian Gleaves, Shelby; Helen Abernathy, Hickory; Arlette Pearson, Newton; Marion Payne, Thomasville; Connie L. Williams, Marion, and Misses Louise Hood, Shelby; Ruth Mae Gabriel, Statesville and I. R. Jones, Asheville.

WINSTON DISTRICT

Mesdames Louise W. King, Winston-Salem; Zula Lovell, Pilot Mountain; Bessie Satterfield, Mt. Airy; Alma Frost, Winston-Salem; Cozet Belo, Winston-Salem; Helen G. Cole, High Point; Eleanor C. Mills, Winston-Salem; Macie McCauley, Thomasville; J. W. Jones, Asheboro; Ruth Patterson, High Point.

Marion Payne, Thomasville; L. A. Brown, Greensboro; Elizabeth Dula, Lexington, Bessie Yokley, Winston-Salem; C. A. Barrett, Asheboro; L. M. Mayfield, Winston-Salem; A. P. McLeod, High Point, and Misses Annie Jones, High Point; Mary Harrison, Asheboro; Catherine Miller, Winston-Salem, Beatrice Watts, Winston-Salem.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service Ends Schooling At Bennett

With a registration of 93 women, the School of Missions and Christian Service closed its one-week session at Bennet College last week.

Sponsored by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the North Carolina Methodist Conference, with Mrs. Mary Morrison, of Statesville, as chairman and Miss Fannie McCallum of Greensboro, as dean, the school offered credit courses in three subjects.

A course in "The Church's Mission in Town and Country" was taught by Mrs. Dorothy P. Jones of Reidsville and one on "The Role of the United Nations in World Affairs" was taught by Mrs. David D. Jones.

Three missionaries were in attendance during the school. They were Miss Mary D. Finch, who formerly served at the Hiroshima Girls' School in Hiroshima, Japan; Miss Evline Weems, who served with a Methodist mission in Seoul, Korea, and Miss Ruth Merritt, who recently completed a tour of duty in Brizil. Miss I. R. Jones, retired conference missionary, of Asheville, was also in attendance.

Among those registered were the following:

GREENSBORO DISTRICT

Mesdames Ludelia Royster, Oxford; Ophelia Simpson, Leakers, Ruth Martin, O. P. Womack, Lena McMillan, Eva Vanstory, Virginia Blount, Nancy Cheek, J. W. Simpson, Madeline Turner, Estelle Tatum, Reatha Donnell, Smitherman, Ruth Comer, Susie W. Brown, G. M. Phelps, J. E. Brower, Ivey Bynum, Nixon Rivers, Willie Mae Price, K. W. Jones, Betty L. Rankins, Katie Hairston, Ollie Yores and Misses Estelle McCallum and Ada Tonkins.

LAURINBURG DISTRICT

Mesdames Catherine Ray, Wilmington; Emily Benton, Rowland; C. A. Hargrove, Maxton; Mary B. Carrell, Rowland; Inez F. Page, Rowland; Mattie J. Fennell, Wilmington; Della McManus, Charlotte; T. H. Wooton, Charlotte; Rebecca Russell, Charlotte; W. M. Gannaway, Fayetteville; Maggie McLean, Lumberton; Katie Webb, Fayetteville; and James McCallum, Maxton.

WESTERN DISTRICT

Mesdames Ruth Jolley, Lenoir; Mattie Gidney, Shelby; Green Dixon, Granite Falls; Beulah Costner, Stanley; Aurelia Stewart, Mooresville; Carrie E. Williamson, Marion; Agnes B. Jones, Gastonia; Annie Harkness, Marion; Alease Bailey, Wilkesboro.

Mesdames A. W. Stowe, Newton; Mary McGill, Gastonia; M. L. Richardson, Cherryville; Mary L. Gleaves, Shelby; Lillian Gleaves, Shelby; Helen Abernathy, Hickory; Arlette Pearson, Newton; Marion Payne, Thomasville; Connie L. Williams, Marion, and Misses Louise Hood, Shelby; Ruth Mae Gabriel, Statesville and I. R. Jones, Asheville.

WINSTON DISTRICT

Mesdames Louise W. King, Winston-Salem; Zula Lovell, Pilot Mountain; Bessie Satterfield, Mt. Airy; Alma Frost, Winston - Salem; Cozet Belo, Winston-Salem; Helen G. Cole, High Point; Eleanor C. Mills, Winston-Salem; Macie McCauley, Thomasville; J. W. Jones, Asheboro; Ruth Patterson, High Point.

Marion Payne, Thomasville; L. A. Brown, Greensboro; Elizabeth Dula, Lexington, Bessie Yokley, Winston-Salem; C. A. Barrett, Asheboro; L. M. Mayfield, Winston-Salem; A. P. McLeod, High Point, and Misses Annie Jones, High Point; Mary Harrison, Asheboro; Catherine Miller, Winston-Salem, Beatrice Watts, Winston-Salem.

Methodist Women Plan Seminar In Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N. C.—Program plans have been completed for the National Seminar of the Women's Division of Christian Service, to be held July 21 to 31 at Bennett College at Greensboro. Theme of the seminar is "The Family in a World of Rapid Social Change," and addresses and discussion groups will deal with aspects of this theme.

Speakers during the first week of the seminar include Miss Margaret Forsyth, executive of the Foreign Division, National Board of the YWCA; Dr. Dorothy Lee, anthropologist; Dr. Wolfgang Stolper, professor of economics, University of Michigan; Dr. Willa Player, president of Bennett College; Dr. J. E. Carothers, pastor of First Methodist Church, Schenectady, N. Y., and Mrs. Grace Barbey and Dr. Zahir Ahmed of the United Nations' staff.

AMONG THE second week speakers will be Dr. Theodore L. Tucker, secretary for Africa, Division of Foreign Missions, National Council of Churches; Miss Eleanor French, director-elect, Department of Christian Social Relations, United Church Women; and Miss Eva Shipstone, professor of psychology, Isabella Thoburn College, Lucknow, India.

Dr. James K. Mathews, associate secretary of the Division of World Missions, Methodist Board of Missions, will speak each morning during the first week. Participants on various panels and discussion group leaders will include missionaries, deaconesses and elected and staff members of the Woman's Division.

Seminar at Bennett College

GREENSBORO, N.C. — The National Seminar of the Women's Division of Christian Service, will convene on the campus of Bennett College, July 21.

"The Family in a World of Rapid Social Change" is the theme of the seminar, which ends July 31st.

About 140 women from the U.S.A. will be representatives from India, Southern Rhodesia, Singapore and England are expected to attend.

Addresses and discussion groups will center on the theme of the seminar.

Other guest speakers are: Miss Margaret Forsyth, executive, YWCA; Dr. Dorothy Lee, anthropologist; Dr. Wolfgang Stolper, professor of economics, University of Michigan.

Dr. Willa Player, president of Bennett College; Dr. J. E. Carothers, pastor of First Methodist Church, Schenectady, N. Y. and Mrs. Grace Barbey, Dr. Zahir Ahmed of the UN staff.

Speakers for the second week are: Dr. Theodore L. Tucker, National Council of Churches; Miss E. French, director of Churches; Miss E. French, director of Christian Social Relations, United Church Women; Miss Eva Shipstone, Lucknow, India.

Dr. James K. Mathews, Methodist Board of Missions, will speak each morning of the first week.

The panels and discussion groups will include missionaries, deaconesses and elected members of the Woman's Division.

Overseas speakers include: Mrs. Jonah Chitombo, Southern Rhodesia, Mrs. Ang Kim Kiat of Singapore, and Mrs. H. B. Whitaker of England.

Mrs. Ralph T. Wilson Sr. S.C., member of the woman's division, is chairman of the seminar's program committee. The seminar is a quadrennial conference of the division.

Seminar On Family Set At Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C.—Program plans have been completed for the National Seminar of the Woman's Division of Christian Service, to be held July 21 to 31 at Bennett College, here. Theme of the seminar is "The Family in a World of Rapid Social Change," and addresses and discussion groups will deal with the aspects of this theme.

Speakers during the first week of the seminar include Miss Margaret Forsyth, executive of the Foreign Division, National Board of the YWCA; Dr. Dorothy Lee, anthropologist; Dr. Wolfgang Stolper, professor of economics, University of Michigan; Dr. Willa Player, president of Bennett College; Dr. J. E. Carothers, pastor of First Methodist Church, Schenectady, N. Y., and Mrs. Grace Barbey and Dr. Zahir Ahmed of the United Nations' staff.

Among the second week speakers will be Dr. Theodore L. Tucker, secretary for Africa, Division of Foreign Missions, National Council of Churches; Miss Eleanor French, director-elect, Department of Christian Social Relations, United Church Women; Miss Eva Shipstone, professor of psychology, Isabella Thoburn college, Lucknow, India.

Bennett ... science-math course

GREENSBORO, N.C.— Following a battery of tests, counseling and a period of orientation, some 95 high school pupils were enrolled in the summer training program in science and mathematics at Bennett College.

The six - week program is sponsored by the National Science Foundation and directed by Dr. J. Henry Sayles. The enrollment includes high school graduates and rising seniors from nine states and the District of Columbia.

North Carolina

Cecelia Grer, Belmont; William Greene, William Greene, Andrew Warner, DeaVer Brown, Charlotte; Jean Ledbetter, Dunn; Charles Stanback, Ruth Turner, Durham; Raymond Thomas, Gastonia; Edwina Palmer, Gibsonville; Linda Powell, Goldsboro; elsie White, Graham;

Franklin L. Bailey, Waldo Falkener, Evander Gilmer, Thomas Johnson, Roger Raiford, Michael Rivers, Leonard Robinson, Bernard White, Thomasine Corbett, Juanita Caldwell, Delgracia Feaster, Nan Fisher, Paula Jewell, Francine McAdoo, Virginia McAdoo, Margaret Wynn, Margaret Falkener, Mary Young, all of Greensboro; Doris Alexander, Henderson; Oscar Cole, Matthews, Ronald Yokely, Beverly Digs, Lynn Fountain, Bettye Jo Hutton, Gwendolyn Jones, all of High Point;

Margaret Brown, Hunterville; Elaine Oates, Iron Station; Shirley McDuffie, Laurinburg; Barbara Broadnax, Leaksville; Jean Walker, Lilleton; Doris Perry, Macon; Shirley Foust, Mebane; Mary O'Neil, Morganton;

Opal Hughes, Pilot Mountain; Guytanha Horton, Leah Ramsey, Pittsboro; Giroia Graves, Reidsville; Cora Hodge, Rockingham; Carolyn Wright, Shelby; Sylvia Sharpe, Statesville; Eleanor Smith, Summerfield; Preston William, Joan Adams, Catherine Brown, Carlyle Moore, Winston - Salem and Mary Lownes, Yanceyville.

Alabama

Judy Simmons, Cedar Bluff

Arkansas

Herbert Calhoun, Kenneth Caudle, Theopolis Fair, Thomas McKeel, Clayton McKindra, Clifton Roaf and Evelyn Phipps, all of Pine Bluff.

Florida

Sarah Williams, Miami.

South Carolina

Carol Felton, Florence; Willa Harris, Columbia; Helen McClure, Rock Hill; Gloria Montgomery, Sumter; Elizabeth Patterson, Fort Mill; Delores Timmons, Florence; Sandra White, Columbia.

Tennessee

George Breathett, Memphis; Esther Roberts, Nashville.

Texas

David J. Abner, Houston; Allen Washington, Houston; Leslie oty, Dallas; Patricia Jackson, Dallas; Dona Robey, Houston.

Virginia

Vernon Stockton, Roanoke; Bobbie Brown, Amonate; Zelma Hayes, South Hill; Marion Manns, Bassett; Lorraine Ramsey, Amonate; Cerolyn Scott, Ruthville; Jewell Tucker, Boydton.

West Virginia

Nita Grimes and Carol Watkins both of Modison.

Washington, D.C.

Patricia Patterson and Earline Terrell.

ville; Carrie E. Williamson, Marion; Agnes B. Jones, Gastonia; Annie Harkness, Marion; and Alease Bailey, Wilkesboro.

Mesdames A. W. Stowe, Newton; Mary McGill, Gastonia; M. L. Richardson, Cherryville; Mary Morrison, Statesville; Louisa Hood, Shelby; Connie Abernathy, Statesville; B. L. Burge, Newton; Anna Shelby; Lillian Gleaves, Shelby; Wise, Statesville; Mary L. Gleaves, Helen Abernathy, Hickory; Arlette Pearson, Newton; Marion Payne, Thomasville; Connie L. Williams, Marion, and Misses Louise Hood, Shelby; Ruth Mae Gabriel, Statesville and I. R. Jones, Asheville.

WINSTON DISTRICT

Mesdames Louise W. King, Winston-Salem; Zula Lovell, Pilot Mountain; Bessie Satterfield, Mt. Airy; Alma Frost, Winston-Salem; Cozet Belo, Winston-Salem; Helen G. Cole, High Point; Eleanor C. Mills, Winston-Salem; Macie McCauley, Thomasville; J. W. Jones, Asheboro; and Ruth Patterson, High Point.

Mesdames Marion Payne, Thomasville; L. A. Brown, Greensboro; Elizabeth Dula, Lexington; Bessie Yokley, Winston-Salem; C. A. Barrett, Asheboro; L. M. Mayfield, Winston-Salem; A. P. McLeod, High Point; and Misses Annie Jones, High Point; Mary Harrison, Asheboro; Catherine Miller, Winston - Salem; Beatrice Watts, Winston-Salem.

93 Women At School Of Missions

GREENSBORO—With a registration of 93 women, the School of Missions and Christian Service closed its one-week session at Bennett College last week.

Sponsored by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the North Carolina Methodist Conference, with Mrs. Mary Morrison, of Statesville, as chairman and Miss Fannie McCallum of Greensboro, as dean, the school offered credit courses in three subjects.

A course in "The Church's Mission in Town and Country" was taught by Mrs. Dorothy P. Jones of Reidsville and one on "The Role of the United Nations in World Affairs" was taught by Mrs. David D. Jones.

Three missionaries were in attendance during the school. They were Miss Mary Finch, who formerly served at the Hiroshima Girls' School in Hiroshima, Japan; Miss Evline Weems, who served with a Methodist mission in Seoul, Korea, and Miss Ruth Merritt, who recently completed a tour of duty in Brazil. Miss I. E. Jones, retired conference missionary, of Asheville, was also in attendance.

Among those registered were the following:

GREENSBORO DISTRICT

Mesdames Ludelia Royster, Oxford; Cozelia Simpson, Leaksville; Greensboro; E. B. Withers, Ruth Martin, O. P. Womack, Lena McMillan, Eva Vanstory, Virginia Blount, Nancy Cheek, J. W. Simpson, Madeline Turner, Estelle Tatum, Reatha Donnell, Smitherman, Ruth Comer, Susie W. Brown, G. M. Phelps, J. E. Brower, Ivey Bynum, Nixon Rivers, Willie Mae Price, K. W. Jones, Betty L. Rankins, Katie Hairston, Ollie Yores and Misses Estelle McCallum and Ada Tomkins.

LAURINBURG DISTRICT

Mesdames Catherine Ray, Wilmington; Emily Benton, Rowland; C. A. Hargrove, Maxton; Mary B. Carrell, Rowland; Inez P. Page, Rowland; Mattie J. Fennell, Wilmington; Della McManus, Charlote; T. H. Wooton, Charlotte; Rebecca Russell, Charlotte; W. M. Gannaway, Fayetteville; Maggie McLean, Lumberton; Katie Webb, Fayetteville; and James McCallum, Maxton.

WESTERN DISTRICT

Mesdames Ruth Jolley, Lenoir; Mattie Gidney, Shelby; Green Dixon, Granite Falls; Beulah Costner, Stanley; Aurelia Stewart, Moores- Bertie Finger and Phyllis Hull, Catawba; Patricia Gabriel and Hattie Smith, Statesville; Willie M. Waugh, Herma Robinson and Edward Galbreath, Fayetteville; Glenda Joyner and Carrie Renwick, Thomasville; Catherine Scott and Louise McCorkle, Mt. Holly; Joyce Morgan and Neltine Peebles, Raleigh; Ella Mae Watkins, Georgia Price and Delores Roper, Asheboro.

Thurman Anderson, Rowland; Earl Bullard, Elrod; Robert Cline, Conover; Kathy Davis, Trinity; Jean Hamilton, Spindale; Nancy Johnson, Leaksville; Alphine Little, Mill Springs; Leon Mayes, Oxford; Dewayne Maynard, Reidsville; Barbara Neill, Mooresville; Hubert Pinkin, Maxton; Gayle Powell, Forest City; Marjorie Rogers, Lumberton; Ida Settle, Brown Summit and Carrie Tucker, Granite Falls.

Staff

L. A. Brown, Louise Yourse and Loretta Free, all of Greensboro; Emma R. McLean, G. E. Hogue and Dannie Shaw, all of Laurinburg; H. W. Phillips, J. W. Gwyn and Beatrice Watts, all of Winston-Salem; Joseph B. Bethea and Shirley C. Bethea, Elkin; Fannie McCallum and Katie McCallum, Guilford; J. T. Jones, and Gladys Costner, Gastonia; Frances Beatty and A. E. Robinson, Shelby.

D. E. Moore, Durham; John G. Corry, Leaksville; Miles Murphy, Red Springs; O. W. Burwick, Raleigh; Ruth Goolsby, Walnut Cove, James Farree,

WITH THE LADIES: When Bennett College resumes sessions, this week, among the charming students who will be guiding class activities will be Roslyn Cheagle of Lynchburg, sophomore, who was elected class president at the close of the June term.

The Arts Are Stressed On Bennett College Campus

"TROJAN WOMEN" AT BENNETT---Johnny Gooding, as Menaloas, shown as he prepares to stab Helen of Troy, protrayed by Miss Wilhelma Gatewood, as Miss Sandra Downing, as Talthybios (left center) and Nannie Poole, as Hecuba, look on in horror during presentation of "The Trojan Women" the Euripides tragedy which was presented by the Bennett College Senior Theatre Guild for the commencement weekend.

IN COMMENCEMENT PLAY---Five members of the Bennett College theatre guild, who presented "The Trojan Women" as the commencement play at the Greensboro, N. C. institution are shown going over the script of the Greek production. Left to right: (seated) of Bracey, Va. and Nannie Poole, of Baltimore, Md. Standing: Wilhelma Gatewood, Gary, W. Va. and Jacquelyn Jeffers, of Greensboro, N. C. all seniors.

VOICE LEADS TO MARRIAGE---Miss Bernice Green, of Anderson, S. C., who set June 8 as the date of her marriage to Adebisi Otudeko, of Ibidan, Nigeria, Mr. Otudeko heard Miss Green sing at commencement exercises last year, admired her voice, fell in love, asked her to be his wife. Mr. Otudeko, who has completed work on his doctorate at the University of Chicago, will take his bride to Lagos, Nigeria in the fall.

BENNETT ARTIST EXHIBITS---James C. McMillan (right), art instructor at Bennett College, explains to viewers the meaning behind some of the paintings which he had on exhibit during the second annual sidewalk exhibition of the Greensboro Artists' League, an interracial group, in Greensboro. Some of the paintings were done while Mr. McMillan was studying in France, and others were created in his studio at the college.

BENNETT ART EXHIBIT---Miss Mary Ellen Bendel, exchange student from Ohio Wesleyan University, left and Miss Flora Mebane, Bennett College freshman of Greensboro, admire painting by Mrs. Edith Brown, Akron, Ohio artist, one of twelve which she exhibited at the Greensboro, N. C. campus. Mrs. Brown, a former Bennett teacher, is an Ohio Wesleyan alumna and has turned an advocation into what may well become an entirely new career. A daughter, Linda, is a sophomore at Bennett.

SCORED IN CONCERT---Members of the Bennett College Senior Choir shown immediately following their annual concert in the Little Theatre at the Greensboro, N. C. institution. Center, wearing corsage, is Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, director.

1960 CLASS HEADS AT BENNETT---These young women were elected to head their respective classes at Bennett College for the 1959-60 academic year. Left to right: Misses Roslyn Cheagle, Lynchburg, Va., sophomore; Mrs. Marie Moore, Winston-Salem, N. C., senior and Jacqueline Boseman, Baltimore, Md., junior.

DR. PLAYER ACCEPTS APPOINTMENT

Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, has accepted an invitation to serve as a member of the national women's planning committee of the Japan International Christian University Foundation, Inc., of New York City.

Dr. Player is also vice president of the North Carolina Council of Churches.

School of Missions at Bennett closes

GREENSBORO, N.C. — With a registration of 93 women, the School of Missions and Christian Service closed its one-week session at Bennett College last week.

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the North Carolina Methodist Conference sponsored the school. Mrs. Mary Morrison of Statesville was chairman and Miss Fannie McCallum of Greensboro, dean.

Credit courses were offered in three subjects.

A course in "The Church's Mission in Town and Country" was taught by Mrs. Dorothy P. Jones of Reidsville and "The Role of the United Nations in World Affairs" was taught by Mrs. David D. Jones.

* * *

THREE missionaries were in attendance: Misses Mary D. Finch, who formerly served at the Hiroshima Girls' School in Hiroshima, Japan; Evline Weems, who served with a Methodist mission in Seoul, Korea, and Ruth Merritt, who recently completed a tour of duty in Brazil.

Miss I. R. Jones, retired conference missionary, of Asheville was also in attendance.

Among those registerd were the following:

GREENSBORO DISTRICT

Mesdames Ludelia Royster, Oxford; Ophelia Simpson, Leaksville; R. B. Withers, Ruth Martin, O. P. Womack, Lena McMillan, Eva Vanstory, Virginia Blount, Nancy Cheek, J. W. Simpson, Madeline Turner, Estelle Tatum, Reatha Donnell, Smitherman, Ruth Comer, Susie W. Brown, G. M. Phelps, J. E. Brower, Ivey Bynum, Nixon Rivers, Willie Mae Price, K. W. Jones, Betty L. Rankins, Katie Hairston, Ollie Yores and Misses Estelle McCallum and Ada Tonkins, Greensboro;

LAURINBURG DISTRICT

Mesdames Catherine Ray, Wilmington; Emily Benton, Rowland; C. A. Harrove, Maxton; Mary B. Carrell, Rowland; Inez F. Pate, Rowland; Matelle Pennell, Wilmington; Della McHayes, Charlotte; T. H. Wooton, Charlotte; Rebecca Russell, Charlotte; W. M. Gainaway, Fayetteville; Maggie McLeod, Lumberton; Katie Webb, Fayetteville; and James McCallum, Maxton.

WESTERN DISTRICT

Mesdames Ruth Jolley, Lenoir; Mattie Sidney, Shelby; Green Dixon, Grande Ealle; Beulah Costner, Stanley; Annie Stewart, Mooresville; Carrie E. Williamson, Marion; Agnes B. Jones, Gastonia; Annie Harkness, Marion, and Agnes Bailey, Wilkesboro.

Mesdames A. W. Stowe, Newton; Mary McGill, Gastonia; M. L. Richardson, Cherryville; Mary Morrison, Statesville; Louisa Hood, Shelby; Connie Abernathy, Statesville; B. L. Burke, Newton; Anna Wise, Statesville; Mary L. Gleaves, Shelby; Lillian Gleaves, Shelby; Helen Abernathy, Hickory; Arlette Pearson, Newton; Marion Payne, Thomasville; Connie L. Williams, Marion, and Misses Louis Hood, Shelby; Ruby Mae Gabriel, Statesville and I. R. Jones, Asheville.

WINSTON DISTRICT

Mesdames Louise W. King, Winston-Salem; Zula Lovell, Pilot Mountain; Bessie Satterfield, Mt. Airy; Alma Frost, Winston - Salem; Coret Bess, Winston - Salem; Helen G. Cole, High Point; Eleanor C. Mills, Winston-Salem; Macie McCauley, Thomasville; J. W. Jones, Asheboro; Ruth Patterson, High Point.

Marion Payne, Thomasville; T. A. Brown, Greensboro; Elizabeth Dula, Lexington, Bessie Yokley, Winston-Salem; C. A. Barrett, Asheboro; L. M. Mayfield, Winston - Salem; A. P. McLeod, High Point, and Misses Annie Jones, High Point; Mary Harrison, Asheboro; Catherine Miller, Winston-Salem; Beatrice Watts, Winston-Salem.

Mission School Held At Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C. —With a registration of 93 women, the School of Missions and Christian Service closed its one-week session at Bennett College last week.

Sponsored by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the North Carolina Methodist Conference, with Mrs. Mary Morrison, of Statesville, as chairman and Miss Fannie McCallum of Greensboro, as dean, the school offered credit courses in three subjects.

A COURSE in "The Church's Mission in Town and Country" was taught by Mrs. Dorothy P. Jones of Reidsville and one on "The Role of the United Nations in World Affairs", was taught by Mrs. David D. Jones.

Three missionaries were in attendance during the school. They were Miss Mary D. Finch who formerly served at the Hiroshima Girls' School in Hiroshima, Japan; Miss Evline Weems, who served with a Methodist mission in Seoul, Korea, and Miss Ruth Merritt, who recently completed a tour of duty in Brazil. Miss I. R. Jones, retired conference missionary, of Asheville, was also in attendance.

REPRESENTATIVES from the Greensboro District were as follows: Mesdames Ludelia Royster, Oxford; Ophelia Simpson, Leaksville; Greensboro- R. B. Withers, Ruth Martin, O. P. Womack, Lena McMillan, Eva Vansfory, Virginia Blount, Nancy Cheek, J. W. Simpson, Madeline Turner, Estelle Tatum, Reatha Donnell, Smitherman, Ruth Comer, Susie W. Brown, G. M. Phelps, J. E. Brower, Ivey Bynum, Nixon Rivers, Willie Mae Price, K. W. Jones, Betty L. Rankins, Katie Hairston, Ollie Yores and Misses Estelle McCallum and Ada Tonkins.

Youth Assembly Attracts 101 Delegates To Bennett College

The annual youth assembly of the North Carolina Methodist Conference which closed its one-week session at Bennett College on Saturday attracted 101 young people.

The Rev. Joseph B. Bethea of Elkin, dean of this year's assembly, headed a staff of 29. Classes, workshops and interest groups followed a schedule which ran from 7:30 a.m. to 11:00 p.m. daily.

Closing event of the assembly was at 6:00 a.m. communion service. The following persons were registered.

Winston-Salem

Carolyn Allen, Samuel Draper, Andrea Gwyn, Rebecca Gwyn, Jeanene Havner, Mary Hollins, Betty Laughlin, Alinda McCoy, Linda Newton, Lawrence Smith, Deborah Speas, Edward Townes.

Greensboro

Louise Mayo, Doris Mitchell, Doris Shoffner, Maxine West William Barber, Edward Best, Roma Best, Susie Brown, Ethel Brower, Jean Brown, Terry Dearman, Flora Foster, Wilnette Freeman, Mary Herbin, Leslie Hinson and Potria Holt.

High Point

Portia Brooks, Bettye Carter, Jacqueline Eaves, Patricia Hall, Glenda Moorehead and Yvonne Patterson.

Shelby

Paul Dockery, Alvin Gidney, Herbert Gidney, Francelia Gleaves, John Hoyle and Fred Wright.

Durham

Robert Cline, Judy Grandy, Janet Hill, Barbara Thompson and James Wilkins.

Lenoir

Janet Harper, Gail Hickerson, Janice Norwood, Phyllis Scott and Sarah Norwood.

Oother

Marion Adams and Doris Hull, Gastonia; Ida Blair, Doris Forney and Calvin Sharpe, Hickory; Lamar Burgess, Barbara Gwyn and Elnora Harris, Jonesville; Bessie Campbell and Mildred Pemberton, Laurinburg; Elaine Knotts and Elizabeth Carson, Lexington; Shirley Goolsby and Betty Dalton, Walnut Cove; Jimmy Dowell, Statesville; and Emma Vaneaton, Elkin; Clarke Finger and Phyllis Hull, Gastonia; Patricia Gabriel and Hulon Pearl, Mocksville; William M. Waugh, Bryson City; and Edward Galbreath, Fayetteville; Glenda Joyner and Carol Edwards, Thomasville; Catherine Scott and Louise McCorkle, Mt. Holly; Joyce Morgan and Nettine Peebles, Belhaven; Ella Mae Watkins, Georgia Price and Delores Roper, Asheboro.

Also Taurman Anderson, Rowland; Earl Bullard, Efrose Robert Cline, Conover; Kaye Davis, Hinton; Jean Hamilton, Spindale; Nancy Johnson, Leaksville; Alpheus Little, Mill Springs; Leon Mayes, Gould; Dewee Mayo, Sarah Redsville; Barbara Neill, Mooresville; Hubert Phelps, Maxton; Gayle Powell, Forest City; Marjorie Rogers, Lumberton; Ida Settle, Brown Summit and Carrie Tucker, Granite Falls.

MEMBERS OF THE staff are: L. A. Brown, Louise Yourse and Loretta Free, of Greensboro; Emma R. McLean, G. K. Hogue, and Dannie Shaw, of Laurinburg; H. W. Phillips, J. W. Gwyn and Beatrice Watts, of Winston-Salem; Joseph B. Bethea and Shirley C. Bethea, Elkin; Fannie and Katie McCallum, Guilford; J. T. Jones and Gladys Costner, Gastonia; Frances Beatty and A. E. Robinson, Shelby; D. E. Moore, Dunbar; John G. Conry, Leaksville; Miss J. Murphy, Red Springs; O. W. Barnes, Raleigh; Ruth Goolsby, Walnut Cove; James Ferree, Lumberton; Mae Waddell, Asheboro; Olivia Peace, Hoffman; Delilah Knight, Spindale; Ruth Greeson, Thomasville; Cleo Conner, Sherrill's Ford and G. A. Brooks, Lexington.

Two groups of Missouri Methodist girls and their counselors visited the Bennett College campus as a part of their program. The first group from the Missouri Conference was 37 girls and four adults. The second, from the St. Louis Conference, had 32 girls and five counselors. Each spent a half day touring the campus and learning more of the history and philosophy of the institution.

MISSOURI METHODIST GIRLS VISIT BENNETT

Two groups of Missouri Methodist girls and their counselors have been recent visitors to the Bennett College campus as a part of their missionary education program.

The first group from the Missouri Conference was composed of 37 girls and four adults and the second, from the St. Louis Conference, had 32 girls and five counselors. Each spent a half day touring the campus and learning more of the history and philosophy of the institution.

101 at Bennett youth parley

Apro 7/25/59

GREENSBORO, N.C. —The annual youth assembly of the North Carolina Methodist Conference closed its one week session at Bennett College Saturday, 101 attending. The Rev. Joseph B. Bethea of Elkin, dean of this year's assembly, headed a staff of 29. Classes, workshops and interest groups followed a schedule from 7:30 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily.

Closing event of the assembly was a 6 a.m. communion service. The following persons were registered:

Carolyn Allen, Samuel Draper, Andrea Gwyn, Rebecca Gwyn, Jeanene Havner, Mary Hollins, Betty Laughlin, Alinda McCoy, Linda Newton, Lawrence Smith, Deborah Speas, Edward Townes, Winston-Salem;

Louise Mayo, Doris Mitchell, Doris Shoffner, Maxine West, William Barber, Edward Best, Roma Best, Ethel Brower, Jean Brown, Susie Brown, Terry Dearman, Flora Foster, Wilnette Freeman, Mary Herbin, Leslie Hinson and Potria Holt, of Greensboro; Portia Brooks, Bettye Carter, Jacqueline Eaves, Patricia Hall, Glenda Moorehead and Yvonne Patterson of High Point; Paul Dockery, Alvin Gidney, Herbert Gidney, Francelia Gleaves, John Hoyle and Fred Wright, of Shelby; Robert Cline, Judy Grandy, Janet Hill, Barbara Thompson and James Wilkins of Durham; Janet Harper, Gail Hickerson, Janice Norwood, Phyllis Scott and Sarah Norwood, Lenoir;

Others: Marion Adams and Doris Hull, Gastonia; Ida Blair, Doris Forney and Calvin Sharpe, Hickory; Lamar Burgess, Barbara Gwyn and Elnora Harris, Jonesville; Bessie Campbell and Mildred Pemberton, Laurinburg; Elaine Knotts and Elizabeth Carson, Lexington; Shirley Goolsby and Betty Dalton, Walnut Cove; Jimmy Dowell, Statesville; and Emma Vaneaton, Elkin; Clarke Finger and Phyllis Hull, Gastonia; Patricia Gabriel and Hulon Pearl, Mocksville; William M. Waugh, Bryson City; and Edward Galbreath, Fayetteville; Glenda Joyner and Carol Edwards, Thomasville; Catherine Scott and Louise McCorkle, Mt. Holly; Joyce Morgan and Nettine Peebles, Belhaven; Ella Mae Watkins, Georgia Price and Delores Roper, Asheboro;

Also Taurman Anderson, Rowland; Earl Bullard, Efrose Robert Cline, Conover; Kaye Davis, Hinton; Jean Hamilton, Spindale; Nancy Johnson, Leaksville; Alpheus Little, Mill Springs; Leon Mayes, Gould; Dewee Mayo, Sarah Redsville; Barbara Neill, Mooresville; Hubert Phelps, Maxton; Gayle Powell, Forest City; Marjorie Rogers, Lumberton; Ida Settle, Brown Summit and Carrie Tucker, Granite Falls.

MEMBERS OF THE staff are: L. A. Brown, Louise Yourse and Loretta Free, of Greensboro; Emma R. McLean, G. K. Hogue, and Dannie Shaw, of Laurinburg; H. W. Phillips, J. W. Gwyn and Beatrice Watts, of Winston-Salem; Joseph B. Bethea and Shirley C. Bethea, Elkin; Fannie and Katie McCallum, Guilford; J. T. Jones and Gladys Costner, Gastonia; Frances Beatty and A. E. Robinson, Shelby; D. E. Moore, Dunbar; John G. Conry, Leaksville; Miss J. Murphy, Red Springs; O. W. Barnes, Raleigh; Ruth Goolsby, Walnut Cove; James Ferree, Lumberton; Mae Waddell, Asheboro; Olivia Peace, Hoffman; Delilah Knight, Spindale; Ruth Greeson, Thomasville; Cleo Conner, Sherrill's Ford and G. A. Brooks, Lexington.

Two groups of Missouri Methodist girls and their counselors visited the Bennett College campus as a part of their program. The first group from the Missouri Conference was 37 girls and four adults. The second, from the St. Louis Conference, had 32 girls and five counselors. Each spent a half day touring the campus and learning more of the history and philosophy of the institution.

THE CAROLINA TIMES
SAT., JULY 18, 1959 "THE TRUTH UNBRIDLED" —PAGE 5

Plans Are Completed for National Seminar of Methodist Women, to Open Sunday at Bennett

GREENSBORO—Program plans have been completed for the National Seminar of the Woman's Division of Christian Service, to be held July 21 to 31 at Bennett College, here. Theme of the seminar is "The Family in a World of Rapid Social Change" and addresses and discussion groups will deal with the aspects of this theme.

Speakers during the first week of the seminar include Miss Margaret Forsyth, executive of the Foreign Division, National Board of the YWCA; Dr. Dorothy Lee, anthropologist; Dr. Wolfgang Stolper, professor of economics, University of Michigan; Dr. Willa Player, president of Bennett College; Dr. J. E. Carothers, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Schenectady, N. Y., and Mrs. Grace Barbey and Dr. Zahir Ahmed of the United Nations' staff.

Among the second week speakers will be Dr. Theodore L. Tucker, secretary for Africa, Division of Foreign Missions, National Council of Churches; Miss Eleanor French, director-elect, Department of Christian Social Relations, United Church Women; Miss Eva Shipstone, professor of Psychology, Isabella Thoburn College, Lucknow, India.

Dr. James K. Matthews, associate general secretary of the Division of World Missions, Methodist Board of Missions, will speak each morning during the first week. Participants on various panels and discussion group leaders will include missionaries, deaconesses and elected staff members of the Women's Division.

About 140 women, from all parts of the United States, are expected to attend.

Shown here are members of the class of 1959 at Bennett College who received degrees at the 86th commencement of the Greensboro, N. C., institution on the morning of June 1. President Willa B. Player conferred the degrees.

7/25/59

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Seminar Set On Social Relations

A quadrennial seminar on Christian social relations for Methodist women from all over the world will begin at Bennett College here today.

The seminar will consider "The Family in a World of Rapid Social Change" during the 10 days some 140 delegates will be here.

Among the speakers will be members of the United Nations executive staff, college professors, ministers and church executives and Dr. Willa B. Player, president of the Negro girls' college.

Two special resource leaders scheduled to take part are Mrs. Jonah Chitombo of Southern Rhodesia, wife of a Methodist district superintendent, and Mrs. Ang Kim Kiat of Singapore, a teacher in a Methodist girls' school and wife of a social and recreational worker. Both were brought here by the Women's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Board of Missions.

Details Considered

The seminar, held every four years to give Methodist women a chance to consider in detail some aspect of Christian social relations, will feature speeches, panels and discussion groups, all on the effect of fast-moving social and technological changes on families throughout the world.

Three aspects will be cultural and social change, technology and economic issues, and "eternal values" in the context of the Christian faith.

A speaker will keynote each subject and set the stage for small discussion groups.

Delegates will include one representative from the Woman's Society in each of Methodism's 100 annual conferences; three officers from the Woman's Societies in the six Methodist jurisdictions and one student and one youth delegate from each jurisdiction.

Bennett Talk To Be Given By Bryan

The Rev. John L. Bryan, former professor and chaplain at Bennett College, will conduct the morning worship service and preach the sermon in Pfeiffer Chapel on Sunday, July 26 at Bennett College.

The Rev. Mr. Bryan served on the Bennett faculty for six years. He recently joined the staff of the General Board of Temperance of the Methodist Church in Washington.

He is responsible for the board's program of campus alcohol seminars and its service to theological seminaries. He also shares responsibility for a nation-wide program of leadership training carried on by the board.

The Rev. Mr. Bryan was born in Kingston, Jamaica. He is a naturalized citizen of the United States. He received B.S. and M.A. degrees from New York University and S.T.B. and S.T.M. degrees from Boston University School of Theology.

He is also director of student work for the General Board of Temperance of the Methodist Church.

The Sunday morning service is a part of the Woman's Division National Seminar. The seminar theme is "The Family In a World of Rapid Social Change."

REV. JOHN L. BRYAN
Returning For Sermon

Service Set For Visitors At Bennett

Delegates attending the National Seminar on Christian Social Relations at Bennett College will attend worship service at 11 a.m. today in Pfeiffer Chapel at which the Rev. John L. Bryan, of Washington, D.C., will speak.

The Rev. Mr. Bryan, who for the past six years was director of religious activities at the college, is now a member of the staff of the General Board of Temperance of the Methodist Church.

At 3 p.m. Mrs. J. Fount Tillman, president of the Woman's Division of Christian Service, of Lewisburg, Tenn., will preside at a service at which Dr. Theodore L. Tucker, executive secretary of the Africa Committee of the Division of Foreign Missions of the National Council of Churches, will deliver an address on "Rapid Social Change and the Church's Program." Following this address there will be a discussion period.

No activities have been scheduled for this evening, but the seminar will resume Monday with the first meetings of a number of interest groups. Monday at 2:30 p.m., a symposium will consider "Some Studies of the World Council of Churches in Areas of Rapid Social Change." Mrs. James P. Howell will preside and speakers will be Dr. Evelyn Berry, assistant treasurer of the Woman's Division; Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, president of the Phelps-Stokes Fund and chairman of the Bennett board of trustees; and Miss Helen Turnbull, director of the Department of Leadership Education, United Church Women.

Technology Seen Good And Bad

Pastor Speaks At Bennett

Technological changes are making things tough for the modern American family in ways that few people suspect, a Methodist minister from the industrial city of Schenectady, N.Y., said yesterday at Bennett College.

The speaker was Dr. J. Edward Carothers, pastor of Schenectady's First Methodist Church, who appeared before approximately 150 women at the national seminar of Christian Social Relations sponsored by the Methodist Woman's Division of Christian Service.

It would be foolish to say that long-range fruits of technology are bad, Dr. Carothers said, but the impact of technology has hit the family with social and economic violence which is literally terrifying in its threats and promises.

Illustrations Given

As illustrations, he cited the frustration of the young mother who has labor-saving gadgets galore but is cooped up all day with a houseful of pre-school children; the guilt feeling of people who believe they should care for their aged parents but really don't want to do so; the strain on marital loyalty resulting from the husband spending more time in business contact with women associates that he does with his wife; and the drain on church attendance caused by the rush of people to technologically-produced amusements on Sunday morning.

In the face of these and other violence changes in family life imposed by technology, Dr. Carothers said, the church has a clearly defined function: It must interpret the changes as they emerge in order that the family may not be taken by surprise and be found without resources of understanding, and it must make changes within its own ministers in order that the life of God in the life of many may be enlivened by worship, instruction, the fellowship and belief and service of Jesus Christ.

Dr. Player Heard

In another address yesterday, Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, declared that the intellectual content of American Education cannot be built on a desire to outsmart the Russians.

"The need in education today," Dr. Player said, "is for basic liberal education of youth and adults which can answer these questions: Is he a straight-thinking individual? Can he apply the scientific method to the affairs of everyday life? Does he understand people? Is he able to communicate?"

The seminar continues tomorrow with Dr. Zahir Ahmed of the Bureau of Social Affairs of the United Nations as one of the speakers. There will be no night session today.

Seminar Set For Women Of Church

A 10-day national seminar on Christian social relations for Methodist women will be held at Bennett College beginning Tuesday.

About 140 women and youth delegates from the 100 Methodist conferences will attend.

The seminar is held every four years to give Methodist women a chance to explore in detail some aspect of Christian social relations. This year, the theme is "The Family in a World of Rapid Social Changes."

Among the speakers for the seminar, which is sponsored by the Women's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Board of Missions, will be Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College. Others will include college professors, members of the United Nations executive staff, ministers and church executives.

Seminar Leaders

Two seminar leaders will be Mrs. Jonah Chitombo of Southern Rhodesia, wife of the Methodist district superintendent there, and Mrs. Ang Kim Kiat of Singapore, a teacher in a Methodist girls' school and wife of a social and recreational worker.

Among the speakers are Miss Margaret Forsyth, executive of the Foreign Division, National Board of the YWCA; Dr. Dorothy Lee, anthropologist; Dr. Wolfgang Stolper, economics professor at the University of Michigan; Dr. J. E. Carothers, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Schenectady, N.Y.; Mrs. Grace Barbey and Dr. Zahir Ahmed of the U.N. staff; Dr. Theodore L. Tucker, secretary for Africa, Division of Foreign Missions, National Council of Churches; Miss Eleanor French, director-elect, Department of Christian Social Relations, United Church Women; Miss Eva Shipstone, professor of psychology at Isabella Thoburn College, Lucknow, India; and Dr. James K. Mathews, associated general secretary of the Division of World Missions, Methodist Board of Missions.

Speaker Says 'Inner Space' Unconquered

Though man is beginning to conquer outer space, he has not been able to conquer "inner space," meaning his own soul, Dr. James K. Mathews of New York said yesterday at Bennett College.

Dr. Mathews gave the second of five messages on "Eternal Values in a World of Change" at the National Seminar on Christian Social Relations, sponsored by the Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Board of Missions.

"Around the world, there is a widespread feeling of meaningless, lack of purpose and emptiness of life," Dr. Mathews said. "Though modern man is learning to control the external world, he has yet to learn to control the inner man' and to give meaning and purpose to life.

One Fact Unchanged

"Someone has rightly said that nothing in life is changeless except change. And yet as Christians, we know that the one changeless and unshakable fact of life is the Christian gospel. It is the firm anchor and the unvarying rock of external truth in which we can place our faith and to which we must entrust our lives."

Tomorrow the seminar delegates will divide into reaction groups to discuss the addresses of Dr. Mathews and other speakers. Tonight Dr. Dorothy Lee, professor of anthropology at Harvard University, will give the last of three addresses on "Culture and Social Change."

Social Change Planning Needs Pointed Up Here

BY STANLEY BRENNAN
Record Staff Writer

An anthropologist on the faculty at Harvard University told an audience at Bennett College today that social change must be induced carefully and with planning into a society so as not to the destroy the culture of the people involved.

Dr. Dorothy Lee, a native of Turkey who has taught and done research in this country since 1927, spoke to some 130 Methodist women attending a seminar here.

It was the second day of a 10-day national seminar on Christian Social Relations, sponsored by the Woman's Division of Christian Service.

Dr. Lee's topic was "Culture and Social Change."

Dr. Lee said we must be concerned with social change because it is rapid today and "more than ever because it is induced change — imposed by one society on another society." She added that it takes place all over the world except in countries where governments attempt to keep out change.

"Early anthropologists thought primitive societies should be protected from social change," she said. "World War II changed this idea into one of believing that we should prepare these people for the entrance of ideas and concepts foreign to their culture."

She cited the work done in Pacific areas where poor health and sanitation standards were improved and high infant mortality rates lowered.

"Anthropologists were able to correct many of these practices, Dr. Lee said, "but today the population has increased and many of the people are starving." She pointed out that industrialization would have to be induced in many of these areas to restore the balance.

Dr. Lee said this was an example of inducing social change without first considering the overall picture and the results of the change.

She also cited the case of the American Indian as an example of a society that has almost completely lost its culture and has been destroyed because of induced social change.

In the closing moments of her talk, Dr. Lee described culture as a system of values, an orientation with one's environment.

Dr. Lee will continue her talk on the same subject tonight and tomorrow night.

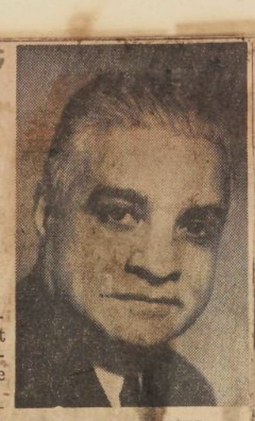
Last night the group was asked: "Is the church doing enough to recruit religious educators, theologians and other leaders in the field of character education?"

Posing the question in an address was Miss Margaret Forsyth, executive secretary of the Foreign Division of the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association.

Miss Forsyth noted that advances in technology have stimulated a search for the gifted persons who can contribute their genius to research in science, economics and politics. However, she added that we "must remind ourselves that excellence also is required in other areas: the arts, the humanities, religion, and education."

DR. WOLFGANG STOLPER
On Friday Program

DR. DOROTHY LEE
Today's Leader



DR. ZAHIR AHMED
To Talk Saturday

At Bennett Seminar

Reaction Groups Meeting

Methodist women attending their national seminar at Bennett College here confined themselves to the musical portion of the session, meetings of reaction groups and a question and answer period this morning.

In the use of reaction groups, the members are divided into eight groups that meet separately daily and discuss the ideas developed by the major speakers at the seminar.

Later today the entire group was to hear the third of five talks by Rev. Dr. James K. Mathews of New York on the general theme, "Eternal Values in a World of Change." Dr. Mathews is the associate general secretary of the Division of World Missions, Methodist Board of Missions.

Tonight, Dr. Dorothy Lee, anthropologist from Harvard University, will give her third and final talk on "Culture and Social Change."

Dr. Wolfgang Stolper, professor of economics at the University of Michigan, will speak tomorrow morning on "Technology and Social Change in Today's World."

Bennett College Lectures Planned

Dr. Leigh C. Anderson, chairman of the Department of Chemistry at the University of Michigan, will give two lectures tomorrow before students enrolled in the summer training program in mathematics and science at Bennett College.

Dr. Anderson, whose major field is organic chemistry, will speak at 11 a.m. and at 3:30 p.m. in the Little Theater. His subjects will be "Vocational Opportunities in the Field of Chemistry" and "Research in Organic Chemistry."

He is one of eight visiting lecturers to appear before the students. The next lecturer will be Dr. James S. Lee, chairman of the department of biology at North Carolina College at Durham, who will speak Monday.

Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director of the training program, was notified this week by the National Science Foundation that the Bennett College program is one of 11 out of a total of 143 programs selected for special study by the foundation. There are 95 high school graduates and rising high school seniors enrolled in the program which continues through July 31.

Church Leaders On U.S. Junket Attend Seminar

Two Methodist women leaders from distant lands who are attending the national seminar on Christian Social Relations here at Bennett College are getting their first look at the United States and are enjoying it immensely.

They are Mrs. Ruth Ang, a teacher of girls at the Fairfield Methodist Girls' School in Singapore and a member of the Straits Chinese Methodist Church there, and Mrs. Jonah Chitombo, a registered nurse who has served in Methodist hospitals in Southern Rhodesia and who is secretary for the African Woman's Society of Christian Service there.

Both women will serve as special resource leaders during the current seminar which was expected to attract some 150 Methodist women leaders at its opening session this afternoon.

Mrs. Ang and Mrs. Chitombo have been traveling about this county for the past month, speaking at Methodist Jurisdictional Conferences. Mrs. Ang arrived in the United States on April 18 and Mrs. Chitombo came here on March 27. Both remained in New York City in preparation for their tours.

Mrs. Chitombo's tour has included talks on Methodist missionary activities in her country in Texas, West Virginia and the recent conference at Lake Junaluska. Mrs. Ang has given talks in Rhode Island, Michigan, Utah and Lake Junaluska.

In regard to the over-all impression of her visit to this country, Mrs. Ang noted that "Americans are very friendly people." Mrs. Chitombo agreed and added that she feels they "have done wonderful things for people all over the world."

Mrs. Ang said she was "struck by how much American women have done — especially in their work with the church." She said she was extremely impressed that they were "so efficient and systematic in their work and so well organized."

Both of the visitors agreed that "American missionaries are good, fine ambassadors of the United States."

After the current seminar here, Mrs. Ang will continue her speaking tour and then will return to Singapore in November. Mrs. Chitombo will return to her country at the end of December.

Church Stake In Changes Outlined

The rapid social, economic and political changes occurring around the world can make the individual a creative somebody or an anonymous nobody—the Christian church has a major stake in determining which it shall be, a New York church executive told 150 persons Tuesday afternoon at Bennett College.

Since changes are taking place all over the world and since Christianity is a world religion, Christians must consider these changes from the world point of view, Miss Margaret Forsyth said. Miss Forsyth, who is the executive secretary of the Foreign Division of the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association, spoke at the opening session of the National Seminar on Christian Social Relations, sponsored by the Woman's Division of Christian Service.

Economic Changes Expected

Rapid economic development in many areas of the world is having a tremendous effect on individuals and families, Miss Forsyth said. Newly independent countries of Africa and Asia, now struggling with their economic burdens, know of things the West has done to improve people's lives, she added, and they are going to have these things for themselves—and they don't intend to wait a hundred years.

"This means that our Christian responsibilities in the economic sphere are mounting," Miss Forsyth said. "This business of really caring for people, not just talking about it, needs to be lived. Will we reach out and give help to other people in attaining the good things of life? Will we support increasing funds for foreign aid?"

Another speaker at the seminar was the Rev. Dr. James K. Mathews of New York, associate general secretary of the Division of World Missions, Methodist Board of Missions. He gave the first of five messages on the theme, "Eternal Values in a World of Change."

Today, Dr. Dorothy Lee, professor of anthropology at Harvard University, will give two addresses on "Culture and Social Change," and Dr. Mathews will give his second message.

Gets Rutgers Research Job

GREENSBORO, — Miss Ruth I Reese, a 1956 graduate of Bennett College, has been appointed a research assistant in the Bureau o Biological Research at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N. J.

Miss Reese, who attended secondary schools in Darling, S. C., also attended Atlanta University and in 1956-57 studied at the Free University in Berlin. For the past year, she has been doing graduate work at Rutgers.

BENNETT ALUMNA RECEIVE APPOINTMENT

Miss Ruth L. Reeves, a 1956 graduate of Bennett College, been appointed a research assistant in the Bureau of Biological Research at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N. J.

Miss Reese, who attended secondary schools in Darlington, S. C., also attended Atlanta University and in 1956-57 studied at Free University in Berlin. Fo rthe past year, she has been doing graduate work at Rutgers.

Two groups of Missouri Methodist girls and their counselors have been recent visitors to the BENNETT COLLEGE campus as a part of their missionary education program.

The first group from the Missouri Conference was composed of 37 girls and four adults and the second, from the St. Louis Conference, had 32 girls and five counselors. Each spent a half day touring the campus and learning more of the history and philosophy of the institution.

Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett, has accepted an invitation to serve as a member of the national women's planning committee of the Japan International Christian University Foundation, Inc., of New York City.

Dr. Player is also vice president of the North Carolina Council of Churches.

• • •

Indian Leader Tells Of Uplift Work Of U.N.

The way in which the United Nations works with governments around the world to uplift the economic, social and cultural life of people in towns and villages was described by a UN staff executive at Bennett College this morning.

Dr. Zahir Ahmed, author and former official of the Indian Government, spoke on "The United Nations and Community Development" at the national seminar on Christian Social Relations of the Woman's Division of Christian Service, Methodist Board of Missions.

Dr. Ahmed is currently in charge of community development in the Bureau of Social Affairs of the UN's Department of Economic and Social Affairs.

He described the term community development as connoting "the processes by which the efforts of the people of a country are united with those of governmental authorities to improve the economic, social and cultural conditions of communities." From this effort, he said, it is hoped to integrate these communities into the life of the nation and to enable them to contribute fully to national progress.

Dr. Ahmed pointed out that community development in, for example, Nepal, Liberia or Panama, is not a ready-made set of rules or a rigid pattern of work to be imposed upon a people. Rather, each program must be adapted to the needs and circumstances of a particular country.

The UN official emphasized that the drawing up and implementation of a community development program in a country is the responsibility of the government of the country itself.

"All the UN can do," he said, "is to assist and advise, when requested, through providing experts, through regional meetings and international surveys, fellowships and study tours and occasionally through demonstration equipment and training materials."

Yesterday afternoon, Dr. Wolfgang Stolper, professor of economics at the University of Michigan, told the group that in the last 25 to 30 years, the United States has learned to cope with unemployment on a massive scale such as that in the "Great Depression" of the 1930s.

Speaking on "Technology and Social Change in Today's World," Dr. Stolper said that while he was not "suggesting that we can avoid all unemployment, we have learned to reduce the problem from a social disaster to manageable proportions."

Dr. J. Edward Carothers, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Schenectady, N. Y., appeared last night, saying that technical changes are making things tough for the modern American family.

Methodist Group Hears Dr. Lee

Methodist women attending their national seminar at Bennett College last night heard Dr. Dorothy Lee, Harvard University anthropologist, deliver her final lecture on "Culture and Social Change."

Dr. Wolfgang Stolper, professor of economics at the University of Michigan, will speak today on "Technology and Social Change in Today's World."

Young People Attend Annual Methodist Assembly

Bennett College at Greensboro, N. C., was host recently to delegates and visitors attending the Annual Youth Assembly of the Methodist Church. One hundred and one young people attended the assembly. More than 300 persons including adults and participants were on hand for the meeting. The assembly was sponsored by the North Carolina Methodist Conference.

Some of the persons attending the assembly are shown in front of Pfeiffer Chapel on the college campus during a recess of the session. Second from right, front row (hands folded) is the Rev. Joseph B. Bethea, of Elkin, who served as dean. Sixth from right on third row is the Rev. Douglass E. Moore, of Durham, executive secretary of the conference and director of the assembly.

Girls, Counselors Visit Bennett

Two groups of Missouri Methodist girls and their counselors have been recent visitors to the Bennett College campus as a part of their missionary education program.

The first group from the Missouri Conference was composed of 37 girls and four adults and the second, from the St. Louis Conference, had 32 girls and five counselors. Each spent a half day touring the campus and learning more of the history and philosophy of the institution.

Women's Seminar Told

Outsmarting Reds Not Key To U.S. Science Advance

American concern for advancement in science cannot be predicated on a desire to outsmart the Russians, the president of Bennett College said this morning.

Dr. Willa B. Player, president of the college, told some 150 women at the national seminar on Christian Social Relations here that "beating the Russians" is not enough.

In speaking on the "Impact of Technology on Education in the United States," Dr. Player said:

"At first, it appeared that our educational systems were about to be immersed in a sea of unresolved troubles brought on by a Sputnik I . . .

"On the one hand this event set off a wave of anti-intellectualism; on the other, a demand for improvement and readjustments in education . . . The hue and cry was so radical and hysterical that our values were sometimes entirely abandoned. Mostly the demands were for more of everything."

Dr. Player observed that "by and large the fanfare is beginning to subside."

She told the group that the need in education today "is for basic liberal education of youth and adults who can answer these questions: Is he a straight-thinking individual? Can he apply the scientific method to the affairs of every-day life? Does he understand people? Is he able to communicate?"

Dr. Player listed a series of educational needs that have been disclosed by the miracles of technology. Among these she cited:

1. A renewed across-the-board emphasis on "liberalizing education" as a recognition that science is not enough, with the scientist called upon to be a humanist as well.

2. A growing emphasis on strengthening the talented, with the gifted person sought out from the masses and encouraged to develop his special talents to the fullest for the potential good of society.

3. A search for broader horizons for interpreting education, with the recognition that the mind alone is not enough—the heart must be included.

4. The emergence of a new concept of responsibility, with stress on working to develop a solidarity with the common man.

Dr. Player asserted that the national spotlight today is on women. With a bevy of opportunities opening all the way from the cradle to the floor of the stock exchange, she said, the college is hard put to it to educate women for home and family life, for careers and vocations, for citizenship responsibilities and personal well-being within changing cultural patterns.

Dr. Player spoke this morning in the absence of Dr. Wolfgang F. Stolper, professor of economics at the University of Michigan. Dr. Stolper's airplane was grounded in Boston this morning. He is scheduled to speak this afternoon on "Technology and Social Change." Dr. Player's talk originally was set for this afternoon.

BENNETT STUDENT UNION —These four young women compose the board of management which directs the affairs of the David D. Jones Student Union at Bennett college. Left to right: Misses Peggie Alexander, secretary, of Fort Pierce Fla.; Nancy Kirby, president, of Haddonfield, N. J.; Joan Didier, vice president, of Jamaica, British West Indies and Constance Colston, student representative, of Charlotte, N. C.

Social Changes In Africa Topic Of Seminar Talks

Methodist women leaders attending a 10-day national seminar at Bennett College heard a panel discussion of "The Meaning and Consequences of Rapid Social Changes for Families in Africa" this morning by three women who have had extensive experience in that area.

Speaking on the panel were: Mrs. Jonah Chitombo of Southern Rhodesia, secretary for the African Woman's Society of Christian Service; Mrs. Ralph E. Dodge, wife of Bishop Dodge of Lourenco Marques, Mozambique, Portuguese East Africa, who has been a missionary in Africa for a total of 20 years; and Miss Ruth Lawrence, executive secretary, Africa and Europe, Woman's Division.

Mrs. Chitombo stressed the fact that "there is a big gap between the education of men and women" in her country and added that "men will never solve the problems of rapid social changes without educated women."

Mrs. Dodge gave examples of the social changes in Angola, Africa, between her first visit there in 1936 and her return in 1947.

She said that the original theory in training the girls for housekeeping was to avoid teaching them methods and the use of equipment which they would not have upon their return to the villages. She cited as an example the use of a kitchen stove.

"In 1947," she said, "a veritable explosion occurred in the Field Committee when an African pastor demanded that the education for girls be transformed. He said that his sons and the sons of his fellow Africans could not wait for the slowly developing process."

As a result, Mrs. Dodge said, the process has been broadened and intensified. Thus, today, "the girls of Angola are going beyond that status to become career girls."

Social Change Of Asians Explained

Methodist women attending a seminar at Bennett College yesterday heard Mrs. Ang Kim Kiat of Singapore, Malaya, say that Asia is undergoing rapid changes not only in the spheres of politics, economy and beliefs but also in the whole structure of society.

"The main cause of this rapid social change is the sudden national awakening of East Asian countries which changes their whole attitude toward and relationship with Western nations," Mrs. Ang said.

"There is the constant cry for freedom, justice and independence in the political, economic and social areas of life. These countries are seeking freedom from the hold of the West—and, though it has come slowly—it has nevertheless come to many of the countries involved."

Old Religion Revived

Mrs. Ang, speaking to the more than 150 women attending the seminar on rapid social change, pointed out that there is today a revival of Buddhism, Islam and Hinduism in the countries of Asia.

"We are confronted also with many ideologies, chief of which is communism," Mrs. Ang declared.

Commenting on other changes taking place in Asian countries Mrs. Ang said that the migration of young people to the cities has given rise to laxify of morals, a rise in crime and increased unemployment.

"Our young people have a desire for freedom which has caused clashes between the young who want progress and the old who want veneration."

"But changes are not all bad," Mrs. Ang said. "Features of the old static and highly stratified society are being replaced by an outlook which insists upon equality of status and opportunity.

"The recent emancipaton of women has been phenomenal. Women today are educated and can go out to work wth no objection from parents, parents-in-law and husbands.

Great gains have been made in education in Malaya, according to Mrs. Ang, and progress is being made in communication and distribution of goods.

The seminar, which has brought to the Bennett campus women from many states, including Alaska and Hawaii, will close tonight with an address by Miss Eva Shipstone, professor of psychology at Isabella Thoburn College, Lucknow, India.

Methodists Addressed At Bennett

Great human issues at stake in Asia, Africa and some parts of Latin America have animated a study by the World Council of Churches on rapid social change in those areas, Methodist women were told yesterday at Bennett College.

Speaking on a panel, Miss Helen Turnbull, of the staff of United Church Women, New York, said that the four areas of the study are those of responsible citizenship, villages and rural life, problems of urbanization and industrialization and the impact of the West.

The panel on which Miss Turnbull appeared spoke to the more than 130 Methodist women from all parts of the United States who are attending at Bennett College a 10-day seminar of the Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Board of Missions.

Other members of the panel were Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, president of the Phelps-Stokes Fund and chairman of the Board of Trustees of Bennett College, and Dr. Evelyn Berry, formerly a professor at Paine College, Augusta, Ga.

Miss Turnbull pointed out that the study undertaken by the World Council of Churches has revealed that the role of women is changing all over the world.

Dr. Patterson spoke on the World Council of Churches' study in Liberia, as the Phelps-Stokes Fund has assumed responsibility for the study in that country.

"We have been concerned in Liberia with responsible citizenship," Dr. Patterson said, "and how Christian influence there can promote such responsibility. We are endeavoring to lead individual Liberians to accept responsibility in a totally new social order."

Dr. Berry described a five-year program of advanced religious studies being conducted at Union Theological Seminary in New York. The program, now in its fourth year, was made possible by a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation.

Pastors' School Ends Session At Bennett College

Nine men and women were graduated as the Baltimore Area Pastors School at Bennett College came to a close here Friday.

The Methodist-sponsored school which this year attracted 36 persons for its one-month study course, had a faculty of nine headad by the Rev. Charles L. Carrington, of Jamaica, N. Y., who again served as dean.

Those persons completing their fourth summer of study were: D. T. Lewis, Seaford, Del.; John F. McEachin, Raeford, N. C.; Mrs. Creolia W. Rice, Harford County, Maryland; Mrs. Martha C. Robbins, Wilmington, Del.; James P. Russell, Zelienople, Pa.; Everette W. Stevenson, Washington, D. C.; Edward N. Washington, Jamaica, N. Y.; Josiah White, Kingsport, Tenn., and Illinois C. Wilson, Clarksburg, W. Va.

Others in attendance were: George R. Allen, Baltimore, Md.; Woodrow L. Amey, Philadelphia, Pa.; Adolphus A. Berry, Quinton, N. C.; Chester A. Bowles, Chattanooga, Tenn.; John W. Coleman, Philadelphia, Pa.; Homer H. Davis, Charleston, W. Va.; William H. Davis, Annapolis, Md.; Mrs. Sophia East, Pilot Mountain, N. C.; Mrs. Emma Estep, Dunkirk, Md. and Mrs. Eva Franklin, Chattanooga, Tenn.;

Hal T. Henderson, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Philip A. Henry, Chestertown, Md.; Murrel C. Hickman, Soddy, Tenn.; Emerson M. Jolly, Salisbury, Md.; Elwood J. Jones, Asheboro, N. C.; Luther H. Jones, Winston-Salem, N. C. and Clifford E. Landrum, Townsend, Delaware;

Daniel R. McGirt, Rowland, N. C.; John E. Monroe, Red Springs, N. C.; Ralph E. Monroe, Keyser, W. Va.; Lovell Parham, Grafton, W. Va.; Mrs. Rosa L. Robbins, Philadelphia, Pa. and Clifton G. Scott, Advance, N.C.;

Mrs. Irene Simpson, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Mrs. Julian Thompson, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mrs. Myrtle Travers, Baltimore, Md. and E. A. Williams, Mullins, S. C.

The Staff: Dr. C. C. Armstrong, Greensboro, N. C.; Dr. Ramsey Bridges, Pittsburg, Pa.; Rev. W. T. Brown, Greensboro, N. C.; Dr. W. R. Hazzard, Philadelphia, Pa.; Dr. Major J. Jones, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Rev. Edward D. McGowan, Washington, D. C.; Dr. Noah W. Moore, Jr., Philadelphia, Pa.; Rev. Henry H. Nichols, Philadelphia, Pa, and Rev. Charles L. Carrington, Dean, Jamaica, N. Y.

Dr. Carothers, Methodist Cleric, Heard At Bennett

GREENSBORO — Technological changes are making things tough for the American family, a Methodist minister from the industrial city of Schenectady, New York, declared here at Bennett College last week.

Dr. J. Edward Carothers, pastor of Schenectady's First Methodist Church, was speaking to some 150 Methodist women from all over the world, who for the past ten days have been attending a quadrennial seminar on Christian social relations. The seminar ended on Friday.

"It would be foolish to say that the long-range fruits of technology are bad," Dr. Carothers declared, "but the impact of technology has hit the family with social and economic violence which is literally terrifying in its threats and promises."

As illustrations, he cited the frustration of the young mother who has labor-saving gadgets galore but is cooped up all day with a houseful of preschool children; the guilt feeling of people who believe that they should care for their aged parents but really don't want to do so, and the drain on church attendance caused by the rush of people to technologically-produced amusements on Sunday morning.

"In the face of these and other violent changes in family life imposed by Technology," the speaker continued, "the church has a clearly-defined function. It must interpret the changes as they emerge in order that the family may not be taken by surprise and be found without resources of understanding.

"It must also make changes within its own ministers in order that the life of God in the life of many may be enlivened by worship, instruction, the fellowship and belief and service of Jesus Christ," he concluded.

In another address, Dr. James K. Matthews, of New York City, associate general secretary of the Division of World Missions, said that "though man is beginning to conquer outer space, he has not been able to conquer inner space," meaning his own soul.

"Around the world," said Dr. Matthews, "there is a widespread feeling of meaningless, lack of purpose and emptiness of life."

President Willa B. Player of Bennett, speaking on "The Impact of Technology on Education in the United States," said that American concern for advancement in science cannot be predicated upon a desire to outsmart the Russians.

"The big need in education today," she stated, "is for basic liberal education of youth and adults who can answer these questions: Am I a straight-thinging individual? Can I apply the scientific method to the affairs of every-day life? Do I understand people? Am I able to communicate?"

10 DAY SEMINAR CONVENES AT BENNETT

Around 150 Methodist women leaders from 37 states, the District of Columbia and five foreign countries opened a 10-day national Seminar on Christian Social Relations on the campus of Bennett College, Tuesday.

Among the group were women from the two newest states — Alaska and Hawaii; seven delegates from North Carolina and six from South Carolina and representatives from Malaya, Southern Rhodesia, Canada, England and India.

The seminar, held every four years, is sponsored by the Women's Division of Christian Service of the Methorist Board of Missions. Theme of the current seminar is "The Family in a World of Rapid Social Change."

Among the speakers scheduled to appear are members of the United Nations executive staff, college professors, ministers and church executives and President Willa B Player of Bennett. They will present three aspects of Christian social relations as affected by cultural and social change, techonology and economic issues. Discussions will follow keynote addresses in these several areas.

Dr. Dorothy Lee, professor of anthropology at Harvard University is scheduled to give three addresses and Dr. James K. Matthews of New York City, associate general secretary of the Methorist Division of World Missions, will deliver five messages on the topic, "Eternal Values in a World of Change."

A highlight of the seminar will be the seven worship services prepared especially by Methodist missionaries and nations in areas of rapid social change. The writers are from Korea, Japan, the Belgian Congo, the Philippines, India, the United States and Latin America.

Music representative of the rapid changes taking place in various areas of the world will be sung at the opening activity each morning of the seminar. The singing will be led by Miss Kathryan Barber, a Methodist teacher in Kanpur, India; Miss Ruth Harris of New York, secretary of student work and Miss Jane Stentz, of New York, a secretary of missionary personnel. The seminar will close on July 31.

Some of the more than 130 persons who attended the annual Youth Assembly of the North Carolina Methodist Conference are shown in front of Pfeiffer Chapel at Bennett College. Second from right, front row (hands folded), is the Rev. Joseph B. Bethea, of Elkin, who served as dean; sixth from right on third row is the Rev. Douglass E. Moore, of Durham, executive secretary of the conference and director of the assembly.

Over 100 Youngsters Attracted to State Methodist Conference; Names of Those Attending Listed Here

GREENSBORO — The annual youth assembly of the North Carolina Methodist Conference which closed its one-week session at Bennett College on Saturday attracted 101 young people.

The Rev. Joseph B. Bethea of Elkin, dean of this year's assembly, headed a staff of 29. Classes, workshops and interest groups followed a schedule which ran from 7:30 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily.

Closing event of the assembly was a 6 a.m. communion service.

The following persons were registered:

Winston-Salem

Carclyn Allen, Samuel Draper, Andrea Gwyn, Rebecca Gwyn, Jeanene Havner, Mary Hollins, Betty Laughlin, Alinda McCoy, Linda Newton, Lawrence Smith, Deborah Speas, Edward Townes.

Greensboro

Louise Mayo, Doris Mitchell, Doris Shoffner, Maxine West, William Barber, Edward Best, Roma Best, Ethel Brower, Jean Brown, Susie Brown, Terry Dearman, Flora Foster, Wilnette Freeman, Mary Herbin, Leslie Hinson and Portia Holt.

High Point

Portia Brooks, Bettye Carter, Jacqueline Eaves, Patricia Hall, Glenda Moorehead and Yvonne Patterson.

Shelby

Paul Dockery, Alvin Gidney, Herbert Gidney, Francelia Gleaves, John Hoyle and Fred Wright.

Durham

Robert Cline, Judy Grandy, Janet Hill, Barbara Thompson and James Wilkins.

Lenoir

Janet Harper, Gail Hickerson, Janice Norwood, Phyllis Scott and Sarah Norwood.

Others

Marion Adams and Doris Hull, Gastonia; Ida Blair, Doris Forney and Calvin Sharpe, Hickory; Lamar Burgess, Barbara Gwyn and Elnora Harris, Jonesville; Bessie Campbell and Mildred Pemderton, Laurinburg; Elaine Knott and Elizabeth Carson, Lexington; Shirley Goolsby and Betty Dalton, Walnut Cove; Jimmy Dowell, Mary N. Kyle and Emma Vaneaton, Elkin; Bertie Finger and Phyllis Hull, Catawba; Patricia Gabriel and Hattie Smith, Statesville; Willie M. Waugh, Herma Robinson and Edward Galbreath, Fayetteville; Glenda Joyner and Carrie Renwick, Thomasville; Catherine Scott and Louise McCorkle, Mt. Holly; Joyce Morgan and Neltine Peebles, Raleigh; Ella Mae Watkins, Georgia Price and Delores Roper, Asheboro.

Thurman Anderson, Rowland; Earl Bullard, Elrod; Robert Cline, Conover; Kathy Davis, Trinity; Jean Hamilton, Spindale; Nancy Johnson, Leaksville; Alphine Little, Mill Springs; Leon Mayes, Oxford; Dewayne Maynard, Reidsville; Barbara Neill, Mooresville; Hubert Pipkin, Maxton; Gayle Powell, Forest City; Marjorie Rogers, Lumberton; Ida Settle, Brown Summit and Carrie Tucker, Granite Falls.

Staff

L. A. Brown, Louise Yorse and Loretta Free, all of Greensboro; Emma R. McLean, G. E. Hogue and Dannie Shaw, all of Laurinburg; H. W. Phillips, J. W. Gwyn and Beatrice Watts, all of Winston-Salem; Joseph B. Bethea and Shirley C. Bethea, Elkin; Fannie McCallum and Katie McCallum, Guilford; J. T. Jones, and Gladys Costner, Gastonia; Frances Beatty and A. E. Robinson, Shelby.

D. E. Moore, Durham; John G. Corry, Leaksville; Miles Murphy, Red Springs; O. W. Burwick, Raleigh; Ruth Goolsby, Walnut Cove; James Ferree, Lumberton; Mae Waddell, Asheboro; Olivia Peace, Hoffman; Delilah Knight, Spindale; Ruth Greeson, Thomasville; Cleo Conner, Sherrill's Ford and G. A. Brooks, Lexington.

THEY HEAD BENNETT STUDENT UNION — These four young women compose the board of management which directs the affairs of the David D. Jones Student Union at Bennett College. Left to right: Misses Peggie Alexander, secretary, of Fort Pierce, Fla.; Nancy Kirby, president, of Haddonfield, N. J.; Joan Didier, vice president, of Jamaica, British West Indies and Constance Colston, student representative, of Charlotte.

Bennett College Studies Family Social Changes

GREENSBORO, N. C.—Technological changes are making things tough for the American family, a Methodist minister from the industrial city of Schenectady, N. Y., declared here at Bennett College.

Dr. J. Edward Carothers, pastor of Schenectady's First Methodist Church, was speaking to some 150 Methodist women from all over the world, who for the past 10 days have been attending a quadrennial seminar on Christian social relations. The seminar ended on Friday.

"It would be foolish to say that the long-range fruits of technology are bad," Dr. Carothers declared, "but the impact of technology has hit the family with social and economic violence which is literally terrifying in its threats and promises."

AS ILLUSTRATIONS, he cited the frustration of the young mother who has labor-saving gadgets galore but is cooped up all day with a houseful of pre-school children; the guilt feeling of people who believe that they should care for their aged parents but really don't want to do so, and the drain on church attendance caused by the rush of people to technologically produced amusements on Sunday morning.

"In the face of these and other violent changes in family life imposed by Technology," the speaker continued, "the church has a clearly-defined function. It must interpret the changes as they emerge in order that the family may not be taken by surprise and be found without resources of understanding."

Pastor's School Ends At Bennett College

GREENSBORO —Nine men and women were graduated as the Baltimore Area Pastors School at Bennett College came to a close here Friday.

The Methodist-sponsored school, which this year attracted 36 persons for its one-month study course, had a faculty of nine, headed by the Rev. Charles L. Carrington, of Jamaica, N. Y., who again served as dean.

Those persons completing their fourth summer of study were:

D. T. Lewis, Seaford, Del.; John F. McEachin, Raeford; Mrs. Creolia W. Rice, Harford County, Maryland; Mrs. Martha C. Robbins, Wilmington, Del.; James P. Russell, Zelienople, Pa.; Everett W. Stevenson, Washington, D. C.; Edward N. Washington, Jamaica, N. Y.; Josiah White, Kingsport, Tenn. and Illinois C. Wilson, Clarksburg, W. Va.

Others in attendance were:

George R. Allen, Baltimore, Md.; Woodrow L. Amey, Phildelphia, Pa.; Adolphus A. Berry, Quinton, N. C.; Chester A. Bowles, Chattanooga, Tenn.; John W. Coleman, Philadelphia, Pa.; Homer H. Davis, Charleston, W. Va.; William H. Davis, Annapolis, Md.; Mrs. Sophia East, Pilot Mountain, Mrs. Emma Estep, Dunkirk, Md. and Mrs. Eva Franklin, Chattanooga, Tenn.;

Hal T. Henderson, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Philip A. Henry, Chestertown, Md.; Murrel C. Hickman, Soddy, Tenn.; Emerson M. Jolly, Salisbury, Md.; Elwood J. Jones, Asheboro, Luther H. Jones, Winston-Salem, N. C. and Clifford E. Landrum, Townsend, Delaware;

Daniel R. McGirt, Rowland; Jno. E. Monroe, Red Springs; Ralph E. Monroe, Keyser, W. Va.; Lovell Parham, Grafton, W. Va.; Mrs. Rosa L. Robbins, Philadelphia, Pa. and Clifton G. Scott, Advance;

Mrs. Irene Simpson, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Mrs. Julia Thompson, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mrs. Myrtle Travers, Baltimore, Md. and E. A. Williams, Mullins, S. C.

THE STAFF

Dr. C. C. Armstrong Greensboro; Dr. Ramsey Bridges, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Rev. W. T. Brown, Greensboro; Dr. W. R. Hazzard, Philadelphia, Pa.; Dr. Major J Jones, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Rev. Edward D. McGowan, Washington, D. C.; Dr. Noah W. Moore, Jr., Philadelphia, Pa; Rev. Henry H. Nichols Philadelphia, Pa. and Rev. Charles L. Carrington, Dean, Jamaica, N. Y.

Methodist Women Heads To Attend July Conclave

GREENSBORO—Program plans have been completed for the National Seminar of the Women's Division of Christian Service, to be held July 21-31 at Bennett College. Theme of the seminar is "The Family in a World of Rapid Social Change."

Speakers during the first week include Miss Margaret Forsyth, executive, Foreign division, National YWCA board; Dr. Dorothy Lee, anthropologist; Dr. Wolfgang Stopler, professor of economics, University of Michigan; Dr. Willa Dr. J. E. Carothers, pastor, First Player, president Bennett College; Methodist Church, Schenectady, N. Y., and Mrs. Grace Barboy and Dr. Zahir Amed, United Nations' staff.

Among second week speakers will be DDr. Theodore L. Tucker, secretary for Africa, Division of Foreign Missions, National Council of Churches; Miss Eleanor French, director-elect, Department of Christian Social Relations; United Church Women; Miss Eva Shipstone, professor of psychology, Isabella Theburn College, Lucknow, India.

Dr. James K. Matthews, associate general secretary, Division of World Missions, Methodist Board of Misions, will speak each morning during the week. About 140 women, from all parts of the United States are expected to attend.

STUDENTS HEAR DR. FRASER

It is impossible to produce great scientists except that a great audience for science is developed, Dr. Thomas P. Fraser, head of the department of science education at Morgan State College, Baltimore, Md., told Bennett College students here last week.

Dr. Fraser, who was the principal speaker during the annual Science Emphasis Week observance, said that it is the role of science for general education in the schools and colleges of America to develop such an audience.

Taking as his topic, "The Challenge of 1959: The Development of Science Man-power," Dr. Fraser stated: "Students in a liberal arts college, such as Bennett, have a responsibility to develop an understanding of the scientific world in which we live and to develop a proficiency in the use of scientific method. Those students who major in science have the added responsibility to begin to develop mastery of a scientific discipline."

Methodist Women End Session Here

Yesterday marked the close of a three-national seminar on the family and rapid social change at Bennett College.

Some 150 Methodist women attending the seminar yesterday heard reports from six interesting group leaders during the afternoon session. The final session last night featured an address by Miss Eva Shipstone, head of the department of psychology at Isabella Thoburn College, Lucknow, India.

DR. PLAYER TO ADDRESS 4-H CLUBBERS

Dr. Willa B. Player, president 4-H Club members attending of Bennett College, will address their 12th annual regional camp at Howard University, Washington, D. C., on August 15.

The activity is sponsored by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in cooperation with 16 17 Southern and border States.

METHODIST WOMEN AT BENNETT — Five Methodist women leaders who attended the 10-day quadrennial seminar on Christian social relations which closed at Bennett College last week. Left to right: Miss Betty Snead, missionary to Korea; Miss Treva Overholt, missionary to Peru; Mrs. Kim Kiat Ang, teacher in a Methodist school in Singapore; Miss Eva Shipstone, head of the psychology department at Isabella Thoburn College in Lucknow, India, and Mrs. Jonah Chitombo, of Southern Rhodesia, secretary for the African Woman's Society of Christian Service.

Greensboro Times 8/8/59

Church Must Soften Violent Impact of Technology on American Family by Interpreting Various Changes

GREENSBORO — Technological changes are making things tough for the American family, a Methodist minister from the industrial city of Schenectady, New York, declared here at Bennett College last week.

Dr. J. Edward Carothers, pastor of Schenectady's First Methodist Church, was speaking to some 150 Methodist women from all over the world, who for the past ten days have been attending a quadrennial seminar of Christian relations. The seminar ended on Friday.

"It would be foolish to say that the long-range fruits of technology are bad," Dr. Carothers declared, "but the impact of technology has hit the family with social and economic violence which is literally terrifying in its threats and promises."

As illustration, he cited the frustration of the young mother who has labor-saving gadgets galore but is cooped up all day with a houseful of pre-school children; the guilt feeling of people who believe that they should care for their aged parents but really don't want to do so, and the drain on church attendance caused by the rush of people to technologically-produced amusements on Sunday morning.

"In the face of these and other violent changes in family life imposed by technology," the speaker continued, "the church has a clearly-defined function. It must interpret the change as they emerge in order that the family may not be taken by surprise and be found without resources of understanding.

In another address, Dr. James K. Matthews, of New York City, associate general secretary of the Division of World Missions, said that "though man is beginning to conquer outer space, he has not been able to conquer inner space," meaning his own soul.

"Around the world," said Dr. Matthews, "there is a widespread feeling of meaningless, lack of purpose and emptiness of life."

President Willa B. Player of Bennett, speaking on "The Impact of Technology on Education in the Unted States," said that American concern for advancement in science cannot be predicated upon a desire to outsmart the Russians.

"The big need in education today," she stated, "is for basic liberal education of youth and adults who can answer these questions: Am I a straight-thinking individual? Can I apply the scientific method to the affairs of everyday life? Do I understand people? Am I able to communicate?"

Dr. Wolfgang Stolpher, professor of economics at the University of Michigan, who spoke on "Technology and Social Change in Today's World;" Dr. Zahir Ahmed, a United Nations executive, and Miss Eva Shipstone, professor of psychology at Isabella Thoburn College, Lucknow, India.

Two special resource leaders taking part in the seminar were Mrs. Jonah Chitombo of Southern Rhodesia and Mrs. Kim Kiat, of Singapore, both brought here by the Women's Division of Christian Service. The Ambassadors Quartet, a group of male singers from Southern Rhodesia, made two appearances, alternating from native to Western dress.

150 Methodist Women Leaders From 37 States In Bennett Confab

GREENSBORO — Around 150 Methodist women leaders from 37 states, the District of Columbia and five foreign countries opened a 10-day national Seminar on Christian Social Relations on the campus of Bennett College, Tuesday.

Among the group were women from the two newest states—Alaska and Hawaii; seven delegates from North Carolina and six from South Carolina and representatives from Malaya, Southern Rhodesia, Canada, England and India.

The seminar, held every four years, is sponsored by the Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Board of Missions. Theme of the current seminar is "The Family In A World Of Rapid Social Change."

Among the speakers scheduled to appear are members of the United Nations executive staff, college professors, ministers and church executives and President Willa B. Player of Bennett. They will present 3 aspects of Christian social relations as affected by cultural and social change, technology and economic issues. Discussions will follow keynote addresses in these several areas.

Women Holding Seminar On Christian Relations

Greensboro Daily News 8/4/59

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Around 150 Methodist women leaders from 37 states, the District of Columbia and five foreign countries opened a 10-day national Seminar on Chirstian Social Relations last week on the campus of Bennett College.

Among the group were women from the two newest states —Alaska and Hawaii — seven delegates from North Carolina and six from South Carolina and representatives from Malaya, Southern Rhodesia, Canada, England and India.

THE SEMINAR, held every four years, is sponsored by the Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Board of Missions. Theme of the current seminar is "The Family in a World of Rapid Social Change."

Among the speakers are members of the United Nations executive staff, college professors, ministers and church executives and President Willa B. Player of Bennett. They are presenting three aspects of Christian social relations as affected by cultural and social change, technology and economic issues. Discussions will follow keynote addresses in these several areas.

DR. DOROTHY LEE, professor of anthropology at Harvard University, is scheduled to give three addresses and Dr. James K. Matthews of New York City,, associate general secretary of the Methodist Division of World Missions, will deliver five messages on the topic, "Eternal Values in a World of Change."

A highlight of the seminar will be the seven worship services prepared especially by the Methodist missionaries and nations in areas of rapid social change. The writers are from Korea,. Japan, the Belgian Congo, the Philippines, India, the United States and Latin America.

Women Lack Education In Africa

Journal 8/19/59

An increase in education for the masses in Africa doesn't extend to the women there, Mrs. Jonah Chitombo of Southern Rhodesia told a group of Methodist women meeting at Bennett College yesterday.

"There is a big gap in Africa between the education of men and women," Mrs. Chitombo said. "But men will never solve the problems of rapid social change without educated women."

Mrs. Chitombo is a graduate nurse and the wife of a district superintendent of the Methodist Church in Africa. She spoke at a session of the national seminar of the Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Board of Missions.

She said that while revolutionary social changes are taking place today in Africa, many African women cannot read and write and are not trained to do anything.

Mrs. Chitombo said that one of the most pressing social problems in Africa is caused by the large numbers of young married men who leave their villages to work in cities.

"When they reach the cities they forget all about their wives and children at home. This has caused a lot of divorces in Africa," Mrs. Chitombo declared.

She said that the ignorance and apathy of most African women is a hindrance to the control of such diseases as malaria, leprosy, smallpox and tuberculosis because they do not understand why preventive measures must be taken.

Other speakers on Africa at yesterday's session of the seminar were Mrs. Ralph E. Dodge and Miss Ruth Lawrence.

HEAD PRE-ALUMNAE GROUP---Officers of the Pre-alumnae Council at Bennett College listen to Mrs. Jean P. Haith, center, explain what their duties and responsibilities will be for the 1959-60 school year. Left to right: Misses Lula Goolsby, vice president, Mocksville, N. C.; Betty Crockett, president, Charlotte, N. C.; Celestine Miller, secretary, Horatio, S. C. and Mrs. Eloise J. Harper, treasurer, Greensboro, N. C.

Science Math Meet Closes at Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The six-week summer training program in science and mathematics sponsored by the National Science Foundation at Bennett College came to a close here on Friday when certificates of attendance were awarded to the 96 enrollees.

Dr. E. L. Totton, of the chemistry department at North Carolina College, Durham, gave the "commencement" address to the young students who came from nine states and the District of Columbia — some from as far away as Arkansas, Texas and Alabama

Dr. Totten congratulated the youngsters and encouraged them to continue their pursuit of knowledge. Brief remarks were made by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director of the program, following which Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, associate director, presented the certificates.

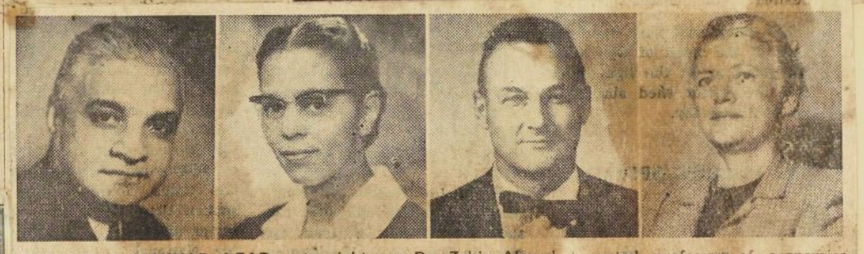
Bennett joins in TV course

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Bennett College will join more than 250 colleges and universities offering credit for the Continental Classroom courses in modern chemistry to be televised over the NBC network Sept. 28 through May 27.

The course in modern chemistry, to be taped in compatible color, will be taught by Dr. John F. Baxter of the University of Florida. The class will be televised from 6:30 a.m. to 7 a.m.

Continental Classroom last year offered a course in atomic age physics, taught by Dr. Harvey E. White of the University of California. The course will be re - run by the network from 6 a.m. to 6:30 a.m.

The modern chemistry class, like atomic age physics, is designed primarily for high school science teachers. All inquiries should be addressed to Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the science division.



METHODIST SEMINAR LEADERS — Four of the outstanding speakers who are taking part in the ten-day national seminar in Greensboro on Christian Social Relations are pictured here. Left to right are Dr. Zahir Ahmed, former Secretary-General of Foreign Affairs of India; Dr. Willa Player, president of the host institution, Bennett College; Dr. Wolfgang Stolper, Austrian-educated professor of economics at the University of Michigan; and Dr. Dorothy Lee, teacher and advisor at Merrill-Palmer school. The seminar is sponsored by the Methodist Church.

Some of the graduates of Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., returned recently for the annual meeting of the alumni association. On front row, 5th from right, is Mrs. Fannie Lea Hinnant, president of the organization.

All-Bennett Luncheon

Graduates who returned for the All-Bennett luncheon recently reported cash gifts of over $2,500 to the Loyalty Fund.

Topping the list of graduate chapters was Greensboro with a gift of $1,000. The Delaware Valley Chapter presented $500 and $560 was received from other graduates.

Dr. Virginia S. Nyabongo of Tennessee State University, Nashville, a member of the honor class, presided at the luncheon. Mrs. Julia Ross Flint, of Cincinnati, Ohio, a member of the class of 1939, presented the classes in reunion and Mrs. Fannie Lea Hinnant, '45, president of the national Graduate Association, presented the chapter which reported to the Loyalty Fund.

Changing Role Of Women Discussed By Methodists

Record 8/29/59

A panel discussion of "The Changing Role of Women and the Church's Program in the United States" was presented to Methodist women at Bennett College this morning in a session of their national seminar.

The seminar is being sponsored by the Women's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Board of Missions.

Four Methodist leaders made up the panel: Miss Virginia Stafford of the Department of Christian Education of Adults, Board of Education; Dr. Edward Staples, director, Department of Christian Family, Board of Education; Rev. Matthew D. Mc[illegible], pastor, Trinity Methodist Church, Orangeburg, S. C.; and H. F. Brandt, chairman, Section of Education and Cultivation.

Miss Stafford stated that a major problem in this country today is the increasing number of older people and that the church must provide "many more opportunities" for them.

She said the church especially needs to provide oportunities for older people to mix with the younger members. She cited the example of one church that gave a youth party each year for the older church members.

Miss Stafford made the basic point that the church is able to meet the needs of older people through, for example, use of their volunteer services, recognizing their needs, and vocational training.

Dr. Staples spoke on a trend in the church today—that of "doing more things together so as not to divide the family." He said the larger churches need a committee on family life while smaller churches could contend with the problem on an individual basis.

Speaking of the work which the Woman's Division could sponsor, Mrs. Brandt referred to a survey of conferences revealing that most requests were for work in rural areas, for example, larger parishes. Other requests were for residence halls in cities for young women coming to work there and for work with emotionally disturbed children.

She said the crux of the whole problem was the need for funds and for dedicated young people to do the work.

On the problem of older people having responsibility in connection with the church, Rev. McCollom suggested that the church might change its retirement program and allow people to work until there is a real reason for retirement.

This afternoon the group was to hold a special meeting on the problem of communication among church members in communities where racial tension exists.

The seminar will continue tomorrow with reports from interest group leaders and will end with a breakfast Friday morning.

International Talks Open at Bennett College

Greensboro Times 8/1/59

Greensboro — Around 150 Methodist women leaders from 37 states, the District of Columbia, and five foreign countries opened a 10-day national Seminar on Christian Social Relations in the campus of Bennett College, Tuesday.

Among the group were women from the two newest states — Alaska and Hawaii; seven delegates from North Carolina and six from South Carolina and representatives from Malaya, Southern Rhodesia, Canada, England and India.

The seminar, held every four years, is sponsored by the Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Board of Missions. Theme of the current seminar is "The Family in a World of Rapid Social Change."

Among the speakers scheduled to appear are members of the United Nations executive staff, college professors, ministers and church executives and President Willa B. Player of Bennett. They will present three aspects of Christian social relations as affected by cultural and social change, technology and economic issues. Discussions will follow keynote addresses in the several areas.

Dr. Dorothy Lee, professor of anthropology at Harvard University, is scheduled to give three addresses and Dr. James K. Matthews of New York City, associate general secretary of the Methodist Division of World Missions, will deliver five messages on the topic, "Eternal Values in a World of Change."

A highlight of the seminar will be the seven worships services prepared especially by Methodist missionaries and nations in areas of rapid social change. The writers are from Korea, Japan, the Belgian Congo, the Philippines, India, the United States and Latin America.

Congratulations!!

Farmers Of North Carolina

From

BENNETT COLLEGE

A Distinctive College for Women

Greensboro, N. C.

A four-year accredited Class "A" Liberal Arts College holding full membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

CURRICULUM

- The Humanities
- The Sciences, (Biology, Chemistry, Mathematics)
- The Social Sciences

Outstanding offerings include studies in the theatre arts, library science, secretarial science, medical secretarial and laboratory technology, teacher education, physical education, psychology, nursery school, education, art clothing and sociology.

For Additional Information, Write:

DIRECTOR OF ADMISSIONS, BENNETT COLLEGE, GREENSBORO, N. C.

Shrunk to 2 col x 5"

Opening Date For Fall Semester, Sept. 6, 1959

METHODIST WOMEN HERE: Shown are five Methodist women leaders attending a national seminar at Bennett College. Left to right they are: Miss Betty Snead, missionary to Korea; Miss Treva Overholt, missionary to Peru; Mrs. Kim Kiat Ang of Singapore, teacher in a Methodist girls' school there; Miss Eva Shipstone of India, head of the department of psychology, Isabella Thoburn College there; and Mrs. Jonah Chitombo of Southern Rhodesia, secretary for the African Woman's Society of Christian Service. (Staff photo.)

Staff Confab

GREENSBORO — The annual Faculty-Staff Fall Conference at Bennett College has been set for September 3-10 it was announced by President Willa B. Player.

Theme for this year's conference will be "Focusing on Self-Study of the Educational Program". Opening meeting of the conference on September 4 at 10 a.m. will feature a brainstorming session by a panel of nine with Mrs. Louise G. Streat as moderator.

Meetings of the three divisions of instruction will be held 7 p.m. on this date.

BENNETT COLLEGE

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Some 96 persons received certificates at the close of the six-week summer training program in science and mathematics at Bennett College on Aug. 7. The program was sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

Telecast Chemistry Listed at Bennett

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Bennett College will join more than 250 U. S. colleges and universities offering credit for the Continental Classroom courses in Modern Chemistry to be telecast during the 1959-60 academic year over the NBC network. The 160-lesson series, to begin Sept. 28 and terminate May 27, may be seen locally from 6:30 to 7 A.M. over Station WSJS.

—more for your money ★ The Courier—

1959-1960 Bennett College Staff Named

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Announcement of the appointment of 14 new members of the faculty and staff at Bennett College for the 1959-60 academic year and of the return of two teachers who have been on leave, Mrs. Mary T. Coleman of Reidsville, instructor in education, and Mrs. Lydia Richards, director of the Children's House, has been made by the president, Mrs. Willa B. Player.

Morgan 1959-60

Dr. Carothers Addresses Methodist Women At Bennett

Technological changes are making things tough for the American family, a Methodist minister from the industrial city of Schenectady, N. Y., declared here at Bennett College last week.

Dr. J. Edward Carothers, pastor of Schenectady's First Methodist Church, was speaking to some 150 Methodist women from all over the world, who for the past ten days have been attending a quadrennial seminar on Christian social relations. The seminar ended on Friday.

"It would be foolish to say that the long-range fruits of technology are bad," Dr. Carothers declared, "but the impact of technology has hit the family with social and economic violence which is literally terrifying in its threats and promises."

As illustrations, he cited the frustration of the young mother who has labor-saving gadgets galore but is cooped up all day with a houseful of pre-school children; the guilt feeling of people who believe that they should care for their aged parents but really don't want to do so, and the drain on church attendance caused by the rush of people to technologically-produced amusements on Sunday morning.

"In the face of these and other violent changes in family life imposed by Technology," the speaker continued, "the church has a clearly-defined function. It must interpret the changes as they emerge in order that the family may not be taken by surprise and be found without resources of understanding.

"It must also make changes within its own ministers in order that the life of God in the life of many may be enlivened by worship, instruction, the fellowship and belief in the service of Jesus Christ," he concluded.

In another address, Dr. James K. Matthews, of New York City, associate general secretary of the Division of World Missions, said that "though man is beginning to conquer outer space, he has not been able to conquer inner space," meaning his own soul.

"Around the world," said Dr. Matthews, "there is a widespread feeling of meaninglessness, lack of purpose and emptiness of life."

President Willa B. Player of Bennett, speaking on "The Impact of Technology on Education in the United States," said that American concern for advancement in science cannot be predicated upon a desire to outsmart Russians.

"The big need in education today," she stated, "is for basic liberal education of youth and adults who can answer these questions: Am I a straight-thinking individual? Can I apply the scientific method to the affairs of every-day-life? Do I understand people? Am I able to communicate?"

Dr. Player listed a series of educational needs that have been disclosed by the miracles of technology. Among these she cited:

1. A renewed across-the-board emphasis for "liberalization" of education as a recognition that science is not enough with the scientist called upon to be humane as well.

2. A growing emphasis upon strengthening the talented, with the gifted person sought out from the masses and encouraged to develop his special talents to the fullest for the potential good of society.

3. A search for broader horizons for interpreting education, with the recognition that the mind alone is not enough—the heart must be included.

4. The emergence of a new concept of responsibility, with stress on working to develop a solidarity with the common man.

Among other speakers heard during the seminar were Dr. Dorothy Lee, Harvard University anthropologist, who gave three lectures on "Culture and Social Change;" Dr. Wolfgang Stolpher, professor of economics at the University of Michigan, who spoke on "Technology and Social Change in Today's World;" Dr. Zahir Ahmed, a United Nations executive, and Miss Eva Shipstone, professor of psychology at Isabella Thoburn College, Lucknow, India.

Two special resource leaders taking part in the seminar were Mrs. Jonah Chitombo of Southern Rhodesia and Mrs. Ang Kim Kiat, of Singapore, both brought here by the Woman's Division of Christian Service. The Ambassadors Quartet, a group of male singers from Southern Rhodesia, made two apperances, alternating from native to Western dress.

Lovely Models On Parade At Bennett College Campus

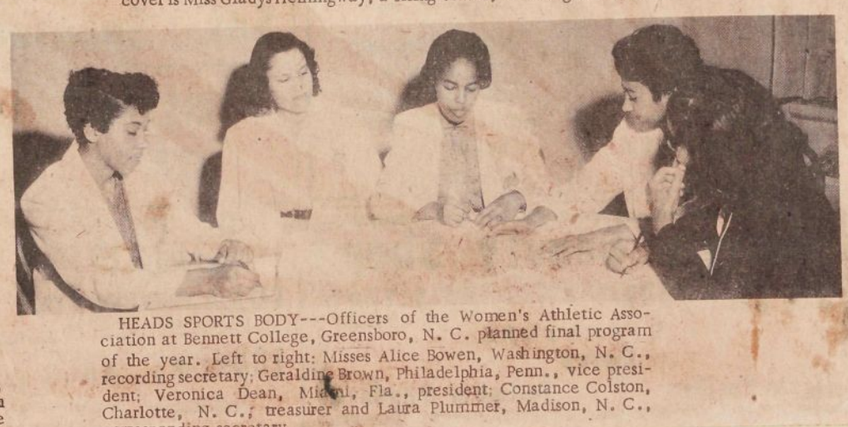
MOMENT OF DECISION---Miss Gladys Hemingway, of Georgetown, S. C., models turquoise suit, which she made during annual outdoor fashion show at Bennett College as her escort, Alfred Thompson, of neighboring A & T College seems to be deciding whether he likes it or not. In background, left to right, are Mrs. Louise G. Streat, under whose direction the garments were produced, who served as commentator and Miss Marlene Veavers, who assisted her.

BENNETT MODELS---Shown here are some of the students in clothing and textiles at Bennett College, who appeared in the annual outdoor fashion show. Left to right: Misses Dolores Snellings, of Raleigh, N. C.; Margirie Wilson, Clinton, N. C.; Gladys Hemingway, Georgetown, S. C.; Edith Tucker, Elkin, N. C.; Doris Best, Goldsboro, N.C.; Barbara Freeman, Lawrenceville, Va.; Arneese Woods, Darlington, S. C. and La Rita Waters, Jacksonville, Fla.

MODELS ON PARADE---Misses Elizabeth Hale (left), of Lynchburg, Va. and Carolyn Cotten, of Tarboro, N. C., stroll down runway during annual outdoor fashion show at Bennett College, wearing garments which they designed and made. Miss Hale won the fourth annual clothing award for the cocoa suit, which she is wearing and a knitted jacket and dress. Miss Cotten is wearing a floral suit and hat which she designed and made.

DO IT YOURSELF---In addition to making clothes for every member of the family, students in clothing and textiles at Bennett College learn the art of making slip covers for furniture. Shown here fitting a cover is Miss Gladys Hemingway, a rising senior, of Georgetown, S.C.

DUSTER AND DRESS---Miss Billie Ann Martin, of Gastonia, N. C., a sociology major, who nevertheless has a yen for making her own clothes, models the duster, linen dress and head piece which she wore in the recent outdoor fashion show at Bennett College.



HEADS SPORTS BODY---Officers of the Women's Athletic Association at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C. planned final program of the year. Left to right: Misses Alice Bowen, Washington, N. C., recording secretary; Geraldine Brown, Philadelphia, Penn., vice president; Veronica Dean, Miami, Fla., president; Constance Colston, Charlotte, N. C., treasurer and Laura Plummer, Madison, N. C., corresponding secretary.

SCIENCE EMPHASIS WEEK---Dr. Thomas Fraser, head of the Science Department at Morgan State College, Baltimore (center) watches two students of Roy Lee (left), Bennett College instructor, dissect the dogfish shark as a part of Science Emphasis Week at the Greensboro, N. C. institution. Dr. Fraser was guest lecturer. Miss Wilhelmina Bundy (standing) of Johnson City, Tenn. also follows closely the experiment by Misses Edna Jackson (left) of Ridgeway, S. C, and Betty Jo Wright, of Shelby, N. C.

14 New Members Added To Bennett's Faculty, Staff

GREENSBORO, N. C.—nnouncement of the appoin ment of 14 new members the faculty and staff at Ben nett College for the 1959-60 academic year and of the return of two teachers who have been on leave, was made last week by President Willa B. Player.

They are:

Charles I. Brown, of Greensboro, who holds the M. A. degree from N. C. College, Durham, will teach social sciences and be director of the expanded field studies program.

John F. Hatchett, of Pontiac, Mich., a graduate of Wayne State University, Detroit, and Boston University School of Theology, will teach religion and philosophy.

HOWELL T. JONES, of Toledo, Ohio, a graduate of Virginia State College, with a master of music degree from the University of Michigan, will teach violin and be in charge of the college orchestra;

Mrs. Lily Keleti, a native of Budapest, Hungary, a graduate of the Royal Hungarian States Academy of Music at Budapest, and a concert and lecture artist, will teach piano;

DR. DORIS McKinney, of Roxbury, Mass., a graduate of Sargent, with an M. A. from Boston University and the Ed. D. degree in guidance and counseling from the Boston University School of Education, will teach psychology and physical education.

Dr. Eunice S. Newton, of Durham, with an M. A. from Teachers College, Columbia University and the Ed. D. degree from the University of Pennsylvania, will be director of the college reading center.

DR. OSCAR M. Polhemus, of Guilford College, N. C., will be a part-time teacher of religion and philosophy. Holder of the STB degree and the Doctor of Theology degree rom Boston University, Dr. lhemus also earned an M. in history at the University o diana.

s. Isabella Troupiansky, oif sa, Russia, a graduate of University of Paris, with ty of study at the Universi- diana, will teach Frenc rman and Russian.

K WALKER, of Gr sbo who holds the B. S. d M. degrees from A. anc College, will teach basic ence.

Dor ea C. Wright, a nat of Alexandria, Egypt, a gra College Sarah Lawrence arts d a master of fine Colle from Woman's North e University of English na, will teach

DR. a native HUGHES, 1955 graduate o and a Medical School Meharry Tenn., has bee hville, part-time college as

Among the ne are three Benn graduates. Miss tees Henry, '57, of Che Md., will be assista of co-curricular acti be engaged in specia religious education.

MISS ROSA E. Marti of Sanford, N. C., has b employed as a dormitory rector and Miss Janie Graves, '59, of Greensboro, has been named a secretary on the administrative staff of the college.

Returning from leaves of absence for advanced study will be Mrs. Mary T. Coleman, of Reidsville, instructor in education, and Mrs. Lydia Richards, director of the Children's House.

THEY HEAD BENNETT STUDENT UNION---These four young women compose the board of management which directs the affairs of the David D. Jones Student Union at Bennett College. Left to right: Misses Peggie Alexander, secretary, of Fort Pierce, Fla.; Nancy Kirby, president, of Haddonfield, N. J.; Joan Didier, vice president, of Jamaica, British West Indies and Constance Colston, student representative, of Charlotte, N. C.

Faculty-Staff Conference Held At Bennett College

GREENSBORO — The annual Faculty-Staff Fall Conference at Bennett College has been set for September 3-10 it was announced by President Willa B. Player.

Theme for this year's conference will be "Focusing on Self-Study of the Educational Program". Opening meeting of the conference on Septmber 4 at 10 a. m. will feature a brainstorming session by a panel of nine with Mrs. Louise G. Streat as moderator. Meetings of the three divisions of instruction will be held at 7 p. m. on this date.

On Monday at 9:30 a. m. the conference will resume to consider the topic "A Close Look at Comprehensive examinations", with the discussion being led by Dr. George Breathett, chairman of the social science core. At 7 p. m. there will be a similar discussion of the topic "A Close Look at Senior Seminars and an Honors Program".

Core group meetings will be featured on Tuesday throughout the day. These will include: freshman English, social science, science, humanities, religion-philosophy, and two education cores.

On Wednesday at 10:30 a. m. there will be a joint meeting with student leaders. Highlight of this session will be a round table discussion of "Student Values and the Teacher" with Mrs. Blanche Raiford as chairman. Mrs. Minnie Smith, director of co-curricular activities and Van S. Allen, biology instructor, along with two students will complete the round table panel.

The closing feature of the conference will be a banquet at 7 p. m. at which time Dr. Paul Dressel, director of evaluation services at Michigan State University, will address students and faculty. Thursday will be devoted to the activities of work-study groups and committee meetings.

Following a tradition, members of the faculty and staff will attend services in a group at St. Matthews Methodist Church, founding home of the college on Sunday morning and that evening in Pfeiffer Chapel they will be entertained at a program of music and verse to be performed by members of the music and Engligh faculties.

Bennett's Faculty-Staff Meet Sept. 3-10

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Bennett College's annual faculty-staff fall conference will be held Sept. 3-10, according to Willa B. Player, president.

The conference's theme will be "Focusing on Self-Study of the Educational Program."

THE OPENING session will be held Friday, Sept. 4. It will feature a brainstorming session with Mrs. Louise G. Streat as moderator.

The closing feature of the conference will be a banquet at 7 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 13. Dr. Paul Dressel, director of evaluation services at Michigan State University, will deliver the main address.

OTHER PARTICIPANTS will be Dr. George Breathett, Mrs. Blanche Raiford, Mrs. Minnie Smith and Van S. Allen.

13

Reyn 1959-60

Lovely Models On Parade At Bennett College Campus

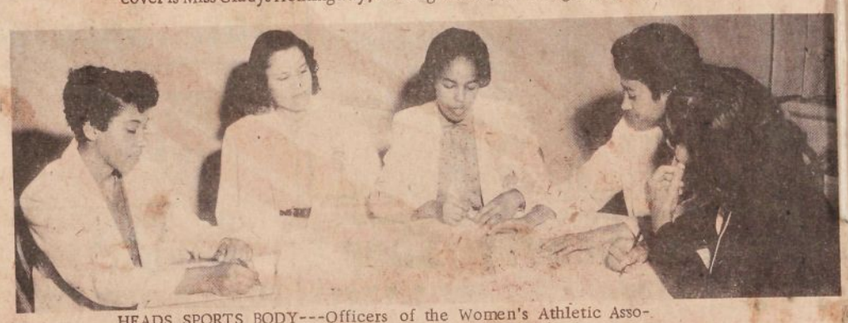
MOMENT OF DECISION---Miss Gladys Hemingway, of Georgetown, S. C., models turquoise suit, which she made during annual outdoor fashion show at Bennett College as her escort, Alfred Thompson, of neighboring A & T College seems to be deciding whether he likes it or not. In background, left to right, are Mrs. Louise G. Streat, under whose direction the garments were produced, who served as commentator and Miss Marlene Veavers, who assisted her.

BENNETT MODELS---Shown here are some of the students in clothing and textiles at Bennett College, who appeared in the annual outdoor fashion show. Left to right: Misses Dolores Snellings, of Raleigh, N. C.; Margirie Wilson, Clinton, N. C.; Gladys Hemingway, Georgetown, S. C.; Edith Tucker, Elkin, N. C.; Doris Best, Goldsboro, N.C.; Barbara Freeman, Lawrenceville, Va.; Arneese Woods, Darlington, S. C. and La Rita Waters, Jacksonville, Fla.

MODELS ON PARADE---Misses Elizabeth Hale (left), of Lynchburg, Va. and Carolyn Cotten, of Tarboro, N. C., stroll down runway during annual outdoor fashion show at Bennett College, wearing garments which they designed and made. Miss Hale won the fourth annual clothing award for the cocoa suit, which she is wearing and a knitted jacket and dress. Miss Cotten is wearing a floral suit and hat which she designed and made.

DO IT YOURSELF---In addition to making clothes for every member of the family, students in clothing and textiles at Bennett College learn the art of making slip covers for furniture. Shown here fitting a cover is Miss Gladys Hemingway, a rising senior, of Georgetown, S.C.

DUSTER AND DRESS---Miss Billie Ann Martin, of Gastonia, N. C., a sociology major, who nevertheless has a yen for making her own clothes, models the duster, linen dress and head piece which she wore in the recent outdoor fashion show at Bennett College.



HEADS SPORTS BODY---Officers of the Women's Athletic Association at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C. planned final program of the year. Left to right: Misses Alice Bowen, Washington, N. C., recording secretary; Geraldine Brown, Philadelphia, Penn., vice president; Veronica Dean, Miami, Fla., president; Constance Colston, Charlotte, N. C., treasurer and Laura Plummer, Madison, N. C., corresponding secretary.

THEY HEAD BENNETT STUDENT UNION---These four young women compose the board of management which directs the affairs of the David D. Jones Student Union at Bennett College. Left to right: Misses Peggie Alexander, secretary, of Fort Pierce, Fla.; Nancy Kirby, president, of Haddonfield, N. J.; Joan Didier, vice president, of Jamaica, British West Indies and Constance Colston, student representative, of Charlotte, N. C.

Dr. Carothers Addresses Methodist Women At Bennett

Technological changes are making things tough for the American family, a Methodist minister from the industrial city of Schenectady, N. Y., declared here at Bennett College last week.

Dr. J. Edward Carothers, pastor of Schenectady's First Methodist Church, was speaking to some 150 Methodist women from all over the world, who for the past ten days have been attending a quadrennial seminar on Christian social relations. The seminar ended on Friday.

"It would be foolish to say that the long-range fruits of technology are bad," Dr. Carothers declared, "but the impact of technology has hit the family with social and economic violence which is literally terrifying in its threats and promises."

As illustrations, he cited the frustration of the young mother who has labor-saving gadgets galore but is cooped up all day with a houseful of pre-school children; the guilt feeling of people who believe that they should care for their aged parents but really don't want to do so, and the drain on church attendance caused by the rush of people to technologically-produced amusements on Sunday morning.

"In the face of these and other violent changes in family life imposed by Technology," the speaker continued, "the church has a clearly-defined function. It must interpret the changes as they emerge in order that the family may not be taken by surprise and be found without resources of understanding.

"It must also make changes within its own ministers in order that the life of God in the life of many may be enlivened by worship, instruction, the fellowship and belief in the service of Jesus Christ," he concluded.

In another address, Dr. James K. Matthews, of New York City, associate general secretary of the Division of World Missions, said that "though man is beginning to conquer outer space, he has not been able to conquer inner space," meaning his own soul.

"Around the world," said Dr. Matthews, "there is a widespread feeling of meaninglessness, lack of purpose and emptiness of life."

President Willa B. Player of Bennett, speaking on "The Impact of Technology on Education in the United States," said that American concern for advancement in science cannot be predicated upon a desire to outsmart Russians.

"The big need in education today," she stated, "is for basic liberal education of youth and adults who can answer these questions: Am I a straight-thinking individual? Can I apply the scientific method to the affairs of every-day-life? Do I understand people? Am I able to communicate?"

Dr. Player listed a series of educational needs that have been disclosed by the miracles of technology. Among these she cited:

1. A re-viewed across-the-board emphasis on liberalization of education as a reaction that education is not enough with the scientist called upon to be statesmen as well.

2. A growing emphasis upon strengthening the talented, with the gifted person sought out from the masses and encouraged to develop his special talents to the fullest for the potential good of society.

3. A search for broader horizons for interpreting education, with the recognition that the mind alone is not enough—the heart must be included.

4. The emergence of a new concept of responsibility, with stress on working to develop a solidarity with the common man.

Among other speakers heard during the seminar were Dr. Dorothy Lee, Harvard University anthropologist, who gave three lectures on "Culture and Social Change;" Dr. Wolfgang Stolpher, professor of economics at the University of Michigan, who spoke on "Technology and Social Change in Today's World;" Dr. Zahir Ahmed, a United Nations executive, and Miss Eva Shipstone, professor of psychology at Isabella Thoburn College, Lucknow, India.

Two special resource leaders taking part in the seminar were Mrs. Jonah Chitombo of Southern Rhodesia and Mrs. Ang Kim Kiat, of Singapore, both brought here by the Woman's Division of Christian Service. The Ambassadors Quartet, a group of male singers from Southern Rhodesia, made two apperances, alternating from native to Western dress.

14 New Members Added To Bennett's Faculty, Staff

GREENSBORO, N. C.—Announcement of the appointment of 14 new members of the faculty and staff at Bennett College for the 1959-60 academic year and of the return of two teachers who have been on leave, was made last week by President Willa B. Player.

They are:

Charles I. Brown, of Greensboro, who holds the M. A. degree from N. C. College, Durham, will teach social sciences and be director of the expanded field studies program.

John F. Hatchett, of Pontiac, Mich., a graduate of Wayne State University, Detroit, and Boston University School of Theology, will teach religion and philosophy.

HOWELL T. JONES, of Toledo, Ohio, a graduate of Virginia State College, with a master of music degree from the University of Michigan, will teach violin and be in charge of the college orchestra;

Mrs. Lily Keleti, a native of Budapest, Hungary, a graduate of the Royal Hungarian States Academy of Music at Budapest, and a concert and lecture artist, will teach piano;

DR. DORIS McKinney, of Roxbury, Mass., a graduate of Sargent, with an M. A. from Boston University and the Ed. D. degree in guidance and counseling from the Boston University School of Education, will teach psychology and physical education.

Dr. Eunice S. Newton, of Durham, with an M. A. from Teachers College, Columbia University and the Ed. D. degree from the University of Pennsylvania, will be director of the college reading center.

DR. OSCAR M. Polhemus, of Guilford College, N. C., will be a part-time teacher of religion and philosophy. Holder of the STB degree and the Doctor of Theology degree from Boston University, Dr. Polhemus also earned an M. A. in history at the University of Indiana.

Mrs. Isabella Troupiansky, oif Odessa, Russia, a graduate of the University of Paris, with further study at the University of Indiana, will teach French, German and Russian.

P. MACK WALKER, of Greensboro, who holds the B. S. and M. S. degrees from A. and T. College, will teach basic science.

Mrs. Dorothea C. Wright, a native of Alexandria, Egypt, a graduate of Sarah Lawrence College with a master of fine arts degree from Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, will teach English.

DR. WALTER J. HUGHES, a native of Greensboro and a 1955 graduate of the Meharry Medical School at Nashville, Tenn., has been employed as part-time college physician.

Among the new appointees are three Bennett College graduates. Miss Phyllis E. Henry, '57, of Chestertown, Md., will be assistant director of co-curricular activities and be engaged in special work in religious education.

MISS ROSA E. Martin, '46, of Sanford, N. C., has been employed as a dormitory director and Miss Janie Graves, '59, of Greensboro, has been named a secretary on the administrative staff of the college.

Returning from leaves of absence for advanced study will be Mrs. Mary T. Coleman, of Reidsville, instructor in education, and Mrs. Lydia Richards, director of the Children's House.

Faculty-Staff Conference Held At Bennett College

GREENSBORO — The annual Faculty-Staff Fall Conference at Bennett College has been set for September 3-10 it was announced by President Willa B. Player.

Theme for this year's conference will be "Focusing on Self-Study of the Educational Program". Opening meeting of the conference on Septmber 4 at 10 a. m. will feature a brainstorming session by a panel of nine with Mrs. Louise G. Streat as moderator. Meetings of the three divisions of instruction will be held at 7 p. m. on this date.

On Monday at 9:30 a. m. the conference will resume to consider the topic "A Close Look at Comprehensive examinations", with the discussion being led by Dr. George Breathett, chairman of the social science core. At 7 p. m. there will be a similar discussion of the topic "A Close Look at Senior Seminars and an Honors Program".

Core group meetings will be featured on Tuesday throughout the day. These will include: freshman English, social science, science, humanities, religion-philosophy, and two education cores.

On Wednesday at 10:30 a. m. there will be a joint meeting with student leaders. Highlight of this session will be a round table discussion of "Student Values and the Teacher" with Mrs. Blanche Raiford as chairman. Mrs. Minnie Smith, director of co-curricular activities and Van S. Allen, biology instructor, along with two students will complete the round table panel.

The closing feature of the conference will be a banquet at 7 p. m. at which time Dr. Paul Dressel, director of evaluation services at Michigan State University, will address students and faculty. Thursday will be devoted to the activities of work-study groups and committee meetings.

Following a tradition, members of the faculty and staff will attend services in a group at St. Matthews Methodist Church, founding home of the college on Sunday morning and that evening in Pfeiffer Chapel they will be entertained at a program of music and verse to be performed by members of the music and Engligh faculties.

Bennett's Faculty-Staff Meet Sept. 3-10

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Bennett College's annual faculty-staff fall conference will be held Sept. 3-10, according to Willa B. Player, president.

The conference's theme will be "Focusing on Self-Study of the Educational Program."

THE OPENING session will be held Friday, Sept. 4. It will feature a brainstorming session with Mrs. Louise G. Streat as moderator.

The closing feature of the conference will be a banquet at 7 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 13. Dr. Paul Dressel, director of evaluation services at Michigan State University, will deliver the main address.

OTHER PARTICIPANTS will be Dr. George Breathett, Mrs. Blanche Raiford, Mrs. Minnie Smith and Van S. Allen.

Bennett College Faculty-Staff To Meet Sept. 3-10

The annual Faculty-Staff Fall Conference at Bennett College has been set for September 3-10 it was announced by President Willa B. Player.

Theme for this year's conference will be "Focusing on Self-Study of the Educational Program." Opening meeting of the conference on September 4 at 10 a.m. will feature a brainstorming session by a panel of nine with Mrs. Louise G. Streat as moderator. Meetings of the three divisions of instruction will be held at 7 p.m. on this date.

On Monday at 9:30 a.m. the conference will resume to consider the topic "A Close Look at Comprehensive examinations," with the discussion being led by Dr. George Breathett, chairman of the social science core. At 4 p.m. there will be a similar discussion of the topic "A Close Look at Senior Seminars and an Honors Program."

Core group meetings will be featured on Tuesday throughout the day. These will include: freshman english, social science, science, humanities, religion-philosophy, and two education cores.

On Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. there will be a joint meeting with student leaders. Highlight of this session will be a round table discussion of "Student Values and the Teacher" with Mrs. Blanche Raiford as chairman. Mrs. Minnie Smith, director of co-curricular activities and Van S. Allen, biology instructor, along with two students will complete the round-table panel.

The closing feature of the conference will be a banquet at 7 p.m. at which time Dr. Paul Dressel, director of evaluation services at Michigan State University, will address students and faculty. Thursday will be devoted to the activities of work-study groups and committee meetings.

Following a tradition, members of the faculty and staff will attend services in a group at St. Matthews Methodist Church, founding home of the college on Sunday morning and that evening in Pfeiffer Chapel they will be entertained at a program of music and verse to be performed by members of the music and English faculties.

Howell Jones, Raleigh Native, Included:

Bennett College Announces Appointment Of 14 New Members To Its Faculty And Staff

GREENSBORO — Announcement of the appointment of 14 new members of the faculty and staff at Bennett College for the 1959-60 academic year and of the return of two teachers who have been on leave, was made this week by Prsident Willa B. Player.

Five of the appointments are in the area of the social sciences, four in humanities, two in the physical sciences and three to the administrative staff. Four of the appointees have earned their doctorates and four have earned the master's degree.

The list of appointments follows:

Charles I. Brown, of Greensboro, who holds the M.A. degree from N. C. College, Durham, will teach social sciences and be director of the expanded field studies program;

John F. Hatchett, of Pontiac, Mich., a graduate of Wayne State University, Detroit, and the Boston University School of Theology, will teach religion and philosophy;

Howell T. Jones, of Toledo, Ohio, a native of Raleigh and a graduate of Virginia State College, with a master of music degree from the University of Michigan, will teach violin and be in charge of the college orchestra;

Mrs. Lily Keleti, a native of Budapest, Hungary, a graduate of the Royal Hungarian States Academy of Music at Budapest, and a concert and lecture artist, will teach piano;

Dr. Doris McKinney, of Roxbury, Mass., a graduate of Sargent, with an M.A. from Boston University and the Ed.D. degree in guidance and counseling from the Boston University School of Education, will teach psychology and physical education. A native of Warrenton, Ga., Dr. McKinney taught physical education at Bennett from 1943-1945. She has been the recipient of a fellowship from the Southern Fellowships Fund, taught at Virginia State College and last year was school pyschologist in the Richmond, Va., public schools;

Dr. Eunice S. Newton, of Durham, with an M. A. from Teachers College, Columbia University and the Ed. D. degree from the University of Pennsylvania, will be director of the college reading center. Dr. Newton, the wife of Dr. I Gregory Newton, of N. C. College, for the past two years has taught at Morgan State College, Baltimore, Md. from 1951-52, she was a graduate teaching fellow at the University of Pennsylvania and was visiting lecturer there for the summers of 1956 and 1958;

Dr. Oscar M. Polhemus, of Guilford College, N. C., will be a part-time teacher of religion and philosophy. Holder of the STD degree from Boston University and the Doctor of Theology degree from the same institution, Dr. Polhemus also earned an M. A. in history at the University of Indiana. He is a Methodist minister, the son of a Methodist minister and the father of a Methodist minister. He is widely known for his lectures and sermons and is a member of the New Hampshire Annual Conference of the Methodist Church;

Mrs. Isabell Troupiansky, of Odessa, Russia, a graduat eof the University of Paris, with further study at the University of Indiana, will teach French, German and Russian. She worked for a number of years in the National Library in Paris and also at the Museum of Natural History there;

P. Mack Walker, of Greensboro, who holds the B.S. and M.S. degrees from A&T College, will teach basic science. A native of Mebane, N. C., Mr. Walker has taught in the public schools of the state and at the Immanuel Lutheran College in Greensboro;

Mrs. Dorothea C. Wright, a graduate of Sarah Lawrence College with a master of fine arts degree from Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, will teach English. A native of Alexandria, Egypt, Mrs. Wright's major areas are literature and creative writing;

Dr. Walter J. Hughes, a native of Greensboro and a 1955 graduate of the Meharry Medical School at Nashville, Tenn., has been employed as part-time college physician. Dr. Hughes served his internship at the George W. Hubbard Hospital in Nashville and his residency in gynecology and obsetrics at the Kansas City General Hospital in Kansas City, Mo.

Among the new appointees are 3 Bennett College graduates: Miss Phyllis E. Henry, '57, of Chestertown, Md., who has for the past two years attended the Boston University School of Theology, will be assistant director of co-curricular activities and be engaged in special work in religious education.

Miss Rosa E. Martin, is, of ford, N. C., who since gradu has taught in the public sc and done work for the U. S. ernment, has been employed

Bennett Announces Appointment Of Fourteen To Faculty — And Return Of Two

GREENSBORO, — Announcement of the appointment of 14 new members of the faculty and staff at Bennett College for the 1959-60 academic year and of the return of two teachers who have been on leave, was made this week by President Willa B. Player.

Five of the appointments are in the area of the social sciences, four in humanities, two in the physical sciences and three to the administrative staff. Four of the apointees have earned their doctorates and four have earned the master's degree

The list of appointments follows.

Charles I. [illegible]n, of Greensboro, who holds [illegible].A. degree from N. C. College, Durham, will teach social sciences and be director of the expanded field studies program;

John F. Hatchett, of Pontiac, Michigan., a graduate of Wayne State University, Detroit, and the Boston University School of Theology, will teach religion and philosophy;

Howell T. Jones, of Toledo, Ohio, a graduate of Virginia State College, with a master of music degree from the University of Michigan, will teach violin and be in charge of the college orchestra.

Mrs. Lily Keleti, a native of Budapest, Hungry, a graduate of the Royal Hungrian States Academy of music at Budapest, and a concert and lecture artist, will teach piano;

Dr. Doris McKinney, of Roxbury, an M. A. from Boston University Mass., a graduate of Sargent, with and the Ed. D. degree in guidance and counseling from the Boston University School of Education, will teach phychology and physical education. A native of Warrenton, Ga., Dr. McKinney taught physical education at Bennett from 1943-1945. She has been the recipient of a fellowship from the Southern Fellowships fund, taught at Virginia States College and last year was school psychologist in the Richmond, Va., public schools;

Dr. Eunice S. Newton, of Durham, with an M. A. from Teachers College, Columbia University and the Ed. D. degree from the University of Pennsylvania, will be director of the college reading center. Dr. Newton, the wife of Dr. I Gregory Newton, of N. C. College, for the past two years has taught at Morgan State College, Baltimore, Md. from 1951-52, she was a graduate teaching fellow at the University of Pennsylvania and was visiting lecturer for the summers of 1956 and 1958;

Dr. Oscar M. Polhemus, of Guilford College, N. C., will be a part-time techer of religion and philosophy. Holder of the STB degree from Boston University and the Doctor of Theology degree from the same institution, Dr. Polhemus also earned an M. A. in history at the University of Indiana. He is a Methodist minister, the son of a Methodist minister and the father of a Methodist minister. He is widely known for his lectures and sermons and is a member of the New Hampshire annual Conference of the Methodist Church;

Mrs. Isabella Troupiansky, of Odessa, Russia, a graduate of the University of Paris, with further study at the University of Indiana, will teach French, German and Russian. She worked for a number of years in the National Library in Paris and also at the Museum of Natural History there;

P. Mack Walker, of Greensboro, who holds the B. S. and M. S. degrees from A & T College, will teach basic science. A native of Mebane, N. C., Mr. Walker has taught in the public schools of the state and at the Immanuel Lutheran College in Greensboro;

Mrs. Dorothea C. Wright, a graduate of Sarah Lawrence College with a master of fine arts degree from Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, will teach English. A native of Alexandria, Egypt, Mrs. Wright's major areas are literature and creative writing;

Dr. Walter J. Hughes, a native of Greensboro and a 1955 graduate of the Meharry Medical School at Nashville, Tenn., has been employed as part-time college physician. Dr. Hughes served his internship at the George W. Hubbard Hospital in Nashville and his residency in gynecology and obsetrics at the Kansas City General Hospital in Kansas City, Mo.

Among the new appointees are three Bennett College graduates. Miss Phyllis E. Henry, of Chestertown, Md., will be assistant director of co-curricular activities and be engaged in special work in religious education.

Miss Rosa E. Martin of Sanford, N.C., has been employed as a dormitory director and Miss Janie Graves, '59, of Greensboro, has been named a secretary on the administrative staff of the college.

Returning from leaves of absence for advance study will be Mrs. Mary T. Coleman, of Reidsville, instructor in education, and Mrs. Lydia Richards, director of the Children's House.

[illegible] ...ice presi... Telephone ...P. Murrell, ...l director of ...ohine Smith, Los Angeles ...nd Jill; ...arnum, prin... three Bennett Col... s. Miss Phyllis E. Henry, '57, of Chestertown, Md., who has for the past two years attended the Boston University School of Theology.

Awards Given Science Students

GREENSBORO, — The six-week summer training program in science and mathematics sponsored by the National Science Foundation at Bennett College came to a close here on Friday when certificates of attendance were awarded to the 96 enrollees.

Dr. E. L. Totton, of the chemistry department at North Carolina College in Durham, gave the "commencement" address to the young students who came from nine states and the District of Columbia — some from as far away as Arkansas, Texas and Alabama.

Science, Math Training Ends At Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C.—The six-week summer training program in science and mathematics, sponsored by the National Science Foundation at Bennett College, came to a close here on Friday when certificates of attendance were awarded to the 96 enrollees.

Dr. E. L. Totton, of the chemistry department at North Carolina College in Durham, gave the "commencement" address to the young students who came from nine states and the District of Columbia — some from as far away as Arkansas, Texas and Alabama.

—more for your money in The Courier—

Greensboroans married in Morgan State College Center

BALTIMORE — The marriage of Miss Mary Elizabeth Shoffner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lacy Shoffner of Greensboro, N.C. and Frederick T. Anderson, took place Sunday in the Morgan State College Christian Center.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tanner, also of Greensboro.

The double - ring ceremony, at 4:15 in the afternoon, was performed by the Rev. Howard L. Cornish, director of the center. Mrs. Catherine Hill Wright was soloist, and J. Walter Fisher of the Morgan faculty, was organist.

* * *

ESCORTED BY her father, the bride was charming in a gown of satin, styled along princess lines, with a deep V neckline. She wore a strand of pearls, wedding gift from the bridegroom. Her bouquet was of white roses.

Mrs. Inez Lewis, of this city, cousin of Mr. Anderson, was matron of honor. She wore a frock of blue net over lace matched headpiece and shoes and carried a cascade of pink carnations tied with blue ribbons.

Walter Brown of Atlantic City, N.J., was best man. The bridegroom selected six Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity men, all 2nd lieutenants, to serve as ushers. They were Theodore Bond, James McDonald, Walter Black, Ronald Huff, Philip Thomas and Oliver Westry.

Sonia Hurdle was flower girl.

* * *

A RECEPTION followed the ceremony, with the men of Alpha Phi Alpha serenading the bride as a surprise that was a pleasant treat.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Shoffner selected a dress of pink lace with white accessories. Mrs. Anderson wore blue lace with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of white roses.

* * *

THE NEW Mrs. Anderson is a June graduate of Bennett College, Greensboro. She is a member of Alpha Kappa Mu Honor Society.

Mr. Anderson, who graduated in June from Morgan, was selected for "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges," and is a member of Alpha Phi Alpha. Both will be teachers in Maryland this term, he at Sollers Point and she at School No. 161.

They are at home at 2711½ Elsinor Avenue.

MR. AND MRS. FREDERICK T. ANDERSON, both of Greensboro, N.C., were married in the Morgan State College Christian Center in Baltimore recently. The bride is the former Mary Elizabeth Shoffner.

14 named to faculty, staff posts at Bennett

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Announcement of the appointment of 14 new members of the faculty and staff at Bennett College for the 1959-60 academic year and of the return of two teachers who have been on leave, was made this week by President Willa B. Player.

Five of the appointments are in the area of the social sciences, four in humanities, two in the physical sciences and three to the administrative staff. Four of the appointees have earned their doctorates and four have earned the master's degree.

The list of appointments follows:

Charles I. Brown of Greensboro will teach social sciences and direct the expanded field studies program;

John F. Hatchett of Pontiac, Mich., will teach religion and philosophy;

Howell T. Jones of Toledo, Ohio will teach violin and direct the college orchestra;

Mrs. Lily Keleti, of Budapest, Hungary will teach piano;

Dr. Doris McKinney, of Roxbury, Mass. will teach psychology and physical education.

Dr. Oscar M. Polhemus, of Guilford College, N.C., will be a part - time teacher of religion and philosophy.

Mrs. Isabella Troupiansky, of Odessa, Russian will teach French, German and Russian.

P. Mack Walker, of Greensboro will teach basic science.

Mrs. Dorothea C. Wright of Alexandria, Egypt will teach English.

Dr. Walter J. Hughes, of Greensboro has been employed as part-time college physician.

Among the new appointees are three Bennett College graduates. Miss Phyllis E. Henry, of Chestertown, Md., will be assistant director of co-curricular activities and be engaged in special work in religious education.

Miss Rosa E. Martin of Sanford, N.C., has been employed as a dormitory director and Miss Janie Graves, '59, of Greensboro, has been named a secretary on the administrative staff of the college.

Returning from leaves of absence for advance study will be Mrs. Mary T. Coleman, of Reidsville, instructor in education, and Mrs. Lydia Richards, director of the Children's House.

POLHEMUS TO SPEAK

Speaker at the opening formal vesper service at Bennett College today at 4 p.m. will be Dr. Oscar M. Polhemus, a member of the faculty at Guilford College, who this year joined the Bennett faculty as a part-time teacher of religion and philosophy.

Bennett's Modern Chemistry Course To Be On Television

GREENSBORO— Bennett College will join more than 250 U. S. colleges and universities offering credit for the Continental Classroom courses in Modern Chemistry to be telecast during the 1959-60 academic year over the NBC network.

The 160 lesson series, to begin Sept. 28 and terminate May 27, may be seen locally from 6:30 to 7 a.m over Station WSJS.

In announcing participation by explained that the course is designed primarily for high school science teachers. "Others interested in obtaining a better understanding of recent developments in chemistry who are eligible to enroll for credit may do so," she pointed out. All inquiries should be addressed to Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the sceince division.

Modern Chemistry is the second college-level TV course for credit to be offered on a network basis. Last year the Continental Classroom offering was Atomic Age Physics. The viewing audience, comprised of over 400,000 persons, included approximately 15,000 teachers. This course, taught by Dr. Harvey E. White, vice-chairman of the physics department at the University of California, Berkeley, will be re-run over the network from 6 to 6:30 a.m., local time.

National teacher of Modern Chemistry—to be taped in compatible color—will be Dr. John F. Baxter, head of the General Chemistry Division at the University of Florida, Gainesville. Assisting him in the series of lecture demonstrations will be a nine-member Advisory Committee appointed by the American Chemical Society. Guest lecturers—including Nobel Prize winners—will appear from time to time on the program. Each will discuss the specialized knowledge he helped discover.

BENNETT OPENING VESPER SPEAKER

Speaker at the opening formal vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, September 20, at 4:00 p.m. will be Dr. Oscar M. Polhemus, a member of the faculty at Guilford College, who this year joined the Bennett faculty as a part-time teacher of religion and philosophy.

The Rev. John L. Bryan, former director of religious activities at the college, but now a member of the staff of the General Board of Temperance of the Methodist Church in Washington, D. C., will preach at the freshman vesper service to be held on Sunday, September 13, at 11:00 a.m.

Missourians Visit Bennett

Two groups of Missouri Methodist girls and their counselors have been recent visitors to the Bennett College campus, Greensboro, N. C., as a part of their missionary education program.

The first group from the Missouri Conference was composed of 37 girls and four adults and the second, from the St. Louis Conference, had 32 girls and five counselors.

matic reader, will appear on February 5. A familiar figure on many college campuses, Miss Carroll, a native of Jamaica, BWI, is a graduate of New York and Long Island universities and has worked as a clinical and industrial psychologist for the New York Board of Education and other institutions. She also has played viola in the Dean Dixon Symphony.

In addition to appearing in stage productions, Miss Carroll has also appeared on TV and in motion pictures and has served as a dramatic coach for several New York studios.

Final attraction in the series will be the Brown University Glee Club which will be heard in concert on April 11. This group which has been in existence for over 150 years, has traveled throughout the United States and has been praised as one of the finest male choruses of its kind. An interesting addition is an octet—the Bruinaires—which sings as a part of the regular program and also performs sons in the best tradition of college humor.

FUTURE OUTLOOK

Speaker for the annual Annie Merner Pfeiffer Memorial Day at Bennett College on Sunday, September 27 will be Mrs. H. C. Black, of Johnson City, Tenn.

Mrs. Black, secretary of the Bennett board of [illegible], has been active in women's groups of the Methodist church for a number of years and a long time trustee.

Mrs. Pfeiffer's benefactions over a long period made possible much of the material progress of the college, including five modern buildings. The program, at 4 p.m., will be held in the chapel which bears her name.

They Serve In Five Different Countries

These five Methodist women leaders who attended a 10-day quadrennial seminar on Christian social relations at Bennett College in Greensboro, N. C., are (left to right) Miss Betty Snead, missionary to Korea; Miss Treva Overholt, missionary to Peru; Mrs. Kim Kiat Ang, teacher in a Methodist school in Singapore; Miss Eve Shipstone, head of the psychology department at Isabella Thoburn College in Lucknow, India, and Mrs. Jonah Chitombo of Southern Rhodesia, secretary of the African Woman's Society of Christian Service.

14

Bennett College Faculty-Staff To Meet Sept. 3-10

The annual Faculty-Staff Fall Conference at Bennett College has been set for September 3-10 it was announced by President Willa B. Player.

Theme for this year's conference will be "Focusing on Self-Study of the Educational Program." Opening meeting of the conference on September 4 at 10 a.m. will feature a brainstorming session by a panel of nine with Mrs. Louise G. Streat as moderator. Meetings of the three divisions of instruction will be held at 7 p.m. on this date.

On Monday at 9:30 a.m. the conference will resume to consider the topic "A Close Look at Comprehensive examinations," with the discussion being led by Dr. George Breathett, chairman of the social science core. At 7 p.m. there will be a similar discussion of the topic "A Close Look at Senior Seminars and an Honors Program."

Core group meetings will be featured on Tuesday throughout the day. These will include: freshman english, social science, science, humanities, religion-philosophy, and two education cores.

On Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. there will be a joint meeting with student leaders. Highlight of this session will be a round table discussion of "Student Values and the Teacher" with Mrs. Blanche Raiford as chairman. Mrs. Minnie Smith, director of co-curricular activities and Van S. Allen, biology instructor, along with two students will complete the round table panel.

The closing feature of the conference will be a banquet at 7 p.m. at which time Dr. Paul Dressel, director of evaluation services at Michigan State University, will address students and faculty. Thursday will be devoted to the activities of work-study groups and committee meetings.

Following a tradition, members of the faculty and staff will attend services in a group at St. Matthews Methodist Church, founding home of the college on Sunday morning and that evening in Pfeiffer Chapel they will be entertained at a program of music and verse to be performed by members of the music and English faculties.

Howell Jones, Raleigh Native, Included:

Bennett College Announces Appointment Of 14 New Members To Its Faculty And Staff

GREENSBORO — Announcement of the appointment of 14 new members of the faculty and staff at Bennett College for the 1959-60 academic year and of the return of two teachers who have been on leave, was made this week by Prsident Willa B. Player.

Five of the appointments are in the area of the social sciences, four in humanities, two in the physical sciences and three to the administrative staff. Four of the appointees have earned their doctorates and four have earned the master's degree.

The list of appointments follows:

Charles I. Brown, of Greensboro, who holds the M.A. degree from N. C. College, Durham, will teach social sciences and be director of the expanded field studies' program;

John F. Hatchett, of Pontiac, Mich., a graduate of Wayne State University, Detroit, and the Boston University School of Theology, will teach religion and philosophy;

Howell T. Jones, of Toledo, Ohio, a native of Raleigh and a graduate of Virginia State College, with a master of music degree from the University of Michigan, will teach violin and be in charge of the college orchestra;

Mrs. Lily Keleti, a native of Budapest, Hungary, a graduate of the Royal Hungarian States Academy of Music at Budapest, and a concert and lecture artist, will teach piano;

Dr. Doris McKinney, of Roxbury, Mass., a graduate of Sargent, with an M.A. from Boston University and the Ed.D. degree in guidance and counseling from the Boston University School of Education, will teach psychology and physical education. A native of Warrenton, Ga., Dr. McKinney taught physical education at Bennett from 1943-1945. She has been the recipient of a fellowship from the Southern Fellowships Fund, taught at Virginia State College and last year was school pyschologist in the Richmond, Va., public schools;

Dr. Eunice S. Newton, of Durham, with an M.A. from Teachers College, Columbia University and the Ed. D. degree from the University of Pennsylvania, will be director of the college reading center. Dr. Newton, the wife of Dr. I. Gregory Newton, of N. C. College, for the past two years has taught at Morgan State College, Baltimore, Md. From 1951-52, she was a graduate teaching fellow at the University of Pennsylvania and was visiting lecturer there for the summers of 1956 and 1958;

Dr. Oscar M. Polhemus, of Guilford College, N. C., will be a part-time teacher of religion and philosophy. Holder of the STD degree from Boston University and the Doctor of Theology degree from the same institution, Dr. Polhemus also earned an M. A. in history at the University of Indiana. He is a Methodist minister, the son of a Methodist minister and the father of a Methodist minister. He is widely known for his lectures and sermons and is a member of the New Hampshire Annual Conference of the Methodist Church;

Mrs. Isabell Troupiansky, of Odessa, Russia, a graduat eof the University of Paris, with further study at the University of Indiana, will teach French, German and Russian. She worked for a number of years in the National Library in Paris and also at the Museum of Natural History there;

P. Mack Walker, of Greensboro, who holds the B.S. and M.S. degrees from A&T College, will teach basic science. A native of Mebane, N. C., Mr. Walker has taught in the public schools of the state and at the Immanuel Lutheran College in Greensboro;

Mrs. Dorothea C. Wright, a graduate of Sarah Lawrence College with a master of fine arts degree from Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, will teach English. A native of Alexandria, Egypt, Mrs. Wright's major areas are literature and creative writing;

Dr. Walter J. Hughes, a native of Greensboro and a 1955 graduate of the Meharry Medical School at Nashville, Tenn., has been employed as part-time college physician. Dr. Hughes served his internship at the George W. Hubbard Hospital in Nashville and his residency in gynecology and obstetrics at the Kansas City General Hospital in Kansas City, Mo.

Among the new appointees are 3 Bennett College graduates: Miss Phyllis E. Henry, '57, of Chestertown, Md., who has for the past two years attended the Boston University School of Theology, will be assistant director of co-curricular activities and be engaged in special work in religious education.

Miss Rosa E. Martin, '46, of Sanford, N. C., who since graduation has taught in the public schools and done work for the U. S. government, has been employed as a

Bennett Announces Appointment Of Fourteen To Faculty — And Return Of Two

GREENSBORO, — Announcement of the appointment of 14 new members of the faculty and staff at Bennett College for the 1959-60 academic year and of the return of two teachers who have been on leave, was made this week by President Willa B. Player.

Five of the appointments are in the area of the social sciences, four in humanities, two in the physical sciences and three to the administrative staff. Four of the apointees have earned their doctorates and four have earned the master's degree

The list of appointments follows.

Charles I. [illegible]n, of Greensboro, who holds [illegible].A. degree from N. C. College, Durham, will teach social sciences and be director of the expanded field studies program;

John F. Hatchett, of Pontiac, Michigan., a graduate of Wayne State University, Detroit, and the Boston University School of Theology, will teach religion and philosophy;

Howell T. Jones, of Toledo, Ohio, a graduate of Virginia State College, with a master of music degree from the University of Michigan, will teach violin and be in charge of the college orchestra.

Mrs. Lily Keleti, a native of Budapest, Hungry, a graduate of the Royal Hungrian States Academy of music at Budapest, and a concert and lecture artist, will teach piano;

Dr. Doris McKinney, of Roxbury, an M. A. from Boston University Mass., a graduate of Sargent, with and the Ed. D. degree in guidance and counseling from the Boston University School of Education, will teach phychology and physical education. A native of Warrenton, Ga., Dr. McKinney taught physical education at Bennett from 1943-1945. She has been the recipient of a fellowship from the Southern Fellowships fund, taught at Virginia States College and last year was school psychologist in the Richmond, Va., public schools;

Dr. Eunice S. Newton, of Durham, with an M. A. from Teachers College, Columbia University and the Ed. D. degree from the University of Pennsylvania, will be director of the college reading center. Dr. Newton, the wife of Dr. I Gregory Newton, of N. C. College, for the past two years has taught at Morgan State College, Baltimore, Md. from 1951-52, she was a graduate teaching fellow at the University of Pennsylvania and was visiting lecturer for the summers of 1956 and 1958;

Dr. Oscar M. Polhemus, of Guilford College, N. C., will be a part-time techer of religion and philosophy. Holder of the STB degree from Boston University and the Doctor of Theology degree from the same institution, Dr. Polhemus also earned an M. A. in history at the University of Indiana. He is a Methodist minister, the son of a Methodist minister and the father of a Methodist minister. He is widely known for his lectures and sermons and is a member of the New Hampshire annual Conference of the Methodist Church;

Mrs. Isabella Troupiansky, of Odessa, Russia, a graduate of the University of Paris, with further study at the University of Indiana, will teach French, German and Russian. She worked for a number of years in the National Library in Paris and also at the Museum of Natural History there;

P. Mack Walker, of Greensboro, who holds the B. S. and M. S. degrees from A & T College, will teach basic science. A native of Mebane, N. C., Mr. Walker has taught in the public schools of the state and at the Immanuel Lutern College in Greensboro;

Mrs. Dorothea C. Wright, a graduate of Sarah Lawrence College with a master of fine arts degree from Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, will teach English. A native of Alexandria, Egypt, Mrs. Wright's major areas are literature and creative writing;

Dr. Walter J. Hughes, a native of Greensboro and a 1955 graduate of the Meharry Medical School at Nashville, Tenn., has been employed as part-time college physician. Dr. Hughes served his internship at the George W. Hubbard Hospital in Nashville and his residency in gynecology and obstetrics at the Kansas City General Hospital in Kansas City, Mo.

Among the new appointees are three Bennett College graduates: Miss Phyllis E. Henry, '57, of Chestertown, Md., who has for the past two years attended the Boston University School of Theology.

[illegible] Harris
[illegible]ice presi- Telephone
P. Murrell,
[illegible]l director of
[illegible]phine Smith,
Los Angeles
nd Jill;
[illegible]arnum, prin-

Awards Given Science Students

GREENSBORO, — The six-week summer training program in science and mathematics sponsored by the National Science Foundation at Bennett College came to a close here on Friday when certificates of attendance were awarded to the 96 enrollees.

Dr. E. L. Totton, of the chemistry department at North Carolina College in Durham, gave the "commencement" address to the young students who came from nine states and the District of Columbia — some from as far away as Arkansas, Texas and Alabama.

Science, Math Training Ends At Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C.—The six-week summer training program in science and mathematics, sponsored by the National Science Foundation at Bennett College, came to a close here on Friday when certificates of attendance were awarded to the 96 enrollees.

Dr. E. L. Totton, of the chemistry department at North Carolina College in Durham, gave the "commencement" address to the young students who came from nine states and the District of Columbia — some from as far away as Arkansas, Texas and Alabama.

—more tac your money in The Courier—

Greensboroans married in Morgan State College Center

BALTIMORE — The marriage of Miss Mary Elizabeth Shoffner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lacy Shoffner of Greensboro, N.C. and Frederick T. Anderson, took place Sunday in the Morgan State College Christian Center.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tanner also of Greensboro.

The double - ring ceremony at 4:15 in the afternoon, was performed by the Rev. Howard L. Cornish, director of the center. Mrs. Catherine Hill Wright was soloist, and J. Walter Fisher of the Morgan faculty, was organist.

* * *

ESCORTED BY her father, the bride was charming in a gown of satin, styled along princess lines, with a deep V neckline. She wore a strand of pearls, wedding gift from the bridegroom. Her bouquet was of white roses.

Mrs. Inez Lewis, of this city, cousin of Mr. Anderson, was matron of honor. She wore a frock of blue net over lace matched headpiece and shoes and carried a cascade of pink carnations tied with blue ribbons.

Walter Brown of Atlantic City, N.J., was best man. The bridegroom selected six Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity men, all 2nd lieutenants, to serve as ushers. They were Theodore Bond, James McDonald, Walter Black, Ronald Huff, Philip Thomas and Oliver Westry.

Sonia Hurdle was flower girl.

* * *

A RECEPTION followed the ceremony, with the men of Alpha Phi Alpha serenading the bride as a surprise that was a pleasant treat.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Shoffner selected a dress of pink lace with white accessories. Mrs. Anderson wore blue lace with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of white roses.

* * *

THE NEW Mrs. Anderson is a June graduate of Bennett College, Greensboro. She is a member of Alpha Kappa Mu Honor Society.

Mr. Anderson, who graduated in June from Morgan, was selected for "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges," and is a member of Alpha Phi Alpha. Both will be teachers in Maryland this term, he at Sollers Point and she at School No. 161.

They are at home at 2711½ Elsinor Avenue.

MR. AND MRS. FREDERICK T. ANDERSON, both of Greensboro, N.C., were married in the Morgan State College Christian Center in Baltimore recently. The bride is the former Mary Elizabeth Shoffner.

14 named to faculty, staff posts at Bennett

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Announcement of the appointment of 14 new members of the faculty and staff at Bennett College for the 1959-60 academic year and of the return of two teachers who have been on leave, was made this week by President Willa B. Player.

Five of the appointments are in the area of the social sciences, four in numanities, two in the physical sciences and three to the administrative staff. Four of the appointees have earned their doctorates and four have earned the master's degree.

The list of appointments follows:

Charles I. Brown of Greensboro will teach social sciences and direct the expanded field studies program;

John F. Hatchett of Pontiac, Mich., will teach religion and philosophy;

Howell T. Jones of Toledo, Ohio will teach violin and direct the college orchestra;

Mrs. Lily Keleti, of Budapest, Hungary will teach piano;

Dr. Doris McKinney, of Roxbury, Mass. will teach psychology and physical education.

Dr. Oscar M. Polhemus, of Guilford College, N.C., will be a part - time teacher of religion and philosophy.

Mrs. Isabella Troupiansky, of Odessa, Russian will teach French, German and Russian.

P. Mack Walker, of Greensboro will teach basic science.

Mrs. Dorothea C. Wright of Alexandria, Egypt will teach English.

Dr. Walter J. Hughes, of Greensboro has been employed as part-time college physician.

Among the new appointees are three Bennett College graduates. Miss Phyllis E. Henry, of Chestertown, Md., will be assistant director of co-curricular activities and be engaged in special work in religious education.

Miss Rosa E. Martin of Sanford, N.C., has been employed as a dormitory director and Miss Janie Graves, '59, of Greensboro, has been named a secretary on the administrative staff of the college.

Returning from leaves of absence for advance study will be Mrs. Mary T. Coleman, of Reidsville, instructor in education, and Mrs. Lydia Richards, director of the Children's House.

Missourians Visit Bennett

Two groups of Missouri Methodist girls and their counselors have been recent visitors to the Bennett College campus, Greensboro, N. C., as a part of their missionary education program.

The first group from the Missouri Conference was composed of 37 girls and four adults and the second, from the St. Louis Conference, had 32 girls and five counselors.

POLHEMUS TO SPEAK

Speaker at the opening formal vesper service at Bennett College today at 4 p.m. will be Dr. Oscar M. Polhemus, a member of the faculty at Guilford College, who this year joined the Bennett faculty as a part-time teacher of religion and philosophy.

Bennett's Modern Chemistry Course To Be On Television

GREENSBORO— Bennett College will join more than 250 U. S. colleges and universities offering credit for the Continental Classroom courses in Modern Chemistry to be telecast during the 1959-60 academic year over the NBC network.

The 160 lesson series, to begin Sept. 28 and terminate May 27, may be seen locally from 6:30 to 7 a.m over Station WSJS.

In announcing participation by explained that the course is designed primarily for high school science teachers. "Others interested in obtaining a better understanding of recent developments in chemistry who are eligible to enroll for credit may do so," she pointed out. All inquiries should be addressed to Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the sceince division.

Modern Chemistry is the second college-level TV course for credit to be offered on a network basis. Last year the Continental Classroom offering was Atomic Age Physics. The viewing audience, comprised of over 400,000 persons, included approximately 15,000 teachers. This course, taught by Dr. Harvey E. White, vice-chairman of the physics department at the University of California, Berkeley, will be re-run over the network from 6 to 6:30 a.m. local time.

National teacher of Modern Chemistry—to be taped in compatible color—will be Dr. John F. Baxter, head of the General Chemistry Division at the University of Florida, Gainesville. Assisting him in the series of lecture demonstrations will be a nine-member Advisory Committee appointed by the American Chemical Society. Guest lecturers—including Nobel Prize winners—will appear from time to time on the program. Each will discuss the specialized knowledge he helped discover.

BENNETT OPENING VESPER SPEAKER

Speaker at the opening formal vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, September 20, at 4:00 p.m. will be Dr. Oscar M. Polhemus, a member of the faculty at Guilford College, who this year joined the Bennett faculty as a part-time teacher of religion and philosophy.

The Rev. John L. Bryan, former director of religious activities at the college, but now a member of the staff of the General Board of Temperance of the Methodist Church in Washington, D. C., will preach at the freshman vesper service to be held on Sunday, September 13, at 11:00 a.m.

matic reader, will appear on February 5. A familiar figure on many college campuses, Miss Carroll, a native of Jamaica, BWI, is a graduate of New York and Long Island universities and has worked as a clinical and industrial psychologist for the New York Board of Education and other institutions. She also has played viola in the Dean Dixon Symphony.

In addition to appearing in stage productions, Miss Carroll has also appeared on TV and in motion pictures and has served as a dramatic coach for several New York studios.

Final attraction in the series will be the Brown University Glee Club which will be heard in concert on April 11. This group which has been in existence for over 150 years, has traveled throughout the United States and has been praised as one of the finest male choruses of its kind. An interesting addition is an octet—the Bruinaires—which sings as a part of the regular program and also performs sons in the best tradition of college humor.

FUTURE OUTLOOK

Speaker for the annual Annie Merner Pfeiffer Memorial Day at Bennett College on Sunday, September 27 will be Mrs. H. C. Black, of Johnson City, Tenn.

Mrs. Black, secretary of the Bennett board of [illegible], has been active in women's groups of the Methodist church for a number of years and a long time trustee.

Mrs. Pfeiffer's benefactions over a long period made possible much of the material progress of the college, including five modern buildings. The program, at 4 p.m., will be held in the chapel which bears her name.

14

They Serve In Five Different Countries

These five Methodist women leaders who attended a 10-day quadrennial seminar on Christian social relations at Bennett College in Greensboro, N. C., are (left to right) Miss Betty Snead, missionary to Korea; Miss Treva Overholt, missionary to Peru; Mrs. Kim Kiat Ang, teacher in a Methodist school in Singapore; Miss Eve Shipstone, head of the psychology department at Isabella Thoburn College in Lucknow, India, and Mrs. Jonah Chitombo of Southern Rhodesia, secretary of the African Woman's Society of Christian Service.

Methodist Women Attended 10-Day Quadrennial Seminar At Bennett College

METHODIST WOMEN AT BENNETT — Five Methodist women leaders who attended the 10-day quadrennial seminar on Christian social relations which closed at Bennett College last week. Left to right: Miss Betty Snead, missionary to Korea; Miss Treva Overholt, missionary to Peru; Mrs. Kim Kiat Ang, teacher in a Methodist school in Singapore; Miss Eva Shipstone, head of the psychology department at Isabella Thoburn College in Lucknow, India, and Mrs. Jonah Chitombo, of Southern Rhodesia, secretary for the African Woman's Society of Christian Service.

Orientation Plans Made At Bennett

The annual Faculty-Staff Fall Conference at Bennett College has been set for Sept 3-10, it was announced by President Willa B. Player.

Theme for this year's conference will be "Focusing on Self-Study of the Educational Program." Opening meeting of the conference Sept. 4 at 10 a.m. will feature a panel of nine with Mrs. Louise G. Streat as moderator. Meetings of the three divisions of instruction will be held at 7 p.m. that day.

Monday, Sept. 7, at 9:30 a.m., the conference will resume to consider the topic "A Close Look at Comprehensive Examinations," with the discussion being led by Dr. George Breathett, chairman of the social science core. At 7 p.m. there will be a similar discussion of the topic "A Close Look at Senior Seminars and an Honors Program."

Group meetings will be featured Tuesday throughout the day. These will include: Freshman English, social science, science, humanities, religion-philosophy, and two education cores.

Other Events

Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. there will be a joint meeting with student leaders. Highlight of this session will be a discussion of "Student Values and the Teacher" with Mrs. Blanche Raiford as chairman. Mrs. Minnie Smith director of co-curricular activities, and Van S. Allen, biology instructor, along with two students will complete the round table panel.

The closing feature of the conference will be a banquet at 7 p.m. Dr. Paul Dressel, director of evaluation services at Michigan State University, will address students and faculty. Thursday will be devoted to the activities of work-study groups and committee meetings.

Following a tradition, members of the faculty and staff will attend services in a group at St. Matthews Methodist Church, founding home of the college, Sunday morning, and that evening in Pfeiffer Chapel they will be entertained at a program of music and verse to be performed by members of the music and English faculties.

Science Institute Closes At Bennett

The six-week summer training program in science and mathematics sponsored by the National Science Foundation at Bennett College came to a close here on Friday when certificates of attendance were awarded to the 96 enrollees.

Dr. E. L. Totton, of the chemistry department at North Carolina College in Durham, gave the "commencement" address to the young students who came from nine states and the District of Columbia—some from as far away as Arkansas, Texas and Alabama.

Dr. Totten congratulated the youngsters and encouraged them to continue their pursuit of knowledge. Brief remarks were made by Dr. J. Henry following which Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, associate director, Sayles, director of the program, presented the certificates.

The certificates read: "The Division of Sciences of Bennett College, in recognition of satisfactory completion of the National Science Foundation 1959 Summer Training Program in Science and Mathematics for Secondary School Students, presents to you this certificate. Heartiest congratulations and best wishes for a successful life and a noteworthy contribution in the field of science."

In addition to lectures, laboratory work, library assignments and tutorial conferences, the young students had the opportunity to make a number of field trips. They visited the Morehead Planetarium at Chapel Hill, the nuclear reactor center at N. C. State College in Raleigh and also spent a day in Washington, D. C. where they visited the Smithsonian Institution and the White House during their tour.

Bennett College Students To Study TV Chemistry

Bennett College will join more than 250 U. S. colleges and universities offering credit for the CONTINENTAL CLASSROOM courses in Modern Chemistry to be telecast during the 1959-60 academic year over the NBC network.

The 160 lesson series, to begin Sept. 28 and terminate May 27, may be seen locally from 6:30 to 7 a.m. over Station WSJS.

In announcing participation by Bennett, President Willa B. Player explained that the course is designed primarily for high school science teachers. "Others interested in obtaining a better understanding of recent developments in chemistry who are eligible to enroll for credit may do so," she pointed out. All inquiries should be addressed to Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the science division.

Modern Chemistry is the second college-level TV course for credit to be offered on a network basis. Last year the CONTINENTAL CLASSROOM offering was Atomic Age Physics. The viewing audience, comprised of over 400,000 persons, included approximately 15,000 teachers. This course, taught by Dr. Harvey E. White, vice-chairman of the physics department at the University of California, Berkeley, will be re-run over the network from 6 to 6:30 a.m., local time.

National teacher of Modern Chemistry, to be taped in compatible color, will be Dr. John F. Baxter, head of the General Chemistry Division at the University of Florida, Gainesville. Assisting him in the series of lecture demonstrations will be a nine-member Advisory Committee appointed by the American Chemical Society. Guest lecturers, including Nobel Prize winners, will appear from time to time on the program. Each will discuss the specialized knowledge he helped discover.

dormitory director and Miss Jean Greaves, 59, of Greensboro, has been named a secretary on the administrative staff of the college. Returning from leaves of ab-

FIVE ATTRACTIONS ADDED TO BENNETT LYCEUM PROGRAM

7.0. 9/5/59

Five attractions have been added to the lyceum series at Bennett College, Dr. [illegible], chairman, announced this week.

Opening the series on October 16, will be Robert McFerrin, outstanding baritone, whose performances include singing at the Metropolitan Opera and tours of many foreign countries. Mr. McFerrin has been referred to by one critic as "a one-man choir" and has been praised for his "unusual clarity of diction" and his "virtually flawless technique."

Making their traditional appearance on Friday, November 27 (the day after Thanksgiving) will be the Morehouse College Glee Club, of Atlanta, Ga., directed by Wendell Whalum.

First attraction of 1960 will be Miss Marilyn Mason, organist, presently a member of the faculty at the University of Michigan. Miss Mason, who studied in Paris with Nadia Boulanger and Maurice Durufle, has an all-inclusive repertoire. She has a special interest in contemporary music and has given first performances of many works.

Miss Vinnette Carroll, dra-

Bennett College Announces New Faculty-Staff Appointments

Announcement of the appointment of 14 new members of the faculty and staff at Bennett College for the 1959-60 academic year and of the return of two teachers who have been on leave, was made this week by President Willa B. Player.

Five of the appointments are in the area of the social sciences, four in humanities, two in the physical sciences and three to the administrative staff. Four of the appointees have earned their doctorates and four have earned the master's degree.

The list of appointments follows:

Charles I. Brown, of Greensboro, who holds the M.A. degree from N. C. College, Durham, will teach social sciences and be director of the expanded field studies program:

John F. Hatchett, of Pontiac, Mich., a graduate of Wayne State University, Detroit, and the Boston University School of Theology, will teach religion and philosophy;

Howell T. Jones, of Toledo, Ohio, a graduate of Virginia State College, with a master of music degree from the University of Michigan, will teach violin and be in charge of the college orchestra;

Mrs. Lily Keleti, a native of Budapest, Hungary, a graduate of the Royal Hungarian States Academy of Music at Budapest, and a concert and lecture artist, will teach piano;

Dr. Doris McKinney, of Roxbury, Mass., a graduate of Sargent, with an M. A. from Boston University and the Ed. D. degree in guidance and counseling from the Boston University School of Education, will teach psychology and physical education. A native of Warrenton, Ga., Dr. McKinney taught physical education at Bennett from 1943-1945. She has been the recipient of a fellowship from the Southern Fellowships Fund, taught at Virginia State College and last year was school psychologist in the Richmond, Va., public schools;

Dr. Eunice S. Newton, of Durham, with an M. A. from Teachers College, Columbia University and the Ed. D. degree from the University of Pennsylvania, will be director of the college reading center. Dr. Newton, the wife of Dr. I. Gregory Newton, of N. C. College, for the past two years has taught at Morgan State College, Baltimore, Md. From 1951-52, she was a graduate teaching fellow at the University of Pennsylvania and was visiting lecturer there for the summers of 1956 and 1958;

Dr. Oscar M. Polhemus, of Guilford College, N. C., will be a part-time teacher of religion and philosophy. Holder of the STB degree from Boston University and the Doctor of Theology degree from the same institution, Dr. Polhemus also earned an M. A. in history at the University of Indiana. He is a Methodist minister, the son of a Methodist minister and the father of a Methodist minister. He is widely known for his lectures and sermons and is a member of the New Hampshire Annual Conference of the Methodist Church;

Mrs. Isabella Troupiansky, of Odessa, Russia, a graduate of the University of Paris, with further study at the University of Indiana, will teach French, German and Russian. She worked for a number of years in the National Library in Paris and also at the Museum of Natural History there;

P. Mack Walker, of Greensboro, who holds the B.S. and M.S. degrees from A&T College, will teach basic science. A native of Mebane, N. C., Mr. Walker has taught in the public schools of the state and at the Immanuel Lutheran College in Greensboro;

Mrs. Dorothea C. Wright, a graduate of Sarah Lawrence College with a master of fine arts degree from Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, will teach English. A native of Alexandria, Egypt, Mrs. Wright's major areas are literature and creative writing;

Dr. Walter J. Hughes, a native of Greensboro and a 1955 graduate of the Meharry Medical School at Nashville, Tenn., has been employed as part-time college physician. Dr. Hughes served his internship at the George W. Hubbard Hospital in Nashville and his residency in gynecology and obsetrics at the Kansas City General Hospital in Kansas City, Mo.

Among the new appointees are three Bennett College graduates. Miss Phyllis E. Henry, '57, of Chestertown, Md., who has for the past two years attended the Boston University School of Theology, will be assistant director of co-curricular activities and be engaged in special work in religious education.

Miss Rosa E. Martin, '46, of Sanford, N. C., who since graduation has taught in the public schools and done work for the U. S. government, has been employed as a dormitory director and Miss Janie Graves, '59, of Greensboro, has been named a secretary on the administrative staff of the college.

Returning from leaves of absence for advanced study will be Mrs. Mary T. Coleman, of Reidsville, instructor in education, and Mrs. Lydia Richards, director of the Children's House.

150 FRESHMEN EXPECTED AT BENNETT COLLEGE

A capacity enrollment, which includes a class of more than 150 freshmen, is expected as Bennet College opens its 87th academic year here Thursday.

Mrs. David D. Jones, director of admissions, revealed that this year's entering class covers a spread of 23 states and the District of Columbia and four foreign countries. In addition, there are six returning students and 11 transfer students.

Orientation week for freshmen and new students begins Thursday. New students will register on September 14 and returning students on September 15. First semester classes begin on September 16.

Fellowship Grant Given To College

A grant of $15,000 to Bennett College from the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Mo. was announced today by President Willa Player.

The grant will be used exclusively for graduate fellowships between September 1960 and June 1965 for young women preparing for a career of college teaching. It is non-renewable.

Choice of the recipient, the size of the grant and the question of its renewal will be the responsibility of Bennett College.

Bennett College Added Six New Faculty Members

The addition of six persons to the faculty and staff of Bennett College brings to 20 the number of new appointments for the 1959-60 academic year, President Willa B. Player announced this week.

Appointed acting director of religious activities is the Rev. John G. Corry, of Leaksville, N. C. The Rev. Corry, a member of the North Carolina Annual Conference of the Methodist Church, is a graduate of Jonson C. Smith University and of Gammon Theological Seminary where he was president of his class for two years and president of the student body during his senior year. He holds membership in Phi Kappa Alpha National Humanities Honor Society, Alpha Kappa Mu National Honor Society and the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity.

The new appointee, a native of Cleveland County, N. C., was ordained to the Methodist ministry in June, 1957. He is a contributing editor to the adult department, editorial division of the Board of Education of the Methodist Church. He served with the United States Army in Germany during 1952-53.

Named teacher of physical education and the dance is Mrs. Nelly Gurten, a native of Russia, who since coming to the United States in 1947, has received her American citizenship.

Mrs. Gurten, who is proficient in ballet, modern dance, choreography, gymnastics and ballroom dancing, studied in the Ballet School of Mme. Olga Preobrajensky in Paris, France. She has toured Europe with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo and has made other European tours with the Ballet de Paris. Since coming to the U.S., she has performed in New York City and has taught dancing in New York City, Brooklyn, N. Y. and Wichita Falls, Texas.

Miss Dorothy Williams, of Burgraw, N. C., a 1959 graduate of North Carolina College at Durham, has been employed as a typist. Three more Bennett graduates return this year as dormitory directors. They are Misses Arnetta Fagan '59, of Plymouth, N. C.; Nannie Hughes '59, of Cheraw, S. C. and Willa Taylor, '49, of Greenville, N. C.

MRS. LENNON

MISS BENNETT

NEW YWCA STAFFERS — Pictured above are two new additions to the Harriett Tubman YWCA staff in Durham. Top is Mrs. Claire Lennon, of LeGrange, Ga., veteran educator who begins duties as residence director. At bottom is Miss Shirley Bennett, of Bracey, Va., a June graduate of Bennett College. Miss Bennett is asistant Program Director and Teen-Age Health, Physical Education and Recreation Director.

Dr. Lorimer Speaks To Bennett Student Leadership

"Values are those things which matter most to you," Dr. Margaret F. Lorimer told campus leaders at the annual Student Leadership Conference which closed at Bennett College on Wednesday.

Dr. Lorimer, of the Office of Evaluation Services at Michigan State University in East Lansing, Michigan, was addressing herself to the conference theme, "Developing a Value System for Effective College Living."

She reminded the students, who represented all classes and organizations on the campus, that their attitudes and behavior spring from the values which they set up for themselves.

President Willa B. Player, in addressing the students, told them that, as leaders, they must "pump, push and pull" and that they must set personal examples for the campus. "You must possess a positive awareness and have high expectations if you would succeed," she declared.

Mrs. Minnie B. Smith, director of co-curricular activities, said that there are dominant, or core values and peripheral, or temporary, values from which the students may choose. Miss Phyllis Henry, assistant to Mrs. Smith, listed among the qualities of a good leader, physical energy, sense of purpose and direction, enthusiasm, integrity and faith.

Workshops, panel discussions and a debate were also included on the two-day agenda. Among the participants were Misses Gloria E. Brown, senior, Bronx, N. Y., president of the Student Senate; Linda Brown, junior, Akron, Ohio; Laura Sawyer, senior, Salisbury; Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, senior, Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa; Nancy Kirby, senior, Haddonfield, N. J.; Idajeanne Robinson, junior, Oberlin, Ohio; Yvonne Redcross, junior, Hampton, Va.; Ann Hanks, junior, Westminster, S. C.; Marie Moore, senior, Winston-Salem; and Iris Jeffries, junior, Burlington, N. C.

Russian dancer, five others join Bennett College faculty

GREENSBORO, N.C. —Mrs. Nelly Gurten, a former member of the Ballet Russe de Russian, now a naturalized citizen, has been added to the faculty of Bennett College.

The appointment, along with five others, was announced by President Willa B. Player, this week.

Mrs. Gurten, who is proficient in ballet, modern dance, choreography, gymnastics and ballroom dancing, studied in the Ballet School of Mme. Olga Preobrajensky in Paris, France. She has toured Europe with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo and has made other European tours with the Ballet de Paris. Since coming into the U.S., in 1947, she has performed in New York City and has taught dancing in New York City, Brooklyn, N.Y. and Wichita Falls, Texas.

She will teach physical education at Bennett.

* * *

APPOINTED ACTING DIRECTOR of religious activities is the Rev. John G. Corry, of Leaksville, N.C. The Rev. Mr. Corry, a member of the North Carolina Annual Conference of the Methodist Church, is a graduate of Johnson C. Smith University and of Gammon Theological Seminary where he was president of his class for two years and president of the student body during his senior year.

He holds membership in Phi Kappa Alpha National Humanities Honor Society, Alpha Kappa Mu National Honor Society and the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity.

The new appointee, a native of Cleveland County, N.C., was ordained to the Methodist ministry in June, 1957. He is a contributing editor to the adult department, editorial division of the Board of Education of the Methodist Church. He served with the United States Army in Germany during 1952-53.

Miss Dorothy Williams, of Burgaw, N.C., a 1959 graduate of North Carolina College at Durham, has been employed as a typist. Three more Bennett graduates return this year as dormitory directors. They are Misses Arnetta Fagan '59, of Plymouth, N.C.; Nannie Hughes '59, of Cheraw, S.C., and Willa Taylor, '49, of Greenville, N.C.

* * *

A CAPACITY ENROLLMENT, which includes a class of more than 150 freshmen, was expected as Bennett College opened its 87th academic year here Thursday.

Mrs. David D. Jones, director of admissions, revealed that this year's entering class covers a spread of 23 states and the District of Columbia and four foreign countries. In addition, there are six returning students and 11 transfer students.

...tion week for fresh... new students began ... New students will ... September 14 and ...dents on Septem... semester classes ...tember 16.

VISITING TRIO—This charming trio of visitors were feted during their recent visit to Detroit, Mich. Miss Amaleta Moore, left, director of residence at Bennett College, in North Carolina, who was a house guest of her sister, Mrs. Lavinia Wingo; seated, Mrs. Erma Gray, a Philadelphia beautician, also house guest of Mrs. Wingo, and Mrs. Walter Leftwich, a Savannah, (Ga.) teacher, who spent a month visiting her sister and brother-in-law, the Stanley Whittleys. Mrs. Whittley entertained all three visitors at a lavish bridge party.—Johnson Photo.

Bennett Joins In TV Course

GREENSBORO—Bennett College will join more than 250 U. S. colleges and universities offering credit for the Continental Classroom courses in "Modern Chemistry" to be telecast during the 1959-60 academic year over the NBC network.

The 160 lesson series, to begin Sept. 28 and terminate May 27, may be seen locally from 6:30 to 7 a.m. over Station WSJS.

In announcing participation by Bennett, President Willa B. Player explained that the course is designed primarily for high school science teachers. "Others interested in obtaining a better understanding of recent developments in chemistry who are eligible to enroll for credit may do so," she pointed out. All inquiries should be addressed to Dr. J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the science division.

"Modern Chemistry" is the second college-level TV course for credit to be offered on a network basis. Last year, the Continental Classroom offering was "Atomic Age Physics." The viewing audience, comprised of over 400,000 persons, included approximately 15,000 teachers. This course, taught by Dr. Harvey E. White, vice-chairman of the physics department at the University of California, Berkeley, will be rerun over the network from 6 to 6:30 a.m., local time.

National teacher of "Modern Chemistry"—to be taped in compatible color—will be Dr. John F. Baxter, head of the General Chemistry Division at the University of Florida, Gainesville. Assisting him in the series of lecture demonstrations will be a nine-member Advisory Committee appointed by the American Chemical Society. Guest lecturers—including Nobel Prize winners—will apear from time to time on the program. Each will discuss the specialized knowledge he helped discover.

Six Members Join Staff At Bennett

The additon of six persons to the faculty and staff of Bennett College brings to 20 the number of new appointments for the 1959-60 academic year, President Willa B. Player announced this week.

Appointed acting director of religious activities is the Rev. John G. Corry of Leaksville. The Rev. Mr. Corry, a member of the North Carolina Annual Conference of the Methodist Church, is a graduate of Johnson C. Smith University and of Gammon Theological Seminary where he was president of his class for two years and president of the student body during his senior year.

The new appointee, a native of Cleveland County, was ordained to the Methodist ministry in June, 1957. He is a contributing editor to the adult department, editorial division of the Board of Education of the Methodist Church. He served with the United States Army in Germany in 1952-53.

Dance Instructor

Named teacher of physical education and the dance is Mrs. Nelly Gurten, a native of Russia, who since coming to the United States in 1947, has received her American citizenship.

Mrs. Gurten, who is proficient in ballet, modern dance, choreography, gymnastics and ballroom dancing, studied in the Ballet School of Mme. Olga Preobrajensky in Paris. She has toured Europe with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo and has made other European tours with the Ballet de Paris. Since coming into the U. S., she has performed in New York City and has taught dancing in New York City, Brooklyn, and Wichita Falls, Texas.

Miss Dorothy Williams, of Burgaw, a 1959 graduate of North Carolina College at Durham, has been employed as a typist. Three more Bennett graduates return this year as dormitory directors. They are Misses Arnetta Fagan of Plymouth, Nannie Hughes of Cheraw, S. C., and Willa Taylor, of Greenville.

PLAN PROGRAM

A program of music and verse featuring members of the Bennett College faculty will be presented at 7:30 o'clock tonight in Pfeiffer Chapel. Performing will be Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, soprano; Clarence E. Whiteman, organist; Fred Eady, dramatic reader, and Mrs. Lily Keleti, pianist. The public is invited to attend.

Class of 150 Freshman Is Expected to Enroll at Bennett

GREENSBORO — A capacity enrollment, which includes a class of more than 150 freshmen, was expected as Bennett College opened its 87th academic year here Thursday.

Mrs. David D. Jones, director of admissions, revealed that this year's entering class covers a spread of 23 states and the District of Columbia and four foreign countries. In addition, there are six new returning students and 11 transfer students, and new students by the 30 Thursday.

New students will register on September 14 and returning students on September 15. First semester classes begin on September 16.

Orientation week for freshmen and new students began today. New students will register on Monday and returning students on Tuesday. First semester classes begin Wednesday.

Bennett College Slates Service

Freshmen at Bennett College will attend a special worship service at 11 a.m. tomorrow in the Science Assembly at which time the Rev. John L. Bryan of Washington will be the speaker.

Between 7 and 9 p.m. they will be guests of Dr. Willa B. Player at her annual reception at the President's Home.

This year's class of 172 is the largest in the history of the college and represents 23 states, the District of Columbia and three foreign countries. They will register Monday and begin classes Wednesday.

JULIUS THOMAS TO SPEAK

GREENSBORO — Julius Thomas, of New York City, industrial relations secretary of the National Urban League, will speak at the Sunday vesper service at Bennett College, October 4 in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Mr. Thomas will also be on campus on Monday at which time he will visit a number of classes in the area of the social sciences.

"Self-Study," Theme of Bennett Faculty Conference

"Focusing on Self-Study of the Educational Program" was the theme of the annual faculty-staff fall conference held at Bennett College.

Dr. Margaret F. Lorimer, of Michigan State University was consultant for the one-week sessions which closed on Thursday and during which the conferees took a close look at comprehensive examinations, senior seminars, the curriculum and an honors program.

In addition to core group meetings in English, basic science, social science, humanities, religion-philosophy and education, there was a "brainstorming" session out of which more than 100 ideas were generated and a roundtable discussion with student and faculty participants on "Student Values and the Teacher."

A highlight of the conference was the joint faculty-student banquet at which Dr. Lorimer was the principal speaker.

BENNETT HISTORY TEACHER IS AUTHOR

Dr. George Breathett, a member of the Bennett College history faculty, is the author of an article, "Socio-Economic Problems of Haitian Representation in the French National Assembly 1789-90," which appears in the August issue of the Journal of Social Science Teachers.

In collaboration with Dr. Edwin Edmunds, former sociology instructor at Bennett, Dr. Breathett is also author of "A Social Studies Handbook for Use in Junior and Senior High Schools" published this year by the Tuskegee Institute (Ala.) Press.

Attractions Will Appear At Bennett

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Five attractions have been acquired for the 1959-60 lyceum series at Bennett college, Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, chairman, announces.

Opening the series Oct. 16, will be Robert McFerrin, outstanding baritone, of Metropolitan Opera fame.

Making their traditional appearance on Friday, Nov. 27 (the day after Thanksgiving) will be the Morehouse college glee club, of Atlanta, Ga., directed by Wendell Whalum.

FIRST ATTRACTION of 1960 will be Miss Marilyn Mason, organist, presently a member of the faculty at the University of Michigan.

Miss Vinette Carroll, dramatic reader, will appear on Feb. 5. She is a familiar figure on many college campuses.

FINAL ATTRACTION in the series will be the Brown university glee club which will be heard in concert on Apr. 11. This group, in existence for over 150 years, has traveled throughout the United States and has been praised as one of the finest male choruses of its kind.

An addition is an octet — the Brunaries.

New Season Opens At Bennett College

A capacity enrollment, which includes a class of more than 150 freshmen, was expected as Bennett College opened its 87th academic year here today.

Mrs. David D. Jones, director of admissions, revealed that this year's entering class covers a spread of 23 states, District of Columbia and four foreign countries.

Orientation week for freshmen and new students began today. New students will register on Monday and returning students on Tuesday. First semester classes begin Wednesday.

Bennett College Slates Service

Freshmen at Bennett College will attend a special worship service at 11 a.m. Friday in the Science Assembly at which time the Rev. John L. Bryan of Washington will be the speaker.

Between 7 and 9 p.m. they will be guests of Dr. Willa B. Player at her annual reception at the President's Home.

This year's class of 172 is the largest in the history of the college and represents 23 states, the District of Columbia and three foreign countries. They will register Monday and begin classes Wednesday.

Bennett historian writes about Haiti

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Dr. George Breathett, a Bennett College history teacher, is the author of "Socio - Economic Problems of Haitian Representation in the French National Assembly — 1789 - 90."

Reading the article which appears in the August issue of the Journal of Social Science Teachers, he collaborated with Dr. Edwin Edmonds in the writing of "A Social Studies Handbook for Use in Junior and Senior High Schools."

Dr. Edmonds is a former sociology instructor at Bennett. The handbook was published by the Tuskegee (Ala.) Institute Press.

Students At Bennett Hear Dr. Polhemus

A challenge to use the "open door" of opportunity which lies before them was given to Bennett College students at their opening vesper service yesterday by Dr. Oscar M. Polhemus.

The speaker, who serves on the faculties of Guilford College and of Bennett, told the students that there is no time in the history of the world like the present

2-Day Student Leadership Conference At Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C. — "Values are those things which matter most to you," Dr. Margaret F. Lorimer told campus leaders at the annual Student Leadership Conference which closed at Bennett College on Wednesday.

Dr. Lorimer, of the Office of Evaluation Services at Michigan State University in East Lansing, Michigan, spoke on the conference theme, "Developing a Value System for Effective College Living."

SHE REMINDED the students, who represented all classes and organizations on the campus, that their attitudes and behavior spring from the values which they set up for themselves.

President Willa B. Player, in addressing the students, told them that, as leaders, they must "pump, push and pull" and that they must set personal examples for the campus. "You must posses a positive awareness and have high expectations if you would succeed," she declared.

MRS. MINNIE B. Smith, director of co-curricular activities, said that there are dominant, or core, values and peripheral, or temporary, values from which the students may choose. Miss Phyllis Henry, assistant to Mrs. Smith, listed among the qualities of a good leader, physical energy, a sense of purpose and direction, enthusiasm, integrity and faith.

Workshops, panel discussions and a debate were also included on the two-day agenda. Among the participants were Misses Gloria E. Brown, senior, Bronx, N. Y., president of the Student Senate; Linda Brown, junior, Akron, Ohio; Laura Sawyer, senior, Salisbury.

ALSO BLANCHE Tuboku-Metzer, senior, Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa; Nancy Kirby, senior, Haddonfield, N. J.; Idajeanne Robinson, junior, Oberlin, Ohio; Yvonne Redcross, junior, Hampton, Va.; Ann Hanks, junior, Westminster, S. C.; Marie Moore, senior, Winston-Salem, and Iris Jeffries, junior, Burlington, N. C.

6 Added To Faculty At Bennett

GREENSBORO — The addition of six persons to the faculty and staff of Bennett College brings to 20 the number of new appointments for the 1959-60 academic year, President Willa B. Player announced this week.

Appointed acting director of religious activities is the Rev. John G. Corry, of Leaksville, N.C. The Rev. Mr. Corry, a member of the North Carolina Annual Conference of the Methodist Church, is a graduate of Johnson C. Smith University and of Gammon Theological Seminary where he was president of his class for two years and president of the student body during his senior year. He holds membership in Phi Kappa Alpha National Honor Society and the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity.

The new appointee, a native of Cleveland County, was ordained to the Methodist ministry in June, 1957. He is a contributing editor to the adult department, editorial division of the Board of Education of the Methodist Church. He served with the United States Army in Germany during 1952-53.

FUTURE COLLEGIANS---Some of the nearly 100 girls, seniors, from high schools in 40 communities in North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia and their advisors who attended the annual Youth Days in Bennett College.

Michigan Prof Explains Values To Bennett Coeds

GREENSBORO — "Values are those things which matter most to you," Dr. Margaret F. Lorimer told campus leaders at the annual Student Leadership Conference which closed at Bennett College on Wednesday.

Dr. Lorimer, of the Office of Evaluation Services at Michigan State University in East Lansing, Michigan, was addressing herself to the conference theme, "Developing a Value System for Effective College Living."

She reminded the students, who represented all classes and organizations on the campus, that their attitudes and behavior spring from the values which they set up for themselves.

President Willa B. Player, in addresing the students, told them that, as leaders, they must "pump, push and pull" and that they must set personal examples for the campus. "You must posses a positive awareness and have high expectations if you would suceed," she declared.

Mrs. Minnie B. Smith, director of cocurricular activities, said that there are dominant, or core, values and peripheral, or temporary, values from which the students may choose. Miss Phyllis Henry, assistant to Mrs. Smith listed among the qualities of a good leader, physical energy, a sense of purpose and direction, enthusiasm, integrity and faith.

Workshops, panel discussions and a debate were also included on the two-day agenda. Among the E. Brown, senior, Bronx, N. Y., participants were Misses Gloria president of the Student Senate; Linda Brown, junior, Akron, Ohio; Laura Sawyer, senior, Salisbury; Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, senior, Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa; Nancy Kirby, senior, Haddonfield, N. J.; Idajeanne Robinson, junior, Oberlin, Ohio; Yvonne Redcross, junior, Hampton, Va.; Ann Hanks, junior, Westminster, S. C.; Marie Moore, senior, Winston-Salem, and Iris Jeffries, junior, Burlington, N. C.

Dr. Player Challenges Students To Develop Minds Capable of Critical Thinking

Bennett College students were challenged by President Willa B. Player to "develop minds capable of critical thinking" as the college opened its 87th academic year here with a formal chapel program on Wednesday.

Addressing herself particularly to the 170 odd freshmen who were attending chapel for the first time, Dr. Player said: "It is great to be young in a time like this. It is our hope that you come here with a new outlook on life and a seriousness of pur pose that you have never had before."

Pointing out to the entire student body that they must assume a great portion of the responsibility for their own education, Dr. Player reminded them of the great opportunity that they have to develop sound and highly cultured minds in the enviroment and with the facilities which the college provides.

Among the freshmen who registered on Monday were 13 who had been valedictorians in high school and six who had been salutatorians. Emphasizing the trend toward more interest in the sciences is the fact that 14 young women have chosen biology as a major and eight have chosen mathematics.

Freshmen who are sisters of Bennett graduatesare Miss Brenda Spurlock, of Roanoke, Va., sister of Clara Ann Spurlock; Miss Edwina Coleman, of Charlotte, N. C., sister of Miss Grace Coleman and Mrs. Peggy S. Bryant, of Gastonia, N. C., sister of Mrs. Lila Spearman West.

Five other freshmen are sisters of Bennett upper classmen, namely: Misses Evelyn Cotten, of Tarboro, N. C., sister of Carolyn; Blanche Bruton, of Troy, N. C., sister of Carol; Emma Curry, of Elon College, sister of Annie; Audrey Wynne, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., sister of Valaida, and Carolyn Wright, of Shelby, N. C., sister of Betty Jo.

For the first time in a number of years, Bennett has a set of twins enrolled in the persons of Misses Marylen and Clifford Claye, of Houston, Texas. Mary len intends to be a medical technologist while Clifford is undecided as to the career she will select.

BENNETT FRESHMEN AND SISTERS — Six Bennett College freshmen are shown here with four of their junior "sisters" at the conclusion of Freshman Orientation Week. Seated are Misses Carole Collins, Montclair, N. J.; Carolyn Owens, Binghampton, N. Y., and Barbara Tascoe, Montclair, N. J., all freshmen. Standing: Misses LaRita Waters, junior, Jacksonville, Fla.; Dorthula Barlow, freshman, Roanoke, Va.; Mercedes Davis, freshman, New Orleans, La.; Brenda Spurlock, freshman, Roanoke, Va., and Ometria Campbell, Raeford, N. C.; Jacquelyn Dove, Kinston, N. C., and Rosa Lee Shaw, Kingstree, S. C., all juniors. Courier 10/3/59

BUDDING SINGER — Theresa Daggs of Greenville, N. C., who plans a concert career, is shown singing "I Love Porgy," the number which "brought down the house" during the annual freshman talent show at Bennett College recently.

Bennett Students Challenged By President Willa B. Player

GREENSBORO — Bennett College students were challenged by President Willa B. Player to "develop minds capable of critical thinking" as the college opened its 87th academic year here with a formal chapel program on Wednesday.

Addressing herself particularly to the 170-odd freshmen who were attending chapel for the first time, Dr. Player said: "It is great to be young in a time like this. It is our hope that you come here with a new outlook on life and a seriousness of purpose that you have never had before."

Pointing out to the entire student body that they must assume a great portion of the responsibility for their own education, Dr. Player reminded them of the great opportunity that they have to develop sound and highly cultured minds in the environment and with the facilities which the college provides.

Freshmen who are sisters of Bennett graduates are: Miss Brenda Spurlock, of Roanoke, Va., sister of Clara Ann Spurlock; Miss Edwina Coleman, of Charlotte, N. C., sister of Miss Grace Coleman and Mrs. Peggy S. Bryant, of Gastonia, N. C., sister of Mrs. Lila Spearman West.

Five other freshmen are sisters of Bennett upper classmen, namely: Misses Evelyn Cotten, of Tarboro, sister of Carolyn; Blanche Bruton, of Troy sister of Carol; Emma Curry, of Elon College, sister of Annie; Audrey Wynne, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., sister of Valaida, and Carolyn Wright, of Shelby, sister of BettyJo.

Freshman Talent Shov Praised At Greensboro

GREENSBORO — A plethora of talent in music, dramatics and the dance was unfolded by representatives of Bennett College's entering class in the annual talent show held in the Little Theatre Saturday night.

The limited seating capacity of the auditorium caused many persons to stand throughout the 15-number program, but none of them seemed to mind as they watched each participant go through her paces.

The singing of "City Called Heaven" by Miss Patricia Miles of Pittsburgh, Pa. and the dancing of the "Cha Cha Cha" by Miss Velma Pleasant of Sumter, S. C. evoked rounds of applause as did Miss Thelma Spruill of Greensboro sing- ing "Let My Song Fill Your H and Miss Theresa Daggs of G ville, N. C. with her interpreta of "I Love Porgy."

Two comedy acts, "The Old W man Who Swallowed A Fly," b Miss Sylvia Fish of Princeton, N. and "Mary Had A Little Lamb" by Miss Dorothy Hampton of Spray, N. C., also found high favor with the audience. Misses Iva Baker of Jacksonville, Fla. and Marian Simmons, a junior of Fayetteville, N. C. were acompanists.

Julius Thomas Slated For A Bennett Talk

GREENSBORO — Julius Thomas of New York City, industrial relations secretary of the National Urban League, will speak at the Sunday vesper service at Bennett College, October 4, in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Mr. Thomas will also be on campus on Monday at which time he will visit a number of classes in the area of the social sciences.

Elementary Ed. Top Preference At Bennett

GREENSBORO — Elementary education leads in the career preference of this year's Bennett College freshman class. A total of 36 girls in the class of 172 indicate this preference.

Next in line are social science, 32; science 20; business, 15; and music and home economics with 13 each.

Greensboro Frosh at Bennett Exhibit Talents

GREENSBORO—A plethora of talent in music, dramatics and the dance was unfolded by representatives of Bennett College's entering class in the annual talent show held in the Little Theatre recently.

The limited seating capacity of the auditorium caused many persons to stand throughout the 15-number program, but none of them seemed to mind as they watched each participant go through her paces.

The singing of "City Called Heaven" by Miss Patricia Miles of Pittsburgh, Pa. and the dancing of the "Cha Cha Cha" by by Miss Velma Pleasant of Sumter, S. C. evoked rounds of applause as did Miss Thelma Spruill of Greensboro singing "Let My Song Fill Your Heart" and Miss Theresa Daggs of Greenville, N. C., with her interpretation of "I Love Porgy."

Sunday Strollers

WALKING ACROSS Bennett College campus on their first Sunday afternoon at the Greensboro, N. C., school and adding beauty to the scene are these two freshmen. The charmers are (from left) Elena Chapman of Philadelphia, Pa., and Patricia Fish of Princeton, N. J.

Freshmen Give Varied Talent Show

GREENSBORO, N. C., A plethora of talent in music, dramatics and the dance was unfolded by representatives of Bennett College's freshman class in the annual talent show held in the Little Theatre Saturday night, Sept. 19.

The limited seating capacity of the auditorium caused many persons to stand throughout the 15-number program, but none of them seemed to mind as they watched each participant go through her paces.

THE SINGING of "City Called Heaven" by Miss Patricia Miles of Pittsburgh, Pa. and the dancing of the "Cha Cha Cha" by Miss Velma Pleasant of Sumter, S. C. evoked rounds of applause as did Miss Thelma Spruill of Greensboro singing "Let My Song Fill Your Heart" and Miss Theresa Daggs of Greenville, N. C. with her interpretation of "I Love Porgy."

Two comedy acts, "The Old Woman Who Swallowed a Fly", by Miss Sylvia Fish of Princeton, N. J. and "Mary Had A Little Lamb" by Miss Dorothy Hampton of Spray, N. C., also found high favor with the audience. Misses Iva Baker of Jacksonville, Fla. and Marian Simmons, a junior of Fayetteville, N. C. were accompanists.

First Sunday Stroll—Walking across the Bennett College campus on their first Sunday afternoon at the Greensboro (N. C.) institution and adding beauty to its charm are these two Greensboro freshmen. Left to right: Elena Chapman of Philadelphia, Pa., and Patricia Fish of Princeton, N. J. Courier 10/3/59

Oct. 3, 1959 THE PITTSBURGH COURIER B

Memorial Service Held For Woman

Mrs. Annie Merner Pfeiffer was described in memorial services at Bennett College yesterday as a woman who, although known for her gifts, gave more of herself than just gifts to the service of mankind and God.

Speaking of Mrs. Pfeiffer's philanthropy, Mrs. H. C. Black of Johnson City, Tenn., who knew her said, "There is no monument more fitting to her memory than a campus like this where young women may prepare themselves to help in the making of a etter world."

BENNETT FRESHMAN ELECTED CHAIRMAN

Elected chairman of the freshman planning committee for the first semester is Miss Leslie Doty of Dallas, Texas.

Serving with her will be Misses Mercedes Davis, of New Orleans, La., vice-chairman; Clifford Claye, of Houston, Texas, secretary; Carolyn Walker, of New Haven, Conn., terasurer, and Barbara McDowell, of Greensboro, member-at-large.

BENNETT FOUNDERS DAY

Mrs. Grace Colburne Gates of Baltimore, Md., a member of the class of 1934, will represent the alumnae of Bennett College when the annual Founder's Day program is presented in Pfeiffer Chapel on Sunday, October 18, at 11 a.m.

Mrs. Colbourne is employed by the city of Baltimore as a community activities advisor.

FIRST SUNDAY STROLL — Walking across the Bennett College campus on their first Sunday afternoon at the Greensboro institution and adding beauty to its charm are these two Greensboro freshmen. Left to right, Misses Elena Chapman, of Philadelphia, Pa. and Patricia Fish, of Princeton, N. J.

ELEMENTARY EDUCATION PREFERRED AT BENNETT

Elementary education leads in the career preference of this year's Bennett College freshman class. A total of 36 girls in the class of 172 indicate this preference.

Next in line are social science, 32; science 20; business, 15; and music and home economics with 13 each.

JULIUS THOMAS TO SPEAK AT BENNETT

Julius Thomas, of New York City, industial elations secretary of the National Urban League, will speak at the Sunday vesper service at Bennett College, October 4, in Pfeiffer Chapel.

FRESHMEN AND SISTERS — Six Bennett College freshmen are shown here with four of their junior "sisters" at the conclusion of Freshmen Orientation Week. Seated are Misses Carole Collins, Montclair, N. J.; Carolyn Owens, Binghamton, N. Y. and Barbara Tascoe, Monclair, N. J., all freshmen. Standing Misses LaRita Waters, junior, Jacksonville, Fla.; Dorthula Barlow, freshman, Roanoke, Va.; Mercedes Davis, freshman, New Orleans, La.; Brenda Spurlock, freshman, Roanoke, Va. and Ometria Campbell, Raeford; Jacquelyn Dove, Kinston, and Rosa Lee Shaw, Kingstree, S. C., all juniors.

FAMILIAR SCENE across country, last week, was the above as parents readied children for college. Miss Carole M. Byrd of Hartsville, S.C. is assisted by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Byrd, in loading luggage for her drive to Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C.

Among the freshmen who registered at Bennett college were 13 who had been valedictorians in high school and six who had been salutatorians.

Interesting to note:

Freshmes who are sisters of Bennett graduates are Brenda Edwina sister of Grace Coleman and Peggy S. Bryant, sister of Lila Spearman West.

Five other freshmen are sisters of Bennett upper classmen, namely: Evelyn Cotten, sister of Carolyn Blanche; Bruton, sister of Carol Emma Curry, sister of Annie and Audrey Wynne, sister of Valaida.

Speaker for the ansual Annie Merner Pfeiffer Memorial Day at Bennett on Sunday, Sept. 27 was Mrs. H. C. Black, of Johnson City, Tenn.

Mrs. Black, secretary of the Bennett board of trustees, has been active in womes's groups of the Methodist church for a number of years and a long-time trustee.

Mrs. Pfeiffer's benefactions over a long period made possible much of the material progress of the college, including five modern buildings. The program, at 4 p.m., was held in the chapel which bears her name.

16

Sunday Afternoon Stroll

Walking across the Bennett College campus on their first Sunday afternoon at the Greensboro, N. C. institution and adding beauty to its charm are these two freshmen. Left to right, Misses Elena Chapman, of Philadelphia, Pa. and Patricia Fish, of Princeton, N. J.

Memorial Services Are Held At Bennett For Mrs. Annie M. Pfeiffer

Mrs. Annie Merner Pfeiffer, for whom memorial services were held at Bennett College Sunday, was described as a woman who although known for her gifts, gave more of herself to the service of God and of mankind.

Speaking of Mrs. Pfeiffer's great philanthropy, not only to Bennett but to other institutions in this country and abroad, Mrs. H. C. Black, of Johnson City, Tenn., secretary of the Bennett board of trustees, who knew her well, said:

"There is no monument more fitting to her memory than a campus like this where young women may prepare themselves to help in the making of a better world."

A woman of great wealth, Mrs. Pfeiffer was described as a person of sincerity, understanding and humor. Miss Margarie Mays, 57 gave a tribute and a classmate, Miss Phyllis Henry, led the reading of a litany of gratitude. Expressing appreciation from the student body was Miss Blanche Tobuku-Metzger.

President Willa B. Player presided and the choir, under the direction of Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, with Clarence E. Whiteman at the organ, sang "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross," by R. Nathaniel Dett.

VESPER SERVICE AT BENNETT

A challenge to use the "open door" of opportunity which lies before them was given to Bennett College students at their opening vesper service Sunday by Dr. Oscar M. Polhemus.

The speaker, who serves on the faculties of Guilford College and of Bennett, told the students that there is no time in the history of the world like the present.

"This is a thrilling era," he said, "because it is more than just a series of crises. It is an era of world-wide revolution and, because of this, we must learn brotherhood or perish."

Calling attention to the fact that the two major world problems are war and race, Dr. Polhemus said that man must learn that every person has dignity and worth. "When we pray," he stated, "we all say 'Our Father' which means that God is the Father of us all."

In urging the students to make full use of this year as an opportunity to learn, Dr. Polhemus reminded them that with all their getting of knowledge they also should get understanding.

"Wisdom is the ability to make knowledge a servant," he declared, "but it is also knowledge motivated by love."

GADABOUTING U.S.A.

WITH LULA JONES GARRETT

- ★ Dr. Dorothy Brown in College of Surgeons
- ★ Dorothy Holder now at North Carolina College
- ★ Connecticut AKA gift Faith with $1,006
- ★ Alayne Daves on St. Catherine's faculty

DR. DOROTHY BROWN
(Into College of Surgeons)

Saturday, in Convention Hall, Atlantic City, N.J., Dr. Dorothy L. Brown, M.D., was received into the American College of Surgeons.

It was a triumph for a woman, and an especially fitting one for Dr. Brown, a real life Cinderella girl, whose illustrious career has progressed steadily from an orphanage in Troy, N.Y. to this exalted position.

Dr. Brown is an assistant professor of surgery at Meharry Medical College, Nashville, Tenn., which is also her Alma Mater. Prior to attending Meharry she graduated from Bennett College in Greensboro.

All of her education was acquired through scholarships, through aid of the Women's Division of the Methodist Church, and especially by the toil of her own hands.

Possessor of a deep Christian faith, Dr. Brown says that religious belief has been for her a lifelong resource . . . that her personal experiences have made her value faith in the Bible and adherence to its precepts as among the really fundamental bases for living.

Bennett memorial for Mrs. Pfeiffer

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Mrs. Annie M. Pfeiffer, for whom memorial services were held at Bennett College Sunday, was described as a woman who although known for her gifts, gave more of herself to the service of God and of mankind.

Speaking of Mrs. Pfeiffer's great philanthropy, not only to Bennett but to other institutions in this country and abroad, Mrs. H. C. Black, of Johnson City, Tenn., secretary of the Bennett board of trustees, who knew her well, said:

"There is no monument more fitting to her memory than a campus like this where young women may prepare themselves to help in the making of a better world."

* * *

A WOMAN of great wealth, Mrs. Pfeiffer was described as a person of sincerity, understanding and humor. Miss Margarie Mays, a 1957 graduate, gave a tribute and a classmate, Miss Phyllis Henry, led the reading of a litany of gratitude.

Expressing appreciation from the student body was Miss Blanche Tobuku-Metzger.

President Willa B. Player presided and the choir, under the direction of Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, with Clarence E. Whiteman at the organ, sang "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross," by R. Nathaniel Dett.

ATLANTA — Dr. Frances J. Bonner, a graduate of Bennett College in Greensboro, N.C., and now psychoanalyst and instructor at Harvard University Medical School, was guest lecturer at Morehouse College last Monday and Tuesday. She is also a psychiatric consultant in the Boston public school system.

Founder's Day Program At Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C.—Bishop Edgar A. Love, of the Baltimore Area of the Methodist Church, will deliver the address when Bennett College observes its annual Founder's Day with a program in Pfeiffer Chapel at 11 a.m., Sunday, October 18.

Bishop Love is also vice-chairman of the college trustee board. Bennett College was founded in 1873 as a co-educational institution but became a woman's college in 1926 when the late Dr. David D. Jones was called to the presidency.

Also appearing on the program will be Mrs. Grace Colbourne Gates of Baltimore, Md., a member of the class of '34 who will speak for the graduates.

1960 CLASS HEADS AT BENNETT—These young women were elected recently to head their respective classes at Bennett College for the 1959-60 academic year. Left to right: Roslyn Cheagle, Lynchburg, Va., sophomore; Mrs. Marie Moore, Winston-Salem, N. C., senior, and Jacqueline Boseman, Baltimore, Md., junior.

Julius Thomas Vesper Speaker At Bennett

GREENSBORO — "There are far too many persons who think that everything worthwhile has already been done and that the only thing they need to do is to enjoy what is here," Julius Thomas of New York City told the Bennett College vesper audience Sunday.

Thomas, a native of Greensboro, who is industrial relations secretary of the National Urban League, in the course of a year interviews many persons who are seeking employment in industry.

"I have no patience," he said, "with those applicants who are looking for easy jobs—jobs with a great amount of security and a small amount of work.

"There is plenty of unfinished business in the world and much of it will require hard work. Some two-thirds of the world's population have decided that they are tired of being pushed around. All around the world today there is the cry for human freedom. Filling the needs of these people in Africa, Asia and other parts of the world is a part of this unfinished business."

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER — Miss Doris Boyd, a pre-law freshman, who is the recipient of the $100 scholarship given annually by the Greensboro, N. C. chapter of the Bennett Graduate Association. She is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. James W. Boyd and is a graduate of Brown Summit High School.

Bennett To Participate In Testing

GREENSBORO — President Willa B. Player announced this week that Bennett College will be one of the thirty colleges participating in the testing of 6,000 to 7,000 scholarship and admission candidates from more than 900 high schools distributed throughout the United States and the Virgin Islands.

Bennett will cooperate in administering the Cooperative Intercollegiate Examination between November 30 and December 12, which will be given in some 260 test centers across the nation during this period. The Cooperative Intercollegiate Examination Program is an educational service of the United Negro College Fund. The examination is open to qualified high school seniors and to a limited number of high school sophomores and juniors of exceptional ability and promise.

President Player has appointed Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, Chairman of the Social Science Division, to direct the test administration.

MUSICAL & DRAMATICS UNFOLD AT BENNETT

A plethora of talent in music, dramatics and the dance was unfolded by representatives of Bennett College's entering class in the annual talent show held in the Little Theatre Saturday night.

The limited seating capacity of the auditorium caused many persons to stand throughout the 15-number program, but none of them seemed to mind as they watched each participant go through her paces.

The singing of "City Called Heaven" by Miss Patricia Miles of Pittsburgh, Pa. and the dancing of the "Cha Cha Cha" by Miss Velma Pleasant of Sumter, S. C. evoked rounds of applause as did Miss Thelma Spruill of Greensboro singing "Let My Song Fill Your Heart" and Miss Theresa Daggs of Greenville, N. C. with her intrepretation of "I Love Porgy."

Two comedy acts, "The Old Woman Who Swallowed a Fly," by Miss Sylvia Fish of Princeton, N. J. and "Mary Had A Little Lamb" by Miss Dorothy Hampton of Spray, N. C., also found high favor with the audience. Misses Iva Baker of Jacksonville, Fla. and Marian Simmons, a junior of Fayetteville, N. C. were accompanists.

DR. PLAYER ANNOUNCED THAT BENNETT WILL TEST FOR SCHORLARSHIPS

President Willa B. Player announced this week that Bennett College will be one of the thirey colleges participating in the testing of 6,000 to 7,000 scholarship and admission candidates from more than 900 high schools distributed throughout tht United States and the Virgin Islands.

Bennett will cooperate in administering the Cooperative Intercollegiate Examination between November 30 and December 12, which will be given in some 260 test centers across the nation during this period. The Cooperative Intercollegiate Examination Program is an educational service of the United Negro College Fund. The examination is open to qualified high school seniors and to a limited number of high school sophomores and juniors of exceptional ability and promise.

President Player has appointed Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, Chairman of the Social Science Division, to direct the test administration.

CHURCH DENOMINATIONS AT BENNETT REVEALED

Although Bennett College is a Methodist-related institution it, nevertheless, attracts students from many other denominations each year.

In this year's freshman class, for example, the Baptist denomination leads with 57—16 more than the Methodist. Other denominations listed among this year's class are Presbyterian, Episcopalian, Holiness, Catholic, Congregational Christian, AMEZ and Pentecostal.

UNITED NEGRO COLLEGE FUND

Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, following her attendance at a United Negro College Fund meeting in Atlanta on Monday, will go to Washington, D. C. for sessions of the American Council on Education, October 8-9.

DR. ARMSTRONG, VESPER SPEAKER

Dr. Clinton C. Armstrong, pastor of Browning Chapel Methodist Church here, will speak at the Sunday vesper service at Bennett College on October 11.

BENNETT SPEAKER

Speaker for the annual Annie Merner Pfeiffer Memorial Day at Bennett College at 4 p.m. today will be Mrs. H. C. Black of Johnson City, Tenn. Mrs. Black, secretary of the Bennett board of trustees, has been active in women's groups of the Methodist church for a number of years and a long-time trustee.

BENNETT VESPERS

Julius Thomas of New York City, industrial relations secretary of the National Urban League, will speak at vesper services at Bennett College at 4 p.m. today. Services will be held in Pfeiffer Chapel. Thomas will visit social science classes at the college Monday.

'ONE-MAN CHOIR'

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Robert McFerrin, baritone, referred to by one critic as a "one - man choir," will open the 1959-60 Lyceum series at Bennett College with a concert in Pfeiffer Chapel Friday night.

New Yorker Gives Talk At Bennett

There are far too many persons who think that everything worthwhile has already been done and that the only thing they need to do is to enjoy what is here, Julius Thomas of New York City told the Bennett College vesper audience yesterday.

Thomas, a native of Greensboro, who is industrial relations secretary of the National Urban League, interviews many persons who are seeking employment in industry.

"I have no patience," he said, "with those applicants who are looking for easy jobs—jobs with a great amount of security and a small amount of work.

"There is plenty of unfinished business in the world and much of it will require hard work. Some two-thirds of the world's population have decided that they are tired of being pushed around. All around the world today there is the cry for human freedom. Filling the needs of these people in Africa, Asia and other parts of the world is a part of this unfinished business."

Thomas pointed out that there is much unfinished business in America. He pointed to the need for better housing which means clearing the slums and literally rebuilding many cities.

The problems of mental hygiene, juvenile delinquency, health, integration, were also cited.

In an address to the students at their Monday morning chapel hour, Mr. Thomas told them, as they look forward to their careers, that jobs and opportunities to serve are created out of the needs of people and he predicted that new patterns of employment, now in effect in the North and West, will eventually be a part of the South.

Because of the highly competitive nature of the world economy, the Speaker challenged the students to be able to give better than average performances and to strike out boldly into the "non-traditional" areas of employment.

BENNETT COLLEGE NEWS

GREENSBORO, N. C.—There are far too many persons who think that everything worthwhile has already been done and that the only thing they need to do is to enjoy what is here, Julius Thomas of New York City told the Bennett College vesper audience Sunday.

Mr. Thomas, a native of Greensboro, who is industrial relations secretary of the National Urban League, in the course of a year interviews many persons who are seeking employment in industry.

"I have no patience," he said, "with those applicants who are looking for easy jobs—jobs with a great amount of security and a small amount of work.

"There is plenty of unfinished business in the world and much of it will require hard work. Some two-thirds of the world's population have decided that they are tired of being pushed around. All around the world today there is the cry for human freedom. Filling the needs of these people in Africa, Asia and other parts of the world is a part of this unfinished business."

Mr. Thomas pointed out that there is much unfinished business in America. He pointed to the need for better housing which means clearing the slums and literally rebuilding many cities.

FIRST FROM GHANA — The first young woman from the newly formed nation of Ghana to attend Bennett College is Jemima Laryea, left, who is being shown a campus landmark by Carolyn Owens of Binghampton, N. Y. Each of these young women is majoring in home economics, and each wishes to become a dietitian.

HEATING PLANT IMPROVED AT BETNETT

The broad smile on the face of Dozier Preastley, Bennett College fireman, is due largely to the fact that this summer a conveyor system for feeding coal into the two huge boiler furnaces was installed in the Pfeiffer Heating Plant at the college.

In previous years, Mr. Preastley and his assistants had to shovel the coal into the overhead hoppers and also had to use wheelbarrows to move much of it into a position where it could be shoveled.

The new conveyor system, with automatic controls, now makes all of this backbreaking labor unnecessary. Mr. Preastley, who came to Bennett College three years ago after serving 37 years as a fireman on the Southern Railroad, compares the new system of stoking with the old as a comparison between the jet age and the horse and buggy age.

"It is one of the best things that could have happened," he said.

Something In Common

Among the students entering Bennett College this fall are (left to right) Misses Soo Lee, of Seoul, Korea and Marie Nassau, of Monrovia, Liberia. Probably because each is far from home, they discovered a natural affinity for each other and have become fast friends. They are shown here studying together.

BENNETT COLLEGE NEWS

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The Rev. Charles P. Bowles, pastor of the West Market Street Methodist Church here, will speak at the 4 p.m. vesper service to be held at Bennett College on Sunday, October 25.

2 one-act plays set at Bennett

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Three one-act plays will be presented by the combined theatre guilds at Bennett College on Oct. 24, F. Alan Eady, director, announced this week. The plays and their casts will be as follows:

"Lima Beans," Misses Carolyn Snead of Philadelphia and Ann Florence of Greensboro; "Overtones," Misses Marian Isler, Goldsboro; Tressie Wright, Atlanta; Hurlyn Derrickson, Greensboro, and Ollie Johnson, Anthens, Ga.; "Last Victory;" Jacquelyn Florence, Greensboro; Barbara Byrd, Greensboro; Bonita Davis, Spartanburg, S.C.; Esther Alexander, Warrenton, and Hattie Green, Ivy, Va.

BENNETT COLLEGE NEWS

GREENSBORO, N. C.—Robert McFerrin, baritone, referred to by one critic as a "one-man choir," will open the 1959-60 lyceum series at Bennett College with a concert in Pfeiffer Chapel on the night of Friday, October 16.

The singer, who has sung at the Metropolitan Opera in New York and has made tours of many foreign countries, will be making his first appearance at Bennett since a highly successful concert here four years ago.

BENNETT COLLEGE NEWS

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The annual meeting of the board of trustees of Bennett College will be held here Saturday, October 17, beginning at 10 a.m.

Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, of New York City, chairman, will preside and President Willa B. Player will give her annual report. An expected highlight of the meeting will be action setting the date for ground breaking for the new dormitory.

INTERCOLLEGIATE EXAMINATIONS

Announcement of the places, dates and times for the Cooperative Intercollegiate Examinations to be administered by Bennett College to high school students in three states was made this week.

Dr. C. G. Winston, the Bennett College CIEP representative, will direct the administration of tests in the following centers:

Durham, N. C., Hillside High School, November 30, 10:00 a.m.

High Point, N. C., William Penn High School, December 1, 9:00 a.m.

Winston-Salem, N. C., Atkins High School, December 2, 9:00 a.m.

Winston-Salem, N. C., Carver High School, December 3, 9:00 a.m.

Georgetown, S. C., Howard High School, December 4, 10:00 a.m.

Greensboro, N. C., Dudley High School, December 7, 1:30 p.m.

Danville, Va., J. M. Langston High School, December 8, 10:00 a.m.

Lynchburg, Va., Dunbar High School, December 9, 10:00 a.m.

Roanoke, Va., Addison High School, December 10, 10:00 a.m.

15,000 GRANT TO BENNETT

A grant of $15,000 to Bennett College from the Danforth Foundation of St. Lois, Mo., was announced this week by President Willa B. Player.

The grant will be used exclusively for graduate fellowships between September 1960 and June 1965 for young women preparing for a career of college teaching. It is non-renewable.

Choice of the recipient, the size of the grant and the question of its renewal will be the responsibility of Bennett College.

Baltimore Bishop Will Speak Sunday

Bishop Edgar A. Love, of the Baltimore area of the Methodist Church, will deliver the address when Bennett College observes its annual Founder's Day with a program in Pfeiffer Chapel at 11 a.m., Sunday.

Bishop Love is also vice-chairman of the college trustee board. Bennett College was founded in 1873 as a co-educational institution but became a woman's college in 1926 when the late Dr. David D. Jones was called to the presidency.

Also appearing on the program will be Mrs. Grace Colbourne Gates, of Baltimore, Md., a member of the class of '34 who will speak for the graduates.

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Vesper speaker at Bennett College on Nov. 1 will be the Rev. Lorenzo Lynch, pastor of Providence Baptist Church. Dr. Clinton C. Armstrong, religion and philosophy, was the vesper speaker last Sunday.

NO TEARS AT PARTY---Miss Carole M. Byrd, a home economics freshman from Hartsville, S. C., gets a big assist from her father, Mr. Harmon Byrd, in unloading her luggage preparatory to the opening of Bennett College last week. Giving smiling approval is her mother, Mrs. Roberta Byrd, who was mistaken by some for Carole's sister.

Parents Show Interest In Bennett College's Activities

REPORT FROM DIXIE---Dr. Allan Knight Chalmers, president of the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund, tells of his 6,000 mile tour of 11 southern states in the interest of school desegregation during coffee hour at the home of President Willa B. Player at Bennett College.

PARENTS COUNCIL PANEL---The panelists shown here discussed "The Responsibility of the Home in the Total Education of the Student" when the National Council of Bennett College Parents held its annual meeting at the college. Standing is Mrs. Blanche Raiford, a member of the Bennett faculty, who was chairman of the panel and whose daughter, Josephine, was co-valedictorian of the 1959 class. Others left to right are Mrs. Pauline Donnell '35, of Greensboro; Miss Jacqueline Ball, a rising senior, of Philadelphia, Pa.; Miss Lola McAdoo '58, of Greensboro and Francis L. Grandison, head of counseling services at the college.

IT COMES OUT HERE---At first glance, it might appear that these persons are working on their income tax returns, but in reality these are Bennett College students shown taking one of the several examinations which faced them.

BENNETT CHRISTENING---Five Bennett College graduates, or former students accompanied by godparents are shown with children who were christened at the college in a traditional ceremony. Left to right: (front row) Dr. Wilbert Washington, holding son, Wilbert, III, Dr. Lyvonne Mackel Washington and godparents, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest White, holding their child; second row, Mrs. Barbara J. Taylor, godparent of Eduardo Raymond (directly behind) being held by Horace C. Chavis and Mrs. Luvenia T. Chavis; Mrs. Fannie L. Hinnant, Jr., holding son, Anthony Carlton and godparent, Mrs. Myra B. Jones, Jr., Willie Riddick, holding daughter, Sharon Denise, Mrs. Katheryne W. Whitfield, holding son, Fred Alan, Mrs. Janol C. Whitfield and godparent, Mrs. Evelyn J. Alford, center. Not shown are Mr. and Mrs. John H. Harris and son, Nathan Angelo.

BENNETT FRESHMEN AND SISTERS---Six Bennett College freshmen are shown here with four of their junior "sisters" at the conclusion of Freshman Orientation Week. Seated are Misses Carole Collins, Montclair, N. J.; Carolyn Owens, Binghamton, N. Y. and Barbara Tascoe, Montclair, N. J., all freshmen. Standing Misses LaRita Waters, junior, Jacksonville, Fla.; Dorthula Barlow, freshman, Roanoke, Va.; Mercedes Davis, freshman, New Orleans, La.; Brenda Spurlock, freshman, Roanoke, Va. and Ometria Campbell, Raeford, N. C.; Jacqueline Dove, Kinston, N. C. and Rosa Lee Shaw, Kingstree, S. C., all juniors.

WHAT DID SHE SAY?---From the expressions on their faces, these guests at the All-Bennett Luncheon were greatly amused by what had just been said by Mrs. Virginia Simmons Nyabongo '34, of Nashville, Tenn. who presided. Dr. Nyabongo is professor of French at Tennessee A & I State University. Others at speakers table left to right are: Mrs. Jessie L. Dickson, '34, of Amelia, Va.; Mrs. Julia Ross Flint '39, Cincinnati, Ohio; W. I. Gibson, director of public relations, who brought greetings from the faculty; Mrs. Fannie L. Hinnant, '45 Greensboro, N.C., president of the National Graduate Association; President Willa B. Player, Miss Millie Adams, '59, who brought greetings from the graduating class; Mrs. Frances R. Miller, St. Louis, Missouri; Mrs. Frances L. Enzlow '39 and Mrs. Celeste Fearrington '39.

BIRTHDAY FUN---Some of the youngsters at the Children's House at Bennett College who were guests at birthday party for Donald Bailey (second from left). Others left to right are: Van Allen, Michael Lee and Christine Crawford.

CHECKING CHAPEL SEATING — Two Bennett college juniors, Misses Iris Jeffries of Burlington, N. C., and Kay Frances Henry of Greensboro, N. C., check master chart to locate their assigned chapel seats for the 1959-60 academic year. Miss Jeffries is a chemistry major and Miss Henry is majoring in elementary education.

Large Loan Is Approved For Bennett

Approval of a loan of $350,000 from the Federal Housing Authority for the construction of a new dormitory was reported yesterday by Dr. F. D. Patterson of New York, board chairman as the trustees of Bennett College held their annual meeting.

The new structure, which will house 106, is expected to be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1961. Addition of this new facility will permit the college to expand its enrollment toward a goal of 500 to 550 young women.

Re-elected to new terms on the board were Dr. Henry Hitt Crane of Detroit and Mrs. Harry E. James of New York City.

Because [illegible] growth of the college, the trustees voted to amend the institution's charter to permit the holding of unlimited assets.

President Reports

President Willa B. Player gave her annual report within the frame of reference of the standards of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, noting that the college in many areas is well ahead of the minimum standards of this accrediting agency.

A highlight of the meeting was the devotional period by Bishop Edgar A. Love of Baltimore who designed it in the form of a memorial to the late Dr. W. C. Jackson of Greensboro, who served as chairman of the board for over 15 years.

Statements were presented by Mrs. James for the investment committee; by Mrs. Julius W. Cone of Greensboro, for the buildings and grounds committee; by Mrs. J. G. Meidenbauer, of Buffalo, N.Y., for the budget and finance committee; and by J. A. Tarpley of Greensboro, for the faculty and instruction committee.

Roy Lee Earns Doctorate Degree

Earns Doctorate—Roy Lee, a member of the science division at Bennett College, who was notified this week that he has been awarded the Ed.D. degree by Teachers College of Columbia University, New York City. His dissertation, "A Handbook of Micro-projection for Biology Teachers," concerns itself with intravitam staining procedures with living organisms for classroom demonstrations. Dr. Lee, a native of Rogersville, Tenn., received his A.B. and M.S. degrees from Kansas State Teachers College, Pittsburg, Kan.

ROY LEE

BENNETT STUDENTS TO HEAR HUNGARIAN PIANIST

Some of the most difficult compositions of the great masters as well as some of the most tuneful popular numbers will be heard when Stephen Kovacs, brilliant Hungarian pianist, is presented in concert at Bennett College on the night of Nov. 20.

Mr. Kovacs is a graduate of the Royal Academy of Music at Budapest and studied under the famous Hungarian composer, Zoltan Kodaly and under Dr. Emery de KeeriSzanto. He has given concerts in all of the principal cities of Europe.

Bishop Love Is Speaker At Bennett

In order to live in a world which they are capable of destroying, men must learn to live as friends and brothers, Bishop Edgar A. Love declared in his Founders' Day address at Bennett College yesterday.

The speaker, vice chairman of the college trustee board, and presiding bishop of the Baltimore Area of the Methodist Church, developed the theme, "Education and the Abundant Life."

"Since the world was young," he said, "man has been prone to [illegible] destroying the works of his own hands. In the world of today it is imperative that the jealousies and prejudices of race and nation—even the differences of religion—be forgotten, as we move to establish the oneness of God and the brotherhood of man.

World Suicide

"The one great force which is pushing man relentlessly toward world suicide is ignorance of the fact that race and culture are merely outward differences, and that man is one fellowman wherever found. This oneness must be sought for in man's basic ideals and emotions," he said.

Expressions of appreciation to the founders of the college were made by Mrs. Grace C. Gates, of Baltimore, Md., '34, for the graduates; Van S. Allen for the faculty and staff and Miss Gloria E. Brown, of the Bronx, N.Y., '60, for the student body. Allen presented a check for $1,066 to president Player representing faculty-staff contributions to the scholarship fund and Miss Brown presented a check of $700 from the student body on their pledge of $1,000 for the endowment fund, stating that the balance would be paid before the end of the academic year.

Members of the trustee board which held its annual meeting on Saturday, were platform guests and were introduced by President Player.

Bennett notes Founders Day

GREENSBORO, N.C. — In order to live in a world which they are capable of destroying, men must learn to live as friends and brothers, Bishop Edgar A. Love declared in his Founders' Day convocation address at Bennett College last Sunday.

The speaker, vice chairman of the college trustee board and presiding bishop of the Baltimore Area of the Methodist Church, spoke on "Education and the Abundant Life."

EXPRESSIONS OF appreciation to the founders of the college were made by Mrs. Grace C. Gates of Baltimore, '34, for the graduates; Van S. Allen for the faculty and staff, and Miss Gloria E. Brown of the Bronx, N.Y., '60, for the student body.

Mr. Allen presented a check for $1,066 to President Willa B. Player, representing faculty - staff contributions to the scholarship fund, and Miss Brown presented a check of $700 from the student body for the endowment fund.

Other participants were:

DR. EVELYN BERRY, New York City; Dr. Clinton C. Armstrong, Miss Laura F. Sawyer. The college choir, directed by Mrs. J. Crawford, and Clarence E. Whiteman.

OFF TO A GOOD START — Looking on somewhat apprehensively are these two Bennett college freshmen as their registration cards are being checked. This year's class, largest in the history of the Greensboro, N. C. institution, includes 13 young women who were valedictorians in high school and six who were salutatorians.

BENNETT COLLEGE NEWS

GREENSBORO, N. C.—Three one-act plays wil be presented by the combined theatre guilds at Bennett College on October 23 and 24, F. Alan Eady, director, announced this week.

The plays and their casts will be as follows: "Lima Beans" — Misses Carolyn Snead of Philadelphia and Ann Florance of Greensboro; "Overtones"—Misses Marian Isler, Goldsboro; Tresie Wright, Atlanta, Ga.; Hurlyn Derrickson, Greensboro, and Ollie Johnson, Athens, Ga.; "Lost Victory" — Jacquelyn Florance, Greensboro; Barbara Byrd Greensboro; Bonita Davis, Spartanburg, S. C.; Esther Alexander, Warrenton, N. C., and Hattie Green, Ivy, Va.

3 BENNETT STUDENTS BEGAN FIELD WORK

Three Bennett College students began field work this week with two social agencies and a school in the city.

The students, all senior sociology majors, are Misses Rebecca Farris, of Montgomery, Ala., who has been assigned to the Guilford County Welfare Department; Laura F. Sawyer, of Salisbury, N. C., assigned to the Family Service-Travelers' Aid Association; and Barbara Stewart, of Petersburg, Va., assigned to the J. C. Price Junior High School.

TWO ART STUDENTS at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C. view student exhibits in the Fine Arts Building which remained on display throughout commencement.

A Face On The Wa

They are: Misses Gloria Adams (whose painting of her roommate and Adell Taylor, of Charlotte, N textile design and several copper

STUDENTS FROM MANY lands are lending interest to American college campuses, this year. Among them, these charming young women who are studying at Bennett College in Greensboro, N.C. Left to right: Misses Soo Lee of Soul, Korea; Mari Nassau of Monrovia, Liberia; and Jemima Laryea of Ghana.

$350,000 Loan Approved For New Dormitory At Bennett College

Approval of a loan of $350,000 from the Federal Housing Authority for the construction of a new dormitory was reported as the trustees of Bennett College held their annual meeting here Saturday.

The new structure, which will house 106, is expected to be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1961. Addition of this new facility will permit the college to expand its enrollment toward a goal of 500 to 550 young women.

Re-elected to new terms on the board were Dr. Henry Hitt Crane of Detroit, Mitchigan, and Mrs. Harry E. James of New York City.

Because of the rapid growth of the college, the trustees voted to amend the institution's charter to permit the holding of unlimited assets.

President Willa B. Player gave her annual report in the frame of reference of the standards of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, noting that the college in many areas is well ahead of the minimum standards of this rigid accrediting agency.

A highlight of the meeting was the devotional period by Bishop Edgar A. Love, of Baltimore, Maryland, who designed it in the form of a memorial to the late Dr. W. C. Jackson of Greensboro, who served as chairman of the board for over

Statements were presented by Mrs. James for the investment committee; by Mrs. Julius W. Cone of Greensboro, for the buildings and grounds committee; by Mrs. J. G. Meidenbauer, of Buffalo, N. Y., for the budget and finance committee, and by Dr. J. A. Tarpley, of Greensboro, for the faculty and instruction committee.

The next meeting of the board will be held on October 22, 1960.

$15,000 To Bennett For Fellowships

GREENSBORO — A grant of $15,000 to Bennett College from the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Mo., was announced this week by President Willa B. Player.

The grant will be used exclusively for graduate fellowships between September 1960 and June 1965 for young women preparing for a career of college teaching. It is non-renewable.

BISHOP EDGAR A. LOVE SPEAKER AT BENNETT

In order to live in a world which they are capable of destroying, men must learn to live as friends and brothers, Bishop Edgar A. Love declared in his Founders' Day Convocation address at Bennett College Sunday.

The speaker, vice-chairman of the college trustee board, and presiding bishop of the Baltimore Area of the Methodist Church, developed the theme, "Education and the Abundant Life."

"Since the world was young," he said, "man has been prone to exercise a penchant for destroying the works of his own hands. In the world of today it is imperative that the jealousies and prejudices of race and nation—even the differences of religion—be forgotten as we move to establish the oness of God and the brotherhood of man."

"The one great force which is pushing man relentlessly toward world suicide is ignorance. Not ignorance of mathematics, physics or chemistry, but ignorance of the fact that race and culture are merely outward differences, and that man is our fellowman wherever found. This oneness must be sought for in man's basic ideals and emotions."

This similarity of human needs and aspirations, the prelate stated, should challenge religious educators to spend their full strength in the task of converting alien cultures to this knowledge. Nothing in the world of change abides, he pointed out, but love, and brotherhood and God.

Expressions of apprtciation to the founders of the college were brought by Mrs. Grace C. Gates, of Baltimore, Md., '34 for the graduates; Van S. Allen for the faculty and staff and Miss Gloria E. Brown, of the Bronx, N. Y., '60 for the student body. Mr. Allen presented a check for $1,066 to President Player representing faculty-staff contributions to the scholarship fund and Miss Brown presented a check of $700 from the student body on their pledge of $1,000 for the endowment fund, stating that the balance would be paid before the end of the academic year.

Dr. Evelyn Berry of New York City, recently named executive secretary of educational institutions of the Women's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Church, read the Scripture lesson and Dr. Clinton C. Armstrong gave the prayer and benediction. Miss Laura F. Sawyer, '60 led the reading of the litany of gratitude. The college choir, directed by Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, with Clarence E. Whiteman at the organ, sang Schubert's "Omnipotence" and "Souls of the Righteous" by T. Tertius Noble.

Members of the trustee board which held its annual meeting on Saturday, were platform guests and were introduced by President Player.

FIRST FROM GHANA — The first young woman from the newly formed nation of Ghana to attend Bennett College is Miss Jemima Laryea, left, who is being shown a campus landmark by Miss Carolyn Owens of Binghamton, N. Y. Each of these young women is majoring in home economics and each wishes to become a dietitian.

Area Sites For College Entrance Tests Are Listed

GREENSBORO — Announcement of the places, dates and times for the Cooperative Intercollegiate Examinations to be administered by Bennett College to high school students in three states was made this week.

Dr. C. G. Winston, the Bennett College CIEP representative, will direct the administration of tests in the following centers:

Durham, N. C., Hillisde High School, November 30, 10:00 a.m.

High Point, N. C., William Penn High School, December 1, 9:00 a.m.

Winston-Salem, N. C., Atkins High School, December 2, 9:00 a.m.

Winston-Salem, N. C., Carver High School, December 3, 9:00 a.m.

Georgetown, S. C., Howard High School, December 4, 10:00 a.m.

Greensboro, N. C., Dudley High School, December 7, 1:30 p.m.

Danville, Va., J. M. Langston High School, December 8, 10:00 a.m.

Lynchburg, Va., Dunbar High School, December 9, 10:00 a.m.

Roanoke, Virginia, Addison High School, December 10, 10:00 a.m.

ADVICE FROM AN EXPERT — When Julius Thomas of New York City, director of industrial relations for the National Urban League, visited the Bennett College campus last week, he was besieged by young women seeking to learn more about career opportunities in "non-traditional" fields. Talking with him here (left to right) are the Misses Hazel Abron of Memphis, Tenn.; Constance Spotts of Ronceverte, W. Va., and Melba Snead of Philadelphia, Pa.

Dr. C. Armstrong Vesper Speaker

GREENSBORO, N. C. — "The Soul That Sings" was the subject of the sermon delivered by Dr. Clinton C. Armstrong, instructor in religion and philosophy, at the Sunday vesper service at Bennett College.

"Through the medium of song," he declared, "we can often find the solution to life's crises." The speaker, who is also pastor of Browning Chapel Methodist church, said that songs are universal and that they provide unity and uplift. He closed his message with an a capella rendition of "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen."

BENNETT COLLEGE GETS BIG GRANT

GREENSBORO — A grant of $15,000 to Bennett College from the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Mo., was announced this week by President Willa B. Player.

The grant will be used exclusively for graduate fellowships between September 1960 and June 1965 for young women preparing for a career of college teaching. It is non-renewable.

Choice of the recipient, the size of the grant and the question of its renewal will be the responsibility of Bennett College.

STROLLING across the Bennett College campus on their first Sunday afternoon at the Greensboro, N.C. institution were Freshmen Elena Chapman of Philadelphia, left; and Patricia Fish of Princeton, N.J.

Surgeons name female member

ATLANTIC CITY — Dr. Dorothy Brown, assistant professor of surgery at Meharry Medical College, was inducted into the American College of Surgeons at a recent convention here.

Dr. Brown, a resident of Nashville, is both a teacher and a surgeon.

Six of the 10 colored surgeons inducted during the meeting were Meharry graduates.

* * *

THEY ARE: Drs. R. F. Morton, New Rochelle, N.Y.; Lewis R. Robey, Houston, Tex.; E. M. Newkirk, Columbus, Ohio; and Dr. Brown and Dr. S. L. Franklin. A seventh, Dr. Garnett T. Ice, Detroit, was trained at Meharry.

Dr. Matthew Walker, chairman of the department of surgery, was again honored by the "Matthew Walker Surgical Club."

The organization is comprised of surgeons who were trained by Dr. Walker. The former students organized and named the club in appreciation of their instructor.

Minister Cites Frontiers Ahead

"If I could choose any period in history in which to live, it would be the next 50 years," the Rev. Charles Bowles, minister of the West Market Street Methodist Church, told the Bennett College vesper audience yesterday.

Tracing man's development from the stone age to the present atomic age, Dr. Bowles called attention to the fact that the world today is full of confusion, trouble and amazing paradoxes.

"But the world's largest and most difficult frontiers are still ahead," he said, "and you are its pioneers. One of these great frontiers is that of human relationships. Can men of different skin pigmentation and different religious and economic beliefs live together?"

Stating that "unless the world belongs to all of us, it belongs to none of us," Dr. Bowles stressed the need for moral leadership in a free world. He quickly added that "before we can have a better world, we must have better people."

PLAYS AT BENNETT

Three one-act plays will be presented by the combined theater guilds at Bennett College Friday and Saturday nights at the college, F. Alan Eady, director, announced yesterday.

VESPER SPEAKER

The Rev. Charles P. Bowles, pastor of West Market Street Methodist Church, will speak at the 4 p.m. vesper service at Bennett College today.

VESPER SERMON AT BENNETT

"The Relevance of Paul on the College Campus" was the subject used by the Rev. Lorenzo A. Lynch, pastor of Providence Baptist Church, in his vesper sermon at Bennett College Sunday.

The minister drew certain parallels between the predicament in which the Apostle Paul found himself and that in which present-day college students find themselves.

"Like Paul," the minister declared, "college students find themselves frustrated, inconsistent, confused, and up against life. They find themselves forced to make certain decisions now, not after they have been graduated."

"But unlike Paul," he continued, "they are not, in many instances, turning as they should to the One who can help them. On many campuses we need to recognize that Christ is the way—the solution to our problems."

The Rev. Mr. Lynch pointed out that there have been some persons who see problems on college campuses, listing among them drinking, illicit sex, snobbishness and dishonesty. These, he said, are not the real problems, only symptoms of the spiritual weakness of our times.

DR. WILLIAM J. TRENT TO SPEAK AT BENNETT

Dr. William J. Trent, Jr., of New York City, executive director of the United Negro College Fund, will speak at the Sunday vesper service at Bennett College on November 22.

Dr. Trent, the son of Dr. W. J. Trent, Sr., president-emeritus of Livingstone College, at Salisbury, N. C., was at one time a member of the Bennett faculty.

Councilman Visits Bennett—Waldo C. Falkener, city councilman of Greensboro, N. C., pauses following Bennett College address last week for a photograph with two students who stopped him outside Pfeiffer Chapel. They are Anna E. Harris, left, of Greensboro, and Gloria Adams of Spring Garden, N. Y.

DR. RICHARDSON WILL SPEAK AT BENNETT

Dr. Harry V. Richardson, former president of Gammon Theological Seminary in Atlanta, Ga., and now president of the Interdenominational Theological Center in that city, will speak at the Sunday vesper service at Bennett College on November 15.

$15,000 Danforth Grant Awarded Bennett College

GREENSBORO, N. C. — A grant of $15,000 to Bennett College from the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Mo., was announced this week by President Willa B. Player.

The grant will be used exclusively for graduate fellowships between September 1960 and June 1965 for young women preparing for a career of college teaching. It is non-renewable.

Choice of the recipient, the size of the grant and the question of its renewal will be the responsibility of Bennett College.

GEOGRAPHY CLASS VISITS

GREENSBORO — Forty-one members of the geography class of Mrs. Minnie B. Smith at Bennett College visited the Morehead Planetarium at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, last week.

BENNETT VESPER SPEAKER

GREENSBORO—Speaker for the Sunday vesper service at Bennett College on December 8 will be Dr. Earl V. Polley, superintendent of the Scranton (Pa.) District of the Wyoming Conference of the Methodist Church.

Ignorance Held Force Bringing World Suicide

GREENSBORO, N. C. — In order to live in a world which they are capable of destroying, men must learn to live as friends and brothers, Bishop Edgar A. Love declared in his Founders' Day convocation address at Bennett college recently.

The speaker, vice chairman of the college trustee board and presiding bishop of the Baltimore area of the Methodist church, developed the theme, "Education and the Abundant Life."

"SINCE THE WORLD was young," he said, "man has been prone to exercise a penchant for destroying the works of his own hands. In the world of today it is imperative that the jealousies and prejudices of race and nation — even the differences of religion — be forgotten as we move to establish the oneness of God and brotherhood of man.

"The one great force which is pushing man relentlessly toward world suicide is ignorance. Not ignorance of mathematics, physics or chemistry, but ignorance of the fact that race and culture are merely outward differences, and that man is our fellowman wherever found. This oneness must be sought for in man's basic ideals and emotions."

Housing Project Named After Bennett Graduate

NEWARK, N. J. — When the Newark Housing authority's Spruce street becomes ready for occupancy in about two months, it will bear the name of a woman who was graduated from Bennett college in Greensboro, N. C., and spent most of her career as a teacher in Oklahoma.

The project will be named Stella Windsor Wright homes.

Mrs. Wright spent only 10 years in Newark, but made her imprint in civic and social work, including founding of Friendly Neighborhood houses in 1926.

She died in 1931, four years before the demise of her husband, Dr. Thomas H. Wright. Mrs. Wright taught in Oklahoma public schools before becoming a matron at Langston (Okla.) university.

FIRST FROM GHANA — The first young woman from the newly formed nation of Ghana to attend Bennett college is Miss Jemima Laryea, (left) who is being shown a campus landmark by Miss Carolyn Owens, of Binghampton, N. Y. Each of these young women is majoring in home economics and each wishes to become a dietitian.

ADVICE FROM AN EXPERT — When Julius Thomas of New York City, director of industrial relations, for the National Urban League, visited Bennett college campus recently he was besieged by young women seeking to learn more about career opportunities in "non-traditional fields." Talking with him (from left) are Misses Hazel Abron, Memphis, Tenn.; Constance Spotts, Ronceverte, W. Va., and Melba Snead of Philadelphia, Pa.

Bennett College To Have New $350,000 Dormitory

GREENSBORO, N. C. —Approval of a loan of $350,000 from the Federal Housing Authority for the construction of a new dormitory was reported at the annual meeting of the trustees of Bennett College.

The new structure, which will house 106 students, is expected to be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1961. Addition of this new facility will permit the college to expand its enrollment toward a goal of 500 to 550 young women.

RE-ELECTED—to new terms on the board were Dr. Henry Hitt Crane, of Detroit, and Mrs. Harry E. James, of New York City.

Because of the rapid growth of the college, the trustees voted to amend the institution's charter to permit the holding of unlimited assets.

PRESIDENT W. Ha. B. Player gave her annual report. She mentioned the standards of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and stated that the college in many areas is well ahead of the minimum standards of this rigid accrediting agency.

A highlight of the meeting was the devotional period by Bishop Edgar A. Love, of Baltimore. The service was in the form of a memorial to the late Dr. W. C. Jackson, of Greensboro, who served as chairman of the board for over 15 years.

Statements were presented by Mrs. James for the investment committee; by Mrs. Julius W. Cone of Greensboro, for the buildings and grounds committee; by Mrs. J. G. Meidenbauer, of Buffalo, for the budget and finance committee, and by Dr. J. A. Tarpley, of Greensboro, for the faculty and instruction committee.

STUDY IN CONFLICT—The old story of that irresistible force meeting an immovable object is retold in this scene from "Lost Victory," produced by the Bennett College Theatre Guild. Esther Alexander, left, of Warrenton, N. C., cast as Paula, and Jacqueline Florance, of Greensboro, N. C., cast as Agatha, her tyrannical aunt, clench their fists during this tense exchange while Bonita Davis of Spartanburg, S. C., cast as Annie, a servant, watches apprehensively.

Friday, November 6, 1959

Assist United Fund Agency
Bennett Students Help At Day Nursery

Three Bennett College social science majors are taking their field work at the Metropolitan Day Nursery, 1039 Armstrong St., one of the United Fund agencies which will benefit from the current campaign for $816,718.11.

The nursery school staff of five full-time workers, headed by Mrs. Mattie P. Eccles, is assisted by these young women in caring for 43 children of working parents. The youngsters range in age from 2 to 6 and there is an almost endless waiting list.

"We have outgrown our present quarters," Mrs. Eccles explained, while keeping a watchful eye on a group of youngsters using the swings in their abbreviated play area, "and we have a tract of land on Benbow Road where we hope to erect a building large enough to care for 50 children."

This would be easy, except for the fact that the sum of $75,000 is needed in order to make this dream a reality. The school, only one of its type in the city accepted as a UF agency, is licensed to care for 37 children, but may take six more in "an emergency."

"Trouble is," Mrs. Eccles explains, "that the emergency never ends."

The school, which is open from 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, was started in a house on Sampson Street back in 1947. Its sponsor then, and its strong supporter now, was the Metropolitan Council of Negro Women. The following year, it moved to the basement of a church at the corner of High and Armstrong Streets and later to its present location.

Since 1948, Bennett College students, majors in social science and in elementary education, have been "helping out" at the school as a part of their field work experience. The young women there now are Annie Reid, of Davidson, Gloria Williams of Winston-Salem and Claire Kenny of Charleston, S. C.

NURSERY WORKERS: Annie Reid, left, of Davidson, and Gloria Williams of Winston-Salem, both Bennett College sophomores, get their field experience working with children at the Metropolitan Day Nursery on Armstrong Street. The nursery, a United Fund agency, cares for 43 children of working parents, Monday through Friday each week.

3 Plays Presented At Bennett College

GREENSBORO — Three one-act plays were presented by the Bennett College Theatre Guild on Friday and Saturday nights in the Little Theatre.

The plays, which ran the gamut from fantastic comedy, to biting satire, to tragedy, and were directed by F. Alan Eady, were:

"Lima Beans" by Alfred Kreymborg, "Lost Victory" by North Baker, and "Overtones" by Alice Gerstenburg. Carolyn Snead, freshman, of Philadelphia and Ann Florance, freshman, of Greensboro, made impressive debuts as the husband and wife, respectively, in "Lima Beans."

In "Overtones," Marion Isler, junior, of Goldsboro, and Hurlyn Derrickson, freshman, of Greensboro, were cast as two cultured women while their primitive selves were played respectively by Tressie Wright, sophomore of Atlanta, Ga., and Ollie Johnson, sophomore, of Athens, Ga. The conflicting dialogue provoked considerable laughter.

In "Lost Victory," Jacquelyn Florance, sophomore, of Greensboro, was cast as Agatha Van Dorm, a tyrant who ruled with a merciless hand over two of her sisters, only to discover too late how desolate her life has really been. Esther Alexander, junior, of Warrenton, as the niece who was largely responsible for opening her aunt's eyes, gave a convincing performance.

Others in the cast were Barbara Byrd, sophomore, of Greensboro; Bonita Davis, freshman, of Spartanburg, S. C. and Hattie Green, senior, of Ivy, Va.

EARNS DOCTORATE — Roy Lee, a member of the science division at Bennett College, who was notified this week that he has been awarded the Ed. D. degree by Teachers College of Columbia University, New York City. His dissertation, "A handbook of Microprojection for Biology Teachers," concerns itself with intravitam staining procedures with living organisms for classroom demonstrations. Dr. Lee, a native of Rogersville, Tenn., received his A.B. and M.S. degrees from Kansas State Teachers College, Pittsburg, Kan.

VESPERS SPEAKER

Michael Deouell, vice consul of the consulate of Israel in Atlanta, will be the speaker for the 4 p.m. vesper service in Pfeiffer Chapel at Bennett College at 4 p.m. today.

Tolley Discusses Sanctification

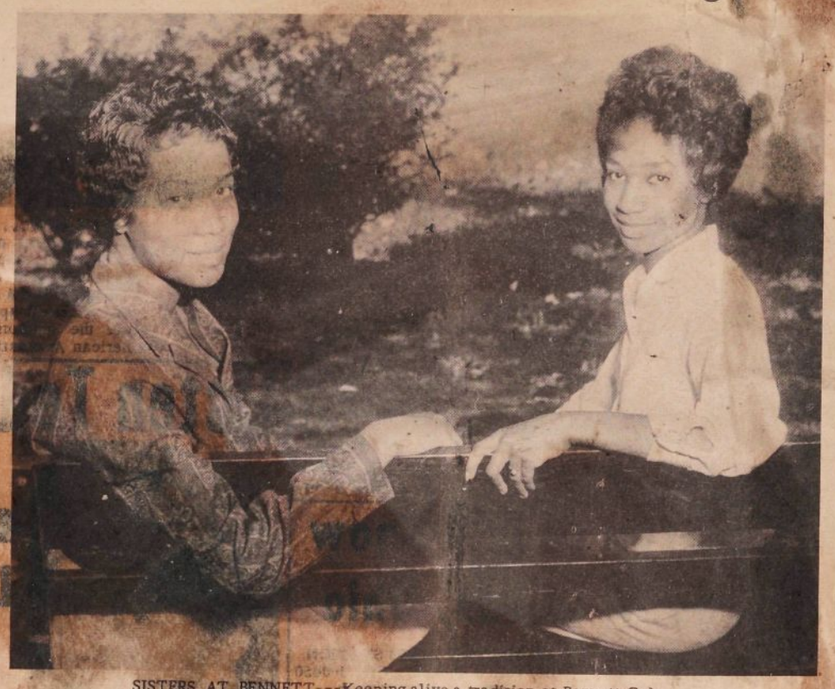
"Peace will not come or stay without the help of each of us," Dr. Earl V. Tolley, of Scranton, Pa., told the Bennett College vesper audience yesterday.

Dr. Tolley, superintendent of the Scranton District of the Methodist Church and a member of the Bennett trustee board, spoke on the theme of sanctification — the process by which one is morally and spiritually purified by God.

"The call has come for you and me to sanctify ourselves," he said, "for the sake of little children all around us for whom we are morally and spiritually responsible; for the sake of the community, and for the sake of the world."

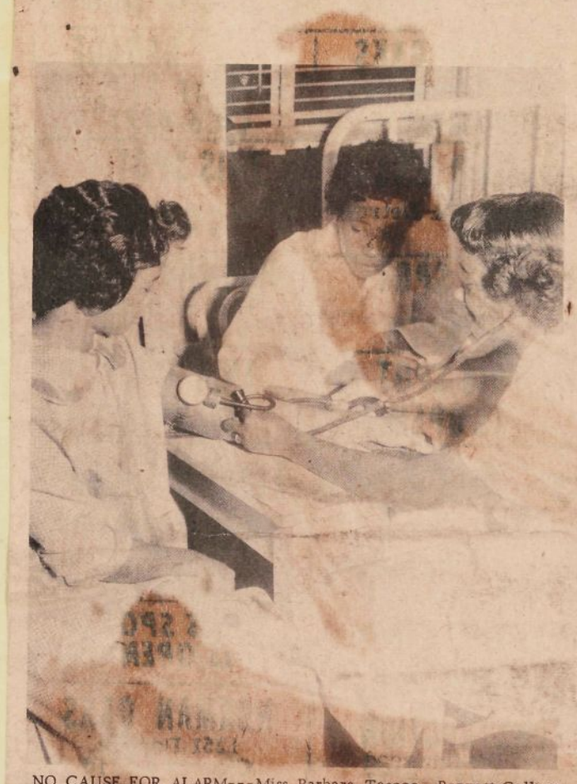
Students Get Expert Advice & Leadership At Bennett College

COUNCILMAN VISITS BENNETT---Waldo C. Falkener, city councilman of Greensboro, N. C., pauses following Bennett College address recently for a photograph with two students who stopped him outside Pfeiffer Chapel. They are Misses Anna E. Harris, left, of Greensboro, and Gloria Adams, of Spring Garden, N. Y.



SISTERS AT BENNETT---Keeping alive a tradition at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., are the Wynne sisters of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. At left is Valaida, a junior commercial education major and Audrey, a freshman elementary education major. Both are scholarship students.

BENNETT CAMPUS FASHIONS---Shown wearing what the well-dressed student at Bennett College is wearing this year for different occasions are, left to right, Misses Patricia Hargrove, of Fayetteville, N. C., wearing plaid bermuda skirt, white blouse, black cardigan and leatards; Von Moore, of Norfolk, Va., wearing white shirt blouse, sleeveless sweater vest and straight skirt; Melba Snead, of Philadelphia, Pa., wearing striped sport coat, white blouse and straight skirt with pockets; Valaida Wynne, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., wearing poplin greatcoat with raccoon collar, and Cecelia Gilmore, of New Canaan, Conn., wearing casual cape, black sweater and slacks.



NO CAUSE FOR ALARM---Miss Barbara Tascoe, Bennett College freshman from Montclair, N. J., receives assurance from Dr. Carole Deloatch, of Meharry Medical College, that her blood pressure is perfectly normal as Miss Betty Crockett, a senior, of Charlotte, N. C., makes a record of it on the chart during annual health examinations at the college.

ADVICE FROM AN EXPERT---When Julius Thomas, of New York City, director of industrial relations for the National Urban League, visited the Bennett College campus recently, he was beseiged by young women seeking to learn more about career opportunities in "non-traditional fields." Talking with him here (left to right) are Misses Hazel Abron, of Memphis, Tenn.; Constance Spotts, of Ronceverte, W. Va.; and Melba Snead, of Philadelphia, Penn.

Fund Position Is Accepted By Vanstory

C. M. Vanstory Jr., president of the Security National Bank, has again agreed to serve as chairman of the Greensboro campaign for the United Negro College Fund which is now in progress.

Serving as cochairman in the local drive for $5,000 is Dr. J. A. Tarpley, principal of Dudley High School. Mrs. Pauline Foster, principal of the Bluford School, is this year's vice chairman.

This year's national goal of $2,250,000 is being sought in campaigns conducted in over 125 communities. Of the 33 institutions in the UNCF, six are located in North Carolina and one —Bennett College—is in Greensboro.

The UNCF was founded and chartered in 1944 and, as the first of America's "education chests," it has set the pattern for some 40 other groups of colleges now campaigning collectively. Money raised by this organization provides 10 per cent of the operating costs of its members.

It provides scholarships for promising students who otherwise would not be able to continue their education; helps to provide needed classroom, laboratory and library equipment and helps to improve salary scales for teachers.

The local campaign is scheduled to close on Dec. 12.

EARNS DOCTORATE—Roy Lee, a member of the science division at Bennett College, who was notified this week that he has been awarded the Ed.D. degree by Teachers College of Columbia University, New York City. His dissertation, "A Handbook of Microprojection for Biology Teachers," concerns itself with intravitam staining procedures with living organisms for classroom demonstrations. Dr. Lee, a native of Rogersville, Tenn., received his A.B. and M.S. degrees from Kansas State Teachers College, Pittsburg, Kan.

Author To Talk At College

J. Saunders Redding, one of the nation's outstanding authors, who in 1944 won the North Carolina Mayflower Society Award for his "No Day of Triumph," will speak three times at Bennett College Friday.

Redding, at present a Guggenheim fellow, on leave from his professorship at Hampton Institute, Va., will appear first at the 10 a.m. chapel hour, speaking on "Communication—the Foundation for Democracy and World Peace." He next will conduct a forum in the Science Assembly from 10:40 to 12:30 and will make his final appearance at 8 p.m. in the Little Theatre, reading from his own literary works.

Bennett College Seniors Begin Student Teaching

Thirty-one Bennett College seniors majoring in secondary education, begin their student teaching on Monday in 10 North Carolina high schools.

Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, chairman of the social science division and director of the secondary education program, said that these students would be teaching for the next six weeks in the following locations:

DUDLEY HIGH SCHOOL, Greensboro: Misses Lillie Wright, Hewlett, N. Y.; Betty Jo Wright, Shelby, N. C.; Jacqueline Ball, Philadelphia, Pa.; Laverne Chavis, Greensboro; Edith Tucker, Elkin, N. C.; Dolores Snellings, Raleigh, N. C.; Pearl Gibbs, Moncks Corner, S. C.; Ethel Graves, Yanceyville, N.C.; Lila Blanding, Sumter, S. C.; Dorothy McMillan, Winston-Salem; Jacqueline Herbin, Greensboro; Helen Houston, Nashville, Tenn.; Edna Zachary, Hertford, N. C. and Mesdames Frances Phipps, Greensboro and Marie Moore, Winston-Salem.

IMMANUEL LUTHERAN COLLEGE, Greensboro: Miss Faye McAllister, Houston, Texas.

LINCOLN JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL, Greensboro: Misses Hiawatha Foster, Charlotte; Mary Boone, Sanford, N. C.; Gloria Greene, Timmonsville, S. C.; Juanita Spear, Bridgeport, Conn.; Ethel Riggsbee, Chapel Hill, N. C. and Louise Pittman, Charlotte.

PRICE HIGH SCHOOL, Greensboro: Misses Dorothy Jordan, Goldsboro, N. C.; Theresa Kearney, Greensboro, and Janice Robinson, McLean, Va.

RENA BULLOCK SCHOOL, Greensboro: Miss Frances McCollum, Greensboro.

SEDALIA HIGH SCHOOL, Sedalia, N. C.; Miss Marilyn Neal, Columbia, S. C.

DOUGLASS HIGH SCHOOL, Leaksville, N. C.; Miss Lucy Martin, Reidsville.

JOHNSON COUNTY TRAINING SCHOOL, Smithfield, N. C.; Miss Marilyn Frazier, Smithfield.

CARVER HIGH SCHOOL, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Miss Louise Pope, South Pittsburg, Tenn.

DUNBAR HIGH SCHOOL, Lexington, N. C.; Misses Yvonne McBride, Sumter, S. C., and Arneese Woods, Darlington, S.C.

Ten elementary education majors who are also doing their student teaching in four Greensboro schools, are:

DAVID D. JONES SCHOOL: Misses Barbara Pendergraft, Chapel Hill, N. C., and Beatrice Gregory, Princeton, N. J.

F. D. BLUFORD SCHOOL: Misses Mary Ann Wilmer, Camden, N. J.; Joan Cogdell, Clarksville, Del., and Mary Ann Musgrave, Mt. Olive, N. C.

J. C. PRICE SCHOOL: Misses Judith Thompson, Washington, D. C.; Sheila Caesar, Brooklyn, N. Y., and Juanita Owens, Petersburg, Va.

DAVID CALDWELL SCHOOL: Misses Alma Washington, Beaufort, S. C., and Maderia Young, Snow Hill, Alabama.

Conference Roll Call To Be Held At Bennett

The annual roll call of the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church will be held at Bennett College in the Little Theater today. Bishop Edgar A. Love of the Baltimore Conference will preside.

Superintendents of the four districts in the conference will report the amount of money which each has allocated to Bennett for the 1959-60 school year. The delegates will be guests of the college at a luncheon in the Student Union at noon.

Neutralists Dodge Issues, Mayflower Winner Says

"In the context of the historical present and in a world groving increasingly interdependent, no single nation is strong enough to maintain the neutrality she may declare," J. Saunders Redding, teacher, author and Guggenheim Fellow, told a Bennett College audience today in a speech on "Neutrality and Neutralism."

"Indeed, it (neutrality) is so unnatural a stance as to require the crutches of international agreements. . . . A nation cannot just decide to be neutral. Other nations must agree to respect that neutrality," he said.

Redding, who received the North Carolina Mayflower Society Award for his "No Day of Triumph" in 1943, defined neutrality as a "political posture or policy having juridical status" while neutralism is an "intellectual attitude . . . an equation of the two is highly questionable and yet it is an equation which westerners are prone to make."

He said that neutralism is a state of mind which permits the neutralist to avoid making moral choices and it is the prevailing state of mind of all those countries only recently freed from imperialist domination.

"What the neutralist does is to straddle the great and fundamental moral issues involved in the cold war by professing to feel neither blessed by the operations of the American Ford Foundation nor threatened by the activities of Russian technical advisors. The neutralist maintains a calculated and, perhaps, calculating indifference," Redding stated.

He maintained that in the current crisis democracy has greater survival potential than communism because it is more resilient but urged Americans to return to their democratic heritage.

"If the people of the west do not return to this concept of democracy, and if they do not embody this concept in fresh words and locutions, as well as daring actions, that cannot be misunderstood by the most illiterate of men, then our communication has failed. And when communication fails between a great power, such as ours, and other powers, the peace of the world is endangered and the peace of the world can be lost," he concluded.

Redding is currently on leave from his professional duties at Hampton Institute. "No Day of Triumph" concerns the social and economic problems of the Negro. His other works include "On Being a Negro in America," "An American in India" and "Lonesome road."

Bennett Student Gets Scholarship

Miss Doris Luck of Asheboro, a junior at Bennett College has been awarded a National Methodist Scholarship by the Board of Education of the Methodist Church. Miss Luck is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Mitchell, 731 Frank Street.

National Methodist Scholarship awards cover tuition and fees up to $500 and are granted on the basis of superior academic standing, leadership ability, active churchmanship, character, personality and need.

About 500 such awards are given annually by the Methodist Board of Education in its nationwide scholarship program. More than 5,000 National Methodist Scholarships have been granted since the program was started in 1945.

Funds for the support of National Methodist Scholarships are received from local Methodist churches on the basis of a church-wide offering on Methodist Student Day, the second Sunday in June.

Minister Speaks At Bennett

"The Relevance of Paul on the College Campus" was the subject used by the Rev. Lorenzo A. Lynch, pastor of Providence Baptist Church, in his vesper sermon at Bennett College yesterday.

The minister drew certain parallels between the predicament in which the Apostle Paul found himself and that in which present-day college students find themselves.

"Like Paul," the minister declared, "college students find themselves frustrated, inconsistent and up against life. They find themselves forced to make certain decisions now, not after they have been graduated.

"But unlike Paul," he continued, "they are not, in many instances, turning as they should to the One who can help them. On many campuses we need to recognize that Christ is the way—the solution to our problems."

The Rev. Mr. Lynch pointed out that there have been some persons who see problems on college campuses, listing among them drinking, illicit sex, snobbishness and dishonesty. These, he said, are not the real problems, only symptoms of the spiritual weakness of our times.

10 Bennett seniors listed in Who's Who

GREENSBORO N.C. — Ten Bennett College seniors last week were notified that they have been selected for inclusion in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" for 1959-60.

They are Misses Sylvania Black, Marlin, Texas; Mary Boone, Sanford; Gloria E. Brown, Bronx, N.Y.; Helen Houston, Nashville, Tenn.; Nancy Kirby, Haddonfield, N.J.; Lucy Martin, Reidsville; Ethel Riggsbee, Chapel Hill; And also Laura Sawyer, Salisbury, and Edith Tucker, Elkin; and Mrs. Marie Moore, Winston-Salem.

Bennett Co-eds In "Who's Who"

GREENSBORO — Ten Bennett College seniors this week were notified, that they have been selected for inclusion in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" for 1959-60.

They are: Misses Sylvania Black, Marlin, Texas; Mary Boone, Sanford, N. C.; Gloria E. Brown, Bronx, N.Y.; Helen Houston, Nashville, Tenn.; Nancy Kirby, Haddonfield, N.J.; Lucy Martin, Reidsville, N.C.; Ethel Riggsbee, Chapel Hill, N.C.; Laura Sawyer, Salisbury, N.C.; and Edith Tucker, Elkin, N.C.; and Mrs. Marie Moore, Winston-Salem.

AUTHOR AT BENNETT—J. Saunders Redding, outstanding author and professor of creative literature at Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va., stresses a point with these Bennett College freshmen in discussion which followed his address at the Greensboro (N. C.) institution. Left to right: Misses Bonita Davis of Spartanburg, S. C.; Alice Airall of Kingston, Jamaica, BWI, and Maxine West of Greensboro.

3 Bennett Students In Field Work

GREENSBORO — Three Bennett College students began field work this week with two social agencies and a school in the city.

The students, all senior sociology majors, are Misses Rebecca Farris, of Montgomery, Ala., who has been assigned to the Guilford County Welfare Department; Laura F. Sawyer, of Salisbury, assigned to the Family Service-Travelers' Aid Association, and Barbara Stewart, of Petersburg, Va., assigned to the J. C. Price Junior High School.

Cooperative Examination Time Set At Greensboro

GREENSBORO — Announcement of the places, dates and times for the Cooperative Intercollegiate Examinations to be administered by Bennett College to high school students in three states was made this week.

Dr. C. G. Winston, the Bennett College CIEP representative, will direct the administration of tests in the following centers:

Durham, Hillside High School, November 30, 10:00 a. m.

High Point, William Penn High School, December 1, 9:00 a. m.

Winston - Salem, Atkins High School, December 2, 9:00 a. m.

Winston - Salem, Carver High School, December 3, 9:00 a. m.

Georgetown, S. C., Howard High School, December 4, 10:00 a. m.

Greensboro, Dudley High School, December 7, 1:30 p. m.

"Relevance Of Paul On College Campus" Topic Of Rev. Lynch's Bennett Address

GREENSBORO — "The Relevance of Paul on the College Campus" was the subject used by the Rev. Lorenzo A. Lynch, pastor of Providence Baptist Church, in his vesper sermon at Bennett College Sunday.

The minister drew certain parallels between the predicament in which the Apostle Paul found himself and that in which present-day college students find themselves.

"Like Paul," the minister declared, "college students find themselves frustrated, inconsistent, confused, and up against life. They find themselves forced to make certain decisions NOW, not after they have been graduated."

"But unlike Paul," he continued, "they are not, in many instances, turning as they should to the One who can help them. On many campuses we need to recognize that Christ is the way—the solution to our problems."

The Rev. Mr. Lynch pointed out that there have been some persons who see problems on college campuses, listing among them drinking, illicit sex, snobbishness and dishonesty. These, he said, are not the real problems, only symptoms of the spiritual weakness of our times.

Women's Choir Radio Dec. 27

GREENSBORO — The 40-voice women's choir of Bennett College, directed by Mrs. Mary M. Crawford, will participate in the "Negro College Choirs" series on the ABC radio network on December 27 with a program of music for the New Year.

NATIONAL SOCIAL WHIRL

By Undine Davis Young

MISS Lady Ann Shivers, contralto of Aberdeen, Miss., a 1959 graduate of Bennett College, presently enrolled in the Westminster Choir College at Princeton, N. J., is a member of the college's symphonic choir which appeared at Carnegie Hall, New York on Oct. 29, 30, 31 and Nov. 1.

Selection of Miss Shivers in her first year of study is considered a signal honor. The choir, which appeared with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, Eleazar de Carvalho conducting, performed "Rasga o'Coracao" (The Tearing of the Heart) by Heitor Villa-Lobos, considered the greatest contemporary composer in Brazil.

BENNETT HEARS AFRICAN LEADER

Stating that "the African people in South Africa are today the most miserable people in the world," Joshua Nkomo, president of the Southern Rhodesia African National Congress, urged the "help and friendship of the American people" in an adress at Bennett College on Monday.

Mr. Nkomo, who is on a speaking tour of the United States, in discussing his hopes for the eventual freedom of all Africa, said that if we regain our dignity, it is not just ours, but it is dignity restored to the dark people everywhere."

CHAMBER MUSIC HEARD AT BENNETT

A chamber music recital featuring Howard T. Pearsall, piano, and Hosea Taylor, saxophone-clarinet—both of the A&T College music faculty—was given in Pfeiffer Chapel at Bennett College on Wednesday morning.

Their program included Ravel's "Pavane" and the second movement from "Sonata for E-flat Saxophone, Opus 19" by Paul Creston. As an encore, the duo performed "Summertime."

BENNETT SPEAKER

Michael Deouell, vice consul of the Consulate of Israel at Atlanta, Ga., will speak at the 4 p.m. vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, Nov. 29.

Bennett Vesper Speaker Named

Dr. Harry V. Richardson, president of the newly created Interdenominational Theological Center in Atlanta, Ga., will speak at the 4 p.m. vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday.

Dr. Richardson, who left his post as president of Gammon Theological Seminary in Atlanta, to take the new position, served for a number of years as chaplain at Tuskegee Institute, Tuskegee, Ala.

He was educated at Western Reserve University in Cleveland and the Harvard Divinity School.

Dr. Redding addresses Bennett College group

GREENSBORO, N.C.—In the current cold war between democracy and communism, democracy has the greater potential to survive, J. Saunders Redding, award-winning author and professor of creative literature at Hampton Institute, declared in an address at Bennett College last week.

Mr. Redding, at present on leave on a Guggenheim fellowship, spoke on "Neutrality and Neutralism" at the Friday morning chapel assembly.

He defined neutrality as "a political posture or policy having juridical status" and defined neutralism as "an intellectual attitude." An equation of the two, he pointed out, is highly questionable, but added "it is an equation which westerners are prone to make."

"NEUTRALISM," said Mr. Redding, "is a state of mind which permits the neutralist to avoid making moral choices. It is the prevailing state of mind of all those countries recently freed from imperialistic domination."

"If the people of the west do not state their democratic concept in fresh words and locutions, as well as daring actions that cannot be misunderstood by the most illiterate of men, then our communication has failed.

"And when communication fails between a great power such as ours, and other powers, the peace of the world is endangered and can be lost."

Mr. Redding's visit to the campus was sponsored by the Freshman English Core, Miss Georgia B. Latimer, chairman, and the Freshman Studies Committee headed by Mrs. David D. Jones.

AT COLLEGE PUBLIC RELATIONS MEET....Howard S. Curtis, left, secretary of Brown University and president of the American College Public Relations Association chats with college publicity people while attending the annual meeting of the Mason-Dixon District held at the fashionable Hotel Greenbriara at White Sulphur Springs, W. Virginia. The others are: Dr. Charles Ray, director of the News Bureau, North Carolina College at Durham; Mrs. Revella Clay Briscoe, director of publicity, Morgan State College, Baltimore; W. I. Gibson, director of public relations, Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C. and Moses Belton, director of public relations, Johnson C. Smith, University, Charlotte, N. C.

Seven colleges of predominant Negro enrollments were represented at the meet.

Earns Doctorate

Roy Lee, a member of the science division at Bennett College, was recently notified he had been awarded the Ed.D. degree by Teachers College of Columbia University, New York City.

Dr. Lee, a native of Rogersville, Tenn., received his A. B. and M. S. degrees from Kansas State Teachers College, Pittsburg, Kan.

Bennett Seniors Teach At 10 N. C. High Schools

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Thirty - one Bennett college seniors majoring in secondary education, began their student teaching on Monday in 10 Northe Carolina high schools.

Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, chairman of the social science division and director of the secondary education program, said that these students would be teaching for the next six weeks in the following locations:

DUDLEY HIGH SCHOOL, Greensboro: Misses Lillie Wright,, Hewlett,, N. Y.; Betty Jo Wright,, Shelby, N. C.; Jacqueline Ball,, Philadelphia, Pa.; Laverne Chavis, Greensboro, Edith Tucker, Elkin, N. C.; Dolores Snellings, Raleigh; Pearl Gibbs, Moncks Corner, S. C.; Ethel Graves, Yanceyville, N. C.; Lila Blanding, Sumter, S. C.; Dorothy McMillan, Winston - Salem; Jacqueline Herbin, Greensboro; Helen Houston, Nashville, Tenn.;; Edna Zachary, Hertford, N. C. and Mesdames Frances Phipps, Greensboro and Marie Moore, Winston - Salem.

Immanuel Lutheran college,, Greensboro: Miss Faye McAllister, Houston, Texas.

Lincoln Junior High school, Greensboro: Misses Hiawatha Foster, Charlotte; Mary Boone, Sanford, N. C.; Gloria Greene, Timmonsville, S. C.; Juanita Spear, Bridgeport, Conn.; Ethel Riggsbee, Chapel Hill, N. C. and Louise Pittman, Charlotte.

PRICE HIGH SCHOOL, Greensboro: Misses Dorothy Jordan, Goldsboro, N. C.; Theresa Kearney, Greensboro, and Janice Robinson, McLean, Va.

Rena Bullock School, Greensboro: Misses Frances MaCallum, Greensboro.

Sedalia High School,, Sedalia, N. C.; Miss Marilyn Neal,, Columbia, S. C.

Douglass High School,, Leaksville, N. C.: Miss Lucy Martin, Reidsville.

Johnson County Training School, Smithfield, N. C.: Miss Marilyn Frazier, Smithfield.

Carver High School,, Winston - Salem, N. C.: Miss Louise Pope, South Pittsburg, Tenn.

Dunbar High School, Lexington, N. C.: Misses Yvonne McBride, Sumter, S. C., and Arnesse Woods, Darlington, S. C.

TEN ELEMENTARY education majors who are also doing their student teaching in four Greensboro schools, are:

David D. Jones School: Misses Barbara Pendergraft, Chapel Hill,, N. C., and Beatrice Gregory, Princeton, N. J.

F. D. Bluford School: Misses Mary Ann Wilmer, Camden, N. J.; Joan Cogdell,, Clarksville, Del., and Mary Ann Musgrave,, Mt. Olive, N. C.

J. C. PRICE SCHOOL: Misses Judith Thompson, Washington, D. C.; Shelia Caesar, Brooklyn, N. Y., and Juanita Owens, Petersburg, Va.

David Caldwell School: Misses Alma Washington, Beaufort, S. C., and Madeira Young, Snow Hill, Ala.

Vespers Speaker

Dr. William J. Trent Jr. of New York City, executive director of the United Negro College Fund, will speak at the Sunday vesper service at Bennett College on Nov. 22.

Dr. Trent, the son of Dr. W. J. Trent Sr., president-emeritus of Livingstone College, at Salisbury, N. C., was at one time a member of the Bennett faculty.

Harris-White Wedding Date Announced

MISS GWENDOLYN HARRIS

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde J. Harris of Greensboro, N. C., announce the engagement of their daughter, Gwendolyn, and First Lieutenant John H. White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter White, also of Greensboro.

The wedding is planned for December 26 at Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal Catholic Church.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Bennett College and is employed as an instructor in the James B. Dudley High School here. Miss Harris formerly taught in the public schools of Newport News, Virginia.

Lt. White, a graduate of the Agricultural and Technical College of Greensboro (A&T) is now serving as an electronics instructor with the United States Air Force in Waco, Texas.

Life's Struggle Is Discussed

Life is a continuous struggle between good and evil forces and man must take sides, Dr. Harry V. Richardson of Atlanta stated in his vesper sermon at Bennett College yesterday.

Dr. Richardson, who is president of the newly-created Interdenominational Theological Center in Atlanta, as the former president of Gammon Theological Seminary in that city. The subject of his message was "Angels, Devils and Me."

The devil, he pointed out, stands for the destructive things in life while God stands for what is good and blessed. "Look around you," he said, "and you will see angels in action—persons who are the embodiment of the goodness called God."

"Set your heart on the highest you know and angels will come to minister unto you. No good hope is impossible," he said.

J. SAUNDERS REDDING SPEAKS AT BENNETT

In the current cold war between democracy and communism, democracy has the greater potential to survive, J. Saunders Redding, award-winning author and professor of creative literature at Hampton Institute declared in an address at Bennett College last week.

Mr. Redding, at present on leave on a Guggenheim fellowship, spoke on "Neutrality and Neutralism" at the Friday morning chapel assembly.

He defined neutrality as "a political posture or policy having juridical status" and defined neutralism as "an intellectual attitude." An equation of the two, he pointed out, is highly questionable, but added "yet it is an equation which westerners are prone to make."

"Neutralism," said Mr. Redding, "is a state of mind which permits the neutralist to avoid making moral choices. It is the prevailing state of mind of all those countries recently freed from imperialistic domination.

"If the people of the west do not state their democratic concept in fresh word and locutions, as well as daring actions that cannot be misunderstood by the most illiterate of men, then our communication has failed. And when communication fails between a great power such as ours, and other powers, the peace of the world is endangered and can be lost."

Mr. Redding, whose visit to the campus was sponsored by the Freshman English Core, Miss Georgia B. Latimer, chairman, and the Freshman Studies Committee headed by Mrs. David D. Jones later conducted a two-hour forum. Friday night, in the Little Theatre, he read selections from some of his literary works, among them "An American in India," "Stranger and Alone" and "Lonesome Road."

LYNCH TO SPEAK

The Rev. Lorenzo Lynch, pastor of Providence Baptist Church here, will speak at the Bennett College vesper service in Pfeiffer Chapel at 4 p.m. today.

Vesper speaker at Bennett College Sunday will be Dr. William J. Trent Jr. of NYC, executive director of the United Negro College Fund. He is the son of the president-emeritus of Livingstone College.

SCHOLARSHIPS AWARDED TO BENNETT STUDENTS

Five Bennett College students —three juniors, a freshman and a senior—were notified this week that they have been awarded scholarships by the Board of Education of the Methodist Church.

They are: Misses Helen Houston, senior, Nashville, Tenn.; Lorraine Ramsey, freshman, Amonate, Va.; Doris Luck, Asheboro, N. C., Jo Ann Martin, Leaksville, N. C., and Idajeanne Robinson, Oberlin, Ohio, all juniors.

The scholarships cover tuition and fees up to $500 and are granted on the basis of superior academic standing, leadership ability, active churchmanship, character, personality and need.

About 500 such awards for given annually by the board in its nationwide scholarship program. Funds are received from local Methodist Churches on the basis of a church-wide offering on Methodist Student Day, the second Sunday in June.

Magazine Honors 10 At Bennett

GREENSBORO — Ten Bennett College seniors this week were notified that they have been selected for inclusion in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" for 1959-60.

They are:

Misses Sylvania Black, Marlin, Texas; Mary Boone, Sanford, N. C.; Gloria E. Brown, Bronx, N. Y.; Helen Houston, Nashville, Tenn.; Nancy Kirby, Haddonfield, N. J.; Lucy Martin, Reidsville, N. C.; Ethel Riggsbee, Chapel Hill, N. C.; Laura Sawyer, Salisbury, N. C., and Edith Tucker, Elkin, N. C., and Mrs. Marie Moore, Winston-Salem.

Miss Black, a commercial education major, is a member and former president of the Commercial Education Club, a member of the Library Club, the Marshall Board, the NAACP and a Sunday School teacher. Miss Boone, an English major, plans a teaching career. She was valedictorian at the W. B. Wicker High School in Sanford, N. C.

Miss Brown, a sociology major, is president of the Student Senate and recipient of the Faculty Scholarship for 1959-60. Miss Houston, an English major who intended a career as librarian, is a member of the English Club, of the Modern Language Club.

Miss Kirby, a sociology major, is president of the David D. Jones Student Christian Association, a member of the Marshall Board. Miss Martin is a commercial education major who plans to teach. Mrs. Moore, an English major, is president of the senior class and a member of Alpha Kappa Mu, the English Club and the Bennett Banner staff.

Miss Riggsbee, a physical education major, is a member of the senior choir, the modern dance group, YWCA and Woman's Athletic Association. Miss Sawyer, a sociology major who plans to study law, is student representative to the Central Administrative Committee. Miss Tucker, a home economics major who plans to teach, is a member of Omicron Eta Chi.

Gwendolyn Harris

MR. AND MRS. CLYDE J. HARRIS of Greensboro, N. C., announce the engagement of their daughter, Gwendolyn, and First Lieut. John H. White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter White, also of Greensboro. The wedding is planned for Dec. 26. The bride-elect is a graduate of Bennett College and is a popular school teacher here. She formerly taught in Newport News, Va. Lieutenant White, a graduate of the Agricultural and Technical College of Greensboro, is currently serving as an electronics instructor with the U. S. Air Force in Waco, Tex.

WHEN YOU FINISH READING YOUR AFRO PASS IT ALONG TO A FRIEND

AUTHOR AT BENNETT — J. Saunders Redding, outstanding author and professor of creative literature at Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va., stresses a point with these Bennett freshmen in discussion which followed his recent address at the Greensboro college. Left to right, Misses Bonita Davis, Spartanburg, S.C.; Alice Airall, Kingston, Jamaica, BWI, and Maxine West, Greensboro.

Inducted Into Alpha Kappa Mu

TAPPED FOR HONOR SOCIETY — Four of the five students who were inducted into Alpha Kappa Mu, national honorary, at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., shown here (left to right) are Misses Edith Tucker, senior, of Elkin, N. C.; Jo Ann Martin, junior, of Leaksville, N. C.; Linda Brown, junior, of Akron, Ohio, and Idajeanne Robinson, junior, of Oberlin, Ohio. Not shown is Miss Helen Houston, of Nashville, Tenn.

J. Saunders Redding, Award-Winning Author, Challenges Bennett Audience

GREENSBORO — In the current cold war between democracy and communism, democracy has the greater potential to survive, J. Saunders Redding, award-winning author and professor of creative literature at Hampton Institute, declared in an address at Bennett College last week.

Mr. Redding, at present on leave on a Guggenheim fellowship, spoke on "Neutrality and Neutralism" at the Friday morning chapel assembly.

He defined neutrality as "a political posture or policy having juridical status" and defined neutralism as "an intellectual attitude." An equation of the two, he pointed out, is highly questionable, but added "yet it is an equation which westerners are prone to make."

"Neutralism", said Mr. Redding, "is a state of mind which permits the neutralist to avoid making foral choices. It is the prevailing state of mind of all those countries recently freed from imperialistic domination.

"If the people of the west do not state their democratic concept in wresh words and locutions, as well as daring actions that cannot be misunderstood by the most illiterate of men, then our economic communication has failed. And when communication fails between a great powers such as ours, and other powers, the peace of the world is endangered and can be lost."

Mr. Redding, whose visit to the campus was sponsored by the Freshman English Core, Miss Georgie B. Latimer, chairman, and the Freshman Studies Committee headed by Mrs. David D. Jones, later conducted a two-hour forum.

AUTHOR AT BENNETT — J. Sunders Redding, outstanding author and professor of creative literature at Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va., stresses a point with these Bennett College freshmen in discussion which followed his address at the Greensboro, N. C. institution last week. Left to right: Misses Bonita Davis, of Spartanburg, S. C.; Anita Graham, of Kingston, Jamaica, B.W.I., and Maxine West, of Greensboro.

Democracy Has Best Chance to Live--Redding

GREENEBORO—In the current cold war between democracy and communism, democracy has the the greater potential to survive, J. Saunders Redding, awared-winning author and professor of creative literature at Hampton Institute, declared in an address at Bennett College last week.

Mr. Redding, at present on leave on a Guggenheim fellowship, spoke on "Neutrality and Neutralism" at the Friday morning chapel assembly.

He defined neutrality as "a political posture or policy having juridical status" and defined neutralism as "an intellectual attitude." An equation of the two, he pointed out, is highly questionable, but added "yet it is an equation which westerners are prone to make."

"Neutralism," said Mr. Redding, "is a state of mind which permits the neutralist to avoid making moral choices. It is the prevailing state of mind of all those countries recently freed from imperialistic domination.

"If the people of the west do not state their democratic concept in fresh words and locutions, as well as daring actions that cannot be misunderstood by the most illiterate of men, then our communication has failed and when communication fails between a great power such as ours, and ther powers, the peace of the orld is endangered and can be ost."

Learning About Ghana—Dr. William E. Reed, who returned recently after two years in Ghana, shows crude agricultural implement to Alma Pinnix, of Reidsville, N. C., and Theresa Kearney of Greensboro, N. C., at Bennett College, before his address there. Dr. Reed is dean of the School of Agriculture at A. & T. College, Greensboro, N. C.

Morehouse Glee Club To Sing At Bennett

The Morehouse College Glee Club of Atlanta, Georgia, Wendell P. Whalum conducting, will make its annual appearance at Bennett College in a concert next Friday night in Pfeiffer Chapel.

In addition to a balanced program of sacred, secular and folk music, the group will also present two quartets — one of the "barbershop" variety and instrumental and vocal soloists.

On Friday morning, the Morehouse singers and the Bennett choir, directed by Mrs. Mary M. Crawford, will combine their voices in a three-number program. Works to be heard include Bach's Cantata 192, "Now Thank We All Our God;" "A Jubilant Song," by Norman Della Joio, a contemporary composer, and "Ain't Got Time to Die," a spiritual arranged by Hall Johnson.

TO SPEAK HERE

Dr. William J. Trent, executive director of the United Negro College Fund and a former member of the Bennett College faculty, will speak at Sunday vesper services at Bennett. The service will be held at 11 a.m. Dr. Trent is the son of Dr. W. J. Trent Sr., president-emeritus of Livingstone College in Salisbury.

LEARNING ABOUT GHANA— Dr. William E. Reed who returned recently after two years in Ghana, shows crude agricultural implement to Misses Alma Pinnix, of Reidsville and Theresa Kearney of Greensboro, program chairman and president, respectively, of Omicron Eta Chi, home economics club at Bennett College, before his address there Sunday night. Dr. Reed is dean of the school of agriculture at A and T College, Greensboro, N. C.

Dr. Trent Gives Talk At Bennett

"Life would indeed be a wonderful experience if we did not have to make decisions," Dr. William J. Trent Jr., of New York City, declared in his vesper message at Bennett College this morning.

Dr. Trent is executive director of the United Negro College Fund and a former Bennett teacher.

Speaking on "Commitments to What?" Dr. Trent stated that individuals, and nations as well, have to make commitments one way or the other — for good or bad.

"I am a bit disturbed," he said, "about what we make our commitments to, what we stand for and how we dedicate our lives. Beside outside tensions that never seem to subside, there are constant struggles going on within ourselves. We must make choices but in order to do so, we must have a hierarchy of values against which to make them."

Church-related institutions, the speaker explained, are among the outside forces which seek to help individuals to make right choices. This contribution to society, he added, is one of the primary reasons why they should be supported and continued.

Annual Roll Call Slated At Bennett

GREENSBORO — The annual roll call of the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church will be held at Bennett College on December 8, it was announced this week.

Bishop Edgar A. Love who presides over the Baltimore Area of the denomination, is expected to be present when superintendents of the four districts of the conference make reports of the amount of money which each has allocated to Bennett for the 1959-60 school year.

The Fair Sex in the News

WHO'S WHO AT BENNETT—Ten Bennett College seniors were elected to "Who's Who Among American Universities and Colleges." Seated, left to right: Sylvania Black, Marlin, Tex.; Laura Sawyer, Salisbury, N. C.; Mary Boone, Sanford, N. C.; Ethel Riggsbee, Chapel Hill, N. C., and Edith Tucker, Elkin, N. C. Standing: Mrs. Marie Moore, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Lucy Martin, Reidsville, N. C.; Helen Houston, Nashville, Tenn.; Nancy Kirby, Haddonfield, N. J., and Gloria Brown, The Bronx, New York.

TAPPED FOR HONOR SOCIETY — Four of the five students who, last week, were inducted into Alpha Kappa Mu, national honorary society, at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., are shown here. Left to right are Misses Edith Tucker, senior, of Elkin, N.C., Jo Ann Martin, junior, of Leaksville, N.C., Linda Brown, junior, of Akron, Ohio and Idajeanne Robinson junior, of Oberlin, Ohio. Not shown is Miss Helen Houston of Nashville, Tenn.

Vice Consul Gives Talk At College

The big problems facing the new nation of Israel are educational and social, rather than political, Michael Dequell, vice consul of the Consulate of Israel at Atlanta, Ga., declared in his vesper address at Bennett College yesterday.

"There were hardly more than a half million [illegible] in Israel when it was recognized as a free nation in 1948," he said, "but today there are more than two million people there. No nation's history has grown so rapidly.

"These newcomers coming from more than 70 countries of the world, had little in common, have their religion. They came from cultures different from what [illegible] in Israel. The problem, then, is one of educating, not only the young, but also the older generation to new ways of living and of doing things."

While admitting that military and economic problems are important, Dequell said that if Israel is to survive it will be largely through education. This, he pointed out, will be a long, hard task.

BACK-HOME TALK—Blanche Tuboku, Bennett College senior, from Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa, chats about things in her native land with her fellow-countryman, Ivan Benjamin, a student at Lincoln University, Pa., who spent several days recently on the North Carolina college campus.

BENNETT VESPER SPEAKER

Life is a continuous struggle between good and evil forces and man must take sides, Dr. Harry V. Richardson of Atlanta, Georgia, stated in his vesper sermon at Bennett College Sunday.

Dr. Richardson, who is president of the newly-created Interdenominational Theological Center in Atlanta, is the former president of Gammon Theological Seminary in that city. The subject of his message was "Angels, Devils and Me."

The devil, he pointed out, stands for the destructive things in life while God stands for what is good and blessed: "Look around you," he said, "and you will see angels in action—persons who are the embodiment of the goodness called God.

"Set your heart on the highest that you know and angels will come to minister unto you. No good hope is impossible."

BENNETT CHOIR WILL SING OVER ABC RADIO NETWORK

The 40-voice Bennett College Choir, directed by Mrs. Mary M. Crawford, will be heard Sunday morning in a half-hour program in the "Negro College Choir" series presented weekly coast-to-coast over the facilities of the ABC radio network.

Morehouse Glee Club At Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The Morehouse College Glee Club of Atlanta, Ga., Wendell P. Whalum conducting, will make its annual appearance at Bennett College in a concert Friday night in Pfeiffer Chapel.

In addition to a balanced program of sacred, secular and folk music, the group will also present two quartets — one of the "Barbershop" variety and instrumental and vocal soloists.

On Friday morning, the Morehouse singers and the Bennett choir, directed by Mrs. Mary M. Crawford, will combine their voices in a three-number program.

WHO'S WHO AT BENNETT—Ten Bennett College seniors elected to "Who's Who Among American Universities and Colleges are shown here. Left to right, seated: Misses Sylvania Black, Marlin, Texas; Laura Sawyer, Salisbury, N. C.; Mary Boone, Sanford, N. C.; Ethel Riggsbee, Chapel Hill, N. C., and Edith Tucker, Elkin, N. C.; standing: Mrs. Marie Moore, Winston-Salem, and Misses Lucy Martin, Reidsville, N. C.; Helen Houston, Nashville, Tenn.; Nancy Kirby, Haddonfield, N. J., and Gloria Brown, Bronx, N. Y.

Making Decisions Important Phase Of Life--Trent

GREENSBORO — "Life would indeed be a wonderful experience if we did not have to make decisions," Dr. William J. Trent, Jr., of New York City, declared in his vesper message at Bennett College Sunday morning.

Executive director of the United Negro College Fund and a former Bennett teacher, Dr. Trent is the son of Dr. William J. Trent, Sr., president-emeritus of Livingstone College at Salisbury.

Speaking on "Commitments to What?" Dr. Trent stated that individuals, and nations as well, have to make commitments one way or the other — for good or bad.

"I am a bit disturbed," he said, "about what we make our commitments to, what we stand for and how we dedicate our lives. Besides outside tensions that never seem to subside, there are constant struggles going on within ourselves. We must make choices but in order to do so, we must have a hierarchy of values against which to make them."

Church-related institutions, the speaker explained, are among the outside forces which seek to help individuals to make right choices. This contribution to society, he added, is one of the primary reasons why they should be supported and continued.

To Be December Bride

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde J. Harris of Greensboro, N. C., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Gwendolyn Harris, to First Lieutenant John H. White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter White, also of Greensboro.

The wedding is planned for Dec. 26 at Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal Catholic Church.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Bennett College and is employed as an instructor at the James B. Dudley High School here. Miss Harris formerly taught in the public schools of Newport News, Va.

Lt. White, a graduate of A. and T. College, Greensboro, is now serving as an electronics instructor with the U. S. Air Force in Waco, Texas.

Contributions To College Are Listed

The North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church reported contributions totaling approximately $16,000 to Bennett College yesterday during their annual "roll call" in the campus Little Theatre.

Contributions specifically allocated to Bennett from the four districts composing the conference were $6,042. More than $3,500, yet to be paid in, will come to the college from funds allocated to the conference's Christian higher education emphasis.

In addition to these amounts, Bishop Edgar A. Love, of the Baltimore area, who presided, presented a check of $1,164 to Bennett representing contributions toward Christian higher eduction emphasis from the Washington conference of the denomination.

Last year, with an assist from the Delaware Conference, Bennett received nearly $25,000 to be applied on the construction of a new health and physical education building.

The Greensboro District, headed by the Rev. W. T. Brown, reported the largest amount for Bennett this year—$2,295. Next in line was the Western District, the Rev. H. W. Phillips, superintendent, with $1,570. The Winston District, headed by the Rev. L. A. Brown, reported $1,402 and the Laurinburg District, through its superintendent, the Rev. R. C. Sharpe, reported $775.

The four districts raised a total of $4,598.16 for all purposes during the year. Following the roll call, the ministers, many accompanied by their families, were guests of the college at luncheon. Later, Bishop Love held a brief cabinet meeting.

Bennett To Present Tableaux

GREENSBORO, N. C. — "Madonnas by Contemporary Negro Artists" is the theme of this year's "Living Madonnas" production which will be viewed on the night of Dec. 13 in Pfeiffer Chapel at Bennett college.

James C. McMillan, art instructor and chairman of the committee responsible for this year's presentation, said this week that nine scenes will be included, featuring the works of artists in the United States and Haiti.

AMONG THE artists whose work will be recreated by student models, arranged in a huge gilded frame on the darkened stage area:

Vergniand Pierre-Noel, a native of Haiti and artist attached to the Haitian Government, and his wife, the former Miss Lois Mailou Jones, professor of design at Howard university;

Charles White, of Pasadena, California Rosenwald fellow;

Sylvester Britton, Chicago-born impressionist artist;

JAMES WELLS, professor of graphics at Howard University;

Mrs. Eva Hamlin Miller of Greensboro, teacher of art at Winston-Salem Teachers College;

Clarence Phillips, supervisor of art in the Greensboro public schools, and Numa Rousseve, head of the art department, Xavier University, New Orleans; James C. McMillan of the Bennett art department.

Bennett Co-eds Shown Crude African Farm Implements

Dr. William E. Reed, who returned recently after two years in Ghana, West Africa, shows crude agricultural implements used there to Misses Alma Pinnix, of Reidsville, N. C., and Theresa Kearney of Greensboro, program chairman and president, respectively, of Omicron Eta Chi, home economics club at Bennett College in Greensboro, before his address there recently. Dr. Reed is dean of the school of agriculture at A. and T. College, Greensboro.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS

These five BENNETT COLLEGE students are recipients of scholarships for the 1959-60 academic year from the Board of Education of the Methodist church. The grants cover tuition and fees up to $500. Left to right are: Idajeanne Robinson, Doris Luck, Lorraine Ramsey, Helen Houston and Jo Ann Martin.

Dr. Mary Lyman Vesper Speaker

Dr. Mary E. Lyman of New York City will be the vesper speaker at Bennett College at 4 p.m. today in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Dr. Lyman, who in addition to being the recipient of a number of honorary degrees, has a Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago and is also a graduate of the Union Theological Seminary. She is a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

She has served as dean or professor at a number of the nation's outstanding colleges, among them Mt. Holyoke, Barnard, Vassar and Sweet Briar in Virginia. Dr. Lyman is also the author of a number of religious books and has contributed book reviews and articles to magazines and learned journals.

To Speak At Bennett

Michael Dequell, vice consul of the Consulate of Israel at Atlanta, Ga., will speak at the 4 p.m. vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, Nov. 29.

OTHER ATTRACTIONS

TABLEAUX—Sunday, "The Living Madonnas," annual Christmas presentation, in Pfeiffer Chapel, Bennett College, at 7 p.m.

ROCK 'N' ROLL—Monday, Fabian, 18-year-old rock 'n' roll performer, with supporting troupe, at Memorial Coliseum at 8:30 p.m.

Dr. Lyman Gives Talk At College

"The true message of Christmas is three-dimensional Christian love," Dr. Mary Ely Lyman of New York City, declared in her vesper message at Bennett College Sunday.

Dr. Lyman, educator-author and former dean of the Union Theological Seminary, spoke on "The True Meaning of Christmas." She deplored the increasing commercialization of Christmas and reminded her listeners that God so loved the world that He sent His Son into the world that it might be saved.

"We are a generation learning to live with tragedy," she said, "and it is not always easy to be joyous and serene. But Christian love which can go down to the depths of our tragic life can transform tragedy into beauty. Such love must not only be deep, but it must be broad enough to take in all mankind and high enough to exalt. This should be the heart of Christmas."

At Bennett:

Grant From Methodists Is Received

GREENSBORO—Miss Vivian P. Kirven, of Darlington, S. C., a freshman at Bennett College, was notified this week that she has been awarded a scholarship by the Board of Education of the Methodist Church.

The daughter of Mrs. Sadie Kirven, the recipient was valedictorian of the 1959 graduating class of Mayo High School in her native city. She is a chemistry major with a minor in mathematics.

The award, sixth to be granted to a Bennett College student for the 1959-1960 academic year, covers tuition and fees up to $500 and is based upon "superior academic standing, leadership ability, active churchmanship, character, personality and need."

CLARENCE E. WHITEMAN IN BENNETT MUSICALE

Clarence E. Whiteman, Bennett College organist will be presented in a vesper musicale in Pfeiffer Chapel, Sunday, January 24 at 11 a.m. This program takes the place of the usual afternoon vesper service.

FINAL EXAMINATIONS TO START AT BENNETT

Final examinations for the first semester at Bennett College will be conducted from January 25-29 and second semester classes will begin on Monday, February 1, Miss Mary L. Mayfield, registrar, announced this week.

Date for the All-College Party, making the semester break, is January 29 in the David D. Jones Student Union.

BETWEEN DANCES — Claude McAllister of New York City (second from left) seems to be trying to get a point across to Miss Ida Goff of Covington, Va., between dance sets at the recent Harvest Ball at Bennett College in North Carolina. Listening attentively are Miss Shirley Hawkins of Philadelphia, Pa., and William King of Waynesboro, Ga. McAllister is a student at A. & T. College, and King at Morehouse. The girls are naturally Bennett students.

A STUDY IN CONFLICT---The old story of that irresistible force meeting an immovable object is retold in this scene from "Lost Victory" produced by the Bennett College Theatre Guild. Esther Alexander, left, of Warrenton, N. C., cast as Paula and Jacquelyn Florence, of Greensboro, N. C., cast as Agatha, her tyrannical aunt, clench their fists during this tense exchange while Bonita Davis, of Spartanburg, S. C., cast as Annie, a servant, watches apprehensively. The Guild also presented "Lima Beans" and "Overtones".

LEARNING ABOUT UNCF—Dr. William J. Trent, jr., of New York City, executive director of the United Negro College Fund, explains some of the immediate goals of the fund to those Bennett college students following his recent address at the Greensboro, N. C., Institution. From left are Misses Laura F. Sawyer and Raemi Lancaster, both of Salisbury, and Jo Ann Martin of Leaksville.

EARNS DOCTORATE---Roy Lee, a member of the science division at Bennett College, who was notified that he has been awarded the Ed. D. degree by Teachers College of Columbia University, New York City. His dissertation, "A Handbook of Microprojection for Biology Teachers," concerns itself with intravitam staining procedures with living organisms for classroom demonstrations. Dr. Lee, a native of Rogersville, Tenn., received his A. B. and M. S. degrees from Kansas State Teachers College, Pittsburg, Kan.

LEARNING ABOUT UNCF — Dr. William J. Trent, Jr., of New York City, executive director of the Negro College Fund, explains some of the immediate goals of the fund to these Bennett College students following his address at the Greensboro institution on Sunday. Left to right: Misses Laura F. Sawyer and Raemi Lancaster, both of Salisbury and Jo Ann Martin of Leaksville.

Interesting Highlights At Bennett College

TAPPED FOR HONOR SOCIETY---Four of the five students who were inducted into Alpha Kappa Mu, national honorary, at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., are shown here. Left to right: Misses Edith Tucker, senior, of Elkin, N. C.; Jo Ann Martin, junior, of Leaksville, N. C.; Linda Brown, junior, of Akron, Ohio, and Idajeanne Robinson, junior, of Oberlin, Ohio. Not shown is Miss Helen Houston, of Nashville, Tenn.

LEARNING ABOUT GHANA---Dr. William E. Reed, who returned recently after two years in Ghana, shows crude agricultural implement to Misses Alma Pinnix, of Reidsville and Theresa Kearney of Greensboro, program chairman and president, respectively of Omicron Eta Chi, home economics club at Bennett College, before his address there recently. Dr. Reed is dean of the school of agriculture at A and T College, Greensboro, N. C.

WHO'S WHO AT BENNETT---Ten Bennett College seniors elected to "Who's Who Among American Universities and Colleges are shown here. Left to right, seated: Misses Sylvania Black, Marlin, Texas; Laura Sawyer, Salisbury, N. C.; Mary Boone, Sanford, N. C.; Ethel Riggsbee, Chapel Hill, N. C., and Edith Tucker, Elkin, N. C.; standing: Mrs. Marie Moore, Winston-Salem, and Misses Lucy Martin, Reidsville, N. C.; Helen Houston, Nashville, Tenn.; Nancy Kirby, Haddonfield, N. J., and Gloria Brown, Bronx, N. Y.

BENNETT PRESIDENT REPORTS---Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College shown making her annual report to the board of trustees which met in Greensboro, N. C. Facing camera Mrs. H.C. Black, secretary, Johnson City, Tenn.; Dr. F. D. Patterson, chairman, New York City; Bishop Edgar A. Love, vice chairman, Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. Julius W. Cone, Greensboro and Mrs. J. Ernest Wilkins, of Chicago. With backs to camera are Mrs. J. N. Rodeheaver, Winona Lake, Indiana; Mrs. Millard Robinson, New York City and Mrs. Harry E. James, New York City.

AUTHOR AT BENNETT---J. Saunders Redding, outstanding author and professor of creative literature at Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va., stresses a point with these Bennett College freshmen in discussion which followed his address at the Greensboro, N. C. Institution. Left to right: Misses Bonita Davis, of Spartnaburg, S. C.; Alice Airall, of Kingston, Jamaica, BWI, and Maxine West, of Greensboro.

BENNETT RECEPTION---Dr. Oscar Polhemus, teacher of religion and philosophy and Mack Walker, teacher of basic science, swap notes during reception given by President Willa B. Player honoring new members of the Bennett College faculty and staff. Listening attentively is Miss Mercedes Davis, New Orleans, La. Also shown are Misses Johnsie Adams, Leaksville, N. C. and Janet Edwards, Spartanburg, S. C.

BACK HOME TALK---Miss Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, Bennett College senior, from Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa, chats about things in her native land with her fellow countryman, Ivan Benjamin, a student at Lincoln University, Pa., who spent several days on the campus recently.

THEY WON SCHOLARSHIPS---These five Bennett College students are recipients of scholarships for the 1959-60 academic year from the Board of Education of the Methodist Church. The grants cover tuition and fees up to $500. Left to right, Misses Idajeanne Robinson, Oberlin, Ohio; Doris Luck, Asheboro, N. C.; Helen Houston, Nashville, Tenn.; Lorraine Ramsey, Amonate, W. Va., and Jo Ann Martin, Leaksville, N. C.

This Year's Bennett "Madonnas" To Stress Contemporary Artists

GREENSBORO — "Madonnas by Contemporary Negro Artists", is the theme of this year's "Living Medonnas" production which will be viewed on the night of December 13 in Pfeiffer Chapel at Bennett College.

James C. McMillan, art instructor and chairman of the committee responsible for this year's presentation, said this week that nine scenes will be included, featuring the works of artists in the United States and Haiti.

Among the artists whose work will be recreated by student models, arranged in a huge gilded frame on the darkened stage are:

Vergniand Pierre-Noel, a native of Haiti and artist attached to the Haitian Government, and his wife, the former Miss Lois Mailou Jones, professor of design at Howard University.

Charles White, of Pasadena, California, a Rosenwald fellow; Sylvester Britton, Chicago-born impressionist artist; James Wells, professor of graphics at Howard University; Mrs. Eva Hamlin Miller of Greensboro, teacher of art at Winston-Salem Teachers College; Clarence Phillips, supervisor of art in the Greensboro public schools; Numa Rousseve, head of the art department, Xavier University, New Orleans.

James C. McMillan, of the Bennett art department.

This year's tableaux will feature several styles and techniques of artists who have interpreted the Christmas story and represents a distinct departure from the productions of previous years.

Bennett To Show Works Of Art

"Madonnas by Contemporary Negro Artists" is the theme of this year's "Living Madonnas" production which will be viewed Sunday at 7 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel at Bennett College.

James C. McMillan, art instructor and chairman of the committee responsible for this year's presentation, said that nine scenes will be included, featuring the works of artists in United States and Haiti

This year's tab[illegible] ture several style[illegible] of artists who h[illegible] the Christmas s[illegible] resents a distinct [illegible] the productions of

Thursday, December 3, 1959

BENNETT STUDENTS CHOSEN: Ten Bennett College seniors have been elected to "Who's Who Among American Universities and Colleges." They are, left to right, seated, Sylvania Black of Marlin, Texas, Laura Sawyer of Salisbury, Mary Boone of Sanford, Ethel Riggsbee of Chapel Hill, Edith Tucker of Elkin; standing, Mrs. Marie Moore of Winston-Salem, Lucy Martin of Reidsville, Helen Houston of Nashville, Tenn., Nancy Kirby of Haddonfield, N. J. and Gloria Brown of Bronx, N. Y.

N. C. Methodists Donate $10,000 Fund To Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C. —The North Carolina conference of the Methodist church reported contributions totaling approximately $10,000 to Bennett college last week during the annual "roll call."

Contributions specifically allocated to Bennett from the four districts in the conference were $6,042. More than $3,500, yet to be paid in, will come to the college from funds allocated for the conference's Christian higher education emphasis.

IN ADDITION to these amounts, Bishop Edgar A. Love of the Baltimore Area, who presided, presented a check of $1,164 to Bennett representing contributions toward Christian higher education emphasis from the Washington conference of the denomination.

Last year, with an assist from the Delaware conference, Bennett received nearly $25,000 to be applied on the construction of a new health and physical education building.

THE GREENSBORO district headed by the Rev. W. T. Brown, reported the largest amount for Bennett this year—$2,295. Next in line was the Western district, of which the Rev. H. W. Phillips is superintendent, with $1,570.

The Winston district, headed by the Rev. L. A. Brown, reported $1,402 and the Laurinburg district, through its superintendent, the Rev. R. C. Sharpe, reported $775.

Carols, Early Yule Music on Bennett Program

GREENSBORO — Carols from all nations and early church music of the 16th and 17th centuries will highlight the annual Christmas concert by the Bennett College choir on Sunday night, December 20.

Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, director of the 40-voice group, said that there will be several carols sung in French and two of the numbers will be sung in Latin.

"O Holy Night," a traditional favorite with Greensboro audiences, will also be included. Two spirituals will be sung by the Bennett quartette, namely "Sweet Little Jesus Boy" and "Mary Had A Baby," specially arranged by the quartette.

Members of this group are Misses Jacqueline Herbin and Ruth Dobson, sopranos; Leah Shipman and Patricia Vann, altos, with Miss Mildred Graves as accompanist.

Methodists Contribute $10,000 To Bennett College

The North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church reported contributions totaling approximately $10,000 to Bennett College Tuesday during their annual "roll call" in the campus Little Theatre, Tuesday.

Contributions specifically allocated to Bennett from the four districts composing the conference were $6,042. More than $3,500, yet to be paid in, will come to the college from the funds allocated to the conference's Christian higher education emphasis.

In addition to these amounts, Bishop Edgar A. Love, of the Baltimore Area, who presided, presented a check of $1,164 to Bennett representing contributions toward Christian higher education emphasis from the Washington conference of the denomination.

Last year, with an assist from the Delaware conference, Bennett received nearly $25,000 to be applied on the construction of a new health and physical education building.

The Greensboro district, headed by the Rev. W. T. Brown, reported the largest amount for Bennett this year—$2,295. Next in line was the Western district, the Rev. H. W. Phillips, superintendent, with $1,570. The Winston district, headed by the Rev. L. A. Brown, reported $1,402 and the Laurinburg district, through its superintendent, the Rev. R. C. Sharpe, reported $775.

The four districts raised a total of $47,598.16 for all purposes during the year. Following the roll call, the ministers, many accompanied by their families, were guests of the college at luncheon. Later, Bishop Love held a brief cabinet meeting.

Christmas Message

"The true message of Christmas is three - dimensional Christian love", Dr. Mary Ely Lyman of New York City, declared in her vesper message at Bennett College Sunday.

Dr. Lyman, outstanding educator-author and former dean of the Union Theological Seminary, spoke on "The True Meaning of Christmas." She deplored the increasing commercialization of Christmas and reminded her listeners that God so loved the world that He sent His Son into the world that it might be saved.

"We are a generation learning to live with tragedy," she said, "and it is not always easy to be joyous and serene. But Christian love which can go down to the depths of our tragic life can transform tragedy into beauty. Such love must not only be deep, but it must be broad enough to take in all mankind and high enough to exalt. This should be the heart of Christmas."

WHO'S WHO AT BENNETT—Ten Bennett College seniors elected to "Who's Who Among American Universities and Colleges" are shown here. Left to right, seated: Misses Sylvavnia Black of Marlin, Texas; Laura Sawyer of Salisbury, N.C.; Mary Boone of Sanford, N.C.; Ethel Riggsbee of Chapel Hill, N.C.; and Edith Tucker of Elkin, N.C., and Misses Lucy Martin of Reidsille, N.C.; Helen Houston of Nashville, Tenn.; Nancy Kirby of Haddonfield, N.J., and Gloria Brown of the Bronx, N.Y.

Bennett received $10,000 in gifts

GREENSBORO, N.C. — The North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church reported contributions totalling approximately $10,000 to Bennett College during annual "roll c[illegible] in the campus Little Theat[illegible] last Tuesday.

Contributions specifically allocated to Bennett from the four districts composing the conference were $6,042. More than $3,500 will come to the college from the funds allocated to the conference's Christian higher education emphasis.

In addition to these amounts, Bishop Edgar A. Love of the Baltimore Area, who presided, presented a check of $1,164 to Bennett representing contributions from the Washington conference.

Last year, with an assist from the Delaware conference, Bennett received nearly $25,000 to be applied on the construction of a new health and physical education building.

BENNETT COLLEGE GETS $10,000.00

GREENSBORO, N.C. — The North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church reported contributions totaling approximately $10,000 to Bennett College this week during their annual "roll call" in the campus Little Theatre.

Contributions specifically allocated to Bennett from the four districts composing the conference were $6,042. More than $3,500, yet to be paid in, will come to the college from the funds allocated to the conference's Christian higher education emphasis.

"IT WAS LIKE THIS" — That is what Claude McAllister of New York City seems to be saying to Miss Ida Goff of Covington, Va., during the recent Harvest ball at Bennett college. Listening attentively are Miss Shirley Hawkins of Philadelphia, Pa., and William King, of Waynesboro, Ga. McAllister is a student at A and T college and King is at Morehouse.

Eleven Foreign Bennett Students Had Yule Closely Akin To Theirs

GREENSBORO — It wasn't the same Christmas at home, but stop the 11 foreign students Bennett College, it was the closest thing to it.

Unlike their classmates who within the span of a few hours could be back at the family hearth, these students did the next best thing—they visited friends and or relatives in nine different American cities.

Miss Soo Lee, from faraway Seoul, Korea, visited her sister in Baltimore, Md., while Miss Johanna Polanen, of Surinam, South America, spent the holidays in Brooklyn, New York.

Spending the holiday season in New York City were Misses Delores Estwick, of Kingston, Jamaica, and Marie Nassau, of Monrovia, Liberia. Misses Blanche Tuboku-Metzger of Sierra Leone, and Danlette Brooks of Monrovia, visited in Washington, D. C.

Three of the young women chose South Carolina for the holidays Miss Jemina Laryea of Ghana, was in Darlington; Miss Alice Airall, of Kingston, Jamaica, in Sumter, and Miss Sylvia Darling, of Nassau, in Charleston.

Miss Joan Didier, of Kingston Jamaica, visited in Wilkesboro, N. C., and Miss Frances Marshall, of Nassau, got as close to home as she could by visiting in Miami, Florida.

Choose 2 Bennett Students For World Mission Meeting

GREENSBORO — Two Bennett College students have been named delegates to the 18th Ecumenical Student Conference on the Christian World Mission being held at Athens, Ohio, from December 27 to January 2, 1960.

They are Miss Mary Ellen Bender, senior, of Leonia, N. J., and Linda Brown, junior, of Akron, Ohio. Some 3000 students, about half of them from overseas, are attending the conference which if focusing its attention on specific "frontiers" whose urgency claims the special attention of the church.

Among the discussion leaders will be the Rev. Martin Luther King, leader of the successful Montgomery (Ala.) bus boycott; Bishop Lesslie Newbigin, of the Church of South India, and Bola Ige, of Nigeria, West Africa.

LIVING MADONNAS AT BENNETT—"Adoration of the Shepherds," a painting by George W. Phillips, as recreated for the "Living Madonnas" presentation at Bennett College Sunday night. Miss Barbara Freeman, of Lawrenceville, Va., portrays the Madonna and Miss Carolyn Moses, of Rembert, S. C., Joseph. Shepherds are Misses Roslyn Smith, of Princeton, W. Va., and Maryland Baker, of Lexington, Va.

Methodist Donate $10,000 to Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church reported contributions totaling approximately $10,000 to Bennett College during its annual "roll call" in the campus Little Theatre.

Contributions specifically allocated to Bennett from the four districts composing the conference were $6,042. More than $3,500, yet to be paid in, will come to the college from the funds allocated to the conference's Christian higher education emphasis.

IN ADDITION to these amounts, Bishop Edgar A. Love of the Baltimore are, who presided, presented a check of $1,164 to Bennett representing contributions toward Christian higher education emphasis from the Washington Conference of the denomination.

Last year, with an assist from the Delaware Conference, Bennett received nearly $25,000 to be applied on the construction of a new health and physical education building.

The Greensboro district, headed by Rev. W. T. Brown, reported the largest amount for Bennett this year—$2,295. Next in line was the Western district, Rev. H. W. Phillips, superintendent, with $1,570. The Winston district, headed by Rev. L. A. Brown, reported $1,402, and the Laurinburg district, through its superintendent, Rev. R. C. Sharpe, reported $775.

The four districts raised a total of $47,598.16 for all purposes during the year. Following the roll call, the ministers, accompanied by their families, were guests of the college at luncheon. Later, Bishop Love held a brief cabinet meeting.

MUSIC, MUSIC, MUSIC — Wendell P. Whalum, director of Morehouse College Glee Club of Atlanta, Ga., finds a willing audience in his two companions whose primary interest, like his, is music. Listening attentively are Miss Lady Ann Shivers (left), '59 graduate of Bennett college, now a student at the Westminster Choir college, Princeton, N. J., and Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, director of the Bennett college choir, who was her mentor for four years. Photograph was made during intermission at the annual Harvest ball at the Greensboro college.

Love is Message Of Christmas Says Dr. Lyman

GREENSBORO—"The true message of Christmas is three-dimensional Christian love," Dr. Mary Ely Lyman of New York City, declared in her vesper message at Bennett College Sunday.

Dr. Lyman, outstanding educator-author and former dean of the Union Theological Seminary, spoke on "The True Meaning of Christmas." She deplored the increasing commercialization of Christmas and reminded her listeners that God so loved the world that He sent His Son into the world that it might be saved.

"We are a generation learning to live with tragedy," she said, "and it is not always easy to be joyous and serene. But Christian love which can go down to the depths of our tragic life can transform tragedy into beauty. Such love must not only be deep, but it must be broad enough to take in all mankind and high enough to exalt. This should be the heart of Christmas."

Foreign Students At Bennett Spend Xmas Stateside

GREENSBORO—It was not the same Christmas at home, but for the 11 foreign students at Bennett College, it was the closest thing to it.

Unlike their classmates who, within the span of a few hours, could be back at the family hearth, these students did the next best thing, they visited friends and/or relatives in nine different American cities.

Miss Soo Lee, from faraway Seoul, Korea, visited her sister in Baltimore, Md., while Miss Johanna Polanen of Surinam, South America, spent the holidays in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Spending the holiday season in New York City were Misses Delores Estwick, of Kingston, Jamaica, and Marie Nassau, of Monrovia, Liberia. Misses Blanche Tuboku-Metzger of Sierra Leone, and Danlette Brooks of Monrovia, visited in Washington, D. C.

Three of the young women chose South Carolina for the holidays. Miss Jemina Laryea of Ghana, was in Darlington; Miss Alice Airall, of Kingston, Jamaica, in Sumter, and Miss Sylvia Darling, of Nassau, in Charleston.

Miss Joan Didier, of Kingston Jamaica, visited in Wilkesboro, N. C., and Miss Frances Marshall, of Nassau, got as close to home as she could by visiting in Miami, Flordia.

Large Audience Witnesses Annual "Living Madonnas" At Bennett

An audience which filled every available space in Pfeiffer Chapel witnessed the annual "Living Madonnas" production at Bennett College, Sunday night.

The presentation, which officially ushered in the pre-Christmas season at the college, was based on the theme: "Madonnas by Contemporary Negro Artists," and re-created with live models the works of nine artists.

Accompanying each showing in the pitch-dark chapel was music by the freshman choir, directed by Edward Lowe. Transitional music was provided by Clarence E. Whiteman, college organist.

Following are the paintings which were reproduced, the artists and the students who portrayed the Madonna in each of them:

I. The Annunciation, by Numa J. Rousseve; Madonna - Miss Von Moore, of Norfolk, Va.;

II. The Mother and Child, by Eva Hamlin Miller; Madonna - Miss Icelean Davis, of Durham, N. C.;

III. The Adoration of the Shepherds, by Clarence H. Phillips; Madonna - Miss Barbara Freemna, of Lawrenceville, Va.;

IV. Our Lady of Perpetual Help, by Vergniaud Pierre-Noel; Madonna - Miss Louise Reid, of Morganton, N. C.;

V. The Adoration of the Magi, by Sylvester Britton; Madonna - Miss Rebecca Farris, of Montgomery, Ala.;

VI. Adoration, by James L. Wells; Madonna - Miss Jacqueline Dove, of Kinston, N. C.;

VII. Mother and Child, by Charles W. White; Madonna - Miss Camilla Cheek, of Seagrove, N. C.;

VIII. The Flight Into Egypt, by James C. McMillan; Madonna - Miss Anne Brown, of Winston-Salem, and

IX. The Prince of Peace, by Lois Pierre-Noel; Madonna - Miss Darthula Barlow, of Roanoke, Va.

Methodist Church Conference Reports $10,000 Donations

GREENSBORO—The North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church reported contributions totaling approximately $10,000 to Bennett College Tuesday during their annual "roll call" in the campus Little Theatre, Tuesday.

Contributions specifically allocated to Bennett from the four districts composing the conference were $6,042. More than $3,500, yet to be paid in, will come to the college from the funds allocated to the conference's Christian higher education emphasis.

In addition to these amounts, Bishop Edgar A. Love, of the Baltimore Area, who presided, presented a check of $1,164 to Bennett representing contributions toward Christian higher education emphasis from the Washington conference of the denomination.

Last year, with an assist from the Delaware conference, Bennett received nearly $25,000 to be applied on the construction of a new health and physical education building.

The Greensboro district, headed by the Rev. W. T. Brown, reported the largest amount for Bennett this year—$2,295. Next in line was the Western district, the Rev. H. W. Phillips, superintendent, with $1,570. The Winston district, headed by the Rev. L. A. Brown, reported $1,402 and the Laurinburg district, through its superintendent, the Rev. R. C. Sharpe, reported $775.

ON ROLL CALL PROGRAM—These six Bennett College students who participated in a program presented at the annual roll call of the North Carolina Methodist Conference held at the college last week are shown with Bishop Edgar A. Love, of the Baltimore Area, who presided. Left to right: Misses Idajeanne Robinson, Oberlin, Ohio; John Didier, Jamaica, BWI; Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, Freetown, Sierra Leone; Jacqueline Daise, Wilmington; Marian Simmons, Fayetteville, and Patricia Miles, Pittsburgh, Pa.

DRAMATIC PLAY HELD AT BENNETT

"Ask for Me Tomorrow," the Joseph Hayes three-act comedy drama, was presented by the Bennett College Theatre Guild, Friday and Saturday nights in the Little Theatre.

Directed by F. Alan Eady, the seven-member cast brought considerable realism and warmth to this study of the conflict between an eager, ambitious daughter and her pleasantly domineering mother, played by Misses Esther Alexander, of Warrenton

Greensboro Area Contributes Most

GREENSBORO — The North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church reported contributions totaling approximately $10,000 to Bennett College Tuesday during their annual "rollcall" in the campus Little Theatre, Tuesday.

Contributions specifically allocated to Bennett from the four districts composing the conference were $6,042. More than $3,500, yet to be paid in, will come to the college from the funds allocated to the conference's Christian higher education emphasis.

In addition to these amounts, Bishop Edgar A. Love, of the Baltimore Area, who presided, presented a check of $1,164 to Bennett representing contributions toward Christian higher education emphasis from the Washington conference of the denomination.

Last year, with an assist from the Delaware conference, Bennett received nearly $25,000 to be applied on the construction of a new health and physical education building.

Sister Week

GREENSBORO—As predictable as Santa Claus, mistletoe and holly is "Christmas Sister Week" being observed this week at Bennett College and Culminating with the annual all-college Christmas party on Friday night.

Each student and each member of the faculty and staff has, during this period, been secretly sending little gifts each day to a person whose name was drawn. In many cases, students, unable to make material gifts have been performing little personal services for this secret "sister."

Not until Friday night, as a climax to the party, will the identity of each person be known.

"Ask For Me Tomorrow" Presented At Bennett

GREENSBORO — "Ask for Me Tomorrow," the Joseph Hayes three-act comedy drama, was presented by the Bennett College Theatre Guild, Friday and Saturday nights in the Little Theatre.

Directed by F. Alan Eady, the seven-member cast brought considerable realism and warmth to this study of the conflict between an eager, ambitious daughter and her pleasantly domineering mother, played by Misses Esther Alexander, of Warrenton and Blanche Tuboku-Metzger of Freetown, Sierra Leone, respectively.

Others in the cast were: Miss Ollie C. Johnson, Athens, Ga.; Carolyn Snead, Philadelphia; Tressie Wright, Atlanta, Ga.; Elisha Madison, Miami, Florida and Marian Isler, Goldsbboro.

About 10 openings exist for every poultry graduate at N. C. State College.

BENNETT CHOIR ON RADIO

The 40-voice women's choir of Bennett College, directed by Mrs. Mary M. Crawford, will participate in the "Negro College Choirs" series on the ABC radio network on December 27 with a program of music for the New Year.

POEM SELECTED

Miss Hattie L. Green, of Ivy, Va., a senior at Bennett College, was notified this week that her poem—"Death"—has been selected for inclusion in the Annual Anthology of College Poetry published by the National Poetry Association, with headquarters in Los Angeles.

Observe "Christmas Sister Week" At Bennett College

GREENSBORO—As predictable as Santa Claus, mistletoe and holly is "Christmas Sister Week" being observed this week at Bennett College and Culminating with the annual all-college Christmas party on Friday night.

Each student and each member of the faculty and staff has, during this period, been secretly sending little gifts each day to a person whose name was drawn. In many cases, students, unable to make material gifts have been performing little personal services for their secret "sister."

Not until Friday night, as a climax to the party, will the identity of each person be known.

Closing pre-Christmas activity at Bennett will be the candlelight concert by the 40-voice choir on Sunday night, December 20. The college will close for the holidays on December 22, reopening at 8 a. m. on January 5.

OTHER ATTRACTIONS

BALLET—Sunday at 2:15 p.m. at Aycock Auditorium, THE LITTLEST ANGEL with 120 dancers from three cities.

CONCERT—Sunday at 7 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel at Bennett College, the college choir, in its annual CHRISTMAS CANDLE-LIGHT CONCERT.

HOLIDAY FASHIONS — These five Bennett College students model party dresses they wore during the holiday season. From left to right, Misses Brenda Saunders, Gastonia, N.C.; Sheila Ceasar, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Elizabeth Payne, Boston, Mass.; Sharon Mizell, Hallandale, Fla.; and Yvette Williams, Springfield, Mass.

Vesper Speaker

First Sunday vesper speaker of the New Year at Bennett College will be the Rev. Morton R. Kurtz, of Durham, executive secretary of the North Carolina Council of Churches.

DR. MARY ELY LYMAN SPEAKS AT BENNETT VESPER

"The true message of Christmas is three-dimensional Christian love," Dr. Mary Ely Lyman of New York City, declared in her vesper message at Bennett College Sunday.

Dr. Lyman, outstanding educator-author and former dean of the Union Theological Seminary, spoke on "The True Meaning of Christmas." She deplored the increasing commercialization of Christmas and reminded her listeners that God so loved the world that He sent His Son into the world that it might be saved.

"We are a generation learning to live with tragedy," she said, "and it is not alway easy to be joyous and serene. But Christian love which can go down to the depths of our tragic life can transform tragedy into beauty. Such love must not only be deep, but it must be broad enough to take in all mankind and high enough to exalt. This should be the heart of Christmas."

Enjoying Harvest Ball At Bennett College

"It was like this"—that is what Claude McAllister, of New York City, seems to be saying to Miss Ida Goff, of Covington, Va., during the recent Harvest Ball at Bennett College. Listening attentively are Miss Shirley Hawkins, of Philadelphia, Pa., and William King, of Waynesboro, Ga. McAllister is a student at A. and T. College and King, at Morehouse.

"IT WAS LIKE THIS" — That is what Claude McAllister of New York City seems to be saying to Miss Ida Goff of Covington, Va., during the recent Harvest ball at Bennett college. Listening attentively is Miss Shirley Hawkins of Philadelphia, Pa., and William King, of Waynesboro, Ga. McAllister is a student at A and T college and King is at Morehouse.

Eleven Foreign Bennett Students Had Yule Closely Akin To Theirs

GREENSBORO — It was not the same Christmas at home, but for the 11 foreign students Bennett College, it was the closest thing to it.

Unlike their classmates who, within the span of a few hours, could be back at the family hearth, these students did the next best thing—they visited friends and or relatives in nine different American cities.

Miss Soo Lee, from faraway Seoul, Korea, visited her sister in Baltimore, Md., while Miss Johanna Polanen, of Surinam, South America, spent the holidays in Brooklyn, New York.

Spending the holiday season in New York City were Misses Delores Estwick, of Kingston, Jamaica, and Marie Nassau, of Monrovia, Liberia. Misses Blanche Tuboku-Metzger of Sierra Leone, and Danlette Brooks of Monrovia, visited in Washington, D. C.

Three of the young women chose South Carolina for the holidays Miss Jemina Laryea of Ghana, was in Darlington; Miss Alice Airall, of Kingston, Jamaica, in Sumter, and Miss Sylvia Darling, of Nassau, in Charleston.

Miss Joan Didier, of Kingston Jamaica, visited in Wilkesboro, N. C., and Miss Frances Marshall, of Nassau, got as close to home as she could by visiting in Miami, Florida.

Choose 2 Bennett Students For World Mission Meeting

GREENSBORO — Two Bennett College students have been named delegates to the 18th Ecumenical Student Conference on the Christian World Mission being held at Athens, Ohio, from December 27 to January 2, 1960.

They are Miss Mary Ellen Bender, senior, of Leonia, N. J., and Linda Brown, junior, of Akron, Ohio. Some 3000 students, about half of them from overseas, are attending the conference which if focusing its attention on specific "frontiers" whose urgency claims the special attention of the church.

Among the discussion leaders will be the Rev. Martin Luther King, leader of the successful Montgomery (Ala.) bus boycott; Bishop Lesslie Newbigin, of the Church of South India, and Bolaige, of Nigeria, West Africa.

LIVING MADONNAS AT BENNETT—"Adoration of the Shepherds," a painting by George W. Phillips, as recreated for the "Living Madonnas" presentation at Bennett College Sunday night. Miss Barbara Freeman, of Lawrenceville, Va., portrays the Madonna and Miss Carolyn Moses, of Rembert, S. C., Joseph. Shepherds are Misses Roslyn Smith, of Princeton, W. Va., and Maryland Baker, of Lexington, Va.

Methodists Donate $10,000 to Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church reported contributions totaling approximately $10,000 to Bennett College during its annual "roll call" in the campus Little Theatre.

Contributions specifically allocated to Bennett from the four districts composing the conference were $6,042. More than $3,500, yet to be paid in, will come to the college from the funds allocated to the conference's Christian higher education emphasis.

IN ADDITION to these amounts, Bishop Edgar A. Love of the Baltimore are, who presided, presented a check of $1,164 to Bennett representing contributions toward Christian higher education emphasis from the Washington Conference of the denomination.

Last year, with an assist from the Delaware Conference, Bennett received nearly $25,000 to be applied on the construction of a new health and physical education building.

The Greensboro district, headed by Rev. W. T. Brown, reported the largest amount for Bennett this year—$2,295. Next in line was the Western district, Rev. H. W. Phillips, superintendent, with $1,570. The Winston district, headed by Rev. L. A. Brown, reported $1,402, and the Laurinburg district, through its superintendent, Rev. R. C. Sharpe, reported $775.

The four districts raised a total of $47,598.16 for all purposes during the year. Following the roll call, the ministers, accompanied by their families, were guests of the college at luncheon. Later, Bishop Love held a brief cabinet meeting.

Methodist Church Conference Reports $10,000 Donations

GREENSBORO—The North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church reported contributions totaling approximately $10,000 to Bennett College Tuesday during their annual "roll call" in the campus Little Theatre, Tuesday.

Contributions specifically allocated to Bennett from the four districts composing the conference were $6,042. More than $3,500, yet to be paid in, will come to the college from the funds allocated to the conference's Christian higher education emphasis.

In addition to these amounts, Bishop Edgar A. Love, of the Baltimore Area, who presided, presented a check of $1,164 to Bennett representing contributions toward Christian higher education emphasis from the Washington conference of the denomination.

Last year, with an assist from the Delaware conference, Bennett received nearly $25,000 to be applied on the construction of a new health and physical education building.

The Greensboro district, headed by the Rev. W. T. Brown, reported the largest amount for Bennett this year—$2,295. Next in line was the Western district, the Rev. H. W. Phillips, superintendent, with $1,570. The Winston district, headed by the Rev. L. A. Brown, reported $1,402 and the Laurinburg district, through its superintendent, the Rev. R. C. Sharpe, reported $775.

MUSIC, MUSIC, MUSIC — Wendell P. Whalum, director of Morehouse College Glee Club of Atlanta, Ga., finds a willing audience in his two companions whose primary interest, like his, is music. Listening attentively are Miss Lady Ann Shivers (left), '59 graduate of Bennett college, now a student at the Westminster Choir college, Princeton, N. J., and Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, director of the Bennett college choir, who was her mentor for four years. Photograph was made during intermission at the annual Harvest ball at the Greensboro college.

Love is Message Of Christmas Says Dr. Lyman

GREENSBORO—"The true message of Christmas is three-dimensional Christian love," Dr. Mary Ely Lyman of New York City, declared in her vesper message at Bennett College Sunday.

Dr. Lyman, outstanding educator-author and former dean of the Union Theological Seminary, spoke on "The True Meaning of Christmas." She deplored the increasing commercialization of Christmas and reminded her listeners that God so loved the world that He sent His Son into the world that it might be saved.

"We are a generation learning to live with tragedy," she said, "and it is not always easy to be joyous and serene. But Christian love which can go down to the depths of our tragic life can transform tragedy into beauty. Such love must not only be deep, but it must be broad enough to take in all mankind and high enough to exalt. This should be the heart of Christmas."

Foreign Students At Bennett Spend Xmas Stateside

GREENSBORO—It was not the same Christmas at home, but for the 11 foreign students at Bennett College, it was the closest thing to it.

Unlike their classmates who, within the span of a few hours, could be back at the family hearth, these students did the next best thing, they visited friends and/or relatives in nine different American cities.

Miss Soo Lee, from faraway Seoul, Korea, visited her sister in Baltimore, Md., while Miss Johanna Polanen of Surinam, South America, spent the holidays in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Spending the holiday season in New York City were Misses Delores Estwick, of Kingston, Jamaica, and Marie Nassau, of Monrovia, Liberia. Misses Blanche Tuboku-Metzger of Sierra Leone, and Danlette Brooks of Monrovia, visited in Washington, D. C.

Three of the young women chose South Carolina for the holidays. Miss Jemina Laryea of Ghana, was in Darlington; Miss Alice Airall, of Kingston, Jamaica, in Sumter, and Miss Sylvia Darling, of Nassau, in Charleston.

Miss Joan Didier, of Kingston Jamaica, visited in Wilkesboro, N. C., and Miss Frances Marshall, of Nassau, got as close to home as she could by visiting in Miami, Flordia.

Large Audience Witnesses Annual "Living Madonnas" At Bennett

An audience which filled every available space in Pfeiffer Chapel witnessed the annual "Living Madonnas" production at Bennett College, Sunday night.

The presentation, which officially ushered in the pre-Christmas season at the college, was based on the theme: "Madonnas by Contemporary Negro Artists," and re-created with live models the works of nine artists.

Accompanying each showing in the pitch-dark chapel was music by the freshman choir, directed by Edward Lowe. Transitional music was provided by Clarence E. Whiteman, college organist.

Following are the paintings which were reproduced, the artists and the students who portrayed the Madonna in each of them:

I. The Annunciation, by Numa J. Rousseve; Madonna - Miss Von Moore, of Norfolk, Va.;

II. The Mother and Child, by Eva Hamlin Miller; Madonna - Miss Icelean Davis, of Durham, N. C.;

III, The Adoration of the Shepherds, by Clarence H. Phillips; Madonna - Miss Barbara Freemna, of Lawrenceville, Va.;

IV. Our Lady of Perpetual Help, by Vergniaud Pierre-Noel; Madonna - Miss Louise Reid, of Morganton, N. C.;

V. The Adoration of the Magi, by Sylvester Britton; Madonna - Miss Rebecca Farris, of Montgomery, Ala.;

VI. Adoration, by James L. Wells; Madonna - Miss Jacqueline Dove, of Kinston, N. C.;

VII. Mother and Child, by Charles W. White; Madonna - Miss Camilla Cheek, of Seagrove, N. C.;

VIII. The Flight Into Egypt, by James C. McMillan; Madonna - Miss Anne Brown, of Winston-Salem, and

IX. The Prince of Peace, by Lois Pierre-Noel; Madonna - Miss Darthula Barlow, of Roanoke, Va.

Greensboro Area Contributes Most

GREENSBORO — The North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church reported contributions totaling approximately $10,000 to Bennett College Tuesday during their annual "rollcall" in the campus Little Theatre, Tuesday.

Contributions specifically allocated to Bennett from the four districts composing the conference were $6,042. More than $3,500, yet to be paid in, will come to the college from the funds allocated to the conference's Christian higher education emphasis.

In addition to these amounts, Bishop Edgar A. Love, of the Baltimore Area, who presided, presented a check of $1,164 to Bennett representing contributions toward Christian higher education emphasis from the Washington conference of the denomination.

Last year, with an assist from the Delaware conference, Bennett received nearly $25,000 to be applied on the construction of a new health and physical education building.

Sister Week

GREENSBORO—As predictable as Santa Claus, mistletoe and holly is "Christmas Sister Week" being observed this week at Bennett College and Culminating with the annual all-college Christmas party on Friday night.

Each student and each member of the faculty and staff has, during this period, been secretly sending little gifts each day to a person whose name was drawn. In many cases, students, unable to make material gifts have been performing little personal services for this secret "sister."

Not until Friday night, as a climax to the party, will the identity of each person be known.

ON ROLL CALL PROGRAM—These six Bennett College students who participated in a program presented at the annual roll call of the North Carolina Methodist Conference held at the college last week are shown with Bishop Edgar A. Love, of the Baltimore Area, who presided. Left to right: Misses Idajeanne Robinson, Oberlin, Ohio; John Didier, Jamaica, BWI; Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, Freetown, Sierra Leone; Jacqueline Daise, Wilmington; Marian Simmons, Fayetteville, and Patricia Miles, Pittsburgh, Pa.

DRAMATIC PLAY HELD AT BENNETT

"Ask for Me Tomorrow," the Joseph Hayes three-act comedy drama, was presented by the Bennett College Theatre Guild, Friday and Saturday nights in the Little Theatre.

Directed by F. Alan Eady, the seven-member cast brought considerable realism and warmth to this study of the conflict between an eager, ambitious daughter and her pleasantly domineering mother, played by Misses Esther Alexander, of Warrenton

"Ask For Me Tomorrow" Presented At Bennett

GREENSBORO — "Ask for Me Tomorrow," the Joseph Hayes three-act comedy drama, was presented by the Bennett College Theatre Guild, Friday and Saturday nights in the Little Theatre.

Directed by F. Alan Eady, the seven-member cast brought considerable realism and warmth to this study of the conflict between an eager, ambitious daughter and her pleasantly domineering mother, played by Misses Esther Alexander, of Warrenton and Blanche Tuboku-Metzger of Freetown, Sierra Leone, respectively.

Others in the cast were: Miss Ollie C. Johnson, Athens, Ga.; Carolyn Snead, Philadelphia; Tressie Wright, Atlanta, Ga.; Elishama Madison, Miami, Florida and Marian Isler, Goldsbboro.

About 10 openings exist for every poultry graduate at N. C. State College.

BENNETT CHOIR ON RADIO

The 40-voice women's choir of Bennett College, directed by Mrs. Mary M. Crawford, will participate in the "Negro College Choirs" series on the ABC radio network on December 27 with a program of music for the New Year.

POEM SELECTED

Miss Hattie L. Green, of Ivy, Va., a senior at Bennett College, was notified this week that her poem—"Death"—has been selected for inclusion in the Annual Anthology of College Poetry published by the National Poetry Association, with headquarters in Los Angeles.

Observe "Christmas Sister Week" At Bennett College

GREENSBORO—As predictable as Santa Claus, mistletoe and holly is "Christmas Sister Week" being observed this week at Bennett College and Culminating with the annual all-college Christmas party on Friday night.

Each student and each member of the faculty and staff has, during this period, been secretly sending little gifts each day to a person whose name was drawn. In many cases, students, unable to make material gifts have been performing little personal services for their secret "sister."

Not until Friday night, as a climax to the party, will the identity of each person be known.

Closing pre-Christmas activity at Bennett will be the candlelight concert by the 40-voice choir on Sunday night, December 20. The college will close for the holidays on December 22, reopening at 8 a. m. on January 5.

OTHER ATTRACTIONS

BALLET—Sunday at 2:15 p.m. at Aycock Auditorium, THE LITTLEST ANGEL with 120 dancers from three cities.

CONCERT—Sunday at 7 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel at Bennett College, the college choir, in its annual CHRISTMAS CANDLELIGHT CONCERT.

HOLIDAY FASHIONS — These five Bennett College students model party dresses they wore during the holiday season. From left to right, Misses Brenda Saunders, Gastonia, N.C.; Sheila Ceasar, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Elizabeth Payne, Boston, Mass.; Sharon Mizell, Hallandale, Fla.; and Yvette Williams, Springfield, Mass.

Vesper Speaker

First Sunday vesper speaker of the New Year at Bennett College will be the Rev. Morton R. Kurtz, of Durham, executive secretary of the North Carolina Council of Churches.

DR. MARY ELY LYMAN SPEAKS AT BENNETT VESPER

"The future message of Christmas is three-dimensional Christian love," Dr. Mary Ely Lyman of New York City, declared in her vesper message at Bennett College Sunday.

Dr. Lyman, outstanding educator-author and former dean of the Union Theological Seminary, spoke on "The True Meaning of Christmas." She deplored the increasing commercialization of Christmas and reminded her listeners that God so loved the world that He sent His Son into the world that it might be saved.

"We are a generation learning to live with tragedy," she said, "and it is not alway easy to be joyous and serene. But Christian love which can go down to the depths of our tragic life can transform tragedy into beauty. Such love must not only be deep, but it must be broad enough to take in all mankind and high enough to exalt. This should be the heart of Christmas."

Enjoying Harvest Ball At Bennett College

"It was like this"—that is what Claude McAllister, of New York City, seems to be saying to Miss Ida Goff, of Covington, Va., during the recent Harvest Ball at Bennett College. Listening attentively are Miss Shirley Hawkins, of Philadelphia, Pa., and William King, of Waynesboro, Ga. McAllister is a student at A. and T. College and King, at Morehouse.

Tableaux Of Living Madonnas Presented At Bennett College

LIVING MADONNAS AT BENNETT---"Adoration of the Sherherds," a painting by George W. Phillips, as recreated for the "Living Madonnas" presentation at Bennett College recently. Miss Barbara Freeman, of Lawrenceville, Va., portrays the Madonna and Miss Carolyn Moses, of Rembert, S. C., Joseph. Shepherds are Miss Roslyn Smith, of Princeton, W. Va., and Maryland Baker, of Lexington, Va.

LIVING MADONNAS AT BENNETT---"The Flight Into Egypt", painted by James C. McMillan, art instructor, is portrayed by these three students in the "Living Madonnas" presentation at Bennett College recently. Miss Anne Brown, of Winston-Salem is the Madonna and Miss Carolyn Brown, of Pleasant Hill, N. C., portrays Joseph.

LIVING MADONNAS — Miss Darthula Barlow, Roanoke, Va., portrays the Madonna in "The Prince of Peace," painted by Lois Pierre - Noel, one of the nine tableaux presented during the "Living Madonnas" at Bennett College last week. Angels are Misses Diana Caldwell, Winston - Salem, N.C.; Carolyn Owens, Binghamton, N.Y.; Mattilyn Talford, Chester, S.C.; Marylen Claye, Houston, Texas; Catherine Rink, Morganton, N.C., and Barbara Mebane, Greensboro.

ON ROLL CALL PROGRAM---These six Bennett College students who participated in a program presented at the annual roll call of the North Carolina Methodist Conference held at the college recently are shown with Bishop Edgar A. Love, of the Baltimore Area, who presided. Left to right: Misses Idajeanne Robinson, Oberlin, Ohio; Joan Didier, Jamaica, B. W. I.; Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, Freetown, Sierra Leone; Jacqueline Daise; Wilmington, N. C.; Marian Simmons, Fayetteville and Patricia Miles, Pittsburgh, Pa.

LIVING MADONNAS AT BENNETT---Miss Icelean Davis, of Durham, portrays the Madonna in "Mother and Child" by Eva Hamlin Miller, Greensboro artist, one of nine tableaux presented at Bennett College recently.

LIVING MADONNAS AT BENNETT---Miss Darthula Barlow, of Roanoke, Va., portrays the Madonna in "The Prince of Peace," painted by Lois Pierre-Noel, one of the nine tableaux presented during the "Living Madonnas" at Bennett College, recently. Angels are Misses Diana Caldwell, Winston-Salem; Carolyn Owens, Binghamton, N. Y.; Mattilyn Talford, Chester, S. C.; Marylen Claye, Houston, Texas; Catherine Rink, Morganton, N. C., and Barbara Mebane, Greensboro.

Clergyman Will Speak At Bennett

Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, president of the Council of Bishops of the Methodist Church, will speak at the annual service of remembrance for Dr. David D. Jones, former president of Bennett College.

The bishop will speak at 4 p.m. this Sunday in Pfeiffer Chapel. He was a friend of Dr. Jones who headed the college from 1926 until his death in 1956.

Bishop Oxnam is a native of California and received earned degrees from the University of Southern California and Boston University.

Methodist Bishop

In addition to presiding over the Washington area, which embraces the District of Columbia, Delaware, most of Maryland and parts of Pennsylvania and West Virginia, the prelate is president of the Council of Bishops.

He is founder, pastor and director of the Church of All Nations at Los Angeles. He has been a college professor and president.

The bishop is an author, editor and lecturer and his most recent book, "A Testament of Faith," was published in 1958.

Representing the graduates of Bennett on the program will be Dr. Thelma Adair of New York City, a member of the class of '38, who will make the tribute to Dr. Jones.

Bennett College To Hear Kurtz

The Rev. Morton R. Kurtz of Durham, executive director of the North Carolina Council of Churches, will be the first vesper speaker of the New Year at Bennett College Sunday at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

A native of Kansas City, Mo., and a graduate of the University of Kansas, the minister was called to his present post in 1951 and, at that time, was the youngest chief executive of a major council in the entire nation.

The Rev. Mr. Kurtz, an ordained Presbyterian minister, is a member of the State Advisory Committee on Educational Television and a member of the Governor's and National Traffic Safety Committees.

David Jones Given Praise By Oxnam

Dr. David D. Jones, who headed Bennett College from 1926 until 1955, was described yesterday as "a man who had faith in God and who believed that man's relation to God is personal."

The occasion was the annual service of remembrance and the speaker was Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, head of the Washington Area of the Methodist Church, who was a close friend of the late educator and family.

Referring to Dr. Jones as one of the "distinguished leaders of American education," Bishop Oxnam said:

"David D. Jones had to have religion to live the life he did. He would have understood the early Christians who brought Christianity to Europe. He had the same faith, and as it cost them something to have that faith, it also cost David D. Jones as he went about the task of building this institution."

Unfaltering Trust

Bishop Oxnam, in pointing out that "ideals are meaningful for most men when they are beheld incarnate in the lives of others," said that Dr. Jones was sustained by an unfaltering trust in Jesus Christ. "If you would know Him," he said, "you would have to get into His heart."

The prelate urged that the traditions which Dr. Jones established and nurtured be continued. "To use his words," he said, "'don't let anybody turn you 'round.'"

Also paying tribute to Dr. Jones, was Dr. Thelma Adair, of New York City, a member of the class of '38, who said that the late educator possessed many of the universals of greatness and was able to burn them into the hearts of the Bennett girls.

"He had," she said, "respect for others and their ideas, a burning faith in himself and the willingness to sacrifice for a cause. But no tribute to him would be complete without a tribute to his wife—Mrs. Susie Jones—who was not only his 'balance wheel' but the model to which he hoped the Bennett girl would aspire."

Cited—James Avery, left, New York City, public relations representative of the Esso Standard Oil Company, presents certificates to North Carolina winners in 4-H Club projects. The winners, at center, are Thurman Anderson Jr., Rowland; Dorothy Ramsey, Roxboro, and Marilyn Wilder, Fremont. They were among a group of 14 who took top honors in the club project program. Looking on, from right, is W. C. Cooper, 4-H Club leader with the A. & T. College Extension Service. The citations were presented at a luncheon meeting held at Bennett College and sponsored jointly by the oil firm and the A. & T. College Extension Service.

Packed Audience Sees "Living Madonnas" At Bennett College

GREENSBORO — An audience which filled every available space in Pfeiffer Chapel witnessed the annual "Living Madonnas" production at Bennett College, Sunday night.

The presentation, which officially ushered in the pre-Christmas season at the college, was based on the theme: "Madonnas by contemporary Negro Artists," and recreated with live models the works of nine artists.

Accompanying each showing in the pitch-dark chapel was music by the freshman choir, directed by Edward Lowe. Transitional music was provided by Clarence E. Wiseman, college organist.

The following are the paintings which were reproduced, the artists and the students who portrayed the Madonna in each of them:

1. The Annunciation, by Nunez I. Ramsey; Madonna—Miss Von Moore, of Norfolk, Va.;

2. The Mother and Child, by Eva Hamlin Miller; Madonna — Miss Icelean Davis, of Durham;

3. The Adoration of the Shepherds, by Clarence H. Phillips; Madonna—Miss Barbara Freeman, of Lawrenceville, Va.;

4. Our Lady of Perpetual Help by Van Gund Pierre-Noel; Madonna—Miss Louise Reid, of Morganton;

5. The Adoration of the Magi, by Sylvester Britton; Madonna—Miss Rebecca Farris of Montgomery, Ala.;

6. Adoration, by James L. Wells; Madonna — Miss Jacqueline Dove, of Kinston;

7. Mother and Child, by Charles W. Watts; Madonna—Miss Camilla Cheek, of Seagrove;

8. The Flight Into Egypt, by James C. McMillan; Madonna — Miss Anne Brown, of Winston-Salem, and

9. The Prince of Peace, by Lois Pierre-Noel; Madonna—Miss Darthula Barlow, of Roanoke, Va.

In the 12 months preceding June 30, 1959, North Carolina farmers installed about three million feet of tile and dug about 1,000 miles of open ditches.

BENNETT'S CANDIDATE---Miss Constance L. Colston, junior, of Charlotte, N. C., who was chosen by students at the Greensboro, N.C., institution to represent them in the "Miss National UNCF" contest, the winner of which will be announced at the annual inter-alumni council meeting to be held in Detroit, Michigan, February 27-28.

'True Message Of Christmas 3-D,' Dr. Lyman Tells Greensboro Body

GREENSBORO—"The true message of Christmas is three-dimensional Christian love," Dr. Mary Ely Lyman of New York City, declared in her vesper message at Bennett College Sunday.

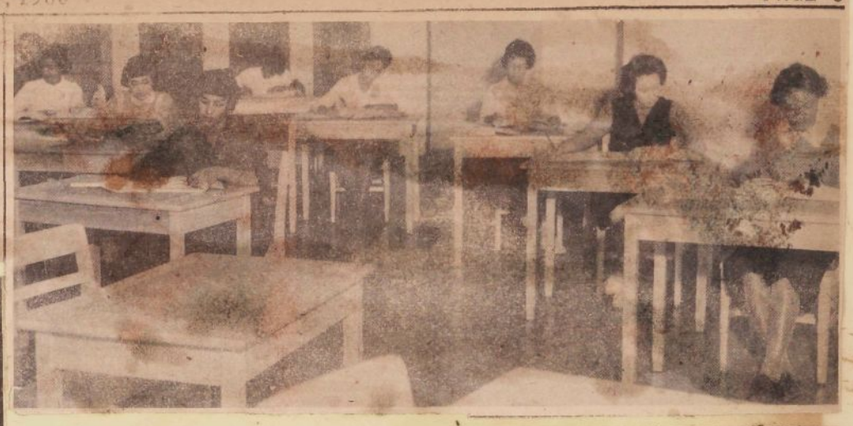
Dr. Lyman, outstanding educator-author and former dean of the Union Theological Seminary, spoke on "The True Meaning of Christmas." She deplored the increasing commercialization of Christmas and reminded her listeners that God so loved the world that He sent His Son into the world that it might be saved.

"We are a generation learning to live with tragedy," she said, "and it is not always easy to be joyous and serene. But Christian love which can go down to the depths of our tragic life can transform tragedy into beauty. Such love must not only be deep, but it must be broad enough to take in all mankind and high enough to exalt. This should be the heart of Christmas."

Living Madonnas At Bennett College

Miss Darthula Barlow, of Roanoke, Va., portrays the Madonna in "The Prince of Peace", painted by Lois Pierre-Noel, one of the nine tableaux presented during the "Living Madonnas" at Bennett College, Sunday night. Angels are Misses Diane Caldwell, Winston-Salem; Carolyn Owens, Binghamton, N. Y.; Mattilyn Talford, Chester, S. C.; Marylen Clyve, Houston, Texas; Catherine Rink, Morganton, N. C., and Barbara Mebane, Greensboro.

STUDYING MADE EASY---These residents of Pfeiffer Hall at Bennett College are shown getting out their assignments in the new study hall which the college has furnished on the third floor. Each of the six residence halls now has its own study room, equipped with comfortable tables, chairs and necessary reference books so that the young women who may not wish to go to the library, may study in quiet without leaving their residence. Reports are that the rooms are being well "patronized" and that the results have been most encouraging.



"IT WAS LIKE THIS"---That is what Claude McAllister, of New York City, seems to be saying to Miss Ida Goff, of Covington, Va., during the Harvest Ball at Bennett College. Listening attentively are Miss Shirley Hawkins, of Philadelphia, Pa., and William King, of Waynesboro, Ga. McAllister is a student at A & T College and King, of Morehouse.

LEARNING ABOUT UNCEF---Dr. William J. Trent, Jr., of New York City, executive director of the United Negro College Fund, explains some of the immediate goals of the fund to these Bennett college students following his address at the Greensboro institution. Left to right: Misses Laura F. Sawyer and Raemi Lancaster, both of Salisbury and Jo Ann Martin of Leaksville.

BEAUTIES IN HOLIDAY GARB.....These five Bennett College students model party dresses which they wore during the holiday season. In the usual order: Misses Brenda Saunders, Gastonia, N. C.; Sheila Caesar, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Elizabeth Payne, Boston, Mass.; Sharon Mizell, Hallandale, Florida, and Yvette Williams, Springfield, Mass.

Methodist Bishop Will Be Speaker At Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, head of the Washington area of the Methodist church, will be the speaker when the annual service of remembrance for Dr. David D. Jones is held at Bennett College on Sunday, Jan. 17.

Dr. Jones, who headed the college from 1926 — when it became a woman's college — until his death in 1956, was frequently associated with Bishop Oxnam in educational and religious endeavors.

A NATIVE Californian and a graduate of the University of Southern California and of Boston university, Bishop Oxnam is the recipient of more than a score of honorary degrees, one of them the Ll.D. awarded by Bennett college. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

In addition to presiding over the Washington area, which embraces the District of Columbia, Delaware, most of Maryland, and parts of Pennsylvania and West Virginia, the prelate is president of the Council of Bishops of the Methodist church; a member of the executive and central committees of the World Council of Churches, and vice president of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A.

FOUNDER-PASTOR and director of the Church of All Nations at Lost Angeles, Bishop Oxnam served for a number of years as a college professor and later as president of DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind., before being elected to the bishopric in 1936. Before coming to the Washington Area, he served in Omaha, Boston and New York.

Representing Bennett graduates on the program will be Dr. Thelma Adair of New York City, who will give a tribute to Dr. Jones.

MUSIC, MUSIC, MUSIC---Wendell P. Whalum, director of the Morehouse College Glee Club of Atlanta, Georgia, finds a willing audience in his two companions whose primary interest, like his, is in music. Listening attentively are Miss Lady Ann Shivers, left '59 graduate of Bennett College, now a student at the Westminster Choir College, Princeton, N. J. and Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, director of the Bennett College Choir, who was her mentor for four years. Photograph was made during intermission at the annual Harvest Ball at the Greensboro school.

Bishop Oxnam To Speak At Service of Remembrance

Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, head of the Washington Area of the Methodist Church, will be the speaker when the annual service of remembrance for Dr. David D. Jones is held at Bennett College Sundya, January 17, in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Dr. Jones, who headed the college from 1926 — when it became a Woman's college — until his death in 1956, was frequently associated with Bishop Oxnam in educational and religious endeavors, and they became close friends. Injuries sustained in an accident prevented Bishop Oxnam from filling an engagement to speak at last year's service.

A native Californian and a graduate of the University of Southern California and of Boston University, Bishop Oxnam is the recipient of more than a score of honorary degrees, one of them the LL.D awarded him by Bennett College in 1951. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

In addition to presiding over the Washington Area, which embraces the District of Columbia, Delaware, most of Maryland, and parts of Pennsylvania and West Virginia, the prelate is president of the Council of Bishops of the Methodist Church; a member of the executive and central committees of the World Council of Churches, and vice president of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A.

Founder-pastor and director of the Church of All Nations at Los Angeles, Bishop Oxnam served for a number of years as a college professor and later as president of DePauw University, Greencastle, Indiana, before being elected to the bishopric in 1936. Before coming to the Washington Area, he served in Omaha, Boston and New York.

A prolific author, editor and lecturer, Bishop Oxnam is a member of a number of learned societies. His most recent book, "A Testament of Faith," was published in 1958.

Representing the graduates of the college on the program will be Dr. Thelma Adair, of New York City, a member of the class of '38, who will give a tribute to Dr. Jones.

Miss Bundy, Mr. Smith exchange wedding vows

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn. — The sanctuary of the AME Zion Church, here, was the setting for the wedding of Miss Wilhelmina R. Bundy and Archie C. Smith, Jr. on Dec. 26.

The ceremony, at six in the evening, was performed by the Rev. Dewitt Dykes of Knoxville, who was assisted by the Rev. W. R. Williams, pastor of the church.

* * *

THE BRIDE is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Bundy, and the bridegroom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie C. Smith of Raleigh, N.C.

The church was decorated with baskets of white chrysanthemums and pompons. Seven-branched candelabra held burning tapers. Candles set in greenery adorned each window.

The program of wedding music was presented by Freddie Williams, organist and Mrs. Bobbie Caruthers, soloist.

* * *

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE by her father, the bride wore a wedding dress of white tissue taffeta designed with a scalloped scoop neckline. Chantilly lace covered the front bodice scattered with iridescent sequins. The long sleeves ended in points over the hands and the full skirt terminated into a chapel train.

Her veil of imported illusion fell from a half hat of Chantilly lace outlined in seed pearls. She carried a white Bible covered with Gardenias.

* * *

MAID OF HONOR was Miss Mille Ann Adams of Princeton, W. Va. Bridesmaids were Misses Carolyn Brown of Cleveland, Ohio, Nancy Williams of Morganton, N.C., and Mary L. Smith of Raleigh, sister of the bridegroom. Margaret Fields, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

The honor attendant and bridesmaids were identical ballerina dresses of iridescent taffeta. The dresses were styled on princess lines with wide cutted neklines, terminating into back streamers. The maid of honor wore mint green and the bridesmaids wore emerald green. They wore matching headdresses and carried white satin muffs covered with poinsettias.

* * *

THE BRIDEGROOM'S father was best man. Ushers were Alexander W. Smith, brother of the bridegroom; Samuel S. Bundy, brother of the bride; Edward Gibson, cousin of the bridegroom, Washington, D.C. and Charles Cousin of the bride, Detroit. Miss Willa Jones was flower girl and Jerry Bundy was ring bearer. Bonnie Jean Cousins was train bearer.

MRS. ARCHIE SMITH

The bride is a graduate of Langston High School and received her B.S. degree in premed at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C. She is currently doing graduate work at the University of Tennessee. She is a member of Alpha Kappa Mu and Beta Kappa Chi.

The bridegroom is a graduate of J. W. Ligon High School, Raleigh, and received his B.S. degree in business administration from A. and T. College, Greensboro. He is associated with the North Carolina Mutual Insurance Co., Washington, D.C.

* * *

FOR HER DAUGHTER'S wedding, Mrs. Bundy was attired in a waltz length pink lace dress over taffeta. Her accessories were pink and she wore white mums.

The bridegroom's mother chose a green lace gown over taffeta and pink accessories. Her flowers were pink roses.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained with a reception in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

During the evening the couple left for Washington, D.C. where they will make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dickerson, aunt and uncle of the bride, gave a rehearsal dinner on Christmas night.

FOUR SPEAKERS SPEAK ON "THE CHALLENGE OF CHANGE" AT BENNETT

"The Challenge of Change" was the subject of a panel discussion presented before the student body of Bennett College on Monday by four speakers representing the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Moderator was Dr. Gordon Lovejoy, Southeastern director of NCCJ, and panelists were Dr. David D. Stafford, sociologist, of Guilford College; Jack Berry, president of the Berry Coal and Oil Co., and Dr. William Reed, dean of the school of agriculture at A&T College.

There was general agreement that the world of tomorrow will be more a woman's world and that the darker nations of the world will exercise more and more leadership.

Because Americans are rapidly becoming a "rootless people" due to the increased mobility of its population, Dr. Stafford suggested that there is an urgent need to seek out new groupings and new values. Mr. Berry foresaw the need for a "crash program" in education which will produce "people with vision," and also suggested that more be done to cultivate the uncommitted and underdeveloped nations of the world to the democratic concept.

"What we do in America in the next ten years is far more important than what we say," Dr. Reed declared. He predicted that changes in thoughts and attitudes would come just as rapidly as technological changes.

REV. MORTON R. KURTZ SPEAKS AT BENNETT VESPER

"The most challenging goal ahead of us is not seeing how much farther we can go into outer space, but in learning how to live together in peace on this earth," the Rev. Morton R. Kurtz, of Durham declared in the first vesper service of the New Year at Bennett College Sunday.

The minister, who is executive director of the North Carolina Council of Churches, says that present-day Christians lack "the love for each other and the zeal for the Master" which marked the lives of the early Christians.

Referring to Christianity as a "revolutionary concept" and to the Sermon on the Mount as "the most revolutionary teaching that the world has know," the Rev. Mr. Kurtz said:

"The most revolutionary thing about Christianity is not its teachings, but the fact that men and women must be born again — made over for a new life. New men are expected to make a new environment, to make this world the kind of place that it should be."

Laws will help to reduce discrimination and inequalities, the minister stated, but the great need, as he sees it, is for man to permit Christ to rule the hearts of men as He rules the heavens

Bennett to hold memorial service

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, head of the Washington Area of the Methodist Church, will be the speaker at the annual service of remembrance for Dr. David D. Jones at Bennett College in Pfeiffer Chapel Sunday.

Dr. Jones, who headed the college from 1926 when it became a woman's college—until his death in 1956 was frequently associated with Bishop Oxnam in educational and religious endeavors, and they became close friends.

A native Californian and a graduate of the University of Southern California and of Boston University, Bishop Oxnam is the recipient of more than a score of honorary degrees, one of them the LL.D., awarded him by Bennett College in 1951.

Representing the graduates of the college on the program will be Dr. Thelma Adair of NYC, a member of the class of '38, who will give a tribute to Dr. Jones.

VESPER PROGRAM

Clarence E. Whiteman, Bennett college organist, will be presenting a musical program in Pfeiffer Chapel at 11 a.m. today. This program takes the place of the usual afternoon vesper service.

DR. W. J. TRENT SPEAKS AT BENNETT COLLEGE

"Life would indeed be a wondreful experience if we did not have to make decisions," Dr. William J. Trent, Jr., of New York City, declared in his vesper message at Bennett College Sunday morning.

Executive director of the United Negro College Fund and a former Bennett teacher, Dr. Trent is the son of Dr. William J. Trent, Sr., president-emeritus of Livingstone College at Salisbury.

Speaking on "Commitments to What?" Dr. Trent stated that individulas, and nations as well, have to make commitments one way or the other — for good or bad.

"I am a bit disturbed," he said, "about what we make our commitments to, what we stand for and how we dedicate our lives. Beside outside tensions that never seem to subside, there are constant struggles going on within ourselves.

DR. C. W. POLHEMUS TO SPEAK AT BENNETT

Dr. Cecil W. Polhemus, president of Louisburg College, Louisburg, N. C., will be the vesper speaker at Bennett College on Sunday, February 28.

ON ROLL CALL PROGRAM — These six Bennett College students who participated in a program at the annual roll call of the North Carolina Methodist Conference at the college recently are shown with Bishop Edgar A. Love, of the Baltimore area, who presided. Left to right, Misses Idajeanne Robinson, Oberlin, O.; Joan Didier, Jamaica, B. W. I.; Blance Tuboku-Metzger, Freetown, Sierra Leone; Jacqueline Daise, Wilmington N.C.; Marian Simmons, Fayetteville and Patricia Miles, Pittsburgh, Pa.

In Their Pretty Holiday Dresses

These Bennett students are shown in the party dresses they wore during the holidays. In the usual order: Misses Brenda Saunders, Gastonia, N. C.; Sheila Caesar, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Elizabeth Payne, Boston, Mass.; Sharon Mizell, Hallandale, Fla., and Yvette Williams, Springfield, Mass.

Bishop Oxnam to Speak for Rites Honoring Bennett College Founder

GREENSBORO—Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, head of the Washington Area of the Methodist Church, will be the speaker when the annual service of remembrance for Dr. David D. Jones is held at Bennett College, Sunday, January 17, in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Dr. Jones, who headed the college from 1926—when it became a woman's college—until his death in 1956, was frequently associated with Bishop Oxnam in educational and religious endeavors, and they became close friends. Injuries sustained in an accident prevented Bishop Oxnam from fulfilling an engagement to speak at last year's service.

A native Californian and a graduate of the University of Southern California and of Boston University, Bishop Oxnam is the recipient of more than a score of honorary degrees, one of them the LL.D. awarded him by Bennett College in 1951. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

In addition to presiding over the Washington Area, which embraces the District of Columbia, Delaware, most of Maryland, and parts of Pennsylvania and West Virginia, the prelate is president of the Council of Bishops of the Methodist Church, a member of the executive and central committees of the World Council of Churches of Christ in the USA.

Founder-pastor and director of the Church of All Nations at Los Angeles, Bishop Oxnam served for a number of years as a college professor and later as president of DePauw University, Greencastle, Indiana, before being elected to the bishopric in 1936. Before coming to the Washington Area, he served in Omaha, Boston and New York.

A prolific author, editor and lecturer, Bishop Oxnam is a member of a number of learned societies. His most recent book, "A Testament of Faith," was published in 1958.

Representing the graduates of the college on the program will be Dr. Thelma Adair, of New York City, a member of the class of '38, who will give a tribute to Dr. Jones.

100 Students May Attend Methodist Meet

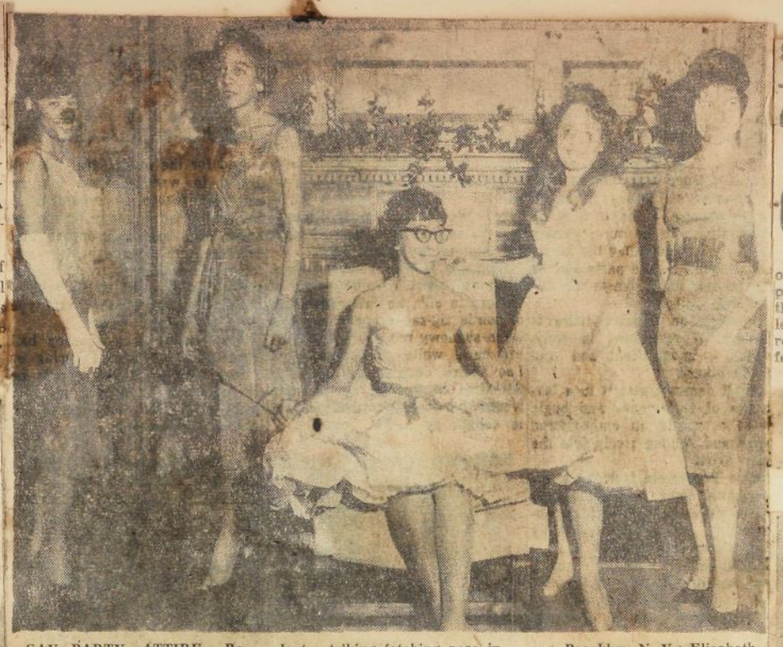
GREENSBORO — Approximately 10 students are expected to attend the North Carolina Methodist Student Conference at Bennett College, January 29-31.

Theme of the conference, being directed by the Rev. William M. Wells, Jr., state director, will be "God's Truth in a Changing Dimension."

Registration will take place at the West Market Street Methodist Church on the afternoon of Friday January 29, and all conference sessions will be held at Bennett, the first on Saturday morning. Speaking at these sessions will be Dr. Joseph Matthews, director of studies in the Christian Faith and Life Community in Austin, Texas. The entire college student body will join the conferees on Sunday at 11 a. m. in Pfeiffer Chapel when the message will be brought by Dr. Matthews. The college choir, directed by Mrs. Mary M. Crawford, will sing.

DR. MILNER SPEAKS AT BENNETT

Dr. Clyde A. Milner, president of Guilford (N.C.) College, will speak at the 4 p.m. vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, February 7.



GAY PARTY ATTIRE. Resplendent in pretty frocks which will take them through the social activities ahead this group of Bennett college students striking fetching pose in fascinating array. Greensboro, N. C., campus coeds are (from left) Misses Brenda Saunders, Gastonia, N. C.; Sheila Caesar, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Elizabeth Payne, Goston, Mass.; Sharon Mizell, Hallandale, Fla., and Yvette Williams, Springfield, Mass.

N. C. CONFERENCE GIFTS BENNETT $10,000

The North Carolina Conference reported contributions totaling approximately $10,000 to Bennett College Tuesday during their annual "roll call" in the campus Little Theatre.

Contributions specifically allocated to Bennett from the four districts composing the conference were $6,042. More than $3,500, yet to be paid in, will come to the college from the funds allocated to the conference's Christian higher education emphasis.

In addition to these amounts, Bishop Edgar A Love, of the Baltimore Area, who presided, presented a check of $1,164 to Bennett representing contributions toward Christian higher education emphasis from the Washington Conference of the denomination.

Last year, with an assist from the Delaware Conference, Bennett received nearly $25,000 to be applied on the construction of a new health and physical education building.

The Greensboro District, headed by the Rev. W. T. Brown, reported the largest amount for Bennett this year—$2,295. Next in line was the Western District, the Rev. H. W. Phillips, superintendent, with $1,570. The Winston District, headed by the Rev. L. A. Brown, reported $1,402, and the Laurinburg District, through its superintendent, the Rev. R. C. Sharpe, reported $775.

The four districts raised a total of $47,598.16 for all purposes during the year. Following the roll call, the ministers, many accompanied by their families, were guests of the college at a luncheon. Later, Bishop Love held a brief cabinet meeting.

'Living Madonnas' Production at Bennett

An audience which filled every available space in Pfeiffer Chapel witnessed the annual "Living Madonnas" production at Bennett College, Sunday night.

The presentation, which officially ushered in the pre-Christmas season at the college, was based on the theme: "Madonnas by Contemporary Negro Artists," and re-created with live models the works of nine artists.

Accompanying each showing in the pitch-dark chapel was music by the freshman choir, directed by Edward Lowe. Transitional music was provided by Clarence E. Whitman, college organist.

Following are the paintings which were reproduced, the artists and the students who portrayed the Madonna in each of them:

The Annunciation, by Numa J. Rousseve; Madonna — Miss Von Moore, of Norfolk, Va.;

The Mother and Child, by Eva Hamlin Miller; Madonna—Miss Icelean Davis, of Durham, N. C.;

The Adoration of the Shepherds, by Clarence H. Phillips; Madonna—Miss Barbara Freeman, of Lawrenceville, Va.;

Our Lady of Perpetual Help, by Vergniaud Pierre-Noel; Madonna—Miss Louise Reid, of Morganton, N. C.;

The Adoration of the Magi, by Sylvester Britton; Madonna—Miss Rebecca Farris, of Montgomery, Ala.;

Adoration, by James L. Wells; Madonna—Miss Jacqueline Dove of Kinston, N. C.;

Mother and Child, by Charles W. White; Madonna — Miss Camilla Cheek, of Seagrove, N. C.;

The Flight Into Egypt, by James C. McMillan; Madonna—Miss Anne Brown, of Winston-Salem, and

The Prince of Peace, by Lois Pierre-Noel; Madonna—Miss Darthula Barlow, of Roanoke, Va.

Bennett Gets Foundation Grant

news 1/24/60

A grant of $32,740 to Bennett College from the National Science Foundation for a summer science training institute for secondary school students, was announced Saturday by President Willa B. Player.

This is the second grant to the college in as many years and Dr. J. Henry Sayles, who headed the six-week program last year, again will direct it.

Dates Set.

Dates for this year's institute are June 20 to July 29 and arrangements are being made to accommodate 90 boys and girls of high ability and special talent and to give them the opportunity to gain increased understanding of mathematics, biology, chemistry and physics. As was the case last year, graduating seniors and rising seniors will be eligible for the institute program.

In addition to giving students an opportunity to learn at the hands of the Bennett faculty and from a number of outstanding visiting lecturers, the institute also will seek to help develop more cooperation between colleges and high schools in increasing the quality of education in the sciences.

Must Pay Half

Unlike last year, however, when the NSF bore all of the expenses of each student, this year's students will be obliged to pay one-half of the cost of their room, board and travel. All other expenses will be borne by the foundation.

Because of the limited enrollment, Dr. Sayles pointed out that persons interested should make early application to him. He also said that this year's resident faculty will be increased from seven to nine persons. Applications should be made to Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director Summer Science Institute, Bennett College, Greensboro.

"Challenge Of Change" Subject Of Bennett's Panel Discussion

GREENSBORO—"The Challenge of Change" was the subject of a panel discussion presented before the student body of Bennett College on Monday by four speakers representing the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Moderator was Dr. Gordon Lovejoy, Southeastern director of NCCJ, and panelists were Dr. David D. Stafford, sociologist, of Guilford College; Jack Berry, president of the Berry Coal and Oil Co., and Dr. William Reed, dean of the school of agriculture at A&T College.

There was general agreement that the world of tomorrow will be more a woman's world and that the darker nations of the world will exercise more and more leadership.

Because Americans are rapidly becoming a "rootless people" due to the increased mobility of its population, Dr. Stafford suggested that there is an urgent need to seek out new groupings and new values. Mr. Berry foresaw the need for a "crash program" in education which will produce "people with vision," and also suggested that more be done to cultivate the uncommitted and underdeveloped nations of the world to the democratic concept.

"What we do in America in the next ten years is far more important than what we say," Dr. Reed declared. He predicted that changes in thoughts and attitudes would come just as rapidly as technological changes.

Graves-Dodd Nuptials Solemnized In Annie Merner Pfeiffer Chapel

The Annie Merner Pfeiffer Chapel, Bennett College, was the setting for the candlelight marriage of Miss Janie M. Graves and Allen A. Dodd on Sunday, December 27, at 5:00 p.m.

Dr. Clinton C. Armstrong performed the ceremony. Nuptial music was presented by Miss Jacqueline Florance, organist, and Mrs. Barbara Raleigh, soloist.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard The groom is the son of Mr. Graves of Greensboro, N. C. Manual Dodd of Harrisburg, Pa.

Given in marriage by her uncle, James A. Graves, the bride wore a long chantilly lace gown designed with a scooped neckline, a fitted bodice complemented by a very bouffant skirt, and long sleeves ending in points over the hands.

Her fingertip illusion veil was attached to a halo of lace and tulle sprinkled with sequins and pearls. She carried white roses on a white prayer book.

Miss Claudette Graves, Woman's College sophomore and cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a slim white embossed taffeta dress with a green net overskirt, matching headdress and carried a white cascade of carnations.

The bridesmaids were Miss Ethel Graves, Yanceyville, Miss Vera Vincent, New York, Mrs. Luvenia Chavis and Miss Peggy Neal of Greensboro. They wore dresses of green embossed taffeta with white net overskirts identical in style to that of the honor attendant's with matching headpieces and slippers. Their bouquets were composed of white carnations with green ribbon streamers.

The bride's niece, Debora Davis, was flower girl. She wore a white embroidered organdy dress with a green cumberband.

Mr. Chester Dodd, cousin of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Bill Mock, James Vincent, Norman Little, and Charles Chambers all of Greensboro.

The grandmother of the bride wore a beige dress with matching accessories and a carnation corsage.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the residence of the bride. Hostesses were Misses Claudia Warren, Lillian Russell, and Claudine Graves. The newlyweds left for Harrisburg, Pa., immediately following the reception.

The new Mrs. Dodd is a graduate of Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., and is presently working there as secretary in the Thomas F. Holgate Library. She will join her husband permanently in June. He is a former A&T student and is now employed as clerk typist for the United Council of Churches, Harrisburg, Pa.

3-Day Meet Opens Today At Church

news 1/29/60

The annual North Carolina Methodist Student Conference will begin here today at West Market Street Methodist Church and will continue at Bennett College Saturday and Sunday.

Speaker for the three-day conference will be Dr. Joseph Matthews, director of Studies in the Christian Faith and Life Community in Austin, Texas. He will deliver four addresses.

The conference theme will be "God's Truth In a Changing Dimension." The conference is sponsored by the Methodist Student Movement of North Carolina and Louise Templin of Woman's College is chairman of the planning committee.

Colleges throughout the state that have a Methodist Youth Group will be represented.

Register Today

Registration will begin at 3:30 p.m. today at West Market Street Church, followed by dinner at 6 o'clock. Dr. Matthews will deliver his first address at 7:30 o'clock. His topic will be "The World in Western Civilization." A question period will follow and group discussions will begin at 9 o'clock.

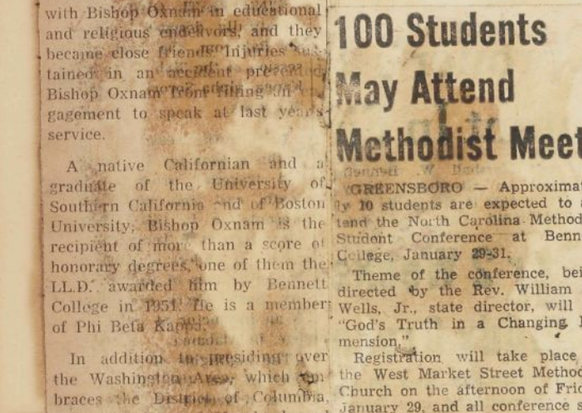
The conference reconvenes at Bennett College Saturday with a reading period beginning at 8:30 a.m., followed by a business meeting. Dr. Matthews will give his second address on "The New Church of the 20th Century" at 10:30 a.m. and a question period will follow.

Saturday afternoon will be devoted to business meetings and discussion groups and new conference officers will be elected. Virginia Turlington of Duke University is the current president.

At 7 p.m. the Wesley Players from Western Carolina College will present the 15th century drama, "Everyman." Dr. Matthews will give his third address on "The New Church on the University" at 8 p.m. This address will be followed by a question period and group discussions.

DR. JOSEPH MATTHEWS
Speaker

LOUISE TEMPLIN
Chairman



Lt. David Murray and Miss Betty Sue Bragg United In San Diego

Miss Betty Sue Bragg and Leon David Murray were married at 3:00 p.m., January 2, 1960 at Logan Temple A.M.E. Zion Church, San Diego, Calif., by the Reverend Leon Casson. The bride is granddaughter of Mrs. Alice Brooks of Greensboro, N. C. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Esther Dobbs of San Diego, California and Mr. Leon David Murray of Greensboro, North Carolina.

The bride is a graduate of Bennett College and is employed by the Greensboro City school system. The groom is a Lieutenant of the United States Army, stationed in Indianapolis, Indiana. He is a graduate of A&T College.

The bride was given in marriage by Mr. Watson Dobbs and had as her matron of honor, Mrs. Shirley Rostodba.

The bridegroom had Mr. Phillip Rostodba as his best man. Mrs. Essie Benton, organist and Miss Margaret Tallinger provided music.

The bride wore a white lace full length dress with long sleeves with a skirt of ten tiers. Her veil was crowned with pearls and sequins. She carried a white orchid on a Bible.

The feminine matron of honor wore a blue taffeta dress and a headpiece of blue feathers and a corsage of white carnations.

Dr. Player Heard During Convocation At Atlanta

ATLANTA, (ANP) — President Willa B. Player of Bennett College addressed the annual Atlanta University Center Convocation Sunday in Sisters Chapel, Spelman College. The convocation was sponsored by the six institutions in the Center, Atlanta University, the Interdenominational Theological Center, and Clark, Morehouse, Morris Brown and Spelman colleges.

Dr. Player, who has been president of Bennett since 1955, has been with the college since 1930 as instructor in French and Latin, director of admissions, coordinator of instructions, and vice-president. In 1953-43 she served on the visiting committee of the Southern Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges.

Memorial Services For Dr. David D. Jones Held At Bennett College

Dr. David D. Jones, who headed Bennett College from 1926 until 1955, was described Sunday as "a man who had faith in God and who believed that man's relation to the Eternal is personal."

The occasion was the annual service of remembrance and the speaker was Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, head of the Washington Area of the Methodist Church, who was a close friend of the late educator and his family.

Referring to Dr. Jones as one of the "distinguished leaders of American education," Bishop Oxnam said:

"David D. Jones had to have religion to live the life he did. He would have understood the early Christians who brought Christianity to Europe. He had the same faith, and, as it cost them something to have that faith, it also cost David D. Jones as he went about the task of building this institution."

Bishop Oxnam, in pointing out that "ideas are meaningful for most men when they are beheld incarnate in the lives of others," said that Dr. Jones was sustained by an unfaltering trust in Jesus Christ. "If you would know D. Jones," he said, "you would have to get into his heart."

The prelate urged that the traditions which Dr. Jones established and nurtured be continued. "To use his words," he said, "'don't let anybody turn you 'round.'"

Also paying tribute to Dr. Jones, was Dr. Thelma Adair, of New York City, a member of the class of '38, who said that the late educator possessed many of the universals of greatness and was able to burn them into the hearts of the Bennett girls.

"He had," she said, "respect for others and their ideals, a burning faith in himself and the willingness to sacrifice for a cause. But no tribute to him would be complete without a tribute to his wife—Mrs. Susie Jones—who was not only his 'balance wheel' but the model to which he hoped the Bennett girl would aspire."

RECITAL HELD

Contemporary American music for organ and brasses was played during a recital by Clarence E. Whiteman, Bennett College organist, in Pfeiffer Chapel yesterday. An ensemble, conducted by Hosea L. Taylor of the A&T College music faculty, assisted Whiteman.

Panelists at Bennett College discuss world of tomorrow

apr 1/23/60

GREENSBORO, N.C.—"The Challenge of Change" was the subject of a panel discussion presented before the student body of Bennett College on Monday by four speakers representing the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Moderator was Dr. Gordon Lovejoy, Southeastern director of NCCJ, and panelists were Dr. David D. Stafford, sociologist, Guilford College; Jack Berry, president of the Berry Coal and Oil Co.; and Dr. William Reed, dean of the school of agriculture at A. and T. College.

THERE WAS general agreement that the world of tomorrow will be more a woman's world and that the darker nations of the world will exercise more and more leadership.

Because Americans are rapidly becoming a "rootless people," due to the increased mobility of its population, Dr. Stafford suggested that there is an urgent need to seek out new groupings and new values.

MR. BERRY foresaw the need for a "crash program" in education which will produce "people with vision," and also suggested that more be done to cultivate the uncommitted and underdeveloped nations of the world to the democratic concept.

"What we do in America in the next 10 years is far more important than what we say," Dr. Reed declared. He predicted that changes in thoughts and attitudes would come just as rapidly as technological changes.

Two Bennett College teachers, Dr. E. Doris McKinney and Van S. Allen, have been researchers for the American Cancer Society, which is conducting a six-year cancer prevention study of selected families in Guilford County, N.C.

THEY HEAD BENNETT NEWSPAPER — Miss Carolyn James, of Saint Augustine, Fla. (seated) editor of the Bennett Banner, student newspaper, goes over plans for the next issue with top members of her staff. Standing, left to right, are Misses Merry Jean Sparrow, Covington, Va., news editor; Sandra McBride, Sumter, S. C., and Margaret Bailey, Fruitland, Mr., corresponding editor and Elizabeth Daise, Wilmington, fashion editor. All are juniors.

N. C. METHODIST STUDENT CONFERENCE TO BE HELD AT BENNETT COLLEGE JANUARY 29-31

Approximately 100 students are expected to attend the North Carolina Methodist Student Conference at Bennett College, January 29-31.

Theme of the conference, being directed by the Rev. William M. Wells, Jr., state director, will be "God's Truth in a Changing Dimension."

Registration will take place at the West Market Street Methodist Church on the afternoon of Friday, January 29, and all conference sessions will be held at Bennett, the first on Saturday morning. Speaking at these sessions will be Dr. Joseph Matthews, director of studies in the Christian Faith and Life Community in Austin, Texas. The entire college student body will join the conferences on Sunday at 11 a.m. in Pfeiffer Chaple when the message will be brought by Dr. Matthews. The college choir, directed by Mrs. Mary M. Crawford, will sing.

BENNETT COLLEGE

GREENSBORO, N.C. —Some 100 students are expected to attend the North Carolina Methodist Student Conference at Bennett College Friday through Sunday.

Dr. Joseph Matthews, director of studies in the Christian Faith and Life Comr unity in Austin, Texas, will speak at the sessions. Music will be offered by the college choir, directed by Mrs. Mary M. Crawford.

National Science Foundation Grants Bennett $32,740

A grant of $32,740 to Bennett College from the National Science Foundation, of Washington, D. C., for a summer science training institute for secondary school students, was announced by President Willa B. Player, this week.

This is the second grant to the college in as many years and Dr. J. Henry Sayles, who headed the six-week program last year, will again direct it.

Dates for this year's institute are June 20 to July 29 and arrangements are being made to accomodate 90 boys and girls of high ability and special talent and give them the opportunity to gain increased understanding of mathematics, biology, chemistry and physics. As was the case last year, graduating seniors and rising juniors and seniors will be eligible for the institute program.

In addition to giving these youngsters an opportunity to learn at the hands of the Bennett faculty and from a number of outstanding visiting lecturers, the institute will also seek to help develop more cooperation between colleges and high schools in increasing the quality of education in the sciences.

Said Dr. Sayles:

"The program will emphasize subject matter enrichment, the development of ability to perform basic laboratory manipulations and to interpret experimental observations. In addition to regular class and laboratory work, there will be tutorial conferences, informal discussions and seminars."

Unlike last year, however, when the NSF bore all of the expenses of each student, this year's students will be obliged to pay one half of the cost of their room, board and travel. All other expenses will be borne by the foundation.

Because of the limited enrollment, Dr. Sayles pointed out that persons interested should make early application to him. He also said that this year's resident faculty will be increased from seven to nine persons. Applications should be made to Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director Summer Science Institute, Bennett College, Greensboro.

DR. HOWARD THURMAN SPEAKS AT BENNETT

"If you have no sense of self, you cannot be at home with yourself or in the world," Dr. Howard Thurman, dean of the chapel at Boston University, told Bennett College students, here Friday.

Dr. Thurman, who, with Mrs. Thurman, is making a tour of American colleges and universities before going abroad, is the author of many books, among them "Footprints of a Dream," his most recent work, from which he quoted.

"Saddle your dreams before you ride them," he told the students. "They must be saddled by the hard facts of the world."

Dr. Thurman said that life asks three questions of each individual—Who are you? What do you want? How do you propose to get it?

"If you don't have an answer to the second question, then, life answers it for you. Once you have determined deep in your heart who you are and what you want of life, you must be careful not to be ruthless, brutal and callous in going after it. Goals attained by using others are not lasting ones nor do they give the inner satisfaction of noble achievement."

DR. MILNER SPEAKS AT BENNETT COLLEGE

"There is nothing more important in life than to constantly endeavor to discover the eternal dimensions of life," Dr. C. A. Milner, president of Guilford College, declared in his message to Bennett College students Sunday.

Dr. Milner said that there are three transcending or eternal dimensions of life. They are:

1. That there is and can be experienced a living and personal God.
2. That there are eternal values.
3. That there is everlasting life.

"As we endeavor to discover these dimensions," he said, "we will find that our vitality is God, that our direction is in Him, and that it is in Him that we move."

Dr. Millner urged the studnets to experience that which resides within them and to seek to develop their minds and spirits by new experiences and by re-experiences.

Durham's Rev. Kurtz Heard By Audience In Greensboro

GREENSBORO — "The most challenging goal ahead of us is not seeing how much farther we can go into outer space, but in learning how to live together in peace on this earth," the Rev. Morton R. Kurtz, of Durham declared in the first vesper service of the New Year at Bennett College Sunday.

The minister, who is executive direrter of the North Carolina Council of Churches, says that present-day Christians lack "the love for each other and the zeal for the Master" which marked the lives of the early Christians.

Referring to Christianity as a "revolutionary concept" and to the Sermon on the Mount as "the most revolutionary teaching that the world has known," the Rev. Mr. Kurtz said:

"The most revolutionary thing about Christianity is not its teachings, but the fact that men and women must be born again—made over for a new life. New men are expected to make a new environment, to make this world the kind of place that it should be."

Laws will help to reduce discrimination and inequalities, the minister stated, but the "great need," as he sees it, is for men to permit Christ to rule the hearts of men as He rules the heavens.

BENNETT—MT. HOLYOKE STUDENT-FACULTY EXCHANGE TO BEGIN

The annual student-faculty exchange program between Bennett College and Mount Holyoke College will be held this year from February 15 to 27, it was announced this week.

Six Bennett students — two seniors and four juniors — accompanied by Dr. Hobart S. Jarrett, chairman of the humanities division, will leave on February 13 for South Hadley, Mass. At the same time, six Mount Holyoke students and Dr. Lorraine W. Benner, associate professor of psychology and education, will be departing for Greensboro.

Making the trip from Bennett will be:

Misses Joan Didier, senior in fine arts, of Kingston, Jamaica; Lois Johnson, junior, English major, of Baltimore, Md.; Gwendolyn Mackel, junior, sociology major, of Chicago, Ill.; Marian Simmons, junior, music education major, of Fayetteville; Roslyn Smith, junior, sociology major, of Princeton, W. Va.; and Nancy Kirby, senior, sociology major, of Haddonfield, N. J.

From Mount Holyoke will come:

Misses Janet Hall, senior, psychology major, of Glen Ridge, N. J.; Gail Moffat, senior, mathematics major, of Scarsdale, N. Y.; Gretchen Schaff, senior, biochemistry major, of Syracuse, N. Y.; Barbara McMahon, junior, political science major, of Huntington, N. Y.; Susan Pogue, junior, English major, of Fort Smith, Ark.; and Carol Schwertz, junior, history major, of Kansas City, Mo.

Dr. Jarrett, holder of the Ph.D. degree from Syracuse University, will teach several English courses while Dr. Benner who is director of the Gorse Child Study Center at Mount Holyoke, will teach courses in psychology and education.

Student Church Meet to draw 100

GREENSBORO — Approximately 100 students are expected to attend the North Carolina Methodist Student Conference at Bennett College, January 29-31.

Theme of he conference, being directed by the Rev. William M. Wells, Jr., state director, will be "God's Truth in a Changing Dimension."

Registration will take place at the West Market Street Methodist Church on the afternoon of Friday, January 29, and all conference sessions will be held at Bennett, the first on Saturday morning. Speaking at these sessions will be Dr. Joseph Matthews, director of studies in the Christian Faith and Life Community in Austin, Texas. The entire college student body will join the conferees on Sunday at 11 a. m. in Pfeiffer Chapel when the message will be brought by Dr. Matthews. The college choir directed by Mrs. Mary M. Crawford, will sing.

SOCIAL SCIENCE HONORARY---Newly inducted members of Sigma Rho Sigma, national social science honorary, recently reactivated at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C. are shown in this photo. Reading from bottom to top, front row, are Misses Jacqueline Daise and Elizabeth Daise, of Wilmington, N. C.; Gloria Greene, Timmonsville, S. C.; Gwendolyn Mackel, Chicago, Ill.; second row, Misses Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, of Freetown, Sierra-Leone, West Africa; Juanita Wheeler, Thomasville, Ga.; Mary Ellen Bender, Leonia, N. J.; Jacqueline Boseman, Baltimore, Md.; third row, Misses Dorothy Jordan, Goldsboro, N. C.; Louise Pope, South Pittsburg, Tenn.; Laura Sawyer, Salisbury, N. C.; and Yvonne Redcross, Hampton, Va.

THEY HEAD BENNETT NEWSPAPER---Miss Carolyn James, of Saint Augustine, Fla. (seated) editor of the Bennett Banner, student newspaper, goes over plans for the next issue with top members of her staff. Standing, left to right, are Misses Merry Jean Sparrow, Covington, Va., news editor; Sandra McBride, Sumter, S. C. and Von Moore, Norfolk, Va., associate editors; Margaret Bailey, Fruitland, N., corresponding editor and Elizabeth Daise, Wilmington, N. C., feature editor. All are juniors.

Methodist Student Conference

Approximately 100 students are expected to attend the North Carolina Methodist Student Conference at Bennett College, Jan. 29-31.

The theme of the conference, being directed by the Rev. William M. Wells Jr., state director, will be "God's Truth in A Changing Dimension."

Registration will take place at the West Market Street Methodist Church on the afternoon of Friday, Jan. 29, and all conference sessions will be held at Bennett, the first on Saturday morning. Speaking at these sessions will be Dr. Joseph Matthews, director of studies in the Christian Faith and Life Community in Austin, Texas. The entire college student body will join the confrees on Sunday at 11 a. m. in Pfeiffer Chapel when the message will be brought by Dr. Matthews. The college choir, directed by Mrs. Mary M. Crawford, will sing.

Contemporary U. S. Music At Bennett

GREENSBORO — Contemporary music for organ and brasses was played during the recital by Clarence E. Whiteman, Bennett College organist, in Pfeiffer Chapel Sunday morning.

An ensemble, conducted by Hosea L. Taylor of the A&T College music faculty, assisted the artist in three of the six works played. Opening number was Normand Lockwood's "Concerto for Organ and Brasses," which was effectively played, particularly the larghetto movement.

The soothing strains of "Litany" by Myron Roberts, played with organ alone was followed by "The Hollow Men," a composition by Vincent Persichetti, with Robert Eason on trumpet.

Mr. Whiteman then played "Four Modern Preludes on Old Chorales" by Garth Edmundson and Searle Wright's "Prelude on Brother James' Air." Climax of the program came when brass, tympani and organ combined in Wright's "Rantasy on 'Wareham'".

Members of the ensemble, in addition to Mr. Eason, were: Henry Hunt, second trumpet; Glenn Gore, first trombone; Roy Beebe, second trombone, and Ernest McCoy, tympanist.

DR. F. D. PATTERSON TO SPEAK AT BENNETT VESPER

Dr. F. D. Patterson, president of the Phelps-Stokes Fund of New York City, and chairman of the board of trustees at Bennett College, will speak at the 4 p.m. vesper service at Bennett on Sunday, February 14.

Bennett College Gets Grant Of $350,000

United Press International

WASHINGTON—Bennett College at Greensboro, N. C., has received approval of a $350,000 loan from the Community Facilities Administration to finance construction of a woman's dormitory.

The college said it had to deny enrollment to 25 potential students because of a housing shortage. The new dormitory will house 106 students.

Getting Down To Cases

Miss Laura F. Sawyer, of Salisbury, N. C., a senior sociology major at Bennett College, discusses with her supervisor, Miss Velma Bell, a problem concerning one of the cases to which she has been assigned at the Travelers Aid-Family Service Association of Greensboro where she is doing her field work. This marks the first time that a Bennett student has been so assigned.

Methodist Meet Will Open Here This Afternoon

Registration for the annual North Carolina Methodist Conference will begin at 3:30 p.m. today at West Market Street Methodist Church.

The three-day conference will meet today at West Market Street Church and reconvene Saturday and Sunday at Bennett College.

Principal speaker will be Dr. Joseph Matthews of Austin, Tex., director of studies in the Christian Faith and Life Community of that city.

The conference, with a theme of "God's Truth in a Changing Dimension," is sponsored by the Methodist Student Movement of North Carolina. Louise Templin of Woman's College is chairman of the planning committeee.

New officers will be elected Saturday afternoon during a business session presided over by the retiring president, Virginia Turlington of Duke University.

The conference, which will be attended by representatives of North Carolina colleges which have a Methodist Youth Group, will close Sunday following a dinner at 12:30 p.m. in the Bennett College Student Union.

Dr. Player Speaks

ATLANTA, Ga.—The obligation of today's students to carry on the unfinished business of democracy was emphasized by President Willa B. Player of Bennett College in a recent speech at the Atlanta University Center Convocation. "Every little contact where you express deep regard for the dignity and worth of the person is contributing to the unfinished business of democracy," she said.

SOCIAL SCIENCE HONORARY — Newly inductes members of Sigma Rho Sigma, national social science honorary society, recently reactivated at Bennett college, Greensboro, N. C., are shown in this photo. From bottom to top, front row, are Misses Jacqueline Daise and Elizabeth Daise, Wilmington, N. C.; Gloria Greene, Timmonsville, S. C.; Gwendolyn Mackel, Chicago, Ill. Second row: Misses Blanche Tuboku - Metzger, Freetown, Sierra-Leone, West Africa; Juanita Wheeler, Thomasville, Ga.; Mary Ellen Bender, Leonia, N. J.; Jacqueline Boseman, Baltimore, Md. Third row: Misses Dorothy Jordan, Goldsboro, N. C.; Louise Pope, South Pittsburg, Tenn.; Laura Sawyer, Salisbury, N. C., and Yvonne Redcross, Hampton, Va.

SOCIAL SCIENCE HONORARY — Newly inducted members of Sigma Rho Sigma, national social science honorary, recently reactivated at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., are shown in this photo. Bottom to top, front row: Misses Jacqueline Daise and Elizabeth Daise of Wilmington N. C.; Gloria Greene, Timmonsville, S. C.; Gwendolyn Mackey, Chicago, Ill. Second row: Misses Blanche Tuboku-Metzger of Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa; Juanita Wheeler, Thomasvile, Ga.; Mary Ellen Bender, Leonia, N. J.; Jacqueline Boseman, Baltimore, Md. Third row: Misses Dorothy Jordan, Goldsboro, N. C.; Louise Pope, South Pittsburg, Tenn.; Laura Sawyer, Salisbury, N. C., and Yvonne Redcross, Hampton, Va.

Bennett-Mount Holyoke Exchange Program Set

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The annual student faculty exchange program between Bennett College and Mount Holyoke College will be held this year from February 15 to 27, it was announced this week.

seniors and four juniors - accompanied by Dr. Hobart S. Jarrett, chairman of the humanities division, will leave on February 13 for South Hadley, Massachusetts. At the same time, six Mount Holyoke students and Dr. Lorraine W. Benner, associate professor of psychology and education, will be departing for Greensboro.

MAKING THE TRIP from Bennett will be:

Miss Joan Didier, senior in fine arts, of Kingston, Jamaica; Lois Johnson, junior, English major, of Baltimore, Md.; Gwendolyn Mackel, junior, sociology major, of Chicago, Ill.; Marian Simmons, junior, music education major, of Fayetteville; Roslyn Smith, junior, sociology major, of Princeton, W. Va.; and Nancy Kirby, senior, sociology major of Haddonfield, N. J.

FROM MOUNT HOLYOKE will come:

Misses Janet Hall, senior, psychology major, of Glen Ridge, N. J.; Gail Moffat, senior, mathematics major, of Scarsdale, N. Y.; Gretchen Schaff, senior, bio-chemistry major, of Syracuse, N. Y.; Susan Pogue, junior, English major, of Fort Smith, Ark.; and Carol Schwertz, junior, history major, of Kansas City, Mo.

DR. JARRETT, holder of the Ph.D. degree from Syracuse University, will teach several English courses while Dr. Benner who is director of the Gorse Child Study Center at Mount Holyoke, will teach courses in psychology and education.

Dr. Joseph Matthews Speaks At Bennett Methodist Conference

"The free man is the man who is free to be present to life — who no longer has to strive to justify himself," Dr. Joseph W. Matthews, of Austin, Texas, declared in his sermon which marked the close of the annual North Carolina Methodist Student Conference at Bennett College, Sunday.

The sermon one of four delivered during the two-day sessions by the minister, who is director of studies in the Christian Faith and Life Community in Austin, was on "The New Man in the New World."

The more than 150 student representatives who were joined in worship by the Bennett student body, heard Dr. Matthews criticize the individual who is always seeking the advice and council of others on how to act.

"This individual," he said, "does not want to take the responsibility for making decisions. He wants someone to keep his conscience for him. On the other hand, the free man makes his own decisions and is willing to accept whatever consequences follow."

Dr. Matthews reminded the students that the time to live is now, not in some distant future when they have left the college campus. "Every time we affirm one thing, we negate another," he declared.

The following officers were elected:

Jerry Barrier, president, Duke University; Charles Stanley, vice president, Appalachian State College; Ann Boyd, secretary, High Point College; Von Burton, treasurer, Livingstone College, and Jane Folger, publicity chairman, Woman's College.

President Player Addresses Students At Atlanta U. Center Convocation

Atlanta, Georgia, January 28—Special—The obligation of today's students to carry on the unfinished business of democracy was emphasized by resident Willa B Player of Bennett College, speaker at the cant day

Atlanta University Center Convocation. "Every little contact where you express deep regard for the dignity and worth of the person is contributing to the unfinished business of democracy," she said.

President Player urged the positive approach for the new year rather than the negativism of conventional resolutions, and drew four main conclusions which she based on remembering and profiting from the past.

From Dante's Divine Comedy she encouraged the students to "trudge to the light of excellence, truth, high achievement and knowledge." From the life of George Washington Carver she exemplified creative imagination. The power of one gentle person who would not move to bring about concerted action by 50,000 people was cited from Martin Luther King's Stride Toward Freedom, whereas Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg Address furnished her the theme of the unfinished business of democracy.

President Rufus E. Clement of Atlanta University presided at the convocation. The speaker was introduced by President Benjamin E. Mays of Morehouse College. President Harry V. Richardson of the Interdenominational Theological Center pronounced the benediction. The other sponsoring institution is Morris Brown College, of which Dr. Frank Cunningham is president.

Music was furnished by the Morris Brown College Ensemble, a quiet from Clark College, and the Atlanta- Morehouse- Spelman Chorus. Mrs. Lilla Joyce Finch of Spelman College played the organ prelude and postlude.

IN HONORARY SOCIETY — Newly inducted members of Sigma Rho Sigma, national social science honor society, at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C. are, bottom to top; Misses Jacqueline Daise and Elizabeth Daise of Wilmington, N.C., Gloria Greene of Timmonsville, S.C., Gwendolyn Mackel of Chicago, Ill., Blanche Tuboku-Metzger of Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa, Juanita Wheeler of Thomasville, Ga., Mary Ellen Bender of Leonia, N.J., Jacqueline Boseman of Baltimore, Dorothy Jordan of Goldboro, N.C., Louise Pope of South Pittsburg, Tenn., Laura Sawyer of Salisbury, N.C., and Yvonne Redorose of Hampton, Va.

Bennett College Gets Funds to Establish Summer Science Institute Program for High School Students

GREENSBORO—A grant of $32,740 to Bennett College from the National Science Foundation, of Washington, D. C., for a summer science training institute for secondary school students, was announced by President Willa B. Player, this week.

This is the second grant to the college in as many years and Dr. J. Henry Sayles, who headed the six-week program last year, will again direct it.

Dates for this year's institute are June 20 to July 29 and arrangements are being made to accomodate 90 boys and girls of high ability and special talent and give them the opportunity to gain increased understanding of mathematics, biology, chemistry and physics. As was the case last year, graduating seniors and rising juniors and seniors will be eligible for the institute program.

In addition to giving these youngsters an opportunity to learn at the hands of the Bennett faculty and from a number of outstanding visiting lecturers, the institute will also seek to help develop more cooperation between colleges and high schools in increasing the quality of education in the sciences.

Dr. Sayles:

"The program will emphasize subject matter enrichment, the development of ability to perform basic laboratory manipulations and to interpret experimental observations. In addition to regular class and laboratory work, there will be tutorial conferences, informal discussions and seminars."

Unlike last year, however, when the NSF bore all of the expenses of each student, this year's students will be obliged to pay one half of the cost of their room, board and travel. All other expenses will be borne by the foundation.

Because of the limited enrollment, Dr. Sayles pointed out that persons interested should make early application to him. He also said that this year's resident faculty will be increased from seven to nine persons. Applications should be made to Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director Summer Science Institute, Bennett College, Greensboro.

Miss Constance L. Colston, junior, of Charlotte, N.C. has been chosen by students at the Greensboro, N.C. institution to represent them in the "Miss National United Negro College Fund" contest Winser will be announced on late date.

Constance L. Colston, a junior from Charlotte, N.C., has been selected by Bennett College, Greensboro, to represent that institution in the "Miss National United Negro College Fund" contest.

National selection will be announced at the annual inter-alumni council meeting in Detroit, Mich., at the end of this month.

Students' Role In Democracy Is Outlined

The obligation of today's students to carry on the unfinished business of democracy was emphasized by President Willa B. Player of Bennett College, speaker at the Atlanta University Center Convocation. "Every Little Contact where you express deep regard for the dignity and worth of the person is contributing to the unfinished business of democracy," she said.

President Player urged the positive approach for the new year rather than the negativism of conventional resolutions, and drew four main conclusions which she based on remembering and profiting from the past.

From Dante's Divine Comedy she encouraged the students to "trudge to the light of excellence, truth, high achievement and knowledge." From the life of George Washington Carver she exemplified creative imagination. The power of one gentle person who would not move to bring about concerted action by 50,000 people was cited from Martin Luther King's Stride Toward Freedom, whereas Abraham Lincoln Gettysburg Address furnished her the theme of the unfinished business of democracy.

President R. E. Clement of Atlanta University presided at the convocation. The speaker was introduced by President Benjamin E. Mays of Morehouse College. President Albert E. Manley of Clark College offered prayer, and President Harry V. Richardson of the Interdenominational Theological Center pronounced the benediction. The other sponsoring institution is Morris Brown College of which Dr. Frank Cunningham is president.

Music was furnished by the Morris Brown College Ensemble, a duet from Clark College, and the Atlanta-Morehouse-Spelman Chorus. Mrs. Lilla Joyce Finch of Spelman College played the organ prelude and postlude.

THE AYES HAVE IT, YES?—It would take a pretty heartless hombre to give anegative reply to the plea of these two Bennett College juniors who are self-appointed aids to Dan Cupid. In the usual order, they are Misses Lynda Hill, of Winston-Salem and Joyce Pullum, of Baltimore, Maryland.

Bennett's Exchange Program With Mt. Holyoke College Begins

GREENSBORO—The annual student-faculty exchange program between Bennett College and Mount Holyoke College will be held this year from February 15 to 27, it was announced this week.

Six Bennett students—2 seniors and 4 juniors—accompanied by Dr. Hobart S. Jarrett, chairman of the humanities division, will leave on February 13 for South Hadley, Massachusetts. At the same time, six Mount Holyoke students and Dr. Lorraine W. Benner, associated professor of psychology and education, will be departing for Greensboro.

Making the trip from Bennett will be:

Misses Joan Didier, senior in fine arts, of Kingston, Jamaica; Lois Johnson, junior, English major, of Baltimore, Md.; Gwendolyn Mackel, junior, sociology major, of Chicago, Ill.; Marian Simmons, junior, music education major, of Fayetteville; Rosalyn Smith, junior, sociology major, of Princeton, W. Va.; and Nancy Kirby, senior, sociology major, of Haddonfield, N. J.

Sitdowns Are Held Inevitable

Ex-College Head Talks At Bennett

A belief that student protests against discrimination which began in Greensboro and have since spread to other cities and states, were "inevitable" and a hope that "constructive-minded citizens join forces in resolving the issue," were expressed here yesterday by Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, of New York City, former president of Tuskegee Institute.

Dr. Patterson, now director of the Phelps-Stokes Fund, an educational foundation with offices in New York City, and chairman of the Bennett College board of trustees, made the following statement during a visit here:

"To regret that anything happens to disturb the peace and tranquility of a community in its race relations is understandable, but once an issue has been joined or faced up to, there should be no turning back until the issue has been successfully resolved.

'Protest Inevitable'

"This protest against discrimination on the basis of race was inevitable. Unless all that is said about democracy and what it stands for is completely without meaning, this organized and orderly protest is a logical outgrowth of the democratic process.

"Segregation on the basis of race, even without tangible inequities, is morally wrong. It hurts all who are a part of it. For it is a needless and cruel affront to the dignity of one race and an encouragement to arrogance and bigotry in the other. Therefore, both races suffer.

"Unfortunately, custom and traditional relationships between the races in the south have been such as to permit the day-to-day impersonal contacts which are necessary for normal existence to be confused with contacts of a personal and social nature which do not occur unless mutually agreeable. The eating in public places by people who are perfect strangers can mean only one thing, and that is that they are both or severally hungry," he said.

"I hope that this issue will be promptly solved in line with the

Dr. Patterson Is Speaker At Bennett

The contributions of three Americans of Negro ancestry were highlighted by Dr. Frederick D. Patterson of New York City, in his vesper address at Bennett College yesterday.

Dr. Patterson, former president of Tuskegee Institute in Alabama and now director of the Phelps-Stokes Fund, is chairman of the Bennett board of trustees. He cited incidents from the lives of Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, Dr. Robert R. Moton and Dr. George Washington Carver, all of whom he knew intimately, to focus on the observance of Negro History Week.

Mrs. Bethune founded Bethune-Dookman College at Daytona Beach, Fla. and as a good friend of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, was often at the White House. Dr. Moton, the immediate successor of Booker T. Washington as president of Tuskegee Institute, was recalled as the man, who despite threats of the Ku Klux Klan, insisted that the Veterans Administration Hospital at Tuskegee be staffed by Negro professionals.

The contributions of Dr. Carver —the miracles which he wrought with the sweet potato and peanut —are matters of international knowledge, Dr. Patterson pointed out. "Dr. Carver," he said, "was a perfect blend of the scientific, the artistic and the religious. He was dedicated, not to science, but to mankind."

Dr. Patterson said that "these were three great Americans, regardless of race, creed or color," and urged the students to take UP lesson from the lives of persons who did much to move America forward.

THE AYES HAVE IT, YES?---It would take a pretty heartless hombre to give a negative reply to the plea of these two Bennett College juniors who are self-appointed aides to Dan Cupid. In the usual order, they are Misses Lynda Hill, of Winston-Salem and Joyce Pullum, of Baltimore, Maryland.

Eight Bennett Students Complete Requirement For Graduation

Eight Bennett College seniors —five of them elementary education majors—completed their academic requirements for graduation at the close of the first semester last week.

They will join their classmates in May for commencement exercises.

In the group are: Misses Margaret Dula, Lenoir; Beatrice Gregory, Princeton, N. J.; Lena McMillan, Fairmont, N. C.; Ruby Wilson, Greenville, N. C.; and Maderia Young, Snow Hill, Ala., all elementary education majors; Daisy Flowers, Raeford, English; Elizabeth Pope, South Pittsburg, Tenn., Social Science, and Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, Sierra Leone, W. Africa, History.

As the second semester began on Monday, nine students — three of them entering freshman and five returning upperclassmen — joined the campus community.

Entering freshmen are Misses Katie Cooper, of Johnsonville, S. S.; Randy Hunter, of Horatio, S. C.; and Vivian Vance, of Philadelphia, Pa. Miss Eleanor Fulton, a transfer student from Morristown, Tenn.; enters with junior standing.

Returning students include Mrs. Nettie Baldwin, junior, of Graham, N. C.; Mrs. Carolyn Henry, junior, of Perry Point, Md.; Misses Dolores Finger, junior, of Hickory, N. C.; Sonja Lakin, sophomore, of Durham, and Catherine Lawson, senior, of Lexington, Va.

DR. JAMES S. THOMAS TO SPEAK AT VESPER

Dr. James S. Thomas, Nashville, Tenn., representing the Board of Education of the Methodist Church, will speak at the 4 p. m. vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, February 21.

Bennett College receives grant

GREENSBORO, N.C. — A grant of $32,740 to Bennett College from the National Science Foundation of Washington, D.C., for a summer science training institute for secondary by President Willa B. Player, this week.

This is the second grant to the college in as many years and Dr. J. Henry Sayles, who headed the six-week program last year, will again direct it.

Dates for this year's institute are June 20 to July 29 and arrangements are being made to girls of high ability and special talent and give them the opportunity to gain increased understanding of mathematics biology, chemistry and physics. As was the case last year, graduating seniors and rising juniors and seniors will be eligible for the institute program.

In addition to giving these youngsters an opportunity to learn at the hands of the Bennett faculty and from a number of outstanding visiting lecturers, the institute will also seek to help develop more cooperation between colleges and high schools in increasing the quality of education in the sciences.

Eight Seniors At Bennett End Cadet Teaching

GREENSBORO — Eight Bennett College seniors - five of them elementary educations majors - completed their academic requirements for graduation at the close of the first semester last week.

They will join their classmates in May for commencement exercises.

In the group are: Misses Margaret Dula, Lenoir; Beatrice Gregory, Princeton, N. J.; Lena McMillan, Fairmont; Ruby Wilson, Greenville, N. C.; and Maderia Young, Snow Hill, Ala., all elementary education majors; Daisy Flowers, Raeford, English; Elizabeth Pope, South Pittsburg, Tenn., Social Science, and Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, Sierra Leone, W. Africa, History.

Russell Sugarmon Bennett speaker

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Russell B. Sugarmon Jr., attorney of Memphis, Tenn., delivered two addresses at Bennett College on Friday to highlight the annual forum sponsored by the Social Science Core.

The attorney, who last August made political history in his home town by placing second in the municipal election for commissioner of public works, told of some of his experiences in getting out the vote.

A graduate of Rutgers University and of the Harvard University Law School, Mr. Sugarmon spoke on "The Ballot as a Minority's Ticket to Progress" and "Finding A Workable Relationship Between Labor and the Negro Vote in the South."

GETTING TO THE HEART OF THE MATTER— These Bennett College freshmen and their escorts typify the mood of the Valentine Day Ball at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., last week. The party marked the break between semesters. Left to right: Charles Jones of Johnson C. Smith University; Miss Ingrid Wynne of Philadelphia, Pa.; John McLaughlin of A. & T. College, and Miss Sharon Mizell of Hallandale, Fla.

Dr. Rosey E. Posey To Speak At Bennett

International scholar Dr. Rosey E. Pool, on a special three-month lecture and research tour of member colleges and universities of the United Negro College Fund, will be at Bennett College February 24-26, it was announced this week.

Author, linguist and teacher, Dr. Pool will share more than 30 years of study in American Negro poetry and music with students and faculty. Her tour includes 27 of the 33 UNCF campuses during January, February and March. This program was arranged as one of the special services provided by the Fund for its member colleges.

Dr. Pool, who was born in Amsterdam, Holland, is a resident of London, England. She is continuing her studies in Negro literature in the United States on a Fulbright Fellowship grant. Two UNCF member universities — Atlanta and Fisk —are sponsors for her research projects.

Dr. Pool's latest book is an anthology of poetry by American Negroes, "I Saw How Black I Was," published with both the original English texts and Dutch translations. Friendships with Langston Hughes, Arna Bontemps, Harold Jackman and Arthur Spingarn have given her valuable assistance in her work. Over the years she has written many essays and commentaries on Negro contributions to American literature.

PHILLIPS TO SERVE AS CONSULTANT

George O. Phillips, instructor in audio-visual education at Bennett College, will serve as consultant at the national convention of the Department of Audio-Visual Instruction of the National Education Association in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Mr. Phillips will be a consultant for the individual schools' program during the convention which will be held February 29 through March 4 at the Nethreland-Hilton Hotel.

Bennett Received Grant Of $32,740 From N. S. F.

Greensboro, N. C.—A grant of $32,740 to Bennett College from the National Science Foundation, of Washington, D. C., for a summer science training institute for secondary school students, was announced by President Willa B. Player, this week.

This is the second grant to the college in as many years and Dr. J. Henry Sayles, who headed the six-week program last year, will again direct it.

Dates for this year's institute are June 20 to July and arrangements are being made to accomodate 90 boys and girls of girls of high ability and special talent and give them the opportunity to gain increased understanding of mathematics, biology, chemistry and physics. As was the case last year, graduating seniors and rising juniors seniors will be eligible for the institute program.

In addition to giving these youngsters an opportunity to learn at the hands of the Bennett faculty and from a number of outstanding visiting lecturers, the institute will also seek to help develop more cooperation between colleges and high schools in increasing the quality of education in the sciences.

Said Dr. Sayles:

"The program will emphasize subject matter enrichment, the development of ability to perform basic laboratory manipulations and to interpret experimental observations. In addition to regular class and laboratory work, there will be tutorial conferences, informal discussions and seminars."

Unlike last year, however, when the NSF bore all of the expenses of each student, this year's students will be obliged to pay one half of the cost of their room, board and travel. All other expenses will be borne by the foundation.

Because of the limited enrollment, Dr. Sayles pointed out that persons interested should make early application to him. He also said that this year's resident faculty will be increased from seven to nine persons. Applications should be made to Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director Summer Science Institute, Bennett College, Greensboro.

Mrs. Susie W. Jones cited at Bennett

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Mrs. Susie W. Jones, director of admissions at Bennett College, was honored here Sunday when a new nine-room annex to the David D. Jones School was dedicated to her.

Mrs. Jones is the wife of the late president of Bennett for whom the school was named. A portrait of her was presented to the school.

Presiding at the exercises was Mrs. Gladys D. Wood, principal, who said that the main job of education, now, as it has always been, is "to help young people to reach the point where they think well of themselves and can look any man in the eye."

Will You Be My Valentine?" J+G 2/13/60

It would take a pretty heartless hombre to give a negative reply to the plea of these two lovely Bennett College juniors who are self-appointed aides to Dan Cupid. In the usual order, they are Misses Lynda Hill, of Winston-Salem and Joyce Pullum, of Baltimore, Md.

"Free Man" Topic Of Dr. Matthews' Talk At Bennett College

Evening 2/1/60

GREENSBORO — "The free man" is the man who is free to be present to life, who no longer has to strive to justify himself," Dr. Joseph W. Matthews, of Austin, Texas, declared in his sermon which marked the close of the annual North Carolina Methodist Student Conference at Bennett College, Sunday.

The sermon, one of four delivered during the two-day sessions by the minister who is director of studies in the Christian Faith and Life Community in Austin, was on "The New Man in the New World."

The more than 150 student representatives who were joined in worship by the Bennett student body, heard Dr. Matthews criticize the individual who is always seeking the advice and counsel of others on how to act.

"This individual," he said, "does not want to take the responsibility for making decisions. He wants someone to keep his conscience for him. On the other hand, the free man makes his own decisions and is willing to accept whatever consequences follow."

Dr. Matthews reminded the students that the time to live is now, not in some distant future when they have left the college campus. "Every time we affirm one thing, we negate another," he declard.

The following officers were elected:

Jerry Bayder, president, Duke University; Charles Stanley, vice-president, Appalachian State College; Ann Boyd, secretary, High Point College; Von Burton, treasurer, Livingstone College, and Jane Folger, publicity chairman, Woman's college.

School Annex Is Dedicated

Approximately 100 people attended the dedication of the new annex of David D. Jones School yesterday.

Mrs. Gladys D. Woods, principal of the school, presided. The annex was dedicated to Mrs. Susie Williams Jones, wife of the late Dr. David Jones for whom the school was named.

Mrs. Woods said that the main job of education now, as it has been, is "to help young people to reach the point where they think well of themselves and can look any man in the eye."

A portrait of Mrs. Jones was presented to the school by Jocelyn Duren of the first grade and accepted by Janice Davis of the second grade.

Bennett's Candidate

Miss Constance L. Colston, junior, of Charlotte, N. C., who was chosen by students at the Greensboro, N. C., institution to represent them in the "Miss National UNCF" contest, the winner of which will be announced at the annual inter-alumni council meeting to be held in Detroit, Mich., Feb. 27-28. 29- 2/20/60

DR. PATTERSON URGES STUDENTS TO PROTEST AGAINST DISCRIMINATION

A belief that student protests against discrimination which began in Greensboro and have since spread to other cities and states, were "inevitable" and a hope that "constructive-minded citizens join forces in resolving the issue," were expressed here Sunday by Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, of New York City, former president of Tuskege (Ala.) Institute.

Dr. Patterson, now director of the Phelps-Stokes Fund and chairman of the Bennett College board of trustees, made the following statement:

"To regret that anything happens to disturb the peace and tranquility of a community in its race relations is understandable, but once an issue has been joined or faced up to, there should be no turning back until the issue has been successfully resolved.

"This protest against discrimination on the basis of race was inevitable. Unless all that is said about democracy and what it stands for is completely without meaning, this organized and orderly protest is a logical outgrowth of the democratic process.

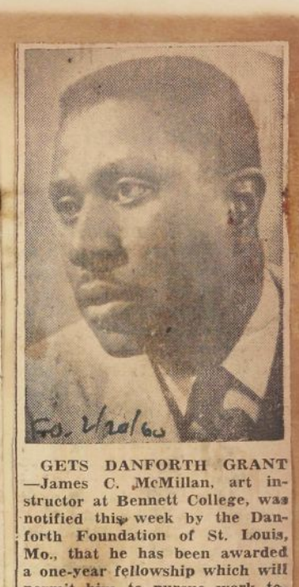
"Segregation on the basis of race, even without tangible inequities, is morally wrong. It hurts all who are a part of it. For it is a needless and cruel affront to the dignity of one race and an encouragement to arrogance and bigotry in the other. Therefore, both races suffer.

"Unfortunately, custom and the south have been such as to permit the day-to-day impersonal contacts which are necessary for normal existence to be confused with contacts of a personal and social nature which do not occur unless mutually agreeable. The eating in public places by people who are perfect strangers can mean only one thing, and that is that they are both or severally hungry.

"I hope that this issue will be promptly solved in line with the wise suggestions occurring in the Greensboro daily press. The change in relationships called for is a small one, that I feel confident will be accepted by the citizens of Greensboro if a firm position of no discrimination is adopted and enforced.

"If such a decision is not forthcoming, then the quiet, orderly and dignified protest that was so wisely and courageously begun, of course will be continued and could not be expected to be otherwise. This, in an enlightened community, can happen completely within the framework of law and order.

"I hope that the constructive-minded citizens of Greensboro will offer to the south and the nation the example of wisdom and decency which many over the nation — both Negro and white—are hoping for."



GETS DANFORTH GRANT

—James C. McMillan, art instructor at Bennett College, was notified this week by the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Mo., that he has been awarded a one-year fellowship which will permit him to pursue work toward his doctorate in the field of fine arts. Mr. McMillan will enroll in the doctoral program at Syracuse University and begin work in the fall.

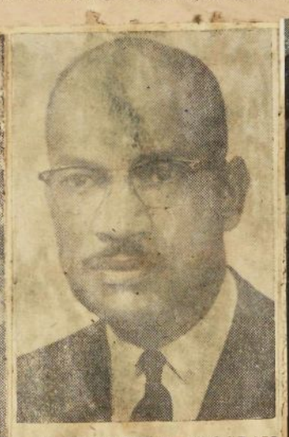
ATTY. R. B. SUGARMON, JR. SPEAKS AT BENNETT

Russell B. Sugarmon, Jr., attorney, of Memphis, Tenn., delivered two addresses at Bennett College on Friday to highlight the annual forum sponsored by the Social Science Core.

The attorney, who last August made political history in his home town by placing second in the municipal election for commissioner of public works, told of some of his experiences in getting out the vote.

A graduate of Rutgers University and of the Harvard University Law School, Mr. Sugarmon spoke on "The Ballot as a Minority's Ticket to Progress" and "Finding A Workable Relationship Between Labor and the Negro Vote in the South."

IN EXCHANGE PROGRAM —Dr. Hobart S. Jarrett, chairman of the humanities division of Bennett College, who is spending two weeks at Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley Mass., as a part of the faculty-student exchange program between the two institutions. He is teaching courses in English and Shakespeare. 70-2/10/60



These six Bennett College students who participated in a program presented at the annual roll call of the North Carolina Conference held at the college are shown with Bishop Edgar A. Love, of the Baltimore Area, who presided. Left to right: Misses Idajeanne Robinson, Oberlin, Ohio; Joan Didier, Jamaica, British West Indies; Blanche Tubuku-Metzger, Freetown, Sierra Leone; Jacqueline Daise, Wilmington, N. C.; Marian Simmons, Fayetteville, and Patricia Miles, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dr. Millner Is Orator At Greensboro

2/20/60

GREENSBORO — "There is nothing more imporant in life than to constantly endeavor to discover the eternal dimensions of life," Dr. C. A. Millner, president of Guilford College, declared in his message to Bennett College students Sunday.

Dr. Millner said that there are three transcending or eternal dimensions of life. They are:

1. That there is and can be experienced a living and personal God.
2. That there are eternal values.
3. That there is everlasting life.

"As we endeavor to discover these dimensions," he said, "we find that our vitality is God, that our direction is in Him, and that it is in Him that we move."

Dr. Millner urged the student experience that which within them and to seek to their minds and spirits by experiences and by re-experi

ON ROLL CALL PROGRAM

These six Bennett College students participated in a program presented at the Annual Roll Call of the North Carolina Conference at the college on December 8th last. Pictured with Bishop Edgar Love are, left to right: The Misses Idajeanne Robinson, Oberlin, Ohio; Joan Didler, Jamaica, B.W.I.; Blanch Tuboku-Metzger, Freetown, Sierra Leone; Jacqueline Daise, Wilmington, N. C.; Marian Simmons, Fayetteville, N. C., and Patricia Miles, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Defender 4/20/60

GETTING DOWN TO CASES — Miss Laura F. Sawyer, of Salisbury, N. C., a senior sociology major at Bennett college, Greensboro, N. C., discusses with her supervisor, Miss Velma Bell, a problem concerning one of the cases to which she has been assigned at the Travelers Aid-Family-Service Association of Greensboro where she is doing her field work. This marks the first time that a Bennett student has been so assigned.

Courier 2/20/60

BENNETT'S CANDIDATE— Miss Constance L. Colston, junior, of Charlotte, N. C., was chosen by students at the Greensboro (N. C.) institution to represent them in the "Miss National UNCF" contest, the winner of which will be announced at the annual inter - alumni council meeting to be held in Detroit, Mich., Feb. 27-28.

Man's Dilemma Seen Call To Perfection

Dr. James S. Thomas, associate director of the division of educational institutions of the Board of Education of the Methodist Church, Nashville, Tenn., spoke at vesper services at Bennett College yesterday. He spoke on "Perfections."

Dr. Thomas said, "Human beings do not like judgment, hence, they do not like to seek perfection. They like to excuse themselves by saying that they are only human, but whether we like it or not, man's dilemma has always been the call to perfection."

GREENSBORO, N.C. — [illegible] C. McMillan, art instructor at Bennett College [illegible] a Danforth Foundation [illegible] year fellowship to study toward a doctorate degree. He plans to enroll at Syracuse (N.Y.) University in the fall.

DR. F. D. PATTERSON SPEAKS AT BENNETT

70. 2/20/60

The contributions of three Americans of Negro ancestry were highlighted by Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, of New York City, in his vesper address at Bennett College Sunday.

He cited incidents from the lives of Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, Dr. Robert R. Moton and Dr. George Washington Carver, all of whom he knew intimately, to focus on the observance of Negro History Week.

Mrs. Bethune founded Bethune-Cookman College at Daytona Beach, Florida and as a good friend of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, was often at the White House. Dr. Moton, the immediate successor of Booker T. Washington as president of Tuskegee Institute, was recalled as the man, who despite threats of the Ku Klux Klan, insisted that the Veterans Administration Hospital at Tuskegee be staffed by Negro professionals.

The contributions of Dr. Carver — the miracles which he wrought with the sweet potato and peanut — are matters of international knowledge, Dr. Patterson pointed out. "Dr. Carver," he said, "was a perfect blend of the scientific, the artistic and the religious. He was dedicated, not to science, but to mankind."

Dr. Patterson said that "these were three great Americans, regardless of race, creed or color," and urged the students to take a lesson from the lives of three persons who did much to move America forward.

BENNETT'S CANDIDATE — Miss Constance L. Colston, junior, of Charlotte, N. C., who was chosen by students at the Greensboro, N. C., institution to represent them in the "Miss National UNCF" contest, the winner of which will be announced at the annual inter-alumni council meeting to be held in Detroit, Michigan, February 27-28. Courier 2/20/60

COLLEGE ROUNDUP

GREENSBORO, N.C. — The contributions of three colored Americans were highlighted by Dr. Frederick Patterson of NYC at vesper services at Bennett College last Sunday.

He cited incidents in the lives of Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, Dr. Robert R. Moten, and Dr. George Washington Carver, all of whom he knew intimately, to focus attention on the observance of Negro History Week.

Mrs. Bethune is the founder of Bethune-Cookman College at Daytona Beach, Fla. Dr. Moton was the successor to Booker T. Washington as president of Tuskegee (Ala.) Institute, and Dr. Carver, the scientist, did wonders with the sweet potato and the peanut.

GETTING TO THE HEART OF THE MATTER---These Bennett College freshmen and their escorts typify the mood of the Valentine Day Ball at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C. The party marked the break between semesters, left to right, Charles Jones, of Johnson C. Smith University; Miss Ingrid Wynne, of Philadelphia, Pa.; John McLaughlin, of A & T College and Miss Sharon Mizell, of Hallandale, Fla.

Cupid's Aides Seek Reply

The Ayes Have It, Yes?

IT WOULD TAKE a pretty heartless hombre to give a negative reply to the plea of these two Bennett college juniors who are self-appointed aides of Dan Cupid. In the usual order, they are Misses Lynda Hill, of Winston-Salem and Joyce Pullum, of Baltimore. Defender 2/20/60

Voice Of Experience

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Russell B. Sugarmon, Jr., attorney, of Memphis, Tenn., delivered two addresses at Bennett college on Friday to highlight the annual forum sponsored by the Social Science Core.

The attorney, who last August made political history in his home town by placing second in the municipal election for commissioner of public works, told of some of his experiences in gettir the vote.

DR. F. D. PATTERSON

There should be no turning back'

GRE RO, N.C.—"Once an iss been joined or faced u there should be no turn ck until the issue has been successfully resolved."

This was the comment of Dr. Frederick D. Patterson to the Bennett College board of trustees of which he is chairman. Dr. Patterson, former Tuskegee Institute and now director of the Phelps-Stokes Fund, referred to the wave of student "sitdowns" which started here in Greensboro.

Students from Bennett and from A. and T. launched the sitdown protest against unequal service at variety store lunch counters. The protest spread to South Carolina, Virginia, Tennessee and Florida.

Dr. Patterson said:

"THIS PROTEST against discrimination on the basis of race was inevitable. Unless all that is said about democracy and what it stands for is completely without meaning, this organized and orderly protest is a logical outgrowth of the democratic process.

"Segregation on the basis of race, even without tangible inequities, is morally wrong. It hurts all who are a part of it. For it is a needless and cruel affront to the dignity of one race and an encouragement to arrogance and bigotry in the other. Therefore, both races suffer.

"Unfortunately, custom and traditional relationships between the races in the South have been such as to permit the day-to-day impersonal contacts which are necessary for normal existence to be confused with contacts of a personal and social nature which do not occur unless mutually agreeable. The eating in public places by people who are perfect strangers can mean only one thing, and that is that they are both or severally hungry.

"I HOPE that this issue will be promptly solved in line with the wise suggestions occurring in the Greensboro daily press. The change in relationships called for is a small one, that I feel confident will be accepted by the citizens of Greensboro if a firm position of no discrimination is adopted and enforced.

"If such a decision is not forthcoming, then the quiet, orderly and dignified protest that was so wisely and courageously begun, of course will be continued and could not be expected to be otherwise.

"This, in an enlightened community, can happen completely within the framework of law and order.

"I hope that the constructive-minded citizens of Greensboro will offer to the south and the nation the example of wisdom and decency which many over the nation — both colored and white — are hoping for."

Student Protest 'Inevitable', Says Dr. Patterson

GREENSBORO — A belief that student protests against discrimination which began in Greensboro and have since spread to other cities and states, were "inevitable" and a hope that "constructive-minded citizens join forces in resolving the issue," were expresed here Sunday by Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, of New York City, former president of Tuskegee (Ala.) Institute.

Dr. Patterson, now director of the Phelps-Stokes Fund and chairman of the Bennett College board of trustees, made the following statement:

"To regret that anything happens to disturb the peace and tranquility of a community in its race relations is understandable, but once an issue has been joined or faced up to, there should be no turning back until the issue has been successfully resolved.

"This protest against discrimination on the basis of race was inevitable. Unless all that is said about democracy and what stands for is completely without meaning, this organized and orderly protest is a logical outgrowth of the democratic process.

"Segregation on the basis of race, even without tangible inequities, is morally wrong. It hurts all who are a part of it. For it is a needless and cruel front to the dignity of one race and an encouragement to arrogance and bigotry in the other. Therefore, both races suffer.

"Unfortunately, custom and traditional relationships between the races in the south have been such as to permit the day-to-day impersonal contacts which are necessary for normal existence to be confused with contacts of a personal and social nature which do not occur unless mutually agreeable. The eating in public places by people who are perfect strangers can mean only one thing, and that is that they are both or severally hungry.

"I hope that this issue will be promptly solved in line with the wise suggestions occurring in the Greensboro daily press. The change in relationships called for is a small one, that I feel confident will be accepted by the citizens of Greensboro if a firm position of no discrimination is adopted and enforced.

"If such a decision is not forthcoming, then the quiet, orderly and dignified protest that was so wisely and courageously begun, of course will be continued and could not be expected to be otherwise. This, in an enlightened community, can happen completely within the framework of law and order.

"I hope that the constructive-minded citizens of Greensboro will offer to the south and the nation the example of wisdom and decency which many over the nation—both Negro and white—are hoping for."

MOUNT HOLYOKE BOUND—Shown here are five of the six Bennett College students who left Greensboro, N.C., last week, for Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., where they will spend two weeks as part of the exchange program between the two institutions. Left to right are Misses Marian Simmons of Fayetteville, N.C., Gwendolyn Mackel of Chicago, Ill., Lois Johnson of Baltimore, Md., Joan Didier of Jamaica, B.W.I., and Roslyn Smith of Princeton, W. Va. Not shown, is Miss Nancy Kirby of Haddenfield, N.J.

"Sit-Down Protests Were Inevitable"—Patterson

GREENSBORO, N. C. — A belief that student protests against discrimination which began in Greensboro and have since spread to other cities and states, were "inevitable" and a hope that "constructive-minded citizens join forces in resolving the issue," were expressed here Sunday by Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, of New York, former president of Tuskegee institute.

Dr. Patterson, now director of the Phelps-Stokes Fund and chairman of the Bennett college board of trustees, made the following statement:

"TO REGRET THAT anything happens to disturb the peace and tranquility of a community in its race relations is understandable, but once an issue has been joined or faced up to, there should be no turning back until the issue has been successfully resolved.

"This protest against discrimination on the basis of race was inevitable. Unless all that is said about democracy and what it stands for is completely without meaning, this organized and orderly protest is a logical outgrowth of the democratic process.

"SEGREGATION ON the basis of race, even without tangible inequities, is morally wrong. It hurts all who are a part of it. For it is a needless and cruel affront to the dignity of one race and an encouragement to arrogance and bigotry in the other. Therefore, both races suffer.

"Unfortunately, custom and traditional relationships between the races in the South have been such as to permit the day-to-day impersonal contacts which are necessary for normal existence to be confused with contact of a personal and social nature which do not occur unless mutually agreeable. The eating in public places by people who are perfect strangers can mean only one thing, and that is that they are both or severally hungry.

"I HOPE THAT this issue will be promptly solved in line with the wise suggestions occurring in the Greensboro daily press. The change in relationships called for is a small one, that I feel confident will be accepted by the citizens of Greensboro if a firm position of no discrimination is adopted and enforced.

"If such a decision is not forthcoming, then the quiet, orderly and dignified protest that was so wisely and courageously begun, of course will be continued and could not be expected to be otherwise. This, in an enlightened community, can happen completely within the framework of law and order.

"I hope that the constructive-minded citizens of Greensboro will offer to the South and the nation the example of wisdom and decency which many over the nation-both Negro and white - are hoping for."

97 at Bennett on honor roll

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Miss Laura (Frankie) Sawyer, senior sociology major from Salisbury, N.C., with a straight "A" average, tops the list of 97 Bennett College students who made the honor roll for the first semester.

FRESHMEN

Misses Hazel Abron, Memphis, Tenn.; Joyce A. Cheatham, Williamsburg, Va.; Clifford A. Claye, Houston, Texas; Marylen M. Claye, Houston, Texas; Delores N. Coe, Georgetown, S.C.; Edwina Coleman, Charlotte; Carole J. Collins, Montclair, N.J.; Leslie J. Doty, Dallas, Texas; Mamie Lee Isler, Goldsboro; Fay Jones, East Orange, N.J.; Roberta Jones, Hampton, Va.; Vivian P. Kirven, Darlington, S.C.; Joyce Y. Lacey, Montgomery, Ala.;

Misses Bonita Quiett, Norfolk, Va.; Lorraine Ramsey, Amonate, Va.; Elizabeth A. Riggs, Camden, N.J.; Melba C. Snead, Philadelphia; Barbara E. Tascoe, Montclair, N.J.; Carolyn I. Walker, New Haven, Conn.; Evalina Williams, Opa Locka, Fla.; Sarah B. Williams, Miami; Lucille C. Withers, Lynchburg, Va.; and Dorothy L. Worthy, Charlotte.

SOPHOMORES

Misses Dorothy Bacon, West Palm Beach, Fla.; Mae D. Brown, Charleston, S.C.; Patricia T Brown, Atlanta, Ga.; R. Crawford, Utica, N.Y.; Ruth T. Dobson, Boonville; Ernestine G. Gambrell, New Haven, Conn.; Gwendolyn V. George, Whiteville; Patsy R. Gilreath, Wilkesboro; Lula M. Goolsby, Mocksville; Mildred Graves, Leaksville; Elois J. Harper, Lenoir; Patricia A. Hawkins, Athens, Ga.;

Misses Jennie M. Hodges, Green Pond, S.C.; Barbara F. Jackson, Burnsville; Laura E. Jackson, Simpsonville, S.C.; Ollie C. Johnson, Athens, Ga.; M. Jean Neff, Pottstown, Pa.; Rosalie Stanley, Great Neck, N.Y.; Pathia Stewart, Benson; Margaret C. Strait, Rock Hill, S.C.; Freddie L. Stukes, Thomasville, Ga.; Gloria A. Williams, Winston-Salem; Joyce Womble, Charlotte; and Tressie Wright, Atlanta.

JUNIORS

Misses Esther Alexander, Warrenton; Carolyn Bennett, Miami; Jacqueline Boseman, Baltimore; Linda Brown, Oberlin, Ohio; Carolyn Cofield, Tarboro; Barbara Freeman, Lawrenceville, Va.; Jean F. Hayes, Greensboro; Marian B. Isler, Goldsboro; Iris Jeffries, Burlington; Joyce Jordan, Powellsville; Doris Luck, Asheboro; Gwendolyn Mackel, Chicago;

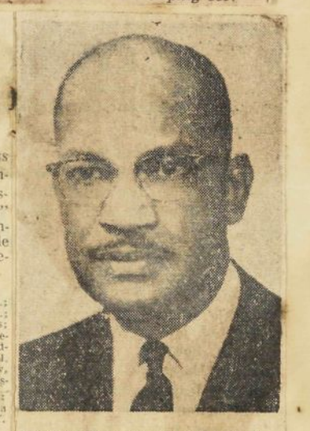
Misses Jo Ann Martin, Lexington; Barbara A. Pace, Winston-Salem; Idajeanne Robinson, Oberlin, Ohio; Marian T. Simmons, Fayetteville; Sarah Scruggles, Sardis, Ga.; Shirley Thompson, St. Pauls; La Rita F. Waters, Jacksonville, Fla.; and Juanita Wheeler, Thomasville, Ga.

SENIORS

Misses Mary E. Bender, Leonia, N.J.; Sylvania Black, Martin, Texas; Lila Blanding, Sumter, S.C.; Mary E. Boone, Sanford; Gloria E. Brown, Bronx, N.Y.; Sheila Caesar, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Joan E. Cogdell, Clarksville, Del.; Rebecca Farris, Montgomery, Ala.; Ethel D. Graves, Vanceyville; Gloria T. Greene, Timmonsville, S.C.;

Misses Helen Houston, Nashville, Tenn.; Dorothy Jordan, Goldsboro; Ida T. Kearney, Greensboro; Nancy Kirby, Haddonfield, N.J.; Lucy R. Martin, Reidsville; Barbara Mitchell, Walterboro, S.C.; Marie S. Moore, Winston-Salem; Maryann Musgrave, Mt. Olive; Marilyn Neal, Columbus, S.C.; Juanita Owens, Petersburg, Va.;

Misses Barbara Pendergraft, Chapel Hill; Frances E. Phipps, Greensboro; E. Louise Pope, South Pittsburg, Tenn.; Ethel Riggsbee, Chapel Hill; Laura F. Sawyer, Salisbury; Betty Shropshire, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, Sierra-Leone, West Africa; Edith M. Tucker, Elkin; Mary Ann Wilmer, Camden, N.J.; Edna M. Zachary, Hertford.



IN EXCHANGE PROGRAM—Dr. Hobart S. Jarrett, chairman of the humanities division of Bennett College, who is spending two weeks at Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., as a part of the faculty-student exchange program beween the two institutions. He is teaching courses in English a nd Shakespeare.

MRS. DAVID D. JONES, widow of the late president of Bennett College, was honored, recently, when the nine-room annex to the David D. Jones School in Greensboro, N.C. was dedicated in her honor.

Bennett Instructor To Seek Doctorate

GREENSBORO, N. C. — James C. McMillan, art instructor at Bennett college, was notified this week by the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Mo. that he has been awarded a one-year fellowship which will permit him to pursue work toward his doctorate in the field of fine arts.

Mr. McMillan will enroll in the doctoral program at Syracuse university and begin work in the fall.

GETS DANFORTH GRANT — James C. McMillan, art instructor at Bennett College was notified this week by the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Missouri, that he has been awarded a one-year fellowship which will permit him to pursue work toward his doctorate in the field of fine arts. Mr. McMillan will enroll in the doctoral program at Syracuse University and begin work in the fall.

Dr. Benner Speaks At Bennett College

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The realization that every human being has a contribution to make to the on-going of the world is basic if America would make friends abroad, Dr. Lorraine Benner of Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., told the Bennett student body last week.

—1910 GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY—1960—

Dr. Thomas Sees 'Deep Moral Illness'

GREENSBORO, N. C. — "So much of the moral decay which we see in our nation is symptomatic of a deep moral sickness of a people whose ideals are not big enough for them," Dr. James S. Thomas declared in his vesper sermon at Bennett College Sunday.

BENNETT COLLEGE NEWS

"So much of the moral decay which we see in our nation is symptomatic of a deep moral sickness of a people whose ideals are not big enough for them," Dr. James S. Thomas declared in his vesper sermon at Bennett College Sunday.

Dr. Thomas, who is associate director of the division of educational institutions of the Board of Education of the Methodist Church, Nashville, Tenn., spoke on "Perfection."

"Human beings do not like judgement," Dr. Thomas said, "hence, they do not like to seek perfection. They like to excuse themselves by saying that they are only human, but whether we like it or not, man's dilemma has always been the call to perfection."

The speaker pointed out that Jesus, when he urged his hearers to be perfect, did not mean showing other people how good one can be, but letting one's sub-conscious learnings be in the direction of good.

"The real joy of life," he said, "is not in the satisfaction of having attained but in the striving toward a goal. We do not want a static perfection, but one in which there is a tension of growth. We live largely by affirmation, not be negation."

BENNETT COLLEGE NEWS

The realization that every human being has a contribution to make to the on-going of the world is basic if America would make friends abroad, Dr. Lorraine Benner of Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., told the Bennett student body on Monday.

Dr. Benner, associate professor of psychology and education, who spent a year in Japan teaching on a Fulbright Fellowship, told of some of her experiences—some of them humorous, in assimilating the Japanese culture.

"Person-to-person relationships are basic in making friends," she said. "Not only does one develop a new world of ideas, but in the process, one develops faith in himself."

Anybody Want To Throw Snowballs?

Enjoying the first snowfall of the season are these Bennett College students w teamed up for a snow fight when some seven inches of the white stuff fell on Greensbo N. C., Saturday. Left to right, Misses Yvette Williams, Springfield, Mass.; Darth Barlow, Roanoke, Va., and Ann Martin of Washington, D. C.

BENNETT COLLEGE NEWS

The Theatre Guild of Bennett College will present "The Ages of Women" on Thursday evening, March 3, in the college theatre.

"The Ages of Women," adapted for the stage by the guild, consists of a series of scenes depicting the characters of women from the classical to the modern theatre. Arranged in chronological and sequential order, the scenes represent dramatists' ideas of the characters of women. As an added point of interest, three portrayals of Electra, as seen by Euripides, Sartre and O'Neill, will be presented.

An original play by William Robinson, "The Passing Grade", will also be presented.

The following parts have been cast: Euripides' "Medea"—Elishama Madison; Hecuba, from Euripides' "Trojan Women"—Hattie Green; Euripides' "Electra"—Anne Florance; St. Joan, from Maxwell Anderson's "Anne of the Thousand Days"—Leslie Doty; Ibsen's "Hedda Gabler"—Jackie Florance, Tressie Wright; "Electra" from Sarte's "The Flies"—Ollie Johnson, Patsy Gilreath; Blanche, from Tennesee Williams' "A Street Car Named Desire"—Esther Alexander; Mary, from Eugene O'Neill's "Long Day's Journey Into Night— Tressie Wright; Lavina, from Eugene O'Neill's "Mourning Becomes Electra"—Anne Florance and Tressie Wright.

GETTING TO THE HEART of the matter are these Bennett college freshmen and their escorts. They typify the mood of the recent Valentine day ball at Bennett college, Greensboro, N. C. The party marked the break between semesters. From left are Charles Jones of Johnson C. Smith univ., Raleigh, N. C. Miss Ingrid Wynne, of Philadelphia, Pa.; John McLaughlin, of A & T college and Miss Sharon Mizell of Hallandale, Fla.

FAITH OF OUR LIVES — Dr. Joseph Matthews, of Austin, Tex., chats with four student delegates to North Carolina Methodist Student conference at Bennett college. They are from left Joe Gipson of Fairmont State college, Fairmont, N. D., president of West Virginia Methodist Student Movement; Miss Alice Swetland of High Point college, High Point, N. C.; Miss Louise Templin of Woman's college, chairman of the planning committee, and Miss Idajeanne Robinson of Bennett college. Dr. Matthews director of studies in the Christian Faith - and - Life Community at Austin, delivered four addresses.

spirituals, rising to a full climax with "Ride On King Jesus," a Burleigh arrangement. Lois
Johnson, of Washington, D. C., was at the piano.

Bennett College Students' Honor Roll

Miss Laura (Frankie) Sawyer, senior sociology major of Salisbury, N. C., with a straight "A" average, tops the list of 97 Bennett College students who made the honor roll for the first semester, according to figures released this week by Miss Mary L. Mayfield, registrar.

The seniors with 30, topped the classes, followed in order by sophomores, with 24; the freshmen, with 23 and the juniors, with 20. There were also 44 students who earned honorable mention.

In order to make the honor roll a student must not only have a 2.00 average, but cannot have more than one "C" grade or any one grade of lesser rank, not even an "Incomplete."

The complete list follows:

—FRESHMEN—

Misses Hazel Abron, Memphis, Tenn.; Joyce A. Chatham, Williamsburg, Va.; Clifford A. Claye, Houston, Texas; Marylen M. Claye, Houston, Texas; Delores N. Coe, Georgetown, S. C.; Edwina Coleman, Charlotte, N. C.; Carole J. Collins, Montclair, N. J.; Leslie J. Doty, Dallas, Texas; Mamie Lee Isler, Goldsboro, N. C.; Fay Jones, East Orange, N. J.; Roberta Jones, Hampton, Va.; Vivian P. Kirven, Darlington, S. C.; Joyce Y. Lacey, Montgomery, Ala.

Misses Bonita Quiett, Norfolk, Va.; Lorraine Ramsey, Amonate, Va.; Elizabeth A. Riggs, Camden, N. J.; Melba C. Snead, Philadelphia, Pa.; Barbara E. Tascoe, Monclair, N. J.; Carolyn I. Walker, New Haven, Conn.; Evalina Williams, Opa Locka, Fla.; Sarah B. Williams, Miami, Fla.; Lucille C. Withers, Lynchburg, Va.; Dorothy L. Worthy, Charlotte, N. C.

—SOPHOMORES—

Misses Dorothy Bacon, West Palm Beach, Fla.; Mae D. Brown, Charleston, S. C.; Patricia T. Brown, Atlanta, Ga.; Nettie R. Crawford, Utica, N. Y.; Ruth T. Dobson, Boonville, N. C.; Ernestine G. Gambrell, New Haven, Conn.; Gwendolyn V. George, Whiteville, N. C.; Patsy R. Gilreath, Wilkesboro, N. C.; Lula M. Goolsby, Mocksville, N. C.; Mildred Graves, Leaksville, N. C.; Elois J. Harper, Lenoir, N. C.; Patricia A. Hawkins, Athens, Ga.

Misses Jennie M. Hodges, Green Pond, S. C.; Barbara F. Jackson, Burnsville, N. C.; Laura E. Jackson, Simpsonville, S. C.; Ollie C. Johnson, Athens, Ga.; M. Jean Neff, Pottstown, Pa.; Rosalie Stanley, Great Neck, N. Y.; Pathia Stewart, Benson, N. C.; Margaret C. Strait, Rock Hill, S. C.; Freddie L. Stukes, Thomasville, Ga.; Gloria A. Williams, Winston Salem, N. C.; Joyce Womble, Charlotte, N. C.; Tressie Wright, Atlanta, Ga.

—JUNIORS—

Misses Esther Alexander, Warrenton, N. C.; Carolyn Bennett Miami, Fla.; Jacqueline Boseman, Baltimore, Md.; Linda Brown, Akron, Ohio; Carolyn Cotten, Tarboro, N. C.; Barbara Freeman, Lawrenceville, Va. Jean F. Hayes, Greensboro, N. C.; Marian E. Isler, Goldsboro N. C.; Iris Jeffries, Burlington N. C.; Joyce Jordan, Powellsville, N. C.; Doris Luck, Ashe-boro, N. C.; Gwendolyn Mackel, Chicago, Ill.

Misses Jo Ann Martin, Leaksville, N. C.; Barbara A Rice, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Idajeanne Robinson, Oberlin, Ohio; Marian T. Simmons, Fayetteville, N. C.; Sarah Striggles, Sardis, Ga.; Shirley Thompson, St. Pauls, N. C.; La Rita F. Waters, Jacksonville, Fla.; Juanita Wheeler, Thamasville, Ga.

—SENIORS—

Misses Mary. E. Bender, Leonia, N.J.; Sylvania Black, Marlin, Texas; Lila Blanding, Sumter, S. C.; Mary E. Boone, Sanford, N. C.; Gloria E. Brown, Bronx, N. Y.; Shelia Caesar, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Joan E. Cogdell, Clarksville, Del.; Rebecca Farris, Montgomery, Ala.; Ethel D. Graves, Yanceyville, N.C.; Gloria T. Greene, Timmonsville, S. C.

Misses Helen Houston, Nashville, Tenn.; Dorothy Jordan, Goldsboro, N. C.; Ida T. Kearney, Greensboro, N. C.; Nancy Kirby, Haddonfield, N. J.; Lucy R. Martin, Reidsville, N. C.; Barbara Mitchell, Walterboro, S. C.; Marie S. Moore, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Maryann Musgrave, Mt. Olive, N. C.; Marilyn Neal, Columbus, S. C.; Juanita Owens, Petersburg, Va.

Misses Barbara Pendergraft, Chapel Hill, N. C.; Frances E. Phipps, Greensboro, N. C.; E. Louise Pope, South, Pittsburg, Tenn.; Ethel Riggsbee, Chapel Hill, N. C.; Laura F. Sawyer, Salisbury, N. C.; Betty Shropshire, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, Sierra-Leone, West Africa; Edith M. Tucker, Elkin, N. C.; Mary Ann Wilmer, Camden, N. J.; Edna M. Zachary, Hertford, N. C.

YOUTH'S DAY WEEKEND AT BENNETT—

Some 150 senior girls from high schools in six states are expected for the annual Youth Days Weekend at Bennett College, March 11-13, it was announced this week.

In addition to invitations to North and South Carolina schools, bids were also sent to schools in Virginia, West Virginia, Georgia and Florida — states from which a number of Bennett freshmen come each year.

Class visitations and meetings of vocational interest groups will occupy most of the time of the young women while their advisors attend workshops. Social and cultural activities planned include attendance at a concert by the freshman choir on Friday night, a bus tour of the city and a birthday dinner and dance on Saturday.

Climax of the three-day program will come on Sunday, March 13, when the girls will hear Mrs. Vivian Carter Mason, a public relations consultant, of Norfolk, Va., speak at the 4 p.m. college vesper service.

BENNETT'S FRESHMAN CHOIR TO APPEAR IN CONCERT

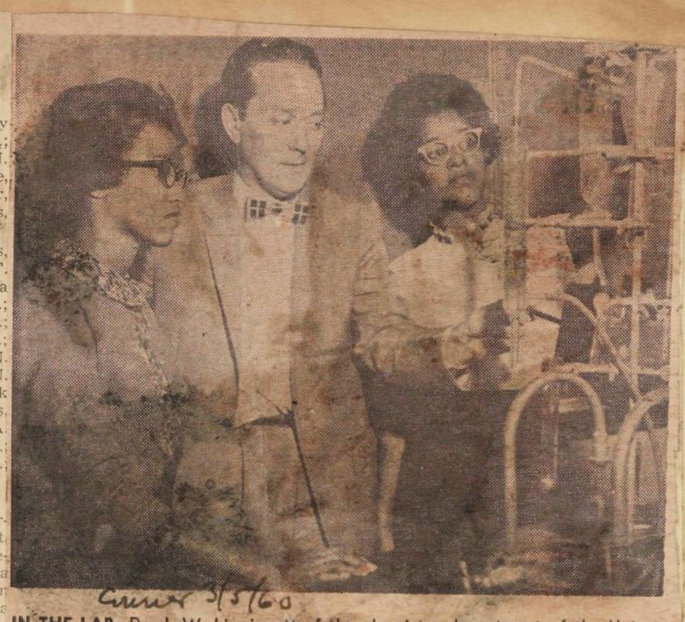
Selections from the old masters of choral composition and a medley of Sigmund Romberg tunes adapted by Douglas MacLean will be featured by the freshman choir of Bennett College in its annual concert Friday, March 11, at 8 p.m. in Annie Merner Pfeiffer Chapel.

In addition to "Onward Ye Peoples," by Jean Sibelius and the Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's "The Messiah," there will be three waltz numbers by the entire choir; solos by Misses Joyce Collins and Thelma Spruill, sopranos; a duet by Joanne Craft and Theresa Daggs, and a piano-duo by Velda Pleasants and Iva Baker who also alternate as accompanists. The organ accompanist will be Clarence E. Whiteman.

Rev. Curry To Speak At Vesper Service

The Rev. John Corry of Leaksville, acting director of religious activities at Bennett College will deliver the vesper message on Sunday, March 27, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

In addition to his college duties, the Rev. Mr. Corry is also pastor of St. Johns Methodist Church in Leaksville, and director of the Wesley Foundation at A&T College.



IN THE LAB—Dr. J. W. Lippincott of the chemistry department of the University of Florida, who spent three days on the Bennett College campus last week, is shown explaining an experiment in differential distillation to Jo Ann Truesdale of Winston-Salem, N. C., and Lorraine Ramsey of Amonate, Va.

Blackwell Talks At Bennett

Dr. Gordon W. Blackwell, chancellor of Woman's College, urged Bennett College students to "become mature persons, who have developed their talents to the utmost" if they are to take places of leadership in an increasingly complicated world.

Dr. Blackwell, speaking at yesterday's vesper service said, "If you would become such a mature person, here are five essentials to keep before you. You need a spirit of service, experience in responsible citizenship, appreciation for high ethical values, appreciation for cultural things and proficiency in your chosen life work."

"When these things become a part of you," he said, "you will have become a mature person, ready to play your part in helping to level out the unequal places in the world community."

N.C. now requires teacher take test

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Bennett College seniors preparing to teach will be required to take the National Teacher Examinations on April 9, Dr. C. G. Winston, director of student teaching, announced this week.

The requirement is based on a resolution passed by the 1959 General Assembly which makes the tests mandatory for all college seniors in the state who apply for a North Carolina teaching certificate.

Bennett College seniors can most conveniently take the tests at Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, or at A. and T. College, both here in Greensboro, Dr. Winston said.

There are 20 testing centers in the state, however and the tests can be taken at any of them.

Seniors unable to take the examinations on April 9 may take a make up examinations on Oct. 8.

Bennett Plans Youth Weekend

Some 150 senior girls from high schools in six states are expected for the annual Youth Weekend at Bennett College Friday through Sunday.

In addition to invitations to North and South Carolina schools, bids also were sent to schools in Virginia, West Virginia, Georgia and Florida—states from which a number of Bennett freshmen come each year.

Class visitations and meetings of vocational interest groups will occupy most of the time of the young women while their advisors attend workshops. Social and cultural activities planned include attendance at a concert by the freshman choir Friday night, a bus tour of the city and a birthday dinner and dance Saturday.

Climax of the three-day program will come on Sunday, March 13, when the girls will hear Mrs. Vivian Carter Mason, a public relations consultant, of Norfolk, Va., speak at the 4 p.m. college vesper service.

Services Held At Bennett

Only the light of truth can dispel the darkness of ignorance, jealousy and fear, Mrs. Vivian Carter Mason of Norfolk, Va., declared in her vesper address at Bennett College yesterday.

The speaker, former president of the National Council of Negro Women and now a public relations consultant, was addressing her remarks primarily to some 60 high school seniors and their advisers attending the Youth Days weekend at the college.

Mrs. Mason, referring to the recent wave of lunch-counter sitdowns by students, said that this should not be referred to as "passive resistance." "It is the kind of resistance that Jesus taught," she said.

Following a chapel address at 10 a.m. today, Mrs. Mason will meet with student and community leaders for a two-hour workshop on voter registration in the Science Assembly.

Salisbury Co-ed Tops Honor Roll

GREENSBORO — Miss Laura (Frankie) Sawyer, senior sociology major of Salisbury, with a straight "A" average, tops the list of 97 Bennett College students who made the honor roll for the first semester, according to figures released this week by Miss Mary L. Mayfield registrar.

The seniors with 30, topped the classes, followed in order by the sophomores, with 24; the freshmen, with 23 and the juniors, with 20. There were also 44 students who earned honorable mention.

In order to make honor roll a student must not only have a 2.00 average, but cannot have more than one "C" grade or any one grade of lesser rank, not even an "Incomplete."

Bennett's Guild Will Perform

GREENSBORO — The Theatre Guild of Bennett College will present "The Ages of Women" on Thursday evening, March 3, in the college theatre.

"The Ages of Women", adapted for the stage by the guild, consists of a series of scenes depicting the characters of women from the clasical to the modern theatre. Arranged in chronological and sequential order, the scenes represent dramatists' ideas of the characters of women. As an added point of interest, three portrayals of Electra, as seen by Euripide, Sartre and O'Neill, will be presented.

An original play by William Robinson, "The Passing Grade" will also be presented.

150 Senior High Girls To Bennett

GREENSBORO—Some 150 senior girls from high schools in 6 states are expected for the annual Youth Days Weekend at Bennett College, March 11-13, it was announced this week.

In addition to invitations to North and South Carolina schools, bids were also sent to schools in Virginia, West Virginia, Georgia and Florida—states from which a number of Bennett freshmen come each year.

Class visitations and meetings of vocational interest groups will occupy most of the time of the young women while their advisors attend workshops. Social and cultural activities planned include attendance at a concert by the freshman choir on Friday night, a bus tour of the city and a birthday dinner and dance on Saturday.

Climax of the three-day program will come on Sunday, March 13 when the girls will hear Mrs. Vivian Carter Mason, a public relations consultant, of Norfolk, Virginia, speak at the 4 p.m. college vesper service.

97 Students At Bennett On 1st Roll

GREENSBORO — Miss Laura (Frankie) Sawyer, senior sociology major of Salisbury, with a straight "A" average, tops the list of 97 Bennett College students who made the honor roll for the first semester, according to figures released this week by Miss Mary L. Mayfield, registrar.

The seniors with 30, topped the classes, followed in order by the sophomores, with 24; the freshmen, with 23 and the juniors, with 20. There were also 44 students who earned honorable mention.

In order to make the honor roll a student must not only have a 2.00 average, but cannot have more than one "C" grade or any one grade of lesser rank, not even an "Incomplete."

The complete list follows:

FRESHMEN

Misses Hazel Abron, Memphis, Tenn.; Joyce A. Cheatham, Williamsburg, Va.; Clifton A. Claye, Houston, Texas; Marylen M. Claye, Houston, Texas; Delores N. Coe, Georgetown, S. C.; Edwina Coleman, Charlotte; Carole J. Collins, Montclair, N. J.; Leslie J. Doty, Dallas, Texas; Mamie Lee Isler, Goldsboro; Faye Jones, East Orange, N. J.; Roberta Jones, Hampton, Va.; Vivian P. Kirven, Darlington, S. C.; Joyce Y. Lacey, Montgomery, Ala.

Misses Bonita Quiett, Norfolk, Va.; Lorraine Ramsey, Amonate, Va.; Elizabeth A. Riggs, Camden, N. J.; Melba C. Snead, Philadelphia, Pa.; Barbara E. Tascoe, Montclair, N.J.; Carolyn I. Walker, New Haven, Conn.; Evalina Williams, Opa Locka, Fla.; Sarah B. Williams, Miami, Fla.; Lucille C. Withers, Lynchburg, Va.; Dorothy L. Worthy, Charlotte.

SOPHOMORES

Misses Dorothy Bacon, West Palm Beach, Fla.; Mae D. Brown, Charleston, S. C.; Patricia T. Brown, Atlanta, Ga.; Nettie R. Crawford, Utica, N. Y.; Ruth T. Dobson, Boonville; Ernestine G. Gambrell, New Haven, Conn.; Gwendolyn V. George, Whiteville; Patsy R. Gilreath, Wilkesboro; Lula M. Goolsby, Mocksville; Mildred Graves, Leaksville; Elois J. Harper, Lenoir; Patricia A. Hawkins, Athens, Ga.

Misses Jennie M. Hodges, Green Pond, S. C.; Barbara F. Jackson, Burnsville; Laura E. Jackson, Simpsonville, S. C.; Ollie C. Johnson, Athens, Ga.; M. Jean Neff, Pottstown, Pa.; Rosalie Stanley, Great Neck, N. Y.; Pathis Stewart, Benson; Margaret C. Strait, Rock Hill, S. C.; Freddie L. Stukes, Thomasville, Ga.; Gloria A. Williams, Winston-Salem; Joyce Womble, Charlotte, Tressie Wright, Atlanta, Ga.

JUNIORS

Misses Esther Alexander, Warrenton; Carolyn Bennett, Miami, Fla.; Jacqueline Boseman, Baltimore; Miss Linda Brown, Oberlin Ohio; Carolyn Cotten, Tarboro; Barbara Freeman, Lawrenceville, Va.; Jean F. Hayes, Greensboro; Marian E. Isler, Goldsboro; Iris Jeffries, Burlington; Joyce Jordan, Powellsville; Doris Luck, Asheboro; Gwendolyn Mackel, Chicago, Ill.

Misses Jo Ann Martin, Leakeville; Barbara A. Rice, Winston-Salem; Idajeanne Robinson, Oberlin, Ohio; Marian T. Simmons, Fayetteville; Sarah Striggles, Sardis, Ga.; Shirley Thompson, St. Pauls; Rita F. Waters, Jacksonville, Fla.; Juanita Wheeler, Thomasville, Ga.

SENIORS

Misses Mary E. Bender, Leonia N. J.; Sylvania Black, Marlin, Texas; Lila Blanding, Sumter, S. C.; Mary E. Boone, Sanford; Gloria E. Brown, Bronx, N. Y.; Joan E. Cogdell, Clarksville, Del.; Rebecca Farris, Montgomery, Ala.; Ethel D. Graves, Yanceyville; Gloria T. Greene, Timmonsville, S. C.

Misses Helen Houston, Nashville, Tenn.; Dorothy Jordan, Goldsboro; Ida T. Kearney, Greensboro; Nancy Kirby, Haddonfield, N. J.; Lucy R. Martin, Reidsville; Barbara Mitchell, Walterboro, S. C.; Marie S. Moore, Winston-Salem; Maryann Musgrove, Mt. Olive; Marilyn Neal, Columbus, S. C.; Juanita Owens, Petersburg, Va.

Misses Barbara Pendergraft, Chapel Hill; Frances E. Phipps, Greensboro; E. Louise Pope, South Pittsburg, Tenn.; Ethel Riggsbee, Chapel Hill; Laura F. Sawyer, Salisbury; Betty Shropshire, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, Sierra-Leone, West Africa; Edith M. Tucker, Elkin; Mary Ann Wilmer, Camden, N. J.; Edna M. Zachary, Hertford.

VESPER SPEAKER

GREENSBORO—The Rev. John Corry of Leaksville, acting director of religious activities at Bennett College will deliver the vesper message on Sunday, March 27, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel

In addition to his college duties, the Rev. Mr. Corry is also pastor of St. Johns Methodist Church in Leaksville and director of the Wesley Foundation at A&T College.

Dr. Willa B. Player Speaks To Seniors On Class Day

President Willa B. Player challenged Bennett College seniors to "be alive to the cross currents of change in civilization," as 69 of them received their academic caps and gowns to highlight the annual Senior Day exercises in Pfeiffer Chapel, Friday.

Referring to two Bennett symbols, the college bell and the Long Walk, Dr. Player, quoting from the bell's inscription characterized the academic attire which the seniors are now privileged to wear through commencement as "garments of praise."

She called the attention of the seniors to the fact that they are in a culture that is often afraid to adopt a new idea or value because it wants to cling to the old.

Dr. C. G. Winston, before presenting the seniors to President Player, announced that Miss Blanche Tuboku - Metzger, of Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa, with an academic average of 2.7 out of a possible 3.0 was leading the class in scholarship. Miss Tuboku-Metzger completed her work at the end of the first semester but returned for the exercises.

Ranked in order after her are Mrs. Marie S. Moore - Salem; Miss Laura Sawyer, of Salisbury; Miss Helen Houston, of Nashville, Tenn., and Miss Edith Tucker, of Elkin, N. C.

The seniors planted a magnolia tree and dedicated it to Bishop Edgar A. Love, of Baltimore, Md., vice-chairman of the college trustee board. Saying that "it is a marvelous thing to be remembered by one's friends," Bishop Love accepted the honor which was announced by Miss Hiawatha Foster of Charlotte.

Bennett Choir Launches Tour

The Bennett College choir left yesterday morning on a tour which will take them for a series of concert appearances in Georgia, Florida and South Carolina.

The 40-voice group directed by Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, will give its first concert Sunday afternoon at Morehouse College in Atlanta, Ga. The group will join the Morehouse Glee Club, Monday morning in singing at the chapel assembly.

Other dates on the tour are as follows: March 21, Albany State College, Albany, Ga.; March 22, Jacksonville, Fla.; March 23, Daytona Beach, Fla.; March 24, Ashburn, Ga.; and March 25, Sumter, S.C.

Senior Day Held At Bennett

Bennett College President Willa B. Player told the 69 senior students yesterday to "be alive to the cross currents of change in civilization," as they received their academic caps and gowns at the annual Senior Day exercises in Pfeiffer Chapel.

The president referred to two Bennett symbols, the college bell and the Long Walk, quoted from the bell's inscription, and characterized the academic attire which the seniors are now privileged to wear through commencement as "garments of praise."

Bennett Seniors, Preparing To Teach, Must Take Nat'l Exams

GREENSBORO—Bennett College seniors preparing to teach will be required to take the National Teacher Examinations on April 9, Dr. C. G. Winston, director of student teaching, announced this week.

This requirement is based on a resolution passed by the 1959 General Assembly, which makes the tests mandatory for all college seniors in the State who apply for a North Carolina teaching certificate during the period beginning June 20, 1959 and ending February 19, 1961.

The examination will be given at state expense as part of the statewide study of teacher preparation being made by the State Board of Education. Other groups required to take the tests include experienced teachers who are currently upgrading or changing their certification.

Bennett College seniors can most conveniently take the tests at Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, Greensboro or at A&T College, Greensboro, Dr. Winston said. However there are 20 testing centers in the State, and the tests can be taken at any center.

Applications to take the tests and bulletins describing them can be obtained at the office of Dr. Winston. Seniors unable to take the examinations on April 9 will have only one opportunity to make up the examinations on October 8, at which time different forms of the tests will be given.

SENIOR CLASS AT BENNETT WINS SCHOLARSHIP CUP

Seniors at Bennett College, with a first semester academic average of 4.5 out of a possible 6.0, captured the Jane Miller Jones scholarship cup awarded each semester to the class with the highest average.

Mrs. Marie S. Moore, of Winston-Salem, president accepted the cup from President Willa B. Player. Other class averages were as follows:

Sophomores, 4.18; Freshman, 4.17 and Juniors, 4.16

TO THE VICTOR, THE SPOILS — Miss Daisy Robinson (left) a junior of Norlina, N. C., receives flash camera set for selling the most tickets for "Fun Night" sponsored by Omicron Eta Chi, home economics club at Bennett college, Greensboro, N. C. Miss Theresa Kearney (right) a senior, of Greensboro, president of the club, announces the winner as Mrs. Louise Streat, club advisor, makes presentation.

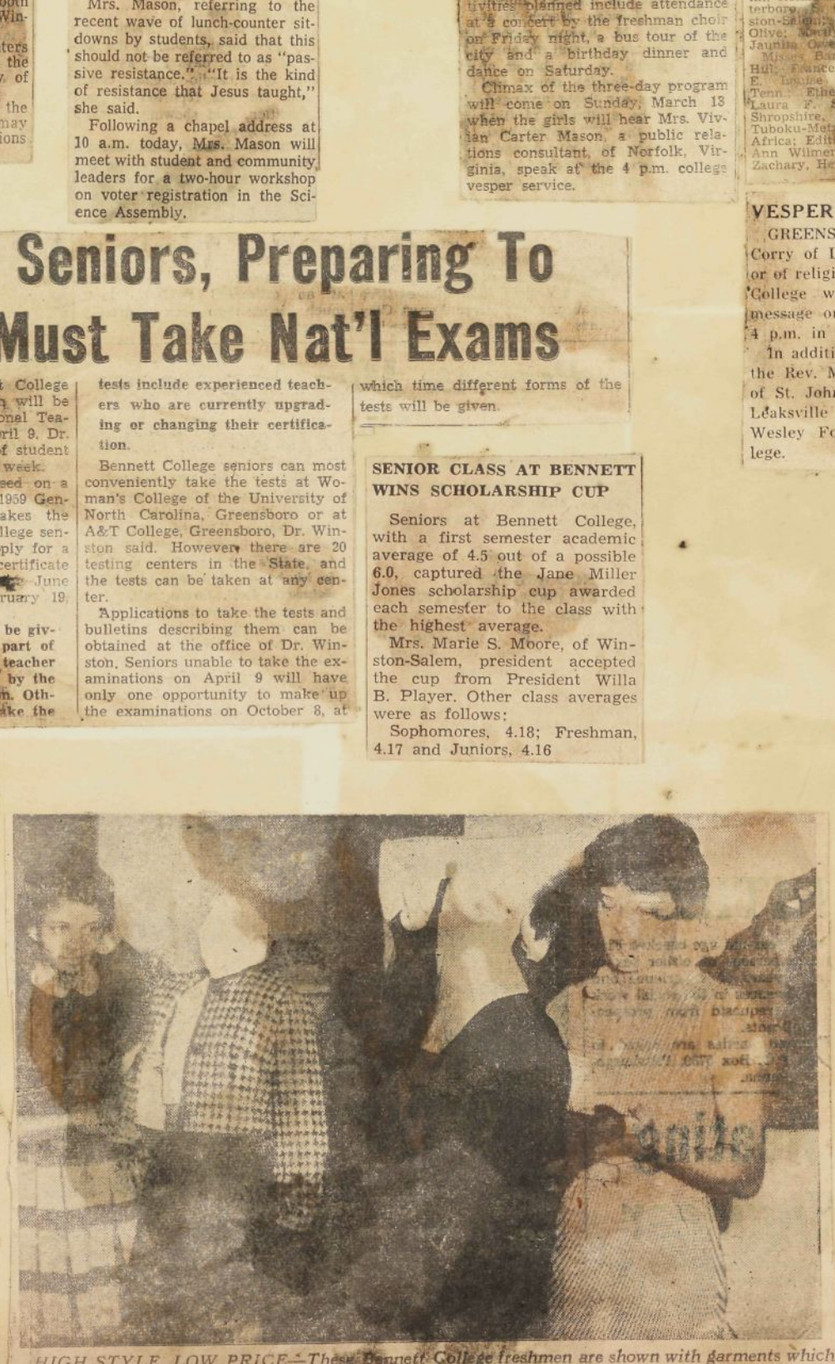
Rev. C. W. Robbins Speaks To Bennett Vesper Audience

"We can't make Jesus like ourselves but we can grow up to be like Him and to be instruments of peace and redemption," the Rev. Cecil W. Robbins, president of Louisburg College told the Bennett College vesper audience, Sunday.

The minister-educator, who is also president of the North Carolina Council of Churches, said that "the great trouble with most of us is that we are trying to reduce Jesus to our size."

"There are at least three ways in which we may think of Jesus," the speaker declared. "We may think of Him as the reformer who upsets the status quo; as a good fellow who conforms to the status quo, or we may think of Him as the Savior who transforms the status quo." forms the status quo."

Jesus transforms society, Dr. Robbins explained, by transforming individuals who, in turn, carry on His redemptive work.



HIGH STYLE, LOW PRICE—These Bennett College freshmen are shown with garments which they made for display in annual clothing exhibit. Miss Fay Jones, left, of East Orange, N. J., an elementary education major, displays green wool sports suit which she created at a cost of $16.67, while Miss Clifford Claye, a home economics major, of Houston, Texas, displays black jumper and matching jacket which she made for $12.50.

MOUNT HOLYOKE BOUND — Shown here are five of the six Bennett college students who left Greensboro, N. C., last week for Mount Holyoke college, South Hadley, Mass., where they will spend two weeks as a part of the exchange program between the two institutions. They are from left, Miss Marian Simmons, Fayetteville, N. C. Gwendolyn Mackel, Chicago; Lois Johnson, Baltimore, Md.; Joan Didier, Jamaica, BWI and Roslyn Smith, Princeton, W. Va. Not shown is Miss Nancy Kirby of Haddonfield, N. J.

Family Fare

HIGH STYLE, LOW PRICE—Two Bennett College (Greensboro, N. C.) freshmen show garments which they made for display in the annual clothing exhibit. Miss Fay Jones, left, of East Orange, N.J., shows a green wool suit which she created at a cost of $16.67. Miss Clifford Claye of Houston, Texas displays black jumper and matching jacket which she made for $12.50.

BENNETT'S PRESIDENT ENTERTAINS—Dr. Willa B. Player (extreme right) chats with exchange students and exchange professor from Mt. Holyoke College and Dr. James A. Thomas of Nashville, Tenn., before luncheon in her home last week. Dr. Thomas, who is associate director of educational institutions for the board of education of the Methodist Church, was at the college to deliver a vesper address. Left to right are the Misses Jean Sparrow of Covington, Va.; Carol Schwartz of Mt. Holyoke, and Susan Pogue of Mt. Holyoke; Dr. Thomas, Dr. Lorraine Benner, associate professor of psychology at Mt. Holyoke, and Dr. Player.

BENNETT "BEATNIK"---Giving vent to their creative urge, these Bennett College students create a "beatnik" snowman to guard the front of their dormitory, left to right: Misses Shirley Dismuke, of Vandergrift, Pa.; Theresa Keyes, of Randallstown, Md., and Jacqueline Daise, of Wilmington, N. C.

HELP FROM AN EXPERT—Dr. J. W. Lippincott of the chemistry department of the University of Florida, who spent three days on Bennett college campus recently, is shown explaining an experiment in differential distillation to Misses Jo Ann Truesdale (left), of Winston-Salem, N. C., and Lorraine Ramsey of Amonate, Va. Dr. Lippincott, in addition to conducting classts and labs, lectured to the entire college student body.

BENNETT GRAD ENGAGED—Mr. and Mrs. George Waters of Dudley, N. C., announced the engagement of their daughter, Mabel Shirley, to Dr. Virgil C. Norris, son of Mrs. Lillie M. Ricks of Tallahassee, Fla. Miss Waters is a 1958 graduate of Bennett. Dr. Norris is a '59 graduate of Meharry Medical College. A June wedding is planned.

ALL BUT ONE SAID "CHEESE" — Dr. Rosey E. Pool, author, linguist and teacher (fifth from right) who is currently touring a number of United Negro College Fund institutions, is shown at Bennett college, Greensboro, N. C., with students and teachers ofter one of her several lectures. From left, Miss Barbara McMann, Mount Holyoke college; Dr. ShangLing Fu, sociology instructor; Miss Rebecca Farris, senior, of Montgomery, Ala.; Miss Gail Moffa, Mount Holyoke college; Miss Gloria E. Brown senior and president of the Student Senate of Bronx, N. Y.; Dr. Dorothy C. Bardolph, of Bennett history faculty; Dr. Lorraine Benner, exchange professor of psychology from Mount Holyoke; W. I. Gibson, director of public relations; Miss Susan Pogue, Mount Holyoke, and Miss Carol Schwartz, Mount Holyoke.

HIGH STYLE, LOW PRICE — These Bennett college freshmen are shown with garments which they made for display in annual clothing exhibit. Miss Fay Jones (left) of East Orange, N. J., an elementary education major, displays a green wool sports suit which she created at a cost of $16.67, while Miss Clifford Claye, a home economics major of Houston, Tex., displays black jumper and matching jacket which she made for $12.50.

PRESIDENT ENTERTAINS — Dr. Willa B. Player (extreme right) chats with exchange students and exchange professor from Mount Holyoke college and Dr. James A. Thomas, of Nashville, Tenn., before luncheon in her home last week. Dr. Thomas, who is associate director of educational institutions for the Board of Education of the Methodist church, was at the college to deliver a vesper address. Left to right are Misses Jean Sparrow, of Covington, Va.; Carol Schwartz, of Mount Holyoke; Susan Pogue, of Mount Holyoke; Dr. Thomas, Dr. Lorraine Benner, associate professor of psychology at Mount Holyoke and Dr. Player.

NEVER HAD IT SO GOOD!---Huge snow man in front of Marner Hall at Bennett College has finishing touches put on by Miss Geraldine Brown, of Philadelphia. Others in photo, left to right, are Misses Betty Murphy, Inverness, Florida; Yvonne Harris, Columbis, S. C.; Shirley Hawkins, Philadelphia, Pa., and (kneeling) Joan Cofield, of Enfield, S. C. Snow in Greensboro, N. C., third in less than a month, snarled traffic and tempers but was welcomed by the students.

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Some 150 senior girls from high schools in six states are expected to attend the annual Youth Day Weekend at Bennett College Friday through Sunday.

Invitations have been sent to girls i high schools in Virginia, West Virginia, Georgia, Florida, North Carolina and South Carolina.

The three days of activty will conclude Sunday with an address by Mrs. Vivian Carter Mason of Norfolk, Va., a public relations consultant.

KING SNOW took over Dixie with a vengeance this winter. These Bennett College students in Greensboro, N. C., have kept a "beatnik" snow man in front of their dormitory ever since the "white stuff" came floating down. Left: Shirley Dismuke of Vandergrift, Pa.; Theresa Keyes of Randallstown, Md., and Jacqueline Daise of Wilmington, N. C., got a kic out of fashioning their "king."

OTHER ATTRACTIONS

PFEIFFER CHAPEL—Saturday, BROWN UNIVERSITY GLEE CLUB CONCERT, 8 p.m.

TROPICANA SUPPER CLUB—Friday through Sunday, THE INK SPOTS.

ODELL AUDITORIUM—Monday at 8 p.m. FOUR-HAND RECITAL by Lillian and Irwin Freudlich, pianists. He is with the piano department of the Juilliard School of Music.

TO READ PLAY

A reading of "Raisin in the Sun," the Broadway hit play by Lorraine Hansberry, will be given by Bennett College students and faculty members in the Little Theater at the college on Friday night at 8 o'clock. In the cast will be Esther Alexander and Ollie Johnson, members of the Theater Guild; and from the faculty, Mrs. Gertrude K. Pryor, F. Alan Eady, director of dramatics, and Howell T. Jones. Larry Henderson of A&T College, Andrew Johnson of Dudley High School and Roy Lee Jr., a pupil at the Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal Parochial School, round out the cast.

REV. JOHN CORRY SPEAKS AT BENNETT

"If we are honest with ourselves, many of us will admit that our failures can be attributed to putting the wrong things first," the Rev. John Corry of Leaksville, told the Bennett College student body and guest audience Sunday.

The minister, who in addition to being pastor of St. Johns Church in Leaksville, also serves as acting director of religious activities at the college, spoke on "Priorities."

"Most of us," he said, "want all of the material things of life first, and then we will seek the kingdom of God. However, a leftover life is not adequate for God who tells us to seek first the kingdom of God."

Pointing out that this generation, while it has more leisure time than any other in history is perhaps the most confused and perplexed, the Rev. Mr. Corry declared that this may be due in part to the fact that many people spend so much time insisting upon their rights that they forget all about their duties and responsibilities.

THE NATIONAL FOTO-NEWS

VOL. VI, NO. 20
EDITOR. . . Frances A. Belcher
ADV. MGR. . . Richard Belcher
920 COLLINGWOOD BLVD. TOLEDO 2, OHIO
FOR DISTRIBUTION INFORMATION
PHONE - TOLEDO: Cherry 3-5643
NEW YORK REPRESENTATIVE - JEROME LEE
E 32ND ST. ORICON 9-1072 SUITE 3C
NEW YORK 16, N.Y.

MOUNT HOLYOKE BOUND---Shown here are five of the six Bennett College students who left Greensboro, N. C. for Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., where they will spend two weeks as a part of the exchange program between the two institutions. Left to right Misses Marian Simmons, Fayetteville, N. C.; Gwendolyn Mackel, Chicago, Ill.; Lois Johnson, Baltimore, Md.; Joan Didier, Jamaica, BWI and Roslyn Smith, Princeton, W. Va. N t shown is Miss Nancy Kirby, of Haddonfield, N. J.

TO THE VICTOR, THE SPOILS---Miss Daisy Robinson, left, a junior of Norlina, N. C., receives flash camera set for selling the most tickets for the "Fun Night" sponsored by Omicron Eta Chi, home economics club at Bennett College. Miss Theresa Kearney (right) a senior, of Greensboro, president of the club, announces the winner as Mrs. Louise Streat, club advisor, makes presentation.

IN EXCHANGE PROGRAM---Dr. Hobart S. Jarrett, chairman of the humanities division of Bennett College, who is spending two weeks at Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., as a part of the faculty-student exchange program between the two institutions. He is teaching courses in English and Shakespeare.

ANYBODY WANT TO FIGHT?---Enjoying the first snowfall of the season are these Bennett College students who teamed up for a snow fight when some seven inches of the white stuff fell on Greensboro, N. C. Left to right, Misses Yvette Williams, Springfield, Mass.; Darthula Barlow, Roanoke, Va. and Ann Martin, of Washington, D.C.

BENNETT PRESIDENT ENTERTAINS---Dr. Willa B. Player (extreme right) chats with exchange students and exchange professor from Mount Holyoke College and Dr. James A. Thomas, of Nashville, Tenn., before luncheon in her home. Dr. Thomas, who is associate director of educational institutions for the Board of Education of the Methodist Church, was at the college to deliver a vesper address. Left to right are Misses Jean Sparrow, of Covington, Va.; Carol Schwartz, of Mount Holyoke; Susan Pogue, of Mount Holyoke; Dr. Thomas, Dr. Lorraine Benner, associate professor of psychology at Mount Holyoke and Dr. Player.

ALL BUT ONE SAID "CHEESE"---Dr. Rosey E. Pool, author, linguist and teacher (fifth from right) who is currently touring a number of United Negro College Fund institutions, is shown at Bennett College with students and teachers after one of her several lectures. Left to right, Miss Barbara McMann, Mount Holyoke College; Dr. Shang-Ling Fu, sociology instructor; Miss Rebecca Farris, senior, of Montgomery, Ala.; Miss Gail Moffat, Mount Holyoke College; Miss Gloria E. Brown, senior and president of the Student Senate, of Bronx, N.Y.; Dr. Dorothy C. Bradolph, of the Bennett history faculty; Dr. Pool, Dr. Lorraine Benner, exchange professor, of psychology from Mount Holyoke; W. I. Gibson, director of public relations; Miss Susan Pogue, Mount Holyoke and Miss Carol Schwartz, Mount Holyoke.

DR. ROSEY E. POOL, author, linguist and teacher (fifth from right) who is currently touring a number of United Negro College Fund institutions, is shown at Bennett College with students and teachers after one of her several lectures. Left to right, Miss Barbara McMann, Mount Holyoke College; Dr. Shang-Ling Fu, sociology instructor; Miss Rebecca Farris, senior, of Montgomery, Ala.; Miss Gail Moffat, Mount Holyoke College; Miss Gloria E. Brown, senior and president of the Student Senate, of Bronx, N. Y.; Dr. Dorothy C. Bardolph, of the Bennett history faculty; Dr. Pool, Dr. Lorraine Benner, exchange professor, of psychology from Mount Holyoke; W. I. Gibson, director of public relations; Miss Susan Pogue, Mount Holyoke and Miss Carol Schwartz, Mount Holyoke.

Youth Day At Bennett

Despite heavy snows and predictions of more to come, some 75 senior girls and their advisors from high schools in North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia and Delaware attended the annual Youth Days weekend at Bennett College.

On Friday and Saturday, the young women attended classes and vocational interest group meetings while their advisors attended workshops. Saturday night they attended the concert by the freshman choir and the dance which followed. Sunday morning they made summary reports of their activities and on that afternoon heard an address by Mrs. Vivian C. Mason before leaving for their homes.

The complete registration list follows:

NORTH CAROLINA

Belmont — Reid High School; Barbara A. Reeves and Frances Johnson

Burlington — Jordan Sellars High School; Patricia Enoch and Rosalyn E. Currie, advisor, Mrs. Virginia Wagstaff Maynard

Charlotte — J. H. Gunn High School; Carrie L. Barnes and Brenda C. Long

Concord — Logan High School; Ella Colbert and Bessie Wagoner, advisor, Mrs. E. M. Polk

Durham — Clear View High; Mellice D. Walker

Graham — Graham High School; Margaret A. Graves

Greensboro — Dudley High School; Gwendolyn E. Donnell, Shirley A. Manigault, Loretta McAdoo, Lorraine McGaucon, Marian F. Thornhill, Gloria J. Blair, Carolyn Bowden, Loretta J. Montgomery, Valeria A. Hedrick and Paula Jewell

Greensboro — Immanuel Lutheran College; Willie M. Wagstaff and Julienne Kemp, advisor, Mrs. Lucy Pederson

Greensboro — Notre Dame High School; Mabel L. James

Henderson — Henderson Institute; Doris J. Alexander and Gale M. Sneed

Kinston — Adkins High School; Calethia M. Williams

Leaksville — Douglass High School; Frances A. Brown, Willette A. Daye and Serita Hairston

Lexington — Dunbar High School; Kiwana Talbert and Elizabeth A. Carson

Liberty — Randolph High School; Shirley Y. Goldston

Louisburg — Franklin County Training School; Janet L. Kelly and LaVerne Robinson

Madison — Charles Drew High School; Betty E. Dalton, Janie R. Dalton and Nancy L. Zizler

Morganton — Olive Hill High School; Carolyn L. Williams and Doris C. Tate

Pittsboro — Horton High School; Lucille Reaves and Peggy A. Leah, advisor, Miss Geneva Baldwin

Roseboro — Charles Perry High School; Louise Henie and Barbara Peterson, advisor, Miss Eunice Medley

Sedalia — Sedalia High School; Wilma M. Summers

Summerfield — Laughlin High School; advisor, Mrs. Fannie L. Hinnant

Wadesboro — Anson County Training School; Mella E. Flowers and Beverly J. Ratliff, advisor, Mrs. Dorothy L. Jackson

SOUTH CAROLINA

Charleston — Immaculate Conception High School; Laura P. Murra and Frances Marshall

Columbia — C. A. Johnson High School; Jean W. Patterson and LaVerne J. Schumpert, advisor, Miss Annie R. Dinkins

Cheraw — Long High School Elizabeth D. Walls and Juanita S. Duncan

Easley — Clear View High School; Ann T. Burgess and Bettye J. Hendrick, advisor, Miss R. B. Goodwin

Sumter — Lincoln High School; Jo Lawrence Richardson and Nancy Davis, advisor, Mrs. Fannie S. Ivey

DELAWARE

Wilmington — P. S. DuPont High School; Helen F. Emory

Wilmington — Wilmington High School; Muriel Taliaferra, advisor, Mrs. Helen I. Wiggins, board of education.

Wilmington — Howard High School; Theodosia A. Seeney and Gloria J. Robinson

Services Held At Bennett

"The most important gift you have to give to the world is yourself," the Rev. Charles Bollinger, of Syracuse, N.Y., said in his vesper message at Bennett College yesterday.

Director of the Commission on Christian Higher Education of the Syracuse area of the Methodist Church, the minister spoke on "The Pursuit of Excellence."

"We live in a world where there are so many things that vulgarize human life," the Rev. Mr. Bollinger declared. "The excellent is so often dragged down to the plane of the ugly. Being excellent requires a sensitivity to the things of life that are beautiful.

"If the world is to become a Christian place, it will be because of young people who are committed to pay the price to make it so. Your pathway to the excellent will not be easy for there will be voices along it urging you to take the easy way. Don't settle too early for too little and remember that God would have you become the person you were meant to be."

Rev. John Corry Makes Talk

"If we are honest with ourselves, many of us will admit that our failures can be attributed to putting the wrong things first," the Rev. John Corry of Leaksville, told the Bennett College vesper audience yesterday.

The minister, who in addition to being pastor of St. Johns Church in Leaksville, also serves as acting director of religious activities at the college, spoke on "Priorities."

"Most of us," he said, "want all of the material things of life first, and then we will seek the kingdom of God. However, a left-over life is not adequate for God who tells us to seek first the kingdom of God."

MISS DAISE ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Miss Jacqueline Daise, Bennett College junior of Wilmington, N. C., this week attended the White House Conference on Children and Youth in Washington. She was also a member of the planning committee.

CHARLOTTE ALSTON IN PIANO RECITAL

Miss Charlotte Alston, pianist, will be presented in a recital at Bennett College tonight at 8 o'clock in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Miss Alston, a native of Greensboro and a 1954 graduate of the college, has studied at Scarritt and Vanderbilt Universities in Nashville, Tenn. and at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N. Y. For three years she taught in the Hiroshima Girls School in Japan where she directed the girls choir and made a number of concert appearances.

Tonight's concert, originally scheduled for March 4, but postponed because of the weather conditions, will find Miss Alston playing from the works of Bach, Debussy and Rachmaninoff.

REV. C. BOLLINGER SPEAKS AT VESPER SERVICE

"The most important gift you have to give to the world is yourself," the Rev. Charles Bollinger, of Syracuse, N. Y., said in his vesper message at Bennett College Sunday. Director of the Commission on Christian Higher Education of the Syracuse area of the Methodist Church, the minister spoke on "The Pursuit of Excellence."

"We live in a world where there are so many things that vulgarize human life," the Rev. Mr. Bollinger declared. "The excellent is so often dragged down to the plane of the ugly. Being excellent requires a sensitivity to the things of life that are beautiful."

"If the world is to become a Christian place, it will be because of young people who are committed to pay the price to make it so. Your pathway to the excellent will not be easy for there will be voices along it urging you to take the easy way. Don't settle too early for too little and remember that God would have you become the person you were meant to be."

MRS. V. C. MASON SPEAKS AT BENNETT VESPER

Only the light of truth can dispel the darkness of ignorance, jealousy and fear, Mrs. Vivian Carter Mason, of Norfolk, Va., declared in her vesper address at Bennett College Sunday.

The speaker, former president of the National Council of Negro Women, and now a public relations consultant, was addressing her remarks primarily to some 60 high school seniors and their advisors attending the Youth Days weekend at the college.

Mrs. Mason called attention to the need for more light to be shed upon the democratic concept that all men are created equal.

"Each of us," she said, has an incandescent power to be a light and to cast our rays into the darkness. We need a compassionate heart that comes from understanding and the ability to express ourselves with fluency, conviction and sincerity. In doing this, however, we should avoid terms with emotional overtones."

Mrs. Mason, referring to the recent wave of lunch-counter sit-downs by students, said that this should not be referred to as "passive resistance." It is the kind of resistance that Jesus taught," she said.

Following a chapel address at 10 a.m. today, Mrs. Mason will meet with student and community leaders for a two-hour workshop on voter registration in the Science Assembly.

Sit-Downs Typify Action Jesus Taught, Mrs. Vivian Mason Says

GREENSBORO—Only the light of truth can dispel the darkness of ignorance, jealousy and fear, Mrs. Vivian Carter Mason, of Norfolk, Virginia, declared in her vesper address at Bennett College Sunday.

The speaker, former president of the National Council of Negro Women, and now a public relations consultant, was addressing her remarks primarily to some 60 high school seniors and their advisors attending the Youth Days weekend at the college.

Mrs. Mason called attention to the need for more light to be shed upon the democratic concept that all men are created equal.

"Each of us," she said, has" an incandescent power to be a light and to cast our rays into the darkness. We need a compassionate heart that comes from understanding and the ability to express ourselves with fluency, conviction and sincerity. In doing this, however, we should avoid terms with emotional overtones."

Mrs. Mason, referring to the recent wave of lunch-counter sit-downs by students, said that this should not be referred to as "passive resistance." It is the kind of resistance that Jesus taught," she said.

Following a chapel address at 10 a.m. today, Mrs. Mason will meet with student and community leaders for a two-hour workshop on voter registration in the Science Assembly.

BENNETT FRESHMAN CHOIR APPEAR IN CONCERT

An appreciative audience, which included some 75 senior high school girls and their advisors, heard the Bennett College freshman choir, directed by Edward Lowe, in its annual concert in Pfeiffer Chapel, Saturday night.

LANGSTON HUGHES TO OPEN LECTURE SERIES AT BENNETT COLLEGE

Langston Hughes, poet, playwright, newspaper columnist and world traveler, will open the Bennett College Lecture Series with two addresses on Friday, April 8, President Willa B. Player announced this week.

Mr. Hughes will speak to the students and faculty at the 10 a.m. chapel hour and at 8:15 p.m. will speak to a community-wide audience in Pfeiffer Chapel.

The artist, a graduate of Lincoln University in Pennsylvania, has had a varied career of creativity—writing poems, articles, short stories, novels, plays and a two-volume autobiography — "The Big Sea" and "I Wonder as I Wander." He is contributing editor to Phylon magazine.

Although Mr. Hughes is probably best known by more people for his character "Simple" which has appeared in three books compiled from newspaper columns he has written, he is equally well known for writing lyrics for songs and for the musical show, "Street Scene."

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Herbert Chitepo of Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia, first African attorney to be commissioned in the Central African Federation, was among recent visitors at Bennett College.

Plans for "Operation Doorknock," spearhead of the 13th annual Homemaking Institute scheduled at Bennett April 3-10, were completed last week. Theme of the institute is "Register and Vote: A Necessity for Good Citizenship."

Thurgood Marshall, chief NAACP counsel of New York, will open the institute with an address Sunday at 4 p.m.

* * *

75 girls and advisors attend annual Bennett Youth Days

GREENSBORO, N.C.— Despite heavy snows and predictions of more to come, some 75 senior girls and their advisors from high schools in North Carolina, South Carolina and Delaware attended the annual Youth Days weekend at Bennett College.

The complete registration list

NORTH CAROLINA

Belmont — Reid High School, Barbara A. Reeves and Frances Johnson.

Burlington — Jordan Sellers High School, Patricia Enoch and Rosalyn E. Currie, advisor, Mrs. Virginia Wagstaff Maynard.

Charlotte — J. H. Gunn High School. Carie L. Barnes and Brenda C. Long.

Concord — Logan High School, Ella Colbert and Bessie Wagoner, advisor, Mrs. E. M. Polk.

Durham — Clean View High; Mellice D. Walker.

Graham — Graham High School, Margaret A. Graves.

Greensboro — Dudley High School, Gwendolyn E. Donnell, Shirley A. Manigault, Loretta McAdoo, Lorraine McGaucon, Marian F. Thornhill, Gloria J. Blair, Carolyn Bowden, Loretta J. Montgomery Valeria A. Hedrick and Paul Jewell; Immanuel Lutheran College, Willie M. Wagstaff and Julienne Kemp, advisor, Mrs. Lucy Pederson; Notre Dame High School, Mabel L. James.

* * *

HENDERSON — Henderson Institute, Doris J. Alexander and Gale M. Speed.

Kinston — Adkins High School, Calethia M. Williams. Leaksville — Douglass High School, Frances A. Brown, Willette A. Days and Serita Hairston.

Lexington — Dunbar High School, Kiwana Talbert and Elizabeth A. Carson.

Liberty — Randolph High School, Shirley Y. Goldston.

Louisburg — Franklin County Training School, Janet L. Kelly and LaVerne Robinson.

Madiso — Charles Drew High School, Betty E. Dalton, Janie R. Dalto and Nancy L. Zizler.

* * *

MORGANTON — Olive Hill High School, Carolyn L. Williams and Doris C. Tate.

Pittsboro — Horton High School, Lucille Reaves and Peggy A. Lead, advisor, Miss Geneva Baldwin.

Roseboro — Charles Perry High School, Louise Henie and Barbara Peterson, advisor. Miss Eunice Medley.

Sedalia — Sedalia High School, Wilma M. Summers.

Summerfield — Laughlin High School, advisor, Mrs. Fannie L. Hinnant.

Wadesboro — Anson County Training School, Mella E. Flowers and Beverly J. Ratliff, advisor, Mrs. Dorothy L. Jackson.

SOUTH CAROLINA

Charleston — Immaculate Conception High School, Laura P. Murra and Frances Marshall.

Columbia — C. A. Johnson High School, Jean W. Patterson and LaVerne J. Schumpert, advisor, Miss Annie R. Dinkins.

Cheraw — Long High School, Elizabeth D. Walls and Juanita S. Duncan.

Easley — Clear View High School, Ann T. Burgess and Bettye J. Hendrick, advisor, Miss R. B. Goodwin.

Sumter — Lincoln High School, Jo Lawrence Richardson and Nancy Davis, advisor Mrs. Fannie S. Ivey.

DELAWARE

Wilmington — P. S. DuPont High School, Helen F. Emory; Wilmington High School, Muriel Taliaferra, advisor, Mrs. Helen I. Wiggins, board of education, and Howard High School, Theodosia A. Seeney and Gloria J. Robinson.

SPRING RECESS AT BENNETT

Spring recess at Bennett College will begin at noon on April 15 (Good Friday) and end at 8 a.m. on Tuesday, April 19.

"Be Alive To Cross Currents Of Change In Civilization:" Dr. Willa B. Player

GREENSBORO—President Willa B. Player challenged Bennett College seniors to "be alive to the cross currents of change in civilization," as 69 of them received their academic caps and gowns to highlight the annual Senior Day exercises in Pfeiffer Chapel Friday.

Referring to the Bennett symbols, the college bell and the Long Walk, Dr. Player, quoting from the bell's inscription, characterized the academic attire which the seniors are now privileged to wear through commencement as "garments of praise."

She called the attention of the seniors to the fact that they live in a culture that is often afraid to adopt new idea or value because it wants to cling to the old.

Dr. C. G. Winston, before presenting the seniors to President Player, announced that Miss Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, of Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa, with an academic average of 2.7 out of a possible 3.0 was leading the class in scholarship. Miss Tuboku-Metzer completed her work at the end of the first semester but returned for the exercises.

Ranked in order after her are Mrs. Marie S. Moore, class president, of Winston-Salem; Miss Laura Sawyer, of Salisbury; Miss Helen Houston, of Nashville, Tenn., and Miss Edith Tucker, of Elkin, N. C.

The seniors planted a magnolia tree and dedicated it to Bishop Edgar Love, of Baltimore, Md., vice-chairman of the college trustee board. Saying that "it is a marvelous thing to be remembered by one's friends," Bishop Love accepted the honor which was announced by Miss Hiawatha Foster of Charlotte.

The Greensboro Record

Page 1—Section B — Wednesday, March 23, 1960

Monday, April 4, 1960

(Daily News staff photo.)

BEFORE SPEECH

Thurgood Marshall, general counsel for the NAACP, stands with Bennett College student Gloria McKnight of Gainesville, Fla., before he spoke at the opening of the school's annual Homemaking Institute.

Over 1,000 Hear Negro Leader

Marshall Urges Segregation End

The general counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People yesterday described Southern aristocracy as the "white man's right to sit at a lunch counter and drink a 10-cent cup of coffee."

Thurgood Marshall made the remark to an audience of more than 1,000 Negroes at the opening of Bennett College's Homemaking Institute.

Urging his audience to provide their own leadership in putting an end to all segregation, Marshall said "the world will never condone oppression of minorities no matter who's on top and who's on bottom.

"The only country that doesn't understand this is the United States," he said.

Not Private

Marshall said he didn't think much of last week's suggestion by the mayor's committee that partial integration of dime store lunch counters here would solve the problem brought on by Negro student demands for an end to segregated seating.

"I'm not for token integration," he said.

He said that business firms catering to the general public were not private property and that if their owners maintained they were private, the Negro should "make it private. Close it up."

"If you can take my money for pins and needles," Marshall said, "then you can take my money for a cup of coffee."

"As long as there's one segregated school or hospital in North Carolina you've got a protest coming," he said. "Once you make that clear to the politicians then you can turn to the businessmen."

Set Example

"Tell them you want a handle [illegible] front [illegible] ur name. No handle, [illegible] nd don't limit this to [illegible] [illegible] shall told his audience with every right you get there is a concommittant responsibility and duty."

He said that Negro students have set their elders an example to follow and that adult Negroes should stop sitting on the sidelines "wringing your hands."

"The ballot is the cheap[illegible] weapon I know of," he said groes should "serve notice o[illegible] politicians that you either give them (the young people) their rights or we'll take care of you at the polls."

Marshall said he was tired of hearing Southerners say that the Negro was happy and satisfied with his lot in the South. "T[illegible] demonstrations have sh[illegible] world that the Negro doesn't like it but isn't take it," he said.

Heard Ar[illegible]

Marshall said th[illegible] in South Africa recen[illegible] everywhere the argu[illegible] "the African is not [illegible] freedom yet."

"You know," he said. "so at home, like in Mississippi."

Marshall was asked what he thought of the statement by some Southerners that the cause of better race relations had been set back by the wave of student sit-down demonstrations.

"People throughout the country are demonstrating their support for it," he said. "Besides, I have never understood what they mean by 'setting back' race relations."

The Negro lawyer planned to return to New York City last night. The Bennett College homemaking institute continues this week with an effort by students to get Negro residents to register to vote.

THURGOOD MARSHALL

Marshall Visit Here Will Open Vote Operation

BY MARTHA MADER
Record Staff Writer

Thurgood Marshall, chief legal counsel for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, will speak at Bennett College on Sunday, April 3, opening a week-long institute which is to include a drive to register new voters in Negro voting precinct No. 7.

Marshall is to speak at 4 p.m. on April 3.

Theme of the 34th annual Homemaking Institute of the college, planned for April 3 through 10, is "Register and Vote: A Necessity for Good Citizenship."

The 500 Bennett College students will participate in a three-day door-to-door campaign to urge those persons not now registered with the Guilford County Board of Elections to register and to vote. The effort is to be concentrated in Precinct 7, recently made an all-Negro voting area, where Bennett College is located.

Mrs. Louise G. Streat of the college faculty, chairman of the Institute, said today there are between 1,500 and 1,800 residents of the precinct not now registered, excluding residents of two housing projects, on which no figures are available. "Operation Doorknock" is title of the special project.

Representatives of the local NAACP voter registration committee will speak to students at a chapel program at 10 a.m. Monday, April 4. Workshops will follow the general session, and will also be held on the mornings of April 5 and 6. Included in the programs instructing student workers on enlistment of voters will be skits on talking to prospects.

Student visits to homes of non-registered citizens are scheduled for April 6, 7 and 8. Arrangements are being made, in connection with the drive, to have registrars available in public buildings to take new registrations.

Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., will give the closing address of the institute at 4 p.m. on Saturday, April 9, and Mrs. Streat will summarize the week's activities. Dr. Willa B. Player, college president, will preside.

Marshall, a New York attorney, recently returned from a trip to Africa where he served as consultant to African nationalist leaders. He is a graduate of Lincoln University in Pennsylvania and the Howard University Law School in Washington. A native of Baltimore, Md., he was admitted to the bar in 1933 and was named assistant special counsel for the NAACP in 1936 and became chief counsel in 1950. He has appeared before the U. S. Supreme Court in 25 cases involving constitutional rights of Negroes.

Selection of the noted barrister, who has been referred to as "Mr. NAACP," for the keynote address was based upon this year's theme dealing with voter registration and voting as contributing factors to better family living," Mrs. Louise G. Streat, institute chairman, pointed out.

Marshall, who only recently returned from an extended trip abroad where he served as consultant to African leaders, has argued, or repared briefs with the cooperation of NAACP lawyers in all NAACP cases affecting constitutional rights of Negroes from 1938 to the present time. He has apeared 25 times before the U. S. Supreme Court and has won 23 of these cases.

Among his most significant victories have been the right of Negroes to vote in Democratic primaries in the South; the right of Negro passengers to travel freely in interstate travel; the right of Negroes to buy or rent property free of racial restrictive covenants, and the end of the "separate but equal" theory in the field of education.

Marshall, who holds eight honorary Doctor of Laws degrees, is a graduate of Lincoln University in Pennsylvania and of the Howard University Law School in Washington. A native of Baltimore, Maryland, he was first admitted to the bar in 1933. He was named assistant special counsel for the NAACP in 1936 and was named to his present position in 1950.

LANGSTON HUGHES
Here April 8

Playwright, Columnist To Speak

Langston Hughes, poet, playwright, newspaper columnist and world traveler, will open the Bennett College Lecture Series with two addresses Friday, April 8.

Hughes will speak to the students and faculty at the 10 a.m. chapel hour and at 8:15 p.m. will speak to a communitywide audience in Pfeiffer Chapel.

The artist, a graduate of Lincoln University in Pennsylvania, has had a varied career of creativity — writing poems, articles, short stories, novels, plays and a two-volume autobiography—"The Big Sea" and "I Wonder As I Wander." He is contributing editor to Phylon magazine.

Although Hughes is probably best known by more people for his character "Simple" which has appeared in three books compiled from newspaper columns he has writetn, he is equally well known for writing lyrics for songs and for the musical show, "Street Scene."

Bennett College Opens Institute Here Tomorrow

The 34th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College, opening tomorrow and continuing through next Sunday, will be built on the theme of "Register and Vote—a Necessity for Good Citizenship."

Tomorrow's program will be held at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel with Dr. Willa B. Player, college president, presiding, and with Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel of National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People, New York City, as speaker.

The Monday program will be at 10 a.m. in the chapel. Speaker will be John M. Brooks of Richmond, Va., director of voter registration for NAACP. At that session will be given a report on preliminary canvassing in Precinct 7 here. Workshops on six subjects will follow at 11:15 a.m. These workshops will continue Tuesday. Other activity is scheduled the remainder of the week.

Next Sunday's final session at 4 p.m. will hear Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta.

3 BENNETT STUDENTS ELECTED TO OFFICE

Three Bennett College juniors were elected to office during the annual national convention of Sigma Rho Sigma, social science honor society, held at Johnson C. Smith University in Charlotte last week.

Miss Yvonne Redcross of Hampton, Va., was named president; Miss Gwendolyn Mackel, of Chicago, Ill., secretary, and Miss Jacqueline Bosemam, of Baltimore, Md., director of publicity.

HOMEMAKING INSTITUTE AT BENNETT

Closing program of the 34th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College will be held Sunday at 4 p.m., at which time Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Georgia, will make the principal address.

A summary of the week's activities, which were concerned with increasing the number of registered voters in Greensboro, will be made by Mrs. Louise G. Streat, institute chairman.

HOLY WEEK SERVICES AT BENNETT

Holy Week services at Bennett College were held each morning in Pfeiffer Chapel beginning at 6:15, Monday through Thursday.

Holy communion was administered at the Good Friday service which began at 6 a.m. and in which local Methodist ministers participated.

Marshall to Speaks April 3 In Greensboro

GREENSBORO—Thurgood Marshall, of New York City, brilliant director-counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, will deliver the opening address at the 34th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College on Sunday, April 3 at 4 p.m.

MARSHALL

Selection of the noted barrister, who has been referred to as "Mr. NAACP," for the keynote address was based upon this year's theme dealing with voter registration and voting as contributing factors to better family living," Mrs. Louise G. Streat, institute chairman, pointed out.

Marshall, who only recently returned from an extended trip abroad where he served as consultant to African leaders, has argued, or repared briefs with the cooperation of NAACP lawyers in all NAACP cases affecting constitutional rights of Negroes from 1938 to the present time. He has apeared 25 times before the U. S. Supreme Court and has won 23 of these cases.

Among his most significant victories have been the right of Negroes to vote in Democratic primaries in the South; the right of Negro passengers to travel freely in interstate travel; the right of Negroes to buy or rent property free of racial restrictive covenants, and the end of the "separate but equal" theory in the field of education.

Marshall, who holds eight honorary Doctor of Laws degrees, is a graduate of Lincoln University in Pennsylvania and of the Howard University Law School in Washington. A native of Baltimore, Md., he was first admitted to the bar in 1933 and was named assistant special counsel for the NAACP in 1936 and became chief counsel in 1950. He has appeared before the U. S. Supreme Court in 25 cases involving constitutional rights of Negroes.

Langston Hughes set for Bennett

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Langston Hughes, poet, playwright, newspaper columnist and world traveler, will open the Bennett College Lecture Series with two addresses on April 8, President Willa B. Player announced this week.

Mr. Hughes will speak to the students and faculty at the 10 a.m. chapel hour and at 8:15 p.m. will speak to a community-wide audience in Pfeiffer Chapel.

A graduate of Lincoln (Pa.) University, he has had a varied career of creativity — writing poems, articles, short stories, novels, plays and a two-volume autobiography — "The Big S and "I Wonder as I Wander."

Although Mr. Hughes is probably best known for his character, "Simple," which has appeared in three books compiled from newspaper columns he has written, he is equally well known for writing lyrics for songs and for the musical show, "Street Scene."

LANGSTON HUGHES TO APPEAR AT BENNETT COLLEGE INSTITUTE

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Langston Hughes, poet, playwright, newspaper columnist and world traveler, will open the Bennett College Lecture Series with two addresses on Friday, April 8, President Willa B. Player announced this week.

Hughes will speak to the students and faculty at the 10 a.m. chapel hour and at 8:15 p.m. will speak to a communitywide audience in Pfeiffer Chapel.

The artist, a graduate of Lincoln University in Pennsylvania, has had a varied career of creativity writing poems, articles, short stories, novels, plays and a two-volume autobiography "The Big Sea" and "I Wonder as I Wander."

BENNETT BOARD OF TRUSTEES TO MEET

Members of the executive committee of the Bennett College board of trustees, with Dr. F. D. Patterson, chairman, presiding, are meeting April 12 in New York City.

President Willa B. Player will give an interim report and the trustees, after hearing reports of standing committees, will act upon the operating budget for 1960-61.

Marshall To Deliver Opening Address At Bennett's 34th Homemaking Institute

Thurgood Marshall, of New York City, brilliant director-counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, will deliver the opening address at the 34th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College on Sunday, April 3 at 4 p.m.

Selection of the noted barrister, who has been referred to as "Mr. NAACP," for the keynote address was based upon this year's theme dealing with voter registration and voting as contributing factors to better family living, Mrs. Louise G. Streat, institute chairman, pointed out.

Mr. Marshall, who only recently returned from an extended trip abroad where he served as consultant to African leaders, has argued, or prepared briefs with the cooperation of NAACP lawyers in all NAACP cases affecting constitutional rights of Negroes from 1938 to the present time. He has appeared 25 times before the U.S. Supreme Court and has won 23 of these cases.

Among his most significant victories have been the right of Negroes to vote in Democratic primaries in the South; the right of Negro passengers to travel freely in interstate travel; the right of Negroes to buy or rent property free of racial restrictive covenants, and the end of the "separate but equal" theory in the field of education.

Mr. Marshall, who holds eight honorary Doctor of Laws degrees, is a graduate of Lincoln University in Pennsylvania and of the Howard University Law School in Washington. A native of Baltimore, Maryland, he was first admitted to the bar in 1933. He was named assistant special counsel for the NAACP in 1936 and was named to his present position in 1950.

THURGOOD MARSHALL

This year's institute, which extends through Sunday, April 10, when Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, delivers the closing address, will devote itself to the practical task of getting on the voting books of Greensboro as many unregistered Negro citizens as possible, and teaching them the value of the wise use of the ballot.

Following a series of workshops in which faculty-staff members and community leaders will give direction, the entire student body of 490 Bennett students will begin "Operation Doorknock" in which they will visit homes in selected precincts in the city to stimulate registration of unregistered voters.

For the past month, student leaders have been working around the clock preparing lists, maps and statistics to be used during "Operation Doorknock."

OPERATION DOOR KNOCK AT BENNETT NEXT WEEK

Final plans for "Operation Doorknock," spearhead of the 34th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College, April 3-10, were completed this week.

With the theme, "Register and Vote: A Necessity for Good Citizenship," this year's institute will seek to enroll as many unregistered voters in Greensboro as possible through a concerted door-to-door program in which the entire student body of nearly 500 students will participate.

Thurgood Marshall, chief NAACP legal counsel of New York, will open the institute with an address on Sunday, April 3, at 4 p.m. Monday, at 10 a.m., there will be a chapel program featuring representatives of the local NAACP voter registration committee, to be followed by workshops which will explore points raised by the speakers.

Workshops will be resumed on Tuesday morning and on Wednesday at 10 a.m., there will be a dramatized role - playing program in which the students will be further informed of some of the problems they are likely to encounter in their visitations.

On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings, the students, working in pairs, will visit predetermined homes of non-registered citizens in an effort to "sell" the importance of registration and voting. Arrangements have been made with local officiels to have registrars available to take care of those persons who indicate their readiness to register.

Saturday there will be summaries and evaluations of the results of the drive and on Sunday, at 4 p.m. Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Georgia, will give the closing address and Mrs. Louise G. Streat, Institute Chairman, will summarize the week's activities. President Willa B. Player will preside.

Bennett Institute Seeks to Spearhead Vote Drive By Enlisting Entire Student Body in Canvass of City

GREENSBORO — Final plans for "Operation Doorknock," spearhead of the 34th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College, April 3-10, were completed this week.

With the theme, "Register and Vote: A Necessity for Good Citizenship," this year's institute will seek to enroll as many unregistered voters in Greensboro as possible through a concerted door-to-door program in which the entire student body of nearly 500 students will participate.

Thurgood Marshall, chief NAACP legal counsel of New York, will open the institute with an address on Sunday, April 3, at 4 p.m. Monday, at 10 a.m., there will be a chapel program featuring representatives of the local NAACP voter registration committee, to be followed by workshops which will explore points raised by the speakers.

Workshops will be resumed on Tuesday morning and on Wednesday at 10 a.m., there will be a dramatized role-playing program in which the students will be further informed of some of the problems they are likely to encounter in their visitations.

Voting Held Way To Erase Segregation

Negroes who don't bother to vote are helping keep segregation laws on the books in Southern states, John M. Brooks of Richmond, Va., said here yesterday.

Brooks is director of voter registration for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Richmond. He spoke at the 34th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College.

The theme of this year's institute is: "Register and Vote. A Necessity for Good Citizenship."

Brooks noted that a minority of qualified Negroes take the trouble to register and vote even in those sections of the South where Negroes have no trouble voting. He said that of a potential 15,000 Negro voters in Greensboro, only 5,000 are registered.

Not Using Ballot

"Because we Negroes have been bypassing the use of the ballot, many of us are not what we should be today," Brooks said. "With proper use of the ballot we would not have all these segregation laws on the books."

He reminded the Bennett students, who later this week will begin a drive to get Negro citizens to register and vote, that these people must be shown why it is necessary to vote.

The Bennett students will begin their campaign Wednesday night to get all voters in Precinct 7 to register and vote. Precinct 7 is a new all-Negro precinct.

The institute's afternoon session yesterday was devoted to workshop meetings. Workshop meetings will continue today.

The institute began Sunday and will continue through next Sunday. Mrs. Louise G. Streat is directing the institute.

DR. GEORGE BREATHETT PRESIDENT-ELECT OF SOCIAL SCIENCE TEACHERS

Dr. George Breathett, a member of the history faculty at Bennett College, was elected president-elect of the Association of Social Science Teachers during its annual convention at Johnson C. Smith University in Charlotte last week.

Dr. Breathett, who received his master's degree from the University of Michigan and his doctorate from the University of Iowa, is chairman of the Social Science Core and has done considerable research and publication in the area of the French Caribbean.

BENNETT CHOIR RETURNS FROM TOUR

The Bennett College choir returned last week from a tour which took the group to Atlanta, Albany and Ashburn, Georgia; Jacksonville and Daytona Beach, Florida, and Sumter, South Carolina.

The 40-voice group, directed by Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, will sing a special program of Easter music here, Sunday, April 24, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chpael.

STUDENTS AWARDED PRIZES FOR CREATIVE EFFORTS

Four Bennett College students were awarded prizes for their creative efforts during the recent observance of Humanities Week at the college.

First prize for short stories went to Miss Jacquelyn Florance, sophomore, of Greensboro. There was a tie for first place in the poetry division between Misses Hattie Green, senior, of Lovey, Va., and Ollie Johnson, sophomore, of Athens, Ga. First prize in art went to Miss Joan Didier, senior of Jamaica, BWI.

Part Of Plight Of Negro Laid To Poor Voting

BY DOROTHY ANN BENJAMIN
Record Staff Writer

"Because we Negroes have been bypassing the use of the ballot, many of us are not what we should be today. With proper use of the ballot we would not have all these segregation laws on the books," John M. Brooks of Richmond, Va., told a Bennett College audience today.

Brooks, director of voter registration for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Richmond, discussed the mechanics of registration and voting at the college's 34th annual Homemaking Institute. Theme of the institute this year is "Register and Vote! A Necessity for Good Citizenship."

He reminded the Bennett students, who later this week will attempt to get Negro citizens to register and vote, that these citizens must be shown why it is necessary to vote.

"Remind them that regardless of how much or how little money they may have when they try to sit down in a restaurant or lunch counter to eat it doesn't make any difference. There is a potential 15,000 Negro voters in Greensboro and only 5,000 are registered," he said.

A "dry run" by Bennett students last Monday night in the Everett-Jennifer Street-Morningside Homes area showed there were only six Negroes registered to vote of the 70 contacts made, in the 48 homes visited. Six others were definitely hostile and 58 said they would register.

If the Negroes that can vote will vote it will be easier for Negroes elsewhere to get the vote, Brooks stated.

The institute opened yesterday with a speech by Thurgood Marshall, general counsel of the NAACP, who said he was not for token integration and partial integration of dime store lunch counters here would not solve the problem of Negro student demands for unsegregated seating.

The Bennett girls will begin their campaign Wednesday night to get all voters in Precinct No. 7, the new all-Negro precinct, registered and voting.

(Daily News staff

NEGROES SWAMP REGISTRATION CENTERS

Crowds of Negroes such as the one above swamped Negro registration centers at Ray[illegible]elly Homes and Windsor Community Center last week to register for upcoming elections. "Op[illegible]ny Doorknock" was conducted by Bennett College students in the new Negro Precinct No. 7 an[illegible]nte than 1,000 Negro voters were added to registration rolls. The project, a part of the 34th Homemaking Institute at the college, was aided by community citizens, particularly school pals and ministers. Results were announced yesterday by Mrs. Louis G. Streat, institute man, at vesper services at Bennett. Registration continues through Tuesday.

The Greensboro Record

Page 1—Section B — Wednesday, March 23, 1960

Monday, April 4, 1960

(Daily News staff photo.)

BEFORE SPEECH

Thurgood Marshall, general counsel for the NAACP, stands with Bennett College student Gloria McKnight of Gainesville, Fla., before he spoke at the opening of the school's annual Homemaking Institute.

Over 1,000 Hear Negro Leader

Marshall Urges Segregation End

The general counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People yesterday described Southern aristocracy as the "white man's right to sit at a lunch counter and drink a 10-cent cup of coffee."

Thurgood Marshall made the remark to an audience of more than 1,000 Negroes at the opening of Bennett College's Homemaking Institute.

Urging his audience to provide their own leadership in putting an end to all segregation, Marshall said "the world will never condone oppression of minorities no matter who's on top and who's on bottom.

"The only country that doesn't understand this is the United States," he said.

Not Private

Marshall said he didn't think much of last week's suggestion by the mayor's committee that partial integration of dime store lunch counters here would solve the problem brought on by Negro student demands for an end to segregated seating.

"I'm not for token integration," he said.

He said that business firms catering to the general public were not private property and that if their owners maintained they were private, the Negro should "make it private. Close it up."

"If you can take my money for pins and needles," Marshall said, "then you can take my money for a cup of coffee."

"As long as there's one segregated school or hospital in North Carolina you've got a protest coming," he said. "Once you make that clear to the politicians then you can turn to the businessmen."

Set Example

"Tell them you want a handle front [illegible] ur name. No handle, [illegible] nd don't limit this to [illegible] shall told his audience with every right you get there is a concommittant responsibility and duty."

He said that Negro students have set their elders an example to follow and that adult Negroes should stop sitting on the sidelines "wringing your hands."

"The ballot is the cheap[illegible] weapon I know of," he said groes should "serve notice o politicians that you either give them (the young people) their rights or we'll take care of you at the polls."

Marshall said he was tired of hearing Southerners say that the Negro was happy and satisfied with his lot in the South. "T demonstrations have sh world that the Negro doesn't like it but isn' take it," he said.

Heard Ar

Marshall said th[illegible] In South Africa recen everywhere the argu "the African is not i freedom yet."

"You know," he said. so at home, like in Mississippi."

Marshall was asked what he thought of the statement by some Southerners that the cause of better race relations had been set back by the wave of student sit-down demonstrations.

"People throughout the country are demonstrating their support for it," he said. "Besides, I have never understood what they mean by 'setting back' race relations."

The Negro lawyer planned to return to New York City last night. The Bennett College homemaking institute continues this week with an effort by students to get Negro residents to register to vote.

THURGOOD MARSHALL

Marshall Visit Here Will Open Vote Operation

BY MARTHA MADER
Record Staff Writer

Thurgood Marshall, chief legal counsel for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, will speak at Bennett College on Sunday, April 3, opening a week-long institute which is to include a drive to register new voters in Negro voting precinct No. 7.

Marshall is to speak at 4 p.m. on April 3.

Theme of the 34th annual Homemaking Institute of the college, planned for April 3 through 10, is "Register and Vote: A Necessity for Good Citizenship."

The 500 Bennett College students will participate in a three-day door-to-door campaign to urge those persons not now registered with the Guilford County Board of Elections to register and to vote. The effort is to be concentrated in Precinct 7, recently made an all-Negro voting area, where Bennett College is located.

Mrs. Louise G. Streat of the college faculty, chairman of the institute, said today there are between 1,500 and 1,800 residents of the precinct not now registered, excluding residents of two housing projects, on which no figures are available. "Operation Doorknock" is title of the special project.

Representatives of the local NAACP voter registration committee will speak to students at a chapel program at 10 a.m. Monday, April 4. Workshops will follow the general session, and will also be held on the mornings of April 5 and 6. Included in the programs instructing student workers on enlistment of voters will be skits on talking to prospects.

Student visits to homes of non-registered citizens are scheduled for April 6, 7 and 8. Arrangements are being made, in connection with the drive, to have registrars available in public buildings to take new registrations.

Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., will give the closing address of the institute at 4 p.m. on Saturday, April 9, and Mrs. Streat will summarize the week's activities. Dr. Willa B. Player, college president, will preside.

Marshall, a New York attorney, recently returned from a trip to Africa where he served as consultant to African nationalist leaders. He is a graduate of Lincoln University in Pennsylvania and the Howard University Law School in Washington. A native of Baltimore, Md., he was admitted to the bar in 1933 and was named assistant special counsel for the NAACP in 1936 and became chief counsel in 1950. He has appeared before the U. S. Supreme Court in 25 cases involving constitutional rights of Negroes.

LANGSTON HUGHES
Here April 8

Playwright, Columnist To Speak

Langston Hughes, poet, playwright, newspaper columnist and world traveler, will open the Bennett College Lecture Series with two addresses Friday, April 8.

Hughes will speak to the students and faculty at the 10 a.m. chapel hour and at 8:15 p.m. will speak to a communitywide audience in Pfeiffer Chapel.

The artist, a graduate of Lincoln University in Pennsylvania, has had a varied career of creativity — writing poems, articles, short stories, novels, plays and a two-volume autobiography—"The Big Sea" and "I Wonder As I Wander." He is contributing editor to Phylon magazine.

Although Hughes is probably best known by more people for his character "Simple" which has appeared in three books compiled from newspaper columns he has writetn, he is equally well known for writing lyrics for songs and for the musical show, "Street Scene."

Bennett College Opens Institute Here Tomorrow

The 34th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College, opening tomorrow and continuing through next Sunday, will be built on the theme of "Register and Vote—a Necessity for Good Citizenship."

Tomorrow's program will be held at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel with Dr. Willa B. Player, college president, presiding, and with Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel of National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People, New York City, as speaker.

The Monday program will be at 10 a.m. in the chapel. Speaker will be John M. Brooks of Richmond, Va., director of voter registration for NAACP. At that session will be given a report on preliminary canvassing in Precinct 7 here. Workshops on six subjects will follow at 11:15 a.m. These workshops will continue Tuesday. Other activity is scheduled the remainder of the week.

Next Sunday's final session at 4 p.m. will hear Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta.

3 BENNETT STUDENTS ELECTED TO OFFICE

Three Bennett College juniors were elected to office during the annual national convention of Sigma Rho Sigma, social science honor society, held at Johnson C. Smith University in Charlotte last week.

Miss Yvonne Redcross of Hampton, Va., was named president; Miss Gwendolyn Mackel, of Chicago, Ill., secretary, and Miss Jacqueline Boseman, of Baltimore, Md., director of publicity.

HOMEMAKING INSTITUTE AT BENNETT

Closing program of the 34th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College will be held Sunday at 4 p.m., at which time Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Georgia, will make the principal address.

A summary of the week's activities, which were concerned with increasing the number of registered voters in Greensboro, will be made by Mrs. Louise G. Streat, institute chairman.

HOLY WEEK SERVICES AT BENNETT

Holy Week services at Bennett College were held each morning in Pfeiffer Chapel beginning at 6:15, Monday through Thursday.

Holy communion was administered at the Good Friday service which began at 6 a.m. and in which local Methodist ministers participated.

Marshall to Speaks April 3 In Greensboro

GREENSBORO—Thurgood Marshall, of New York City, brilliant director-counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, will deliver the opening address at the 34th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College on Sunday, April 3 at 4 p.m.

MARSHALL

Selection of the noted barrister, who has been referred to as "Mr. NAACP," for the keynote address was based upon this year's theme dealing with voter registration and voting as contributing factors to better family living," Mrs. Louise G. Streat, institute chairman, pointed out.

Marshall, who only recently returned from an extended trip abroad where he served as consultant to African leaders, has argued, or repared briefs with the cooperation of NAACP lawyers in all NAACP cases affecting constitutional rights of Negroes from 1938 to the present time. He has apeared 25 times before the U. S. Supreme Court and has won 23 of these cases.

Among his most significant victories have been the right of Negroes to vote in Democratic primaries in the South; the right of Negro passengers to travel freely in interstate travel; the right of Negroes to buy or rent property free of racial restrictive covenants, and the end of the "separate but equal" theory in the field of education.

Marshall, who holds eight honorary Doctor of Laws degrees, is a graduate of Lincoln University in Pennsylvania and of the Howard University Law School in Washington. A native of Baltimore, Maryland, he was first admitted to the bar in 1933. He was named assistant special counsel for the NAACP in 1936 and was named to his present position in 1950.

Langston Hughes set for Bennett

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Langston Hughes, poet, playwright, newspaper columnist and world traveler, will open the Bennett College Lecture Series with two addresses on April 8, President Willa B. Player announced this week.

Mr. Hughes will speak to the students and faculty at the 10 a.m. chapel hour and at 8:15 p.m. will speak to a community-wide audience in Pfeiffer Chapel.

A graduate of Lincoln (Pa.) University, he has had a varied career of creativity — writing poems, articles, short stories, novels, plays and a two-volume autobiography — "The Big S and "I Wonder as I Wander."

Although Mr. Hughes is probably best known for his character, "Simple," which has appeared in three books compiled from newspaper columns he has written, he is equally well known for writing lyrics for songs and for the musical show, "Street Scene."

LANGSTON HUGHES TO APPEAR AT BENNETT COLLEGE INSTITUTE

GREENSBORO, [illegible] Langston Hughes, poet, playwright, newspaper columnist and world traveler, will open the Bennett College Lecture Series with two addresses on Friday, April 8, President Willa B. Player announced this week.

Hughes will speak to the students and faculty at the 10 a.m. chapel hour and at 8:15 p.m. will speak to a communitywide audience in Pfeiffer Chapel.

The artist, a graduate of Lincoln University in Pennsylvania, has had a varied career of creativity writing poems, articles, short stories, novels, plays and a two-volume autobiography "The Big Sea" and "I Wonder as I Wander."

BENNETT BOARD OF TRUSTEES TO MEET

Members of the executive committee of the Bennett College board of trustees, with Dr. F. D. Patterson, chairman, presiding, are meeting April 12 in New York City.

President Willa B. Player will give an interim report and the trustees, after hearing reports of standing committees, will act upon the operating budget for 1960-61.

DR. GEORGE BREATHETT PRESIDENT-ELECT OF SOCIAL SCIENCE TEACHERS

Dr. George Breathett, a member of the history faculty at Bennett College, was elected president-elect of the Association of Social Science Teachers during its annual convention at Johnson C. Smith University in Charlotte last week.

Dr. Breathett, who received his master's degree from the University of Michigan and his doctorate from the University of Iowa, is chairman of the Social Science Core and has done considerable research and publication in the area of the French Caribbean.

BENNETT CHOIR RETURNS FROM TOUR

The Bennett College choir returned last week from a tour which took the group to Atlanta, Albany and Ashburn, Georgia; Jacksonville and Daytona Beach, Florida, and Sumter, South Carolina.

The 40-voice group, directed by Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, will sing a special program of Easter music here, Sunday, April 24, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chpael.

Marshall To Deliver Opening Address At Bennett's 34th Homemaking Institute

Thurgood Marshall, of New York City, brilliant director-counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, will deliver the opening address at the 34th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College on Sunday, April 3 at 4 p.m.

Selection of the noted barrister, who has been referred to as "Mr. NAACP," for the keynote address was based upon this year's theme dealing with voter registration and voting as contributing factors to better family living, Mrs. Louise G. Streat, institute chairman, pointed out.

Mr. Marshall, who only recently returned from an extended trip abroad where he served as consultant to African leaders, has argued, or prepared briefs with the cooperation of NAACP lawyers in all NAACP cases affecting constitutional rights of Negroes from 1938 to the present time. He has appeared 25 times before the U.S. Supreme Court and has won 23 of these cases.

Among his most significant victories have been the right of Negroes to vote in Democratic primaries in the South; the right of Negro passengers to travel freely in interstate travel; the right of Negroes to buy or rent property free of racial restrictive covenants, and the end of the "separate but equal" theory in the field of education.

Mr. Marshall, who holds eight honorary Doctor of Laws degrees, is a graduate of Lincoln University in Pennsylvania and of the Howard University Law School in Washington. A native of Baltimore, Maryland, he was first admitted to the bar in 1933. He was named assistant special counsel for the NAACP in 1936 and was named to his present position in 1950.

THURGOOD MARSHALL

This year's institute, which extends through Sunday, April 10, when Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, delivers the closing address, will devote itself to the practical task of getting on the voting books of Greensboro as many unregistered Negro citizens as possible, and teaching them the value of the wise use of the ballot.

Following a series of workshops in which faculty-staff members and community leaders will give direction, the entire student body of 490 Bennett students will begin "Operation Doorknock" in which they will visit homes in selected precincts in the city to stimulate registration of unregistered voters.

For the past month, student leaders have been working around the clock preparing lists, maps and statistics to be used during "Operation Doorknock."

OPERATION DOOR KNOCK AT BENNETT NEXT WEEK

Final plans for "Operation Doorknock," spearhead of the 34th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College, April 3-10, were completed this week.

With the theme, "Register and Vote: A Necessity for Good Citizenship," this year's institute will seek to enroll as many unregistered voters in Greensboro as possible through a concerted door-to-door program in which the entire student body of nearly 500 students will participate.

Thurgood Marshall, chief NAACP legal counsel of New York, will open the institute with an address on Sunday, April 3, at 4 p.m. Monday, at 10 a.m., there will be a chapel program featuring representatives of the local NAACP voter registration committee, to be followed by workshops which will explore points raised by the speakers.

Workshops will be resumed on Tuesday morning and on Wednesday at 10 a.m., there will be a dramatized role-playing program in which the students will be further informed of some of the problems they are likely to encounter in their visitations.

On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings, the students, working in pairs, will visit predetermined homes of non-registered citizens in an effort to "sell" the importance of registration and voting. Arrangements have been made with local officiels to have registrars available to take care of those persons who indicate their readiness to register.

Saturday there will be summaries and evaluations of the results of the drive and on Sunday, at 4 p.m. Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Georgia, will give the closing address and Mrs. Louise G. Streat, Institute Chairman, will summarize the week's activities. President Willa B. Player will preside.

Bennett Institute Seeks to Spearhead Vote Drive By Enlisting Entire Student Body in Canvass of City

GREENSBORO — Final plans for "Operation Doorknock," spearhead of the 34th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College, April 3-10, were completed this week.

With the theme, "Register and Vote: A Necessity for Good Citizenship," this year's institute will seek to enroll as many unregistered voters in Greensboro as possible through a concerted door-to-door program in which the entire student body of nearly 500 students will participate.

Thurgood Marshall, chief NAACP legal counsel of New York, will open the institute with an address on Sunday, April 3, at 4 p.m. Monday, at 10 a.m., there will be a chapel program featuring representatives of the local NAACP voter registration committee, to be followed by workshops which will explore points raised by the speakers.

Workshops will be resumed on Tuesday morning and on Wednesday at 10 a.m., there will be a dramatized role-playing program in which the students will be further informed of some of the problems they are likely to encounter in their visitations.

Voting Held Way To Erase Segregation

Negroes who don't bother to vote are helping keep segregation laws on the books in Southern states, John M. Brooks of Richmond, Va., said here yesterday.

Brooks is director of voter registration for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Richmond. He spoke at the 34th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College.

The theme of this year's institute is: "Register and Vote. A Necessity for Good Citizenship."

Brooks noted that a minority of qualified Negroes take the trouble to register and vote even in those sections of the South where Negroes have no trouble voting. He said that of a potential 15,000 Negro voters in Greensboro, only 5,000 are registered.

Not Using Ballot

"Because we Negroes have been bypassing the use of the ballot, many of us are not what we should be today," Brooks said. "With proper use of the ballot we would not have all these segregation laws on the books."

He reminded the Bennett students, who later this week will begin a drive to get Negro citizens to register and vote, that these people must be shown why it is necessary to vote.

The Bennett students will begin their campaign Wednesday night to get all voters in Precinct 7 to register and vote. Precinct 7 is a new all-Negro precinct.

The institute's afternoon session yesterday was devoted to workshop meetings. Workshop meetings will continue today.

The institute began Sunday and will continue through next Sunday. Mrs. Louise G. Streat is directing the institute.

STUDENTS AWARDED PRIZES FOR CREATIVE EFFORTS

Four Bennett College students were awarded prizes for their creative efforts during the recent observance of Humanities Week at the college.

First prize for short stories went to Miss Jacquelyn Florance, sophomore, of Greensboro. There was a tie for first place in the poetry division between Misses Hattie Green, senior, of Lovey, Va., and Ollie Johnson, sophomore, of Athens, Ga. First prize in art went to Miss Joar Didier, senior of Jamaica, BWI.

Part Of Plight Of Negro Laid To Poor Voting

BY DOROTHY ANN BENJAMIN
Record Staff Writer

"Because we Negroes have been bypassing the use of the ballot, many of us are not what we should be today. With proper use of the ballot we would not have all these segregation laws on the books," John M. Brooks of Richmond, Va., told a Bennett College audience today.

Brooks, director of voter registration for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Richmond, discussed the mechanics of registration and voting at the college's 34th annual Homemaking Institute. Theme of the institute this year is "Register and Vote! A Necessity for Good Citizenship."

He reminded the Bennett students, who later this week will attempt to get Negro citizens to register and vote, that these citizens must be shown why it is necessary to vote.

"Remind them that regardless of how much or how little money they may have when they try to sit down in a restaurant or lunch counter to eat it doesn't make any difference. There is a potential 15,000 Negro voters in Greensboro and only 5,000 are registered," he said.

A "dry run" by Bennett students last Monday night in the Everett-Jennifer Street-Morningside Homes area showed there were only six Negroes registered to vote of the 70 contacts made in the 48 homes visited. Six others were definitely hostile and 58 said they would register.

If the Negroes that can vote will vote it will be easier for Negroes elsewhere to get the vote, Brooks stated.

The institute opened yesterday with a speech by Thurgood Marshall, general counsel of the NAACP, who said he was not for token integration and partial integration of dime store lunch counters here would not solve the problem of Negro student demands for unsegregated seating.

The Bennett girls will begin their campaign Wednesday night to get all voters in Precinct No. 7, the new all-Negro precinct, registered and voting.

(Daily News staff photo.)

NEGROES SWAMP REGISTRATION CENTERS

Crowds of Negroes such as the one above swamped Negro registration centers at Ray Warren Homes and Windsor Community Center last week to register for upcoming elections. "Operation Doorknock" was conducted by Bennett College students in the new Negro Precinct No. 7 and more than 1,000 Negro voters were added to registration rolls. The project, a part of the 34th annual Homemaking Institute at the college, was aided by community citizens, particularly school principals and ministers. Results were announced yesterday by Mrs. Louis G. Streat, institute chairman, at vesper services at Bennett. Registration continues through Tuesday.

36

Dr. B. E. Mays Is Speaker At Bennett

The test of good religion is not how you treat the man highest up but how you treat the man lowest down, Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., said yesterday in his address that marked the close of the 34th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College.

Dr. Mays, who is also president of the United Negro College Fund, made reference to the students who in three nights added over 1,000 registered voters in Greensboro, stating that the significance of their activity cannot be judged now but that history will give the verdict.

"Jesus," he declared, "placed human values and needs above the law. He healed on the Sabbath and He socialized with the wrong crowd—publicans and sinners. He cried out against sham, hypocrisy, deceit and injustice. They killed Him."

Jesus was killed, the speaker explained, because He was a nonconformist. This is always dangerous. Popularity comes from conforming, he added.

"Some people," said Dr. Mays, "question whether Jesus was ahead of his time or whether the time was ripe for Him to do what He did. The time is always ripe to cry out against wrong. No man is ahead of his time. You come into this world one time, no matter how old you are when you die. If you have a job to do, you have to do it in your lifetime, not in the lifetime of someone else."

New Budget For Bennett Is Approved

An operating budget of $785,475 for the 1960-61 fiscal year was approved by members of the executive committee of the Bennett College trustee board at their meeting in New York City yesterday.

This amount represents an increase of $51,750 over the current budget.

With Dr. F. D. Patterson, chairman, presiding, the trustees heard an interim report from President Willa B. Player based on the theme, "Making a Strong College Stronger." In this report she highlighted the college's needs over a long-term period, expressing the hope that the development committee will be able to round out, at the 50th anniversary of the institution as a woman's college, the educational resources to a total of approximately five million dollars.

The trustees discussed the need for greater student selectivity and greater strength in the faculty in the years ahead. Among those present was Dr. J. A. Tarpley, principal of Dudley High School.

Ballot "Cheapest Weapon", Thurgood Marshall Tells Greensboro Audience Before Mass Vote Drive

GREENSBORO — "The ballot is the cheapest weapon I know of," Thurgod Marshall, of New York City, chief counsel for the NAACP, told an audience of some 1,500 persons who gathered at Bennett College, Sunday for the opening program of the 34th annual Homemaking Institute.

Wearing an academic hood with the colors of the University of Liberia, Mr. Marshall, keying his address to the institute theme: "Register and Vote—A Necessity for Good Citizenship," drew a parallel between South Africans objecting to having to carry a pass and young people in the South trying to get dignity through the lunch counter sit-ins, saying that it all added up to one word—freedom.

"There are people," he said, "who don't believe that the Negro does not like what is being done to him. Well, I've got news for them. The Negroes not only don't want segregation, they are not going to take it.

"The world will never condone the oppression of minorities, regardless of who is on the top or on the bottom. But the United States is the only country that does not seem to understand that minority groups cannot be kept in subjection forever."

Referring to the sit-down demonstrations, Mr. Marshall said: "Just as these young people can picket, we adults can vote. These young people don't want a hot dog or a hamburger; they're not hungry. What they are objecting to is the whole gamut of segregation. If the Negroes of North Carolina were registered even 60 to 70 per cent, we wouldn't need any law suits against segregation today. We could take care of that matter at the polls."

Marshall urged that the adults set an example for the younger generation by cleaning up their homes no matter where they live, by registering and voting and by telling their youngsters that they are "as good as anyone else."

"Stop wringing your hands and condemning everybody and start doing something," he advised. Don't wait for someone to tell you what to do. See what needs to be done and do it."

Following his presentation, the student body reported to six workshops where on Monday and Tuesday they were briefed in the finer techniques of voter registration and given the materials which they were to use on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights in their visits to homes in Precinct No. 7.

A summary and evaluation of the campaign was set for Saturday morning with the closing address to be made on Sunday by Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga.

Mays to Speak At Bennett

GREENSBORO — Closing program of the 34th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College will be held Sunday at 4 p.m. at which time Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Georgia, will make the principal address.

A summary of the week's activities, which were concerned with increasing the number of registered voters in Greensboro, will be made by Mrs. Louis G. Streat, Institute chairman.

IN BENNETT RECITAL — Miss Charlotte Alston of Greensboro, a 1954 graduate of Bennett College, who was presented in a recital Friday night by the Greensboro Alumnae Chapter of the college.

Bennett Co-eds Register 1,000

GREENSBORO — "Operation Doorknock"—the voter registration drive conducted by Bennett College students put the names of more than 1,000 new voters on the books in Greensboro last week.

The campaign, which was conducted in Precinct No. 7 as a highlight of the college's 34th annual Homemaking Institute, reached more than 2,700 persons of voting age, of whom only 726 were registered.

Over 1,700 of the unregistered persons, however, promised that they would register.

For this reason, registration is continuing this week. Most of the new voters registered at either the Ray Warren Home or the Windsor Community Center. It is known that one also registered at downtown election headquarters. A tabulation of these names is expected to put the total figure well over the 1,000 mark.

Mrs. Louise G. Streat, institute chairman, gave a summary of the activities on the closing program Sunday and pointed out that school principals, ministers and other community workers contributed to the success of the campaign.

Following her remarks, Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., gave the closing address in which he evaluated the spiritual significance of the drive. He pointed out that in the final analysis, history will give the verdict as to the true significance of the students' efforts.

"Jesus," he declared, "placed human values and needs above the law. He healed on the Sabbath and He socialized with the wrong crowd—the publicans and sinners. He cried out against sham, hypocrisy, deceit and injustice. They killed Him."

"MR. CIVIL RIGHTS AT BENNETT — Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel for the NAACP, is engulfed by crowd following his stirring address which opened the 34th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College on Sunday.

Thurgood Marshall Opening Speaker At Bennett's Homemaking Institute

"The ballot is the cheapest weapon I know of," Thurgood Marshall of New York City, chief counsel for the NAACP, told an audience of some 1,500 persons who gathered at Bennett College, Sunday for the opening program of the 34th annual Homemaking Institute.

Mr. Marshall, whose plane was delayed because of weather conditions, was forced to land at Winston-Salem, some 33 miles away, and arrived by taxicab at the Greensboro airport where he was whisked to the campus just in time to make his appearance on the program which had been delayed some 20 minutes in beginning, hoping for his imminent arrival.

Wearing an academic hood with the colors of the University of Liberia, Mr. Marshall, keying his address to the institute theme: "Register and Vote—A Necessity for Good Citizenship," drew a parallel between South Africans objecting to having to carry a pass and young people in the South trying to get dignity through the lunch counter sit-ins, saying that it all added up to one word — freedom.

"There are some people," he said, "who don't believe that the Negro does not like what is being done to him. Well, I've got news for them. The Negroes not only don't want segregation, they are not going to take it.

"The world will never condone the oppression of minorities, regardless of who is on the top or on the bottom. But the United States is the only country that does not seem to understand that minority groups cannot be kept in subjection forever."

The cry for freedom which is being heard around the world, Mr. Marshall explained, is growing in intensity and stems from impatience — from having waited long enough.

"When they tell you that you are impatient," he declared, "tell them that you are no less patient than their forefathers who threw the tea into the harbor in Boston. It's pretty hard not to be impatient when someone has his heel on your neck."

Referring again to the sit-down demonstrations, Mr. Marshall said: "Just as these young people can picket, we adults can vote. These young people don't want a hot dog or a hamburger; they're not hungry. What they are objecting to is the whole gamut of segregation. If the Negroes of North Carolina were registered even 60 to 70 per cent, we wouldn't need any law suits against segregation today. We could take care of that matter at the polls."

Mr. Marshall urged that the adults set an example for the younger generation by cleaning up their homes no matter where they live, by registering and voting, and by telling their youngsters that they are "as good as anyone else."

He urged the adults to send hand-written letters to their legislators, to the chambers of commerce in their respective cities and to the business men in their cities.

"I'm sick and tired," he said, "of too many people ignoring the billions of dollars that Negroes spend in this country. Tell these business people that if they want your money, they've got to act right. Tell them to put a 'handle' in front of your name; no handle, no money."

He described Southern aristocracy as the white man's right to sit at a lunch counter and drink a 10-cent cup of coffee.

"Stop wringing your hands and condemning everybody and start doing something," he advised. Don't wait for someone to tell you what to do. See what needs to be done and do it."

He suggested that more parents, in an organized way, take their children for enrollment at so-called white public schools. "If we did this in every town in North Carolina, we would find that integration is possible."

On Monday, John M. Brooks of Richmond, Virginia, director of voter registration for the NAACP, told of some of his experiences throughout the United States and reminded the students that there is nothing glamorous about getting the job done.

"In any community," he said, "we will have to recognize leadership where we find it. It may be that the barber or the pool room operator is the one who can get people to do things. Don't overlook these people."

He pointed out that any voter registration program, to be successful, must be non-partisan and suggested that its elected officers should be people with jobs and a steady income. He suggested that the isolated efforts of individual groups in a community be coordinated in one strong program.

"If the people in the areas where it is easy to vote, will do so," he said, " it will make it easier for those persons in areas where it is hard or impossible to do so."

Following his presentation, the student body reported to six workshops where on Monday and Tuesday they were briefed in the finer techniques of voter registration and given the materials which they were to use on Wednesday Thursday and Friday nights in their visits to homes in Precinct No. 7.

A summary and evaluation of the campaign is set for Saturday morning with the closing address to be made on Sunday by Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga.

Dr. Benjamin E. Mays To Evaluate The Institute Week Sunday

DR. BENJAMIN MAYS

Author Stresses Need Of Negroes For More Books

Langston Hughes, noted Negro author, told a Bennett College audience today that when they complete "Operation Door knock," the current campaign to get Negroes registered and voting, he would like to see them conduct "Operation Bookbuying."

"Voting is certainly more important because through the vote we can control our own lives and participate in the running of our country. I am thrilled by what you are doing here."

Hughes pointed out that there are many good Negro writers today but, as a general rule, the Negro writer cannot get a job writing for the movies or television or radio and has to live on the proceeds of his books.

"You can help the Negro writer and American literature in general" by such a project as "Operation Bookbuying," Hughes stated.

"As a writer I am partial to books and librarians are among my favorite people. I recently read that in Danville, Va., they have stationed police outside the library to keep you and me out . . . fortunately, I never knew that kind of librarian."

Hughes said he would like to see the Bennett girls get more and more people reading books as they have done on the voting . . . "Give books as gifts, on holidays and to children as gifts."

He stated that among Negro people, if he saw any books at all in the home, they were books by Negro writers. Fifteen years ago "American Dilemma" by Myrdal was in many homes.

"One or two of my books have had the same effect. When I was a child it was the works of Paul Lawrence Dunbar. At the moment there don't seem to be any (works of Negro authors) that are especially popular," he said.

Hughes will read from his own works at 8:15 o'clock tonight in the college chapel. The public is invited to attend.

250 Registered In Movement By Bennett Students

Approximately 250 Negroes were registered as potential voters Wednesday, April 6 at two registration places in a special campaign organized by Bennett Collgee students.

Because there was only one registrar at the two locations — Ray Warren Homes and Windsor Community Center — another 100 people left but promised to return as the campaign continues.

"Operation Doorknock" follows the theme of the 34th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett; "Register and Vote . . . a Necessity for Good Citizenship."

The Bennett students are visiting homes throughout the Negro populated areas encouraging them to register and providing transportation.

Registration will continue through Saturday and the students hope to have at least 750 new voters on the registration books when the campaign closes.

Central News

Student Protests of Bias Inevitable—Patterson

A belief that student protests against discrimination which began in Greensboro, N. C. and have since spread to other cities and states, were "inevitable" and a hope that "constructive-minded citizens join forces in resolving the issue," were expressed in a recent address at Bennett College by Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, of New York City, former president of Tuskegee (Ala.) Institute.

Dr. Patterson, now director of the Phelps-Stokes Fund and chairman of the Bennett College board of trustees, made the following statement.

"To regret that anything happens to disturb the peace and tranquility of a community in its race relations is understandable, but once an issue has been joined or faced up to, there should be no turning back until the issue has been successfully resolved.

"This protest against discrimination on the basis of race was inevitable. Unless all that is said about democracy and what it stands for is completely without meaning, this organized and orderly protest is a logical outgrowth of the democratic process.

"Segregation on the basis of race, even without tangible inequities, is morally wrong. It hurts all who are a part of it. For it is a needless and cruel affront to the dignity of one race and an encouragement to arrogance and bigotry in the other. Therefore, both races suffer.

"Unfortunately, custom and traditional relationships between the races in the south have been such as to permit the day-to-day impersonal contacts which are necessary for normal existence to be confused with contacts of a personal and social nature which do not occur unless mutually agreeable. The eating in public places by people who are perfect strangers can mean only one thing, and that is that they are both or severally hungry.

"I hope that this issue will be promptly solved in line with the wise suggestions occurring in the Greensboro daily press. The change in relationships called for is a small one, that I feel confident will be accepted by the citizens of Greensboro if a firm position of no discrimination is adopted and enforced.

"If such a decision is not forthcoming, then the quiet, orderly and dignified protest that was so wisely and courageously begun, of course will be continued and could not be expected to be otherwise. This, in an enlightened community, can happen completely within the framework of law and order.

"I hope that the constructive-minded citizens of Greensboro will offer to the south and the nation the example of wisdom and decency which many over the nation—both Negro and white—are hoping for."

APRIL 1, 1960

37

MISS IDAJEANNE ROBINSON ELECTED VICE PRESIDENT OF HONOR SOCIETY

Miss Idajeanne Robinson, Bennett College junior, of Oberlin, Ohio, was elected vice president of Alpha Kappa Mu, national honor society at the annual convention held recently at West Virginia State College, Institute, West Virginia.

INSTITUTE PRINCIPALS — Thurgood Marshall, chief NAACP counsel, of NYC, who delivered the keynote address at Bennett College's 34th annual Homemaking Institute recently, is flanked by Mrs. Louise G. Streat, Institute chairman, and President Willa B. Player.

Three Juniors At Greensboro Are Elected

GREENSBORO — Three Bennett College juniors were elected to office during the annual national convention of Sigma Rho Sigma, social science honor society, held at Johnson C. Smith University in Charlotte last week.

Miss Yvonne Redcross of Hampton, Va., was named president; Miss Gwendolyn Mackel, of Chicago, Ill., secretary, and Miss Jacqueline Boseman, of Baltimore, director of publicity.

LANGSTON HUGHES SPEAKS AT BENNETT

A plea that Bennett College students read more books, buy more books and encourage their friends to buy more books was made by Langston Hughes, poet-playwright-author, here Friday morning.

Mr. Hughes, who particularly emphasized the buying of books by Negro authors, said that the electronic age has so affected the reading habits of the American people that many homes will be found which don't contain a single book.

In a presentation on Friday night, Mr. Hughes delighted the students and many townspeople by reading from some of his books and by telling something of the background out of which some of them grew.

2,660 Is Scott Paper Co. Guest

MISS E. TUCKER GUEST OF SCOTT PAPER COMPANY

Miss Edith Tucker, Bennett College home economics senior, of Elkin, N. C., is spending the weekend in the Philadelphia area as guest of the Scott Paper Company.

Miss Tucker, who was awarded one of the company's all-expense, competitive scholrashps for her junior and senior years, will visit the company's plants in Chester and industrial home economics facilities in that area as well as historical points of interest in and around Philadelphia.

FASHIONS FOR FUN — These six Bennett College students model the attire which they don for their favorite sport, left to right in foreground. Misses Sylvia Smith, of Franklin, Va.; Ingrid Wynn, Philadelphia, Pa. and Flora Hall, Prentiss, Miss. Background, Shirley Dismuke, Vandergrift, Pa.; Countess Collier, Cleveland, Ohio and PKay Henry, Greensboro, N. C.

SELECTING A PATTERN — Two Bennett College freshmen, Misses Roberta S. Jones, of Hampton Va. (left), and Carolyn Walker, of New Haven, Conn., admire silverware which was part of a table display arranged by a local jeweler, while Miss Dattie L. Green, senior, of Va. looks on.

HELP FROM AN EXPERT---Dr. J. W. Lippincott, of the chemistry department of the University of Florida, who spent three days on the Bennett College campus last week, is shown explaining an experiment in differential distillation to (left to right) Misses Joe Ann Truesdale, of Winston-Salem, N. C. and Lorraine Ramsey, of Amonate, Va. Dr. Lippincott, in addition to conducting classes and labs, lectured to the entire college student body.

BENNETT WEEK-END GUESTS---Some of the 75-odd girl seniors and their advisors from high schools in three states, who attended the annual Youth Days weekend at Bennett College, are shown in front of Pfeiffer Chapel. A succession of heavy snows cut this year's attendance approximately in half.

"MR. CIVIL RIGHTS" AND CROWD — Partial view of the crowd which engulfed Thurgood Marshall, NAACP chief counsel, following his address at Bennett college's Homemaking Institute. Capacity audience filled the chapel and Little Theatre. Many stood outside to hear him.

GETTING THE KNOW-HOW---Mrs. Vivian Carter Mason of Norfolk, Va., former president of the National Council of Negro Women, gives pointers to these two Bennett College students who are mapping plans to boost the number of registered voters in Greensboro, N. C. through "Operation Doorknock" during the 34th annual Homemaking Institute, April 3-10. Students are, left to right, Misses Dorothy Jordan, senior, of Goldsboro, and Catherine Lawson, senior, of Lexington, Virginia.

AFRICAN VISITOR AT BENNETT---Mr. Herbert Chitepo, of Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia--first African barrister to be commissioned in the Central African Federation--is shown with these Bennett College students whose history class he visited during his three-day stay in Greensboro, N. C. Left to right: Misses Angela Carroll, of Clinton, N. C.; Anita Frazier, of [illegible], S. C.; Willie Napper, of Greensboro, and Frances Poindexter, of Lexington, Va., all juniors.

SMILING HAPPILY after a successful recital at Bennett college, Greensboro, N. C., is Miss Charlotte Alston. A 1954 graduate of Bennett, she was presented in recital recently by the Greensboro Alumnae chapter of the college.

"Operation Doorknock" In Guilford

GREENSBORO — "Operation Doorknock" - the voter registration drive conducted by Bennett College students - put the names of more than 1,000 new voters on the books in Greensboro last week.

The campaign, which was conducted in Precinct No. 7 as a highlight of the college's 34th annual Homemaking Institute, reached more than 2,700 persons of voting age, of whom only 736 were registered. Over 1,700 of the unregistered persons, however, promised that they would register.

For this reason, registration is continuing this week. Although most of the new voters registered at either the Ray Warren Homes or the Windsor Community Center, it is known that many others registered at downtown election headquarters. A tabulation of these names is expected to run the total figure well over the 1,000 mark.

Mrs. Louise G. Streat, institute chairman, gave a summary of the activities on the closing program Sunday and paid special tribute to school principals, ministers and other civic-minded individuals who contributed to the success of the campaign.

Following her remarks, Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., gave the closing address in which he evaluated the spiritual significance of the drive. He pointed out that in the final analysis, history will give the verdict as to the true significance of the students' efforts.

"Jesus," he declared, "placed human values and needs above the law. He healed on the Sabbath and He socialized with the wrong crowd — the publicans and sinners. He cried out against sham, hypocrisy, deceit and injustice. They killed Him."

Jesus was killed, the speaker explained, because He was a non-conformist. This is always dangerous. Popularity comes from conforming, he added.

"Some people," said Dr. Mays, "question whether Jesus was ahead of His time or whether the time was ripe for Him to do what He did. The time is always ripe to cry out against wrong. No man is ahead of his time. You come into this world but once, no matter how old you are when you die. If you have a job to do, you must do it in your lifetime, not in the lifetime of someone else."

He reminded his listeners that the test of good religion is not how one treats the man highest up but how one treats the man lowest down.

SELECTING A PATTERN---Two Bennett College freshmen, Misses Roberta C. Jones, of Hampton, Va. (left) and Carolyn Walker, of New Haven, Conn., admire silverware which was part of a table display arranged by a local jeweler, while Miss Hattie L. Green, senior, of Ivey, Va. looks on.

WORDS OF WISDOM---Dr. Howard Thurman, dean of the chapel of Boston University, who recently spent several days visiting the campus of Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., is shown with Mrs. Thurman as he chatted informally with students following a tea held in his honor. The students, left to right, are Misses Betty Shropshire, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Betty Hull, Washington, D. C. and Jacqueline Dove, of Kinston N. C.

BISHOP LOVE HONORED---Bishop Edgar A. Love, presiding bishop of the Baltimore Area of the Methodist Church, and vice-chairman of the Bennett College board of trustees, stands with members of the senior class who participated in ceremonies dedicating magnolia tree in his honor as a highlight of the Senior Day program at the college. Left to right: Mrs. Marie Moore, class president, Winston-Salem; Misses Shelia Caesar, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Juanita Spear, Bridgeport, Conn.; Janice Robinson, McLean, Va.; Hiawatha Foster, Charlotte; Barbara Stewart, Petersburg, Va.; Juanita Owens, Petersburg, Va.; Pearl Gibbs, Mocks Corner, S. C.; Ethel Riggsbee, Chapel Hill and Juanita Neville, Weldon.

Bennett Homemakers Get 2,700 Potential Voters In Campaign

"Operation Doorknock" — the voter-registration drive conducted by Bennett College students — put the names of more than 1,000 new voters on the books in Greensboro last week.

The campaign, which was conducted in Precinct No. 7 as a highlight of the college's 34th annual Homemaking Institute, reached more than 2,700 persons of voting age, of whom only 736 were registered. Over 1,700 of the unregistered persons, however, promised that they would register.

For this reason, registration is continuing this week. Although most of the new voters registered at either the Ray Warren Homes or the Windsor Community Center, it is known that many others registered at downtown election headquarters. A tabulation of these names is expected to run the total figure well over the 1,000 mark.

Mrs. Louise G. Streat, institute chairman, gave a summary of the activities on the closing program Sunday and paid special tribute to school principals, ministers and other civic-minded individuals who contributed to the success of the campaign.

Following her remarks, Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., gave the closing address in which he evaluated the spiritual significance of the drive. He pointed out that in the final analysis, history will give the verdict as to the true significance of the students' efforts.

"Jesus," he declared, "placed human values and needs above the law. He healed on the Sabbath and He socialized with the wrong crowd — the publicans and sinners. He cried out against sham, hypocrisy, deceit and injustice. They killed Him."

Jesus was killed, the speaker explained, because He was a non-conformist. This is always dangerous. Popularity comes from conforming, he added.

"Some people," said Dr. Mays, "question whether Jesus was ahead of His time or whether the time was ripe for Him to do what He did. The time is always ripe to cry out against wrong. No man is ahead of his time. You come into this world but once, no matter how old you are when you die. If you have a job to do, you must do it in your lifetime, not in the lifetime of someone else."

He reminded his listeners that the test of good religion is not how one treats the man highest up but how one treats the man lowest down.

Bennett Choir Returns From A Long Tour

GREENSBORO — The Bennett College choir returned last week from a tour which took the group to Atlanta, Albany and Ashburn, Georgia; Jacksonville and Daytona Beach, Florida, and Sumter, South Carolina.

The 40-voice group, directed by Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, will sing a special program of Easter music here, Sunday, April 24, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Van S. Allen To Speak To WSCS

Mr. Van S. Allen, Professor at Bennett College, will be speaker for the WSCS general meeting on Monday morning at 10:30 in the memorial auditorium. The college quartet will present the music.

Mr. Van S. Allen

Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., founded in 1926, is sponsored by the Woman's Division of Christian Service.

Devotions for the general meeting will be led by Mrs. H. B. Simpson. Hostess Circle will be Circle No. 14, Mrs. Norman Stockton, leader. Circle No. 1, Mrs. Douglas Koontz, Leader, will provide the nursery.

The Spiritual Life Group will meet at 10:00 a.m. with Mrs. Frank Lunn as Leader.

MISS ALMA PINNIX TO COMPETE IN SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

Miss Alma Pinnix, of Reidsville, a rising junior in home economics at Bennett College, has been selected to take part in the competitive scholarship program for home economics majors which will be held at Howard University, Washington, D. C., April 22-23.

The competition sponsored by the Scott Paper Company Foundation provides all-expense scholarships for their junior and senior years to the highest scorers and tuition scholarships to the runners-up. Also participating in the program are Tuskegee Institute, Spelman College and Hampton Institute.

THE AFRO-AMERICAN, APRIL 23, 19[illegible]

COMPARING NOTES — Edward Lowe, left, member of the music faculty at Bennett College, goes over program presented by the A. and T. College choir during the recent Humanities Week observance held at Bennett recently. Looking on with him are two of the choir soloists, William Whitaker, baritone and Miss Ruby Coston, soprano. Howard T. Pearsall, choir director is at right.

16 THE CAROLINIAN RALEIGH, N. C. SATURDAY, APRIL 23, 1960

BENNETT — Langston Hughes, poet-playwright, is shown reading at Bennett College last week autographs program for an unidentified admirer from the community while her little brother and Dr. Hobart S. Jarrett, chairman of Humanities Division, smile approval.

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Miss Alma Pinnix, of Reidsville, a rising junior in home economics at Bennett College, has been selected to take part in the competitive scholarship program for home economics majors which will be held at Howard University, Washington, D.C., April 22-23.

The competition sponsored by the Scott Paper Company Foundation provides all-expense scholarships for their junior and senior years to the highest [illegible]

GREENSBORO, N.C. — The Bennett College choir returned last week from a tour which took the group to Atlanta, Albany and Ashburn, Ga.; Jacksonville and Daytona Beach, Fla., and Sumter, S.C.

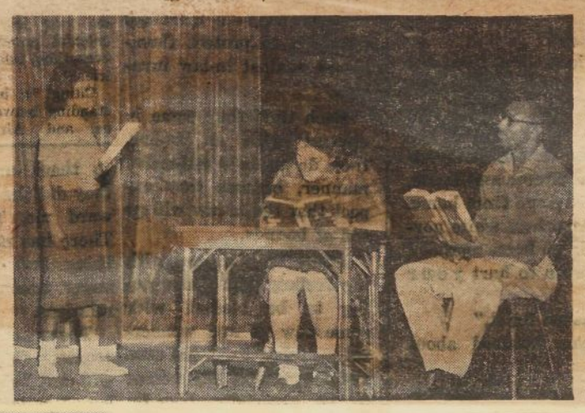
The 40-voice group, directed by Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, will sing a special program of Easter music here, Sunday, April 24, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

PAINTING EXHIBITED

A painting, "The Bell," by James C. McMillan, head of the art department at Bennett College, is among 18 paintings being exhibited this month at the Barnett Aden Gallery in Washington, D. C.

The artists are all former students of Andrea Zerega whose painting, "In State," is also displayed.

'Raisin' Reading



SOME OF THE members of the cast of "Raisin In The Sun," the Broadway hit show by Lorraine Hansberry which was given a reading by Bennett College students and faculty, are shown in rehearsal in the college Little Theatre. Left to right: Miss Ollie Johnson, Roy Lee, jr., Mrs. Gertrude K. Pryor, of the faculty; Misses Esther Alexander and Sandra Downing and Larry Henderson of A & T college.

POET AT BENNETT — Langston Hughes, poet-playwright, following his lecture-reading at Bennett College last week, autographs program for an unidentified admirer from the community while her little brother and Dr. Hobart S. Jarrett, chairman of the Humanities Division, smile approval.

Two Killed, Two Hurt In Wreck

SUMTER, S.C., April 16 (AP)—Two Negro college students were killed and a third critically injured near here today when their car collided with a tractor-trailer.

The tractor-trailer driver, Rufus Spayd Laudis, 39, of Umatilla, Fla., also was admitted to a hospital with injuries.

Killed were James H. Brown, 27, of Oswego, a student at North Carolina A&T College; and Lila Mae Blandings, a senior at Bennett College in Greensboro, N.C.

Critically injured was Andrew D. Palmer, 21, of Sumter, a student at North Carolina A&T.

Brown was identified as owner of the automobile.

It was not immediately determined who was driving when the near head-on collision occurred about 6:20 a.m. four miles north of Sumter on U.S. 15.

INSTITUTE PRINCIPALS — Thurgood Marshall, chief NAACP counsel, of New York City, who delivered the keynote address at Bennett College's 34th annual Homemaking Institute on Sunday, is flanked by Mrs. Louise G. Streat, institute chairman and President Willa B. Player.

Students register over 1,000

GREENSBORO, N.C. — "Operation Doorknock" — the voter-registration drive conducted by Bennett College students—put the names of more than 1,000 new voters on the books in Greensboro, last week.

The campaign reached more than 2,700 persons of voting age, of whom only 726 were registered. Over 1,700 of the unregistered persons, however, promised that they would register.

Registration is continuing this week. A tabulation of these names is expected to run the total figure well over the 1,000 mark.

* * *

MRS. LOUISE G. STREAT, institute chairman, gave a summary of the activities on the closing program Sunday and paid special tribute to school principals, ministers and other civic-minded individuals who contributed to the success of the campaign.

Following her remarks, Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., gave the closing address in which he evaulated the spiritual significance of the drive.

He said that in the final analysis, history will give the verdict as to the true significance of the students' efforts.

"RAISIN IN THE SUN"—Some of the members of the cast of "Raisin in The Sun," the Broadway hit show by Lorraine Hansberry, which was given a reading by Bennett College students and faculty last week, are shown in rehearsal in the college Little Theatre. Left to right: Miss Ollie Johnson, Roy Lee, Jr., Mrs. Gertrude K. Pryor, of the faculty; Misses Esther Alexander and Sandra Downing and Larry Henderson of A&T College.

Dr. Breathett Named Prexy

GREENSBORO — Dr. George Breathett, a member of the history faculty at Bennett College, was elected president-elect of the Association of Social Siene Teachers during its annual convention at Johnson C. Smith University in Charlotte last week.

Dr. Breathett, who received his master's degree from the University of Michigan and his doctorate from the University of Iowa, is chairman of the Social Sience Core and has done considerable research and publication in the area of the French Caribbean.

Memorial Service Held At Bennett College For Accident Victim

A memorial service for Miss Lila Mae Blanding, Bennett College senior, who was killed early Saturday morning in an auto accident just four miles north of her native Sumter, S. C. home, was held Tuesday morning in Pfeiffer Chapel.

President Willa B. Player, in her tribute, referred to Miss Blanding, a commercial educational major, as "a lovely girl whose loss to our collgee and her family we deeply regret."

There followed a three-minute period of silence in memory of the young woman who was one of three persons killed when their car, in which they were going home for the Easter recess, collided head-on with a tractor-trailer.

Also killed were James H. Brown, owner of the car, and Andrew D. Palmer, both students at neighboring A&T College.

Funeral services for Miss Blanding were held at 3:30 p.m. on Wednesday at the Jehovah Baptist Church in Sumter, with the Rev. J. B. Weston officiating. James J. Scarlette, business manager, represented the college at the rites and twelve of her schoolmates, all from the Sumter area, served as flower bearers.

Miss Blanding was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry James. A graduate of Lincoln High School in Sumter, she planned a teaching career after graduation in May.

At Bennett, she was president of the YWCA, president of the Auxiliary Marshall Board and secretary of Barge Hall. She had been a member of the freshman choir, secretary of the Commercial Education Club, a member of the Student Senate cabinet for two years and a junior counselor.

Speaker At Bennett College

GREENSBORO — Dr. Gordon W. Blackwell, chancellor of Woman's College, urged Bennett College students to "become mature persons, who have developed their talents to the utmost" if they are to take places of leadership in an increasingly complicated world.

Dr. Blackwell, speaking at the Sunday vesper service said, "If you would become such a mature person, here five essentials to keep before you. You need a spirit of service, experience in responsible citizenship, appreciation for high ethical values, appreciation for cultural things and proficiency in your choosen life work."

"When these things become a part of you," he said, "you will have become a mature person, ready to play your part in helping to level out the unequal places in the world community.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

Bennett Budget Is $785,000

GREENSBORO — An operating budget of $785.475 for the 1960-61 fiscal year was approved by members of the executive committee of the Bennett College trustee board at their meeting in N. Y. City Tuesday.

This amount represents an increase of $51,750 over the current budget.

With Dr. F. D. Patterson, chairman, presiding, the trustees heard an interim report from President B. Player based on the theme, "Making a Strong College Stronger." In this report, she highlighted the college's needs over a long-term period, expressing the hope that the development committee will be able to round out, at the 50th anniversary of the institution as a woman's college, the educational resources to a total of approximately five million dollars.

The trustees discussed the need for greater student selectivity and greater strength in the faculty in the years ahead. Among those present was Dr. J. A. Tarpley, principal of Dudley High Sch

Brown Chorus Pleases At Bennett Concert

GREENSBORO — The 44-voice Brown University Glee Club, directed by Erich Kunzel, pleased an appreciative audience of Bennett music lovers on Saturday night in the final program of the curren lyceum series.

Opening with "Hodie, Christus Natus est" by Healey Willan, the group sang a number of liturgical numbers and moved from these to a number of selections in English among them "Suabian Folk Song," harmonized by Johannes Brahms and Custave Holst's "A Dirge for Two Veterans," taken from Walt Whitman's poem. Clarence F. Whiteman, Bennett organist, provided the brass and percussion interludes for which the composition was scored.

The group sang a number of selections from Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess," a group of Brown University songs and three spirituals, among them "Mary Had a Baby" with William Smith, tenor, as soloist. The Bruinaires, an octet with guitar accompaniment, sang a number of light songs, including "Bermuda Buggy Ride" and "I Want to Go Home," a sea chantey.

POET AT BENNETT — Langston Hughes, poet-playwright, following his lecture-reading at Bennett College last week, autographs a program for an unidentified admirer from the community while her little brother and Dr. Hobart S. Jarrett, chairman of the humanities division, smile approval.

Senior High School Girls At Greensboro

GREENSBORO— Despite heavy snows and predictions of more to come, some 75 senior girls and their advisors from high schools in North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia and Delaware attended the annual Youth Days weekend at Bennett College.

Sunday morning they made summary reports of their activities and on that afternoon heard an address by Mrs. Vivian C. Mason before leaving for their homes.

COUNTESS COLLIER, 18-year-old Bennett College freshman, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Collier of 11808 Tuscora Ave. Because of her outstanding high school record at East Tech, she was given a tuition scholarship. She plans to be an English teacher or a secretary when she graduates. She has been activity-minded on campus but looks forward to summers back at Woodhill Pool.

Opal Musgrove April 4, 1960

MISS BAILEY ELECTED PRESIDENT OF STUDENT SENATE

Miss Margaret Bailey, a rising senior, of Fruitland, Md., was elected president of the Student Senate at Bennett College in campus-wide elections conducted last week.

Elected to serve in her cabinet were the following:

Vice-president, Roslyn Cheagle, Lynchburg, Va.; treasurer, Iris Jeffries, Burlington; assistant treasurer, Marian Simmons, Fayetteville; secretary, Roslyn Smith, Princeton, W. Va., assistant secretary, Nettie Crawford, Utica, N. Y., and parliamentarian, Gloria Williams, Winston-Salem.

Miss Yvonne McBride, senior, of Sumter, S. C., was elected May Queen and Miss Hattie Green, senior, of Ivey, Va., maid of honor. Junior, sophomore and freshman classes will each elect two representatives to the queen's court.

Elected representative to the Central Administrative Committee was Miss Carolyn Bennett, rising senior, of Miami, Florida, and named campus coordinator for the U. S. National Student Association, was Miss Doris Luck, of Asheboro.

Miss Yvonne Redcross, of Hampton, Va., was elected president of the David D. Jones Student Union. Other Union officers are: vice-president, Carolyn Graves, Graham, N. C.; secretary, Lynda Hill, Winston-Salem; assistant secretary, Margarella Bridges, Tarboro, N. C.; representative to the Union Board of Managers, Mattilyn Talford, Chester, S. C., and Union pianist, Mildred Graves, Leaksville.

Also elected were:

Misses Charletta Pickering, of Sumter, S. C., chairman of the mid-week vespers committee; Annette Robinson, of Dillon, S. C., superintendent of the Sunday School; and Celestine Miller, of Horatio, S. C., president of the Pre-Alumnae Association.

VESPER SPEAKER AT BENNETT

Dr. Albert E. Manley, president of Spelman College, Atlanta, Georgia, will speak at the Bennett College vesper service at 4 p.m. Sunday, May 1, in Pfeiffer Chapel.

250 Registered In Movement By Negroes

Approximately 250 Negroes were registered as potential voters last night at two registration places in a special campaign organized by Bennett College students.

Because there was only one registrar at the two locations—Ray Warren Homes and Windsor Community Center—another 100 people left but promised to return this evening as the campaign continues.

"Operation Doorknock" follows the theme of the 34th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett; "Register and Vote . . . a Necessity for Good Citizenship."

The Bennett students are visiting homes throughout the Negro populated areas encouraging them to register and providing transportation.

Registration will continue through Saturday and the students hope to have at least 1,000 new voters on the registration books when the campaign closes.

Brown Glee Club Will Sing Here

The Brown University Glee Club under the direction of Erich Kunzel will present a concert at 8 p.m. Saturday in Pfeiffer Chapel at Bennett College.

The concert will be the fifth stop for the Rhode Island club on its 10-day spring tour through the South. Sponsor of the event is the Lyceum Committee of Bennett College under the chairmanship of Dr. Chauncey G. Winston.

Bennett Choir Sings Sunday

The 40-voice Bennett College Choir will present a service of worship Sunday at 11 a.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel. The group, directed by Mrs. Mary Crawford, will sing anthems dating from the 16th Century to the present.

Soloists will be Miss Sandra Downing of Newport News, Va., and Miss Linda Brown of Akron, Ohio.

Young Writers Given Prizes

GREENSBORO — Four Bennett College students were awarded prizes for their creative efforts during the recent observance of Humanities Week at the college.

First prize for short stories went to Miss Jacquelyn Florance, sophomore, of Greensboro. There was a tie for first place in the poetry division between Misses Hattie Green, senior, of Ivey, Va., and Ollie Johnson, sophomore, of Athens, Ga. First prize in art went to Miss Joan Didier, senior of Jamaica, BWI.

GEORGIA GET-TOGETHER—These three Bennett College students, all from Atlanta, Ga., catch up on the happenings back home from Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, just before his address at Bennett College. Left to right: Florence Burnside, freshman; Patricia Brown, sophomore, and Tessie Wright, sophomore.

TALLADEGA COLLEGE STUDENTS of Talledega, Ala., accompanied by Mrs. Magnoria Smothers, left, counselor of women, and Dr. David Driswell (not shown) have completed a study tour of Howard University, Washington, D.C.; Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C.; and Clark and Morehouse Colleges, Atlanta, Ga., as a part of the current guidance self-study program. Students, from left to right, seated Misses Patricia Drayton, Augusta; Josephine Crawford, Columbus, Ga.; and Patricia Coleman, Anniston, Ala. Standing, James Cole, Florence, Ala.; Miss Ernestine Blackmon, Bainbridge, Ga.; Felix Burrows, Daytona Beach, Fla.; Miss Pauline Robinson, Clover, S.C.; and Samuel Gaines, Ft. Pierce, Fla.

$785,475 Budget Set By Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C.—An operating budget of $785,475 for the 1960-'61 fiscal year was approved by members of the executive committee of the Bennett College trustees board at its meeting in New York City.

This amount represents an increase of $51,750 over the current budget.

With Dr. F. D. Patterson, chairman, presiding, the trustees heard an interim report from President Willa B. Player, based on the theme, "Making a Strong College Stronger." In this report, she highlighted the college's needs over a long-term period, expressing the hope that the development committee will be able to round out, at the 50th anniversary of the institution as a woman's college, the educational resources to a total of approximately $5,000,000.

The trustees discussed the need for greater student selectivity and greater strength in the faculty in the years ahead. Among those present was Dr. J. A. Tarpley, principal of Dudley High School.

Bennett College Students Lead Registration Drive

"OPERATION DOORKNOCK"---Three Bennett College students, one of the several hundred teams who canvassed precinct No. 7 in Greensboro last week in an effort to get every person of voting age registered, are shown explaining how simple the procedure is to a busy housewife who stopped cooking the evening meal to listen. The students, left to right, are Misses Sandra Downing, of Newport News, Va.; Marva Scott, of Washington, D. C. and Jean Gerst, of Williamsburg, Va. From intent expression on his face, youngster indicates he too is interested.

CRUTCHES NO HANDICAP---Among the hundreds who waited in line to register for voting during "Operation Doorknock" conducted by Bennett College students last week were persons such as this would-be voter shown with crutches awaiting her turn to register. More than 1,000 new voters were added to the Greensboro lists during three-night campaign conducted by precinct No. 7.

IT'S IN THE CARDS---John M. Brooks, NAACP director of voter registration of Richmond, Va., told Bennett College students how the job is done by using a set of cards during his address on Monday at the 34th annual Homemaking Institute.

"MR. CIVIL RIGHTS" AND CROWD---Partial view of the crowd which engulfed Thurgood Marshall, NAACP chief counsel, following his address at Bennett College's Homemaking Institute recently. Capacity audience filled the chapel and Little Theatre. Many stood outside to hear him.

INSTITUTE PRINCIPALS---Thurgood Marshall, chief NAACP counsel, of New York City, who delivered the keynote address at Bennett College's 34th annual Homemaking Institute recently, is flanked by Mrs. Louise G. Streat, institute chairman and President Willa B. Player.

GEORGIA GET-TOGETHER---These three Bennett College students, all from Atlanta, Ga., catch up on the happenings back home from Dr. Banjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, just before his address at Bennett College. Left to right Misses Florence Burnside, freshman, Patricia Brown, sophomore and Tressie Wright, sophomore.

'RAISIN IN THE SUN'—Some of the members of the cast of "Raisin in the Sun," the Broadway hit show by Lorraine Hansberry, which was given a reading by Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., students and faculty last week, are shown in rehearsal in the college's Little Theatre. Left to right: Ollie Johnson, Roy Lee Jr., Mrs. Gertrude K. Pryor of the faculty, Esther Alexander, Sandra Downing and Larry Henderson of A. and T. College.

Homemaking Institute Principals

Thurgood Marshall, chief NAACP counsel, of New York City, who delivered the keynote address at Bennett College's 34th annual Homemaking Institute recently, is flanked by Mrs. Louise G. Street, Institute chairman and President Willa B. Player.

On The Campus At Bennett College

Miss Alma Pinnix, of Reidsville, a rising junior in home economics at Bennett College, has been selected to take part in the competition scholarship program for home economics majors which will be held at Howard University, Washington, D. C., April 22-23.

The competition sponsored by the Scott Paper Company Foundation provided all-expense scholarships for third major and senior years to the highest scorers and tuition scholarships to the runner-up. Also participating in the program are Tuskegee Institute, Spelman College and Hampton Institute.

Miss Idajeanne Robinson, Bennett College junior, of Oberlin, Ohio, was elected vice president of Alpha Kappa Mu, national honor society at the annual convention held recently at West Virginia State College, Institute, West Virginia.

Holy Week services at Bennett College were held each morning in Pfeiffer Chapel beginning at 6:15, Monday through Thursday. Holy communion was administered at the Good Friday service which began at 6 a. m. and in which local Methodist ministers participated.

A painting, "The Bell," by James C. McMillan, head of the art department at Bennett College, is among 18 paintings being exhibited this month at the Bennett Aden Gallery in Washington, D. C.

The artists are all former students of Andros Zerega whose painting, "In State," is also displayed.

Four Bennett College students were awarded prizes for their creative efforts during the recent observance of Humanities at the college.

First prize for short stories went to Miss Jacqueiyn Florence, sophomore, of Greensboro. There was a tie for first place in the poetry division between Misses Hattie Green, senior, of Ivey, Va. and Ollie Johnson, sophomore, of Athens, Ga. First prize in art went to Miss Joan Didier, senior of Jamaica, BWI.

Dr. Willie B. Player, president of Bennett College, will speak before the 20th annual meeting of the Womans Society of Christian Service of the Ohio Conference of the Methodist Church on April 21.

Subject of Dr. Player's address, to be given at the second evening session of the two-day conference, will be "The Long Walk." Meetings will be held at the Monroe Street Methodist Church.

An operating budget of $785,475 for the 1960-61 fiscal year was approved by members of the executive committee of the Bennett College trustee board at their meeting in New York City Tuesday.

This amount represents an increase of $51,750 over the current budget.

With Dr. F. B. Patterson, chairman, presiding, the trustees received a report from President W. B. Player based on the theme, "Making a Strong College Stronger." In this report, she highlighted the college's needs for additional funds, expressing the hope that the development committee will be able to conduct, at the 50th anniversary of the institution as a woman's college, the educational resources to a total of approximately five million dollars.

The trustees discussed the need for greater student selectivity and greater strength in the faculty in later years ahead. Among those present was Dr. J. A. Tarpley, principal of Bradley High School.

The Glee Club of Howard University, directed by Erich Kunzel, presented an appreciative audience of Bennett College music lovers on Saturday night in the final program of the current lyceum series.

Opening with "Hodie, Christus natus est" by Healey Willan, the group sang a number of liturgical numbers and moved from these to a number of selections in English among them "Suabian Folk Song," harmonized by Johannes Brahms and Custave Holst's "A Dirge for Two Veterans," taken from Walt Whitman's poem. Clarence E. Whiteman, Bennett organist, provided the brass and percussion interludes for which the composition was scored.

The group sang a number of selections from Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess," a group of Brown University songs and three spirituals, among them 'Mary Had A Baby' with William Smith, tenor, as soloist. The Brunonians, an octet with guitar accompaniment, sang a number of light songs, including "Bermuda Buggy Ride" and "I Want to Go Home," a sea chantey.

Bennett Students Given Challenge By Dr. Manley

A challenge to Bennett College students to abandon their fear or reluctance to seek employment in fields previously open to men only was given by Dr. Albert E. Manley, of Atlanta, in his vesper address yesterday.

Dr. Manley, president of Spelman College for women, expressed the belief that many women have not achieved their highest potential because they have shied away from job opportunities in non-traditional fields.

"Society expects more and more of the college woman," he said, "particularly in four areas —home and family, the community, occupational life and cultural life. Women have assumed the leadership in supporting art, music and the drama. They have worked well in schools and colleges, community agencies, the church and government."

The speaker called attention to the fact that only eight women have been elected to the Hall of Fame and expressed the hope that some Negro woman may be considered when the next elections are held.

Bennett Activity

Bennett College faculty, students and friends will observe their May Day May 7 beginning at 2 p.m. The May Pole will be located on the lawn just in front of Pfeiffer Chapel.

May Queen at Bennett is Yvonne McBride from Sumter, S.C. Her senior maid of honor is Hattie Green of Ivy, Va.

From the senior class, Gladys Hemingway of Georgetown, S.C., and Lucy Martin of Reidsville, will be attendants.

The junior representatives will be Shirley Dismuke, Vandergrift, Pa., and Kay Henry of Greensboro.

Sophomore representatives will be Patricia Hawkins of Athens, Ga., and Patricia Williams, Wadesboro.

Freshman attendants will be Shirlene Burland, Princeton, N.J., and Phyllis Harris, Columbia, S.C.

Door-to-Door Drive Nets 1,000 New Voters

GREENSBORO, N. C.—"Operation Doorknock"—the voter-registration drive conducted by Bennett College students—put the names of more than 1,000 new voters on the books, here.

• The campaign, which was conducted in Precinct 7, as a highlight of the college's 34th annual Homemaking Institute, reached more than 2,700 persons of voting age, of whom only 736 were registered.

• Over 1,700 of the unregistered persons, however, promised that they would register.

For this reason, registration is continuing this week.

Although most of the new voters registered at either the Ray Warren Homes or the Windsor Community Center, it is known that many others registered at downtown election headquarters. A tabulation of these names is expected to run the total figure well over the 1,000 mark.

'OPERATION DOORKNOCK'—Three Bennett College students, one of the several hundred teams who canvassed Precinct 7 in Greensboro are shown explaining the procedure to a housewife. The students, left to right, are the Misses Sandra Downing of Newport News, Va.; Marva Scott of Washington, D.C., and Jean Gert of Williamsburg, Va.

Miss Bailey Student Prexy

GREENSBORO —Miss Margaret Bailey, a rising senior, of Fruitland, Md., was elected president of the Student Senate at Bennett College in campus-wide elections conducted last week.

Vice-president, Roslyn Cheagle, Lynchburg, Va.; treasurer, Iris Jeffries, Burlington; assistant treasurer, Marian Simmons, Fayetteville; secretary, Roslyn Smith, Princeton, W. Va.; assistant secretary, Nettie Crawford, Utica, N. Y. and parliamentarian, Gloria Williams, Winston-Salem.

Miss Yvonne McBride, senior of Sumter, S. C., was elected May Queen and Miss Hattie Greene, senior, of Ivey, Va., maid of honor. Junior, sophomore and freshman classes will each elect two representatives to the queens court.

Elected representative to the Central Administrative Committee was Miss Carolyn Bennett, rising senior, of Miami, Florida, and named campus coordinator for the U. S. National Student Association was Miss Doris Luck, of Asheboro.

LOOKS GOOD TO [illegible] Gloria Adams, Bennett College junior of Spring Garden, [illegible] N. Y., seems to be saying this about her new blazer [illegible] Greensboro, N. C. school.

Bennett's May Day

The traditional May Day exercises held at Bennett College will be presented this year on May 7 in the form of a Spring Festival.

Coronation of the Spring Festival Queen, Miss Yvonne McBride, senior, of Sumter, S. C., will highlight the activities.

Mrs. Hattie Green, senior of Ivy, Va., will serve as the queen's maid of honor.

The festival will feature song, dance and drama. The freshman choir, under the direction of Edward Lowe, will sing songs by Sigmund Romberg. The dance group, directed by Mrs. Nellie Gurten, will perform the ballet. A comedy, "The Tenth Word", presented by the Theatre Guild, under the direction of Fred Alan Eady, completes the program.

KEYNOTER — Thurgood Marshall, chief NAACP counsel, of New York City, who delivered the keynote address at Bennett College's 34th annual Homemaking Institute on Sunday, is flanked by Mrs. Louise G. Streat, institute chairman, and President Willa B. Player.

Operation Doorknock Big Bennett Success

—"Operaton Doorknock" -- the voter-registration drive conducted by Bennett college students--put the names of more than 1,000 new voters on the books in Greensboro last week.

The campaign, which was conducted in Precinct No. 7 as a highlight of the college's 34th annual Homemaking Institute, reached more than 2,700 persons of voting age, of whom only 736 were registered. Over 1,700 of promised that they would register.

For this reason, registration is continuing this week. Although most of the new voters registered at either the Ray Warren Homes or the Windsor Community center, it is known that many others registered at downtown tabulation of these names is expected to run the total figure well over the 1,000 mark.

J G 4/30/60

Waiting To Register During 'Operation Doorknock'

Among the hundreds who waited in line to register for voting during "Operation Doorknock" conducted by Bennett College students last week were persons such as this would-be voter shown with crutches awaiting her turn to register. More than 1,000 new voters were aded to the Greensboro lists during the three-night campaign conducted by Precinct No. 7.

Student Officers Chosen In Campus-wide Elections

J G 4/30/60

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Miss Margaret Bailey, a rising senior, of Fruitland, Md., was elected president of the Student Senate at Bennett College in campus-wide elections conducted last week.

Eelected to serve in her cabinet were the following: Vice-president, Roslyn Cheagle, Lynchburg, Va.; treasurer, Iris Jeffries, Burlington; assistant treasurer, Marian Simmons, Fayetteville; secretary, Roslyn Smith, Princeton, W. Va.; assistant secretary, Nettie Crawford, Utica, N. Y., and parliamentarian, Gloria Williams, Winston-Salem.

MISS YVONNE McBRIDE, senior, of Sumter, S. C. was elected May Queen and Miss Hattie Greene, senior, of Ivey, Va., maid of honor. Junior, sophomore and freshman classes will each elect two representatives to the queen's court.

Elected representative to the Central Administrative Committee was Miss Carolyn Bennett, rising senior, of Miami, Florida, and named campus coordinator for the U. S. National Student Association was Miss Doris Luck, of Asheboro.

MISS YVONNE Redcross, of Hampton, Va., was elected president of the David D. Jones Student Union. Other Union officers are: vice-president, Carolyn Graves, Graham, N. C.; secretary, Lynda Hill, Winston-Salem; assistant secretary, Margarella Bridgers, Tarboro, N. C. representative to the Union Board of Managers, Mattilyn Talford, Chester, S. C., and Union pianist, Mildred Graves, Leaksville.

Also elected were: Misses Charletta Pickering, of Sumter, S. C., chairman of the mid-week vespers committee; Annette Robinson, of Dillon, S. C., superintendent of the Sunday School and Celestine Miller, of Horatio, S. C., president of the Pre-Alumnae Association.

Atlanta Co-Eds At Bennett Catch Up On Home News

J G 4/30/60

These three Bennett College students, all from Atlanta, Ga., catch up on the happenings back home from Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, just before his recent address at Bennett College.

Left to right are: Misses Florence Burnside, freshman; Patricia Brown, sophomore, and Tressie Wright, sophomore.

In Bennett Recital

Miss Charlote Alston of Greensboro, a 1954 graduate of Bennett College, who was presented in a recital Friday night by the Greensboro Alumnae Chapter of the college.

Pretty Bennett Students Admire Forsythia

Rising spring temperatures have brought out a profusion of Forsythia blossoms at Bennett College which these four freshmen took time out to admire. Left to right, Misses Cecilia Gilmore, of New Canaan, Conn.; Roberta Jones, Hampton, Va.; Betty Thomas, Morganton, N. C. and Joyce Carnegie, of New Haven, Conn.

J G - 4/30/60

CHILDREN TO BE CHRISTENED AT BENNETT

Children of Bennett College graduates will be christened at the annual Mother's Day vesper service on Sunday, May 8.

Performing the sacrament of baptism will be the Rev. John L. Bryan, of Washington, D. C., director of student work for the Methodist Board of Temperance, who will also deliver the vesper message.

Among the children to be christened is the son of the Rev. Mr. Bryan — Edward Alfred, whose mother, Mrs. Barbara Hunt Bryan is a 1952 graduate of the college.

Dr. and Mrs. Wilbert Washington, of Charlotte, will have their infant son, Phelgar Delano, christened. Dr. Washington, the former Miss Lyvonne D. Mackel, is a 1953 graduate.

Three children of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Henry, Jr., of Greensboro, will be christened — Dawn Yolanda, Pamela Michele and John W., 3rd. Mrs. Henry, the former Miss Carolyn Taylor, is a rising senior.

ALL ABOUT BOOKS — Mrs. Constance Marteena, Bennett college librarian (extreme left) points out to students from Brown Summit high school some of the highlights of the college's exhibit at the recent book fair held at the Greensboro Coliseum. The Bennett booth contained non fiction.

Greensboro News 4/30/60

Homemaking Institute Principals

Thurgood Marshall, chief NAACP counsel, of New York City, who delivered the keynote address at Bennett College's 34th annual Homemaking Institute recently, is flanked by Mrs. Louise G. Street, Institute chairman and President Willa B. Player.

LEAD BENNETT FRESHMEN — Officers of the freshmen class at Bennett College take to the outdoors for their official photograph, left to right (seated) Misses Leslie Doty, president, Dallas, Texas; Carolyn Walker, treasurer, New Haven, Conn. and Mercedes Davis, vice president, New Orleans, La. Standing Misses Edwina Coleman, assistant secretary, Charlotte, and Clifford Claye, secretary, Houston, Texas.

Greensboro News 4/30/60

Student Elections are Held at Bennett College

GREENSBORO, — Miss Margaret Bailey, a rising senior of Fruitland, Md. was elected president of the Student Senate at Bennett College in campus-wide elections conducted last week.

Elected to serve in her cabinet were the following:

Vice-president, Roslyn Cheagle, Lynchburg, Va.; treasurer, Iris Jeffries, Burlington; assistant treasurer, Martin Simmons, Fayetteville; secretary, Roslyn Smith, Princeton, W. Va.; assistant secretary, Nettie Crawford, Utica N. Y., and parliamentarian, Gloria Williams, Winston-Salem.

Miss Yvonne McBride, senior, of Sumter, S. C., was elected May Queen and Miss Hattie Greene, senior, of Ivey, Va., maid of honor. Junior, sophomore and freshman classes will each elect two representatives to the queen's court.

Elected representative to the Central Administrative Committee was Miss Carolyn Bennett, rising senior, of Miami, Florida, and named campus coordinator for the U. S. National Student Association was Miss oris Luck, of Asheboro.

Miss Yvonne Redcross, of Hampton, Va., was elected president of the David D. Jones Student Union. Other Union officers are: vice-president, Carolyn Graves, Graham, N. C.; secretary, Lynda Hill, Winston-Salem; assistant secretary, Margarella Bridgers, Tarboro, N. C. representative to the Union Board of Managers, Mattilyn Talford, Chester, S. C., and Union pianist, Mildred Graves, Leaksville.

TEEN-TYPES
Thurgood Marshall, key speaker at Bennett Homemaking Institute, met with Ohioans Barbara Porter, Countess Collier, and Linda Brown....

GETTING THE KNOW-HOW — Mrs. Vivian Carter Mason of Norfolk, Va., former president of the National Council of Negro Women, gives pointers to these two Bennett college students who mapped plans to boost the number of registered voters in Greensboro, N. C., through "Operation Doorknock" during the recent 34th annual Homemaking Institute. Students are from left, Misses Dorothy Jordan, senior, of Goldsboro, and Catherine Lawson, senior of Lexington, Va.

Defender 4/30/60

'OPERATION DOORKNOCK' — Three Bennett college students, one of the several hundred teams who canvassed precinct No. 7 in Greensboro recently in an effort to get every person of voting age registered, are shown explaining how simple the procedure is to a busy housewife who stopped cooking the evening meal to listen. The students, from left, are Misses Sandra Downing, of Newport News, Va.; Marva Scott of Washington, D. C., and Jean Gerst of Williamsburg, Va. From intent expression on his face, youngster indicates he too is interested.

Defender 4/30/60

Conducted Communion Service At Bennett College

These five Methodist ministers participated in the annual Good Friday communion service at Bennett College at Greensboro, N. C.

Left to right, front row: the Revs. C. C. Armstrong, pastor of Browning Chapel, and J. E. Brower, pastor of St. Matthews.

Back row: the Revs. L. A. Brown, superintendent, Winston District; G. M. Phelps, pastor, Union Memorial and John G. Corry, acting director of religious activities at the college.

J G 4/30/60

1,000 New Voters Signed By Bennett Girls In "Operation Doorknock"

GREENSBORO, N. C. "Operation Doorknock" - the voter-registration drive conducted by Bennett College students - put the names of more than 1,000 new voters on the books in Greensboro last week.

The campaign, which was conducted in Precinct No. 7 as a highlight of the college's 24th annual Homemaking Institute, reached more than 2,700 persons of voting age, of whom only 736 were registered. Over 1,700 of the unregistered persons, however, promised that they would register.

FOR THIS reason, registration is continuing this week. Although most of the new voters registered at either the Ray Warren Homes or the Windsor Community Center, it is known that many other registered at downtown election headquarters. A tabulation of these names is expected to run the total figure well over the 1,000 mark.

Mrs. Louise G. Streat, institute chairman, gave a summary of the activiies on the closing program Sunday and paid special tribute to school principals, ministers and other civic-minded individuals who contributed to the success of the campaign.

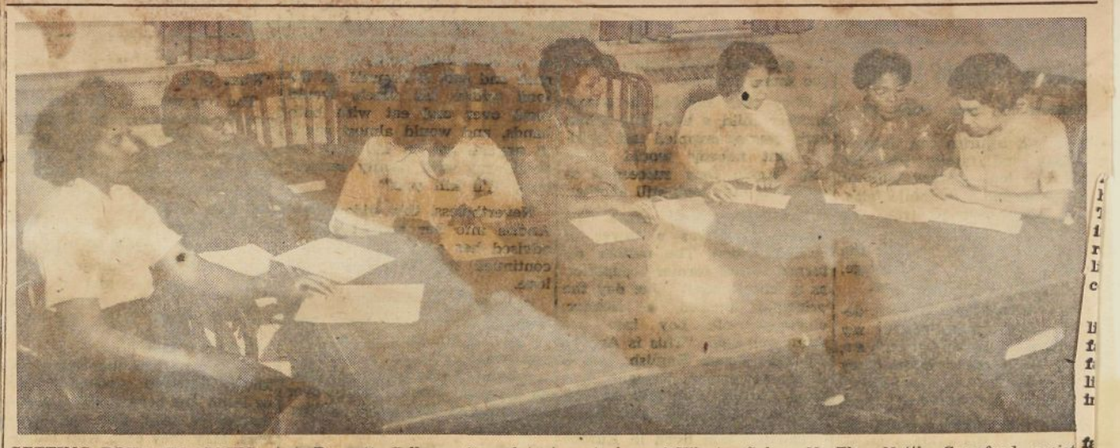
FOLLOWING her remarks, Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., gave the closing address in which he evaluated the spiritual significance of the drive. He pointed out that in the final analysis, history will give the verdict as to the true significance of the students' efforts.

"Jesus," he declared, "placed human values and needs above the law. He healed on the Sabbath and He socialized with the wrong crowd - the publicans and sinners. HE caried out against sham, hypocrisy, deceit and injustice. They killed Him."

Jesus was killed, the speaker explained, because He was a non-conformist. This is always dangerous. Popularity comes from confronting he added.

"Some people," said Dr. Mays, "question whether Jesus was ahead of His time or whether the time was ripe for him to do what He did. The time is always ripe to cry out against wrong. No man is ahead of his time. You come into this world but once, no matterhow old you are when you die. If you have a job to do, you must do it in your lifetime, not in the lifetime of someone else."

He reminded his listeners that the test of good religion is not how one treats the man highest up but how one treats the man lowest down.



GETTING DOWN TO CASES—Miss Margaret Bailey (head of table) rising senior from Fruitland, Md., and newly elected president of the Student Senate at Bennett College, formulates plans for next year with members of her cabinet and other top student leaders. From left to right, others in photo are Misses Gloria Williams, senate parliamentarian, of Winston-Salem, N. C.; Marian Isler, editor of the Bennett Banner, of Goldsboro, N. C.; Carolyn Bennett, representative to the central administrative committee, of Miami, Fla.; Nettie Crawford, assist senate secretary, of Utica, N. Iris Jeffries, senate treasurer Burlington, N. C.; Roslyn Sm senate secretary, of Prince W. Va. and Miss Bailey.

MAY DAY TO BE HELD AT BENNETT, MAY 7

The traditional May Day exercise held at Bennett College will be presented this year on May 7 in the form of a Spring Festival.

Coronation of the Spring Festival Queen, Miss Yvonne McBride, senior, of Sumter, S. C., will highlight the activities. Miss Hattie Green, senior of Ivy, Va., will serve as the queen's maid of honor.

The festival will feature song, dance and drama. The freshman choir, under the direction of Edward Lowe, will sing songs by Sigmund Romberg. The dance group, directed by Mrs. Nellie Gurten, will perform the ballet. A comedy, "THE TENTH WORD", presented by the Theatre Guild, under the direction of Fred Alan Eady, completes the program.

ALMA PINNIX RECEIVES TOP HONORS

Miss Alma T. Pinnix, rising junior home economics major, took top honors in the competitive scholarship program sponsored by the Scott Paper Company Foundation, at Howard University, Washington, D. C., last week.

Competing with Miss Pinnix were students from Hampton Institute, Spelman College and Tuskegee Institute.

As a result of her performance, Miss Pinnix will have all of her school expenses—room, board, tuition, books and wardrobe—provided by the foundation for her junior and senior years.

A graduate of the Caswell County Training School at Yanceyville, Miss Pinnix is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pinnix of Reidsville. She plans a career as a dress designer.

Explaining "Operation Doorknock" To Housewife

Three Bennett College students, one of the several hundred teams who canvassed Precinct No. 7 in Greensboro last week in an effort to get every person of voting age registered, are shown explaining how simple the procedure is to a busy housewife who stopped cooking the evening meal to listen. The students, left to right, are: Misses Sandra Downing, of Newport News, Va.; Marva Scott, of Washington, D. C., and Jean Gerst, of Williamsburg, Va. From intent expression on his face, youngster indicates he too is interested.

EDUCATION AND POLITICS — President Willa B. Player at Bennett College is flanked on left by State Senator Arthur Kirkman, of High Point and on right by Robert Campbell, of the Winston-Salem Journal, following their discussion of "The Significance for Education of the Issues and Candidates in the Gubernatorial Campaign." The discussion was the final Inter-faculty forum meeting of the year.

WITH THE LAD

four sophomore stu
ed Scott Scholars
following competitive ship eliminations for onomics majors at University, a week bac
T. Pinnix, of Greensbor took top rank.

She will receive full s ship covering total cost education for her junior senior years.

Runners-up, all of whor receive grants covering tuition for their remaining years of undergraduate study are Betsy A. Battle of Hampton; Mary Elizabeth Ellis of Spelman College, and Willie Jean Milner of Tuskegee Institute. Miss Pinnix, 20, is at Bennett College.

Drs. Flemmie Kitrell of Howard, T. Vivian Winder of Morgan State College and Mildred N. Jordan of Virginia State College, were judges.

Effie Lee Morris, the first librarian in the country to be named specifically to work with blind children in the specialized areas of reading (New York Public Library) has been dubbed and feted as Librarian of The Year, due to her specific contributions in the area of librarianship and human relations.

Precedent making and pace setting in a number of firsts, Miss Morris is an educational product of Chicago, Cleveland and New York ve writer of re-

MISS ALMA T. PINNIX (Wins Home Ec Scholarship)

Mrs. V. C. Mason Bennett Vesper Speaker

Only the light of truth can dispel the darkness of ignorance, jealousy and fear, Mrs. Vivian Carter Mason, of Norfolk, Virginia, declared in her vesper address at Bennett College recently.

The speaker, former president of the National Council of Negro Women, and now a public relations consultant, was addressing her remarks primarily to some 60 high-school seniors and their advisors attending the Youth Days weekend at the college.

Mrs. Mason called attention to the need for more light to be shed upon the democratic concept that all men are created equal.

"Each of us," she said, "has an incandescent power to be a light and to cast our rays into the darkness. We need a compassionate heart that comes from understanding and the ability to express ourselves with fluency, conviction, and sincerity. In doing this, however, we should avoid terms with emotional overtones."

Mrs. Mason, referring to the recent wave of lunch-counter sitdowns by students, said that this should not be referred to as "passive resistance." "It is the kind of resistance that Jesus taught," she said.

Following a chapel address at 10 a.m. today, Mrs. Mason met with student and community leaders for a two-hour workshop on voter registration.

Some 75 senior girls and their advisors from high schools in North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, and Delaware attended the annual Youth Days weekend.

Mother's Day Sermon Given

The charge that "ours is too much a gimmick and gadget civilization" and that this contributes to moral decay, was made by the Rev. John L. Bryan, of Washington, in his Mother's Day sermon at Bennett College yesterday.

Pointing out that religion today is on the defensive but that there is hope, the Rev. Mr. Bryan said that an interesting phenomenon is that men of science are rallying to the cause of religion.

"There are two axioms," he said that are not the heart of our moral problem. The first is the belief that what really matters is what money can buy, and the second is the belief that the means to the good life can be the good life itself."

He urged his listeners not to conform to the world by permitting themselves to be squeezed into a mould, but, by a complete reorientation of their inner selves, to be transformed.

DR. A. E. MANLEY SPEAKS AT BENNETT VESPER SERVICES

A challenge to Bennett College students to abandon their fear or reluctance to seek employment in fields previously open to men only was given by Dr. Albert E. Manley, of Atlanta, Ga., in his vesper address Sunday.

Dr. Manley, president of Spelman College for women, expressed the belief that many women have not achieved their highest potential because they have shied away from job opportunities in non-traditional fields.

"Society expects more and more of the college woman," he said, "particularly in four areas—home and family, the community, occupational life and cultural life. Women have assumed the leadership in supporting art, music and the drama. They have worked well in schools and colleges, community agencies, the church and government."

The speaker called attention to the fact that only eight women have been elected to the Hall of Fame and expressed the hope that some Negro women may be considered when the next elections are held.

They Lead Bennett Freshmen

Officers of the freshman class at Bennett College take to the outdoors for their official photograph. They are, left to right (seated): Misses Leslie Doty, president, Dallas, Texas; Carolyn Walker, treasurer, New Haven, Conn., and Mercedes Davis, vice-president, New Orleans, La. Standing: Misses Edwina Coleman, assistant secretary, Charlotte, N. C., and Clifford Claye, secretary, Houston, Texas.

On The Campus AT BENNETT

A memorial service for Miss Lila Mae Blanding, Bennett College, senior, who was killed recently in an auto accident just four miles north of her native Sumter, S. C. was held Tuesday morning in Pfeiffer Chapel.

President Willa B. Player, in her tribute referred to Miss Blanding, a commercial education major, as "a lovely girl whose loss to our college and her family we deeply regret."

There followed a three-minute period of silence in memory of the young woman who was one of three persons killed when their car, in which they were going home for the Easter recess, collided head-on with a tractor-trailer.

Also killed were James H. Brown owner of the car, and Andrew D. Palmer, both students at neighboring A&T College.

Funeral services for Miss Blanding were held at 3:30 p. m. on Wednesday at the Jehovah Baptist Church in Sumter, with the Rev. J. B. Watson, officiating. James J. Scarlette, business manager, represented the college at the rites and twelve of her schoolmates, all from the Sumter area, served as flower bearers.

Miss Blanding was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry James. A graduate of Lincoln High School in Sumter, she planned a teaching career after graduation in May.

At Bennett, she was president of the YWCA, president of the Auxiliary Marshall Board and secretary of Barge Hall. She had been a member of the freshman choir, secretary of the Commercial Education Club, a member of the Student Senate cabinet for two years and a junior counselor.

* * *

Miss Margaret Bailey, a rising senior, of Fruitland, Md. was elected president of the Student Senate at Bennett College in campus-wide elections conducted last week.

Elected to serve in her cabinet were the following:

Vice-president, Roslyn Cheagle, Lynchburg, Va.; treasurer, Iris Jeffries, Burlington; assistant treasurer Maron Simmons, Fayetteville; secretary, Roslyn Smith, Princeton W. Va.; assistant secretary, Nettie Crawford, Utica, N. Y., and parliamentarian Gloria Williams, Winston-Salem.

Miss Yvonne McBride, senior, of Sumter, S. C., was elected May Queen and Miss Bettie Greene, senior, of Ivey Va., maid of honor. Junior, sophomore and freshman classes will each elect two representatives to the queen's court.

Elected representative to the Central Administration Committee was Miss Carolyn Bennett, rising senior, of Miami, Florida, and named campus coordinator for the U. S. National Student Association was Miss Doris Luck of Asheboro.

Miss Yvonne Redcross, of Hampton, Va., was elected president of the David D. Jones Student Union. Other Union officers are: vice-president, Carolyn Graves, Graham, N. C.; secretary, Lynda Hill Winston-Salem; assistant secretary, Margarella Bridgers, Tarboro, N. C.; representative to the Union Board of Managers, Mattilyn Talford, Chester, S. C. and Union pianist, Mildred Graves, Leaksville.

Also elected were:

Misses Charlotta Pickering, of Sumter, S. C. chairman of the mid-week vespers committee; Annette Robinson, of Dillon, S. C., superintendent of the Sunday School; and Celestine Miller, of Horatio, S. C. president of the Pi Alumnae Association.

Dr. Albert E. Manley president of Spelman College, Atlanta, Georgia, will speak at the Bennett College vesper service at 4 p. m. Sunday, May 1, in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Memorial Services at Bennett Held for Co-ed Killed in Wreck

GREENSBORO — A memorial service for Miss Lila Mac Blanding, Bennett College senior, who was killed early Saturday morning in an auto accident just four miles north of her native Sumter, S. C., was held Tuesday morning in Pfeiffer Chapel.

President Willa B. Player, in tribute, referred to Miss Blanding, a commercial education major, as "a lovely girl whose loss to our college and her family we deeply regret."

There followed a three-minute period of silence in memory of the young woman who was one of three persons killed when their car, in which they were going home for the Easter recess, collided head-on with a tractor-trailer.

Also killed were James H. Brown, owner of the car, and Andrew D. Palmer, both students at neighboring A&T College.

Funeral services for Miss Blanding were held at 3:30 p.m. on Wednesday at the Jehovah Baptist Church in Sumter, with the Rev. J. B. Weston officiating. James J. Scarlette, business manager, represented the college at the rites and twelve of her schoolmates, all from the Sumter area, served as flower bearers.

Miss Blanding was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry James. A graduate of Lincoln High School in Sumter, she planned a teaching career after graduation in May.

At Bennett, she was president of the YWCA, president of the Auxiliary Marshall Board and secretary of Barge Hall. She had been a member of the freshman choir, secretary of the Commercial Education Club, a member of the Student Senate cabinet for two years and a junior counselor.

WINNER — Miss Alma T. Pinnix, a rising junior at Bennett College, Greensboro, who has won an all-expense scholarship for her junior and senior years, as a result of scoring first place in the recent Scott Paper Foundation competition for home economics sophomores.

Operation "Door-knock"

—Three Bennett College students, one of the several hundred teams who canvassed precinct No. 7 in Greensboro in an effort to get every person of voting are registered, are shown explaining how simple the procedure is to a busy housewife who stopped cooking the evening meal to listen. The students, left to right, are Misses Sandra Downing, of Newport News, Va.; Marva Scott, of Washington, D. G. and Jean Gerst, of Williamsburg, Va. From intent expression of his face, youngster indicates he too is interested.

Memorial Services At Bennett

GREENSBORO — A memorial service for Miss Lila Mae Blanding, Bennett College senior, who was killed early Saturday morning in an auto accident just four miles north of her native Sumter, S. C., home was held Tuesday morning Pfeiffer Chapel.

President Willa B. Player, in her tribute, referred to Miss Blanding, a commercial education major, as "a lovely girl whose loss to our college and her family we deeply regret."

There followed a three-minute period of silence in memory of the young woman who was one of three persons killed when their car, in which they were going home for the Easter recess, collied head-on with a tractor-trailer.

Also killed were James H. Brown, owner of the car, and Andrew D. Palmer, both students at neighboring A and T College.

Funeral services for Miss Blanding were held at 3:30 p. m. on Wed. at the Jehovah Baptist Church in Sumter, with the Rev. J. B. Weston officiating. James J. Scarlette, business manager, represented the college at the rites and twelve of her schoolmates, all from the Sumter area, served as flower bearers.

Miss Blanding was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry James. A graduate of Lincoln High School in Sumter, she planned a teaching career after graduation in May.

Christening Of Bennett Grads' Kids Planned Sun.

GREENSBORO — Childres of Bennett College graduates will be christened at the annual Mother's Day vesper service on Sunday, May 8.

Performing the sacrament of baptism will be the Rev. John L. Bryan, of Washington, D. C., director of student work for the Methodist Board of Temperance, who will also deliver the vesper message.

Among the children to be christened is the son of the Rev. Mr. Bryan — Edward Alfred, whose mother, Mrs. Barbara Hunt Bryan is a 1952 graduate of the college.

Dr. and Mrs. Wilbert Washington, of Charlotte, will have their infant son, Phelgar Delono, chirstened. Dr. Washington, the former Miss Lyvonne D. Mackel, is a 1953 graduate.

Three children of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Henry, Jr., of Grensboro, will be christened—Dawn Yolanda, Pamela Michele and John W., 3rd. Mrs. Henry, the former Miss Carolyn Taylor, is a rising senior

VAN S. ALLEN SELECTED TO ATTEND BOTANY CONFERENCE

Van S. Allen, biology instructor at Bennett College was notified this week that he has been selected as one of the 30 participants in the summer botany conference to be sponsored by the National Science Foundation at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, August 1-19.

Mr. Allen, who holds the M.S. degree from the University of Michigan and has done further study at Yale University, has been a member of the Bennett faculty since 1953.

87TH COMMENCEMENT AT BENNETT COLLEGE

Bennett College will hold its 87th Commencement exercises May 29 and 30 at the college. Degrees will be conferred upon 68 seniors. Bishop Taylor will preach the baccalaureate sermon at 4 p.m. on May 29 in Pfeiffer Chapel and on May 30 at 10:30 p.m. on May 29 in Pfeiffer Chapel and on May 30 at 10:30 a.m., Dr. Frank P. Graham will deliver the Commencement address. Dr. Willa B. Player, President of Bennett, will preside on both occasions and confer the degrees.

Spring Activities At Bennett College

SIGNS OF SPRING.....Rising spring temperatures have brought out a profusion of Forsythia blossoms at Bennett College which these four freshmen took time out to admire, left to right, Misses Cecilia Gilmore, of New Canaan, Conn.; Roberta Jones, Hampton, Va.; Betty Thomas, Morganton, N. C. and Joyce Carnegie, of New Haven, Conn.

POET AT BENNETT---Langston Hughes, poet-playwright, following his lecture-reading at Bennett College last week autographs program for an unidentified admirer from the community while her little brother and Dr. Hobart S. Jarrett, chairman of the Humanities Division, smile approval.

IN COMMUNION SERVICE---These five Methodist ministers participated in the annual Good Friday communion service at Bennett College. Left to right, front row: the Revs. C. C. Armstrong, pastor of Browning Chapel, and J. E. Brower, pastor of St, Matthews; back row: Revs. L. A. Brown, superintendent, Winston district; G. M. Phelps, pastor, Union Memorial and John G. Corry, acting director of religious activities at the college.

COMPARING NOTES---Edward Lowe, left, a member of the music faculty at Bennett College, goes over program presented by the A&T College Choir during the recent Humanities Week observance at the former institution. Looking on with him are two of the choir soloists--William Whitaker, baritone and Miss Ruby Coston, soprano, Howard T. Pearsall, choir director.

"RAISIN IN THE SUN"---Some of the members of the cast of "A Raisin in the Sun," the Broadway hit show by Lorraine Hansberry, which was given a reading by Bennett College students and faculty last week, are shown in rehearsal in the college Little Theatre. Left to right: Miss Ollie Johnson, Roy Lee, Jr., Mrs. Gertrude K. Pryor, of the faculty; Misses Esther Alexander and Sandra Downing and Larry Henderson of A & T College.

SIGNS OF SPRING—Rising spring temperatures have brought out a profusion of Forsythia blossoms at Bennett College which these four freshmen took time out to admire, left to right, Misses Cecilia Gilmore, of New Canaan, Conn.; Roberta Jones, Hampton, Va.; Betty Thomas, Morganton, N. C. and Joyce Carnegie, of New Haven, Conn.

AFRICAN VISITOR — Mr. Herbert Chitepo of Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia, first African barrister to be commissioned in the Central African Federation, is shown with these Bennett college students whose history class he visited during his three-day stay in Greensboro, N. C. From left, Misses Angela Carroll, of Clinton, N. C.; Anita Frazier, of Luray, S. C.; Willie Napper, of Greensboro, and Frances Poindexter of Lexington, Va., all juniors.

COFFEE HOUR — Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett college, is flanked by Mrs. Zepplyn Averrett (left) president of Bennett College Mrs. Jean P. Haith, alumnae secretary, during recent coffee hour sponsored by the local group at the president's home in Greensboro, N. C.

Bishop P. A. Taylor, Formerly of Greensboro, To Be Baccalaureate Speaker At Bennett

A United Nations official and a bishop of the Methodist Church are listed to give the principal addresses as Bennett College observes its eighty-seventh commencement May 29-30.

Bishop Prince A. Taylor, Jr. head of the Monrovia Area of the Methodist Church in Liberia, West Africa, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday, May 29 at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel. The commencement address will be delivered by Dr. Frank P. Graham of New York City, United Nations representative for India and Pakistan at the cemeronies to be held on Monday, May 30 at 10:30 a.m. in Peiffer Chapel in which time degrees will be conferred upon a class of 68 graduates.

Dr. Graham will be remembered by many as the president of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where he served with distinction from 1930-1949. He had been a teacher there from 1914 to 1930. From 1949-1950, Dr. Graham was United State Senator from North Carolina and later served as Defense Manpower Administrator in the United States Department of Labor. He was appointed to his present post in 1951.

Bishop Taylor, who holds a doctorate in education from New York University, has received honorary degrees from a number of colleges. He was at one time a member of the Bennett College faculty, later serving as professor in the Gammon Theological Seminary in Atlanta, Georgia. From 1948-1956, he served as editor of the Central Christian Advocate and was elected to the bishopric in 1956. In 1958 he was decorated by the president of Liberia and admitted to the order of Great Band Star of Africa for distinguished service to that West African Republic.

President Willa B. Player, who will preside at both exercises, will confer degrees upon members of the class, eight of whom completed requirements for graduation last January.

The college choir directed by Mrs. Mary M. Crawford, will sing on both occasions.

BISHOP P. A. TAYLOR

Vesper Services Held At Bennett College

Bennett College students were urged "not to be spendthrifts of life" and reminded that "hard work is the open door to all greatness," by Miss Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, of Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa as the seniors held their annual vesper service in Pfeiffer Chapel yesterday.

"The good name of Bennett College," she said, "has been spread abroad through the lives of its graduates. We must, therefore, be living examples for good and not waste our time idly. Now is the time for us to reconsider what we want out of life and to work harder for our goals."

Although individuals eventually stop growing physically, they should continue to grow spiritually and mentally, Miss Tuboku-Metzger concluded.

SENIORS TO CONDUCT VESPER SERVICES SUNDAY, MAY 15, AT BENNETT

Miss Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, of Sierra Leone, West Africa, will deliver the address when members of the senior class conduct the vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, May 15.

Presiding will be Miss Gwendolyn Bell, of Cincinnati, Ohio and Miss Jacqueline Ball, of Philadelphia, will take the place of the minister. Miss Jacqueline Herbin of Greensboro, will direct the college choir.

VESPER SERVICE

Blanche Tuboku-Metzger of Sierra Leone, West Africa, will deliver the address at the 4 p.m. vesper service at Bennett College today.

Spelman Prexy Speaks At Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C. — A challenge to Bennett College students to abandon their fear or reluctance to seek employment in fields previously open to men only was given by Dr. Albert E. Manley, of Atlanta,Ga., is his Sunday vesper address.

Dr. Manley, president of Spelman College for women, expressed the belief that many women have not achieved their higest potential because they have shied away from job opportunities in non-traditional fields.

"SOCIETY expects more and more of the college woman," he said, "particularly in four areas - home and family, the community, occupational life and cultural life. Women have assumed the leadership in supporting art, music and the drama. They have worked well in schools and colleges, community agencies, the church and government."

The speaker called attention to the fact that only eight women may be considered the Hall of Fame and expressed the hope that some Negro when the next elections are held.

Program Set For Finals At Bennett

Speakers Named Two Events

OUT - OF - ...

...ed Nations official and ... of the Methodist Church ...ed to give the principal ... as Bennett College ob... its eighty-seventh com... May 29-30.

...op Prince A. Taylor, Jr., ... Monrovia Area ... Church in Libe... Africa, will deliver the ... sermon Sunday, ... p.m. in Pfeiffer Ch... commencement address ... be delivered by Dr. Fran... Graham of New York City, ...ed Nations representative fo... dia and Pakistan, Monday, ... 30, at 10:30 a.m. in Pfeiffer ...el at which time degrees will ... conferred upon a class of 68 graduates.

Former UNC Head

Dr. Graham is a former president of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where he served from 1930-1949. He had been a teacher there from 1914 to 1930. From 1949-1950, Dr. Graham was United States Senator from North Carolina and later served as Defense Manpower Administrator in the United States Department of Labor. He was appointed to his present post in 1951.

Bishop Taylor, who holds a doctorate in education from New York University, has received honorary degrees from a number of colleges. He was at one time a member of the Bennett College faculty, later serving as professor in the Gammon Theological Seminary in Atlanta. From 1948-1956, he served as editor of the Central Christian Advocate and was elected to the bishopric in 1956. In 1958 he was decorated by the president of Liberia and admitted to the order of Great Band Star of Africa for distinguished service to that West African Republic.

President Willa B. Player, who will preside at both exercises, will confer degrees upon members of the class, eight of whom completed requirements for graduation last January.

The college choir directed by Mrs. Mary M. Crawford, will sing on both occasions.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER---Miss Alma T. Pinnix, a rising junior at Bennett College, who has won an all-expense scholarship for her junior and senior years, as a result of scoring first place in the recent Scott Paper Foundation competition for home economics sophomores.

Civic-Minded Students Register 1,000 Negroes

By Avis Gallagher

GREENSBORO—A massive community-college effort in precinct no. 7 here early this month has resulted in over a thousand new voter registrations in one of Greensboro's most heavily populated Negro areas.

This new expression of young Negro civic mindedness is of a piece with the lunch counter sit-ins throughout the South. The lunch counter sit-in movement likewise began in Greensboro.

Conducted under sponsorship of Bennett College, a Methodist school for Negro girls, the registration drive was the focal point of the college's annual homemaking institute. The program was planned a year ago, anticipating the usual political alertness that accompanies a presidential election year.

Work on the drive began in March when approximately twenty-five community leaders met with Bennett faculty and student officials to discuss means of conducting a voter canvass. Since primary elections in this state take place at a time when college students will not be able to follow through on this month's work, it was determined that community leaders at the meeting would assist in a subsequent effort to get new registrants to the polls.

It was also decided to confine the canvass to the precinct in which Bennett College is located. A previous run-down on that precinct, no. 7, indicated a potential of at least 1500 unregistered voters. It was felt that a maximum effort would be required to reach even that number, with the hope that neighboring areas would also become interested even though no personal contact would take place there.

Mrs. Louise Steat, faculty member and chairman of the homemaking institute, estimated that about 95% of Bennett's 477 students took an active part in the canvass. Their visits were preceded by distribution of handbills to acquaint the people with the nature of the drive.

Working in teams, the students made their calls on three successive evenings, and reported interviews with 2,295 people in 1,493 homes. They were assisted by people in the community, who furnished cars to take the students to their assigned areas, and stand by while the interviews were completed. Car pools also operated from the college itself to take people to be registered.

Two registrars were on duty, one at Windsor Community Center, and another in the administration building at Ray Warren Homes.

As the students made their calls, they often served as baby sitters, so that parents could go immediately to be registered, and some even volunteered to take up cooking duties while mothers were away.

Consequently, it developed that the registration could not be completed in the time allotted originally, and the registrars volunteered to open the books on the Saturday afternoon following the drive, and again on the following Monday and Tuesday evenings.

Final tabulation of new registrants has not yet been completed, but is already over the 1,000 mark. Although Bennett's participation has concluded, Mrs. Streat said, those who have not yet registered are being urged to do so while the books are still open.

STUDENT UNION OFFICERS—Miss Yvonne Redcross, left, of Hampton, Va., newly-elected president of the David D. Jones Student Union at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., is shown with three of the members of her cabinet: Misses Milderd Graves, pianist, of Graham, N. C., Margarella Bridges, assistant secretary, of Tarboro, N. C. and Lynda Hill, secretary of Winston-Salem.

UN Official, Methodist Bishop Bennett Speakers

GREENSBORO, N. C. — A United Nations official and a bishop of the Methodist Church are listed to give the principal addresses as Bennett College observes its eighty-seventh commencement May 29-30.

Bishop Prince A. Taylor, Jr. head of the Monrovia Area of the Methodist Church in Liberia, West Africa, will deliver May 29 at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer the baccalaureate sermon Chapel. The commencement address will be delivered by Dr. Frank P. Graham of New York City, United Nations representative for India and Pakistan, May 30 at 10 a.m. Degrees will be conferred upon a class of 68 graduates.

DR. GRAHAM will be remembered by many as the president of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where he served with distinction from 1930-1949. He had been a teacher there from 1914 to 1930. From 1949-1950, Dr. Graham was United States Senator from North Carolina and later served as Defense Manpower Administrator in the United States Department of Labor. He was appointed to his present post in 1951.

Bishop Taylor, who holds a doctorate in education from New York University, has received honorary degrees from a number of colleges. He was at one time a member of the Bennett College faculty, later serving as professor in the Gammon Theological Seminary in Atlanta.

President Willa B. Player, who will preside at both exercises, will confer the degrees. The college choir directed by Mrs. Mary M. Crawford, will sing on both occasions.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER — Miss Alma T. Pinnix, a junior at Bennett college, Greensboro, N. C., recently learned that she has won an all-expense scholarship for her junior and senior years of school, as a result of scoring first place in the recent Scott Paper Foundation competition for home economics sophomores.

DR. ROBERT E. JONES SR. Funeral Monday

R. E. Jones, Bishop, Dies.

Bishop Robert E. Jones Sr., 88, died Wednesday at Flint-Goodrich Hospital in New Orleans. A native of Greensboro, Bishop Jones had been in failing health a number of years.

He was a member of the North Carolina Methodist Conference and was its first Negro bishop. He served as editor of the "Southwestern Christian Advocate" and in his early years served pastorates in Lexington, Leaksville and Thomasville.

A graduate of Bennett in 1895 when it was a coeducational school, he became a founding trustee when it was converted into a woman's college with his brother, the late Dr. David D. Jones, its first president.

Had Two Doctorates

He attended Gammon Theological Seminary in Atlanta from which he was graduaed in 1897. He later received a D. D. degree from Gammon and New Orleans University and the LL.D. from Morgan State College, Howard and Lincoln universities.

He is survived by his wife, three daughters, Mrs. Grace Jones of Nashville, Tenn., Mrs. C. V. Broussard and Mrs. Catherine Knox, both of St. Louis; two sons, Dr. William Jones of New Orleans, and Robert E. Jones Jr. of Greensboro, purchasing agent at Bennett College.

Funeral services will be Monday at 1 p.m. at the Mt. Zion Methodist Church in New Orleans.

"Abandon Fear Or Reluctance," Dr. Manley Tells Bennett Group

GREENSBORO — A challenge to Bennett College students to abandon their fear or reluctance to seek employment in fields previously open to men only was given by Dr. Albert E. Manley, of Atlanta, Ga., in his vesper address Sunday.

Dr. Manley, president of Spelman College for women, expressed the belief that many women have not achieved their highest potential because they have shied away from job opportunities in non-traditional fields.

"Society expects more and more of the college woman", he said, "particularly in four areas—home and family, the community, occupational life and cultural life. Women have assumed the leadership in supporting art, music and the drama. They have worked well in schools and colleges, community agencies, the church and government."

The speaker called attention to the fact that only eight women have been elected to the Hall of Fame and expressed the hope that some Negro women may be considered when the next elections are held.

To Appear At Methodist Sessions 6/14/60

Shown here are the members of the Bennett College quartette and their accompanist, who will appear before the Wyoming Conference of the Methodist Church meeting in Johnson City, N. Y., on May 18. Reading clockwise from center front are Misses Jacqueline Herbin, first soprano, of Greensboro; Patricia Vann, second alto, of Danville, Va.; Mildred Graves, accompanist, of Leaksville; Leacy Shipman, first alto, of Whiteville, N. C., and Ruth Dobson, second soprano, of Boonville, N. C. The group sang recently at Chester, Pa.

BENNETT QUARTETTE — Members of the Bennett college quartette, Greensboro, N. C., and their accompanist will appear before the Wyoming Conference of the Methodist church meeting in Johnson City, N. Y., on May 18. Reading clockwise from center front are Misses Jacqueline Herbin, first soprano, Greensboro; Patricia Vann, second alto, Danville, Va.; Mildred Graves, accompanist, Leaksville; Leacy Shipman, first alto, Whiteville, N. C., and Ruth Dobson, second soprano of Boonville, N. C.

UN Aide, African Bishop to Talk To Bennett Grads

GREENSBORO, N. C.—A United Nations official and a Bishop of the Methodist Church are listed to give the principal addresses as Bennett College observes its 87th commencement May 29-30.

Bishop Prince A. Taylor Jr., head of the Monrovia area of the Methodist Church in Liberia, West Africa, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday, May 29, at 4 P.M. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

The commencement address will be delivered by Dr. Frank P. Graham of New York City, United Nations representative for India and Pakistan at the ceremonies to be held on Monday, May 30, at 10 A.M., in Pfeiffer Chapel at which time degrees will be conferred upon a class of 68 graduates.

"HECUBA" TO BE PRESENTED AT BENNETT

"Hecuba," a tragedy by Euripedes, has been selected as the annual spring theater production at Bennett College and will be presented on May 27, at 8:00 p.m. on the terrace of Pfeiffer Chapel.

Miss Esther Alexander, a junior from Wise, North Carolina, has been cast as Hecuba and Joan Didier, a senior from Jamaica, British West Indies as Polyxena.

Other members of the cast include: Misses Hiawatha Foster, Sylvania Black, Norma Hampton, Carolyn Davis, Rebecca Farris, Nancy Lowe, Deretta McAllister, and Roslyn Smith.

Fred Eady, director of dramatics, will direct the production.

U. N. Official, Bishop Will Highlight Bennett's Finals

GREENSBORO — A United Nations official and a bishop of the Methodist Church are listed to give the principal addresses as Bennett College observes its 87th commencement May 29-30.

Bishop Prince A. Taylor, Jr., head of the Monrovia Area of the Methodist Church in Liberia, West Africa, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday, May 29 at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

The commencement address will be delivered by Dr. Frank P. Graham of New York City, United Nations representative for India and Pakistan at the ceremonies to be held on Monday, May 30 at 10 a. m. in Pfeiffer Chapel at which times degrees will be conferred upon a class of 68 graduates.

Dr. Graham will be remembered by many as the president of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where he served with distinction from 1930-1949. He had been a teacher from 1914 to 1930. From 1949-1950, Dr. Graham was United State Senator from North Carolina and later served as Defense Manpower Administrator in the United States Department of Labor. He was appointed to his present post in 1951.

Bishop Taylor, who holds a doctorate in education from New York University, has received honorary degrees from a number of colleges. He was at one time a member of the Bennett College faculty, later serving as professor in the Gammon Theological Seminary in Atlanta, Georgia. From 1948-1956, he served as editor of the Central Christian Advocate and was elected to the bishopric in 1956.

In 1958 he was decorated by the president of Liberai and admitted to the order of Great Band Star of Africa for distinguished service to the West African Republic.

BENNETT INSTRUCTOR AWARDED FELLOWSHIP

Dr. Shang-Ling Fu, of the sociology faculty at Bennett College, has been awarded a fellowship to participate in the summer program at Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland, Ohio.

The program was initiated in 1952 to provide college and university professors with an opportunity to discuss "Economics in Action," to observe a variety of businesses and industries and to discuss economic problems with industrial leaders.

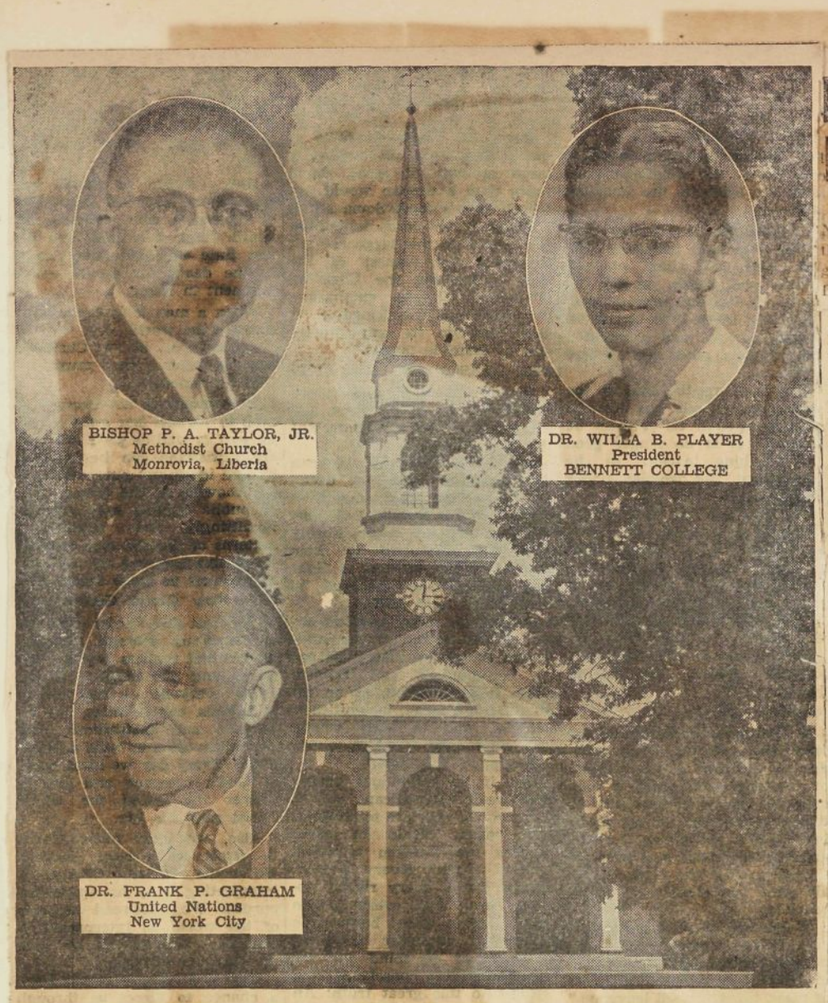
Bishop Edgar A. Love and Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, stand beside magnolia tree which members of the senior class dedicated to the bishop on Senior Day at the Greensboro, N. C., institution.

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Bennett Students Elect New Officers 6/14/60

Miss Yvonne Redcross, left, of Hampton, Va., newly-elected president of the David D. Jones Student Union at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., is shown with three of the members of her cabinet who will serve for the 1960-61 school year. Others in photo are Misses Mildred Graves, pianist, of Graham, N. C.; Margarella Bridgers, assistant secretary, of Tarboro, N. C.; and Lynda Hall, secretary, of Winston-Salem.

GETTING DOWN TO CASES — Miss Margaret Bailey (head of table), senior from Fruitland, Md., and newly elected president of the student senate at Bennett college, formulates plans for next year with members of her cabinet and other top student leaders. Others in photo are (from left): Misses Gloria Williams, senate parliamentarian, of Winston-Salem, N. C.; Marian Isler, editor of the Bennett Banner, of Goldsboro, N. C.; Carolyn Bennett, representative to the central administrative committee, of Miami, Fla.; Nettie Crawford, assistant senate secretary of Utica, N. Y.; Iris Jeffries, senate treasurer, of Burlington, N. C.; Roslyn Smith, senate secretary, of Princeton, W. Va. and Miss Bailey.



Dr. Frank Graham, UN Official, and Methodist Bishop to be Bennett Commencement Speakers

GREENSBORO — A United Nations official and a bishop of the Methodist Church are listed to give the principal addresses as Bennett College observes its 87th commencement May 29-30.

Bishop Prince A. Taylor, Jr., head of the Monrovia Area of the Methodist Church in Liberia, West Africa, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday, May 29 at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

The commencement address will be delivered by Dr. Frank P. Graham of New York City, United Nations representative for India and Pakistan at the ceremonies to be held on Monday, May 30 at 10 a. m. in Pfeiffer Chapel at which time degrees will be conferred upon a class of 68 graduates.

Dr. Graham will be remembered by many as the president of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where he served with distinction from 1930-1949. He had been a teacher there from 1914 to 1930

From 1949-1950, Dr. Graham, was United States Senator from North Carolina and later served as Defense Manpower Administrator in the United States Department of Labor. He was appointed to his present post in 1951.

Bishop Taylor, who holds a doctorate in education from New York University, has received honorary degrees from a number of colleges. He was at one time a member of the Bennett College faculty, later serving as professor in the Gammon Theological Seminary in Atlanta, Georgia.

From 1948-1956, he served as editor of the Central Christian Advocate and was elected to the bishopric in 1956. In 1958 he was decorated by the president of Liberia and admitted to the order of Great Band Star of Africa for distinguished service to that West African Republic.

President Willa B. Player, who will preside at both exercises, will confer degrees upon members of the class, eight of whom completed requirements for graduation last January.

Bishop Taylor, who holds a doctorate in education from New York University, has received honorary degrees from a number of colleges. He was at one time a member of the Bennett College faculty, later serving as professor in the Gammon Theological Seminary in Atlanta, Georgia.

From 1948-1956, he served as editor of the Central Christian Advocate and was elected to the bishopric in 1956. In 1958 he was decorated by the president of Liberia and admitted to the order of Great Band Star of Africa for distinguished service to that West African Republic.

President Willa B. Player, who will preside at both exercises, will confer degrees upon members of the class, eight of whom completed requirements for graduation last January.

The college choir, directed by Mrs. Mary M. Crawford, will sing on both occasions.

A challenge to Bennett College students to abandon their fear or reluctance to seek employment in fields previously open to men only was given by Dr. Albert E. Manley, of Atlanta, Ga., in his vesper address Sunday.

Dr. Manley, president of Spelman College for women, expressed the belief that many women have not achieved their highest potential because they have shied away from job opportunities in non-traditional fields.

"Society expects more and more of the college 'woman,'" he said, particularly in four areas—home and family, the community, occupational life and cultural life. Women have assumed the leadership in supporting art, music and the drama. They have worked well in schools and colleges, community agencies, the church and government."

The speaker called attention to the fact that only eight women have been elected to the Hall of Fame and expressed the hope that some Negro woman may be considered when the next elections are held.

Miss Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, of Sierra Leone, West Africa, will deliver the address when members of the senior class conduct the vesper service at Bennett College on Sunday, May 15.

Presiding will be Miss Gwendolyn Bell, of Cincinnati, Ohio and Miss Jacqueline Ball, of Philadelphia, will take the place of the minister. Miss Jacqueline Herbin of Greensboro, will direct the college choir.

BENNETT ORCHESTRA PRESENTS MUSICALE

First appearance of the Bennett College Orchestra was made here Wednesday when the group presented a miniature musicale in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Directed by Howell T. Jones, Jr., the student musicians played "Ceremonial March" by J. Frederick Muller; "Peasant Dance" by Charles Woodhouse and "Plink, Plank, Plunk," a novelty number by Leroy Anderson, all of which were roundly applauded.

A trio, composed of Iva Baker, flute; Lois Johnson, piano, and Mr. Jones, violin, played "Passepied" by A. Campra. Miss Carolyn V. Davis is concert master of the group.

Other members of the orchestra are:

Misses Patricia Vann and Pearl Gibbs, violin; Velda Pleasant, cello; Louise B. Reid, string bass; Sandra Kelley and Catherine Rink, clarinet; and Bobbie A. Brown, trumpet.

Bennett May Queen

Miss Yvone McBride of Sumter, S. C. was crowned May Queen of Bennett College at the May Day exercises held on May 7, and with her court reigned over the festivities.

Maid Of Honor

Miss Hattie Green of Ivy, Va., was maid of honor to the May Queen of Bennett College at the May Day festivities at the college recently.

68 Bennett Seniors To Get Degrees

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Degrees will be conferred upon 68 seniors by President Willa B. Player when Bennett College holds its 87th commencement exercises here on May 30, at 10:30 a.m.

Speaker will be Dr. Frank P. Graham, United Nations representative for India and Pakistan, and former president of the University of North Carolina.

FIRST appearance of the Bennett College Orchestra was made here when the group presented a miniature musicale in Pfeiffer Chapel. It was directed by Howell T. Jones Jr.

A trio, composed of Iva Baker, Lois Johnson, and Mr. Jones played "Passepied" by A. Campra. Miss Carolyn V. Davis is concert master of the group.

Other members of the orchestra are: Misses Patricia Vann and Pearl Gibbs, Velda Pleasant, Louise B. Reid, Sandra Kelly, Catherine Rink, and Bobbie A. Brown, trumpet.

THE CHARGE that "ours is too much a gimmick and gadget civilization" and that is this contrbutes to moral decay, was made by the Rev. John L. Bryan, of Washington, D. C., in his Mother's Day sermon at Bennett College.

An impromptu performance by the Virginia State College concert band was given at Bennett College recently.

Directed by Dr. Nathaniel F. Gatlin, the musicians, who were concluding a short tour of Piedmont North Carolina, thrilled the audience with marches.

ANNUAL SPRING FASHION HELD AT BENNETT

The annual spring fashion show sponsored by the clothing department at Bennett College was held on Thursday night, in the Little Theatre and featured the "Continental look."

In previous years, the show has been held outdoors, but this year the students voted to move it inside under the lights. Models paraded down a specially-constructed runway, showing off the latest summer fashions, many of which were original designs.

On The Campus At Bennett

A United Nations official and a Bishop of the Methodist Church are listed to give the principal addresses as Bennet College observes ts eighty-seventh commencement May 29-30.

Bishop Prince A. Taylor, Jr., head of the Monrovia Area of the Methodist Church in Liberia, West Africa, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday, May 29 at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel. The commencement address will be delivered by Dr. Frank P. Graham of New York City, United Nations representative for India and Pakistan at the ceremonies to be held on Monday, May 30 at 10 a. m. in Pfeiffer Chapel at which time degrees will be conferred upon a class of 68 graduates.

Dr. Graham will be remembered by many as the president of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where he served with distinction from 1930-1949. He had been a teacher there from 1914 to 1930. From 1949-1950, Dr. Graham was United States Senator from North Carolina and later served as Defense Manpower Administrator in the United States Department of Labor. He was appointed to his present post in 1951.

Bishop Taylor, who holds a doctorate in education from New York University, has received honorary degrees from a number of colleges. He was at one time a member of the Bennett College faculty, later serving as professor in the Gammon Theological Seminary in Atlanta, Georgia. From 1948-1956, he served as editor of the Central Christian Advocate and was elected to the bishopric in 1956. In 1958 he was decorated by the president of Liberia and admitted to the order of Great Band Star of Africa for distinguished service to that West African Republic.

Bennett Professor Gets Fellowship

Dr. Shang-Ling Fu, of the sociology faculty at Bennett College, has been awarded a fellowship to participate in the summer program at Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland, Ohio.

This program was initiate in 1952 to provide college and university professors with an opportunity to discuss "Economics in Action," to observe a variety of business and industries, and to discuss economic problems with industrial leaders.

JONES TO SPEAK

The Rev. Jameson Jones of Nashville, Tenn., editor of Motive magazine published by the Board of Education of the Methodist Church, will be the speaker for the closing vesper service of the academic year at Bennett College today.

Bennett Commencement Principals

BENNETT COMMENCEMENT: Scene of and principals in the 87th commencement exercises at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., May 29-30. Bishop Taylor will preach the baccalaureate sermon at 4 p.m. on May 29 in Pfeiffer Chapel and on May 30, at 10:30 a.m., Dr. Graham will deliver the commencement address. Dr. Player will preside on both occasions and confer degrees.

Sixty-eight Bennett College Seniors Candidates For Graduation

Degrees will be conferred upon 68 seniors by president Willa B. Player when Bennett College holds its 87th commencement exercises here on May 30, at 10:30 a.m.

Speaker will be Dr. Frank P. Graham, United Nations representative for India and Pakistan, and former president of the University of North Carolina.

The bachelor of arts degree will be conferred upon 47 graduates and the bachelor of science degree upon 21.

The list of prospective graduates released this week by Miss Mary Mayfield follows:

North Carolina

A.B.

Mary E. Boone, Sanford; Margaret E. Dula, Lenoir; Daisy M. Flowers, Shannon; Marilyn A. Frazier, Smithfield; Ethel D. Graves, Yanceyville; Norma J. Hampton, Spray; Jacqueline S. Herbin, Greensboro; Dorothy Jordan, Goldsboro; Lucy R. Martin, Reidsville; Dorothy G. McMillian, Winston-Salem;

Lena K. McMillan, Fairmont; Marie S. Moore, Winston-Salem; Maryann Musgrave, Mount Olive; Evelyn F. Neville, Weldon; Barbara J. Pendergraft, Chapel Hill; Laura F. Sawyer, Salisbury; Ruby L. Williams, Charlotte; Ruby J. Wilson, Greensboro; and Edna M. Zachary, Hertford.

B.S.

Luvenia T. Chavis, Greensboro; Hiawatha Foster, Charlotte; Ida T. Kearney, Greensboro; Betty J. Crockett, Charboro; Frances K. Phipps, Greensboro; Annie L. Pittman, Charlotte; Willa M. Pullins, Charlotte;

Ethel J. Riggsbee, Chapel Hill; Dolores A. Snellings, Raleigh; Edith M. Tucker, Elkin; Margirie S. Wilson, Clinton; and Betty J. Wright, Shelby.

South Carolina

A.B.

Pearl M. Gibbs, Moncks Corner; Gloria T. Greene, Timmonsville; Yvonne C. McBride, Sumter; Barbara A. Mitchell, Walterboro; Gwendolyn T. Pyatt, Charleston; and Alma L. Washington, Beaufort.

B.S.

Gladys P. Hemingway, Georgetown; Marilyn N. Neal, Columbia; and Arneese D. Woods, Darlington.

Virginia and D. C.

A.B.

Juanita Owens, Petersburg; Janice J. Robinson, McLean; Barbara A. Stewart, Petersburg; Judith A. Thompson, Washington, D. C.

New York, New Jersey and Conn.

A.B.

Mary E. Bender, Leonia, N. J.; Gloria E. Brown, Bronx, N. Y.; Sheila V. Caesar, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Beatrice M. Gregory, Princeton, N. J.; Nancy J. Kirby, Haddonfield, N. J.; Betty J. Shropshire, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Tiner J. Spear, Bridgeport, Conn.; Mary A. Wilmer, Camden, N. J.

B.S.

Lillie B. Wright, Hewlett, N. Y.

Pennsylvania and Delaware

A.B.

Joan E. Cogdell, Clarksville, Del.

B.S.

Jacqueline A. Ball, Philadelphia, Pa.; Hilda R. Harris, Philadelphia, Pa.

Alabama, Georgia and Texas

A.B.

Sylvia Black, Marlin, Texas; Rebecca L. Farris, Montgomery, Ala.; Maderia Young, Snow Hill, Ala.

B.S.

Betty L. Jemison, Milledgeville, Ga.; Faye V. McAllister, Houston, Texas.

Ohio and Tennessee

A.B.

Helen R. Houston, Nashville, Tenn.; Elizabeth L. Pope, South Pittsburg, Tenn.; Gwendolyn V. Bell, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Foreign

A.B.

Joan M. Didier, Jamaica, BWI; Una D. Estwick, Jamaica, BWI; Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa.

REV. JOHN L. BRYAN SPEAKS AT BENNETT

The charge that "ours is too much a gimmick and gadget civilization" and that this contribtues to moral decay, was made by the Rev. John L. Bryan, of Washington, D. C., in his Mother's Day sermon at Bennett College Sunday.

Director of student work for the Methodist Board of Temperance, the minister, in addition to his sermon, performed the sacrament of baptism for the children of four Bennett graduates, among them his own son, Edward, whose mother is the former Miss Barbara Hunt of the class tof 1952.

Pointing out that religion today is on the defensive but that there is hope, the Rev. Mr. Bryan said that an interesting phenomenon is that men of science are rallying to the cause of religion.

"There are two axioms," he said, "that are at the heart of our moral problem. The first is the belief that what really matters is what money can buy and the second is the belief that the means to the good life can be the good life itself."

He urged his listeners not to conform to the world by permitting themselves to be squeezed into a mould, but, by a complete reorientation of their inner selves, to be transformed.

VA. STATE COLLEGE BAND APPEARS IN CONCERT

An impromptu performance by the Virginia State College concert band was given at Bennett College, Saturday morning in the Little Theatre.

Directed by Dr. Nathaniel F. Gatlin, the musicians, who were concluding a short tour of Piedmont North Carolina, thrilled the audience with marches, novelty numbers and two overtures, "The Barber of Seville" and "Finale to the 4th Symphony" by Tchaikowsky.

Editor Speaks To Bennett Gathering

Bennett College student leaders for 1960-61 were told yesterday that "where there is no faith in the future, there is no power in the present."

The occasion was the anniversary of student organizations and the speaker was the Rev. Jameson Jones, of Nashville, Tenn., editor of Motive magazine, published by the Board of Education of the Methodist Church.

"Some of us," said the Rev. Mr. Jones, "caught between the no longer and the not yet, are inclined to wait, passively for the new world to come. What we need to do is to grasp the significance of today—the reality of the present and to do something with it."

The minister told the leaders that they are apostles and saints in their new responsibilities and that their jobs may often require the courage that others lack.

"As apostles," he pointed out, "you must be faithful and loyal, possess spiritual power and courage. As saints, you must have commitment, vision and timing."

BENNETT COMMENCEMENT — Scene of, and principals in, the 87th commencement exercises at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., May 29-30. Bishop Taylor will preach the baccalaureate sermon at 4 p.m. on May 29 in Pfeiffer Chapel and on May 30, at 10:30 a.m., Dr. Graham will deliver the commencement address. Dr. Player will preside on both occasions and confer degrees.

68 Seniors Slated To Receive Degrees At Bennett's Finals

GREENSBORO—Degrees will be conferred upon 68 seniors by President Willa B. Player when Bennett College holds its 87th commencement exercises here on May 30, at 10:30 a.m.

Speaker will be Dr. Frank P. Graham, United Nations representative for India and Pakistan, and former president of the University of North Carolina.

The bachelor of arts degree will be conferred upon 47 graduates and the bachelor of science degree upon 21.

The list of prospective graduates follows:

A.B.

NORTH CAROLINA: Mary E. Boone, Sanford; Margaret E. Dula, Lenoir; Daisy M. Flowers, Shannon; Marilyn A. Frazier, Smithfield; Ethel D. Graves, Yanceyville; Norma J. Hampton, Spray; Jacqueline S. Herbin, Greensboro; Dorothy Jordan, Goldsboro; Lucy R. Martin, Reidsville; Dorothy G. McMillan, Winston-Salem;

Lena K. McMillan, Fairmont; Marie S. Moore, Winston-Salem; Maryann Musgrave, Mount Olive; Evelyn F. Neville, Weldon; Barbara J. Pendergraft, Chapel Hill; Laura F. Sawyer, Salisbury; Ruby L. Williams, Charlotte; Ruby J. Wilson, Greensboro; and Edna M. Zachary, Hertford.

B.S.

Luvenia T. Chavis, Greensboro; Betty J. Crockett, Charlotte; Hiawatha Foster, Charlotte; Ida T. Kearnye, Greensboro; Frances K. Phipps, Greensboro; Annie L. Pittman, Charlotte; Willa M. Pullins, Charlotte; Ethel J. Rigggsbee, Chapel Hill; Dolores A. Snellings, Raleigh; Edith M. Tucker, Elkin; Margirie S. Wilson, Clinton; and Betty J. Wright, Shelby.

A.B.

SOUTH CAROLINA: Pearl M. Gibbs, Moncks Corner; Gloria T. Greene, Timmonsville; Yvonne C. McBride, Sumter; Barbara A. Mitchell, Walterboro; Gwendolyn T. Pyatt, Charleston; and Alma L. Washington, Beaufort.

B.S.

Gladys P. Hemingway, Georgetown; Marilyn R. Neal, Columbia, and Arneese D. Woods, Darlington.

A.B.

VIRGINIA AND D.C.: Juanita Owens, Petersburg; Janice J. Robinson, McLean; Barbara A. Stewart, Petersburg; Judith A. Thompson, Washington, D. C.

A.B.

NEW YORK, NEW JERSEY AND CONN.: Mary E. Bender, Leonia N. J.; Gloria E. Brown, Bronx, N. Y.; Sheila V. Caesar, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Beatrice M. Gregory, Princeton, N. J.; Nancy J. Kirby, Haddonfield, N. J.; Betty J. Shropshire, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Tiner J. Spear, Bridgeport, Conn.; Mary A. Wilmer, Camden, N. J.

B.S.

Lillie B. Wright, Hewlett, N. Y.

A.B.

Joan E. Cogdell, Clarksville, Del.

B.S.

Jacqueline A. Ball, Philadelphia, Pa.; Hilda R. Harris, Philadelphia, Pa.

A.B.

ALABAMA, GEORGIA AND TEXAS: Sylvania Black, Marlin, Tex.; Rebecca L. Farris, Montgomery, Ala.; Maderia Young, Snow Hill, Ala.

B.S.

Betty L. Jemison, Milledgeville, Ga.; Faye V. McAllister, Houston, Texas.

A.B.

OHIO AND TENN.: Helen R. Houston, Nashville, Tenn.; Elizabeth L. Pope, South Pittsburg, Tenn.; Gwendolyn V. Bell, Cincinnati, Ohio.

A.B.

FOREIGN: Joan M. Didier, Jamaica, BWI; Una D. Estwick, Jamaica, BWI; Blanche Tukoku-Metzger, Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa.

HELENA HOWELL ELECTED PRESIDENT OF SENIOR CLASS FOR 1961 AT BENNETT

Miss Helena Howell, a biology major from Concord, N. C., was elected president of the 1961 senior class at Bennett College in balloting concluded last week.

Elected to serve with her were; vice president, Marian Simmons, Fayetteville; secretary, Saundra McBride, Sumter, S. C.; assistant secretary, Gail Peacock, Wilson, N. C.; treasurer, Melva Scott, Washington, D. C.; and parliamentarian, Betty Harley, Atlantic City, N. J.

Elected to lead next year's juniors was Miss Mary Frances Lane, of Mount Olive, N. C. Others elected were Jacqueline Florance, Greensboro, vice president; Janet Edwards, Spartanburg, S. C., secretary; Joyce Womble, Charlotte, assistant secretary; Gloria Lee, Tallahassee, Florida, treasurer; Delores Gray, Greensboro, chaplain and Patsy Gilreath, Wilkesboro, N. C., parliamentarian.

President of next year's sophomore class is Miss Sonja Green, of Philadelphia. Others officers are: Evelina Williams, Opa Locka, Florida, vice president; Shirley Satterfield, Princeton, N. J., secretary; Lucille Withers, Lynchburg, Va., assistant secretary; Carolyn Walker, New Haven, Conn., treasurer; Alice Airall, Kingston, Jamaica, chaplain, and Joyce Cheatham, Williamsburg, Va., parliamentarian.

Miss Linda Brown, rising senior, of Akron, Ohio was elected president of Alpha Kappa Mu and Miss Gwendolyn Mackel, of Chicago, Ill., was elected to head Sigma Rho Sigma. New president of the Science Seminar is Miss Gloria Keene, of Hampton, Va., while Miss LaRita Waters, of Jacksonville, Fla., is the new president of Omicron Eta Chi.

MISS B. T. METZGER SPEAKS AT VESPER SERVICES

Bennett College students were urged "not to be spendthrifts of life" and reminded that "hard work is the open door to all greatness," by Miss Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, of Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa as the seniors held their annual vesper service in Pfeiffer Chapel, Sunday.

The speaker, a member of the class who completed her work at the close of the first semester, stressed the importance of woman's role in world affairs and told the students what will be expected of them as future leaders.

"The good name of Bennett College," she said, "has been spread abroad through the lives of its graduates. We must, therefore, be living examples for good and not waste our time idly. Now is the time for us to reconsider what we want out of life and to work harder for our goals."

Although individuals eventually stop growing physically, they shuold continue to grow spiritually and mentally, Miss Tuboku-Metzger concluded.

Miss Jacqueline Herbin, of Greensboro, directed the choir in the singing of two anthems. Miss Gwendolyn Bell, of Cincinnati, Ohio, presided and Miss Jacqueline Ball, of Philadelphia, Pa., served as chaplain.

RECITAL PLANNED

Miss Jacqueline Herbin, soprano, of Greensboro, a senior voice major at Bennett College, will be presented in recital at 8 o'clock tonight in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Helena Howell leads seniors at Bennett

ebg 5/28/60

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Miss Helena Howell, a biology major from Concord, N.C., was elected president of the 1960 senior class at Bennett College, last week.

Elected to serve with her were vice president, Marian Simmons, Fayetteville; secretary, Saundra McBride, Sumter, S.C.; assistant secretary, Gail Peacock, Wilson, N.C.; treasurer, Melva Scott, Washington, D.C.; and parliamentarian, Betty Harley, Atlantic City, N.J.

ELECTED TO lead next year's juniors was Miss Mary Frances Lane, of Mount Olive, N.C.

Others elected were Jacqueline Florance, Greensboro, vice president; Janet Edwards, Spartanburg, S.C., secretary; Joyce Womble Charlotte, assistant secretary; Gloria Lee, Tallahassee, Florida, treasurer; Delores Gary, Greensboro, chaplain and Patsy Gilreath, Wilkesboro, N.C., parliamentarian.

PRESIDENT OF next year's sophomore class is Miss Sonja Green, of Philadelphia.

Other officers are:

Evelina Williams, Opa Lacka-Florida, vice president; Shirley Satterfield, Princeton, N.J., secretary; Lucille Withers, Lynchburg, Va., assistant secretary; Carolyn Walker, New Haven, Conn., treasurer; Alice Airall, Kingston, Jamaica, chaplain, and Joyce Cheatham, Williamsburg, Va., parliamentarian.

Miss Linda Brown, senior, of Akron, Ohio, was elected president of Alpha Kappa Mu and Miss Gwendolyn Mackel, of Chicago, Ill., was elected to head Sigma Rho Sigma. New president of the Science Seminar is Miss Gloria Keene, of Hampton, Va., while Miss La-Rita Waters, of Jacksonville, Fla., is the new president of Omicron Eta Chi.

GETTING DOWN TO CASES--Miss Margaret Bailey (head of table) rising senior from Fruitland, Md., and newly elected president of the Student Senate at Bennett College, formulates plans for next year with members of her cabinet and other top student leaders. From left to right, others in photo are Misses Gloria Williams, senate parliamentarian, of Winston-Salem, N. C.; Marian Isler, editor of the Bennett Banner, of Goldsboro, N. C.; Carolyn Bennett, representative to the central administrative committee, of Miami, Fla.; Nettie Crawford, assistant senate secretary, of Utica, N. Y.; Iris Jeffries, senate treasurer, of Burlington, N. C.; Roslyn Smith, senate secretary, of Princeton, Wa. Va. and Miss Bailey.

LOOKS GOOD TO ME---Miss Gloria Adams, Bennett College junior of Spring Garden, N. Y., seems to be saying this about her new blazer which cameraman, through a photographic trick, has her showing to herself at the Greensboro, N. C. school.

ALUMNAE COFFEE HOUR---Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, is flanked by Mrs. Zepplyn Averrett, left, president of the Bennett College Graduate Association and Mrs. Jean P. Haith, alumnae secretary, during recent coffee hour sponsored by the local group at the president's home.

DR. FRANK P. GRAHAM TO DELIVER BENNETT COMMENCEMNT ADDRESS — Scene of and principals in the 87th commencement exercises at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., May 29-30. Bishop Taylor will preach the baccalaureate sermon at 4 p.m. on May 29 in Pfeiffer Chapel and on May 30, at 10:30 a.m., Dr. Graham will deliver the commencement address. Dr. Player will preside on both occasions and confer degrees. Charlotte Observer Tribune

NATIONAL SOCIAL WHIRL

By Undine Davis Young

BENNETT College students were urged "not to be spendthrifts of life" and reminded that "hard work is the open door to all greatness," by Miss Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, of Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa as the seniors held their annual vesper service in Pfeiffer Chapel, Sunday.

The speaker, a member of the class who completed her work at the close of the first semester, stressed the importance of woman's role in world affairs and told the students what will be expected of them as future leaders.

"The good name of Bennett College," she said, "has been spread abroad through the lives of its graduates. We must, therefore, be living examples for good and not waste our time idly. Now is the time for us to reconsider what we want out of life and to work harder for our goals."

Although individuals eventually stop growing physically, they should continue to grow spiritually and mentally, Miss Tuboku-Metzger concluded.

Miss Jacqueline Herbin, of Greensboro, directed the choir in the singing of two anthems. Miss Gwendolyn Bell, of Cincinnati, Ohio, presided and Miss Jacqueline Ball, of Philadelphia, Pa., served as chaplain.

MISS TUBOKU-METZGER

MISS NANCY KIRBY

WHITNEY SCHOLAR — Miss Nancy Kirby, of Haddonfield, N. J., a senior psychology major at Bennett College, who has been awarded a John Hay Whitney fellowship for graduate study for the 1960-61 academic year.

ALL ABOUT BOOKS---Mrs. Constance Marteena, Bennett College librarian (extreme left) points out to students from Brown Smith High School some of the highlights of the college's exhibit at the recent book fair held at the Greensboro Coliseum. The Bennett booth contained nonfiction.

EDUCATION AND POLITICS---President Willa B. Player at Bennett College is flanked on left by State Senator Arthur Kirkman, of High Point and on right by Robert Campbell, of the Winston-Salem Journal, following their discussion on "The Significance for Education of the Issues and Candidates in the Gubernatorial Campaign." The discussion was the final Inter-Faculty Forum meeting this year.

The smiles on the faces of these four rising seniors at Bennett College can mean but one thing . . . They are now members of Beta Kappa Chi Science Honorary Society. Reading from left to right they are: Misses Jo Ann Martin of Leaksville, North Carolina, Carolyn Bennett of Miami, Fla., Iris Jeffries of Burlington, North Carolina and Helena Howell of Concord, North Carolina.

WHAT'S GOING ON HERE?—Curiosity of unidentified feline apparently was satisfied when it discovered that Sylvana Black, Bennett College senior, of Marlin, Tex., was just giving "Mr. K" (in her left hand) one of his many daily feedings. The tiny rabbit was the lone survivor of a litter found behind Kent residence hall, hence his name.

BENNETT COMMENCEMENT— Scene of and principals in the 87th commencement exercises at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., May 29-30. Bishop Taylor will preach the baccalaureate sermon at 4 p.m. on May 29 in Pfeiffer Chapel and on May 30, at 10:30 a.m., Dr. Graham will deliver the commencement address. Dr. Player will preside on both occasions and confer degrees.

SCENES AT BISHOP'S FUNERAL -- These are the final scenes at the funeral of retired Bishop Robert E. Jones of the Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church. The top photo shows the flower-bedecked casket as the family takes a final look at the Mount Zion Church, 2700 Louisiana Avenue. Center photo at left are, left to right, O. C. W. Taylor, Dr. Felton G. Clark, president, Southern University and Dr. Albert W. Dent, president, Dillard University. At the right, center photo, is a photo of the prelate as the body laid in state. Below is a portion of the honor guard of the local clergy standing as a passing throng reviewed the remains. (Porter Photos)

Retired Bishop Robert E. Jones, Dies At 88, Buried At Gulfside

By Marcus Neustadter, Jr.

Funeral services for retired Bishop Robert E. Jones of the Methodist Church were held here Monday from the Joseph P. Geddes Funeral Home, 2826 Danneel. Religious service was conducted in Mount Zion Methodist Church and burial was in Gulfside Assembly, Waveland, Miss.

Death came to the 88-year-old churchman who had been an associate of Booker T. Washington here Wednesday night in Flint-Goodridge Hospital, one of several institutions he was associated with during his lifetime. He had been rushed to the hospital only a few hours before his death from Gulfside Assembly at Waveland, an institute he founded which is operated by the Methodist church for religious, educational and recreational purposes.

Bishop Willis J. King, resident bishop of the New Orleans Area, Central Jurisdictional Conference, presided over the religious ceremonies, which was attended by several high ranking churchmen of The Methodist Church. Bishop J. W. E. Bowen, resident bishop, Atlantic Coast Area and Dr. George W. Carter, Jr., district superintendent, New Orleans, read the scriptures.

Bishop Edgar A. Love, resident bishop, Baltimore Area, delivered the eulogy and Dr. Matthew S. Davage, president-emeritus, Hutson-Tillotson college, read the obituary. Both described Bishop Jones as "a great church leader who was concerned with the development of his community and church."

Bishop W. Clair, Jr., resident bishop, St. Louis Area, asked the prayers and the Rev. Ira B. Loud, St. Paul Methodist Church, Dallas, Texas and The Rev. Robert F. Harrington, Mt. Zion Methodist Church, assisted in the funeral rites. The body was motored to Gulfside Assembly, Waveland, Miss., for burial on the grounds of the institution Bishop Jones founded and developed.

Bishop Jones was born in Greensboro, N. C., and earned his B. A. degree from Bennett College in his native city. His theological training was received at Gammon Seminary, Atlanta, which awarded him the B. D. degree.

He was ordained in 1893. The following year he was named assistant manager of the Southwestern Christian Advocate, and in 1904 he became the publication's editor. He held this post until his elevation to the episcopacy in 1920.

He was the first Negro to be elected by the Methodist church as a general superintendent of the whole church. Previously, Negro bishops had been assigned to missionary posts.

Bishop Jones was president of the first Negro Business League in Louisiana. He was instrumental in founding the Dryades Street Y.M.C.A. and played a prominent part in the establishment of the reorganized Flint-Goodridge Hospital at its present site.

He was particularly active in the inteest of Methodist-related colleges. He was one of the founding trustees of Dillard University here and sat on the boards of Philander Smith College, Little Rock, Ark.; Wiley College, Marshall, Texas; Samuel Hutson College, Austin, Texas, Rust College, Holly Springs, Miss., Bennett College and Gammon Theological seminary.

He was the founder of the Gulfside Assembly at Waveland, an institution operated by the Methodist church for religious, educational and recreational purposes.

In 1927 he was awarded the Harmon foundation's bronze medal for religious service, and in 1929 he received its gold medal. Honorary degrees were conferred upon him by Atlanta, New Orleans, Wesleyan, Howard and Lincoln universities, and Morgan college. He was a 33 degree Mason, Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, and until his retirement in 1944, was a member of many of his denomination's boards and commission.

Active pallbearers were Reverends LeRoy Fields, Clarence O. Greene, W. T. Handy, Jr., T. R. W. Harris, Tillman J. Howard, C. F. Jackson and Nathaniel P. Williams.

Honorary pallbearers were Rev. Walter Scott Chinn, Dr. Felton G. Clark, Dr. Charles Copher, Dr. Matthew S Davage, Dr. Albert W. Dent, Dr. Timothy B. Echols, Rev. Amos L. Holland, Rev. Ira B. Loud, Dr. Harry V. Richardson, Dr. Julius S. Scott, Sr.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown Jones; three daughters, Mrs. Grace Jones, Nashville, Tenn., and Mrs. Mary Broussard and Mrs. Catherine Knox, St. Louis, Mo., and two sons, Robert E. Jones, Jr., Greensboro, N. C., and Dr. William McDowell Jones, New Orleans.

MISS JEAN F. HAYES OF BENNETT RECIPIENT OF FACULTY SCHOLARSHIP

Miss Jean F. Hayes, of Winston-Salem, a rising senior at Bennett College, is the recipient of the annual faculty-staff scholarship ($250) for 1960-61.

This announcement was a highlight of the annual Honors Day program held in Pfeiffer Chapel on Friday. Miss Hayes, a foreign language major, lives with an aunt in Greensboro.

The Belle Tobias Scholarship ($75) awarded annually to the freshman considered to have made the most outstanding improvement during the year, went to Miss Carolyn Wright of Shelby, N. C., a biology major who was valedictorian of her high school class.

Miss Ann Florance was awarded the Lula Donnell Prize ($10) given annually to the Greensboro freshman considered to have made the most outstanding record, scholastic and otherwise, during the year.

The Good Prize ($25) for home economics, given annually to the sophomore or junior considered to exemplify best the characteristics of a model home economics student, was awarded to Miss Carolyn Cotten, of Tarboro, N. C.

Miss Nancy Kirby, of Haddonfiled, N. J., received the David D. Jones Leadership Award ($25) given annually to the senior adjudged to have exhibited the most outstanding qualities of leadership in the activities of the Union during the year.

Two science prizes—the Class of 1921 Prize ($5) and the Irma Graham Prize ($10) were awarded to Misses Doris Luck, of Asheboro, and Jo Ann Martin, of Leaksville, respectively, for excellence in science. Miss Gloria E. Brown, senior, of the Bronx, N. Y., president of the Student Senate, received the Florence Reeves Award ($20) given to the student who achieves most successfully in the area of race relations. The presentation was based upon the leadership role played by Miss Brown in the sit-in demonstrations at local variety store lunch counters.

Pins were awarded to 10 seniors who have served as marshals for two years, namely: Misses Millicent Allen, Philadelphia, Pa.; Sylvania Black, Marlin, Texas; Betty Crockett, Charlotte; Nancy Kirby, Haddonfield, N. J.; Catherine Lawson, Lexington, Va.; Louise Pittman, Charlotte; Willa Pullins, Charlotte; Delores Snellings, Raleigh; Juanita Spear, Bridgeport, Conn., and Maryann Wilmer, Camden, N. J.

Retired Methodist Bishop Jones Dies

NEW ORLEANS — Funeral services for retired Bishop Robert E. Jones of the Methodist Church were held from the Mt. Zion Methodist Church, with Bishop Willis J. King, resident Bishop, New Orleans area, presiding.

Bishop Jones

Bishop Edgar A. Love, Baltimore, Md., delivered the eulogy. Burial was at Gulfside Assembly, Waveland, Miss.

Bishop Jones, a pioneer in church and civic affairs, died here May 18, in Flint-Goodridge Hospital. He was 88 years old and had been in declining health for several years.

■

ORDAINED IN 1893, Bishop Jones was named assistant manager of the Southwestern Christian Advocate the following year. In 1904 he became the publication's editor and held the position until his elevation in 1920 to the Episcopacy.

• He was the first Negro to be elected by the Methodist Church as a general superintendent of the whole church. Negro Bishops previously had been assigned to missionary posts.

He was a close associate of Booker T. Washington, whom he assisted in many projects to raise the educational and economic levels of Negroes in the South.

Bishop Jones was president of the first Negro Business League in Louisiana and was instrumental in founding the Dryades St. YMCA nearly 60 years ago. He played an important role in the establishment of the reorganized Flint-Goodridge Hospital at its present site.

■

HE WAS PARTICULARLY active in the interest of Methodist-related colleges.

He was one of the founding trustees of Dillard University here and served on the boards of Philander Smith College, Little Rock, Ark.; Wiley College, Marshall, Tex.; Samuel Huston College, Austin, Tex.; Rust College, Holly Springs, Miss.; Bennett College, and Gammon Theological Seminary.

■

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown Jones; three daughters, Mrs. Grace Jones, Nashville, Tenn., and Mrs. Mary Broussard and Mrs. Catherine Knox, St. Louis, Mo., and two sons, Robert E. Jones Jr., Greensboro, N. C., and Dr. William McDowell Jones, New Orleans.

Bennett Prof To Attend UNC

GREENSBORO — Van S. Allen, biology instructor at Bennett College was notified this week that he has been selected as one of the 30 participants in the summer botany conference to be sponsored by the National Science Foundation at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, August 1-19.

Mr. Allen, who holds the M.S. degree from the University of Michigan and has done further study at Yale University, has been a member of the Bennett faculty since 1953.

Bishop R. E. Jones Succumbs At 88

NEW ORLEANS — Bishop Robert E. Jones of the Methodist church died here Thursday night at the age of 88.

Death occurred a few hours after he arrived in Flint-Goodridge hospital. He had been in declining health for several years.

Bishop Jones was born in Greensboro, N. C., and earned the B. A. degree from Bennett college in his native city. His theological training was received at Gammon seminary, Atlanta, which awarded him the B.D. degree.

Ordained in 1893, he was named assistant manager of the Southwestern Christian Advocate, and in 1904 became the publication's editor. He held this post until his elevation to the episcopacy in 1920.

He was the first Negro to be elected by the Methodist church as a general superintendent of the whole church. Previously, Negro bishops had been assigned to missionary posts.

KNEW BOOKER T.

Bishop Jones was closely associated with Booker T. Washington in many of his projects to raise the educational and economic levels of Negroes in the South. President of the first Negro Business League in Louisiana, he was instrumental in founding the Dryades Street YMCA and played a prominent part in the establishment of the reorganized Flint - Goodridge hospital in Waveland, Miss.

He was particularly active in the interest of Methodist-related colleges. He was one of the founding trustees of Dillard university here and sat on the boards of Philander Smith college, Little Rock, Ark.; Wiley college, Marshall, Tex.; Samuel Houston college, Austin, Tex., Rust college Hally Springs, Miss.; Bennett college and Gammon Theological seminary.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown Jones, and five children, Mrs. Grace Jones, Mrs. Mary Broussard, Robert E. Jones, jr., Mrs. Catherine Knox and Dr. William McDowell Jones.

Bennett Finals Family Affair

Three minister-fathers of graduating seniors will participate in baccalaureate and commencement programs at Bennett College Sunday and Monday.

The Rev. Atherton Didier, of Kingston, Jamaica, BWI, father of Joan Didier, will give the invocation at the commencement exercises and the Rev. W. H. Neal, pastor of First Nazareth Baptist Church, Columbia, S. C., father of Marilyn Neal, will pronounce the benediction.

The Rev. George Taylor, of Clarksville, Del., father of Joan Cogdell, will pronounce the benediction at the baccalaureate exercises.

GAVE BENNETT ADDRESS—Miss Blanche Tuboku - Metzger, of Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa, recently delivered the vesper address to the senior class, at the Greensboro, N. C. institution.

AN EVENING OF MUSIC AT BENNETT COLLEGE

"An Evening of Music" was presented by voice students at Bennett College in the Little Theatre, Friday night.

First half of the program consisted of solo numbers by Misses Joyce Collins, of New Orleans, La.; Joanne Craft, of Greenville, N. C.; Patricia Miles, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Thelma Spruill, of Greensboro.

Gian-Carlo Menotti's comic opera, "The Telephone," concluded the program, featuring Miss Robbie Walton, soprano, of Clarksville, Tenn., and Samuel Guy, baritone, of Greensboro.

Vocal direction was by Mrs. Mary M. Crawford and stage direction by F. Alan Eady.

BEGINS GRADUATION

Class Day Program Held At Bennett

Commencement activities at Bennett College got under way yesterday afternoon with the annual class day program in the Little Theater.

Greetings were extended by Mrs. Marie S. Moore, class president and salutatorian, of Winston-Salem, and the class history was given by Miss Betty Jo Wright, of Shelby. The class will was read by Miss Mary Boone of Sanford and the class prophecy was projected by Misses Rochelle Neal of Columbia, S.C., and Lillie Wright of Hewlett, N.Y.

Presentation of the class gift—a contribution to the student loan fund—was made to President Willa B. Player by Miss Juanita Owens of Petersburg, Va. Music included a vocal solo by Miss Jacqueline Herbin, a class motet and group singing by the entire class.

In the absence of Miss Blanche Tuboku-Metzger of Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa, class valedictorian, the farewell address was given by Mrs. Moore.

At 8 p.m. the Theater Guild presented "Hecuba" in the Little Theater, the production being moved indoors because of the threat of rain. Cast in the leading roles were Misses Esther Alexander of Wise and Ann Florance of Greensboro.

Closing event of the day was the junior-senior prom in the David D. Jones Student Union.

Today's activities include the meeting of the Graduate Association at 10 a.m., the All-Bennett luncheon at 1 p.m. and the choir concert at 8 p.m. Reunion classes to be honored at the 1935, 1940, 1945, 1950 and 1955.

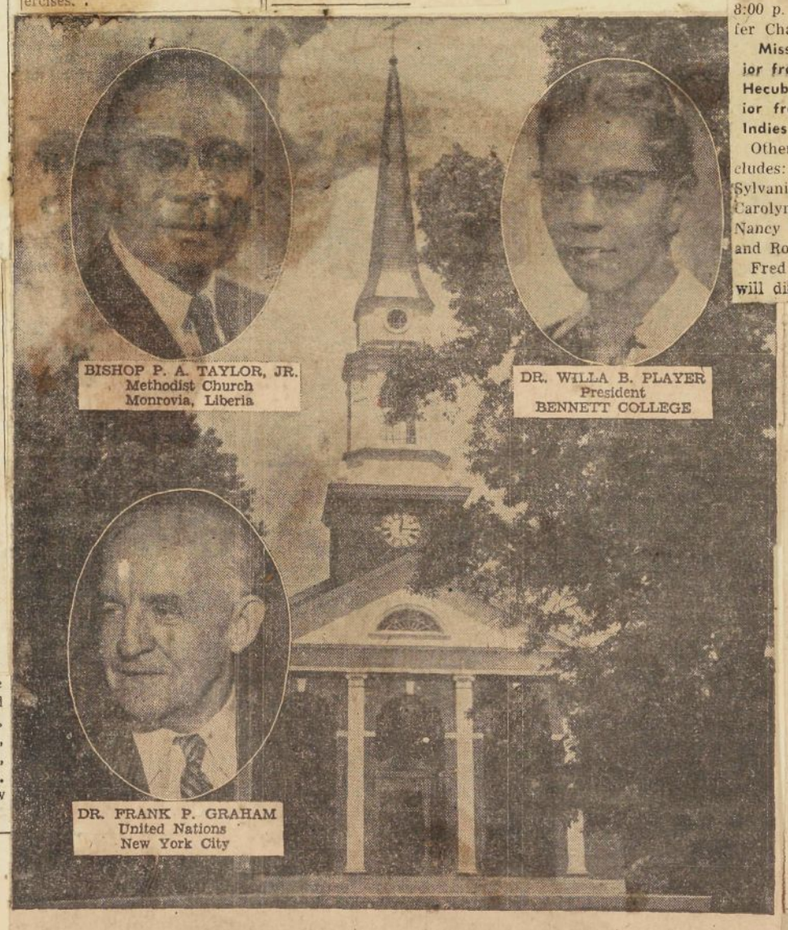
"HECUBA" CHOSEN AS SPRING DRAMA TO BE STAGED BY THESPIANS

GREENSBORO — "Hecuba," a tragedy by Euripedes, has been selected as the annual spring theatre production at Bennett College and will be presented on May 27, at 8:00 p. m. on the terrace of Pfeiffer Chapel.

Miss Esther Alexander, a junior from Wise, has been cast as Hecuba and Joan Didier, a senior from Jamaica, British West Indies as Polyxena.

Other members of the cast includes: Misses Hiawatha Foster, Sylvania Black, Norma Hampton, Carolyn Davis, Rebecca Farris, Nancy Lowe, Desretta McAllister, and Roslyn Smith.

Fred Eady, director of dramatics, will direct the production.



BISHOP P. A. TAYLOR, JR.
Methodist Church
Monrovia, Liberia

DR. WILLA B. PLAYER
President
BENNETT COLLEGE

DR. FRANK P. GRAHAM
United Nations
New York City

Principals In Bennett College Commencement

Shown above are the principals in the 87th commencement exercises at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., May 29-30. Bishop Taylor will deliver the baccalaureate sermon at 4 p. m. on May 29 in Pfeiffer Chapel. On May 30, at 10:30 a. m., Dr. Graham will deliver the commencement address. Dr. Player will preside on both occasions and confer degrees.

Bennett faculty cites Miss Hayes

GREENSBORO, N.C. —Miss Jean F. Hayes of Winston-Salem, a rising senior at Bennett College, is the recipient of the annual faculty - staff scholarship ($250) for 1960-61.

This announcement was a highlight of the annual Honors Day program held in Pfeiffer Chapel on Friday. Miss Hayes, a foreign languages major, lives with an aunt in Greensboro.

The Belle Tobias Scholarship ($75) awarded annually to the freshman considered to have made the most outstanding improvement during the year, went to Miss Carolyn Wright of Shelby, a biology major who was valedictorian of her high school class.

MISS ANN FLORANCE was awarded the Lula Donnell Prize ($10) given annually to the Greensboro freshman considered the most outstanding, scholastic and otherwise, during the year.

The Good Prize ($25) for home economics, given annually to the sophomore or junior considered to exemplify best the characteristics of a model home economics student, was awarded to Miss Carolyn Cotton, of Tarboro.

Miss Nancy Kirby of Haddonfield, N.J., received the David D. Jones Leadership Award ($25) given annually to the senior adjudged to have exhibited the most outstanding qualities of leadership in the activities of the Union during the year.

TWO SCIENCE prizes —the Class of 1921 Prize ($5) and the Irma Graham Prize ($10) were awarded to Misses Doris Luck of Asheboro and Jo Ann Martin of Leaksville respectively for excellence in science.

Miss Gloria E. Brown, senior, of the Bronx, N.Y., president of the Student Senate, received the Florence Reeves Award ($20) given to the student who achieves most successfully in the area of race relations.

Pins were awarded to 10 seniors who have served as marshals for two years, namely: Misses Millicent Allen, Philadelphia; Sylvania Black, Marlin, Texas; Betty Crockett, Charlotte; Nancy Kirby, Haddonfield, N.J.; Catherine Lawson, Lexington, Va.; Louise Pittman, Charlotte; Willa Pullins, Charlotte; Delores Snellings, Raleigh; Juanita Spear, Bridgeport, Conn., and Maryann Wilmer, Camden, N.J.

ALL-BENNETT LUNCHEON TO BE HELD

Members of the classes of 1930, 1935, 1940, 1945, 1950, and 1955 will be honored at the annual All-Bennett Luncheon which will be held here on Saturday, May 28 in the David D. Jones Student Union.

A full schedule of activities has been planned, beginning with the meeting of the Graduate Association at 10 a.m. and ending with the campus illumination at 9:30 p.m. The annual choir concert will be held in the chapel this year, beginning at 8 p.m.

Sunday, May 29 at 9:30 a.m., the National Council of Bennett Parents will hold its annual meeting. The president's reception will be held at 8 p.m. at the President's Home.

TO HEAD BENNETT UPPER CLASSES—Elected to lead their classes at Bennett College for the 1960-61 school year are, left to right: Sonja Green, sophomore, Philadelphia; Mary F. Lane, junior, Mt. Olive, N.C., and Helena Howell, senior, Concord, N.C.

The Greensboro Record

Page 1—Section B

Monday, May 30, 1960

Dr. Graham Praises Negro Students Here For 'Sit-Down' Move

BY DOROTHY ANN BENJAMIN
Record Staff Writer

Dr. Frank Porter Graham, educator and statesman, today called for a rededication of all Americans to equal freedom under law and human brotherhood under God in this atomic age.

"It is a matter of pride to me that this newest youth movement (the student sit-down demonstrations) in our land had its origins, not in Moscow, but in North Carolina," he told the audience at the 87th commencement exercises at Bennett College.

Dr. Graham, former president of the University of North Carolina and now a United Nations mediator, said this movement has its head waters in the Judean hills and its sources in the American revolution.

He stated that the educated Negro college youth were more aware of the remnants of discrimination in North Carolina and "started a youth movement with the lawful petition that stores selling to the public should provide the same quality and quantity of service to all people."

Dr. Graham described the student demonstrators as having "the Bible in their hands; the national anthem on their lips and non-violence in their hearts" and offered a hope of a future where the majority of citizens were without tyranny and the minority without fear.

He urged the Bennett graduates to struggle for "a fairer America. . . . We, in this critical hour, must rise to the responsibility of our greatness."

"The collapse of the Summit conference must cause us to remember that the United Nations is an institution not to be bypassed by the great powers but should be a forum of the great powers. It is fortunate that it again became a world forum where the delegates could blow off steam and shout at each other instead of the youth of the land shooting each other on the battlefield.

"The people of the United States learned the hard way that isolation would not keep them out of war. They learned that keeping out of the League of Nations did not keep them out of World War II. They decided to be in the UN and try to prevent World War III," he said.

Dr. Graham pointed out that although the UN is only 11 years old and has only moral power it has helped prevent World War III and "helped cool off six hot spots" in the world.

"We are having it emphatically borne in upon us in these crucial days that the UN must be strengthened," he said and called for effective universal disarmament, an international police force, bold long-range economic programs, establishing the jurisdiction of the UN over problems in outer space and in ocean beds beyond continental shores and greater use of the world court.

However, he reminded his audience that while "we are looking world-ward, we must also look homeward. We need in our own America a rebaptizing in the principles and meaning of the American revolution . . . that our proclamations and declarations are the present and living source of America's faith in herself."

Dr. Graham stated that while the principle of states' rights had a noble origin it has become, in this time, the massive armament of massive resistance—"states' rights should also be the states' responsibility for equal dignity and freedom of all people."

Blanche Laura Adesina Tuboku-Metzger of Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa, was named valedictorian and Marie Solomon Moore of Winston-Salem as salutatorian of the Class of 1960.

Other honors went to Nancy Joanne Kirby of Haddonfield, N. J., John Hay Whitney Fellowship; Carolyn Lee Wright of Shelby, Belle Tobias Scholarships; Ann Dodd Florance of Greensboro, Lula Donnell Prize; Doris Ann Luck of Asheboro, Class of 1921 Prize; Jo Ann Martin of Leaksville, Irma Graham Prize; Carolyn Lee Cotten of Tarboro, Goode Prize For Home Economics; Ida Theresa Kearney of Greensboro and Clifford Ann Claye of Houston, Texas, Omicron Eta Chi Awards; Nancy Joanne Kirby, David D. Jones Leadership Award; Jean Ferrell Hayes of Winston-Salem, Faculty Scholarship Award and Gloria Eugenia Brown of Bronx, N. Y., Florence Turverey Reeves Award.

Sixty-seven bachelor of arts and bachelor of science degrees were awarded. Dr. Willa B. Player, president, officiated and the invocation was offered by Rev. Atherton Didier of Kingston, Jamaica, father of one of the graduates.

(Record Staff Photo)
DR. FRANK P. GRAHAM AND DR. WILLA PLAYER
United Nations Mediator Speaks At Bennett College

BENNETT COMMENCEMENT---Scene of and principals in the 87th commencement exercises at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., May 29-30. Bishop Taylor will preach the baccalaureate sermon at 4 p.m. on May 29 in Pfeiffer Chapel and on May 30, at 10:30 a.m., Dr. Graham will deliver the commencement address. Dr. Player will preside on both occasions and confer degrees.

N. C. BENNETT GRADS — Members of the 1960 graduating class at Bennett College who come from cities and towns in North Carolina and are scheduled to receive degress on May 30.

Annual All-Bennett Luncheon

Members of the classes of 1930, 1935, 1940, 1945, 1950, and 1955 will be honored at the annual All-Bennett Luncheon which will be held here on Saturday, May 28 in the David D. Jones Student Union.

A full schedule of activities has been planned, beginning with the meeting of the Graduate Association at 10 a. m. and ending with the campus illumination at 9:30 p. m. The annual choir concert will be held in the chapel this year, beginning at 8 p. m.

Sunday, May 29 at 9:30 a. m., the National Council of Bennett Parents will hold its annual meeting. The president's reception will be held at 8 p. m. at the president's home.

Spring Fashion Show Staged At Greensboro

GREENSBORO — The annual spring fashion show sponsored by clothing students at Bennett College was held Thursday night in the Little Theatre.

Built around the theme, "Modes Internationales," the show featured garments from the beginning clothing, tailoring and design classes. The show was spiced with Spanish, French, German and Italian commentators, designs and talent.

Male models from the tailoring department at A and T College were able escorts and were appropriately dressed in suits that they had tailored with the "Continental Look."

Winner of the top prize was Miss Carolyn Cotten, of Tarboro, who received the Streat Award. In second place was Miss Gracie Jones, of Lepoir. Earning honorable mention were Misses Edwina Coleman, of Charlotte; Nancy Lowe, of Kernersville, and Arneese Woods, of Darlington, S. C.

Another highlight of the evening was the presentation to Miss Alma Pinnix, rising junior, of the two-year Scott Foundation Scholarship by Mrs. Enid Smallwood, home economist with the company.

DAILY NEWS

CITY AND GENERAL NEWS
SPORTS AND CLASSIFIED ADS

(Daily News staff photo.)
SPEAKER AND COLLEGE OFFICIALS
Dr. Frank Porter Graham, right, speaker at Bennett College graduation exercises, walks to the Bennett College chapel with two college officials. Shown with him are Dr. Willa B. Player, college president, and Dr. C. G. Winston, chairman of the social science department at Bennett.

Sitdown Protests In State Praised By Frank Graham

BY CONRAD PAYSOUR
Daily News Staff Writer

Dr. Frank Porter Graham, a United Nations mediator, said yesterday he is proud of the sitdown demonstrations against segregated lunch counters "had their origins in North Carolina."

Dr. Graham, former University of North Carolina president, made the statement in speaking at Bennett College's 87th commencement exercises.

While the college itself is not connected with the demonstrations, individual Bennett students have played an active part in the movement which began here and has since spread throughout the South.

In mentioning the demonstrations, Dr. Graham called it a movement "with the lawful petition that stores selling to the public should provide the same quality and quantity of service to all people."

Memorial Day Noted

Noting that yesterday was Memorial Day, Dr. Graham called on the graduating students to do their part to strengthen the principles on which this country was founded.

He also urged them to do their part towards making the United Nations a stronger body.

Dr. Graham said the collapse of the Summit Conference has "caused us to remember that the United Nations . . . is not to be by-passed by the great nations of the world."

As an aftermath of the summit break-up, the U.N. has once again become a world forum "where delegates shout at each other instead of millions of youths shooting at each other," he said.

Calls On Graduates

He called on the graduates to do their part in helping the U.N. toward accomplishing disarmament, a worldwide police force, new economic development and the establishment of jurisdiction over outer space and ocean beds beyond continental shores.

Dr. Graham, a former U. S. ...tor from North Carolina, said ... is proud of the progress the South has made.

He said he believed he was the first to dig up the fact that while only one-tenth of the Negroes of the world are in this country, there are more Negroes in college here than in the rest of the world combined.

He called states rights and political monopolies two great barriers toward complete human equality.

State Rights Abused

Dr. Graham said that while he himself believes states rights are a good thing as they were conceived in the early days of this country, they have now been abused.

"States rights have been used as excuses for slavery in the South, corporate privilege in the north . . . and in our days as massive resistance to the U.S. Supreme Court decisions which are now the law of the land," he said.

Dr. Graham said the second stumbling block to complete human equality has been political monopolies. He recalled there have been times in this country when people could not vote or hold office because they were Jews, Catholics, or Negroes.

After awarding degrees to 67 graduates, president of the college Dr. Willa B. Player said, "I hope you have received a sense of personal adequacy."

She said she hoped too, that their study at Bennett would help them to stand on their own "two feet and be articulate about the world's problems."

Blanche Laura Adesina Tuboku-Metzgar of Freetown, Sierra Leone in West Africa was valedictorian of the class. Marie Solomon Moore of Winston-Salem was salutatorian.

Honors Announced

Other recipients of honors were:

Nancy Joanne Kirby of Haddonfield, N.J., John Hay Whitney Fellowship; Carolyn Lee Wright of Shelby, Belle Tobias Scholarship; Ann Dod Florance of Greensboro, Lula Donnell prize; Doris Ann Luck of Asheboro, Class of 1921 prize; Jo Ann Martin of Leaksville, Irma Graham prize; Carolyn Lee Cotten of Tarboro, Goode prize for home economics; Ida Theresa Kearney of Greensboro and Clifford Anne Claye of Houston, Tex.; Omicron Eta Chi Awards; Nancy Joanne Kirby, David D. Jones leadership award; Jean Ferrell Hayes of Winston-Salem, faculty soholarship award and Gloria Eugenia Brown of Bronx, N.Y., Florence Turverey Reeves award.

Bennett Gets Cash Gifts Of $3,258

Cash gifts totaling $3,258, were presented to President Willa B. Player by graduates attending the annual All-Bennett luncheon at the college yesterday.

Largest gift—a check for $1,000—was made by the Greensboro alumni chapter. The Delaware Valley chapter, composed of alumni living in Philadelphia and Chester, Pa., and Wilmington, Del., who arrived by bus 35-strong—was next with a gift of $550. Graduates unaffiliated with any chapter gave a total of $735. Mrs. Fannie Lea Hinnant, of Greensboro, president of the National Bennett Alumni Association, made the presentations.

Reunion classes honored were those of 1930, 1935, 1940, 1945, 1950 and 1955, with the latter two tied for having the largest representation of returning alumni.

The graduates attended the annual choir concert in Pfeiffer Chapel last night, following which they participated in the campus illumination ceremonies.

A meeting of the National Council of Bennett Parents is set for 9:30 a.m. today.

At 4 p.m., the baccalaureate services will be held in Pfeiffer Chapel, with Bishop P. A. Taylor Jr., of the Monrovia, Liberia Area of the Methodist Church and a trustee of the college, speaker.

67 TO GET DEGREES

Bishop Gives Sermon At Bennett College

[List of graduates on A3.]

America needs to regain the sense of human dignity and of the sacredness of the human personality, Bishop P. A. Taylor Jr., declared in his baccalaureate sermon at Bennett College yesterday.

Bishop Taylor, a trustee of the college, who presides over the Monrovia Area of the Methodist Church in Liberia, West Africa, spoke on "While It Is Day."

"It is tragic indeed," he said, "that at this crucial moment in world history, when the moral leadership of America is so much needed, she should find herself preoccupied with racial segregation and unable to effectively demonstrate the principles of the Declaration of Independence which inspired the founding fathers and once gave hope to freedom-living people around the world."

The speaker pointed out that Western civilization has too long taken for granted that it is a panacea for the ills of the world and has sought to impose its stamp upon people of a different cultural pattern.

Commencement activities will reach their climax at 10:30 this morning when Dr. Frank P. Graham, United Nations mediator of New York City, will address the 67 graduates and President Willa B. Player will confer degrees.

Bennett receives $3,258 in donations

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Cash gifts totaling $3,258 were presented to President Willa B. Player for Bennett College by graduates attending the annual All-Bennett luncheon on campus last Saturday.

Largest gift — a check for $1,000 was made by the Greensboro alumni chapter. The Delaware Valley chapter, composed of alumni living in Philadelphia Chester, Pa., and Wilmington, Del., who arrived by bus 35 - strong — was next with a gift of $550.

Graduates unaffiliated with any chapter gave a total of $735. Mrs. Fannie Lea Hinnant of Greensboro, president of the National Bennett Alumni Association, made the presentations.

Reunion classes honored were 1930, 1935, 1940, 1945, 1950 and 1955, with the latter two tied for having the largest representation of returning alumni.

DR. FRANK GRAHAM
Bennett Speaker

A HAND FOR THE GRADUATES — Members of the 1960 graduating class at Bennett College are applauded by members of the faculty and staff as they leave Phieffer Chapel following the 87th commencement exercises last week.

NORTH CAROLINA BENNETT GRADUATES—Members of the 1960 graduating class at Bennett College who come from cities and towns in North Carolina and are scheduled to receive degrees on May 30 at the school's 87th Commencement.

BENNETT QUEEN AND COURT — Miss Yvonne McBride of Sumter, S.C., poses with members of her court following May Day exercises at Bennett College, Saturday. To her immediate right is Miss Hattie Green of Ivy, Va., maid of honor. Class representatives, left to right, are Misses Lucy Martin, senior, Reidsville, N.C.; Shirley Dismulke, junior, Vandergrift, Pa.; Patricia Hawkins, sophomore, Athens, Ga.; Shirley Satterfield, freshman, Princeton, N.J.; Willa Harris, freshman, Columbia, S.C.; Patricia Williams, sophomore, Wadesboro, N.C.; Kay Henry, junior, Greensboro, N.C.; and Gladys Hemingway, senior, Georgetown, S.C.

FASHION SHOW CLOTHING SPONSORED BY STUDENTS AT BENNETT

The annual spring fashion show sponsored by clothing students at Bennett College was held Thursday night in the Little Theatre.

Built around the theme, "Modse Internationales," the show featured garments from the beginning clothing, tailoring and design classes. The show was spiced with Spanish, French, German and Italian commentators, designs and talent.

Male models from the tailoring department at A&T College, were able escorts and were appropriately dressed in suits that they had tailored with the "Continental Look."

Winner fo the top prize was Miss Carolyn Cotten, of Tarboro, who received the Stuart Award. In second place was Miss Gracie Jones, of Lenoir. Earning honorable mention were Misses Edwina Coleman, of Charlotte; Nancy Lowe, of Kernersville, N. C., and Arneese Woods, of Darlington, S. C.

Another highlight of the evening was the presentation to Miss Alma Pinnix, rising junior, of the two-year Scott Foundation Scholarship by Mrs. Enid Smallwood, home economist with the company.

THESE FOUR SENIORS at Bennett College have been elected to Beta Kappa Chi science honorary society. Left to right are Misses Jo Ann Martin of Leaksville, N.C., Carolyn Bennett of Miami, Fla., Iris Jeffries of Burlington, N.C. and Helena Howell of Concord, N.C.

Award Aid To Bennett Senior

GREENSBORO, N. C.—Miss Jean F. Hayes, of Winston-Salem, a senior at Bennett college, is the recipient of the annual faculty-staff scholarship of $250 for 1960-61.

This announcement was a highlight of the annual Honors Day program. Miss Hayes, a foreign languages major, lives with a.t aunt in Greensboro.

The Belle Tobias Scholarship, awarded annually to the freshman considered to have made the most outstanding improvement during the year, went to Miss Carolyn Wright of Shelby, N. C., a biology major, who was valedictorian of her high school class.

BENNETT SENIOR CLASS — Members of the 1960 graduating class at Bennett College, Greensboro, who are scheduled to receive degrees at the 87th commencement exercises on May 30, posed for photographer in front of Pfeiffer Chapel.

Students Win Prizes, Awards At Bennett's Honors Day

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Miss Jean F. Hayes, of Winston-Salem, a rising senior at Bennett College, is the recipient of the annual faculty-staff scholarship ($250) for 1960-61.

This announcement was a highlight of the annual Honors Day program held in Pfeiffer Chapel last week. Miss Hayes, a foreign languages, major, lives with an aunt in Greensboro.

THE BELLE Tobias scholarship ($75) awarded annually to the freshman considered to have made the most outstanding improvement during the year, went to Miss Carolyn Wright of Shelby, N. C., a biology major who was valedictorian of her high school class.

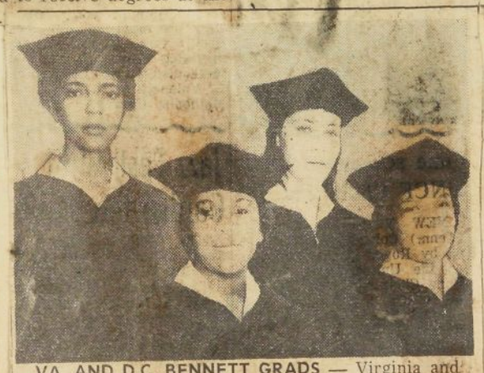
Miss Ann Florance was awarded the Lula Donnell Prize ($10) given annually to the Greensboro freshman considered to have made the most outstanding record, scholastic and otherwise, during the year.

THE GOOD Prize ($25) for home economics, given annually to the sophomore or junior considered to exemplify best the characteristics of a model home economics student, was awarded to Miss Carolyn Cotten, of Tarboro, N. C.

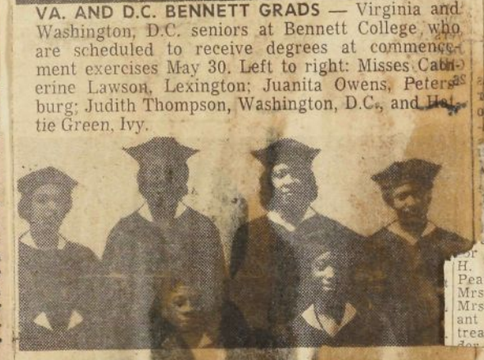
Miss Nancy Kirby, of Haddonfield, N. J., received the David D. Jones Leadership Award ($25) given annually to the senior adjudged to have exhibited the most outstanding qualities of leadership in the activities of the Union during the year.

TWO SCIENCE prizes - the Class of 1921 Prize ($5) and the Irma Graham Prize ($10) were awarded to Misses Doris Luck, of Asheboro, and Jo Ann Martin, of Leaksville, respectively, for excellence in science. Miss Gloria E. Brown, senior, of the Bronx, N. Y., president of the Student Senate, received the Florence Reeves Award ($20) given to the student who achieves most successfully in the area of race relations. The presentation was based upon the leadership role played by Miss Brown in the sit-in demonstrations at local variety store lunch counters.

PINS WERE awarded to 10 seniors who have served as marshals for two years, Misses Millicent Allen, Philadelphia, Pa.; Sylvania Black, Marlin, Tex.; Betty Crockett, Charotte; Nancy Kirby, Haddonfield, N. J.; Catherine Lawson, Lexington, Va.; Louise Pittman, Charlotte; Willa Pullins, Charlottee; Delores Snellings, Raleigh; Juanita Spear, Bridgeport, Conn., and Maryann Wilmer, Camden, N. J.



VA. AND D.C. BENNETT GRADS — Virginia and Washington, D.C. seniors at Bennett College, who are scheduled to receive degrees at commencement exercises May 30. Left to right: Misses Catherine Lawson, Lexington; Juanita Owens, Petersburg; Judith Thompson, Washington, D.C., and Hettie Green, Ivy.



S.C. BENNETT GRADS — Scheduled to receive degrees at the 87th commencement at Bennett College on May 30 are these seniors from South Carolina. Left to right, front row: Misses Gloria Greene, Timmonsville; Pearl Gibbs, Monacks Corner; Gwendolyn Pyatt, Charleston; Barbara Mitchell, Walterboro. Back row: Misses Marilyn Neal, Columbia; Gladys Hemingway, Georgetown; Alma Washington, Beaufort and Arneese Woods, Darlington.

Awarded Whitney Fellowship

Miss Nancy J. Kirby, of Haddonfield, N. J., a June graduate of Bennett College has been awarded a John Hay Whitney fellowship for graduate study next year.

Miss Kirby, the daughter of Mrs. James A. Armstead Jr., will pursue work in clinical and research psychology at the University of Chicago or at Syracuse University, beginning in September. Her all expense award is renewable.

At Bennett, Miss Kirby, an honor roll student, served this year as president of the David D. Jones Student Union and as secretary of the dance grup.

Miss Jean Hayes Recipient Of Faculty-Staff Honors

GREENSBORO — Miss Jean F. Hayes, of Winston-Salem, a rising senior at Bennett College, is the recipient of the annual faculty-staff scholarship ($250) for 1960-61.

This announcement was a highlight of the annual Honors Day program held in Pfeiffer Chapel on Friday. Miss Hayes, a foreign language major, lives with an aunt in Greensboro.

The Belle Tobias Scholarship ($75) awarded annually to the freshman considered to have made the most outstanding improvement during the year, went to Miss Carolyn Wright of Shelby, a biology major who was valedictorian of her high school class.

Miss Ann Florance was awarded the Lula Donnell Prize ($10) given annually to the Greensboro freshman considered to have made the most outstanding record, scholastic and otherwise, during the year.

The Good Prize ($25) for home economics, given annually to the sophomore or junior considered to exemplify best the characteristics of a model home economics student, was awarded to Miss Carolyn Cotten, of Tarboro, N. C.

Miss Nancy Kirby, of Haddonfield, N. J., received the David D. Jones Leadership Award ($25) given annually to the senior adjudged to have exhibited the most outstanding qualities of leadership in the Union during the year.

Two science prizes - the Class of 1921 Prize ($5) and the Irma Graham Prize ($10) were awarded to Misses Doris Luck, of Aseboro, and Jo Ann Martin, of Leaksville, respectively, for excellence in science. Miss Gloria E. Brown, senior, of the Bronx, N. Y., president of the Student Senate, received the Florence Reeves Award ($20) given to the student who achieves most successfully in the area of race relations. The presentation was based upon the leadership role played by Miss Brown in the sit-in demonstrations at local variety store lunch counters.

Pins were awarded to 10 seniors who have served as marshals for two years, namely: Miss Millecent Allen, Philadelphia, Pa.; Sylvania Black, Marlin, Texas; Betty Crockett, Charlotte; Nancy Kirby, Haddonfield, N. J.; Catherine Lawson, Lexington, Va.; Louise Pittman, Charlotte; Willa Pullins, Charlotte; Delores Snellings, Raleigh; Juanita Spear, Bridgeport, Conn., and Maryann Wilmer, Camden, N. J.

To Give Recital

Miss Jacqueline Herbin, soprano, of Greensboro, N. C., staged her senior recital in Pfeiffer Chapel, Bennett College recently. Featured were works by Handel, Guion and Monteverde and spiritual arrangements by H. T. Burleigh and R. Nathaniel Dett.

Bennett Students Choose Leaders For Year '60-'61

GREENSBORO — Bennett College student leaders for 1960-61 were told Sunday, that "where there is no faith in the future, there is no power in the present."

The occasion was the anniversary of student organization and the speaker was the Rev. Jameson Jones, of Nashville, Tenn., editor of Motive magazine, published by the Board of Education of the Methodist Church.

"Some of us", said the Rev. Mr. Jones, "caught between the no longer and the not yet, are inclined to wait passively for the new world to come. What we need to do is to grasp the significance of today-the reality of the present and to do something with it."

The minister told the leaders that they are apostles and saints in thier new responsibilities and that their jobs may often require the courage that others lack.

"As apostles," he pointed out, "you must be faithful and loyal, possess spiritual power and courage. As saints, you must have commitment, vision and timing."

He called attention to the situation in Nashville, where the work of students, ministers and other interested persons who possessed these qualities, has resulted in the integration of downtown eating facilities, while those who were those who a few weeks ago, were saying it couldn't be done.

Gooding

MEDIATOR MEETS GRADUATE — Dr. Frank P. Graham greets Mayor Solomon Moore of Winston-Salem.

Practice Brotherhood, Frank Graham Urges

By Luix Overbea
Staff Reporter

GREENSBORO—America needs a rebaptism in the principles of brotherhood and freedom, Dr. Frank P. Graham, United Nations mediator, said yesterday as he addressed the 87th commencement at Bennett College.

Speaking on the topic "This Day of Remembrance and This Day of Hope," Dr. Graham called on the graduates and all Americans to support the ideals of the American revolution and the ideals of the United Nations. He praised the lunch counter sitdown protests.

Dr. Graham, the former president of the University of North Carolina and a former U. S. senator,

Cites "Barriers"

"Looking homeward," Dr. Graham said, "we find that America needs a rebaptism in the [illegible] and principles of the American revolution. We must make [illegible] ourselves and the world that [illegible] great declarations, decisions and documents for freedom are only part of the past, but are a growing force for America's future heritage."

He listed two "barriers to freedom" in America:

—States' rights: States rights, he said, founded against federal tyranny, are now used as "massive armament and massive resistance" against dignity and freedom to all citizens. "States' rights should become states' privileges to enforce dignity, freedom and opportunity for all."

—Political monopoly of exclusive American groups: He described this as a technique of limiting the voting and political power in America to certain groups. "The technique of evasion and exclusion today are the last stand against democracy in our land." He noted that at first in America the vote was denied to virtually all but white Protestant males, but since then the vote has extended to include women and other groups.

Praising North Carolina as a citadel of freedom in America, Dr. Graham said, "It is not historically strange that the newest youth movement (apparently the sitdown movement) in our land had its origin in North Carolina, not in Moscow.

The Negro college youth in North Carolina, he said, were aware of "the remnants of discrimination" and "started a youth movement with the lawful petition that stores selling to the public should provide the same quality and quantity of service to all people."

Player Presides

Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett, presided, introduced the speaker and awarded B.S. and B.A. degrees to 67 graduates. She also gave her charge to the class.

She said she hoped their college study gave them a sense of adequacy, whetted their appetites for more knowledge and encouraged them to give service to others.

Mrs. Marie Solomon Moore of Winston-Salem was salutatorian of the class, finishing second to Blanche Laura Adesina Tubuku-Metzer of Freetown, Sierra Leone, in West Africa.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Solomon of 1205 N. Jackson Avenue, Mrs. Moore also was president of the class and elected to Alpha Kappa Mu honor society and "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

She is married to Second Lt. Bobby Moore of New Britain, Conn. They have a son, Bobby Jr. Mrs. Moore is a 1955 graduate of Atkins High School in Winston-Salem.

Miss Dorothy Gwendolyn McMillan of Winston-Salem also was graduated.

On The Campus

AT BENNETT

Final musical event of the year at Bennett College was the annual choir concert Friday night, which featured as guest soloist, Miss Lady Ann Shivers '59, now studying at the Westminister Choir College, Princeton, N. J., Mrs. Mary [illegible] Crawford directed.

Miss Shivers, native of Aberdeen, N.C., sang "Adieu Forets" (Farewell to the Forests) by Tchaikovsky from the opera "Jeanne D'Arc." She was also soloist with the voice choir in the rendition of Wm. W. Work's "You Must Walk Humble in the East."

Under the direction of Miss Linda Brown, senior, of Akron, Ohio, the choir gave a moving interpretation of "Naomi and Ruth." Castelmore-Tedesco's "Psalm 23," sung by Miss Carolyn Davis, rising senior of Cincinnati, Ohio, students' director, was on the podium as the group sang "Through the Years."

Cash gifts totaling $3,258, were presented to Bennett President Willa B. Player by graduates attending the annual All-Bennett luncheon at the college Saturday.

Largest gift — a check for $1,000 — was made by the Greensboro alumni chapter. The Delaware Valley chapter, composed of alumni living in Philadelphia and Chester, Pa., and Wilmington, Del., who arrived by bus 35-strong, was next with a gift of $550. Graduates unaffiliated with any chapter gave a total of $735. Mrs. Fannie Lee Hinnant, of Greensboro, president of the National Bennett Alumni Association, made the presentations.

Reunion classes honored were those of 1930, 1935, 1940, 1945, 1950 and 1955, with the latter two tied for having the largest representation of returning alumni.

TEARS AS USUAL — The traditional tears of joy shed by Bennett graduates at commencement time were no less in evidence this year. Misses Willa Pullins and Betty Crockett, both of Charlotte, are being consoled by junior schoolmates following the 87th commencement of Bennett College last week.

Scenes In Bennett Commencement

BISHOP P. A. TAYLOR, JR.
Methodist Church
Monrovia, Liberia

DR. WILLA B. PLAYER
President
BENNETT COLLEGE

DR. FRANK P. GRAHAM
United Nations
New York City

Houston Informer 5/14/60

Scenes in the 87th commencement exercises at Bennett College, Greensboro, N C, May 29-30. Bishop Taylor will preach the baccalaureate sermon at 4 p m on May 29 in Pfeiffer Chapel (lower right) and on May 30, at 10:30 a m, Dr Graham will deliver the commencement address. Dr Player will preside for both occasions and confer degrees.

Talks To Students About Job Opportunities

Miss Roberta Church of Washington, D. C., consultant for minority groups in the U. S. Department of Labor, points out to these Bennett College students some of the many employment opportunities now open to them. Reading from left are: Misses Hiawatha Foster, senior, of Charlotte; Yvonne Redcross, rising senior, of Hampton, Va., and Eunice Hawkins, rising senior, of Brandywine, Md.

THE NATIONAL FOTO-NEWS, Saturday, June 4, 1960

A HAND FOR THE GRADUATES — Members of the 1960 graduating class at Bennett College are applauded by members of the faculty and staff as they leave Pfeiffer Chapel following the 87th commencement exercises last week.

NEW BENNETT FACULTY-STAFF---Shown here are 13 of the 21 new persons added to the faculty and staff at Bennett College for the 1959-1960 academic year. Left to right, front row, Mrs. Dorothea C. Wright, English; Miss Phyllis Henry, co-curricular activities; Miss Janie Graves, clerical; Miss Willa Taylor, dormitory personnel director; second row, Charles I. Brown, social sciences; Dr. Eunice S. Newton, director of the reading center, Mrs. Lily Keleti, piano; Mrs. Nelly Curten, dance; Miss Rosa Martin, dormitory personnel director; P. Mack Walker, science; back row, John F. Hatchett, religion and philosophy, and Misses Arnetta Fagan and Nannie Hughes, dormitory personnel directors.

BENNETT "MOTHER OF THE YEAR"---Mrs. Susie W. Jones, director of admissions and counselor to freshmen at Bennett College who was chosen campus "Mother of the Year", has corsage pinned on her by Miss Hiawatha Foster, of Charlotte, superintendent of the church school where Mrs. Jones was honored recently.

ALL ABOUT JOBS---Miss Roberta Church of Washington, D. C., consultant for minority groups in the U. S. Department of Labor, points out to these Bennett College students some of the many employment opportunities now open to them. Reading from left are Misses Hiawatha Foster, senior, of Charlotte; Yvonne Redcross, rising senior, of Hampton, Va., and Eunice Hawkins, rising senior, of Dandywine, Md.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES---The smiles on the faces of these four rising seniors at Bennett College can mean but one thing--that they are now members of Beta Kappa, all science honorary. Left to right, Misses Jo Ann Martin, of Leaksville, N. C.; Carolyn Bennett, of Miami, Fla.; Iris Jeffries, of Burlington, N. C., and Helena Howell, of Concord, N. C.

BENNETT QUEEN AND COURT---Miss Yvonne McBride, of Sumter, poses with members of her court following May Day exercises at Bennett College recently. To her immediate right is Miss Hattie Green, of Ivy, Va., maid of honor. Class representatives, left to right, are Misses Lucy Martin, senior, of Reidsville, N. C.; Shirley Dismuke, junior, Vandergrift, Pa.; Patricia Hawkins, sophomore, Athens, Ga.; Shirley Satterfield, freshman, Princeton, N. J.; Willa Harris, freshman, Columbia, S. C.; Patricia Williams, sophomore, Wadesboro, N. C.; Kay Henry, junior, Greensboro, N. C., and Gladys Hemingway, senior Georgetown, S. C.

BENNETT QUARTETTE---Members of the Bennett College quartette and their accompanist who appeared before the Wyoming Conference of the Methodist Church meeting in Johnson City, N. Y., on May 18. Reading clockwise from center front are Misses Jacqueline Herbin, first soprano, of Greensboro; Patricia Vann, second alto, of Danville, Va.; Mildred Graves, accompanist, of Leaksville; Leacy Shipman, first alto, of Whiteville, N. C., and Ruth Dobson, second soprano, of Boonville, N. C. Last week the group sang at Chester, Penn.

ONE-TWO-THREE---Members of Bennett College Orchestra, under direction of Howell T. Jones, violin and orchestra instructor, are shown rehearsing for their first concert which was held recently. Reading clockwise are Misses Carolyn Davis, concert master, of Columbus, Ohio; Iva Baker, flute, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Catherine Rink, of Morganton and Sandra Kelly, of Siler City, Clarinets; Bobbie Brown, trumpet, of Amonate, Va.; Velda Pleasant, cello, of Sumter, S. C., and Louise Reid, string bass, of Morganton. Not shown are Misses Patricia Vann, of Danville, Va., and Pearl Gibbs, of Moncks Corner, S. C., both violin.

Messenger 5/60 "ONLY GOD CAN MAKE A TREE"

The Seniors of Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., planted and dedicated a tree in honor of Bishop Edgar A. Love on March 18. Bishop Love and Dr. Willa B. Player, college president, are shown beside the "Edgar A. Love" tree.

MRS. ESTHER PICKETT SHOPSHIRE HONORED WITH HER GRADUATING CLASS OF 1935 AT BENNETT

Mrs. Esther Pickett Shopshire, a graduate of Bennett College was honored with her graduating class of 1935. Miss Pickett was the Valedictorian of her class. She is a native of Camden, S. C. She and four of her children motored to Greensboro from Griffin, Ga. Among her children, her oldest daughter, Joan Alonza, age 21, is the music supervisor in the Griffin-Spalding County School system. She attended high school at Sedalia, N. C. and received her A.B. degree from Clark College, Atlanta Ga. in 1958 in the field of music.

Mrs. Shopshire's oldest son, James Maynard, aged 17 is a sophomore at Clark College in Atlanta Ga. and is a licensed local minister.

Miss Addie Pickett Shopshire, age 14 is a sophomore at Fairmont High School in Griffin, Ga. She is a member of the school band playing a bell lyre.

Little Miss Renee Trusdale Ayne Shopshire is a second grade student at Annie Shockley Elementary School where her father, Rev. J. N. Shopshire is principal.

Rev. J. N. Shopshire is the minister of Heck Chapel Methodist Church in Griffin, Ga. Mrs. Shopshire is the Religious Educator. She is also a teacher of science at the Fairmont High School.

Two of the children did not make the trip, Matthew Marcellus age 12, and Mrs. Minnie Esther Taylor who is completing her sophomore year at Clark College. All of the children are honor students.

Mrs. Shopshire's first position after graduation from Bennett, was at Rust College, Holly Springs, Miss., where she served three years as teacher of Home Economics. There she met and married Rev. J. N. Shopshire. They later moved to Atlanta Ga. and attended Gammon Theological Seminary. Mrs. Shopshire received the degree of Bachelor of Religious Education. After her husband completed his B.D. at Gammon and M.A. at Atlanta, they lived in and pastored many churches in Georgia — Atlanta, Newman, Grantville, and Griffin where they are now making an outstanding contribution as minister, principal, teacher and community leaders.

67 Graduates Receive Degrees At Bennett In 87th Commencement

"The collapse of the Summit Conference should remind us that the United Nations is not an institution to be by-passed by the great powers, but one that should be a forum for them," Dr. Frank P. Graham, of New York City, told the audience attending the 87th commencement at Bennett College on Monday.

Dr. Graham, UN mediator for India and Pakistan, chose "The United Nations in the Atomic Age" as the subject of his address. He called attention to the fact that the United Nations made its appearance on the stage of the world the same year that atomic power made its entrance into history—11years ago.

"We need in America," Said Dr. Graham, "a re-baptism in the great principles of the American Revolution. There have been two major barriers to progress in this area, namely, states' rights and a political monopoly by some exclusive American groups."

Stating that he is a believer in states' rights, Dr. Graham qualified the remark by saying that states' rights should embrace states' responsibilities to provide "equality of opportunity and human dignity for all people.

"As a Southerner," he said, "and a North Carolinian, I love my own people and that includes colored as well as white people . . . We have here in North Carolina a wonderful opportunity to build a nobler civilization where there is freedom under the law and human brotherhood under God."

Dr. Graham paid tribute, indirectly, to those young people of the South who initiated the sit-in movement at the segregated lunch counters of variety stores. After referring to the youth of Indonesia, who, in their recent revolt, took their cue from the American Declaration of Independence, he said:

"It is pleasing to me that another youth movement should have its origin in North Carolina. These youths did not get their inspiration and guidance from Moscow, as some would have us believe, but from the Judean hills and the American Revolu- simply that stores that sell to the public should provide the same quantity and quality of service for all people."

He called attention to the fact that three revolutions—industrial, commercial and atomic — have tied all peoples of the earth together in one interdependent world. He also cited the fact thot although only one-tenth of the Negroes of the world are in the United States, there are more in college in this country than in all the rest of the world combined.

"This is a day of graduation and commemoration," he said, "a day of remembrance and a day of hope. The cross with the warmeth of human blood still prevails over the cross burning with the oil of tyranny and hate."

President Willa B. Player, after conferring degrees upon 67 members of the class, said in her charge to the graduates."

"It is my hope that as you leave these walls, you will know that you do not know all and that you will be curious to know more. We hope that you will have humility and an awareness of the world about you. We look to you for leadership wherever you are and expect you to strive as best you know how to give history a forward thrust."

NATIONAL SCIENCE FOUNDATION SUMMER SCHOOL AT BENNETT

Faculty for the National Science Foundation Summer Institute in Mathematics and Science for high school students to be held at Bennett College was announced this week by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director.

Serving again as associate director will be Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, chemistry. Teaching biology will be Van S. Allen, M.S. and Willie L. Young, M.S. Carl O. Clark, M.S., will teach physics, and Dr. Roy Lee, chemistry.

There will be three teachers of mathematics, Dr. Frederic R. Crownfield, Mrs. Clara H. Echols, M.S., and Chang L. Wu, M.S.

Visiting lecturers this year will include:

Dr. Leigh C. Anderson, chemistry, University of Michigan; Dr. Herman Branson, physics, Howard University; Dr. James S. Lee, biology, North Carolina College at Durham; Dr. Harold W. Lewis, physics, Duke University; Dr. Kelso M. Morris, chemistry, Air University, U. S. Air Force; Dr. Henry S. Roberts, Jr., zoology, Duke University; Dr. Walter R. Talbot, mathematics, Lincoln (Mo.) University, and Dr. Maurice Whittinghill, zoology, University of North Carolina.

Classes will begin on June 20, and the institute will close on July 29.

MISS PHYLLIS HENRY AT BENNETT

Miss Phyllis Henry, assistant director of co-curricular activities at Bennett College, is representing the institution this week at the meeting of the National Methodist Student Commission in session at the University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo., June 14-19.

ANNUAL NATIONAL COUNCIL OF BENNETT

The following persons registered for the annual meeting of the National Council of Bennett College Parents held as a part of the 87th commencement activities here:

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Neal, Columbia, S. C.; Mrs. Hilda B. Harris, Philadelphia; Mrs. Pearl J. Gayle, Nanticoke, Md.; Mrs. Margaret R. Bender, Leonia, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. William E. Brown, Bronx, N. Y.; Mrs. Lillie Thompson, Hewlett, N. Y.; Rev. Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sawyer, Salisbury, N. C.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Atherton Didier, Kingston, Jamaica, BWI; Mr. and Mrs. Pete Pendergraft, Chapel Hill, N. C.; Mrs. Esther P. Shopshire, Griffin, Ga.; Mrs. Ethel Armstead, Haddonfield, N. J.; Tiner C. Jones, Bridgeport, Conn.; Mrs. Dorothy Spear, Bridgeport, Conn.; J. B. Greene, Timmonsville, S. C.

Mrs. Pauline Lawrence, Georgetown, S. C.; Mrs. H. E. Nelson, Greensboro; Mrs. Annie H. McDonald, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mrs. Beatrice Black, Marlin, Texas; Ernest Estwick, New York, N. Y.

PRE-ALUMNAE OFFICERS for the 1960-61 school year — Chosen to head the Pre-Alumnae Council at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., are (from left) Misses Edwina Coleman, treasurer, Charlotte; Joyce Pullum, secretary, Baltimore, Md.. Eunice Taylor, assistant secretary, Charlotte; Celestine Miller, president, Horatio, S. C., and Mrs. Elois Harper, vice president, Lenoir.

BENNETT ART EXHIBIT — Viewing the exhibit of art pieces produced by students at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., are these two freshmen, Misses Rose Gill, of Fairfield, Ala., and Carole Collins of Montclair, N. J.

'Sit-Ins' Lauded by Dr. Graham

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Dr. Frank P. Graham, UN mediator and a former president of the University of North Carolina, lauded objectives of lunch counter demonstrations and expressed "pride" that they began in North Carolina, in an address to Bennett College graduates Monday.

The sit-ins, or sit-downs as they are called variously, got underway in Greensboro early this year, students at A&T and Bennett providing the kick-off spark.

"It is a matter of pride to me," Dr. Graham declared, "that this newest youth movement in our land had its origin not in Moscow, but in North Carolina."

He urged a rededication of all races and groups to the principle of "human brotherhood, under God." Explaining that educated Negro college people are more unaware of the "remnants of discrimination" than other groups appear to be.

Dr. Graham said: "College students started a youth movement with the lawful petition that stores selling to the public should provide the same quality and quantity of service to all people."

—1910-GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY-1960—

Alumni Adopt Endowment Program

A future endowment program which will, at maturity, give Bennett College $100,000 annually toward its current expense budget, was adopted unanimously by graduates attending the recent meeting of the Bennett College Alumni Association here.

The plan commits the association to earmark from its annual contribution to the college Loyalty Fund $1,000 for the purchase of a Mutual Funds Savings Certificate each year, for a period not to exceed 35 years.

Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, of New York City, chairman of Bennett's trustee board, who worked out the details of the plan, said that this will be the first college plan in existence.

Three members of the alumni association who reside in the New York City area have been designated to cooperate with Dr. Patterson in initiating the plan.

HEAD UPPER CLASSES — Elected to lead their classes at Bennett College for the 1960-61 school year are (from left to right) Misses Sonja Green, sophomore, Philadelphia; Mary F. Lane, junior, Mont Olive, N. C., and Helena Howell, senior, Concord, N. C.

MUSIC BY WIRE — Miss Robbie Walton, soprano, of Clarksville, Tenn., sings to her suitor, Samuel Guy, baritone, of Greensboro, in "The Telephone," one-act comic opera by Gian-Carlo Menotti, recently presented in the Bennett College Theatre, as part of An Evening of Music, featuring voice students of Mrs. Mary M. Crawford.

Pastors' School Begins Monday

The annual Pastors' School of the Baltimore Area of the Methodist Church will open at Bennett College tomorrow, and continue through June 15.

The Rev. Charles L. Carrington of Jamaica, N. Y., dean of the school, said that courses would be offered in preaching, practical theology, comparative religion, church history and the Old and New Testaments. Associated with him will be the following faculty members: Dr. W. R. Hazzard, Dr. Ramsey Bridges, Dr. Major J. Jones and the Revs. Henry Nichols, J. E. Licorish, Edward McGowan and John Corry.

Walker Chosen For Institute

Mack P. Walker, instructor of science and mathematics at Benedict College, has been chosen as one of 20 participants for an eight-week institute in radiation biology for college teachers this summer at the Radiation Research laboratory of the University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa.

Participants were selected on the basis of scholastic standing, ability and interest in the field. The institute will be one of several sponsored jointly by the National Science Foundation and the Atomic Energy Commission. Each participant will receive a stipend to cover tuition, books, living and travel expenses.

The institute is being held to acquaint teachers with the field of radiation biology with the idea of strengthening their background of biological study in order that they may be more effective teachers and research workers.

PRE-ALUMNAE OFFICERS — Chosen to head the Pre-Alumnae Council at Bennett College, Greensboro, for the 1960-61 school year are, left to right: Misses Edwina Coleman, treasurer, Charlotte; Joyce Pullum, secretary, Baltimore, Md.; Eunice Taylor, assistant secretary, Charlotte; Celestine Miller, president, Horatio, S. C., and Mrs. Elois Harper, vice president, Lenoir.

Bennett College Alumni Reunion held during Commencement

Graduates from as far back as 1903, attended the All-Bennett Luncheon, feature of the alumni reunion during the recent commencement at Bennett College.

Oliver R. Pope '03, of Philadelphia, was joined by Mrs. Mamie B. McLaurin '05, of Greensboro and his wife, Mrs. Myrtle Pope '10, of Philadelphia, as the oldest graduates present. Another graduate of the college when it was a coeducational institution, was Joseph T. Harrington, '23, of New York City.

Graduates in attendance, representing classes since the institution devoted itself exclusively to the education of women, were:

1930—Mrs. Margaret D. Freeman, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. Alma T. Taylor, Greensboro.

1931—Mrs. Madeline M. Turner, Greensboro; Mrs. Nelle Coley, Greensboro, Mrs. Zenobia B. Headen, Greensboro; Mrs. Madeline B. Best, Greensboro; Mrs. Elsie H. Jordan, Greensboro; Mrs. Lillian W. Snipes, Greensboro.

1932—Mrs. W. M. Grimes, Greensboro.

1933—Mrs. Nan Bowling, Greensboro; Mrs. Ruth N. Thomas, Greensboro.

1934—Mrs. Clara H. Echols, Greensboro.

1935—Mrs. Pauline A. Donnell, Greensboro; Mrs. Esther P. Shopshire, Griffin, Ga.; Mrs. Helen W. Branford, Greensboro.

1937—Mrs. Mary T. Coleman, Greensboro; Miss Juanita G. Wells, Greensboro; Miss Alsie Trammell, Greensboro.

1938—Miss Amaleta Moore, Greensboro; Miss Juanita Murray, Chester, Pa.; Miss Hattie O. Bailey, Chester, Pa.

1939—Miss Celeste Fearrington, Greensboro; Mrs. Georgia Lampkin, Chester, Pa.; Mrs. Dorothy Marbury, Wilmington, Del.

1940—Mrs. Estelle Tatum, Greensboro; Mrs. Juanita L. Burnside, Greensboro; Mrs. Elizabeth A. Edwards, Siler City, N. C.; Mrs. Clarice S. Herbert, Philadelphia, Pa.

1942—Mrs. Ethel E. Echols, Greensboro.

1943—Mrs. Johnetta H. George, Durham, N. C.

1945—Mrs. Mayme H. Perry, Durham, N. C.; Miss Fannie Fisher, Greensboro; Mrs. Thora K. Brown, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. Fannie L. Hinnant, Greensboro.

1950—Mrs. Nola B. Sheffey, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Ouida R. Scarborough, Trevose, Pa.; Mrs. Virmetta Gilmore, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Gloria Dozier, Indianapolis, Ind.; Miss Martha Randall, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Mary D. Eubanks, Washington; Mrs. Edna S. Phillips, Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. Martha M. McKenzie, Miami, Fla.; Mrs. Josephine H. Heughan, Greensboro; Mrs. Agnes T. Abernethy, Westminister, Md.

1951—Mrs. Rosetta G. Brower, Greensboro.

1953—Mrs. James Camp, Camden, N. J.; Mrs. Rosa F. Coley, Greensboro.

1954—Mrs. Ellease R. Browning, Greensboro.

1955—Mrs. Zepplyn S. Averett, Greensboro; Mrs. Marjorie G. Bower, Norwalk, Conn.; Mrs. Dolores H. Jamison, Englewood, N. J.; Miss Barbara C. Patterson, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Jean P. Haith, Greensboro; Miss Margaret McCormcki, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. Lillian P. Williams, Gastonia, N. C.; Miss Fay L. Fagan, Hudson, N. Y.; Mrs. Inis D. Johnson, Winston-Salem; Mrs. Maurice P. Johnson, Winston-Salem; Mrs. Shirley D. Richardson, Baltimore, Md.

1956—Mrs. Lila B. Murphy, Greensboro; Mrs. Mary B. Robbins, Greensboro.

1957—Miss Thelma D. Culbreth, Greensboro.

1959—Mrs. Janie G. Dodd, Greensboro.

WHAT'S GOING ON HERE — Curiosity of unidentified feline was apparently satisfied when it (he-she) discovered that Miss Sylvania Black, Bennett College senior, of Marlin, Texas, was just giving "Mr. K" (in her left hand) one of his many daily feedings. The tiny rabbit was the lone survivor of a litter found behind Kent residence hall, hence his name.

Dr. Graham Comments On Summit At Bennett College Graduation

GREENSBORO—"The collapse of the Summit Conference should remind us that the United Nations is not an institution to be by-passed by the great powers, but one that should be a forum for them," Dr. Frank P. Graham, of New York City, told the audience attending the 87th commencement at Bennett College on Monday a week ago.

Dr. Graham, UN mediator for India and Pakistan, chose 'The United Nations in the Atomic Age" as the subject of his address. He called attention to the fact that the United Nations made its appearance on the stage of the world the same year that atomic power made its entrance into history—11 years ago.

"We need in America," said Dr. Graham, "a re-baptism in the great principles of the American Revolution. There have been two major barriers to progress in this area, namely, sates' rights and a political monopoly by some exclusive American groups."

Stating that he is a believer in states' rights, Dr. Graham qualified the remark by saying that states' rights should embrace states' responsibilities to provide "equality of opportunity and human dignity for all people.

"As a southerner," he said, "and a North Carolinian, I love my own people and that includes colored as well as white people . . . We have here in North Carolina a wonderful opportunity to build a nobler civiliaztion where there is freedom under the alw and human brotherhood under God."

Dr. Graham paid tribute, indirectly, to those young people of the South who initiated the sit-in movement at the segregated lunch counters of variety stores. After counters of variety stores.

At Bennett:

Faculty For NSF Institute Is Announced

GREENSBORO—Faculty for the National Science Foundation Summer Institute in Mathematics and Science for high school students to be held at Bennett College was announced this week by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director".

Serving again as associate director will be Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, chemistry. Teachcing biology will be Van S. Allen, M.S. and Willie L. Young, M.S. Carl O. Clark, M.S., will teach physics, and Dr. Roy Lee, chemistry.

There will be three teachers of mathematics, Dr. Frederic R. Crownfield, Mrs. Clara H. Echols, M.S., and Chang L. Wu, M.S.

Visiting lecturers this year will include:

Dr. Leigh C. Anderson, chemistry, University of Michigan; Dr. Herman Branson, physics, Howard University; Dr. James S. Lee, biology, North Carolina College at Durham; Dr. Harold W. Lewis, physics, Duke University; Dr. Kelso M. Morris, chemistry, Air University, U. S. Air Force; Dr. Henry S. Roberts, Jr., zoology, Duke University; Dr. Walter R. Talbot, mathematics, Lincoln (Mo.) University, and Dr. Maurice Whittinghill, zoloogy, University of North Carolina.

Classes will begin on June 20 and the institute will close on June 29

WHITNEY SCHOLAR — Miss Nancy Kirby, of Haddonfield, New Jersey, a senior psychology major at Bennett College, who has been awarded a John Hay Whitney fellowship for graduate study for the 1960-61 academic year.

Sit-Downers Got Their Inspiration From American Revolution and The Bible, Dr. Frank Graham Says

GREENSBORO—"The collapse of the Summit Conference should remind us that the United Nations is not an institution to be bypassed by the great powers, but one that should be a forum for them," Dr. Frank P. Graham, of New York City, told the audience attending the 87th commencement at Bennett College on Monday.

Dr. Graham, UN mediator for India and Pakistan, chose "The United Nations in the Atomic Age" as the subject of his address. He called attention to the fact that the United Nations made its appearance on the stage of the world the same year that atomic power made its entrance into history—11 years ago.

"We need in America," said Dr. Graham, "a re-baptism in the great principles of the American Revolution. There have been two major barriers to progress in this area, namely, states' rights and a political monopoly by some exclusive American groups."

Stating that he is a believer in states' rights, Dr. Graham qualified the remark by saying that states' rights should embrace states' responsibilities to provide "equality of opportunity and human dignity for all people.

PRAISES SIT-DOWNERS

"As a Southerner," he said "and a North Carolinian, I love my own people and that includes colored as well as white people . . . We have here in North Carolina a wonderful opportunity to build a nobler civilization where there is freedom under the law and human brotherhood under God."

Dr. Graham paid tribute, indirectly, to those young people of the South who initiated the sit-in movement at the segregated lunch counters of variety stores. After referring to the youth of Indonesia, who, in their recent revolt took their cue from the American Declaration of Independence, he said:

"It is pleasing to me that another youth movement should have its origin in North Carolina. These youths did not get their inspiration and guidance from Moscow, as some would have us believe, but from the Judean hills and the American Revolution. In their petition they asked simply that stores that sell to the public should provide the same quantity and quality of service for all people."

The speaker referred to the present atomic age as one of "mortal peril and immortal hope for all mankind" and urged the graduates to "throw their weight on the side of the incessant struggle for universal disarmament."

President Willa B. Player, after conferring degrees upon 67 members of the class, said in her charge to the graduates:

"It is my hope that as you leave these walls, you will know that you do not know all and that you will be curious to know more. We hope that you will have humility and an awareness of the world about you. We look to you for leadership wherever you are and expect you to strive as best you know how to give history a forward thrust."

TEARS AS USUAL—The traditional tears of joy shed by Bennett graduates at commencement time were no less in evidence this year as evidenced by Misses Willa Pullins and Betty Crockett, both of Charlotte, as they are consoled by junior schoolmates following the 87th commencement of Bennett College Greensboro, last Monday.

Huge Crowd Attends Graduation At Bennett College

BENNETT GRADS FROM PA., DEL., N.J., N.Y., CONN.----- Members of the 1960 class at Bennett from these five Eastern states who were scheduled to receive degrees on May 30. Left to right, first row: Misses Hilda Harris, Philadelphia; Jacqueline Ball, Philadelphia; Joan Cogdell, Clarksville, Del.; Tiner Spear, Bridgeport, Conn.; second row: Betty Shropshire, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Nancy Kirby, Haddonfield, N. J., and Sheila Caesar, Brooklyn, N. Y.; back row: Misses Millicent Allen, Philadelphia; Mary Bender, Leonia, N. J.; and Gloria E. Brown, Bronx, N. Y.

BENNETT COMMENCEMENT---Dr. Frank P. Graham, UN Mediator of New York City, chats with President Willa B. Player and Dr. C. G. Winston just prior to joining the commencement procession at Bennett College recently.

FOREIGN GRADS AT BENNETT---Two of the three foreign seniors at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., who were scheduled to receive degrees on May 30 are Misses Joan Didier and Una D. Estwick, both of Jamaica, BWI. Not shown is Miss Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, of Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa.

GAVE BENNETT ADDRESS---Miss Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, of Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa, who delivered the vesper address to the senior class, at the Greensboro, N. C. institution.

A HAND FOR THE GRADUATES---Members of the 1960 graduating class at Bennett College are applauded by members of the faculty and staff as they leave Pfeiffer Chapel following the 87th commencement exercises recently.

ALL ABOUT JOBS — Miss Roberta Church of Washington, D. C., consultant for minority groups in the U.S. Department of Labor, points out to these Bennett college students some of the many employment opportunities now open to them. They are (from left) Misses Hiawatha Foster, senior of Charlotte; Yvonne Redross, Hampton, Va., and Eunice Hawkins, Brandywine, Md., rising seniors.

Miss Mary Ann Rogers, '54, of Greensboro, is the recipient of the first Bennett College Graduate Fellowship and will enroll next week at Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., to complete work on her master's degree.

The daughter of Lawrence W. Rogers, superintendent of buildings and grounds, and Mrs. Rogers, Miss Rogers has completed all but six weeks of work on the advanced degree, majoring in elementary education, with a minor in educational psychology.

Since her graduation, she has been employed as a teacher at the Double Oak elementary school in Durham.

The Bennett Fellowship awards have been made possible by a grant from the Danforth Foundation, and are open to graduates of the college who have elected careers in teaching as a career.

Bennet College for Women re-visited by male alumnus

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Graduates from as far back as 1903 attended the Bennett College for Women's All-Bennett Luncheon, on Saturday, and they all weren't Women.

There was Oliver R. Pope, of Philadelphia, of the class of 1903.

Mr. Pope was joined by Mrs. Mamie B. McLaurin '05, of Greensboro and his wife, Mrs. Myrtle Pope '10, of Philadelphia, as the oldest graduates present. Another graduate of the college when it was a coeducational institution, was Joseph T. Harrington '23, of New York City.

GRADUATES IN attendance, representing classes since the institution devoted itself exclusively to the education of women, were:

1930 — Mrs. Margaret D. Freeman, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. Alma T. Taylor, Greensboro; 1931 — Mrs. Madeline M. Turner, Greensboro; Mrs. Nelle Coley, Greensboro; Mrs. Zenobia B. Headen, Greensboro; Mrs. Madeline B. Best, Greensboro; Mrs. Elsie H. Jordan, Greensboro; Mrs. Lillian W. Snipes, Greensboro;

1932 — Mrs. W. M. Grimes, Greensboro; 1933 — Mrs. Nan Bowling, Greensboro; Mrs. Ruth N. Thomas, Greensboro; 1934 — Mrs. Clara H. Echols, Greensboro; 1935 — Mrs. Pauline A. Donnell, Greensboro; Mrs. Esther P. Shopshire, Griffin, Ga.; Mrs. Helen W. Branford, Greensboro;

1937 — Mrs. Mary T. Coleman, Greensboro; Miss Juanita G. Wells, Greensboro; Miss Alsie Trammell, Greensboro; 1938 — Miss Amaleta Moore, Greensboro; Miss Juanita Murray, Chester, Pa.; Miss Hattie O. Bailey, Chester, Pa.; 1939 — Miss Celeste Pearrington, Greensboro; Mrs. Georgia Lamukin, Chester, Pa.; Mrs. Dorothy Marbury, Wilmington, Del.; 1940— Mrs. Estelle Tatum, Greensboro; Mrs. Juanita L. Burnside, Greensboro; Mrs. Elizabeth A. Edwards, Siler City, S.C.; Mrs. Clarice S. Herbert, Philadelphia, Pa.; 1942 — Mrs. Ethel E. Echols, Greensboro;

1943 — Mrs. Johnetta H. George, Durham, N.C.; 1945 — Mrs. Mayme H. Perry, Durham, N.C.; Miss Fannie Fisher, Greensboro; Mrs. Thora K. Brown, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. Fannie L. Hinnant, Greensboro;

1950 — Mrs. Nola B. Sheffey, Washington, D.C.; Mrs. Ouida R. Scarborough, Trevose, Pa.; Mrs. Virmetta Gilmore, Washington, D.C.; Mrs. Gloria Dozier, Indianapolis, Ind.; Miss Martha Randall, Washington, D.C.; Mrs. Mary D. Eubanks, Washington; Mrs. Edna S. Phillips, Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. Martha M. McKenzie, Miami, Fla.; Mrs. Josephine H. Henghan, Greensboro; Mrs. Agnes T. Abernethy, Westminster, Md.; 1951 — Mrs. Rosetta G. Brower, Greensboro;

1952 — Mrs. James Camp, Camden, N.J.; Mrs. Rosa F. Coley, Greensboro; 1954 — Mrs. Ellease R. Browning, Greensboro; 1955 — Mrs. Zeoplya S. Everett, Greensboro; Mrs. Marjorie G. Bowers, Norwalk, Conn.; Mrs. Dolores H. Jamison, Englewood, N.J.; Miss Barbara C. Patterson, Washington, D.C.; Mrs. Jean P. Haith, Greensboro; Miss Margaret McCormick, Philadelphia, Pa.; 1956 — Mrs. Lillian P. Williams, Gastonia, N.C.; Miss Fay L. Fagan, Hudson, N.Y.; Mrs. Vinis D. Johnson, Winston-Salem; Mrs. Maurice P. Johnson, Winston-Salem; Mrs. Shirley D. Richardson, Baltimore, Md.

1958 — Mrs. Lila B. Murphy, Greensboro; Mrs. Mary B. Robbins, Greensboro; 1957 — Miss Thelma D. Culbreth, Greensboro; 1959 — Mrs. Janie G. Dodd, Greensboro.

1960 BENNETT SENIOR CLASS---Members of the 1960 graduating class at Bennett College, Greensb... who were scheduled to ... receive degrees at the 87th commencement exercises on May 30, pose for photographer in front of Pfeiffer Chapel.

Feminine Front

SCOTT SCHOLARSHIP WINNER Alma T. Pinnix, left, top ranking student in the 1960-61 competition, receives full cost award for her final two years of home economics study at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., from Mrs. Enid Smallwood, Scott Paper Co. home economist. Runners up at Hampton and Tuskegee Institutes and Spelman College all received tuition scholarships for their junior and senior years.

Miss Rogers Receives A Fellowship

GREENSBORO — Miss Mary Ann Rogers, '54, of Greensboro, is the recipient of the first Bennett College Graduate Fellowship and will enroll next week at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., to complete work on her master's degree.

The daughter of Lawrence W. Rogers, supt. of buildings and grounds, and Mrs. Rogers, Miss Rogers has completed all but six weeks of work on the advanced degree, majoring elementary education, with a minor in educational psychology.

Since her graduation, she has been employed as a teacher at the Double Oaks elementary school in Charlotte.

The Bennett Fellowship awards have been made possible by a grant from the Danforth Foundation and are open to graduates of the college who have elected college teaching as a career.

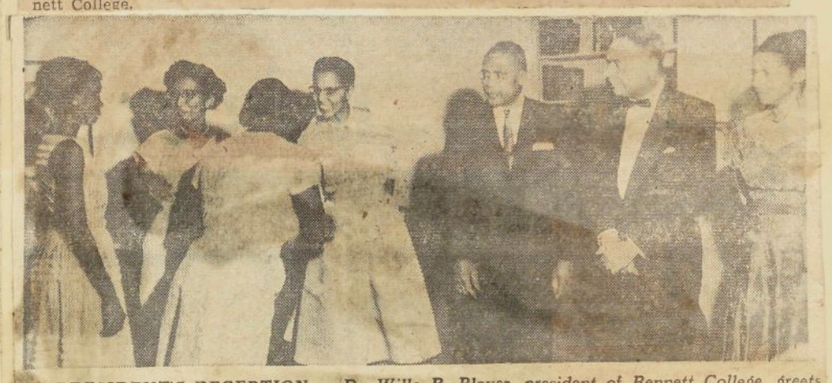
Bennett To Hold Missions School

The annual School of Missions conducted by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church will get under way tomorrow at Bennett College, Mrs. Mamie Morrison, of Statesville, said that this year's school, which will close on July 1, will offer five credit courses. The courses and their instructors are:

"Heritage and Horizons in Home Missions," Mrs. Dorothy P. Jones; "Into All the World Together," Miss Louise Nichols; "Christian Responsibility and the Alcohol Problem," Mrs. Minnie B. Smith; "Basic Christian Beliefs," Dr. Hobart S. Jarrett; and "The Bible Hour," Rev. L. A. Brown, superintendent of the Winston District.

From Africa And Jamaica

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Atherton Didier, of Kingston, Jamaica, BWI, are flanked on the left by Miss Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, of Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa, valedictorian, and their daughter, Joan, both members of the 1960 graduating class at Bennett College.



PRESIDENT'S RECEPTION — Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, greets parents during reception held at her home as highlight of commencement season at the Greensboro institution. Others in receiving line are Miss Mary L. Mayfield, registrar; Bishop P. A. Taylor, who delivered baccalaureate sermon, and Dr. C. G. Winston, chairman of the social science division, and Mrs. Winston.

Annual Week-Long Leadership School Held At Bennett

The annual leadership school sponsored by the Baltimore area of the Methodist Church got under way at Bennett College yesterday.

Rev. Howard A. Bailey, dean, of Yeadon, Pa., said that early registration indicates this year's enrollment will be the largest ever.

Using the theme, "Frontiers in Christian Education," the school offers five courses of study for church school superintendents, district superintendents and pastors, executive secretaries and chairmen of conference boards of education, and workers with children, youths and adults.

Courses and the [illegible] teachers are:

Music in Christian education, Rev. William K. Burns; audio-visual resources in Christian education, Rev. Robert G. Doyle; drama in Christian education, Rev. Robert G. Doyle; drama in Christian education, Miss Amy G. Loomis; recreation in Christian education, Rev. George W. Jones, and new insights for Christian education in the district, Rev. Ernest T. Dixon Jr.

Closing sessions of the school will be held on Saturday and at 10:15 o'clock that morning Bishop Edgar A. Love will administer communion.

JULIA M. McCLAIN GETS DEGREE

Miss Julia M. McClain, of Anniston, Ala., a member of the class of '57 at Bennett College, was recently graduated with the bachelor of divinity degree from the Hartford Seminary Foundation at Hartford, Conn.

Miss McClain, who is now serving as assistant minister in a Methodist Church at her home, is the first graduate of Bennett (since it became a woman's college in 1926) to enter the active ministry. Winner of the award given for improvement in the study of Greek, Miss McClain received a cross carved by a monk at Mt. Athas.

BENNETT PARENTS' COUNCIL—Some of the members of the National Council of Bennett College Parents shown following their recent annual meeting at the Greensboro, N. C., college. Third from left, second row, is Joseph T. Harrington, president, of New York City. Left of first row is President Willa B. Player.

Bennett College High School Science Institute Faculty Named

GREENSBORO — Faculty for the National Science Foundation Summer Institute in Mathematics and Science for high school students to be held at Bennett College was announced this week by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director.

Serving again as associate director will be Dr Chauncey G. Winston, chemistry. Teaching biology will be Van S. Allen, M.S. and W. L. Young, M.S. Carl O. Clark, M.S., will teach physics, and Dr. Roy Lee, chemistry.

There will be three teachers of mathematics, Dr. Frederic R. Crownfield, Mrs. Clara H. Echols, M.S., and Chang L. Wu, M.S.

Visiting lecturers this year will include:

Dr. Leigh C. Anderson, chemistry, University of Michigan; Dr. Herman Branson, physics, Howard University; Dr. James S. Lee, biology, North Carolina College at Durham; Dr. Harold W. Lewis, physics, Duke University; Dr. Kelso M. Morris, chemistry, Air University, U.S. Air Force; Dr. Henry S. Roberts, Jr., zoology, Duke University; Dr. Walter R. Talbot, mathematics, Lincoln (Mo.) University, and Dr. Maurice Wittinghill, zoology, University of N. C.

Classes will begin on June 20 and the institute will close on July 29.

Bennett College Alumni Adopted Program to give Bennett $100,000 Annually

A future endowment program which will, at maturity, give Bennett College $100,000 annually toward its current expense budget, was adopted unanimously by graduates attending the recent meeting of the Bennett College Alumni Association here.

The plan commits the association to earmark from its annual contribution to the college Loyalty Fund $1,000 for the purchase of a Mutual Funds Savings Certificate each year, for a period not to exceed 35 years.

Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, of New York City, chairman of Bennett's trustee board, who worked out the details of this unique plan in consultation with the New York firm of Hamershlag, Borg and Company, one of the nation's oldest and best recognized brokerage firms, said that this will be the first college plan in existence.

Three members of the alumni association who reside in the New York City area have been designated to cooperate with Dr. Patterson in initiating the plan.

In discussing the plan, Mrs. Fannie L. Hinnant, of Greensboro, president of the association, made reference to the decision of the graduates as "historic," inasmuch as it is the first of its kind.

President Willa B. Player called attention to the fact that in addition to the time factor, the joining together of compound interest, plus growth in the stock market and tax exemption, greatly minimize any risks that may be taken.

"The plan is well within the potential of the alumni of the average small college," she pointed out, "and past results have shown that the success the plan is almost miraculous."

Miss Mary Ann Rogers Recipient of Bennett First Graduate Fellowship

Miss Mary Ann Rogers, '54, of Greensboro, is the recipient of the first Bennett College Graduate Fellowship and will enroll next week at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., to complete work on her master's degree.

The daughter of Lawrence W. Rogers, superintendent of buildings and grounds, and Mrs. Rogers, Miss Rogers has completed all but six weeks of work on the advanced degree, majoring in elementary education, with a minor in educational psychology.

Since her graduation, she has been employed as a teacher at the Double Oaks elementry school in Charlotte.

The Bennett Fellowship awards have been made possible by a grant from the Danforth Foundation and are open to graduates of the college who have elected college teaching as a career.

7 Women Attending School For Pastors

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Seven women and 28 men, representing eight states and the District of Columbia, are attending the annual pastor school at Bennett College.

The four annual conferences of the Baltimore area (Central jurisdiction) of the Methodist Church are represented, according to the Rev. Charles L. Carrington, of Jamaica, N. Y., who is again serving as dean.

Largest group there —comes from Maryland, North Carolina next, and Pennsylvania with five. Serving on this faculty are:

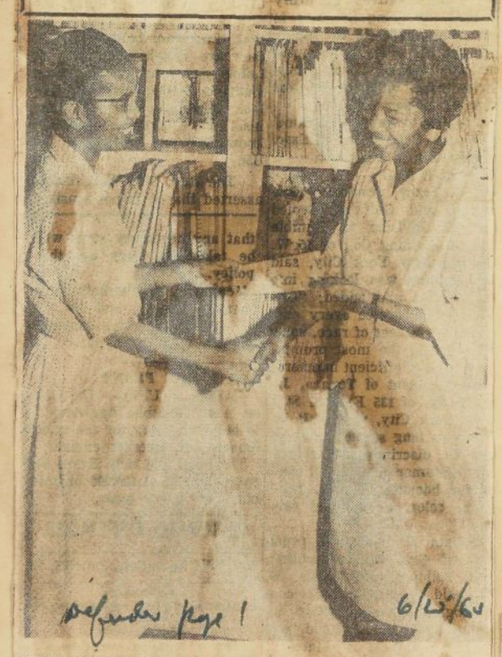
Dr. Walter R. Hazzard, Philadelphia; Dr. Major J. Jones, Chattanooga, Tenn.; the Rev. Joshua E. Licorish, Philadelphia; Dr. Major J. Jones, Chattanooga, Tenn; the Rev. Joshua E. Licorish, Philadelphia; the Rev. Edward McGowan, Washington; the Rev. Henry Nichols, Germantown, Pa.; Dr. Ramsay Bridges, Pittsburgh, and the Rev. John Corry, Greensboro.

GRADUATES

GREENSBORO — Miss Julia M. McClain, of Anniston, Ala., a member of the class of '57 at Bennett College, was recently graduated with the bachelor of divinity degree from the Hartford Seminary Foundation at Hartford, Conn.

Miss McClain, who is now serving as assistant minister in a Methodist Church at her home, is the first graduate of Bennett (since it became a woman's college in 1926) to enter the active ministry. Winner of the award given for improvement in the study of Greek, Miss McClain received a cross carved by a monk at Mt. Athas.

Gets Study Grant



GETS FIRST BENNETT GRANT — Miss Mary Ann Rogers, of Greensboro, a member of the class of '54, receives from President Willa B. Player check for the first of the series of graduate fellowship now being offered by the college for graduates seeking advanced degrees for teaching careers. Miss Rogers, who expects to complete work for her master's degree at Cornell University this summer, teaches in the Charlotte public schools.

Bennett Staff Member Makes Colorado Trip

Mrs. Louise G. Streat of the clothing and textile faculty of Bennett College, left yesterday for Denver, Colo., to represent the Eastern region of College Teachers of Clothing and Textiles on a national planning committee June 26-27.

Following this session, she will attend the 51st annual Home Economics Assn. meeting in Denver, June 28-July. Also attending the latter will be LaRita Waters of Jacksonville, Fla., rising senior and president of Omicron Eta Chi, home economics club, at Bennett College.

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Teacher - counselors at the National Science Foundation Summer Institute in Mathematics and Science for high school students are Misses Mary J. Williams of Winston - Salem and Betty J. Wright of Shelby. They are recent graduates of Bennett College.

DENVER, Colo. — Attending the planning committee meeting here of the College Teachers of Clothing and Textiles is Mrs. Louise G. Streat. She will also attend the 51st Annual Home Economics Association Convention here.

MACK P. WALKER TO ATTEND INSTITUTE IN RADIATION BIOLOGY

Mack P. Walker, instructor in biology and science education at Bennett College is one of 20 persons chosen to participate in an eight-week institute in radiation biology being conducted at the Radiation Research laboratory of the University of Iowa at Iowa City.

Participants were selected on the basis of scholastic standing, ability and interest in the field. The institute is one of several sponsored jointly by the National Science Foundation and the Atomic Energy Commission. Each participant receives a stipend to cover tuition, books, living and travel expenses.

Mr. Walker, a native of Mebane, holds the B.S. and M.S. degrees from A&T College, taught in the public schools of the state and at Immanuel Lutheran College before coming to Bennett.

Bennett Announces Faculty For National Science Foundation Summer Institute

Greensboro, N. C. — Faculty for the National Science Foundation Summer Institute in Mathematics and Science for high school students to be held at Bennett College was announced this week by Dr. Henry Sayles, director.

Serving again as associate director will be Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, chemistry. Teaching biology will be Van S. Allen, M. S. and Willie L. Young, M. S. Carl O. Clark, M. S., will teach physics, and Dr. Roy Lee, chemistry.

There will be three teachers of mathematics, Dr. Frederic R. Grownfield, Mrs. Clara H. Echols, M. S., and Chang L. Wu, M.S.

Visiting lecturers this year will include:

Dr. Leigh C. Anderson, chemistry, University of Michigan; Dr. Herman Branson, physics, Howard University; Dr. James S. Lee, biology, North Carolina College at Durham; Dr. Harold W. Lewis, physics, Duke University; Dr. Kelso M. Morris, chemistry, Air University, U.S. Air Force; Dr. Henry S. Roberts, Jr., zoology, Duke University; Dr. Walter R. Talbot, mathematics, Lincoln (Mo.) University, and Dr. Maurice Wittinghill, zoology, University of North Carolina.

Classes will begin on June 20 and the institute will close on July 29.

SCOTT SCHOLARSHIP WINNER Alma T. Pinnix, left, top ranking student in the 1960-61 Scott Scholarship competition, receives her full cost award for her final two years of Home Economics study at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C. From Mrs. Enid Smallwood, Scott Paper Company home economist. At right is Mrs. Louise G. Streat, director of home economics at Bennett. Runners-up at Hampton and Tuskegee Institutes and Spelman College all received tuition scholarships for their junior and senior years.

Gets First Bennett Grant

Miss Mary Ann Rogers, of Greensboro, a member of the class of '54, receives from President Willa B. Player check for the first of the series of graduate fellowships now being offered by the college for graduates seeking advanced degrees for teaching careers. Miss Rogers, who expects to complete work for her master's degree at Cornell University this summer, teaches in the Charlotte public schools.

Bennett College Alumni Initiate Endowment Plan

GREENSBORO, N. C. — A future endowment program which will, at maturity, give Bennett College $100,000 annually toward its current expense budget, was adopted unanimously by graduates attending the recent meeting of the Bennett College Alumni Association here.

The plan commits the association to earmark from its annual contribution to the college Loyalty Fund $1,000 for the purchase of a Mutual Funds Savings Certificate each year, for a period not to exceed 35 years.

DR. FREDERICK D. Patterson, of New York City, chairman of Bennett's trustee board, who worked out the details of this unique plan in consultation with the New York firm of Hamershlag, Borg and Company, one of the nation's oldest and best recognized brokerage firms, said that this will be the first college plan in existence.

Three members of the alumni association who reside in the New York City area have been designated to cooperate with Dr. Patterson in initiating the plan.

In discussing the plan, Mrs. Fannie L. Hinnant, of Greensboro, president of the association, made reference to the decision of the graduates as "historic," inasmuch as it is the first of its kind.

PRESIDENT Willa B. Player called attention to the fact that in addition to the time factor, the joing together of compound interest, plus growth in the stock market and tax exemption, greatly minimize any risks that may be taken.

"The plan is well within the potential of the alumni of the average small college," she pointed out, "and past results have shown that the success of the plan is almost miraculous."

Bennett Student Receives Scholarship Award

Scott Scholardship winner Alma T. Pinnix, left, top ranking student in the 1960-61 Scott Scholarship competition, receives her full cost award for her final two years of home economics study at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., from Mrs. Enid Smallwood, Scott Paper Company home economist. At right is Mrs. Louise G. Streat, director of home economics at Bennett. Runners-up at Hampton and Tuskegee Institute and Spelman College all received tuition scholarships for their junior and senior years.

MRS. STREAT ATTENDS CONVENTION

Mrs. Louise G. Streat, of the clothing and textile faculty of Bennett College, left Saturday for Denver, Colo., where she is representing the Eastern region of the College Teachers of Clothing and Textiles at its national planning committee meeting June 26 and 27. Immediately following this meeting, Mrs. Streat will attend the 51st Annual Home Economics Association Convention which will be meeting in Denver from June 28 through July 1.

Also attending this convention will be Miss LaRita Waters, of Jacksonville, Fla., rising senior, and president of Omicron Eta Chi, home economics club at Bennett.

FORMER STUDENTS SERVE

One member of the class of 1959 and one member of the class of 1960 have returned to Bennett College to serve as teacher-counselors in the National Science Foundation Summer Institute in Mathematics and Science for high school students.

They are Misses Mary Jane Williams, '59 of Winston-Salem and Betty J. Wright, '60 of Shelby, N. C.

1950 Bennett Graduates Attend Reunion

These are some of the members of the class of 1950, who attended their reunion at Bennett College recently. Standing in front of the magnola tree which they planted 10 years ago, left to right, Mesdames Josephine H. Heughan, Greensboro, N. C.; Ouida R. Scarborough, Trevose, Pa.; Edna S. Phillips, Baltimore, Md.; Virmetta Gilmore, Washington, D. C.; Nola B. Sheffey, Washington, D. C.; Miss Martha E. Randall, Washington, D. C.; Mary E. Eubanks, Washington, D. C.; Agnes T. Abernethy, Westminster, Md.; Gloria Dozier, Indianapolis, Ind., and Martha M. McKenzie, Miami, Fla.

Bennett Graduate

Miss Mary Ann Rogers, '54, of Greensboro, is the recipient of the first Bennett College Graduate Fellowship and will enroll at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., to complete work on her master's degree.

The daughter of Lawrence W. Rogers, superintendent of buildings and grounds, and Mrs. Rogers, Miss Rogers has completed all but six weeks of work on the advanced degree, majoring in elementary education, with a minor in educational psychology.

Since her graduation, she has been employed as a teacher at the Double Oaks elementary school in Charlotte.

The Bennett Fellowship awards have been made possible by a grant from the Danforth Foundation and are open to graduates of the college who have elected college teaching as a career.

Bennett Staffer Receives Grant

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Mack P. Walker, instructor in biology and science education at Bennett College is one of 20 persons chosen to participate in an eight- week institute in radiation biology being conducted at the Radiation Research laboratory of the University of Iowa at Iowa City.

Participants were selected on the basis of scholastic standing, ability and interest in the field. The institute is one of several sponsored jointly by the National Science Foundation and the Atomic Energy Commission. Each participant receives a stipend to cover tuition, books, living and travel expenses.

EARLY BENNETT GRADUATES — Mr. and Mrs. Oliver R. Pope, of Philadelphia, Pa., who received an ovation when they attended the alumni reunion at Bennett College last week because they represented classes that had been out 50 years or more. Mrs. Pope is a graduate of 1910 and Mr. Pope is a graduate of 1903. Both followed teaching careers.

Annual Donation:

Future Endowment Program Promises Bennett $100,000

GREENSBORO — A future endownment program which will, at maturity, give Bennett College $100,000 annually toward its current expense budget, was adopted unanimously by graduates attending the recent meeting of the Bennett College Alumni Association here.

The plan commits the association to earmark from its annual contribution to the college Loyalty Fund $1,000 for the purchase of a Mutual Funds Savings Certificate each year, for a period not to exceed 35 years.

Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, of New York City, chairman of Bennett's trustee board, who worked out the details of this unique plan in consultation with the New York firm of Hamershlag, Borg and Company, one of the nation's oldest and best recognized brokerage firms, said that this will be the first college plan in existence.

Three members of the alumni association who reside in the New York City area have been designated to cooperate with Dr. Patterson in initiating the plan.

In discussing the plan, Mrs. Fannie L. Hinnant, of Greensboro, president of the association, made reference to the decision of the graduates as "historic", inasmuch as it is the first of its kind.

President Willa B. Player called attention to the fact that in addition to the time factor, the joining together to compound interest, plus growth in the stock market and tax exemption, greatly minimize any risks that may be taken.

Bennett Science - Math Institute Enrolls 102 High School Students

Classes for 102 outstanding high school youngsters from 14 states and the District of Columbia who are attending the summer institute in science and mathematics at Bennett College got under way on Monday.

The institute, sponsored by the National Science Foundation, and to continue through July 29, attracted 55 from North Carolina, of whom 18 are from Greensboro. There are six from Durham and five from High Point, with Winston-Salem, Charlotte and Burlington contributing four each. Mississippi, Arkansas, Texas, Ohio, and Pennsylvania are represented also.

The students, 69 girls and 33 boys, who were selected on the basis of high ability in science and mathematics, represent this year's graduates and rising seniors and juniors. Their academic records and their performances on objective tests were the major criteria for admission.

Each participant receives a subsistence allowance covering books, supplies, laboratory fees and field trips and one-half the cost of board, lodging and travel. For a limited number of highly qualified students whose parents cannot meet all expenses, scholarships have been granted.

Registered for the program are the following:

Greensboro

London T. Newton, Eldridge H. Pearsall, Sandra E. Echols, Nan E. Fisher, Evander Gilmer, Jr., Ellen O. McCoy, Michael Rivers, Nicholas A. Schnyder, Marian Dansby, Janice Fisher, Bernard T. White, Charlayna Crawford, Andrea Taylor, Marian F. Thornhill, Ethel L. Graves, Margaret Falkener, Gwendolyn E. Donnell and Yvonne Sayles.

Charlotte

Mary M. Howey, Vivian L. Rippy, Gordon M. Wilkins, Jr., and Ann M. Alexander.

Winston-Salem

Catherine E. Hughes, Karen L. Parker, Preston Williamson, Jr., and Catherine D. Brown.

High Point

Miriam L. Fountain, Andrew D. McBride, Leonard J. Simon, Jr., Regina Y. Patterson, and Carol A. McConnell.

Other Cities in N. C.

Madelyn C. Yarbrough, Marilyn V. Yarbrough and Merle L. Perry, all of Raleigh; Valjeanne Jones, Wanzie A. McAuley I., S. Fletcher, Curtis Mabry, Jr., Charles Stanback, Jr., and Jeanette Walker, all of Durnam; Audrylene M. Bingham and Edward M. Townes, of Reidsville; Fredericka Hall, Velma Small, and Hubert Eaton, Jr., of Wilmington; Deadra D. Brewer, Siler City; Shirley R. McDuffie, Laurinburg; Sylvia A. Sharpe, Statesville; Nancy Williams, Linda C. Davis, James R. Faucette, and William D. Shanks, all of Burlington; Charles E. Jackson, Kinston; Geraldine Howard and Gale M. Sneed, Henderson; and Lois Simmons, Goldsboro.

South Carolina

James P. Brown and Harold A. Jenkins, Orangeburg; Helen E. McClure, Rock Hill; Truetella Fuller, Spartanburg; Delores Langley, Columbia; and Lawrence Green, Lake City.

Virginia

Carolyn A. Cooley, Lawrenceville; Ariel L. Adams, Williamsburg; Jo Constance Bond, Emporia; Gladys Evans, Lawrenceville; Diane C. Ready, Richmond; Jewell D. Tucker, Boydton; Norma Jean Via, Martinsville; Phyllis Crump, Littleton; Jessica R. Phillips, Lawrenceville; Florence Jones, Waverly; and Brenda Perdue, Roanoke.

Arkansas

Rufus L. Caine, Jr., Thomas B. McKeel, Evelyn L. Phipps, Roslily L. Howard and Rita D. Sanders, all of Pine Bluff.

Ohio

Marnella Wright, Shirley Sudduth, Kenneth Williams and Nathan Gamble, all of Akron.

Other States

Rosemary Seaton, Jackson, Miss.; Joseph S. Walker and William Reid, Knoxville, Tenn.; Lionel B. Fraser, Tougaloo, Miss.; Charles J. Gardner, Adele D. Jackson, Patricia Washington, Betty J. Jackson, and Allen C. Washington, all of Houston, Texas; Lizzie J. Williams, Dallas, Texas; Claire D. Lamar, Augusta, Ga.; Thomas Greene, Jr., Glen Burnie, Md.; Carolyn V. Woodland, LaPlata, Md.; Patricia T. Johnson, Philadelphia, Pa.; Jerry Wang, Fresh Meadows, N. Y.; Patricia Patterson, Washington, D. C.; Gwendolyn H. Veale, Birmingham, Ala.; Geraldine Hunter, Callahan, Fla.; Edna Perry, Brunswick, Ga.

WHAT'S GOING ON HERE?---Curiosity of unidentified feline was satisfied apparently when it (he-she) discovered that Miss Sylvania Black, Bennett College senior, of Marlin, Texas, was just giving "Mr. K" (in her left hand) one of his many daily feedings. The tiny rabbit was the lone survivor of a litter found behind Kent residence hall, hence his name.

Seven Women and 28 Men Representinv Eight States At Bennett College

Seven women and 28 men, representing eight states and the District of Columbia, are attending the annual pastors' school at Bennett College.

The four annual conferences of the Baltimore Area (Central Jurisdiction) of the Methodist Church are represented, according to the Rev. Charles L. Carrington, of Jamaica, N. Y., who is again serving as dean.

Largest group this year—13—comes from Maryland, with North Carolina next with seven, and Pennsylvania third, with five. Serving on this year's faculty are:

Dr. Walter R. Hazzard, Philadelphia; Dr. Major J. Jones, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Rev. Joshua E. Licorish, Philadelphia; Rev. Edward McGowan, Washington, D. C.; Rev. Henry Nichols, Germantown, Pa.; Dr. Ramsay Bridges, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Rev. John Corry, Greensboro.

The following persons registered for classes which will continue through July 15:

George R. Allen, Catonsville, Md.; Woodrow L. Amey, Philadelphia, Pa.; Howard F. Barclay, Nanticoke, Md.; Adolphus A. Berry, Quinton, Md.; Chester A. Bowles, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Willis E. Byrd, Baltimore, Md.; Homer H. Davis, Charleston, W. Va.; William H. Davis, Annapolis, Md.; Sophia Jane East, Pilot Mount, N. C.; Julius F. Ford, Baltimore, Md.; Eva T. Franklin, Chattanooga, Tenn.; John A. Gray, Trinity, N. C.

Frank E. Hawkins, Washington, D. C.; Philip A. Henry, Chestertown, Md.; Martha S. Hollis, Chester, Pa.; Paul Johnson, Annapolis, Md.; Emerson M. Jolly, Salisbury, Md.; L. H. Jones, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Wesley A. Kelly, Baltimore, Md.; Clifford E. Landrum, Philadelphia, Pa.; Willie V. Leazer, Newton, N. C.; Daniel F. Marshall, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Elwood H. Matthews, Silver Spring, Md.; Robert H. McDowell, Kings Mountain, N. C.

James M. McLean, Stanley, N. C.; Lovell Parham, Grafton, W. Va.; William H. Peters, Richmond, Va.; Rosa L. Robbins, Philadelphia, Pa.; Irene Simpson, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Julia S. Thompson, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Robert Toney, Boone Mill, Va.; Myrtle Travers, Baltimore, Md.; James O. Waters, Brandywine, Md.; Esau A. Williams, Mullins, S. C.; and Clifton Scott, Advance, N. C.

Science Faculty Announced

Faculty for the National Scienve Foundation Summer Institute in Mathemaics and Science for high school studens to be held at Bennett College was announced this week by Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director.

Serving again as associate will be Dr. Chauncey G. Winston, chemistry. Teaching biology will be Van S. Allen, M.S. and Willie L. Young, M.S. Carl O. Clark, M.S., will teach physics, and Dr. Roy Lee, chemisry.

There will be three teachers of mathematics, Dr. Frederic R. Crowfield, Mrs. Clara H. Echols, M.S. and Chang L. Wu, M.S.

Visiting lecturers this year will include:

Dr. Leigh C. Anderson, chemistry of Michigan; Dr. Herman Branson, physics, Howard University; Dr. James S. Lee, biology, North Carolina College at Durham; Dr. Harold W. Lewis, physics, Duke University; Dr. Kelso M. Morris, chemisry, Air University, Ltr Air Force; Dr. Henry S. Robers, Jr., zoology, Duke University; Dr. Walter R. Talbot, mathematics, Lincoln (Mo.) University, and Dr. Maurice Whittinghill, zoology, University of North Carolina.

Classes began on June 20 in the Institute and will close on July 29.

102 Students To Attend Bennett College Institute

GREENSBORO— Classes for 102 outstanding high school youngsters from 14 states and the District of Columbia who are attending the summer institute in science and mathematics at Bennett College got under way on Monday.

The institute, sponsored by the National Science Foundation, and to continue through July 29, attracted 55 from North Carolina, of whom 18 are from Greensboro. There are six from Durham and five from High Point, with Winston-Salem, Charlotte and Burlington contributing four each. Mississippi, Arkansas, Texas, Ohio, and Pennsylvania are represented also.

The students, 69 girls and 33 boys, who were selected on the basis of high ability in science and mathematics, represent this year's graduates and rising seniors and juniors. Their academic records and their performances on objective tests were the major criteria for admission.

Each participant receives a subsistence allowance covering books, supplies, laboratory fees and field trips and one-half the cost of board, lodging and travel. For a limited number of highly qualified students whose parents cannot meet all expenses, scholarships have been granted.

North Carolinians registered for the program are as follows:

Greensboro: London T. Newton, Eldridge H. Pearsall, Sandra E. Echols, Nan E. Fisher, Evander Gilmer, Jr., Ellen O. McCoy, Michael Rivers, Nicholas A. Schnyder, Marian Dansby, Janice Fisher, Bernard T. White, Charlayna Crawford, Andrea Taylor, Marian F. Thornhill, Ethel L. Graves, Margaret Falkener, Gwendolyn E. Donnell and Yvonne Sayles.

Charlotte: Mary M. Howey, Vivian L. Rippy, Gordon M. Wilkins, Jr., and Ann M. Alexander.

Winston-Salem: Catherine E. Hughes, Karen L. Parker, Preston Williamson, Jr., and Catherine D Brown.

High Point: Miriam L. Fountain, Andrew D. McBride, Leonard J. Simon, Jr., Regina Y. Patterson, and Carol A. McConnell.

Other cities in N. C.: Madeline C. Yarbrough, Marilyn V. Yarbrough and Merle L. Perry, all of Raleigh; Valjeanne Jones, Wanzie A. McAuley, Ina S. Fletcher, Curtis Mabry, Jr., Charles Stanback, Jr., and Jeanette Walker, all of Durham; Audrylene M. Bingham and Edward M. Townes, of Reidsville; Fredericka Hill, Velma Small, and Hubert Eaton, Jr., of Wilmington; Deadra D. Brewer, Siler City; Shirley R. McDuffie, Laurinburg; Sylvia A. Sharpe, Statesville; Nancy C. Williams, Linda C. Davis, James R. Faucette and William D. Shanks, all of Burlington; Charles E. Jackson, Kinston; Geraldine Howard and Gale M. Sneed, Henderson; and Lois Simmons, Goldsboro.

Many Classes Hold Reunions At Bennett College

S. C. BENNETT GRADS---Scheduled to receive degrees at the 87th commencement at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., on May 30 were these seniors from South Carolina. Left to right, front row: Misses Gloria Greene, Timmonsville; Pearl Gibbs, Moncks Corner; Gwendolyn Pyatt, Charleston; Barbara Mitchell, Waltersboro; back row: Misses Marilyn Neal, Columbia; Gladys Hemingway, Georgetown; Alma Washington, Beaufort, and Arneese Woods, Darlington.

FROM DELAWARE VALLEY---Some of the 35 Bennett College graduates and members of their families who came from Philadelphia, Chester, Pa., and Wilmington, Del., for alumni reunions, are shown beside air-conditioned bus in which they made the trip. This is the largest such delegation ever to revisit their alma mater.

1950 BENNETT GRADS---Shown here are some of the members of the class of 1950, who attended their reunion at Bennett College recently, standing in front of the magnolia tree which they planted 10 years ago, left to right, Mesdames Josephine H. Heughan, Greensboro, N. C.; Ouida R. Scarborough, Trevose, Pa.; Edna S. Phillips, Baltimore, Md.; Virmetta Gilmore, Washington, D. C.; Nola B. Sheffey, Washington, D. C.; Miss Martha E. Randall, Washington, D. C.; Mary E. Eubanks, Washington, D. C.; Agnes T. Abernethy, Westminster, Md.; Gloria Dozier, Indianapolis, Ind. and Martha M. McKenzie, Miami, Fla.

FROM AFRICA TO JAMAICA---The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Atherton Didier, of Kingston, Jamaica, BWI, are flanked on left by Miss Blanche Tuboku-Metzger, of Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa, valedictorian and their daughter, Joan, both members of the 1960 graduating class at Bennett College.

BENNETT ALUMNI REUNION---Dr. Eunice S. Newton (at mike) gives words of welcome from the faculty during All-Bennett Luncheon attended by reunion classes at the Greensboro, N. C. institution. To her right are: Mrs. Ruth N. Thomas, '33, pianist, of Lexington, N.C.; Miss Celeste Farrington, '39, soloist, of Greensboro; and Bishop P.A. Taylor, Jr., while to her left are: Miss Muriel E. Day, President Willa B. Player, Mrs. Ruth P. Bell, '35, of Greensboro, who presided, and Mrs. Jannie L. Hinnant, '45, of Greensboro, president of the National Bennett College Alumni Association.

TEARS AS USUAL---The traditional tears of joy shed by Bennett graduates at commencement time were no less in evidence this year as evidenced by Misses Willa Pullins and Betty Crockett, both of Charlotte, N. C., as they are consoled by junior schoolmates following the 87th commencement of Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., recently.

PRESIDENT'S RECEPTION---Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, greets parents during reception held at her home as highlight of commencement season at the Greensboro, N. C. institution. Others in receiving line are Miss Mary L. Mayfield, registrar; Bishop P. A. Taylor, who delivered the baccalaureate sermon, and Dr. C.G. Winston, chairman of the social science division, and Mrs. Winston.

These members of the 1960 graduating class at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., received degrees at 87th commencement exercises.

Bennett College Holds 87th Commencement

Degrees were conferred upon 68 seniors by President Willa B. Player of Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., at its 87th commencement exercises held May 30.

Speaker was Dr. Frank P. Graham, United Nations representative for India and Pakistan, and former president of the University of North Carolina.

The bachelor of arts degree was conferred upon 47 graduates and the bachelor of science degree upon

Dr. Shang-Ling Fu, of the sociology faculty, has been awarded a fellowship to participate in the summer program at Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland, Ohio.

BENNETT GRAD

GREENSBORO — Miss Julia M. McClain, of Anniston, Ala., a member of the class of '57 at Bentett College was recently graduated with the bachelor of divinity degree from the Hartford Seminary Foundation at Hartford, Conn.

Miss McClain, who is now serving as assistant minister at a Methodist Church at her home, is the first graduate of Bennett (since it became a woman's college in 1926) to enter the active ministry. Winner of the award given for improvement in the study of Greek,

EARLY BENNETT GRADS—Mr. and Mrs. Oliver R. Pope, Philadelphia, Pa., received an ovation when they attended the alumni reunion at Bennett College recently because they represented clases that had been out 50 years or more. Mrs. Pope is a graduate of 1910 and Mr. Pope of 1903. Both followed teaching careers.

Miss Nancy J. Kirby, of Haddonfield, N. J., a senior psychology major at Bennett College, has been awarded a John Hay Whitney fellowship for graduate study next year.

Miss Kirby, the daughter of Mrs. James R. Armstead, Jr., will pursue work in clinical and research psychology at the University of Chicago or at Syracuse University, beginning in September. Her all-expense award is renewable.

At Bennett, Miss Kirby, an honor roll student, served as president of the David D. Jones Student Union.

Van S. Allen, biology instructor at Bennett College has been selected as one of the 30 participants in the summer botany conference to be sponsored by the National Science Foundation at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, August 1-19.

Allen, who holds the M.S. degree from the University of Michigan and has done further study at Yale University, has been a member of the Bennett faculty since 1953.

Bachelor of Divinity Degree to Julia McClain

Miss Julia M. McClain, 1504 Brown Ave., Anniston, Ala., received the bachelor of divinity degree from the Hartford Seminary Foundation, Hartford, Conn., at its 125th annual commencement.

Miss McClain, a graduate of Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., anticipates beginning a course of study in the fall which will lead to a degree in religious education. At the same time she expects to continue serving as interim minister and youth advisor for the Faith Congregational Church, Hartford, where she has been active while a student. She has also done graduate study at the Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, Ill.

Miss McClain

Leadership School Held At Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C. — A total of 109 persons, representing all four conferences, attended the annual Baltimore Area Leadership School at Bennett College last week.

A summer activity of the Methodist Church, the school, headed by the Rev. Howard Bailey, of Yeadon, Pa., as dean, had as its theme "Frontiers in Christian Education." A faculty of 15 gave instruction in five basic courses.

THESE COURSES were concerned with music, audio-visual resources, drama and recreation in Christian education and with new insights for Christian education in the district. Serving on the faculty were the following persons:

The Revs. David Briddell, Philadelphia; William K. Burns, Maplewood, N. J.; Ernest P. Clark, Sr., Pittsburgh, Pa.; W. Leo Cole, Bluefield, W. Va.; Ernest T. Dixon, Jr., Nashville, Tenn; Robert G. Doyle, Pittsburgh, Pa.; George W. Jones, Lynchburg, Va.; H. W. Phillips, Statesville; W. E. Stanley, Dover, Del.; Willard A. Williams, Baltimore, Md.; Miss Amy G. Loomis, Vincennes, Ind.; Leonard C. Miller, Philadelphia, Pa., and Miss Florence Wheeler, Baltimore, Md.

Pastor's School at Bennett Draws Delegates From Eight States

GREENSBORO— Seven women, women and 28 men, representing 8 states and the District of Columbia, are attending the annual pastors' school at Bennett College.

The four annual conferences of the Baltimore Area (Central Jurisdiction) of the Methodist Church are represented, according to the Rev. Charles L. Carrington, of Jamaica, N. Y., who is again serving as dean.

Largest group this year—13—comes from Maryland, with North Carolina next with seven, and Pennsylvania third, with five. Serving on this year's faculty are:

Dr. Walter R. Hazzard, Philadelphia; Dr. Major J. Jones, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Rev. Joshua E. Licorish, Philadelphia; Rev. Edward McGowan, Washington, D. C.; Rev. Henry Nichols, Germantown, Pa.; Dr. Ramsay Bridges, Pittsburgh, Pa.; and Rev. John Corry, Greensboro.

The following persons registered for classes which will continue through July 15:

George R. Allen, Catonsville, Md.; Woodrow L. Amey, Philadelphia, Pa.; Howard F. Barclay, Nanticoke, Md.; Adolphus A. Berry, Quinton, Md.; Chester A. Bowles, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Willis Byrd, Baltimore, Md.; Homer H. Davis, Charleston, W. Va.; William H. Davis, Annapolis, Md.; Sophia Jane East, Pilot Mount, N. C.; J. F. Ford, Baltimore, Md.; Eva T. Franklin, Chattanooga, Tenn.; J. A. Gray, Trinity, N. C.

Frank E. Hawkins, Washington, D. C.; Philip A. Henry, Chestertown, Md.; Martha S. Hollis, Chester, Pa.; Paul Johnson, Annapolis, Md.; Emerson M. Jolly, Salisbury, Md.; L. H. Jones, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Wesley A. Kelly, Baltimore, Md.; Clifford E. Landrum, Philadelphia, Pa.; Willie V. Leazer, Newton, N. C.; Daniel F. Marshall, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Elwood H. Matthews, Silver Spring, Md.; Robert H. McDowell, Kings Mountain, N. C.

James M. McLean, Stanley, N. C.; Lovell Parham, Grafton, W. Va.; William H. Peters, Richmond, Va.; Rosa L. Robbins, Philadelphia, Pa.; Irene Simpson, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Julia S. Thompson, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Robert Toney, Boone Mill, Va.; Myrtle Travers, Baltimore, Md.; James O. Waters, Brandywine, Md.; Essau A. Williams, Mullins, S. C.; and Clifton Scott, Advance, N. C.

Leaders School Attracts 109

GREENSBORO — A total of 109 persons, representing all four conferences, attended the annual Baltimore Area Leadership School at Bennett College last week.

A summer activity of the Methodist Church, the school, headed by the Rev. Howard Bailey, of Yeadon, Pa., as dean, had as its theme "Frontiers in Christian Education." A faculty of 15 gave instruction in five basic courses.

These courses were concerned with music, audio-visual resources, drama and recreation in Christian education and with new insights for Christian education in the district.

Attending from this area were: The Rev. Mr. L. A. Brown and the Rev. Mr. W. T. Brown, of Greensboro, Miss Kathryn Warren, and Mrs. Myra Roseman, of Winston-Salem Mrs. Eloise Dillahunt, also of Winston-Salem, Mrs. Lillie Barbar, of Gastonia, Oscar Burwich, of Raleigh, Mrs. Marcelle Bethea, and the Rev. Mr. G. E. Hogue, of Laurinburg, the Rev. Mr. J. T. Jones, of Durham, and the Rev. Mr. James McCallum of Lum-

Youth Hold Yearly Meet At Greensboro

GREENSBORO — The annual Youth Assembly sponsored by the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church, closed its one-week session at Bennett College Saturday, with a total of 105 participants.

The Winston district led in registration with 37 persons, followed by the Western district, with 25.

The Rev. Joseph B. Bethea of Elkin served as dean and Miss Beatrice Watts of Winston-Salem was registrar. Three courses for youth were offered—"Understanding and Using the Bible," "How Can I Know What is Right?" and "Social Concern." For adults, there was a course, "How Can Your Church Win and Hold Young People?"

THREE AT BENNETT RECEIVE SCHOLARSHIPS

GREENSBORO — Three members of the Bennett College faculty have been awarded study grants made possible by the Board of Education of the Methodist Church.

They are: Mrs. Louise G. Street, clothing and textiles teacher, George O. Phillips, instructor in audio-visual education, and Edward Lowe, instructor in music education.

RALEIGH, N. C., SATURDAY, JULY 30, 1960

Leadership Training Program At Bennett Attracts Several

GREENSBORO — Among the 22 students working this summer in the leadership training program of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church are two from Bennett College.

Miss Mildred B. Graves, of Leaksville, a rising junior, has been assigned to the Kelly Methodist Church, Chicago, Ill.; while Miss Frances L. Poindexter, of Lexington, Va., a rising senior, is working in the Warren Methodist Church, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Graduation Highlights Bennett College

EARLY BENNETT GRADUATES---Mr. and Mrs. Oliver R. Pope, of Philadelphia, Pa., who received an ovation when they attended the alumni reunion at Bennett College because they represented classes that had been out 50 years or more. Mrs. Pope is a graduate of 1910 and Mr. Pope of 1903. Both followed teaching careers.

STUDENT UNION OFFICERS---Miss Yvonne Redcross, left, of Hampton, Va., president of the David D. Jones Student Union at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., is shown with three of the members of her cabinet who will serve for the 1960-61 school year. Others in photo are Misses Mildred Graves, pianist, of Graham, N.C.; Margarella Bridgers, assistant secretary, of Tarboro, N. C.; and Lynda Hill, secretary, of Winston-Salem.

DREAM COME TRUE---Miss Tiner J. Spear, of Bridgeport, Conn., who was graduated as a music education major from Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., chats with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Spear and an aunt, Mrs. Tiner C. Jones, during reception held at Presidents' home.

1955 BENNETT GRADS---Shown here are some of the members of the class of 1955, who attended their reunion at Bennett College, standing in front of the magnolia tree which they planted five years ago, left to right, Miss Barbara Patterson, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Shirley D. Richardson and daughter, Donna, Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. Maurice P. Johnson, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Mrs. William Williams, Gastonia, N. C.; Mrs. Marjorie G. Bowen, Norwalk, Conn.; Miss Faye Fagan, Hudson, N. Y.; Mrs. Zepplyn S. Averrett, Greensboro, N. C.; Mrs. Inis D. Johnson, Winston-Salem and Mrs. Dolores S. Jemeson, Englewood, N. J.

POWER OF THE BALLOT---Members of panel which discussed "The Graduate Accepts Her Civic Responsibility, with Emphasis on Voter Registration" during meeting of the National Council of Bennett College Parents in Greensboro. Left to right: Dr. Hobart S. Jarrett, chairman of the humanities division; Miss Mary Ellen Bender, graduating senior, of Leonia, N. J.; Miss Dorothy Jordan, graduating senior, of Goldsboro; Roslyn Cheagle, rising junior, of Lynchburg, Va., and Mrs. Louise G. Streat, clothing and family life.

PRE-ALUMNAE OFFICERS---Heads of the Pre-Alumnae Council of Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., for the 1960-61 school year are, left to right: Misses Edwina Coleman, treasurer, Charlotte; Joyce Pullum, secretary, Baltimore, Md.; Eunice Taylor, assistant secretary, Charlotte; Celestine Miller, president, Horatio, S. C., and Mrs. Elois Harper, vice president, Lenoir.

BENNETT PARENTS' COUNCIL---Some of the members of the National Council of Bennett College Parents shown following their annual meeting at the Greensboro, N. C., college. Third from left, second row, is Joseph T. Harrington, president, of New York City, left of first row is President Willa B. Player.

Bennett Finals Week Reception

Miss Tiner J. Spear, of Bridgeport, Conn., June graduate from Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C. chats with her parentst, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Spear and an aunt, Mrs. Tiner C. Jones, during comencement reception held at the president's home.

Youth Assembly Closes Session At Bennett College

The annual Youth Assembly sponsored by the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church, closed its one-week session at Bennett College aturday, with a total of 105 participants.

The Winston district led in registration with 37 persons, followed by the Western district, with 25.

The Rev. Joseph B. Bethea of Elkin served as dean and Miss Beatrice Watts of Winston-Salem was registrar. These courses for youth were offered "Understanding and Using the Bible", "How Can I Know What is Right?" and "Social Concern". For adults, there was a course, "How Can Your Church Win and Hold Young People?"

Teaching these courses were the following ministers: J. T. Jones, Durham; A. E. Robinson, Shelby; J. W. Gwyn, Winston-Salem; J. W. Ferree, Lumberton; G. E. Hogue, Laurinburg; H. W. Phillips, Winston-Salem, and J. F. Campbell, High Point.

In addition to Methodist Youth Fellowship workshops coordinated by Rev. O. W. Burwick of Raleigh, there were interest groups for music and worships, arts and crafts, fellowship and dramatics. The Rev. W. R. Crawford of Winston-Salem, was guest speaker each morning while the Rev. James E. McCallum, of Marshall, Texas, spoke each night.

Registered for the assembly were the following:

Laurinburg District

Marie Bethea, Maxton; Edward Galbreath, Fayetteville; Stanley Jones, Charlotte; Doris G. Mitchell, Lumberton, Barbara McGill, Laurinburg; Billie McRae, Lumberton; Joannan McPhatter, Red Springs; Laurence Oats, Fayetteville; Wilbur Oates, Jr., Laurinburg; Ronnie Shipp, Charlotte, and King Smith, Rowland.

Counselors: Rev. James Feree, Lumberton; Rev. G. E. Hogue, Laurinburg; Dolores I. Moody, Laurinburg; Dev. Miles Murphy, Jr., Red Springs; Pansy L. McCelland, Laurinburg, and Trula McKeithan, Red Springs.

Western District

Marian C. Adams, Gastonia; Erma Browne, Kings Mountain; Peggy Alexander, Wilkesboro; Elsie Burris, Kings Mountain; Geraldine Burris, Kings Mountain; Doris Forney, Hickory; Francelia Gleaves, Shelby; Gail Hickerson, Lenoir; Daunelle Horton, Lenoir; John C. Hoyle, Jr., Shelby; Betty McHenry, Statesville; Janice Norwood, Lenoir; Sarah Norwood, Lenoir; Glenora Schenck, Lawndale; Calvin Sharpe, Hickory; Fred Wright, Jr., Shelby; and Maxine Wright, Gastonia.

Counselors: James Campbell, High Point; Ollie Evans, Hickory; Celia Moore, Statesville; Peggy McDowell, Kings Mountain; Rev. H. William Phillips, Winston-Salem; Theodore Powell, Spindale; Avery Robinson, Shelby; and Maude Tyson, Asheboro.

Greensboro District

Jean Brown, Elizabeth Baxter, Johnette Brittian, Susia Brown, Sandra Correia, Carolyn Fitzgerald, Addie Lindsay, William Alston, Jerome Morehead, Carolyn McAdoo, Patricia Taylor, Angeline West, and Maxine West, all of Greensboro.

Janet Hill, Durham, Joyce Morgan, Raleigh, Joylette Moore, Reidsville, and William Vaughn, Leaksville.

Counselors: Rev. L. A. Brown, and Rev. Liston Sellars, Jr., Greensboro; Rev. Oscar Burwick, Raleigh; Rev. J. T. Jones, Durham; Miss Estelle McCallum, Guilford; Miss Fannie McCallum, Guilford.

Winston District

Artie Allen, Jeannette Farrow, Ruby Gray, Martha Hightower, Yvonne Johnson, Bernice King, Betty Laughlin, and Brenda Webster, all of Winston-Salem.

Lynn Ball, Minnie Hayes, Ada Jackson, Oliver Kanoy, Jr., and Charlotte Sharpe, all of Thomasville; Bernie Bates, Jerry Eaves, Julia Rogers, and James Simpson, all of High Point; Lamar Burgess, Jonesville; Emma Eaton, and Mary Kyle, Elkins; Constance Franks, Asheboro; Doris Goolsby, Blews Creek; Carolyn Robertson, Trinity; and Rachel Taylor, Virginia.

Bennett Students In Mission Program

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Among the 22 students working this summer in the leadership training program of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church are two from Bennett college.

Miss Mildred B. Graves, of Leaksville, N. C. a rising junior, has been assigend to Chicago, Ill.; while Miss Frances L. Poindexter, of Lexington, Va., a rising senior, is working in the Warren Methodist Church, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The students are doing such work as directing social and recreation activities, teaching in daily vacation church schools, making religious surveys of communities and assisting in youth and children's camps.

7 church workers get certificates

GREENSBORO, N.C. — As a result of having successfully completed four summers of work, seven persons — three of them women — were awarded certificates when the Baltimore Area Pastors' School held graduation exercises at Bennett College last week.

Dean Charles L. Carrington of Jamaica, N. Y., who delivered the graduation address, presented certificates to:

Elwood J. Jones, Asheboro; William H. Davis, Annapolis, Md.; Philip A. Henry, Chestertown, Md.; Mrs. Martha S. Hollis, Chester, Pa.; Clifford E. Landrum, Philadelphia; Mrs. Julia S. Thompson, Chattanooga, Tenn., and Mrs. Irene Simpson, of New Rochelle, N.Y.

Following the program, in Pfeiffer Chapel, the seniors were guests at the annual dinner in the David D. Jones Student Union dining center. The Rev. Homer H. Davis, of Charleston, W. Va., was master of ceremonies.

Among the speakers was the Rev. Henry H. Nichols of Philadelphia, chairman of the area board of managers of the school.

BENNETT STUDENTS IN TRAINING INSTITUTE

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Two Bennett College students are working this summer in the leadership training program of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church. They are Misses Mildred B. Graves, Leaksville, and Miss Frances L. Poindexter, Lexington, Va. Miss Graves is assigned to Kelly Methodist Church in Chicago; Miss Poindexter is working at Warrent Methodist Church, Pittsburgh.

BENNETT OPEN HOUSE---Shown in their room during open house at Merner residence hall at Bennett College last Sunday are these three freshmen. Left to right: Miss Carolyn Martin, of Darlington, S. C., Mrs. Peggie S. Bryant, of Magnolia, N. C., and Miss Sharon Mizzell of Hallandale, Florida, holding her toy French poodle, "Fu Fu."

SCHOOL OF MISSIONS AT BENNETT COLLEGE

The School of Missions conducted by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the North Carolina Methodist Conference closed at Bennett College, Friday, with a registration of 100.

Mrs. Mary N. Morrison, of Statesville, chairman, and Miss Fannie McCallum, of Greensboro, dean, were assisted by a faculty composed of Mrs. Dorothy P. Jones, of Reidsville; Miss Louise Nichols, of New York City; the Rev. L. A. Brown, superintendent of the Greensboro District, and Mrs. Minnie B. Smith and Dr. Hobart S. Jarrett, of Bennett College.

Registered for the one-week session were:

Greensboro District

Mesdames M. Smitherman, Macie Hamilton, S. W. Brown, Nancy Cheek, Nancy Corry, R. B. Withers, L. V. Hinton, Jessie Rivers, Connie Mebane, Emily Morehead.

Mesdames Josephine McAdoo, Mary Mebane, Rosa Winchester, Reatha Donnell, Olivia Womack, Lena McMillan, Ruth Martin, Fannie Ellis, Madeline Turner, Leola Rankin.

Mesdames G. M. Phelps, L. A. Brown, Ruth B. Comer and Miss Ada Tonkins, all of Greensboro.

Mesdames Ophelia Simpson, Leaksville; Martha Burwick, Raleigh; Carrie Morgan, Raleigh; K. W. Jones, Reidsville, and Misses Estelle McCallum, Guilford and Fannie McCallum, Guilford.

Winston District

Mesdames Bessie Yokley, C. Misses Cathryn Warren and M. Mayfield, Thelma Barnett, C. C. Hickerson and E. C. Mills; Catryn Moore, all of Winston-Salem.

Mesdames Ophelia Morgan, Ruth Patterson, Cozet Belo, Emma Portee, Mattie Haizlip, T. Y. Brincefield, A. T. McLeod and J. D. Morgan, all of

Mesdames Macie McCauley, High Point.

Thomasville; Zula Lovell, Pilot Mountain; Florence Roper, Asheboro; Elizabeth Leak, Pilot Mountain; C. A. Barrett, Asheboro; J. E. Brower, Greensboro; Marion Payne; Thomasville; Clara Smitherman, Lexington; J. W. Jones, Asheboro, and Miss Eva Evans, Trinity.

Western District

Mesdames Mary L. Gleaves, Shelby; Ruth Jolley, Lenoir; Alice Bennett, Hickory; Marie Moore Fuller, Hickory; Martha McGee, Asheville; Aurelia Steward, Mooresville; Annie Lee Johnson, Stanley; Daisy Glass Granite Falls; Willie Moultree, Asheville; Bleaker McCorkle, Mt. Holly.

Mesdames Mary McGill, Gastonia; Eva Lee Dula, Lenoir; Alease Bailey, Wilkesboro; Mary N. Morrison, Statesville, Grace Smith, Mt. Holly; Martha London, Shelby; N. L. Adderly, Lakeland, Fla.; Beatrice Smith, Hickory; Connie Williams, Marion; Izetta Corry, Shelby.

Mesdames Pauline Clark, Shelby, Jettie D. Morrison, Statesville, and Medlla Carson, Lawndale. Misses Elma Dennis, Asheville; Louise Horde, Shelby, and Isabelle Jones, Asheville.

Laurinburg District

Mesdames Bernice Mitchell, Lumberton; T. H. Wooten; Charlotte; W. M. Gannaway, Fayetteville; Bernice Cherry, Charlotte; Trula McKeithan, Red Springs; Delia Hooper, Laurinburg; J. P. Cochran, Rowland; Mary B. Carroll, Rowland.

Mesdames Lula W. Brown, Charlotte C. A. Hargrove, Maxton; Emily Benton, Rowland; Miss Estella Graham, Fayette-Gertrude Gleaves, Maxton, and ville.

Memoirs Of Bennett's 1959 Freshman Class

SOMETHING IN COMMON---Among the students entering Bennett College this fall are (left to right) Misses Soo Lee, of Seoul, Korea and Marie Nassau, of Monrovia, Liberia. Probably because each is far from home, they discovered a natural affinity for each other and have become fast friends. They are shown here studying together.

OFF TO A GOOD START---Looking on somewhat apprehensively are these two Bennett College freshmen as their registration cards are checked. This year's class, largest in the history of the Greensboro, N. C. institution, includes 13 young women who were valedictorians in high school and six who were salutatorians.

CHECKING CHAPEL SEATING---Two Bennett College juniors, Misses Iris Jeffries, of Burlington, N. C., and Kay Frances Henry, of Greensboro, N. C., check master chart to locate their assigned chapel seats for the 1959-60 academic year. Miss Jeffries is a chemistry major and M Henry is majoring in elementary education.

TEXAS TWINS AT BENNETT---The city of Houston, Texas has provided Bennett College with its first set of twins in the past two years. Both freshmen, they are (left to right) Misses Marylen Claye and her sister Clifford Ann, both 1959 graduates at the Jack Yates High School in Houston.

FIRST SUNDAY STROLL---Walking across the Bennett College campus on their first Sunday afternoon at the Greensboro, N. C. institution and adding beauty to its charm are these two Greensboro freshmen. Left to right, Misses Elena Chapman, of Philadelphia, Pa., and Patricia Fish, of Princeton, N. J.

RECORD BREAKING CLASS---Some of the 172 members of the Bennett College freshman class are shown here in this photograph taken in front of Pfeiffer Chapel. This year's class is the largest in the history of the Greensboro, N. C. institution.

For Bennett's Future

Alumna (Mrs.) Marjorie Gay Brown, of Norwalk, Conn., presents a check to Howard Hamerschlag, partner of Hamerschlag, Borg & Co., New York City, to initiate the Bennett Alumni's 35-year cumulative investment program for their alma mater. Alumna (Mrs.) Dorothy Moore Marbury, of Wilmington, Del., and Joseph T. Harrington (standing center), of New York City, share in the ceremony. Dr. F. D. Patterson, chairman of Bennett's board of trustees and founder of the United Negro College Fund, approves the plan. Founded in 1873 as a co-educational institution, Bennett College in Greensboro, N. C., became a college for women in 1926, and a charter member of the College Fund in 1944.

Bennett Alumni Initiate Self-Endowment Program

New York, July 11 — Alumni of Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., initiated a self-endowment program for their alma mater during July, according to Dr. F. D. Patterson, chairman of the board of trustees. The initial $1,000 payment, on a 35-year annual investment program in mutual funds, was made in the offices of Hamerschlag, Borg & Co., New York City, July 6.

"After 15 years, the earnings achieved through this cumulative investment program should provide an increasing return for the college every five years," Dr. Patterson said.

"Under our conutry's present rate of growth, the self-endowment program will mature in 75 to 100 years. Then it should provide Bennett with an annual $100,000 income for the following 96 years.

"Or—if the trustees prefer—the total remaining equity may be withdrawn in one lump sum It may be difficult to realize the at maturity the value of the fact," Dr. Patterson said, "but equity should be in the neighborhood of two million dollars. It should be a thrilling experience for any alumni group to see the end point in a program of this type".

Bennett is a charter member of the United Negro College Fund, founder by Dr. Patterson in 1944 as America's first educational community chest.

"Like many of the Fund's 33 member colleges, Bennett has been an integral part of America's system of higher education for nearly a century," Dr. Patterson said. "The great public universities and the small private colleges have existed side-by-side over the years. They must continue to do so for the educational health of the country.

"The small private colleges, originally founded for Negro youth, will play an increasingly vital role in providing sensitized, dedicated leadership in America. The whole process of integration must rest squarely on the shoulders of competence.

"The alumni of Bennett believe their alma mater will have a great share in creating that competence. The program they are undertaking today demonstrates their faith in the future."

Bennett Alumni Initiate Self-Endowment Program

NEW YORK — Alumni of Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., initiated a self-endowment program for their alma mater during July, according to Dr. F. D. Patterson, chairman of the board of trustees. The initial $1,000 payment, on a 35-year annual investment program in mutual funds, was made in the offices of Hamershlag, Borg and Co., New York City, July 6.

"After 15 years, the earnings achieved through this cumulative investment program should provide an increasing return for the college every five years," Dr. Patterson said.

"Under our country's present rate of growth, the self-endowment program will mature in 75 to 100 years. Then it should provide Bennett with an annual $100,000 income for the following 96 years.

"Or—if the trustees prefer—the total remaining equity may be withdrawn in one lump sum. It may be difficult to realize the fact," Dr. Patterson said, "but at maturity the value of the equity should be in the neighborhood of two million dollars. It should be a thrilling experience for any alumni group to see the end point in a program of this type."

Bennett is a charter member of the United Negro College Fund founded by Dr. Patterson in 1944 as America's first educational community chest.

"Like many of the Fund's 33 member colleges, Bennett has been an integral part of America's system of higher education for nearly a century," Dr. Patterson said. "The great public universities and the small private colleges have existed side-by-side over the years. They must continue to do so for the educational health of the country."

LEADERSHIP, TRAINING PROGRAM

Among the 22 students working this summer in the leadership training program of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church are two from Bennett College.

Miss Mildred B. Graves, of Leaksville, a rising junior, has been assigned to the Kelly Methodist Church, Chicago, Ill.; while Miss Frances L. Poindexter, of Lexington, Va., a rising senior is working in the Warren Methodist Church, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The students are doing such work as directing social and recreation activities, teaching in daily vacation church schools, making religious surveys of communities and assisting in youth and children's camps.

Collegians - Half Century Later

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver R. Pope of Philadelphia, received wide applause when they attended the alumni reunion at Bennett College recently because they represented classes that had been out 50 years or more. Mrs. Pope is a graduate of 1910 and Mr. Pope of 1903. Both followed teaching careers.

109 Methodists attend annual leadership school

GREENSBORO, N.C. — A total of 109 persons, representing all four conferences, attended the annual Baltimore Area Leadership School at Bennett College last week.

A summer activity of the Methodist Church, the school, headed by the Rev. Howard Bailey, of Yeadon, Pa., as dean had as its theme "Frontiers in Christian Education."

A faculty of 15 gave instruction in five basic courses; music, audio - visual resourses, drama and recreation in Christian education and with new insights for Christian education in the district.

* * *

FACULTY MEMBERS were the Revs. David Briddell, Philadelphia; William K. Burns, Maplewood, N. J.; Ernest P. Clark Sr., Pittsburgh; W. Leo Cole, Bluefield, W. Va.; Ernest T. Dixon Jr., Nashville, Tenn; Robert G. Doyle, Pittsburg; George W. Jones, Lynchburg, Va.; H. W. Phillips, Statesville; W. E. Stanley, Dover, Del.; Willard A. Williams, Baltimore; Miss Amy G. Loomis, Vincennes, Ind.; Leonard C. Miller, Philadelphia; and Miss Florence Wheeler, Baltimore.

DELAWARE CONFERENCE

James A. Carroll, Mrs. Louise Evans and Mrs. Lillian Forrow, all of Chester, Pa.; Luther Gibson Jr., Mrs. Mary L. Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Palmer, Harold W. Smith and the Rev. William Strother, all of Philadelphia; the Rev. N.E. Anderson and J. W. Elbert, Salisbury, Md.; Calvin C. Bird and Clement L. Smiley of Delmar, Del.;

Elaine Dashiell, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Trever C. Jones and the Rev. Crawford Trader, all of Easton, Md; Mrs. Carolyn C. Dorman, Snow Hill, Md.; Freddie Dixon, Nashville, Tenn the Rev. C. A. Edmonds, Denton, Del.; the Rev. S. G. Fullman, Woodbury, N.J.; Mrs. Mary L. Hudson, Onancock, Va.; the Rev. and Mrs. Edgar C. Jordon, Centerville, Md.;

The Rev. L. D. Lygth, Wilmington, Del.; the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Levin Purnell, Girdlertee, Md.; Mrs. Cora N. Selby, Laurel, Del.; the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Stanley, Dover, Del.; Herbert Wise, Pleasantville, N.J., and Robert Young of Lincoln, Del.

EAST TENN. CONFERENCE

Mrs. Beatrice H. Martin, the Rev. Anderson Davis and Mrs. Elaine Whittaker, all of Bluefield, W. Va.; Mrs. Dorothy Jones, Mrs. Annie M. Washington, Mrs. Mamie F. Walton and Mrs. Izella Taylor, all of Chattanooga, Tenn.;

Mrs. Annie McCormick and Mrs. Eleanora L. Hairston, Welch, W. Va.; Mrs. Olvie Alston, Spring City, Tenn.; Mrs. Agnes Johnson, Pulaski, Va.; Miss Lillian Manning, Excelsior, W. Va.; Mrs. Marie Marshall, Pulaski, Va.; and Mrs. Mattie Morrison, Dublin, Va.

N. C. CONFERENCE

The Revs. J. A. Brown and W. T. Brown, Greensboro; Miss Kathryn Warren, Mrs. Myra Roseman, and Mrs. Elo-Mrs. Billie Barber, Gastonia; Louise Dillahunt, Winston-Salem; Oscar Burwich, Raleigh; Mrs. Marcelle Bethea, and the Rev. G. E. Hogue, Lumberberg; the Rev. J. T. Jones Durham, N. C.; and the Rev. James McCallum of Lumberton.

WASHINGTON CONFERENCE

Bernard Anderson and Mrs. Dorothy Ireland, Annapolis, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. William Avery and Mrs. Virgie Broady, Roanoke, Va.; the Rev. Ivory P. Blackman, Martinsburg, W. Va.; Mrs. Helen Casey, Crimora, Va.; Mrs. Courtney Berry, Mrs. Morine Cooper, the Rev. John A. Gillenwater, the Rev. Richard Hall, Mrs. Marjorie Harris, the Rev. Emma Hill, the Rev. Kelly Jackson, Miss Hilda Perry, Mrs. Mary E. Price, George W. Burrell and the Rev. Everett Stevenson, all of Washington.

The Rev. Richard Clifford, Alexandria, Va.; Mrs. Cornelia Woodson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Easley, Fairmount, W. Va.; Miss Muriel Y. Fisher, Glen Burnie, Md.; the Rev. Ernest P. Clark, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Hannah Johnson, Bel Air, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. James W. King Sr., Simpsonville, Md.; Mrs. Elinor J. Mann, Pittsburgh; the Rev. Booker T. Medford, Staunton, Va.; Mrs. Daisy Parker, Hanover, Md.; Miss Toliver, Elkton, Md.; the Rev. the Rev. Roseoe C. Williams, Richmond, Va.; the Rev. Howard W. Hinson, Indian Head, Bette M. Toliver, Elkton, Md.; Md.;

Mesdames Vesta B. Copeland, Bernice Finch, Bernice Gordon, Mildred G. Harmon, Agnes T. Moore, Malcomia Phillips, Thelma Ross, Edna Walter, Bessie Williams, Camilla Williams, Mrs. Edna R. Williams, Miss Jo Ellen Lofton and Sidney W. Ellison, all of Baltimore.

SUMMER STUDY BREAK — Misses Linda Hill, left, of Winston-Salem and Shirley Degraffenreidt, of Pittsburgh, Bennett College seniors who are studying this summer at Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, take a break between classes to compare notes.

Methodist School Ends At Bennett

GREENSBORO — The School of Missions conducted by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the North Carolina Methodist Conference closed at Bennett College, Friday, with a registration of 100.

Mrs. M. N. Morrison, of Statesville, chairman, and Miss Fannie McCallum, of Greensboro, dean, were assisted by a faculty composed of Mrs. Dorothy P. Jones, of Reidsville; Miss Louis Nichols, of New York City; the Rev. A. L. Brown, superintendent of the Greensboro District, and Mrs. M. B. Smith and Dr. Hobart S. Jarrett, of Bennett College.

Registered for the one-week session were:

GREENSBORO DISTRICT

Mesdames M. Smitherman, Macie Hamilton, S. W. Brown, Nancy Cheek, Nancy Corry, R. B. Withers, L. V. Hinton, Jessie Rivers, Connie Mebane, Emily Morehead.

Mesdames Josephine McAdoo, Mary Mebane, Rosa Winchester, Reatha Donnell, Olivia Womack, Lena McMillan, Ruth Martin, Fannie Ellis, Madeline Turner, Leola Rankin.

Mesdames G. M. Phelps, L. A. Brown, Ruth B. Comer and Miss Ada Tonkins, all of Greensboro.

Mesdames Ophelia Simpson, Leaksville; Martha Burwick, Raleigh; Carrie Morgan, Raleigh; K. W. Jones, Reidsville, and Misses Estelle McCallum, Guilford and Fannie McCallum, Guilford.

WINSTON DISTRICT

Mesdames Bessie Yokley, C. M. Mayfield, Thelma Barnett, C. C. Hickerson and E. C. Mills; Misses Cathryn Warren and Cathryn Moore, all of Winston-Salem.

Mesdames Ophelia Morgan, Ruth Patterson, Cozet Belo, Emma Portee, Mattie Haizlip, T. Y. Brincefield, A. P. McLeod and J. D. Morgan, all of High Point.

Mesdames Macie McCaul, of Thomasville; Zula Lovell, Pilot Mountain; Florence Roper, Asheboro; Elizabeth Beak, Pilot Mountain; C. A. Barrett, Asheboro; J. E. Brower, Greensboro; Marion Payne; Thomasville; Clara Smitherman, Lexington; J. W. Jones, Asheboro, and Miss Eva Evans, Trinity.

WESTERN DISTRICT

Mesdames M. L. Gleaves, Shelby; Ruth Jolley, Lenoir; Alice Bennett, Hickory; Marie Moore Fuller, Hickory; Martha McGee, Asheville; Aurelia Steward, Mooresville; Annie Lee Jonson, Stanley; Daisy Glass, Granite Falls; Willie Moultree, Asheville; Bleaker McCorkle, Mt. Holly.

Mesdames Mary McGill, Gastonia; Eva Lee Duta, Lenoir; Alease Bailey, Wilkesboro; Mary N. Morrison, Statesville; Grace Smith, Mt. Holly; Martha London, Shelby; N. L. Adderly, Lakeland, Fla.; Beatrice Smith, Hickory; Connie Williams, Marion; Izetta Corry, Shelby.

Mesdames Pauline Clark, Shelby; Jettie D. Morrison, Statesville; and Madella Carson, Lawndale. Misses Elma Dennis, Asheville; Louise Horde, Shelby, and Isabelle Jones, Asheville.

LAURINBURG DISTRICT

Mesdames Bernice Mitchell, Lumberton; T. H. Wooten, Charlotte; W. M. Gannaway, Fayetteville; Bernice Cherry, Charlotte; Trula McKeithan, Red Springs; Delia Bonner, Laurinburg; J. P. Cochran, Rowland; Mary B. Carroll, Rowland.

4 AWARDED CERTIFICATES FROM BALTIMORE AREA PASTOR'S SCHOOL

As a result of having successfully completed four summers of work, seven persons — three of them women — were awarded certificates when the Baltimore Area Pastor's School held graduation exercises at Bennett College last week.

Thirty-six persons were registered for this year's school which is conducted annualy for those Methodist ministers who have not had the advantage of formal theological training in a seminary.

Dean Charles L. Carrington of Jamaica, N. Y., who delivered the graduation address, presented certificates to:

Elwood J. Jones, Asheboro, N. C.; William H. Davis, Annapolis, Md.; Philip A. Henry, Chestertown, Md.; Mrs. Martha S. Hollis, Chester, Pa.; Clifford E. Landrum, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. Julia S. Thompson, Chattanooga, Tenn., and Mrs. Irene Simpson, of New Rochelle, N.Y.

Following this program, held in Pfeiffer Chapel, the seniors were guests at the annual dinner in the David D. Jones Student Union dining center. The Rev. Homer H. Davis, of Charleston, W. Va., was master of ceremonies and among the speakers was the Rev. Henry H. Nichols, of Philadelphia, Pa., chairman of the area board of managers of the school.

courses in "Old Testament," "Practical Theology," "Comparative Religion," "Church History," "New Testament," and "Preaching" provides four weeks of in-service training each summer.

FOR BENNETT'S FUTURE—Alumna (Mrs.) Marjorie Gay Brown, of Nowalk, Conn., presents a check to Howard Hamerschlag, partner of Hamerschlag, Borg & Co., New York City, to initiate the Bennett Alumni's 35-year cumulative investment program for their alma mater. Alumna (Mrs.) Dorothy Noore Marbury, of Wilmington, Del., and Joseph T. Harrington (standing center), of New York City, share in the ceremony. Dr. F. D. Patterson, chairman of Bennett's board of trustees and founder of the United Negro College Fund, approves the plan. Founded in 1773 as a co-educational institution, Bennett College in Greensboro, N. C., became a college for women in 1926, and a charter member of the College Fund in 1944.

Bennett Alumnae Give First $1,000 on 35-Year Endowment

NEW YORK—Alumnae of Bennett College, Greensboro, initiated a self-endorsement program for their alma mater during July, according to Dr. F. D. Patterson, chairman of the board of trustees.

The initial $1,000 payment, on a 35-year annual investment program in mutual funds, was made in the offices of Hamershlag, Borg & Co., New York City, July 6.

"After 15 years, the earnings achieved through this cumulative investment program should provide an increasing return for the College every five years," Dr. Potterson said.

"Under our country's present rate of growth, the self-endowment program will mature in 75 to 100 years. Then it should provide Bennett with an annual $100,000 income for the following 96 years.

"Or—if the trustees prefer—the total remaining equity may be withdrawn in one lump sum. It may be difficult to realize the fact," Dr. Patterson said, "but at maturity the value of the equity should be in the neighborhood of two million dollars.

It should be a thrilling experience for any alumni group to see the end point in a program of this type."

Bennett is a charter member of the United Negro College Fund founded by Dr. Patterson in 1944 as America's first educational community chest.

"Like many of the Fund's 33 member colleges, Bennett has been an integral part of America's system of higher education for nearly a century," Dr. Patterson said. "The great public universities and the small private colleges have existed side by side over the years. They must continue to do so for the educational health of the country.

A Total of 109 Persons Representing Four Conferences at Bennett College

A total of 109 persons, representing all four conferences, attended the annual Baltimore Area Leadership School at Bennett College last week.

A summer activity of the Methodist Church, the school, headed by the Rev. Howard Bailey, of Yeadon, Pa., as dean, had as its theme "Frontiers in Christian Education." A faculty of 15 gave instruction in five basic courses.

These courses were concerned with music, audio-visual resources, drama and recreation in Christian education and with new insights for Christian education in the district. Serving on the faculty were the following persons:

Revs. David Briddell, Philadelphia; William K. Burns, Maplewood, N. J.; Ernest P. Clark, Sr., Pittsburg, Pa.; W. Leo Cole, Bluefield, W. Va.; Ernest T. Dixon, Jr., Nashville, Tenn.; Robert G. Doyle, Pittsburgh, Pa.; George W. Jones, Lynchburg, Va.; H. W. Phillips, Statesville; W. E. Stanley, Dover, Del.; Willard A. Williams, Baltimore, Md.; Miss Amy G. Loomis, Vincennes, Ind.; Leonard C. Miller, Philadelphia, Pa. and Miss Florence Wheeler, Baltimore, Md.

Registered for the school were the following:

Delaware Conference

James A. Carroll, Mrs. Louise Evans and Mrs. Lillian Forrow, all of Chesta, Pa.; Luther Gibson, Jr., Mrs. Mary L. Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Palmer, Harold W. Smith and the Rev. Mr. William Strother, all of Philadelphia, Pa.; the Rev. Mr. N. E. Anderson and the Rev. Mr. J. W. Elbert, of Salisbury, Md.; Calvin C. Bird and Clemware; Elaine Dashiell, the Rev. ent L. Smiley of Delmar, Dela- Mr. Trever C. Jones and Mrs. and the Rev. Mr. Crawford Trader, all of Easton, Md.

Mrs. Carolyn C. Dorman, of Snow Hill, Md.; Freddie Dixon, of Nashville, Tenn.; the Rev. Mr. C. A. Edmonds, of Denton, Delaware; the Rev. Mr. S. G. Fullman of Woodbury, N. J.; Mrs. Mary L. Hudson, of Onancock, Va.; Mrs. and the Rev. Mr. Edgar C. Jordon, of Centerville, Md.; the Rev. Mr. L. D. Lyght, of Wilmington, Delaware; Mrs. and the Rev. Mr. Levin Purnell, of Girdletree, Md.; Mrs. Cora N. Selby, of Laurel, Del.; Mrs. and the Rev. Mr. Walter E. Stanley, of Dover, Del.; Herbert Wise, of Pleasantville, N. J.; Robert Young, of Lincoln, Del.

East Tennessee Conference

Mrs. Bernice H. Martin, the Rev. Mr. Anderson Davis and Mrs. Elaine Whittaker, all of Blufield, W. Va.; Mrs. Dorothy Jones, Mrs. Annie M. Washington, Mrs. Mamie F. Walton and Mrs. Izella Taylor, all of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mrs. Annie McCormick and Mrs. Eleanora L. Hairston, of Welch, W Va.; Mrs. Olive Alston, of Spring City, Tenn.; Mrs. Agnes Johnson, Pulaski, Va.; Miss Lillian Manning, Excelsior, W. Va.; Mrs. Marie Marshall, Pulaski, Va.; Mrs. Mattie Morrison, Rublin, Va.

North Carolina Conference

The Rev. Mr. L. A. Brown and the Rev. Mr. W. T. Brown, of Greensboro, N. .; Miss Kathryn Warren, and Mrs. Myra Roseman, of Winston-Salem, N. C.; Mrs. Eloise Dillahunt, also of Winston-Salem, N. C.; Mrs. Lillie Barber, of Gastonia, N.C.; Oscar Burwick, of Raleigh, N. C.; Mrs. Marcelle Bethea, and the Rev. Mr. G. E. Hogue, of Laurinburg, N. C.; the Rev. Mr. J. T. Jones, of Durham, N. C.; and the Rev. Mr. James McCallum of Lumberton, N. C.

Washington Conference

Bernard Anderson and Mrs. Dorothy Ireland, Annapolis, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. William Avery and Mrs. Virgie Broady, Roanoke, Va.; Rev. Ivory P. Blackman, Martinsburg, W. Va.; Mrs. Helen Casey, Crimora, Va.; Mrs. Courtney Berry, Mrs. Morine Cooper, Rev. John A. Gillenwater, Rev. Richard Hall, Mrs. Marjorie Harris, Rev. Emma Hill, Rev. Kelly Jackson, Miss Hilda Perry, Mrs. Mary E. Price, George W. Burrell and Rev. Everett Stevenson, all of Washington, D. C.

Rev. Richard Clifford, Alevandria, Va.; Mrs. Cornelia Woodley, Fairmount, W. Va.; Miss son, Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Eas- Muriel Y. Fisher, Glen Burnie, Md.; Rev. Ernest P. Clark, Pittsburg, Pa.; Mrs. Hannah Johnson, Bel Air, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. James W. King, Sr., Simpsonville, Md.; Mrs. Elinor J. Mann, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Rev. Booker T. Medford, Staunton, Va.; Mrs. Daisy Parker, Hanover, Md.; Miss Bette M. Toliver, Elkton, Md.; Rev. Roscoe C. Williams, Richmond, Va.; Rev. Howard W. Hinson, Indian Head, Md.;

Mrs. Vesta B. Copeland, Sidney W. Ellison, Mrs. Bernice Finch, Mrs. Bernice Gordon, Mrs. Mildred G. Harmon, Miss JoEllen Lofton, Mrs. Agnes T. Moore, Mrs. Malcomia Phillips, Mrs. Thelma Ross, Mrs. Edna Walter, Mrs. Bessie Williams. Mrs. Camilla Williams and Mrs. Edna R. Williams, all of Baltimore, Md.

Bennett Group To Hear Jiri

Jairos Jiri of Bulawayo, Southern Rhodesia, South Africa, will speak today at 2:30 to students attending the summer institute in mathematics and science at Bennett College in the Science Assembly.

Jiri, president and organizing director of the African Society of the Blind and Physically Handicapped, is a participant in the Foreign Specialists' Project of the International Educational Exchange Service, sponsored by the U. S. State Department.

The institute will close on Friday at 3 p.m. with a program in the Science Assembly. Dr. James S. Lee, chairman of the department of biology at North Carolina College, Durham, will speak and certificates of attendance will be awarded to the 101 participants.

VESPERS PLANNED

High school students attending the Summer Science Institute at Bennett College will hold a vesper service in Pfeiffer Chapel at 6 p.m. today. The program will emphasize the relation of science to religion and the Rev. J. G. Corry, pastor of St. Matthews Methodist Church, will speak.

ALL SET TO GO — Taking part in fashion show at Bennett college were these models, whose escorts, all from neighboring A & T college also modeled apparel which they designed and made, featuring the "Continential Look." Left to right, front row: Misses Gracie Jones, of Lenoir; Nancy Lowe, of Kernersville; Barbara Freeman, of Lawrenceville, Va.; Ometria Campbell, of Raeford, N. C., and Carolyn Cotten, of Tarboro; back row: Robert Irving, Alfred Thompson, Benjamin Johnson, Paul Burroughs and Guss Maultsby.

Methodist Youth Assembly Closes Bennett Sessions

GREENSBORO, — The annual Youth Assembly sponsored by the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church, closed its one-week session at Bennett College Saturday, with a total of 105 participants.

The Winston-district led in registration with 37 persons, followed by the Western district, with 25.

The Rev. Joseph B. Bethea of Elkin served as dean and Miss Beatrice Watts of Winston-Salem was registrar. Three courses for youth were offered — "Understanding and Using the Bible", "How Can I Know What is Right?" and "Social Concern." For adults there was a course, "How Can Your Church Win and Hold Young People?"

Teaching these courses were the following ministers: J. T. Jones, Durham; A. E. Robinson, Shelby; J. W. Gwyn, Winston-Salem; J. W. Ferree, Lumberton; G. E. Hogue, Laurinburg; H. W. Phillips, Winston-Salem and J. F. Campbell, High Point.

In addition to Methodist Youth Fellowship workshops coordinated by Rev. O. W. Burwick of Raleigh; there were interest groups for music and workshop, arts and crafts, fellowship and dramatics. The Rev. James E. McCallum, of Marshall, Texas spoke each night.

Registred for the assembly were the following:

LAURINBURG DISTRICT

Marie Bethea, Maxton; Edward Galbreath, Fayetteville; Stanley Jones, Charlotte; Doris G. Mitchell, Lumberton; Barbara McGill, Laurinburg; Billie McRae, Lumberton; Joannah McPhatter, Red Springs; Laurence Oates, Fayetteville; Wilbur Oates, Jr., Laurinburg; Ronnie Shipp, Charlotte, and King Smith, Rowland.

Counselors: Rev. James Feree, Lumberton; Rev. G. E. Hogue, Laurinburg; Dolores B. Moody, Laurinburg; Rev. Miles Murphy, Jr., Red Springs; Pansy L. McClelland, Laurinburg, and Trula McKeithan, Red Springs.

WESTERN DISTRICT

Marian C. Adams, Gastonia; Peggy Alexander, Wilkesboro; Erma Browne, Kings Mountain; Elsie Burris, Kings Mountain; Geraldine Burris, Kings Mountain; Doris Forney, Hickory; Francelia Gleaves, Shelby; Gail Hickerson, Lenior; Dauneile Horton, Lenoir; John C. Hoyle, Jr., Shelby; Betty McHenry, Statesville; Janis Norwood, Taylorsville; Sarah Norwood, Lenoir; Glenna Schenck, Lawndale; Calvin Sharpe, Hickory; Fred Wright, Jr., Shelby, and Maxine Wright, Gastonia.

Counselors: James Campbell, High Point; Ollie Evans, Hickory; Celia Moore, Statesville; Peggy McNeill, Kings Mountain; Rev. I. William Parker, Winston-Salem; Theodore Powell, Spindale; Avery Robinson, Shelby; and Maude Shuford, Hickory.

GREENSBORO DISTRICT

Jean Brown, Elizabeth Baxter, Jonnette Dillian, Susie Brown, Sandra Correia, Carolyn Fitzgerald, Addie Lipsay, William Alston- Jerome Morehead, Carolyn McAdoo, Patricia Taylor, Angeline West, and Maxine West, all of Greensboro.

Janet Hill, Durham, Joyce Morgan, Raleigh, Joylette Moore, Reidsville, and William Vaughn, Leaksville.

Counselors: Rev. L. A. Brown, and Rev. Liston Sellars, Jr., Greensboro Rev. Oscar Burwick, Raleigh; Rev. J. T. Jones, Durham; Miss Estelle McCallum, Guilford; Miss Fannie McCallum, Guilford.

WINSTON DISTRICT

Artie Allen, Jeannene Farrow, Ruby Gray, Martha Hightower, Yvonne Johnson, Bernice King, Betty Laughlin, and Brenda Webster, all of Winston-Salem.

Lynn Ball, Minnie Hays, Ada Jackson, Oliver Kanoy, Jr., and Charlotte Sharpe, all of Thomasville; Bernie Bates, Jerry Eaves, Julia Rogers and James Sampson, all of High Point; Lamar Burgess, Jonesville; Emma Eaton, and Mary Kyle, Elkins; Constance Frank, Asheboro; Doris Goolsby, Belews Creek; Carolyn Robertson, Trinity, and Rachell Taylor, Virginia.

BENNETT FACULTY MEMBERS AWARDED GRANTS

Three members of the Bennett College faculty have been awarded study grants made possible by the Board of Education of the Methodist Church.

They are: Mrs. Louise G. Streat, clothing and textiles teacher, George O. Phillips, instructor in audio-visual education, and Edward Lowe, instructor in music education.

A Trip To South Carolina Follows Norris Vows In NC

DUDLEY, N. C. — The wedding of Miss Mable Shirley Waters and Virgil Croom Norris took place on June 18 at the First Congregational Christian Church of Dudley, with the Rev. J. T. Stanley of Greensboro, N. C. officiating, at 10 a.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Waters of Dudley. The groom is the son of Mrs. Lillie M. Ricks of Tallahassee, Fla.

A PROGRAM of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Lillie M. Ricks, soloist and mother of the groom, and Stanley Grady, organist.

The church was decorated with tall baskets of white gladioli and lighted tapers in branched candelabra and the vows were spoken before a decorated arch.

GIVEN IN marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of ivory peau de soie fashioned with a round neckline of Bordeaux lace and long lace sleeves, a fitted bodice and a full skirt.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was arranged from a cap of pure silk, scalloped with seeded pearls. She carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid and showered with ribbons and fern.

MISS ERNESTINE Waugh of Washington, D. C. maid of honor, wore a green silk organza street length dress, a half hat over pink net, and carried pink carnations tied with pink ribbon.

The junior bridesmaids were Misses Barbara Waters, sister of the bride, and Dianne Waters, cousin of the bride. They wore white silk organza dresses and carried pink carnations tied with green ribbon.

EDWIN HAMILTON, M. D. of Detroit, Mich. was best man. Ushers were William Smith, Charlotte, N. C., uncle of the groom; Willie Walker, Charlotte, N. C., cousin of the groom; Leonard H. Waters and George Waters, New York, N. Y., brothers of the bride.

The bride's mother wore blue lace with matching accessories, and a red corsage. The [illegible] of the groom wore a [illegible] dress with matching accessories and a red rose corsage.

MRS. VIRGIN C. NORRIS
Morning Wedding

IMMEDIATELY following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Sunday school room of the Church.

After the rehearsal Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Lipmon Durham of Mt. Olive, N. C. entertained the bride and groom, the wedding party and other guests at a buffet.

BEFORE LEAVING for a trip to Atlantic Beach, S. C., the bride changed to a white lace dress with white accessories and the orchid from her prayer book.

Mrs. Norris is a 1958 graduate of Bennett College. The groom graduated from Meharry Medical College. They plan to reside in Winston - Salem, N. C., where the groom will be a member of the house staff at the Kate B. Reynolds Memorial Hospital.

They Received Outstanding Recognition

Here are five of the students at Bennett College who received signal recognition during the annual Honors Day program at the Greensboro institution, left to right, Misses Jean Hayes, of Winston-Salem, winner of the Faculty Scholarship for 1960-61; Doris Luck, of Asheboro, winner of the Science Prize given by the Class of 1921; Carolyn Wright, of Shelby, winner of the Belle Tobias Scholarship; Ann Florence, of Greensboro, winner of the Lula Donnell Prizze and Carolyn Cotten, of Tarboro, winner of the Goode Prize for home economics.

Certificates Given Inst. Students

GREENSBORO — Closing activities of the Summer Institute in Mathematics and Science for high school students at Bennett College were held last week.

The six-week program, sponsored by the National Science Foundation, came to a climax with the awarding of certificates of attendance to 101 enrollees representing 14 states and the District of Columbia.

The students made a number of field trips, among them on to the Nuclear Reactor Center at North Carolina State College in Raleigh, the Morehead Planetarium at Chapel Hill and a trip to Washington, D. C. which included a visit to the Smithsonian Institution and to Howard University.

Dr. James S. Lee, chairman of the department of biology at N. C. College, Durham, delivered the commencement address in which he challenged the students to continue growth in the field of science. Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director, presided, and Dr. C. G. Winston, associate director, presented certificates.

BENNETT COLLEGE TO OPEN SEPT. 14

Bennett College will officially open its doors for the 1960-61 academic year on September 14, Miss Mary L. Mayfield, registrar, announced this week.

Freshmen and new students are to report by 5 p.m. on September 15 for a period of orientation which will extend through September 22. Entrance examinations and registration for this group have been set for September 19.

Returning students will register on September 20 and first semester classes will begin at 8 a.m. on September 21.

They Modeled In Bennett College Fashion Show

Taking part in fashion show at Bennett College were these models, whose escorts, all from neighboring A. and T. College also modeled apparel which they designed and made, featuring the "Continental Look." Left to right, front row: Misses Gracie Jones, of Lenoir; Nancy Lowe, of Kernersville; Barbara Freeman, of Lawrenceville, Va.; Ometria Campbell, of Raeford, N. C., and Carolyn Cotten, of Tarboro; back row: Robert Irving, Alfred Thompson, Benjamin Johnson, Paul Burroughs and Gus Maultsby.

TO ATTEND MEETING

Two Bennett College juniors in home economics, Carolyn Cotten of Tarboro and Daisy Robinson of Norlina, left yesterday for Penn State University to attend the 11th annual Home Economics Spring Weekend, sponsored by the university's College of Home Economics. Their expenses are being paid by Omicron Eta Chi.

BENNETT'S BEST — Shown here are five of the students at Bennett College who received signal recognition during the annual Honors Day program at the Greensboro institution. Left to right: Misses Jean Hayes of Winston-Salem, winner of the faculty scholarship; Doris Luch of Asheboro, winner of the science prize given by the Class of 1921; Carolyn Wright of Shelby, winner of the Belle Tobias scholarship; Ann Florence of Greensboro, winner of the Lula Donnell prize; and Carolyn Cotton of Tarboro, winner of the Goode prize for home economics.

105 attend Methodist youth meeting at Bennett College

GREENSBORO, N.C. — The annual Youth Assembly, sponsored by the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church, closed its one-week session at Bennett College Saturday, with a total of 105 participants.

The Winston district led in registration with 37 persons, followed by the Western district, with 25.

The Rev. Joseph B. Bethea of Elkin served as dean and Miss Beatrice Watts of Winston-Salem was registrar.

TEACHING THE courses were the following ministers: J. T. Jones, Durham; A. E. Robinson, Shelby; J. W. Gwyn, Winston-Salem; J. W. Ferre, Lumberton; G. E. Hogue, Laurinburg; H. W. Phillips, Winston-Salem; and J. F. Campbell, High Point.

In addition to Methodist Youth Fellowship workshops coordinated by Rev. O. W. Burwick of Raleigh, there were interest groups for music and worship, arts and crafts, fellowship and dramatics. The Rev. W. R. Crawford of Winston-Salem, was guest speaker each morning while the Rev. James E. McCallum, of Marshall, Texas, spoke each night.

Registered for the assembly were the following:

LAURINBURG DISTRICT

Marie Bethea, Maxton; Edward Galbreath, Fayetteville; Stanley Jones, Charlotte; Doris G. Mitchell, Lumberton; Barbara McGill, Laurinburg; Billie McRae, Lumberton; Joanna McPhatter, Red Springs; Laurence Oates, Fayetteville; Wilbur Oates, Jr., Laurenburg; Ronnie Shipp, Charlotte, and King Smith, Rowland.

Counselors: Rev. James Ferec, Lumberton; Rev. G. E. Hogue, Laurinburg; Delores B. Moody, Laurinburg; Rev. Miles Murphy, Iris, Red Springs; Pansy L. McClelland, Laurinburg, and Trula rMcKeithan, Red Springs.

WESTERN DISTRICT

Marian C. Adams, Gastonia; Peggy Alexander, Wilkesboro; Erma Browne, Kings Mountain; Geraldine Burris, Kings Mountain; Doris Forney, Hickory; Francelia Gleaves, Shelbyx; Gail Hickerson, Lenoir; Daunelle Horton, Lenoir; John C. Hoyle, Jr., Shelby Betty McHenry, Statesville; Janice Norwood, Lenoir; Glenora Schenck, Lawndale; Calvin Sharpe, Hickory; Fred Wright, Jr., Shelby, Mayne Wright Gastonia.

Counselors: James Campbell, High Point; Ollie Evans, Hickory; Gloria Moore, Statesville; Peggy McDowell, King Mountain; Rev. H. William Phillips, Winston-Salem; Theodore Powell, Spindale; Avery Robinson, Shelby; and Maude Tyson, Asheboro.

GREENSBORO DISTRICT

Jean Brown, Elizabeth Baxter, Johnette Brittian, Susie Brown, Sandra Correia, Carolyn Fitzgerald, Addie Lindsay, William Alston, Jerome Morehead, Carolyn McAdoo, Patricia Taylor, Angeline West, and Maxine West, all of Greensboro.

Jeanet Hill, Durham; Joyce Morgan, Raleigh, Joylette Moore, Reidsville, and William Vaughn, Leaksville.

Counselors: Rev. L. A. Brown, and Rev. Liston Sellars, Jr., Greensboro; Rev. Oscar Burwick, Raleigh; Rev. J. T. Jones, Durham; Miss Estelle McCallum, Guilford; Miss Fannie McCallum, Guilford.

WINSTON DISTRICT

Artie Allen, Jeannene Farrow, Ruby Gray, Martha Hightower, Yvonne Johnson, Bernice King, Betty Laughlin, and Brenda Webster, all of Winston Salem.

Lynn Ball, Minnie Hayes, Ada Jackson, Oliver Kanoy, Jr., and Charlotte Sharpe, all of Thomasville; Bernie Bates, Jerry Eaves, Julia Rogers and James Simpson, all of High Point; Lamar Burgess, Jonesville; Emma Eaton, and Mary Kyle, Elkins; Constance Franks Asheboro; Doris Goolsby, Belews Creek; Carolyn Robertson, Trinity; and Rachel Taylor, Virginia.

Counselors: Laverne and Vastine Dunlap, Asheboro; Rev. Joseph Bethea, Elkins; Rev. Glenn Brooks, Pauline Eller, Rev. J. W. Gwyn, Edith Mayfield, Henry McCallum and Rev. James McCullum, all of Winston-Salem; Eugene Phillips, Trinity, Ruth Greene, Reidsville; Margie Joyce, and Mary Wilbon.

HAS ONE-WOMAN ART SHOW — Miss Joan Didier, of Kingston, Jamaica, BWI, stands before "Unwed Mother," one of a dozen original paintings which were displayed in her recent one-woman art show at Bennett College. Miss Didier, first fine arts major to be graduated from the college, will teach in Kingston beginning in September.

ONE-WOMAN ART SHOW — Miss Joan Didier of Kingston, Jamaica, B.W.I., stands before "Unwed Mother," one of a dozen original paintings which were displayed in her recent one-woman art show at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C. Miss Didier, first fine arts major to be graduated from the college, will teach in Kingston beginning in September.

Bennett Graduates Named To Varied Teaching Posts

Bennett graduates will be teaching in elementary and secondary schools in North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, New Jersey and the District of Columbia, according to early survey returns in the placement office.

Employed at the West Charlotte High School will be Hiawatha Foster. Maryann Musgrave will be at the Norwayne School at Fremont and Maderia Young at Georgetown High School, Jacksonville.

In South Carolina, Yvonne McBride will be at the Gibbs High School in Pamlico and Pearl Gibbs at the A. L. Corbett High School in Wagener. Lucy Martin will be at the Scott Memorial High School in Wytheville, Va., and Judith Thompson at the Scott Montgomery School in Washington. Joan Didier will be teaching in her native Kingston, Jamaica, BWI.

Maryann Wilmer has been employed by the Camden, N.J., public schools. Also in New Jersey will be Beatrice Gregory who will be working at the Edward R. Johnstone Research and Training Center at Bordentown, while Dolores Snellings will be serving a dietetic internship at Grasslands Hospital at Valhalla N.Y.

Mary Ellen Bender will be attending Scarritt College and has also accepted employment at the Bethlehem College at Nashville, Tenn. Attending law school at the State University of Iowa will be Laura F. Sawyer.

Elizabeth Pope will be enrolled in the Atlanta School of Social Work and Nancy Kirby at Syracuse University on a Whitney Fellowship. Willa Pullins will be attending a medical technology school.

They're Working This Summer

These seven Bennett College students are spending their summer working at the college. They are, left to right, front row: Misses Leacy Shipman, typist, of Whiteville, assigned to the National Science Foundation summer institute; Maxine West, of Greensboro, Holgate Library assistant; Shirley Thompson, typist with NSF, St. Pauls; back row: Mrs. Jean Wiggins, clerk-typist, of High Point; Misses Sitrena McLendon, of Greensboro, typist, records office; Minnie Sims of Greensboro, Holgate Library assistant, and Thelma Spruill, of Greensboro, switchboard operator.

Bennett Gets 1,500 Art Color Slides

GREENSBORO, N. C. — A collection of 1,500 color slides for use in arts and civilization courses was recently obtained by Bennett College though the Carnegie Corporation.

Jams C. McMillan art department, head who will have custody of the collection, said that Bennet is one of two Negro institutions to make use of the slides.

Covering architecture, sculpture, stage design and slides give a historical survey of art in America from its early beginnings to the present.

At Bennett:

Only Two Foreigners Return Home

GREENSBORO — Only two of Bennett College's foreign students went home for the summer vacation.

Misses Sylvia Darling and Frances Marshall, both rising juniors from Nassau, Bahamas, are the lucky young women who are able to see their families and friends before resuming their school work in the fall.

New York City beckoned Miss Marie Nassau, a rising junior of Monrovia, Liberia and in near-by Brooklyn, N. Y., are Misses Alice Airall, rising sophomore of Kingston, Jamaica; Jemima Laryea, rising sophomore, of Ghana, and Johanna Polanen, rising senior, of Surinam, South America.

Miss Danlette Brooks, rising senior, of Monrovia, Liberia, is spending the summer months in Chicago, Ill.

BENNETT OBTAINS SOLOR SLIDES FOR CIVILIZATION COURSES

A collection of 1,500 color slides for use in arts and civilization courses was recently obtained by Bennett College through the Carnegie Corporation.

James C. McMillan, head of the art department, who will have custody of the collection, said that Bennett is one of two Negro institutions to make use of the slides.

Covering architecture, sculpture, stage design and visual communication, the slides give a historical survey of art in America from its early beginnings to the present spanning four centuries.

Summer Math Institute Held For Prep Students

GREENSBORO— Closing activities of the Summer Institute in Mathematics and Science for high school students at Bennett College were held last week.

The six weeks program, sponsored by the National Science Foundation, came to a climax with the awarding of certificates of attendance to 101 enrollees representing 14 states and the District of Columbia.

The students made a number of field trips, among them one to the Nuclear Reactor Center at North Carolina State College in Raleigh, the Morehead Planetarium at Chapel Hill and a trip to Washington, D.C. which included a visit to the Smithsonian Institution and to Howard University.

Dr. James S. Lee, chairman of the department of biology at North Carolina College, Durham, delivered the commencement address in which he challenged the students to continue growth in the field of science. Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director, presided, and Dr. C. G. Winston, associate director, presented certificates.

BENNETT STUDENTS HONORED — Shown here are five of the summer students at Bennett College who recived signal recognition during the annual Honors Day program at the Greensboro institution, left to right, Misses Jean Hayes, of Winston-Salem, winner of the Faculty Scholarship for 1960-61; Doris Luck, of Asheboro, winner of the Science Prize given by the Class of 1921; Carolyn Wright, of Shelby, winner of the Belle Tobias Scholarship; Ann Florence, of Greensboro, winner of the Lula Donnell Prize and Carolyn Cotten, of Tarboro, winner of the Goode Prize for home economics.

Bennett Obtains Color Slides For Use In Arts, Other Courses

GREENSBORO — A collection of 1,500 color slides for use in arts and civilization courses was recently obtained by Bennett College through the Carnegie Corporation.

James C. McMillan, head of the art department, who will have custody of the collection, said that Bennett is one of two Negro institutions to make use of the slides.

Covering architecture, sculpture, stage design and visual communication, the slides give a historical survey of art in America from its early beginnings to the present, spanning four centuries.

Students stay Stateside for vacation

GREENSBORO, N.C — Only two of Bennett College's foreign students went home for the summer vacation.

Misses Sylvia Darling and Frances Marshall, both juniors from Nassau, Bahamas, are the lucky young women who are able to see their families and friends before resuming their work in the fall.

NEW YORK CITY beckoned Miss Marie Nassau, a junior of Monrovia, Liberia and in near-by Brooklyn, N.Y., are Misses Alice Airall, sophomore, of Kingston, Jamaica; Jemima Laryea, sophomore, of Ghana, and Johanna Polanen, senior, of Surinam, South America.

Miss Danlette Brooks, senior, of Monrovia, Liberia, is spending the summer months in Chicago, Ill.

MINISTERS COMPLETE COURSE — These seven Methodist ministers were awarded certificates last week after having completed four summer sessions of prescribed study at the Baltimore Area Pastors' School at Bennett College. They are, left to right, front row: Mesdames Irene Simpson, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Julia S. Thompson, Chattanooga, Tenn., and Martha S. Hollis, Chester, Pa.; back row: Elwood J. Jones, class president, of Asheboro; William H. Davis, Annapolis Md.; Phillip A. Henry, Chestertown, Md., and Clifford E. Landrum, Philadelphia, Pa.; Dean Charles L. Carrington, of Jamaica, N. Y., delivered the commencemnt address and presented certificates.

Math And Science Institute Closes

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Closing activities of the summer institute in mathematics and science for high school sudents at Bennett College were held last wek.

Th six-week program, sponsored by the National Science Foundation, came to a climax with the awarding of certificates of attendance to 101 enrollees represening 14 states and the District of Columbia.

THE STUDENTS made a number of field trips, among them one to the Nuclear Reactor Center at North Carolina State College in Raleigh, the Morehead Planetarium at Chapel Hill and a trip to Washington, D. C., which included a visit to the Smithsonian Institution and to Howard universiy.

Dr. James S. Lee, chairman at North Carolina College, Durham, delivered the commencement address. He challenged the students to continue growth in the field of science. Dr. J. Henry Sales, director, presided, and Dr. C. G. Winston, associate director, presented certificates.

BENNETT STUDENTS HONORED—Shown here are five of the students at Bennett College who received signal recognition during the annual Honors Day program at the Greensboro institution, left to right, Misses Jean Hayes, of Winston-Salem, winner of the Faculty Scholarship for 1960-61; Doris Luck, of Asheboro, winner of the Science Prize given by the Class of 1921; Carolyn Wright, of Shelby, winner of the Belle Tobias Scholarship; Ann Florence, of Greensboro, winner of the Lula Donnell Prize and Carolyn Cotten, of Tarboro, winner of the Goode Prize for home economics.

Bennett College Students Enjoy The Best In Music & Art

IN SENIOR RECITAL---Miss Jacqueline Herbin, soprano, of Greensboro, whose senior recital in Pfeiffer Chapel featured works by Handel, Guion and Monteverde and spiritual arrangements by H. T. Burleigh and R. Nathaniel Dett.

ALL SET TO GO---Taking part in fashion show at Bennett College were these models, whose escorts, all from neighboring A & T College also modeled apparel which they designed and made, featuring the "Continental Look." Left to right, front row: Misses Gracie Jones, of Lenoir; Nancy Lowe, of Kernersville; Barbara Freeman, of Lawrenceville, Va.; Omeuria Campbell, of Raeford, N. C., and Carolyn Cotten, of Tarboro; back row: Robert Irving, Alfred Thompson, Benjamin Johnson, Paul Burroughs and Gus Maultsby.

BUDDING BENNETT SINGER---Miss Theresa Daggs, of Greenville, N. C., who plans a concert career is shown singing, "I Love You Porgy," the number which "brought down the house" during the annual freshman talent show at Bennett College.

BENNETT ART EXHIBIT---Viewing the exhibit of art pieces produced by students at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., are these two freshmen, Misses Rose Gill, of Fairfield, Ala., and Carole Collins of Montclair, N. J.

MUSIC BY WIRE---Miss Robbie Walton, soprano, of Clarksville, Tenn., sings to her suitor, Samuel Guy, baritone, of Greensboro, in "The Telephone", one-act comic opera by Gian-Carlo Menotti, presented in the Bennett College Theatre, recently as part of "An Evening of Music," featuring voice students of Mrs. Mary M. Crawford.

IN COMMENCEMENT PLAY---Miss Esther Alexander, of Wise, N. C., cast as Hecuba makes an impassioned plea to Miss Ollie Johnson, of Athens, Ga., cast as Odysseus in the Greek drama "Hecuba" by Euripides which was presented as the opening feature of the commencement weekend at Bennett College recently.

Bennett Fund Program

A future endowment program which will, at maturity, give Bennett College $100,000 annually toward its current expense budget, was adopted unanimously by graduates attending the recent meeting of the Bennett College Alumni Association in Greensboro, N. C.

The plan commits the association to earmark from its annual contribution to the college Loyalty Fund $1,000 for the purchase of a Mutual Funds Savings Certificate each year, for a period not to exceed 35 years.

Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, of New York City, chairman of Bennett's trustee board, who worked out the details of this unique plan in consultation with the New York firm of Hamershalg, Borg and Company, one of the nation's oldest and best recognized brokerage firms, said that this will be the first college plan in existence.

In discussing the plan, Mrs. Fannie L. Hinnant, of Greensboro, president of the association, made reference to the decision of the graduates as "historic," inasmuch as it is the first of its kind.

President Willa B. Player called attention to the fact that in addition to the time factor, the joining together of compound interest, plus growth in the stock market and tax exemption, greatly minimize any risks that may be taken.

"The plan is well within the potential of the alumni of the average small college," she pointed out, "and past results have shown that the success of the plan is almost miraculous."

Gets Bennett Award

Miss Mary Ann Rogers, '54, of Greensboro, is the recipient of the first Bennett College Graduate Fellowship and is now enrolled at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

The daughter of Lawrence W. Rogers, superintendent of buildings and grounds, and Mrs. Rogers, Miss Rogers has completed all but six weeks of work on the advanced degree, majoring in educational psychology.

FAREWELL TO SENIORS---Members of Sigma Rho Sigma, social science honorary at Bennett College who remain for next year, have farewell party for graduating seniors. Left to right, front row: Misses Jacqueline Boseman, Baltimore, Md.; Dorothy Jordan, graduate, Goldsboro; Yvonne Redcross, Hampton, Va.; Jacqueline Daise, Wilmington; back row: Elizabeth Daise, Wilmington; Gloria Greene, graduate, Timmonsville, S. C.; Laura F. Sawyer, graduate, Salisburv. N. C. and Gwendolyn Mackel, Chicago, Ill.

Bishop Prince A. Taylor, who delivered the baccalaureate address at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., with Dr. Willa B. Player, its president.

Spending The Summer At Home

Lucky Bennett juniors Sylvia Darling and Frances Marshall, both from Nassau, Bahamas, are spending the summer with their families and friends before resuming school work in the fall.

Five other foreign students at the Greensboro women's college are spending their vacation in the hot climes of New York and Chicago. Monrovia, Liberia junior Marie Nassau is seeing the sights in the "Big City" (New York), and in nearby Brooklyn are sophomores Alice Airall of ingston, Jamaica and Jemima Laryea of Ghana, and Johanna Polanen of Surinam, South America, a senior. Another senior, Danlette Brooks, of Monrovia, is in Chicago.

Bennett Summer Institute In Mathematics Closed

Closing activities of the Summer Institute in Mathematics and Science for high school students at Bennett College were held this week.

The six-week program, sponsored by the National Science Foundation, came to a climax with the awarding of certificates of attendance to 101 enrollees representing 14 states and the District of Columbia.

The students made a number of field trips among them one to the Nuclear Reactor Center at North Carolina State College in Raleigh, the Morehead Planetaruim at Chapel Hill and a trip to Washington, D. C. which included a visit to the Smithsonian Institution and to Howard University.

Dr. James S. Lee, chairman of the department of biology at North Carolina College Durham, delivered the commencement address in which he challenged the students to continue growth in the field of science. Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director, presided, and Dr. C. G. Winston, associate director, presented certificates.

Has One-Woman Art Show

Miss Joan Didier, Kingston, Jamaica, BWI, stands before "Unwed Mother", one of a dozen original paintings displayed in her recent one-woman art show at Bennett College. Miss Didier, first fine arts major to be graduated from the college, will teach in Kingston beginning in September.

Youth Assembly Ends At Bennett College

GREENSBORO, N. C. —The annual Youth Assembly sponsored by the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist church, closed its one - week session at Bennett college recently, with a total of 105 participants.

The Winston district led in registration with 37 persons, followed by the western district, with 25.

THE REV. Joseph B. Bethea of Elkin served as dean and Miss Beatrice Watts of Winston - Salem was registrar. Three courses for youth were offered: "Understanding and Using the Bible," "How Can I Know What is Right?" and "Social Concern." For adults, there was a course, "How Can Your Church Win and Hold Young People?"

Teaching the courses were the Revs. J. T. Jones, Durham; A. E. Robinson, Shelby; J. W. Gwyn, Winston-Salem; J. W. Feree, Lumberton; G. E. Hogue, Lauringburg; H. W. Phillips; Winston-Salem, and J. F. Campbell,, High Point.

In addition to Methodist Youth Fellowship workshops coordinated by the Rev. O. W. Burwick of Raleigh, there were interest groups for music and worship, arts and crafts, fellowship and dramatics. The Rev. W. R. Crawford of Winston - Salem, was guest speaker each morning, and the Rev. James E. McCallum, of Marshall, Tex., spoke each night.

Dr. Clyde A. Milner Speaks At Bennett

Dr. Clyde A. Milner, president of Guilford College, told Bennett College students yesterday that they should "experience that which resides within you and seek to develop your minds by experience and re-expefience."

Dr. Milner, speaking at vesper services at the school, said "there is nothing more important in life than to constantly endeavor to discover the eternal dimensions of life."

Ladies Are Methodist Leaders, Too

As a result of successfully completing four summers of study, seven persons—three of them women—were awarded certificates when the Baltimore Area Pastors' School held graduation exercises at Bennett College in Greensboro, N. C.

Thirty-six persons were registered for this year's school which is conducted annually for Methodist ministers who have not had the advantage of formal theological training in a seminary.

Dr. Charles L. Carrington of Jamaica, N. Y., delivered the graduation address and presented certificates. From left to right (front row): Mesdames Irene Simpson, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Julia S. Thompson, Chattanooga, Tenn., and Martha S. Hollis, Chester, Pa.; back row, Elwood J. Jones, class president, of Asheboro, N. C.; William H. Davis, Annapolis, Md.; Philip A. Henry, Chestertown, Md., and Clifford E. Landrum, Philadelphia.

Top Students Honored At Bennett College

SUMMER STUDY BREAK---Misses Lynda Hill, left, of Winston-Salem and Shirley Degraffenreidt, of Pittsboro, Bennett College seniors who are studying this summer at Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, take a break between classes to compare notes.

BENNETT STUDENT LEADERS---Seven of the upper classmen at Bennett College who participated in the recent student leadership conference at the Greensboro, N. C. institution are shown with Dr. Margaret Lorimer, of Michigan State University, who served as their consultant. Left to right, front row, Misses Gloria E. Brown, senior, Bronx, N. Y., president; Iris Jeffries, junior, Burlington, N. C., treasurer; Linda Brown, junior, Akron, Ohio, parliamentarian; Roslyn Smith, junior, Princeton, W. Va., secretary, all of the Student Senate. Back row, Misses Gwendolyn Mackel, junior, Chicago, Ill., vice president of the Student Senate; Ellen Bender, senior, Leonia, N. J., treasurer of the senior class; Dr. Lorimer and Nacy Kirby, senior, Haddonfield, N. J., president of the David D. Jones Student Union Board of Managers.

FIRST FROM GHANA---The first young woman from the newly formed nation of Ghana to attend Bennett College is Miss Jemina Laryea, left, who is being shown a campus landmark by Miss Carolyn Owens, of Binghamton, N. Y. Each of these young women is majoring in home economics and each wishes to become a dietitian.

BENNETT STUDENTS HONORED---Shown here are five of the students at Bennett College who received signal recognition during the annual Honors Day program at the Greensboro institution, left to right, Misses Jean Hayes, of Winston-Salem, winner of the Faculty-Scholarship for 1960-61; Doris Luck, of Asheboro, winner of the Science Prize given by the Class of 1921; Carolyn Wright, of Shelby, winner of the Belle Tobias Scholarship; Ann Florance, of Greensboro, winner of the Lula Donnel Prize and Carolyn Cotten, of Tarboro, winner of the Goode Prize for home economics.

GETS FIRST BENNETT GRANT---Miss Mary Ann Rogers, of Greensboro, a member of the class of '54, receives from President Willa B. Player check for the first of the series of graduate fellowships now being offered by the college for graduates seeking advanced degrees for teaching careers. Miss Rogers, who expects to complete work for her master's degree at Cornell University this summer, teaches in the Charlotte public schools.

Annual Youth Assembly

The annual Youth Assembly sponsored by the North Carolina Conference closed its one-week session at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., recently.

The Rev. Joseph B. Bethea of Elkin served as dean and Miss Beatrice Watts of Winston-Salem was registrar. Three courses for youth were offered—"Understanding and Using the Bible," "How Can I Know What Is Right?" and "Social Concern." For adults, there was a course, "How Can Your Church Win and Hold Young People?"

Teaching these courses were the following ministers: J. T. Jones, Durham; A. E. Robinson, Shelby; J. W. Gwyn, Winston-Salem; J. W. Ferree, Lumberton; G. E. Hogue, Laurinburg; H. W. Phillips, Winston-Salem, and J. F. Campbell, High Point.

Miss Julia McClain, of Anniston, Ala., a member of the class of '.7 at Bennett College, was recently graduated with the bachelor of divinity degree from the Hartford Seminary Foundation at Hartford, Conn.

Miss McClain, who is now serving as assistant minister in a Methodist Church at her home, is the first graduate of Bennett (since it became a woman's college in 1926) to enter the active ministry. Winner of the award given for improvement in the study of Greek, Miss McClain received a cross carved by a monk at Mt. Athas.

These seven ministers were awarded certificates after having completed four summer sessions of prescribed study at the Baltimore Area Pastors' School at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C. They are, left to right, front row: Mesdames Irene Simpson, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Julie S. Thompson, Chattanooga, Tenn., and Martha S. Hollis, Chester, Pa.; back row: Elwood J. Jones, class president, Asheboro, N. C.; William H. Davis, Annapolis, Md.; Philip A. Henry, Chestertown, Md., and Clifford E. Landrum, Philadelphia, Pa.

Bennett to open doors Sept. 14

GREENSBORO, N. C.—With the ringing of schools bells in September, at least half of the graduating class at Bennett College will be back in the classroom — most of them from the opposite side of the teacher's desk, however, a spot check revealed this week.

Bennett graduates will be teaching in elementary and secondary chools in North Carolina, Virginia, New Jersey and the District of Columbia, according to early survey returns in the placement office.

Bennett College will officially open its doors for the 1960-61 academic year on Sept. 14. Freshmen and new students are to report Sept. 15 for a period of orientation which will extend through Sept. 22.

Entrance examinations and registration for this group have been set for Sept. 19. Returning students will register on Sept. 20 and first semest—er clas will begin Sept. 21 at 8 a.m.

Half of Bennett '60 Grads to be Teaching in Sept.

GRRENSBORO — With the ringing of school bells in September, at least half of the 1960 graduating class at Bennett College will be back in the classroom, most of them from the opposite side of the teacher's desk, however, a spot check revealed this week.

Bennett gradautes will be teaching in elementary and secondary school in North Carolina, Virginia, New Jersey and the District of Columbia, according to early survey returns in the placement office.

Employed at the West Charlotte High School in her native city will be Miss Hiawatha Foster. Miss Maryann Musgrave will be at the Norwayne School at Fremont and Miss Maderia Young at Georgetown High School, Jacksonville, N. C.

In South Carolina, Miss Yvonne McBride will be at the Gibbs High School in Pamlico and Miss Pearl Gibbs at the A. L. Corbett High School in Wagener. Miss Lucy Martin will be at the Scott Memorial High School in Wytheville, Va., and Miss Judith Thompson at the Scott Montgomery School in Washington, D. C. Miss Joan Didier will be teaching in her native Kingston, Jamaica, BWI.

Miss Maryann Wilmer has been employed by the Camden, N. J. public schools. Also in New Jersey will be Miss Beatrice Gregory who will be working at the Edward R. Johnstone Research and Training Center at Bordentown, while Miss Dolores Snellings will be serving a dietetic internship at Grasslands Hospital at Valhalla, New York.

Miss Mary Ellen Bender has accepted employment at the Bethlehem Cente at Nashville, Tenn. Attending law school at the State University of Iowa will be Miss Laura F. Sawyer. Miss Elizabeth Pope will be enrolled in the Atlanta School of Social Work and Miss Nancy Kirby at Syracuse University on a Whitney Fellowship. Miss Willa Pullins will be attending a medical technology school.

Half of the Bennett 1960 Graduates Receive Jobs

With the ringing of school bells in September, at least half of the 1960 graduating class at Bennett College will be back in the classroom, most of them from the opposite side of the teacher's desk, however, a spot check revealed this week.

Bennett graduates will be teaching in elementary and secondary schools in North Carolina, S. C., Va. New Jersey and the District of Columbia, according to early survey returns in the placement office.

lotte High School in her native

Employed at the West Charcity will be Miss Hiawatha Foster. Miss Maryann Musgrave will be at the Norwayne School at Fremont and Miss Maderia Young at Georgetown High School, Jacksonville, N. C.

In South Carolina, Miss Yvonne McBride will be at the Gibbs High School in Pamlico and Miss Pearl Gibbs at the A. L. Corbett High School in Wagener. Miss Lucy Martin will be at the Scott Memorial High School in Wytheville, Va., and Miss Judith Thompson at the Scott Montgomery School in Washington, D. C. Miss Joan Didier will be teaching in her native Kingston, Jamaica, BWI.

Miss Maryann Wilmer has been employed by the Camden, N. J. public schools. Also in New Jersey will be Miss Beatrice Gregory who will be working at the Edward R. Johnstone Research and Training Center at Bordentown, while Miss Dolores Snellings will be serving a dietetic internship at Grasslands Hospital at Valhalla, New York.

Miss Mary Ellen Bender has accepted employment at the Bethlehem Cente at Nashville, Tenn. Attending law school at the State University of Iowa will be Miss Laura F. Sawyer. Miss Elizabeth Pope will be enrolled in the Atlanta School of Social Work and Miss Nancy Kirby at Syracuse University on a Whitney Fellowship. Miss Willa Pullins will be attending a medical technology school.

7 Receive Certificates From Pastors' School

As a result of having successfully completed four summers of work, seven persons—three of them women—were awarded certificates when the Baltimore Area Pastors' School held graduation exercises at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C.

Thirty-six persons were registered for this year's school which is conducted annually for those Methodist ministers who have not had the advantage of formal theological training in a seminary.

Dean Charles L. Carrington of Jamaica, N. Y., who delivered the graduation address, presented certificates to:

Elwood J. Jones, Asheboro, N. C.; William H. Davis, Annapolis, Md.; Philip A. Henry, Chestertown, Md.; Mrs. Martha S. Hollis, Chester, Pa.; Clifford E. Landrum, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. Julia S. Thompson, Chattanooga, Tenn., and Mrs. Irene Simpson, New Rochelle, N. Y.

Following this program, held in Pfeiffer Chapel, the seniors were guests at the annual dinner in the David D. Jones Student Union dining center. The Rev. Homer H. Davis, of Charleston, W. Va., was master of ceremonies and among the speakers was the Rev. Henry H. Nichols, of Philadelphia, Pa., chairman of the area board of managers of the school.

The school, which offered courses in "Old Testament," "Practical Theology," "Comparative Religion," "Church History," "New Testament," and "Preaching" provides four weeks of in-service training each summer.

Leadership School

More than 100 church school workers, pastors and district superintendents attended the annual Baltimore Area Leadership School at Bennett College. The Rev. Howard A. Bailey of Philadelphia was dean of the school; the Rev. Douglas E. Moore of Durham, N. C., manager, and the Rev. Ernest T. Dixon of Nashville was registrar.

Operating on the theme, "Frontiers in Christian Education," the school offered five courses of study. Interest groups were led by Miss Florence Wheeler, Baltimore, (with children); C. Leonard Miller of Philadelphia (youth) and the Rev. David W. Briddell, Philadelphia (adult work).

The Delaware, East Tennessee, North Carolina and Washington Annual Conferences were all represented among the registrants. The respective executive secretaries are the Rev. Howard A. Bailey, C. Anderson Davis, John T. Jones and Willard A. Williams.

Faculty Talks Forerunner of Bennett Opening

GREENSBORO — The annual faculty-staff fall conference at Bennett College will be held September 8-15, President Willa B. Player announced this week.

Theme this year will be "Emphasizing Unified Learning and Evaluation in Inividual Education," Mrs. Esther Raushenbush of Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N. Y., and Miss Ruth Rush of Atlanta, Ga., will serve as consultants.

Mrs. Raushenbush, a graduate of the University College of Washington, with an M. A. from that institution and from Radcliffe College, has taught at Wellesley and Barnard colleges and for a number of years was dean of the college at Sarah Lawrence. At present, she is a member of the literature faculty.

Unifying knowledge in general education in the lower college is the major objective and the rich experience of Dr. Raushenbush in curriculum planning is expected to contribute greatly to it. Miss Rush will be particularly concerned with problems of residence hall personnel.

A picnic supper on the lawn of the President's Home will be held Sat. at 6:00 p.m. and on Sunday morning the group will attend 11 a.m. services at St. Matthews Methodist Church, founding home of the college, to hear a sermon by the Rev. John G. Corry, who last year served as acting director of religious activities at the college.

A vesper musicale, featuring members of the music faculty, will be held at 7:30 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel, to be followed by a coffee hour in the faculty lounge of the David D. Jones Student Union.

Monday and Tuesday will be given over to core group meetings to be climaxed Tuesday at 7 P. M. when President Player will preside over a presentation and discussion of the topic: "Further Development and Unification of the Core Program."

The faulty-staff will hold joint session with student leaders on Wednesday morning and both groups will attend the annual banquet that night at which Mrs. Raushenbush will speak. Mrs. Blanche Raiford, president of the Faculty-Staff Club, will be toastmistress.

A work-study period for faculty-staff and residence directors from 9:30 a.m. to noon, will conclude the conference on Saturday

Bennett Receives Collection of Slides For Arts Courses

GREENSBORO—A collection of 1,500 color slides for use in arts and civilization courses was recently obtained by Bennett College through the Carnegie Corporation.

James C. McMillan, head of the art department, who will have custody of the collection, said that Bennett is one of two Negro institutions to make use of the slides.

Covering architecture, sculpture, stage design and visual communication, the slides give a historical survey of art in America from its early beginnings to the present, spanning 4 centuries.

Getting Set For Pre-View

Miss Minnie Sims, of Greensboro, N. C., a senior elementary education major at Bennett College, prepares to preview film which she plans to use to supplement course which she will be teaching.

Reagan 1960-61

SHOWN ABOVE are the 101 high school students who attended the Summer Institute in Mathematics and Science at Bennett college this summer. Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director, stands at extreme right. The National Science Foundation made the institute possible.

Faculty-Staff Conference Set For Bennett College

The annual faculty-staff fall conference at Bennett College will be held Sept. 8-15, President Willa B. Player announced this week.

Theme this year will be "Emphasizing Unified Learning and Evaluation in Individual Education." Mrs. Esther Raushenbush of Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N. Y., and Miss Ruth Rush of Atlanta, Ga., will serve as consultants.

Mrs. Raushenbush, a graduate of University of Washington, with an M. A. from that institution and from Radcliffe College, has taught at Wellesley and Barnard Colleges and for a number of years was dean of the college at Sarah Lawrence. At present, she is a member of the literature faculty.

Miss Rush will be particularly concerned with problems of residence hall personnel.

First general session will be at 10 a.m. on Monday Sept. 9, in the student union. A panel, "The Core Approach to Learning" will feature this session. Dr. Clinton C. Armstrong, chairman of the religion and philosophy core; Dr. George Breathett, chairman of the social science core; Miss Georgie Latimer, chairman of the freshman English core, and Dr. Roy Lee, chairman of the basic science core, will make presentations and Mrs. Louise G. Street will be moderator.

Meetings of the three divisions of instruction are scheduled for 7 p.m. and the administrative staff will hold a planning meeting at that same hour.

A picnic supper on the lawn of the president's home will be held Saturday at 6 p.m. and Sunday the group will attend 11 a.m. services at St. Matthews Methodist Church, founding home of the college, to hear a sermon by the Rev. John G. Corry, who last year served as acting director of religious activities at the college.

A vesper musicale, featuring members of the music faculty, will be held at 7:30 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel, to be followed by a coffee hour in the faculty lounge of the David D. Jones Student Union.

Monday and Tuesday will be given over to core group meetings to be climaxed Tuesday at 7 p.m. when President Player will preside over a presentation and discussion of this topic: "Further Development and Unification of the Core Program."

The faculty-staff will hold joint session with student leaders Wednesday morning and both groups will attend the annual banquet that night at which Mrs. Raushenbush will speak.

BENNETT LEADERS: Shown are six chosen assistant residence hall directors at Bennett College for the 1960-61 academic year. Left to right are: Idlerie Moore of Charlotte, Mattilyn Talford of Chester, S. C., Rosalie Stanley of Great Neck, N. Y., Claire Kenny of Charleston, S. C., and Shirley Bruton of Badin. The college will open for the fall term on Sept. 15. Record - 8/27

Bennett Sets Date For Faculty-Staff Conference

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The annual faculty - staff fall conference at Bennett College will be held Septembe 8 r-15, President Willa B. Player announced last week.

Theme this year will be "Emphasizing Unified Le arning and Evaluation in Individual Education." Mrs. Esther Raushenbush of Sarah Law rence College, Bronxville, N. Y., and Miss Ruth Rush of Atlanta, Ga., will serve as consultnats.

MRS. RAUSHENBUSH, a graduate of the Univers ity of Washington, with an M. A., from that instiution and fr om Radcliffe College, has taught at Wellesley and Bernard colleges and for a numbe r of years was dean of the college at Sarah Lawrence. At present,, she is a member of the literature faculty.

First general session will be at 10 a.m. on Monday September 9, in the foyer of the David D. Jones Student Union, with President Player presiding. A panel, "The Core Approach to Learning" will feature this session, with the chairmen of the various core groups as panelists.

DR. CLINTON C. Armstrong, chairman of the religion and philosophy core; Dr. George Breathett, chairman of the social science core; Miss Georgie Latimer, chairman of the Freshman English core, and Dr. Roy Lee, chairman of the basic science core, will make presentations and Mrs. Louise G. Streat will be moderator.

Meetings of the three divisions of instruction are scheduled for 7 p.m. and the administrative staff will hold a planning meeting at that same hour.

A PICNIC supper on the lawn of the President's Home will be held Saturday at 6 p.m. and on Sunday morning the group will attend 11 a.m. services at St. Matthews Methodist Church, founding home of the college, to hear a sermon by the Rev. John G. Corry, acting director of religious activities at the college last year.

A vesper musicale, featuring members of the music faculty, is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel, to be followed by a coffee hour in the faculty lounge of the David D. Jones Student Union.

MONDAY and Tuesday will be given over to core group meetings to be climaxed Tuesday at 7 p.m. when President Player will preside over a presentation and discussion of the topic: "Further Development and Unification of the Core Program."

The faculty - staff will hold a joint session with student leaders on Wednesday morning and both groups will attend the annual banquet that night at which Mrs. Raushenbush will speak. Mrs. Blanche Raiford, president of the Faculty - Staff Club, will be toastmistress.

A work - study period for faculty - staff and residence directors from 9:30 a.m. to noon, will conclude the conference on Saturday.

SHORT VACATION — These seven Bennett college students are spending their summer working at the Greensboro, N. C. school. Left to right front: Leacy Shipman, Whiesville, N. C.; Maxine West, Greensboro; Shirley Thompson, St. Pauls. Rear: Sitrena McLendon, Minnie Sims and Thelma Spruill, all of Greensboro.

Bennett College schedules annual faculty-staff meet

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The annual faculty-staff fall conference at Bennett College will be held September 8-15, President Willa B. Player announced this week.

Theme this year will be "Emphasizing Unified Learning and Evaluation in Individua Education." Mrs. Esther Raushenbush of Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N.Y., and Miss Ruth Rush of Atlanta, Ga., will serve as consultants.

* * *

MRS. RAUSHENBUSH, a graduate of the University of Washington, with an M. A. from that institution and from Radcliffe College, has taught at Wellesley and Barnard colleges and for a number of years was dean of the college at Sarah Lawrence. At present, she is a member of the literature faculty.

Unifying knowledge in general education in the lower college is the major objective and the rich experience of Dr. Raushenbush in curriculum planning is expected to contribute to it. Miss Rush will be particularly concerned with problems of residence hall personnel.

* * *

FIRST GENERAL SESSION will be at 10 a.m. on Monday, September 9, in the foyer of the David D. Jones Student Union, with President Player presiding. A panel, "The Core Approach to Learning" will feature this session, with the chairman of the various core groups as panelists.

Dr. Clinton C. Armstrong, chairman of the religion and philosophy core; Dr. George Breathett, chairman of the social science core; Miss Georgie Latimer, chairman of the Freshman English core, and Dr. Roy Lee, chairman of the basic science core, will make presentations and Mrs. Louise G. Streat will be moderator.

Meetings of the three divisions of instruction are scheduled for 7 p.m. and the administrative staff will hold a planning meeting at that same hour.

A picnic supper on the lawn of the President's home will be held Saturday at 6 p.m. and on Sunday morning the group will attend 11 a.m. services at St. Matthews Methodist Church, founding home of the college, to hear a sermon by the Rev. John G. Corry, who last year served as acting director of religious activities at the college.

A vesper musicale, featuring members of the music faculty, will be held at 7:30 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel, to be followed by a coffee hour in the faculty lounge of the David D. Jones Student Union.

Monday and Tuesday will be given over to core group meetings to be climaxed Tuesday at 7 p.m. when President Player will preside over a presentation and discussion of the topic: "Further Development and Unification of the Core Program."

* * *

THE FACULTY - STAFF will hold joint sessions with student leaders on Wednesday morning and both groups will attend the annual banquet that night at which Mrs. Raushenbush will speak, Mrs. Blanche Raiford, president of the Faculty-Staff Club, will be toastmistress.

A work-study period for faculty-staff and residence directors from 9:30 a.m. to noon, will conclude the conference on Saturday.

Bennett College Plans Leadership Conference

GREENSBORO, N. C. — "Social Action and Responsible Christian Leadership" will be the theme of the annual Student Leadership Conference at Bennett College which has been scheduled for September 12 - 14.

Representatives of all campus organizations for the academic year, 1960 - 61, have been invited to participate in the three - day sessions. Miss Margaret Bailey, of Fruitland, Md., senior and president of the Student Senate, will preside at the opening session. Around 75 students are expected.

MRS. MARIE B. Smith, director of co- curricular activities, will again serve as coordinator and a number of consultants and resource persons will be on hand to give direction in the workshops and officer - training sessions into which the conference will be divided.

Miss Roslyn Cheagle, of Lynchburg, Va., vice president of the Senate and Miss Yvonne Redcross, of Hampton, Va., president of the David D. Jones Student Union site of the sessions - have also been listed among the conference leaders.

The students will hold a joint session with the faculty - staff and will also attend the banquet marking the close of the two pre - school conferences on campus.

Alumnae Secretary

Miss Margaret Mays, of Grensboro, a 1957 graduate of Bennett College, began her duties as alumnae secretary at her alma mater last week.

She succeeds Mrs. Jean P. Haith. The new secretary, since her graduation has been employed in the college records office, and for the past two summers, has studied in the graduate school at Michigan State University.

Bennett Grads Get Teaching Post

GREENSBORO, N. C. — With the ringing of school bells in September, at least half of the 1960 graduating class at Bennett College will be back in the classroom most of them from the opposite side of the teacher desk however, a spot check revealed this week.

Bennett graduates will be teaching in elementary and secondary schools in North Carolina, Virginia, New Jersey and the District of Columbia, according to early survey returns in the placement office.

Employed at the West Charlotte high school in her native city will be Miss Hiawatha Foster. Miss Maryann Musgrave will be at the Norwayne school at Fremont and Miss Maderia Young at Georgetown high school, Jacksonville, N. C.

In South Carolina, Miss Yvonne McBride will be at the Gibbs high school in Pamlico and Miss Pearl Gibbs at the A. L. Corbett high school in Wagener. Miss Lucy Martin will be at the Scott Memorial high school in Wytheville, Va., and Miss Judith Thompson at the Scott Montgomery school in Washington, D. C. Miss Joan Didier will be teaching in her native Kingston, BWI.

TO NEW JERSEY

Miss Maryann Wilmer has been employed by the Camden, N. J. public schools. Also in New Jersey will be Miss Beatrice Gregory who will be working at the Edward R. Johnstone research and training center at Bordentown, while Miss Dolores Snellings will be serving a dietetic internship at Grassland hospital at Valhalla, N. Y.

LEARNING ABOUT ART — Miss Delores A. Murray, of Washington, D. C., a rising sophomore at Bennett College, examines one of the 1,500 slides in the collection recently obtained from the Carnegie Corporation for use in art and civilization courses. Miss Murray plans a career as a teacher.

Bennett Sets Fall Meeting

The annual faculty-staff fall conference at Bennett College will be held September 8-15, President Willa B. Player announced this week.

Theme this year will be "Emphasizing Unified Learning and Evaluation in Individual Education." Mrs. Esther Raushenbush of Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N. Y., and Miss Ruth Rush of Atlanta, Ga., will serve as consultants.

Mrs. Raushenbush, a graduate of the University of Washington, with an M. A. from that institution and from Radcliffe College, has taught at Wellesley and Barnard colleges and for a number of years was dean of the college at Sarah Lawrence.

Unifying knowledge in general education in the lower college is the major objective and the rich experience of Dr. Raushenbush in curriculum planning is expected to contribute greatly to it. Miss Rush will be particularly concerned with problems of residence hall personnel.

First general session will be at 10 a. m. on Monday, September 9, in the foyer of the David D. Jones Student Union, with President Player presiding. A panel, "The Core Approach to Learning" fill feature this session, with the chairman of the various core groups as panelists.

Sept. 14 Set As Opening For Bennett

Bennett College will officially open its doors for the 1960-61 academic year Sept. 14, Miss Mary E. Mayfield, registrar, announced this week.

Freshmen and new students are to report by 5 p.m. Sept. 15 for a period of orientation which will extend through Sept. 22. Entrance examinations and registration for this group have been set for Sept. 19.

Returning students will register on Sept. 20, and first semester classes will begin at 8 a.m. on Sept. 21.

With prospects of one of the largest senior classes in its history, Bennett this year has found it necessary to limit the size of its entering freshman class to 150.

Housing Limited

Mrs. Susie W. Jones, director of admissions and counselor to freshmen, said that limited housing facilities created by an unprecedented senior registration, made this decision necessary.

This year's freshmen will come from 22 states, the District of Columbia and six foreign countries. There will be 57 from 34 cities and towns in North Carolina, one from California, five from Texas and 12 from Georgia.

Among the foreign students expected are two from Kenya and one each from Ireland, American Samoa, Sierra Leone, West Africa and Stuttgart, Germany.

Expected from American Samoa is Miss Elisapeta Saelua, who has been awarded an international scholarship by the college with further financial aid from the Department of Education of government of American Samoa. She will pursue a course in business education.

The 1964 class also will include Miss Sandra L. Hann of Stuttgart, Germany, daughter of American parents and a graduate of the Lycee Charles De Gaulle at Baden Oog, Germany. Born in Detroit, she lived in New Jersey before going abroad. She spent five years in Paris and since then has lived in Germany where her mother is a teacher and her father is a real estate officer for the U.S. Army.

Also entering on scholarships will be Miss Brenda Green, of Philadelphia, Pa., a graduate of Germantown High School who was awarded a $300 Keller Memorial Scholarship, and Miss Beverly Bryan of Tryon, N.C., the recipient of a $200 scholarship from the James G. K. McClure Educational and Developmental Fund, of Asheville, N.C.

Seniors may limit freshmen at Bennett

GREENSBORO, N.C. — With prospects of one of the largest senior classes in its history, Bennett College this year has found it necessary to limit the size of its entering freshman class to 150.

Mrs. Susie W. Jones, director of admissions and counselor to freshmen, revealed this week that limited housing facilities created by an unprecedented senior registration, made this decision necessary.

* * *

THIS YEAR'S freshmen will come from 22 states, the District of Columbia and six foreign countries. There will be 57 from 34 cities and towns in North Carolina, one from California, five from Texas and 12 from Georgia.

Among the foreign students expected are two from Kenya and one each from Ireland, American Samoa, Sierra Leone, West Africa and Stuttgart, Germany.

Expected from American Samoa is Miss Elisapeta Saelua, who has been awarded an international scholarship by the college with further financial aid from the Department of Education of the government of American Samoa. She will pursue a course in business education.

* * *

ALSO TO enroll is Miss Sandra L. Hann, of Stuttgart, Germany, daughter of American parents and a graduate of the Lycee Charles De Gaulle at Baden Oog, Germany. Born in Detroit, she lived in New Jersey before going abroad. She spent five years in Paris and since then has lived in Germany where her mother is a teacher and her father is a real estate officer for the U.S. Army.

Also entering on scholarships will be Miss Brenda Green, of Philadelphia, Pa., a graduate of Germantown High School who was awarded a $300 Keller Memorial Scholarship, and Miss Beverly Bryan of Tryon, N.C., the recipient of a $200 scholarship from the James G. K. McClure Educational and Developmental Fund, of Asheville, N.C.

SHORT VACATION—These seven Bennett College students are spending their summer working at the college. Left to right, front row: Leacy Shipman, typist, of Whiteville, assigned to the National Science Foundation's summer institute; Maxine West of Greensboro, Holgate Library assistant, and Shirley Thompson, typist with NSF, St. Paus. Back row: Mrs. Jean Wiggins, clerk-typist, of High Point; Sitrena McLendon of Greensboro, typist, records office; Minnie Sims of Greensboro, Holgate Library assistant, and Thelma Spruill of Greensboro, switchboard operator.

Student's Confab To Open Year

GREENSBORO, — "Social Action and Responsible Christian Leadership" will be the theme of the annual Student Leadership Conference at Bennett College which has been scheduled for September 12-14.

Representatives of all campus organizations for the academic year, 1960-61, have been invited to participate in the three-day sessions. Miss Margaret Bailey, of Fruitland, Md., senior and president of the Student Senate, will preside at the opening session. Around 75 students are expected.

MISS MAYS BEGINS DUTIES AS ALUMNAE SECRETARY

Miss Margarie Mays, of Greensboro, a 1957 graduate of Bennett College, began her duties as alumnae secretary at her alma mater last week.

She succeeds Mrs. Jean P. Haith. The new secretary, since her graduation has been employed in the college records office, and for the past two summers, has studied in the graduate school at Michigan State University.

Bennett P[illegible] 18 Memorial Rite

Dr. John O. Gross, of the Board of Education of the Methodist Church, Nashville, Tenn., will be the speaker for the annual Annie Merner Pfeiffer Memorial Day Service to be held at Bennett College today at 4 p.m.

Representing the faculty and staff on the program will be Mrs. Blanche Raiford and Miss Charlotte Alston will represent the alumni.

BRYAN TO SPEAK FOR NEW CO-EDS

GREENSBORO — The Rev. John L. Bryan, director of religious activities, will speak to freshmen and new students at a service to be held, Sunday, September 18, at 11 a.m. in the Science Assembly at Bennett College.

ATTEND SUMMER INSTITUTE AT GREENSBORO —Shown above are the 101 high school students who attended he Summer Institute in Mathematics and Science at Bennett College this summer. Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director, stands at extreme right. The National Science Foundation made the institute possible.

Freshmen Class At Bennett College To Be Limited To 150

With prospects of one of the largest senior classes in its history, Bennett College this year has found it necessary to limit the size of its entering freshman class to 150.

Mrs. Susie W. Jones, director of admissions and counselor to freshmen, revealed this week that limited housing facilities created by an unprecedented senior registration, made this decision necessary.

This year's freshmen will come from 22 states, the District of Columbia and six foreign countries. There will be 57 from 34 cities and towns in North Carolina, one from California, five from Texas and 12 from Georgia.

Among the foreign students expected are two from Kenya and one each from Ireland, American Samoa, Sierra Leone, West Africa and Stuttgart, Germany.

Expected from American Samoa is Miss Elisapeta Saelua, who has been awarded an international scholarship by the college with further financial aid from the Department of Education of the government of American Samoa. She will pursue a course in business education.

The 1964 class will also include Miss Sandra L. Hann, of Stuttgart, Germany, daughter of American parents and a graduate of the Lycee Charles De Gaulle at Baden Oog, Germany. Born in Detroit, she lived in New Jersey before going abroad. She spent five years in Paris and since then has lived in Germany where her mother is a teacher and her father is a real estate officer for the U.S. Army.

Also entering on scholarships will be Miss Brenda Green, of Philadelphia, Pa., a graduate of Germantown High School who was awarded a $300 Keller Memorial Scholarship, and Miss Beverly Bryan of Tryon, N. C., the recipient of a $200 scholarship from the James G. K. McClure Educational and Development Fund, of Asheville, N. C.

THEY ENJOYED STUDYING — Shown above are the 101 high school students who attended the Summer Instiute in Mathematics and Science who attended Bennett College. Dr. J. Henry Sayles, director, stands at extreme right. The study program was co-sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

Leadership parley set at Bennett

GREENSBORO, N.C.— "Social Action and Responsible Christian Leadership" will be the theme of the annual Student Leadership Conference at Bennett College Sept. 12-14. Some 75 students are expected to attend.

Representatives of all campus organizations have been invited to participate in the three - day sessions. Miss Margaret Bailey, of Fruitland, Md., senior and president of the Student Senate, will preside at the opening session.

Mrs. Minnie B. Smith, director of co-curricular activities, will again serve as coordinator and a number of consultants and resource persons will give direction in the workshops and officer-training sessions.

Miss Roslyn Cheagle of Lynchburg, Va., vice president of the Senate and Miss Yvonne Redcross, of Hampton, Va., president of the David D. Jones Student Union—site of the sessions — have also been listed among the conference leaders.

Local Teacher Dies At 50

Mrs. Carolyn Harris Humphrey, 50, of 1307 Lindsay St., died yesterday at the Richardson Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Humphrey was a teacher at the J. C. Price School, where she had taught for 25 years. She received her A.B. degree from Bennett College and a master's degree from A&T College. She was a member of the St. James Presbyterian Church.

She is survived by her husband, Raymond Humphrey, six brothers and five sisters.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete. The body will remain at Brown's Funeral Home until the service.

Bennett College Notes Record Enrollment

Enrollment of 328 students, largest in Bennett College's history, was reported yesterday by Miss Mary L. Mayfield, registrar.

There are 190 freshmen, 125 sophomores, 100 juniors, and 113 seniors. President Willa B. Player said that this year's faculty included 51 persons and that staff members now total 41.

Ground was broken yesterday for a new dormitory which will house 106 young women. It is expected to be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1961.

nnett Gets New Teachers

Announcement of 14 new members of the faculty and staff at Bennett College and of the return of two others from leaves of absence was made here this week by President Willa B. Player.

Returning from leaves will be the Rev. and Mrs. John L. Bryan, he to his post as director of religious activities and she as part-time instructor in library science.

Joining the Bennett faculty for one year will be Dr. Eda Lou Walton, who comes as Whitney Visiting Professor in English, after having served for 35 years as associate professor of English at New York University prior to her retirement in 1959. Dr. Walton, who earned her Ph.D. at the University of California, taught modern English, American poetry and literature and has frequently contributed book reviews and poetry to some of the nation's leading publications.

Native Of India

Dr. Margaret E. Sewell, a native of British India, who has published several novels, books of short stories and poems, also will be a member of the English faculty. Dr. Sewell has done literary research at Ohio State University, served as visiting lecturer in English at Vassar and visiting professor in English at Fordham University. She earned her Ph.D in 19th century literature at Newnham College in England.

Returning to the college where he taught in 1920-21, is James V. Herring who in 1953 retired as head of the art department at Howard University after having served 32 years. Herring, a graduate of Syracuse University with further study at Harvard and Columbia universities, has visited a number of Southern colleges on a grant from the Harmon Foundation to aid in improving standards in art eduction. He will be filling the post vacated by James C. McMillan, one of his former students, who is on leave this year studying on a Danforth Fellowship.

Other Appointments

Other appointments are:

Miss Charlotte Alston, of Greensboro, Bennett graduate, with further study at the Eastman School of Music and Scairitt College, music;

Mrs. Rubye T. Davis, of Greensboro, A&T College graduate, with the master of education degree from Woman's College, commercial education;

Charles E. Garth, of Birmingham, Ala., graduate of Morehouse College, with an M.A. from Atlanta University, sociology;

Miss Nina L. Hodge, of Shreveport, La., graduate of Wiley College, with an M.A. from the State University of Iowa, English;

Leo P. Lederer, of Bulgaria, with a diploma from the School for Higher Commercial Studies, Geneva, Switzerland, with further study in philosophy and mathematics at the Sorbonne, Paris, modern languages;

Miss Martha R. Meekins, of Rison, Ark., a graduate of the A&M College at Pine Bluff, Ark., assistant librarian;

Mrs. Doris W. Minor, of Kinston, graduate of N.C. College at Durham, library stenographer.

Miss Margaret H. Roberts, of Durham, graduate of N.C. College, assistant in the records office;

Miss Carolyn J. Rogers, of Durham, graduate of N.C. College, in charge of the stenographic pool;

Miss Florinell M. Washington, of Providence, R.I., graduate of Livingstone College, with an M.S. from Boston State Teachers' College, psychology; and Miss Ruby Wilson, of Greenville, N.C., graduate of Bennett, personnel director of Jones Hall.

Fourteen New Members Added To Faculty Staff at Bennett College

Announcement of 14 new members of the faculty and staff at Bennett College and of the return of two others from leaves of absence was made here this week by President Willa B. Player.

Returning from leaves will be the Rev. and Mrs. John L. Bryan, he to his post as director of religious activities and she as part-time instructor in library science.

Seven of the appointees will be teaching in the humanities division, one each in the social science divisions and five will be on the administrative staff. Two of the new teachers have their doctorates and five have their master's degree.

Joining the Bennett faculty for one year will be Dr. Eda Lou Walton who comes as Whitney Visiting Professor in English, after having served for 35 years as associate professor of English at New York University prior to her retirement in 1959. Dr. Walton, who earned her Ph.D. at the University of California, taught modern English, American poetry and literature and has frequently contributed book reviews and poetry to some of the nation's leading publications.

Dr. Margaret E. Sewell, a native of British India, who has published several novels, books of short stories and poems, will also be a member of the English faculty. Dr. Sewell has done research at Ohio State University, served as visiting lecturer in English at Vassar and visiting professor in English at Fordham University. She earned her Ph.D. in 19th Century literature at Newnham College in England.

Returning to the college where he taught in 1920-21, is James V. Herring who in 1953 retired as head of the art department at Howard University after having served 32 years. Mr. Herring, a graduate of Syracuse University with further study at Harvard and Columbia Universities, has visited a number of southern colleges on a grant from the Harmon Foundation to aid in improving standards in art education. He will be filling the post vacated by James C. McMillan, one of his former students, who is on leave this year studying on a Danforth Fellowship.

Other appointments are:

Miss Charlotte Alston, of Greensboro, Bennett graduate, with further study at the Eastman School of Music and Scarritt College, music;

Mrs. Rubye T. Davis, of Greensboro, A&T College graduate, with the master of education degree from Woman's College, commercial education;

Charles E. Garth, of Birmingham, Ala., graduate of Morehouse College, with an M.A. from Atlanta University, sociology;

Miss Nina L. Hodge, of Shreveport, La., graduate of Wiley College, with an M.A. from the State University of Iowa, English;

Leo P. Lederer, of Bulgaria, with a diploma from the School for Higher Commercial Studies, Geneva Switzerland, with further study in philosophy and mathematics at the Sorbonne, Paris, modern languages;

Miss Martha R. Meekins, of Rison, Ark., a graduate of the A&M College at Pine Bluff, Ark., assistant librarian;

Mrs. Doris W. Minor, of Kinston, graduate of N.C. College at Durham, stenographer in the library;

Miss Margaret H. Roberts, of Durham, graduate of N. C. College, assistant in the records office;

Miss Carolyn J. Rogers, of Durham, graduate of N. C. College, in charge of the stenographic pool;

Miss Florinell M. Washington, of Providence, R. I., graduate of Livingstone College, with an M.S. from Boston State Teachers' College, psychology, and Miss Ruby Wilson, of Greenville, N. C., graduate of Bennett, personnel director of Jones Hall.

Staff changes at Bennett

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Announcement of 14 new members of the faculty and staff at Bennett College and of the return of two others from leaves of absence was made here this week by President Willa B. Player.

Returning from leaves will be the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. John L. Bryan, he to his post as director of religious activities and she as part-time instructor in library science.

Seven of the appointees will be teaching in the humanities division, one each in the social science and science divisions and five will be on the administrative staff. Two of the new teachers have their doctorates and five have their master's degree.

Joining the Bennett faculty for one year will be Dr. Eda Lou Walton who comes as Whitney Visiting Professor in English, after having served for 35 years as associate professor of English at New York University prior to her retirement in 1959.

Dr. Margaret E. Sewell, a native of British India, will also be a member of the English faculty.

Returning to the college where he taught in 1920-21, is James V. Herring who in 1953 retired as head of the art department at Howard University after having served 32 years. Mr. Herring, a graduate of Syracuse University with further study at Harvard and Columbia Universities, has visited a number of southern colleges on a grant from the Harmon Foundation to aid in improving standards in art education. He will be filling the post vacated by James C. McMillan, one of his former students, who is on leave this year studying on a Danforth Fellowship.

Other appointments are:

Miss Charlotte Alston, of Greensboro, Bennett graduate, with further study at the Eastman School of Music and Scarritt College, music;

Mrs. Rubye T. Davis, of Greensboro, A&T College graduate, with the master of education degree from Woman's College, commercial education;

Charles E. Garth, of Birmingham, Ala., graduate of Morehouse College, with an M.A. from Atlanta University, sociology;

Miss Nina L. Hodge, of Shreveport, La., graduate of Wiley College, with an M.A. from the State University of Iowa, English;

Leo P. Lederer, of Bulgaria, with a diploma from the School for Higher Commercial Studies, Geneva Switzerland, with further study in philosophy and mathematics at the Sorbonne, Paris, modern languages;

Miss Martha R. Meekins, of Rison, Ark., a graduate of the A&M College at Pine Bluff, Ark., assistant librarian;

Mrs. Doris W. Minor, of Kinston, graduate of N.C. College at Durham, stenographer in the library;

Miss Margaret H. Roberts, of Durham, graduate of N.C. College, assistant in the records office;

Miss Carolyn J. Rogers, of Durham, graduate of N. C. College, in charge of the stenographic pool; and

Miss Florinell M. Washington, of Providence, R.I., graduate of Livingstone College, with an M.S. from Boston State Teachers' College, psychology, and Miss Ruby Wilson, of Greenville, N.C., graduate of Bennett, personnel director of Jones

DR. JOHN D. GROSS TO SPEAK AT BENNETT OPENING VESPER SERVICE

Dr. John O. Gross, of Nashville, Tenn., will speak at the opening formal vesper service at Bennett College, Sunday, Sept. 25, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Dr. Gross is general secretary of the division of educational institutions of the Board of Education of the Methodist Church.

October vespers speakers include the following:

Oct. 9—The Rev. Julius T. Douglas, pastor of St. James Presbyterian Church, Greensboro;

Oct. 16 — The Rev. John L. Bryan, director of religious activities of the college;

Oct. 23 — Dr. Evelyn Berry, executive secretary of the Women's Division of Christian Service, New York City;

Oct. 30 — Dr. Harry V. Richardson, president of the Interdenominational Theological Center, Atlanta, Ga.

Bennett College Faculty Staff To Hold Meeting

The annual faculty-staff fall conference at Bennett College will be held September 8-15, President Willa B. Player announced this week.

Theme this year will be "Emphasizing Unified Learning and Evaluation in Individual Education." Mrs. Esther Raushenbush of Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N. Y., and Miss Ruth Bush of Atlanta, Ga., will serve as consultants.

Mrs. Raushenbush, a graduate of the University of Washington, with an M.A. from that institution and from Radcliffe College, has taught at Wellesley and Barnard colleges and for a number of years was dean of the college at Sarah Lawrence. At present, she is a member of the literature faculty.

Unifying knowledge in general education in the lower college is the major objective and the rich experience of Dr. Raushenbush in curriculum planning is expected to contribute greatly to it. Miss Rush will be particularly concerned with problems of residence hall personnel.

First general session will be at 10 a.m. on Monday Sept. 9, in the foyer of the David D. Jones Student Union, with President Player presiding. A panel, "The Core Approach to Learning" will feature this session, with the chairman of the various core groups as panelists.

Dr. Clinton C. Armstrong, chairman of the religion and philosophy core; Dr. George Breathett, chairman of the social science core; Miss Georgie Latimer, chairman of the Freshman English core, and Dr. Roy Lee, chairman of the basic science core, will make presentations and Mrs. Louise G. Streat will be moderator.

Meetings of the three divisions of instruction are scheduled for 7 p.m. and the administrative staff will hold a planning meeting at that same hour.

A picnic supper on the lawn of the President's home will be held Saturday at 6 p.m. and on Sunday morning the group will attend 11 a.m. services at St. Matthews Methodist Church, founding home of the college, to hear a sermon by the Rev. John G. Corry, who last year served as acting director of religious activities at the college.

A vesper musicale, featuring members of the music faculty, will be held at 7:30 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel, to be followed by a coffee hour in the faculty lounge of the David D. Jones Student Union.

Monday and Tuesday will be given over to core group meetings to be climaxed Tuesday at 7 p.m. when President Player will preside over a presentation and discussion of the topic: "Further Development and Unification of the Core Program."

The faculty-staff will hold joint session with student leaders on Wednesday morning and both groups will attend the annual banquet that night at which Mrs. Raushenbush will speak. Mrs. Blanche Raiford, president of the Faculty-Staff Club, will be toastmistress.

A work-study period for faculty-staff and residence directors from 9:30 a.m to noon, will conclude the conference on Sat.

ALUMNAE SECRETARY — Miss Margarie Mays of 1207 Gorrell St., a 1957 graduate of Bennett College, began work as alumnae secretary at Bennett last week. She succeeds Mrs. Jean P. Haith. Since her graduation, Miss Mays has worked in the college records office and for the past two summers has studied at Michigan State University's graduate school.

Faculty, Staff Will Confer At Bennett

"Emphasizing Unified Learning and Evaluation in Individual Education" is the theme of the annual faculty-staff fall conference at Bennett College which opens at 10 a.m. today in the David D. Jones Student Union.

President Willa B. Player will preside and Mrs. Esther Raushenbush of Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N.Y., and Miss Ruth Rush, of Atlanta, Ga., will serve as consultants. A panel discussion, "The Core Approach to Learning," will be a highlight of this session.

Speakers will be Dr. Clinton C. Armstrong, chairman of the religion and philosophy core; Dr. George Breathett, chairman of the social science core; Miss Georgie Latimer, chairman of the freshman English core; and Dr. Roy Lee, chairman of the basic science core. Mrs. Louise G. Streat will be moderator.

Other Meetings

Meetings of the three divisions of instruction are scheduled for 7 p.m. and the administrative staff will hold a planning meeting at that same hour.

A picnic supper on the lawn of the President's home will be held Saturday at 6 p.m. and Sunday morning the group will attend 11 a.m. services at St. Matthews Methodist Church, founding home of the college, to hear a sermon by the Rev. John G. Corry, who last year served as acting director of religious activities at the college.

Bennett Notes 190 Freshmen

A record - breaking entering class of 190 freshmen completed the first half of their orientation period at Bennett College yesterday.

In addition, there are eight transfer students and one exchange student from Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio, in attendance.

Following an introduction to the college and a "get-acquainted" hour, the new students toured the campus and yesterday began taking placement tests which will extend through Tuesday.

Tonight between 7 and 9 o'clock they will be guest at a reception in the President's Home. Tomorrow they will begin registration for classes. Upperclassmen will register Tuesday and classes will begin at 8 a.m. Wednesday.

Packing For Europe: Happily anticipating going to Europe, where she'll teach dependents of Air Force personnel, Selma Whitmore, a Bennett College-trained native of North Carolina, packs her grip in Los Angeles. Six years a teacher in the Los Angeles school system, Miss Whitmore, who'll be making her first trip abroad, says she will remain indefinitely.

Bennett College to Restrict Its Freshmen Class To 150; Students Coming Twenty-Two States

GREENSBORO — With prospects of one of the largest senior classes in its history, Bennett College this year has found it necessary to limit the size of its entering class to 150.

Mrs. Susie W. Jones, director of admissions and counselor to freshmen, revealed this week that limited housing facilities created by an unprecedented senior registration, made this decision necessary.

This year's freshmen will come from 22 states, the District of Columbia and six foreign countries. There will be 57 from 34 cities and towns in North Carolina, one from California, five from Texas and 12 from Georgia.

Among the foreign students expected are two from Kenya and one each from Ireland, American Samoa, Sierra Leone, West Africa and Stuttgart, Germany.

Expected from American Samoa is Miss Elisapeta Saelua, who has been awarded an international scholarship by the college with further financial aid from the Department of Education of the government of American Samoa. She will pursue a course in business education.

The 1964 class will also include Miss Sandra L. Hann, of Stuttgart, Germany, daughter of American parents and a graduate of the Lycee Charles De Gaulle at Baden Oog, Germany. Born in Detroit, she lived in New Jersey before getting abroad. She spent 5 years in Paris and since then has lived in Germany where her mother is a teacher and her father is a real estate officer for the U. S. Army.

Also entering on scholarships will be Miss Brenda Green, of Philadelphia, Pa., a graduate of Germantown High School who was awarded a $300 Keller Memorial Scholarship, and Miss Beverly Bryan of Tryon, N. C., the recipient of a $200 scholarship from the James G. K. McClure Educational and Development Fund, of Asheville, N. C.

LYCEUM SERIES AT BENNETT

Five attractions for the 1960-61 Lyceum Series at Bennett College were announced this week by Dr. C. C. Winston, chairman.

The season opens on October 21, with June McMechen, soprano, to be followed on November 4, by Kermit Moore, cellist. The Morehouse Glee Club will make its traditional post-Thanksgiving Day performance on the night of November 25.

Opening attraction of the New Year will be the Seminary Singers of Boston University. The season will close on March 3, with a concert by Paul Spivak, Argentine pianist.

33 MEMBERS OF BENNETT FRESHMAN CLASS ARE HONOR STUDENTS

Thirty-three members of this year's freshman class at Bennett College were members of national honor societies, admissions records reveal.

Eleven of these were valedictorians and seven were salutatorians. Included among the 160-odd newcomers are eight who are sisters of Bennett graduates or upperclassmen.

From Greensboro comes Miss Willie Mae Wagstaff, whose two sisters, Mary and Virginia, are graduates of the college. Miss Olive P. Sawyer, of Salisbury is the sister of Miss Laura F. Sawyer, a 1960 graduate, and Miss Rosa L. Thurston, of the Bronx, N. Y., is the sister of Miss Frances Thurston, who graduated in 1958. Also sisters of graduates are Misses Elizabeth Carson, of Lexington, N. C., and Brenda Greene, of Philadelphia.

Miss Claudia Bacote, of Newport News, Va., is the sister of Miss Hermene Bacote, a junior; Miss Sylvia Duncan, of Cheraw, has a sister, Essie, a senior, and Miss Mable Frazier, of Luray, S. C., has a sister, Anita, also a senior.

Although the largest number of freshmen—22—has indicated a preference for elementary education, and 19 look to commercial education, there is an increase in the number of young women expressing a preference for education in the physical sciences.

Naming general sciences as a major are nine freshmen. Pre-nursing is indicated by seven and pre-med by six. Six want to major in mathematics, four in biology and two in chemistry. Two want careers in medical technology and two would become medical secretaries.

MEMBERS OF 1960 CLASS RECEIVE TEACHING POSTS

Additional teaching posts for five more members of the 1960 graduating class at Bennett College were reported with the opening of public schools last week.

In addition, Miss Una Delores Estwick, of New York City, will be attending the Atlanta School of Social Work and Miss Mary E. Boone, of Sanford, has been employed by a New York life insurance company.

Working as teachers in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia are:

Miss Dorothy Jordan, Goldsboro, at East End High School in South Hill Va.;

Miss Marilyn R. Neal, Columbia, S. C., at C. A. Johnson High School, Columbia;

Miss Barbara J. Pendergraft, Chapel Hill, at Georgetown Elementary School, Jacksonville, N. C.;

Miss Janice J. Robinson, McLean, Va., at Lucy Sims High School, Harrisonburg, Va. as a librarian, and Miss Betty Lou Jemison, Milledgeville, Ga., at the Boddie High School Milledgeville.

BENNETT DORM ASSISTANTS—Chosen assistant residence hall directors at Bennett College, Greensboro, for the 1960-61 academic year are, left to right: Misses Idelrie Moore, of Charlotte; Mattilyn Talford, of Chester, S. C.; Rosalie Stanley, of Great Neck, N. Y.; Claire Kenny, of Charleston, S. C., and Shirley Burton of Badin.

Dr. John Gross Gives Address At Service

"Wisdom is more than knowledge or the accumulation of facts; it is a part of an individual's disposition, and as knowledge shrinks, wisdom grows," Dr. John O. Gross, of Nashville, Tenn. told the audience at the opening vesper service at Bennett College yesterday.

The occasion was the annual observance in remembrance of Mrs. Annie Merner Pfeiffer, whose many benefactions helped to build the college. Dr. Gross, general secretary of the division of educational institutions of the Methodist Church, stressed the need for moral enghtenment as a part of wisdom.

Shown above ar... high school students, who attended the Summer Institute i... s and Science at Bennett College this summer. Dr. J. H... irector, stands at extreme right. The National Science ... ade the institute possible.

Religious Director Gives Talk At Bennett

Freshmen and new students at Bennett College, attending their first Sunday worship service yesterday, were told by the Rev. John L. Bryan that "God wants each of us to be able to stand on our own feet and to grow up harmoniously and joyously."

"We live interdependently, as members of one family. We are here to learn how to think, to persist in questioning—never to be afraid to do our best," said the college religious director.

Architect's View Of New Dormitory At Bennett College

Architect's drawing of new residence hall at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., for which ground will be broken in the fall. Building will house 106 young women and is expected to be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1961.

14 Added To Bennett Faculty

GREENSBORO — Announcement of 14 new members of the faculty and staff at Bennett College and of the return of two others from leaves of absence was made here last week by President Willa B. Player.

Returning from leaves will be Rev. Mr. and Mrs. John L. Bryan, he to his post as director of religious activities and she as part-time instructor in library science.

Seven of the appointees will be teaching in the humanities division, one each in the social science divisions and five will be on the adminstrative staff. Two of the new teachers have their doctorates and five have their master's degree.

Joining the Bennett faculty for one year will be Dr. Eda Lou Walton who comes as Whitney Visiting Professor in English, after having served for 35 years as associate professor of English at New York University prior to her retirement in 1959. Dr. Walton, who earned her Ph.D at the University of California, taught modern English, American poetry and literature and has frequently contributed book reviews and poetry to some of the nation's leading publications.

Dr. Margaret E. Sewell, a native of British India, who has published several novels, books of short stories and poems, will also be a member of the English faculty. Dr. Sewell has done literary research at Ohio State University, served as visiting lecturer in English at Vassar and visiting professor in English at Fordham University. She earned her Ph.D. degree in 19th Century literature at Newnham College in England.

Returning to the college where he taught in 1920-21, is James V. Herring who in 1953 retired as head of the art department at Howard University after having served 32 years. Mr. Herring, a graduate of Syracuse University with further study at Harvard and Columbia universities, has visited a number of southern colleges on a grant from the Harmon Foundation to aid in improving standards in art education. He will be filling the post vacated by James C. McMillan, one of his former students, who is on leave this year studying on a Danforth Fellowship.

Other appointments are:

Miss Charlotte Alston, of Greensboro, Bennett graduate, with further study at the Eastman School of Music and Scarritt College, music;

Mrs. Rubye T. Davis, of Greensboro, A and T College graduate, with the master of education degree from Woman's College, commercial education;

Charles E. Garth, of Birmingham, Ala., graduate of Morehouse College, with an M. A. from Atlanta University, sociology;

Miss Nina L. Hodge, of Shreveport, La., graduate of Wiley College, with an M. A. from the State University of Iowa, English;

Leo P. Lederer, of Bulgaria, with a diploma from the School for Higher Commercial Studies, Geneva Switzerland, with further study in philosophy and mathematics at the Sorbonne, Paris, modern languages;

Miss Martha R. Meekins, of Rison, Ar., a graduate of the A and M College at Pine Bluff, Ark., assistant librarian;

Mrs. Doris W. Minor, of Kinston, graduate of N. C. College, assistant in the records office;

Freshman Talent Show

A standing-room-only audience greeted performers in the annual freshman talent show at Bennett College's Little Theatre, Friday night.

A total of 20 acts, involving some 25 persons, ran the gamut of solos—piano, violin and vocal—dances, dramatizations, monologues, pantomime and vocal quartets, a number of which were roundly applauded.

Among the numbers which were particularly well received was a violin solo by Miss Margaret Traylor of Atlanta, Ga.; a solo dance by Miss Maudelle Baker of San Diego, Calif.; a piano solo, "Autumn Leaves," by Miss Amy Adam of Charlotte, and a dramatization from "Our Town" by Miss Emma Watson of Birmingham, Ala.

Privilege Told Bennett Coeds

GREENSBORO — A reminder that their presence in college today represents a "privilege that has been bought with a price," was given by President Willa B. Player of Bennett College to a record-breaking student body of 528 which attended the first chapel meeting of the year here Wednesday morning.

Bennett's facilities, like those of a number of other institutions of higher learning, are being taxed by 190 freshmen, 125 sophomores, 100 juniors and 113 seniors. Ground was broken this week for a new dormitory in the fall of 1961.

Dr. Player also reported that the faculty has grown this year to the total of 51 persons, with four other on leave and that the staff now numbers 41.

In speaking to the students she said: "We come to college at a time when there is great tension in the world. The search for peace and justice is on the march at home and abroad. We might, then, well ask ourselves What does it mean to be in college at a time like this?

"It means," she continued," that sacrifices have been made — some by you, possibly — and because of this, you should focus your mind upon getting the best education possible while here. Use our two major resources — our faculty and our library, to the utmost, keep abreast of new opportunities for service, and remember that excellence is the key to successful living at Bennett."

Social Science Group Honors Graduating Seniors

Members of Sigma Rho Sigma, social science honorary at Bennett College who remain for next year, have farewell party for graduating seniors. Left to right, front row, are: Misses Jacqueline Boseman, Baltimore, Md.; Dorothy Jordan, graduate, Goldsboro; Yvonne Redcross, Hampton, Va.; Jacqueline Daise, Wilmington; back row: Elizabeth Daise, Wilmington; Gloria Greene, graduate, Timmonsville, S. C.; Laura F. Sawyer, graduate, Salisbury, N. C., and Gwendolyn Mackel, Chicago, Ill.

14 New Members Join Bennett College Staff

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Announcement of 14 new members of the faculty and staff a Bennett college and of the return of two others from leaves of absence was made his week by Presiden Willa B. Player.

Returning from leaves will be the Rev. and Mrs. John L. Bryan, he to his post as director of religious activities and set as part-time instructor in library science.

SEVEN OF THE appointees will be teaching in the humanities division, each in he social science and science divisions, and five will be on the administrative staff. Two of the new teachers have the doctorate degree and five, the masters degree.

Joining the faculty for one year will be Dr. Eda Lou Walton, who comes as Whitney visiting professor in English, former associate professor of English at New York Universiy for 35 years prior to her retirement in 1959. Dr. Walton, who earned the Ph. D. degree at the University of California, taught modern English, American poetry and literature and has frequently contributed book reviews and poetry to some of the nation's leading publications.

Dr. Margaret E. Sewell, a naive of British India, who has published several novels, books and short stories and poems, will also be a member of the English faculty. Dr. Sewell has done literary research at Ohio State university, served as visiting lecturer in English at Vassar and visiting professor in English at Fordham University. She earned her Ph.D. degree at Newnham college in England.

RETURNING TO the college where he taught in 1920-21, is James V. Herring, who in 1953 retired as head of the art department at Howard university after 31 years. Mr. Herring, a graduate of Syracuse university with further study at Harvard and Columbia, has visited a number of southern colleges on a grant from the Harmon Foundation to aid in improving standards in art education. He will be filling the post vacated by James C. McMillan, one of his former students, who is on leave this year studying on a Danforth Fellowship.

OTHER APPOINTMENTS are:

Miss Charlotte Alston of Greensboro, music instructor; Mrs. Rubye T. Davis, Greensboro, commercial education; Charles E. Garth, Birmingham sociology; Miss Nina L. Hodge, Shreveport, La., English; Leo P. Lederer, Bulgaria, modern languages.

Also, Miss Martha R. Meekins, Arkansas, assistant librarian; Mrs. Doris W. Minor, Kinston, Library stenorgrapher Miss Margaret H. Roberts, Durham, assisant, records office; Miss Carolyn J. Rogers, Durham, in charge of the stenographic pool; Miss Florinell M. Washington, Rhode Island, psychology; and Miss Ruby Wilson, Greenville, personnell director of Jones Hall.

NEWCOMERS — Shown here are 18 of the 21 new members of the faculty and staff at Bennett College, Greensboro, who reported for work last week. Left to right, first row: Miss Evelyn Willis, Mrs. Doris Minor, Dr. Margaret E. Sewell, Dr. Eda Walton, Mrs. Rubye T. Davis. Second row: Mrs. Rena D. Godbolt, Miss Pauline Guest, Miss Florinell Washington, Miss Ada Tonkins. Third row: Mrs. Marion LeGrand, Miss Carolyn Rogers, Miss Ethel Graves, Miss Margaret Roberts, Miss Ruby Wilson. Back row: Leo Lederer, Charles L. Garth, Murray Robins, Miss Nina Hodge.

Dr. Willa B. Player Speaks To Student Body At Chapel Meeting

A reminder that their presence in college today represents a "privilege that has been bought with a price", was given by President Willa B. Player of Bennett College to a record-breaking student body of 528 which attended the first chapel meeting of the year here Wednesday morning.

Bennett's facilities, like those of a number of other institutions of higher learning, are being taxed by 190 freshmen, 125 sophomores, 100 juniors and 113 seniors. Ground was broken this week for a new dormitory which will house 106 young women. It is expected to be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1961.

Dr. Player also reported that the faculty has grown this year to the total of 51 persons, with four other on leave and that the staff now numbers 41.

In speaking to the students she said: "We come to college at a time when there is great tension in the world. The search for peace and justice is on the march at home and abroad. We might, then, well ask ourselves 'What does it mean to be in college at a time like this?'

"It means," she continued "that sacrifices have been made —some by you, possibly — and because of this, you should focus your mind upon getting the best education possible while here. Use our two major resources — our faculty and our library to the utmost, keep abreast of new opportunities for service, and remember that excellence is the key to successful living at Bennett."

Classes began on Wednesday for the 1960-61 academic year and the first formal Sunday vesper service — Annie Merner Pfeiffer Memorial Day — was held Sunday with Dr. John O. Gross of the Board of Education of the Methodist Church, Nashville, Tenn., as speaker.

NEWCOMERS — Twenty-one new members joined the faculty and staff at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., as the fall semester got underway. Miss Evelyn Willis, testing and psychology; Mrs. Doris Minor, stenographer; Dr. Margaret E. Sewell, English; Dr. Eda Walton, Whitney Visiting Professor in English; Mrs. Rubye T. Davis, commercial education; second row, Mrs. Rena D. Godbolt, secretary; Miss Pauline Guest, assistant, stenographic pool, Miss Florinell Washington, psychology;

Miss Ada Tonkins, residence hall personnel director; third row, Mrs. Marion LeGrand, residence hall personnel director; Miss Margaret Roberts, assistant, record office, Miss Ruby Wilson, reidence hall personnel director; back row, Leo Lederer, modern language;

Charles L. Garth, sociology professor; Murray Robins, mathematics and Russian; Miss Nina Hodge, English; James B. Herring, art; Mrs. Mary B. Robbins, snack bar, and Miss Charlotte Alston, music.

Miss June McMechen, a brilliant soprano, will open the 1960-61 Lyceum series at Bennett College in a concert Friday, Oct. 21, in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Possessing a voice of exceptional range and flexibility, Miss McMechen will sing from the works of Handel, Brahms, Gluck, Debussy and Gounod and will also include a group of traditional spirituals.

Fourteen New Teachers Join Bennett College Faculty; Two Others Return From Leaves

GREENSBORO — Announcement of 14 new members of the faculty and staff at Bennett College and of the return of two others from leaves of absences was made here this week by President Willa B. Player.

Returning from leaves will be the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. John L. Bryan, he to his post as director of religious activities and she as part-time instructor in library science.

Seven of the appointees will be teaching in the humanities division, one each in the social science and science divisions and five will be on the administrative staff. two of the new teachers have their doctorates and five have their master's degree.

Joining the Bennett faculty for one year will be Dr. Eda Lou Walton who comes as Whitney Visiting Professor in English, after having served for 35 years as associate professor of English at New York University prior to her retirement in 1959. Dr. Walton, who earned her Ph.D. at the University of California, taught modern English, American poetry and literature and has frequently contributed book reviews and poetry to some of the nation's leading publications.

Dr. Margaret E. Sewell, a native of British India, who has published several novels, books of short stories and poems, will also be a member of the English faculty. Dr. Sewell has done literary research at Ohio State University, served as visiting lecturer in English at Vassar and visiting professor in English at Fordham University. She earned her Ph.D. in 19th Century literature at Newnham College in England.

Returning to the college where he taught in 1920-21, is James V. Herring who in 1953 retired as head of the art department at Howard University after serving 32 years.

Other appointments are:

Miss Charlotte Alston, of Greensboro, Bennett graduate;

Mrs. Rubye T. Davis, of Greensboro, A&T College graduate;

Charles E. Garth of Birmingham, Ala., graduate of Morehouse College;

Miss Nina L. Hodge, of Shreveport, La., graduate of Wiley College;

Leo P. Lederer, of Bulgaria.

Miss Martha R. Meekins, of Rison, Ark., a graduate of the A&T College at Pine Bluff, Ark., assistant librarian;

Mrs. Doris W. Minor, of Kinston, graduate of N. C. College at Durham, stenographer in the library;

Miss Margaret H. Roberts, of Durham, graduate of N. C. College, assistant in the records office;

Miss Carolyn J. Rogers, of Durham, graduate of N. C. College, in charge of the stenographic pool;

Miss Florinell M. Washington, of Providence, R. I. graduate of Livingtone College a Miss Ruby Wilson, of Greenville N. C., graduate of Bennett.

—o—

Bennett to get new dorm by '61

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Ground was broken at Bennett College last week for a new dormitory to house 106 women. The building will be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1961.

It also was announced that the Rev. Levi B. Miller Jr., pastor of Janes Methodist Church in Brooklyn, NY., will be the vesper service speaker Sunday.

A native of Baltimore, the Rev. Mr. Miller formerly serve as executive secretary of the Board of Education of the Washington Conference of the Methodist Church.

Also, for a number of years he was associated with the Baltimore Area Leadership School held at Bennett College annually.

N. Y. Minister at Bennett Sunday

GREENSBORO — Speaker for the October 2, vesper service at Bennett College will be the Reverend Levi B. Miller, Jr., pastor of the Janes Methodist Church, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The Reverend Mr. Miller, a native of Baltimore, Md., formerly served as executive secretary of the Board of Education of the Washington Conference of the Methodist Church, and for a number of years was associated with the Baltimore Area Leadership School annually held at Bennett College.

Eight More New Faculty Appointments to Bennett College Staff

Appointment of eight more persons to the faculty and staff at Bennett College brings to 22 the number of new workers for 1960-61, President Willa B. Player reported this week.

Added to the teaching faculty are Miss Evelyn Willis, of Atlanta Ga., psychology, and Murray Robins, a native of Russia, in mathematics, physics and Russian. Miss Willis, a graduate of Spelman College, earned her M.S. degree in psychology at Howard University. She has taken additional psychology courses at Atlanta University.

Mr. Robins, a naturalized American, studied at the Polytechnic Institute at Sarotov, Russia and at the Labor Faculty Institute, Moscow, where he pursued work in mathematics, physics, Russian language and literature. He holds a teacher's diploma from the Mosoow Teachers' Institute and since coming to the U. S. has studied methods of teaching Russian at Columbia University.

Employed as secretary in the office of public relations is Mrs. Rena D. Godbolt, of Greensboro, a business education graduate of Tennessee State University, Nashville. Miss Pauline E. Guest, of Hickory, graduate in secretarial science from A&T College, is employed as assistant in the stenographic pool.

Named manager of the college snack bar is Mrs. Mary B. Robbins, of Greensboro, a Bennett graduate. Miss Ada M. Tonkins, of Greensboro, a graduate of Winston-Salem Teachers' College, with an M.A. from New York University, has been named a residence hall personnel director.

Named to similar posts are two Bennett graduates, Mrs. Marion B. LeGrand, of Wilkesboro, and Miss Ethel D. Graves, of Yanceyville.

BENNETT DORM ASSISTANTS---Chosen assistant residence hall directors at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., for the 1960-61 academic year are, left to right: Misses Idelrie Moore, of Charlotte; Mattilyn Talford, of Chester, S. C.; Rosalie Stanley, of Great Neck, N. Y.; Claire Kenny, of Charleston, S. C., and Shirley Bruton, of Badin, N. C.

MISS MARGARET BAILEY, center, from Fruitland, Md., president of the Student Senate at Bennett College, chats with consultants and President Willa B. Player during a break in the annual student leadership conference at the Greensboro, N.C. institution. Left to right are Miss Theressa Hoover of New York City, representative of the Woman's Division of Christian Service; Jameson Jones, Nashville, Tenn., editor of Motive Magazine; Miss Ruth M. Harris, also of New York City and the Woman's Division of Christian Service and Dr. Player.

Eight More are Hired to Faculty At Bennett

9/17/60

GREENSBORO—Appointment of eight more persons to the faculty and staff at Bennett College brings to 22 the number of new workers for 1960-61, President Willa B. Player reported this week.

Added to the teaching faculty are Miss Evelyn Willis, of Atlanta, Ga., psychology, and Murray Robins, a native of Russia, in mathematics, physics and Russian. Miss Willis, a graduate of Spelman College, earned her M.S. degree in psychology at Howard University. She has taken additional psychology courses at Atlanta University.

Robins, a naturalized American, studied at the Polytechnic Institute at Saratov, Russia and at the Labor Faculty Institute, Moscow, where he pursued work in mathematics, physics, Russian language and literature. He holds a teacher's diploma from the Moscow Teachers' Institute and since coming to the U.S. has studied methods of teaching Russian at Columbia University.

Employed as secretary in the office of public relations is Mrs. Rena D. Godbolt, of Greensboro, a business education graduate of Tennessee State University, Nashville. Miss Pauline E. Guest, of Hickory, graduate in secretarial science from A&T College, is employed as assistant in the stenographic pool.

Named manager of the college snack bar is Mrs. Mary B. Robbins, of Greensboro, a Bennett graduate. Miss Ada M. Tonkins, of Greensboro, a graduate of Winston-Salem Teachers' College, with an M.A. from New York University, has been named a residence hall personnel director.

WON'T BE LONG NOW---Almost dwarfed by cartons of books, Miss Mamie Isler, Bennett College sophomore, of Goldsboro, N. C., arranges text books on shelves of college book store in preparation for the buying rush which will take place next week. Classes begin on September 21.

Bennett Grads Get Teaching Jobs in Area

9/17/60

GREENSBORO — Additional teaching posts for five more members of the 1960 graduating class at Bennett College were reported with the opening of public schools last week.

In addition, Miss Una Delores Swick of New York City, will be attending the Atlanta School of Social Work and Miss Mary E. Boone, of Sanford, has been employed by a New York life insurance company.

Working as teachers in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia are:

Miss Dorothy Jordan, Goldsboro, at East End High School in South Hill, Va.;

Miss Marilyn R. Neal, Columbia, S. C., at C. A. Johnson High School, Columbia;

Miss Barbara J. Pendergraft, Chapel Hill, at Georgetown Elementary School, Jacksonville, N. C.;

Miss Janice J. Robinson, McLean, Va., at Lucy Sims High School, Harrisonburg, Va., as a librarian, and;

Miss Betty Lou Jemison, Milledgeville, Georgia, at the Boddie High School, Milledgeville.

Mrs. Esther Raushenbush Speaks at Faculty - Staff Fall Conference At Bennett College

"We never find a college program or system that is perfect. We find one that best suits our needs and try to make it work."

So spoke Mrs. Esther Raushenbush, of Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N. Y., at the closing session of the annual faculty-staff fall conference at Bennett College, which had as its theme: "Emphasizing Unified Learning and Evaluation in Individual Education." President Willa B. Player presided.

Mrs. Raushenbush served for a number of years as dean at Sarah Lawrence and has taught at Wellesley and Barnard Colleges.

Because most of the discussions during the five-day conference centered around the freshman and sophomore core programs — the lower college — Mrs. Raushenbush pointed out that the real test of any such program is what type of student is produced for the junior and senior years.

"The best judges of a college program," she said, "are the students. The teachers know what they are trying to do, but it is the students who actually know what they are doing."

Miss Wilhelmina Gilbert, chairman of the recording committee, in reporting on the proceedings of the conference, said that the group found a number of items of program and procedure common to the majority of the seven cores at the college, namely, common textbook, common outlines and objectives, common bibliography, forums and periodic meetings of core personnel.

Among the problems common to the several cores were the difficulty of developing a sound and workable core program with a faculty trained in many different disciplines and understanding the purpose of general education courses.

Said Miss Gilbert: "The intra-core program appears to be well on its way, with one or two exceptions, toward achieving unification. . . It is in the area of inter-core cooperation that progress has been slow — if not actually non-existent. . . ."

Projections from the committee included the suggestions that there should be in the college literature a definite statement of the purpose of the core program at Bennett and that certain critical subjects, such as foreign languages and mathematics be included in the core curriculum.

Student leaders, who concluded their annual conference by attending the final session of the faculty-staff meeting at

Bennett's Freshmen Were Top Ranked Scholars

Carolina Times 9/17/60

GRERNSBORO — Thirty-three members of this year's freshman class at Bennett College were members of national honor societies, admissions records reveal.

Eleven of these were valedictorians and seven were salutatorians. included among the 160-add newcomers are eight who are sisters of Bennett graduates or upperclassmen.

From Greensboro comes Miss Willie Mae Fagstaff, whose two sisters, Mary and Virginia, are graduates of the college. Miss Olive P. Swayer, of Salisbury is the sister of Miss Laura F. Sawyer, a 1960 graduate, and Miss Rosa L. Thurston, of the Bronx, N. Y., is the sister of Miss Frances Thurston, who was graduated in 1958.

Alston's sister of graduates are Misses Elizabeth Carson, of Lexington, and Brenda Green, of Philadelphia.

—O—

About 100 new mechanical cotton pickers are expected to be purchased in North Carolina this year.

Miss Nancy Kirby
(Awarded fellowship)

REV. JOHN L. BRYAN SPEAKS AT SUNDAY WORSHIP SERVICE

Freshmen and new students at Bennett College, attending their first Sunday worship service Sunday, were told by the Rev. John L. Bryan that "God wants each of us to be able to stand on our own feet and to grow harmoniously and joyously."

The minister, who is director of religious activities at the college, spoke on "Let the Fledglings Fly!" and illustrated the topic with a reminder of how the mother eagle does nothing to prevent her young from learning to fly.

"We live interdependently, as members of one family," said the speaker. "We are here to learn how to think, to persist in questioning — never to be afraid to do our best."

President Willa B. Player greeted the students, and Miss Thelma Spruill, sophomore of Greensboro, sang Mendelssohn's "O Rest in the Lord," accompanied by Miss Charlotte Alston, a member of the music faculty.

REV. LEVI B. MILLER TO SPEAK AT VESPER SERVICE

Speaker for the October 2, vesper service at Bennett College will be the Rev. Levi B. Miller, Jr., pastor of the James Methodist Church, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The Rev. Mr. Miller, a native of Baltimore, Md., formerly served as executive secretary of of the Board of Education of the Washington Conference of the Methodist Church, and for a number of years was associated with the Baltimore Area Leadership School annually held at Bennett College.

WON'T BE LONG NOW — Almost dwarfed by cartons of books, Miss Mamie Isler, Bennett College sophomore of Goldsboro, arranges text books on shelves of college book store in preparation for the buying rush which will, take place next week. Classes begin on September 21. Carolina 9/17/60

BENNETT FACULTY MEMBERS PRESENTED IN RECITAL

Five members of the music faculty at Bennett College were presented in recital Sunday night in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Despite the inclement weather induced by Hurricane Donna, many music lovers from campus and community were in attendance.

Clarence E. Whiteman, organist, played five numbers. Among them "Prelude on 'Brother James's Air'" by Searle Wright and "Baroque Prelude and Fantasia" by Richard Arnell. Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, soprano, sang "The Bird of the Wilderness" by Edward Hersman and "Ride on, King Jesus," accompanied by Mrs. Lily Keleti. Miss Charlotte Alston, pianist, played the first movement of Haydn's "Sonata in Eb Major" and served as accompanist for Howell T. Jones, Jr., violinist, who performed two movements from "Sonata No. IV for Violin and Piano" by Handel, "Csardas," by Monti, and "Hoe-Down" by Aaron Copland.

Mrs. Keleti demonstrated her artistry in Chopin's "Impromptu in F Major" and "Invitation to the Dance" by Carl Maria Von Weber.

Bennett Limits Freshman's Enrollment to 150

Greenboro, N. C. —With prospects of one of the largest senior classes in its history, Bennett College this year has found it necessary to limit the size of its entering freshman class to 150.

Mrs. Susie W. Jones, director of admissions and counselor to freshmen, revealed this week that limited housing facilities created by an unprecedented senior registration, made this decision necessary.

This year's freshmen will come from 22 states, the District of Columbia and six foreign countries. There will be 57 from 34 cities and towns in North Carolina, one from California, five from Texas and 12 from Georgia. 9/17/60

Foreign Students Expected from Six Foreign Countries

Among the foreign students expected are two from Kenya and one each from Ireland, American Samoa, Sierra Leone, West Africa and Stuttgart, Germany.

Expected from American Samoa is Miss Elisapeta Saelua, who has been awarded an international scholarship by the college with further financial aid from the Department of Education of the government of American Samoa. She will pursue a course in business education. Charlotte Tribune

The 1964 class will also include Miss Sandra L. Hann, of Stuttgart, Germany, daughter of American parents and a graduate of the Lycee Charles De Gaulle at Baden Oog, Germany. Born in Detroit, she lived in New Jersey before going abroad. She spent five years in Paris and since then has lived in Germany where her mother is a teacher and her father is a real estate officer for the U. S. Army.

Also entering on scholarships will be Miss Brenda Green, of Philadelphia, Pa., a graduate of Germantown High School who was awarded a $300 Keller Memorial Scholarship, and Miss Beverly Bryan, of Tryon, N. C., the recipient of a $200 scholarship from the James G. K. McClure Educational and Development Fund, of Asheville, N. C.

Bennett Appoints 8 Members

Carolina Times 9/17/60

GREENSBORO — Appointment of eight more persons to the faculty and staff at Bennett College brings to 22 the number of new workers for 1960-61, President Willa B. Player reported last week.

Added to the teaching faculty are Miss Evelyn Willis, of Atlanta, Ga., psychology, and Murray Robins, a native of Russia, in mathematics, physics and Russian. Miss Willis, a graduate of Spelman College, earned her M. S. degree in psychology at Howard University. She has taken additional psychology courses at Atlanta University.

Mr. Robins, a naturalized American, studied at the Polytechnic Institute at Saratov, Russia and at the Labor Faculty Institute, Moscow, where he pursued work in mathematics, physics, Russian language and literature. He holds a teacher's diploma from the Moscow Teachers' Institute and since coming to the U. S. has studied methods of teaching Russian at Columbia University.

Employed as secretary in the office of public relations is Mrs. Rena D. Godbolt, of Greensboro, a business education graduate of Tennessee State University, Nashville. Miss Pauline E. Guest, of Hickory, graduate in secretarial science from A and T College, is employed as assistant in the stenographic pool.

Named manager of the college snack bar is Mrs. Mary B. Robbins, of Greensboro, a Bennett graduate. Miss Ada M. Tonkins, of Greensboro, a graduate of Winston-Salem Teachers' College, with an M. A. from New York University, has been named a residence hall personnel director.

Named to similar posts are two Bennett graduates, Mrs. Marion B. LeGrand, of Wilkesboro, and Miss Ethel D. Graves, of Yanceyville.

Senior Registration High At Bennett College

With prospects of one of the largest senior classes in its history, Bennett College this year has found it necessary to limit the size of its entering freshman class to 150.

Mrs. Susie W. Jones, director of admissions and counselor to freshmen, revealed that limited housing facilities created by an unprecedented senior registration, made this decision necessary.

This year's freshmen will come from 22 states, the District of Columbia and six foreign countries. There will be 57 from 34 cities and towns in North Carolina, one from California, five from Texas and 12 from Georgia.

Among the foreign students are two from Kenya and one each from Ireland, American Samoa, Sierra Leone, West Africa and Stuttgart, Germany.

The 1964 class will also include Miss Sandra L. Hann, of Stuttgart, Germany, daughter of American parents and a graduate of the Lycee Charles De Gaulle at Baden Oog, Germany. Born in Detroit, she lived in New Jersey before going abroad.

Also entering on scholarships will be Miss Brenda Green, of Philadelphia, Pa., a graduate of Germantown High School who was awarded a $300 Keller Memorial Scholarship, and Miss Beverly Bryan, of Tryon, N. C., the recipient of a $200 scholarship from the James G. K. McClure Educational and Development Fund, of Asheville. Carolina 9/17/60

New Bennett Faculty and Staff Members

Here are 16 of the 21 new members of the faculty and staff at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., who reported for work last week. Left to right, are: (first row) Miss Evelyn Willis, testing and psychology; Mrs. Doris Minor, stenographer; Dr. Margaret E. Sewell, English; Dr. Eda Walton, Whitney Visiting Professor in English; Mrs. Rubye T. Davis, commercial education; Second row: Mrs. Rena D. Godbolt, secretary; Miss Pauline Guest, assistant, stenographic pool; Miss Florinell Washington, psychology; Miss Ada Tonkins, residence hall personnel director; third row, Mrs. Marion LeGrand, residence hall personnel director; Miss Carolyn Rogers, director, stenographic pool; Miss Ethel Graves, residence hall personnel director; Miss Margaret Roberts, assistant, record office; Miss Ruby Wilson, residence hall personnel diector; back row: Leo Lederer, modern languages; Charles L. Garth, sociology professor; Murray Robins, mathematics and Russian; Miss Nina Hodge, English. Not shown are James B. Herring, art; Mrs. Mary B. Robbins, snack bar and Miss Charlotte Alston, music. Sec - 9/24/60

Douglas Talks At Bennett

"Many persons of great promise are throwing away their lives by indifference," the Rev. Julius T. Douglas, pastor of St. James Presbyterian Church, told the Bennett College vesper audience yesterday in Pfeiffer chapel.

Speaking on "The Sin of Indifference," the minister said that people are not only indifferent about themselves but indifferent about the affairs of others.

"We hear too much of 'what's the use? why should I? and so what?,'" he declared. "These are all expressions of an attitude that has its roots in laziness and, sometimes, in downright meanness."

In urging the students to be mindful of their civic responsibility, the Rev. Mr. Douglas referred to the coming national elections and to the religious issue. "Church and state have never been separated," he stated. We have Christians in government and the church is the moral conscience of society."

Bennett gets staff members

afro 9/17/60

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Appointment of eight more persons to the faculty and staff at Bennett College brings to 22 the number of new workers for 1960 - 61, President Willa B. Player reported this week.

Added to the teaching faculty are Miss Evelyn Willis, of Atlanta, Ga., psychology, and Murray Robins, a native of Russia, in mathematics, physics and Russian. Miss Willis, a graduate of Spelman College, earned her MS degree in psychology at Howard University. She has taken additional psychology courses at Atlanta University.

• • •

MR. ROBINS, a naturalized American, studied at the Polytechnic Institute at Saratov, Russia and at the Labor Faculty Institute, Moscow, where he pursued work in mathematics, physics, Russian language and literature. He holds a teacher's diploma from the Moscow Teachers' Institute and since coming to the U.S. has studied methods of teaching Russian at Columbia University.

Employed as secretary in the office of public relations is Mrs. Rena D. Godbolt, of Greensboro, a business education graduate of Tennessee State University, Nashville. Miss Pauline E. Guest, of Hickory, graduate in secretarial science from A and T College, is employed as assistant in the stenographic pool.

• • •

NAMED MANAGER of the college snack bar is Mrs. Mary B. Robbins, of Greensboro, a Bennett graduate. Miss Ada M. Tonkins, of Greensboro, a graduate of Winston - Salem Teachers' College, with an MA from New York University, has been named a residence hall personnel director.

Named to similar posts are two Bennett graduates, Mrs. Marion B. LeGrand, of Wilkesboro, and Miss Ethel D. Graves of Yanceyville.

GREENSBORO, N.C. —The Lyceum Series at Bennett College opens Oct. 21 with soprano June McMechen, Dr. C. G. Winston, chairman, announced last week. On Nov. 4, Kermit Moore, cellist, will be presented. The Morehouse College Glee Club of Atlanta give its traditional post - Thanksgiving Day performance on the night of Nov. 25.

Vesper speakers for the month of October are the Rev. Julius T. Douglas, St. James Presbyterian Church, Greensboro, Oct. 9; the Rev. John L. Bryan, director of religious activities, Bennett, Oct. 16; Dr. Evelyn Berry, executive secretary, Woman's Division of Christian Service, NYC, Oct. 23; and Dr. Harry V. Richardson, president of the Interdenominational Theological Center, Atlanta, Oct. 30. afro 9/17/60

DR. JOHN O. GROSS SPEAKS AT OPENING VESPER SERVICES AT BENNETT COLLEGE

"Wisdom is more than knowledge or the accumulation of facts; it is a part of an individual's disposition, and as knowledge shrinks, wisdom grows" Dr. John O. Gross, of Nashville, Tenn., told the audience at the opening vesper service at Bennett College Sunday.

The occasion was the annual observance in remembrance of Mrs. Annie Merner Pfeiffer, whose many benefactions helped to build the college. Dr. Gross, general secretary of the division of educational institutions of the Methodist Church, stressed the need for moral enlightment as a part of wisdom.

Outstanding Students & Activities At Bennett College

SHORT VACATION!!---These seven Bennett College students are spending their summer working at the college. Left to right, front row: Misses Leacy Shipman, typist, of Whiteville, assigned to the National Science Foundation summer institute; Maxine West, of Greensboro, Holgate Library assistant; Shirley Thompson, typist with NSF, St. Pauls; back row; Mrs. Jean Wiggins, clerk-typist, records office; Minnie Sims, of Greensboro, Holgate Library assistant, and Thelma Spruill, of Greensboro, switchboard operator.

HEAD UPPER CLASSES---Elected to lead their classes at Bennett College for the 1960-61 school year are, left to right, Misses Sonja Green, sophomores, Philadelphia; Mary F. Lane, juniors, Mount Olive, N. C. and Helena Howell, seniors, Concord, N. C.

HAS ONE-WOMAN ART SHOW---Miss Joan Didier, of Kingston, Jamaica, BWI, stands before "Unwed Mother", one of a dozen original paintings which were displayed in her recent one-woman art show at Bennett College. Miss Didier, first fine arts major to be graduated from the college, will teach in Kingston beginning in September.

BENNETT MARSHALS HONORED---Eight of the ten members of the 1960 class at Bennett College, who received pins emblematic of their service on the senior marshal board for the past two years, pose for the last time in front of Pfeiffer Chapel. They are left to right, Misses Betty Crockett, of Charlotte, N. C.; Willa Pullins, of Charlotte; Tiner Spear, of Bridgeport, Conn.; Marjorie Wilson, of Clinton, N. C.; Maryann Wilmer, of Camden, N. J.; Sylvania Black, of Marlin, Texas; Nancy Kirby, of Haddonfield, N. J. and Catherine Lawson, of Lexington, Va.

LEARNING ABOUT ART---Miss Delores A. Murray, of Washington, D. C., a rising sophomore at Bennett College, examines one of the 1,500 slides in the collection recently obtained from the Carnegie Corporation for use in art and civilization courses. Miss Murray plans a career as a teacher.

MINISTERS COMPLETE COURSE---These seven Methodist ministers were awarded certificates recently after having completed four summer sessions of prescribed study at the Baltimore Area Pastor's School at Bennett College. They are, left to right, front row: Mesdames Irene Simpson, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Julia S. Thompson, Chattanooga, Tenn., and Martha S. Hollis, Chester, Pa.; back row: Elwood J. Jones, class president, of Asheboro, N. C.; William H. Davis, Annapolis, Md.; Philip A. Henry, Chestertown, Md., and Clifford E. Landrum, Philadelphia, Pa. Dean Charles L. Carrington, of Jamaica, N. Y., delivered the commencement address and presented certificates.

Bennett Students Told

Presence In College Today Represents A Privilege

GREENSBORO, N. C. — A reminder that their presence in college today represents a "privilege that has been bought with a price," was given by President Willa B. Player of Bennett College to a record - breaking student body of 528 which attended the first chapel meeting of the year here Wednesday morning.

Bennett's facilities, like those of a number of other institutions of higher learning, are being taxed by 190 freshmen, 125 sophomores, 100 juniors and 113 seniors. Ground was broken this week for a new dormtory which will house 106 young women. It is expected to be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1961.

DR. PLAYER also reported that the faculty has grown this year to the total of 51 persons, with four others on leave and that the staff now number 41.

In speaking to the students she said: "We come to college at a time when there is great tension in the world. The search for peace and justice is on the march both at home and abroad. We might, then, well ask ourselves 'What does it mean to be in college at a time like this?'

"IT MEANS," she continued, "that sacrifices have been made — some by you, possibly — and because of this, you should focus your mind upon getting the best education possible while here. Use our two major resources - our faculty and our library to the utmost, keep abreast of new opportunities for service, and remember that excellence is the key to successful living at Bennett."

Classes began on Wednesday for the 1960 - 61 academic year and the first formal Sunday vesper service — Annie Merner Pfeiffer Memorial Day — was held Sunday with Dr. John O. Gross, of the Board of Education of the Methodist Church, Nashville, Tenn. as speaker.

9a-10/1/60

ANNUAL TALENT SHOW HELD AT BENNETT COLLEGE

A standing-room-only audience greeted performers in the annual freshman talent show at Bennett College's Little Theatre Friday night.

A total of 20 acts, involving some 25 persons, ran the gamut of solos—piano, violin, and vocal—dances, dramatizations, monologues, pantomime and vocal quartets, a number of which were roundly applauded.

CONSULTANT AT BENNETT — Mrs. Esther Raushenbush of Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N.Y. (second from right), who served as consultant for the annual facutly-staff fall conference at Bennett College, chats with President Willa B. Player during a break.

REV. J. T. DOUGLAS TO SPEAK AT VESPER SERVICES AT BENNETT

The Rev. Julius T. Douglas, pastor of the St. James Presbyterian Church of this city will speak at the Sunday vesper service at Bennett College Oct. 9, at 4 p.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Rev. Bryan To Bennett

GREENSBORO— Rev. John L. Bryan, director of religious activities, will be the Bennett College vesper speaker on Sunday, October 16, in Pfeiffer Chapel.

In Bennett Musicale 9g 10/1/60

Five members of the music faculty at Bennett College are shown following their appearance in a vesper musicale in Pfeiffer Chapel recently.

Left to right, are Mrs. Mary J. Crawford soprano; Clarence E. Whiteman, organist; Miss Charlotte Alston, pianist; Howell T. Jones, Jr., violinist; Mrs. Lily Keleti, pianist.

A "GRAVE" MATTER — Miss Bettye Davis, sophomore, of Waynesboro, Ga., stops with a group of Bennett freshmen on orientation tour at the grave of "Miss Idle Gossip" a familiar point of interest for all visitors to the Greensboro, N. C. campus. They are part of this year's entering class of 1960.

"Presence In College Is A Privilege," Dr. Player Says

GREENSBORO — A reminder that their presence in college today represented a "privilege that has been bought with a price", was given by President Willa B. Player of Bennett College to a record-breaking student body of 528 which attended the first chapel meeting of the year here last Wednesday morning.

Bennett's facilities, like those of a number of other institutions of higher learning, are being taxed by 190 freshmen, 125 sophomores, 100 juniors and 113 seniors. Ground was broken this week for a new dormitory which will house 106 young women. It is expected to be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1961.

Dr. Player also reported that the faculty has grown this year to the total of 51 persons, with four others on leave and that the staff now numbers 41.

In speaking to the students she said: "We come to college at a time when there is great tension in the world. The search for peace and justice is on the march both at home and abroad. We might, then, well ask ourselves "What does it mean to be in college at a time like this?"

"It means", she continued, "that sacrifices have been made — some by you, possibly — and because of this, you should focus your mind upon getting the best education possible while here. Use our two major resources — our faculty and our library to the utmost, keep abreast of new opportunities for service, and remember that excellence is the key to successful living at Bennett."

Classes began on Wednesday for the 1960-61 academic year and the first formal Sunday vesper service —Annie Merner Pfeiffer Memorial Day—was held Sunday with Dr. John O. Gross, of the Board of Education of the Methodist Church, Nashville, Tenn., as speaker.

DR. EVELYN BERRY TO SPEAK AT BENNETT VESPER

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Dr. Evelyn Berry of New York City will speak at the Sunday afternoon vesper service at Bennett College on October 23.

Dr. Berry is the executive secretary of Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Church.

BENNETT FACULTY CONFERENCE — Panelists who discussed "The Core Approach to Learning" at the Bennett College annual faculty and staff fall conference which opened yesterday. Left to right: Dr. C. C. Armstrong, religion and philosophy; Dr. George Breathett, social science; Miss Georgie Latimer, freshman English; Dr. Roy Lee, basic science, and Mrs. Louise Streat, moderator.

Rev. L. Miller To Greensboro

GREENSBORO — Speaker for the October 2 vesper service at Bennett College will be the Rev. Levi B. Miller, Jr., pastor of the James Methodist Church, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The Rev. Mr. Miller, a native of Baltimore, Md., formerly served as executive secretary of the Board of Education of the Washington Conference of the Methodist Church, and for a number of years was associated with the Baltimore Area Leadership School annually held at Bennett College.

12 foreign students at Bennett College

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Twelve students, representing nine foreign countries, are enrolled at Bennett College.

They are Misses Mary Nglayu of Kenya; Johanna Polanen, Surinam, South America; Sylvia Darling, Nassau, Bahamas; Marie Nassau, Liberia; Elizabeth Githil, Kenya; Jemima Laryea, Ghana; Frances Marshall, Nassau, Bahamas; Alice Airall, Jamaica; Sandra Hann, Stuttgart, Germany; Danette Brooks, Liberia; Zenera Williams, Sierra Leone, and Elisapeta Saelua, American Samoa.

Consultants At Bennett Fall Conference 9g 10/1/60

Mrs. Esther Raushenbush of Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N. Y. (second from right) who served as consultant for the annual faculty-staff conference at Bennett College, chats with President Willa B. Player during a break, while Miss Wilhelmina Gilbert, chairman of recorders for the conference, left, and Miss Linda Brown, Akron, Ohio, senior, who reported from the student leadership conference, listen in.

TWO COUPLES from Yeadon, Pa. brought daughters to Bennet College, last week. Shown at a tea given for parents in the David D. Jones Student Union of the Greensboro school are Mr. and Mrs. William Mellix, left and third from left, whose daughter is Deanna Mellix; and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lee, whose daughter is Janet Lee.

Freshmen And New Students Hear Minister

GREENSBORO — Freshmen and new students at Bennett College, attending their first Sunday worship service Sunday, were told by the Rev. John L. Bryan that "God wants each of us to be able to stand on our own feet and to grow harmoniously and joyously."

The minister, who is director of religious activities at the college, spoke on "Let the Fledglings Fly" and illustrated the topic with a reminder of how the mother eagle does nothing to prevent her young from learning to fly.

"We live interdependently, as members of one family," said the speaker. "We are here to learn how to think, to persist in questioning — never to be afraid to do our best."

President Willa B. Player greeted the students, and Miss Thelma Spruill, sophomore of Greensboro, sang Mendelssohn's "O Rest in the Lord," accompanied by Miss Charlotte Alston, a member of the music faculty.

IN BENNETT MUSICALE—Five members of the music faculty at Bennett College are shown following their appearance in a vesper musicale in Pfeiffer Chapel Sunday night. Left to right, Mary J. Crawford, soprano; Clarence E. Whiteman, organist; Miss Charlotte Alston, pianist; Howell T. Jones, Jr., violinist; Mrs. Lily Keleti, pianist.

God Wants Self-Reliant People, Students Told

GREENSBORO — Freshmen and new students at Bennett College, attending their first Sunday worship service Sunday, were told by the Rev. John L. Bryan that "God wants each of us to be able to stand on our own feet and to grow harmoniously and joyously."

The minister, who is director of religious activities at the college, spoke on "Let the Fledglins Fly" and illustrated the topic with a reminder of how the mother eagle does nothing to prevent her young from learning to fly.

"We live interdependently, as members of one family," said the speaker. "We are here to learn how to think, to persist in questioning — never to be afraid to do our best."

President Willa B. Player greeted the students, and Miss Thelma Spruill, sophomore of Greensboro, sang Mendelssohn's "O Rest in the Lord," accompanied by Miss Charlotte Alston, a member of the music faculty.

Rev. J. L. Bryan Speaks At Bennett

"Science has made the world a neighborhood; Christianity must make it a brotherhood," the Rev. John L. Bryan, director of religious activities, said in his sermon at Bennett College yesterday morning.

The minister said that many persons profess a faith in the church, but many do not know the real meaning or function of the church. The church, he explained, is a fellowship of believers in the process of redemption. It is not a pressure group or a social institution and is not engaged in "selling" religion, as some are led to believe.

"But the church is often tongue-tied when it should be speaking eloquently," the Rev. Mr. Bryan declared. "We cannot endorse the actions of those persons who will give freely to Africa, but who despise the black man in Harlem or Atlanta."

REV. LEVI MILLER SPEAKS AT VESPER SERVICES

Bennett College students were urged Sunday to "let their light shine" before the world if they would help to bring man out of the darkness in which he finds himself today.

The Rev. Levi Miller, pastor of the Janes Methodist Church of Brooklyn, N. Y., speaking at the vesper service in Pfeiffer Chapel, referred to recent behavior at the United Nations in New York as "the most shameful bit of pageantry which the world has ever witnessed," adding that it is "symbolic of the sickness which plagues our world."

He urged his listeners as children of God to commit themselves to the task of making a better world. "What you do with your life," he said, "may well determine what happens to the future of mankind.

BENNETT'S NEWCOMERS—Shown here are 18 of the 21 new members of the faculty and staff at Bennett College, Greensboro, N.C., who reported for work last week. Left to right, first row: Miss Evelyn Willis, testing and psychology; Mrs. Doris Minor, stenographer; Dr. Margaret E. Sewell, English; Dr. Eda Walton, Whitney visiting professor in English, and Mrs. Rubye T. Davis, commercial education. Second row: Mrs. Rena D. Godbolt, secretary; Miss Pauline Guest, assistant, stenographic pool; Miss Florinell Washington, psychology, and Miss Ada Tonkins, residence hall personnel director. Third row: Mrs. Marion LeGrand, residence hall personnel director; Miss Carolyn Rogers, director, stenographic pool; Miss Ethel Graves, residence hall personnel director; Miss Margaret Roberts, assistant record office, and Miss Ruby Wilson, residence hall personnel director. Back row: Leo Lederer, modern languages; Charles L. Garth, sociology professor; Murray Robins, mathematics and Russian, and Miss Nina Hodge, English.

Dr. Willa B. Player Speaks on Bennett College Today

"It is unforunate that on many college campuses neither students nor faculty are articulate on what the institution's academic program really is," Dr. Willa B. Player declared Monday in the second of a series of three talks on "Bennett College Today."

The Bennett president, who last week spoke about ideas behind the Bennett experience, confined herself in this presentation to the academic program of the institution, explaining in detail its structure and resources.

"The main effort in the program here," she explained, "is to avoid fragmentation and to provide unity through our core programs in general education. The student is trained for a career, home life and community service. It is important that she learn early to apply her knowledge to her daily experiences."

Dr. Player explained, however, that the acquisition of an education is up to each individual student. "You have to educate yourself," she stated. "No one can do this for you. The task requires, first of all, a passionate interest, followed by industry, self-discipline, and a program of planned relaxation."

BENNETT'S NEWCOMERS — Shown here are 18 of the 21 new members of the faculty and staff at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., who reported for work last week. Left to right, first row, Miss Evelyn Willis, testing and psychology; Mrs Doris Minor, stenographer; Dr. Margaret E. Sewell, English; Dr. Eda Walton, Whitney Visiting Professor in English; Mrs. Rubye T. Davis, commercial education; second row, Mrs. Rena D. Godbolt, secretary; Miss Pauline Guest, assistant, stenographic pool, Miss Florinell Washington, psychology; Miss Ada Tonkins, residence hall personnel director; third row, Mrs. Marion LeGrand, residence hall personnel director; Miss Carolyn Rogers, director, Stenographic pool; Miss Ethel Graves, residence hall personnel director; Miss Margaret Roberts, assistant, record office, Miss Ruby Wilson, residence hall personnel director; back row, Leo Lederer, modern languages; Charles L. Garth, sociology professor; Murray Robins, mathematics and Russian; Miss Nina Hodge, English. Not shown are James B. Herring, art; Mrs. Mary B. Robbins, snack bar; Miss Charlotte Alston, music.

COLLEGES

SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS — These five Bennett College students won National Methodist Scholarships covering tuition and fees up to $500, recently. Left to right: Misses Vivian Kirven, Darlington, S.C.; Doris Luck, Asheboro, N.C.; Lorraine Ramsey, Newburg, N.Y.; Elizabeth Riggs, Camden, N.J. and Robbie Coure, Nashville, Tenn. The awards are given annually by the Board of Education and granted on the basis of "superior academic standing, leadership ability, character, personality and need."

DR. PLAYER SPEAKS TO STUDENTS ON REFINEMENT IN HUMAN RELATIONS

Bennett College students were challenged last week by President Willa B. Player to develop the capacity to respond to the needs of other people.

Speaking on the topic: "Refinement in Human Relations Is Inherent in the Bennett Experience"—final in a series of three chapel talks, Dr. Player stressed the need for developing satisfying interpersonal relationships as an important part of the students' educational experiences and reminded them that refinement in human relations "compels us to go the second mile."

"On this campus," she said, "we should strive for selflessness rather than selfishness. Remember that respect must be earned; is cannot be externally imposed, and respect involves love."

REV. JOHN L. BRYAN SPEAKS AT BENNETT

"Science has made the world a neighborhood; Christianity must make it a brotherhood," the Rev. John L. Bryan, director of religious activities, said in his sermon at Bennett College Sunday morning.

The minister said that many persons profess a faith in the church, but many do not know the real meaning or function of the church. The church, he explained, is a fellowship of believers in the process of redemption. It is not a pressure group or a social institution and is not engaged in "selling" religion, as some are led to believe.

"But the church is often tongue-tied when it should be speaking eloquently," the Rev. Mr. Bryan declared. "We cannot endorse the actions of those persons who will give freely to Africa, but who despise the black man in Harlem or Atlanta."

Develop Feeling For Others, Co-Eds Urged

GREENSBORO — Bennett College Students were challenged last week by President Willa B. Player to develop the capacity to respond to the needs of other people.

Speaking on the topic: "Refinement in Human Relations Is Inherent in the Bennett Experience"—final in a series of three chapel talks. Dr. Player stressed the need for developing satisfying interpersonal relationships as an important part of the students' educational experiences and reminded them that refinement in human relations "compels us to go the second mile."

Young Soprano Sings At Bennett

GREENSBORO — Miss June McMechen, one of the most brillant sopranos, will open the 1960-61 Lyceum series at Bennett College in a concert Friday, October 21, at 8 p. m., in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Possessing a voice of exceptional range and flexibility, Miss McMechen will sing from the works of Handel, Brahms, Gluck, Debussy and Gounod and will also include a group of traditional spirituals.

REV. JOHN L. BRYAN TO SPEAK AT VESPER SUNDAY, OCT. 16

Rev. John L. Bryan, director of religious activities, will be the Bennett College vesper speaker on Sunday, Oct. 16, in Pfeiffer Chapel.

MISS JUNE MCMECHEN TO OPEN LYCEUM SERIES AT BENNETT COLLEGE

Miss June McMechen, one of America's most brilliant sopranos, will open the 1960-61 lyceum series at Bennett College in a concert Friday, Oct. 21, at 8 p.m., in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Possessing a voice of exceptional range and flexibility, Miss McMechen will sing from the works of Handel, Brahms, Gluck, Debussy and Gounod and will also include a group of traditional spirituals.

IN BENNETT MUSICALE — Five members of the music faculty at Bennett College chat following their appearance in a vesper musicale in Pfeiffer Chapel. Left to right, Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, soprano; Clarence E. Whiteman, organist; Miss Charlotte Alston, pianist; Howell T. Jones, violinist; Mrs. Lily Keleti, pianist.

BENNETT GRADUATE VISIT

Mrc. Barbara Crutchfield Moore, a 1954 graduate of Bennett College, was a campus visitor last week. Mrs. Moore now lives in Los Angles, Calif., where she is a federal attorney with the Social Security division of the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Her husband is also an attorney.

BENNETT SPEAKER

Dr. Evelyn Berry of New York City will be the Bennett College speaker today at 11 a.m. in Pfeiffer Chapel. Dr. Berry is the executive secretary of Woman's Division of Christian Service, of the Methodist Church.

VESPER SERVICE

The Rev. Julius T. Douglas, pastor of the St. James Presbyterian Church here, will speak at the Bennett College vesper service at 4 p.m. today in Pfeiffer Chapel.

The Largest Freshman Class at Bennett College

LARGEST BENNETT CLASS—Shown in front of Pfeiffer Chapel are 190 members of this year's freshman class at Bennett College — largest in the history of the 87-year-old Greensboro institution. They come from 23 states, the District of Columbia and six foreign countries.

Saturday, October 8, 1960

CONSULTANT AT BENNETT---Mrs. Esther Raushenbush of Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N. Y., (second from right) who served as consultant for the annual faculty-staff fall conference at Bennett College, chats with President Willa B. Player during a break, while Miss Wilhelmina Gilbert, chairman of recorders for the conference, left, and Miss Linda Brown, Akron, Ohio, senior, who reported from the student leadership conference listen in.

Reading, Riting And Rithmetic

CONCENTRATION IS THE KEYNOTE as these freshmen at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., begin a series of placement tests as part of orientation procedure. The tests are just a portion of freshman activities that keep the new student busy during the first days at the college.

Time for Laughter on Bennett College Campus

The Rev. Julius T. Douglas, pastor, of St. James Presbyterian Church, Greensboro, shares story with Miss Brenda Richey of Columbus, Ohio, and daughter, Toni, with the above results at Bennett College.

REV. J. T. DOUGLAS SPEAKS AT VESPER

GREENSBORO, N. C.—Many persons of great promise are throwing away their lives by indifference, the Rev. Julius T. Douglas, pastor of St. James Presbyterian Church, told the Bennett College vesper audience Sunday in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Speaking on "The Sin of Indifference," the minister said that people are not only indifferent about themselves but indifferent about the lives of others.

"We hear too much of 'What's the use? Why Should I? and So What.' " he declared. "These are all expressions of an attitude that that has its roots in laziness and, sometimes, in downright meanness."

In urging the students to be mindful of their civic responsibility, the Rev. Mr. Douglas referred to the coming national elections and to the religious issue. "Church and state have never been separated," he stated. "We have Christians in government and the church is the moral conscience of society."

FRESHMAN AT Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., stop at the grave of "Miss Idle Gossip," a familiar point of interest for all visitors to the campus. They are part of this year's entering class of 190 students at the all girls' school. Campus tour is among highlights of opening week activities.

Bennett College Students To Participating In Test For Scholarships

GREENSBORO, N. C.—President Willa B. Player announced this week that Bennett College will be one fo the 30 colleges participating in the testing of 8,000 to 9,000 scholarship and admission candidates from more than 900 high schools distributed throughout the United States and the Virgin Islands.

Bennett will cooperate in administering the Cooperative Intercollegiate Examination Program between November 28 and December 10, which will given in 270 test centers across the nation during this period. The Cooperative Inter-collegiate Examination Program is an educational service of the United Negro College Fund. The examination is open to qualified high school seniors and to a limited number of high school juniors and sophomores of exceptional ability and promise.

President Player has appointed Dr. C. G. Winston, chairman of the social science division, to direct the test administration at the following testing centers:

November 28, Hillside High School, Durham, N. C., 10 a.m.

November 29, Dudley High School, Greensboro, N. C., 1:30 p.m.

November 30, Palmer Memorial High School, Sedalia, N. C., 10 a.m.

December 1, William Penn High School, High Point, N. C., 9 a.m.

December 2, Atkins High School, Winston-Salem, N. C., 9 a.m.

December 5, Carver High School, Winston-Salem, N. C., 9 a.m.

December 7, J. M. Langston High School, Danville, Va., 10:30 a.m.

December 8, Dunbar High School, Lynchburg, Va., 10 a.m.

December 9, Addison High School, Roanoke, Va., 10 a.m.

Application forms for the examination may be obtained from the high schools listed above, by writing to one of the participating colleges or by writing directly ot CIEP, 22 East 54th Street, New York 22, N. Y.

Admission to the examination is by ticket only. Admission tickets will be sent to each candidate who has filed application and paid an examination fee of $2.50. Late registrants must pay a fee of $3.00. Applications and fees must be malied before Octerber 21, to CIEP, 22 East 54th Srteet, New York 22, N. Y.

Mrs. Barbara Crutchfield Moore, Los Angeles, Calif., federal attorney with the Social Security division of the U. S. Department of Health Education and Welfare, last week visited Bennett College from which she graduated in 1945.

BENNETT'S NEWCOMERS---Shown here are 18 of the 21 new members of the faculty and staff at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., who reported for work when school began. Left to right, first row, Miss Evelyn Willis, testing and psychology; Miss Doris Minor, stenographer; Dr. Margaret E. Sewell, English; Dr. Eda Walton, Whitney Visiting Professor in English; Mrs. Rubye T. Davis, commercial education; second row, Mrs. Rena D. Godbolt, secretary; Miss Pauline Guest, assistant, stenographic pool; Miss Florinell Washington, psychology; Miss Ada Tonkins, residence hall personnel director; third row, Mrs. Marion LeGrand, residence hall personnel director; Miss Carolyn Rogers, director, stenographic pool; Miss Ethel Graves, residence hall personnel director; Miss Margaret Roberts, assistant, record office; Miss Ruby Wilson, residence hall personnel director; back row, Leo Lederer, modern languages; Charles L. Garth, sociology professor; Murray Robins, mathematics and Russian; Miss Nina Hodge, English. Not shown, are James B. Herring, art; Mrs. Mary B. Robbins, snack bar; Miss Charlotte Alston, music.

Trustees Of Bennett Will Meet

Trustees of Bennett College will hold their annual meeting on the campus tomorrow, beginning at 10 a.m., in the [illegible] building.

In addition to hearing the annual report of President Willa B. Player and reports from various committees, they are expected to approve the election of two new trustees. Theme of President Player's report will be "Enrichment of the Bennett Experience."

Other Meetings

Also meeting Saturday will be The Continuing Cooperation of the Woman's Home Missionary Society which founded the college in cooperation with the Board of Education of the Methodist Church.

Today, at 10 a.m., the 30-member development committee, headed by Dr. J. Earl Moreland, president of Randolph-Macon College, a vice chairman of the Bennett board, will hold its initial meeting in the David D. Jones Student Union. At 8 p.m. there will be an informal meeting of the finance committee of the board.

The trustees will be guests at luncheon at 1 p.m. tomorrow in the home economics dining room and at 6 p.m. will have dinner with the student body. From 8 to 10 p.m., at the president's home, they will meet members of the faculty and staff and some local alumnae.

Vesper Speaker

Dr. Evelyn Berry of New York City will speak at the Sunday afternoon vesper service at Bennett college on October 23.

Dr. Berry is the executive secretary of Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Church.

BENNETT CONCERT

Miss. June McMechen, well known soprano, will open the 1960-61 Lyceum series at Bennett College in a concert tonight in Pfeiffer Chapel at 8 o'clock. Miss McMechen will sing works by Handel, Brahms, Gluck, Debussy and Gounod as well as a group of traditional spirituals.

Rev. Douglas Vesper Orator At Bennett

GREENSBORO—Many persons of great promise are throwing away their lives by indifference, the Rev. Julius T. Douglas, pastor of St. James Presbyterian Church, told the Bennett College vesper audience Sunday in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Speaking on "The Sin of Indifference," the minister said that people are not only indifferent about the lives of others.

"We hear too much of 'What's the use? Why should I? and So what?' " he declared. "These are all expressions of an attitude that has its roots in laziness and, sometimes, in downright meanness."

In urging the students to be mindful of their civic responsibility, the Rev. Mr. Douglas referred to the coming national elections and to the religious issue. "Church and state have never been separated," he stated. "We have Christians in government and the church is the moral conscience of society."

IN BENNETT MUSICALE Five members of the music faculty at Bennett College are shown following their appearance in a vesper musicale in Pfeiffer Chapel Sunday night. Left to right, Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, soprano; Clarence E. Whiteman, organist; Howell T. Jones, Jr., violinist Mrs. Lily Keleti, pianist.

Bennett One Of 30 Colleges Participating In Testing

GREENSBORO— President Willa B. Player announced this week that Bennett College will be one of the 30 colleges participating in the testing of 8,000 to 9,000 scholarship and admission candidates from more than 900 high schools distributed throughout the United States and the Virgin Islands.

Bennett will cooperate in administering the Cooperative Intercollegiate Examination Program between November 28 and December 10, which will be given in 270 test centers across the nation this period.

The Cooperative Intercollegiate Examination Program is an educational service of the United Negro College Fund. The examination is open to qualified high school seniors and to a limited number of high school juniors and sophomores of exceptional ability and promise.

President Player has appointed Dr. C. G. Winston, chairman of the social science division, to direct the test administration at the following testing centers:

Nov. 28, Hillside High School, Durham, 10 a.m.

Nov. 29, Dudley High School, Greensboro, 1:30 p.m.

Nov. 30 Palmer Memorial High School, Sedalia, 10 a.m.

Dec. 1, Wm. Penn High School, High Point, 9 a.m.

Dec. 2, Atkins High School, Winston-Salem, 9 a.m.

Dec. 5, Carver High School, Winston-Salem, 9 a.m.

Dec. 7, J. M. Langston High School, Danville, Va., 10:30 a.m.

Dec. 8, Dunbar High School, Lynchburg, Va., 10 a.m.

Dec. 9, Addison High School, Roanoke, Va., 10 a.m.

Application forms for the examination may be obtained from the high schools listed above, by writing to one of the participating colleges or by writing directly to CIEP, 22 East 54th Stret, New York 22, N. Y.

Admission to the examination is by ticket only. Admission tickets will be sent to each candidate who has filed application and paid an examination fee of $2.50. Late registrants must pay a fee of $3.00. Applications and fees must be mailed before October 21, to CIEP, 22 East 54th Street, New York 22, N. Y.

Fatal Indifference

GREENSBORO, — Many persons of great promise are throwing away their lives by indifference, the Rev. Julius T. Douglas, pastor of St. James Presbyterian Church, told the Bennett College vesper audience Sunday in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Speaking on "The Sin of Indifference," the minister said that people are not only indifferent about themselves but indifferent about the lives of others.

WON METHODIST SCHOLARSHIPS — These five students at Bennett College happily read the announcement that they have been awarded National Methodist Scholarships, covering tuition and fees up to $500. Left to right: Vivian Kirven, Darlington, S.C.; Doris Luck, Asheboro, N.C.; Lorraine Ramsey, Newburg, N.Y.; Elizabeth Riggs, Camden, N.J., and Robbie Coure, Nashville, Tenn. The awards are given annually by the Board of Education and granted on the basis of "superior academic standing, leadership ability, active churchmanship, character, personality and need." There are 500 being given this year.

TESTS, TESTS, AND MORE TESTS—Concentration is the keynote here as these Bennett College freshmen begin a series of placement tests as part of orientation at the Greensboro institution.

They Won Methodist Scholarships

These five students at Bennett College happily read announcement that they have been awarded National Methodist Scholarships cvoering tuition and fees up to $500. Left to right, are: Misses Vivian Kirven, Darlington, S. C.; Doris Luck, Asheboro, N. C.; Lorraine Ramsey, Newburg, N. Y.; Elizabeth Riggs, Camden, N. J., and Robbie Coure, Nashville, Tenn. The awards are given annually by the Board of Education and granted on the basis of "superior academic standing, leadership ability, active churchmanship, character, personality, and need." There are 500 being given this year.

At Bennett Sunday

GREENSBORO — Dr. Evelyn Berry of New York City will speak the Sunday afternoon vesper service at Bennett College on October 23.

Dr. Berry is the executive secretary of Women's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Church.

6 Bennett College students get Methodist scholarships

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Six Bennett College students received word this week that they have been awarded National Methodist Scholarships by the Board of Education of the Methodist Church.

The scholarships which cover tuition and fees up to $500 go to:

Misses Jacqueline Jones, Dublin, Va.; Vivian Kirven, Darlington, S.C.; Doris Luck, Asheboro, N.C.; Lorraine Ramsey, Newburg, N.Y.; Elizabeth Riggs, Camden, N.J., and Robbie Coure, Nashille, Tenn.

The awards are given annually by the Board of Education and are granted on the basis of "superior academic standing, leadership ability, active churchmanship, character, personality, and need."

THE BENNETT COLLEGE Theatre Guild opens its season with "The Fatal Weakness," by George Kelly on November 11-12 in the Little Theatre.

Acclaimed the best comedy of the 1946-47 season, the play is concerned with an intensely romantic lady whose "fatal weakness" is weddings.

Miss Fredricka Smith, a freshman from Greensboro, N.C., has been cast in the female lead. Supporting her will be Anne Florance, sophomore from Greensboro; Nikki Roper, freshman from New York City; Jean Franklin, sophomore from Atlanta, Georgia; Johnny Gooding from Greensboro, and Raymond Crawford, Charlotte, N.C.

THE ANNUAL MEETING of the board of trustees of Bennett College was held here Saturday with Dr. F. D. Patterson, chairman, presiding.

Dr. Willa B. Player, president, gave her annual report which had as its theme, "Enrichment in the Bennett Experience."

The report was highlighted by contributions from Dr. George Brenthett, dealing with instruction; Miss Roslyn Cheagle, junior, of Lynchburg, Va., dealing with "Operation Doorknock;" Miss Gertrude Milner, '56, assistant in the Admissions office, dealing with the work of that office; Mrs. Pauline Foster, '41, local Gertrude school principal, representing the graduates and Miss Linda Brown, a senior, of Akron, Ohio, who told what Bennett has meant to her.

June McMechen sings at Bennett

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Miss June McMechen, soprano, pleased a large audience when she opened the 1960-61 Lyceum series at Bennett College here Friday night.

The singer, who possesses a voice of wide range and flexibility, sang four groups of songs which included Haydn's "The Mermaid's Song," three German compositions by Wolf, Poulenc, and a group of traditional spirituals.

She was particularly effective in "The Jewel Song" from "Faust" by Gouod and "I Want Jesus to Work with Me," arrangement by Boatner. Kelly Wyatt was the accompanist.

Inspecting New Women's Dormitory

President Willa B. Player, of Bennett College, tells Mrs. Barbara Crutchfield Moore about the new women's dormitory now being erected on the site where they are standing. Mrs. Moore, a federal attorney, is making her first visit to the campus since graduation in 1954. She lives in Los Angeles, Calif., where she is an attorney with the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Two Chosen For Board At Bennett

The election of two new members was a highlight of the annual meeting of the Bennett College board of trustees here yesterday.

Chosen by unanimous vote were Mrs. Norman C. Cooper of Greensboro, and Mrs. Richard O. Loengard of New York City. Mrs. Cooper is prominent in the affairs of the West Market Street Methodist Church. Mrs. Loenboard of directors of the United Negro College Fund, also is co-chairman of the fund's women's division of New York City.

President Willa B. Player's annual report, with the theme "Enrichment of the Bennett Experience," was augmented by presentations by members of the faculty, staff, student body, and by a prominent alumnae.

Speakers Heard

Dr. George Breathett of the history faculty, spoke of the instructional program; Miss Roslyn Cheagle, '62, of Lynchburg, Va., told of "Operation Doorknock," the voter registration project of last year's Homemaking Institute; Miss Linda Brown, '61, of Akron, Ohio, spoke on "What Bennett Has Meant to Me"; Miss Gertrude Millner, '56, gave facts about this year's freshman class; and Mrs. Pauline Foster, '41, principal of the E. D. Bluford School here, told briefly of how her student experiences at Bennett helped her career.

The first full meeting of the development committee, named by the trustees to consider the college's needs for the next 10 years gave an opportunity for faculty, staff, student, alumnae and community representatives to explore Bennett's major areas of need.

It was unanimously agreed that capital improvements to the physical plant and increased endowment, which would permit greater scholarship aid should be given prior consideration. It was pointed out that present scholarship aid is totally inadequate to meet the needs of many high-ranking young women who have expressed a preference for Bennett but lack the necessary finances. It was felt that more scholarship aid should also be available for foreign students.

Need Facilities

Regarding enrollment, the committee agreed that rather than seek to increase the present enrollment of 541, every effort should be made to increase the quality of offerings. The new dormitory, now under construction, therefore, will be used largely to relieve present overcrowding rather than to provide housing for additional students.

Dr. F. D. Patterson of New York City, chairman of the board, presided over the board meeting and also over that of the development committee in the absence of Dr. J. Earl Moreland, president of Randolph-Macon College, chairman, who was delayed in arriving.

The trustees were guests of the home economics department at luncheon yesterday and last night had dinner with the student body in the college dining hall. Those who remain today will attend the 11 a.m. worship service at which Dr. Evelyn Berry of New York City, ex-officio member of the board, will speak.

Test Centers For Students in This Area Announced

GREENSBORO, — —President Willa B. Player announced that week that Bennett College will be one of the 30 colleges participating the testing of 8,000 to 9,000 scholarship and admission candidates from more than 900 high schools distributed throughout the United States and Virgin Islands.

Bennett will cooperate in administering the Cooperative Intercollegiate Examination Program between November 28 and December 10, which will be given in 270 test centers across the nation during this period.

The Cooperative Intercollegiate Examination Program is an educational service of the United Negro College Fund.

The examination is open to qualified high school seniors and to a limited number of high school juniors and sophomores of exceptional ability and promise.

President Player has appointed Dr. C. G. Winston, Chairman of the social science division, to direct the test administration at the following testing centers:

November 28, Hillside High School, Durham, 10 a.m.;

November 29, Dudley High School, Greensboro, 1:30 p.m.;

November 30, Palmer Memorial High School, Sedalia, 10 a.m.

December 1, William Penn High School, High Point, 9 a.m.;

December 2, Atkins High School, Winston-Salem, 9 a.m.

December 5, Carver High School, Winston-Salem, 9 a.m.;

December 7, J. M. Langston High School, Danville, Va., 10:30 a.m.;

December 8, Dunbar High School, Lynchburg, Va., 10 a.m.;

December 9, Addison High School, Roanoke, Va., 10 a.m.;

Application forms for the examination may be obtained from the high schools listed above, by writing to one of the participating colleges or by writing directly to CIEP, 22 East 54th Street, New York 22, N. Y.

SIX BENNETT COLLEGE STUDENTS RECEIVE AWARDS

Six Bennett College students received word this week that they have been awarded National Methodist Scholarships by the Board of Education of the Methodist Church.

The scholarships which cover tuition and fees up to $500 go to:

Misses Jacqueline Jones, Dublin, Va.; Vivian Kirven, Darlington, S. C.; Doris Luck, Asheboro, N. C.; Lorraine Ramsey, Newburg, N. Y.; Elizabeth Riggs, Camden, N. J., and Robbie Coure, Nashville, Tenn.

The awards are given annually by the Board of Education and are granted on the basis of "superior academic standing, leadership ability, active churchmanship, character, personality, and need." There are 500 being given this year.

BENNETT THEATRE GUILD

The Bennett College Theatre Guild opens its season with "The Fatal Weakness," by George Kelly on November 11-12 in the Little Theatre.

Acclaimed the best comedy of the 1946-47 season, the play is concerned with an intensely romantic lady whose "fatal weakness" is weddings.

Miss Fredricka Smith, a freshman from Greensboro, N. C., has been cast in the female lead. Supporting her will be Anne Florance, sophomore from Greensboro; Nikki Roper, freshman from New York City; Jean Franklin, sophomore from Atlanta, Georgia, Johnny Gooding from Greensboro, and Raymond Crawford, Charlotte, N. C.

BENNETT BOARD OF TRUSTEES MEET

The annual meeting of the board of trustees of Bennett College was held here Saturday with Dr. F. D. Patterson, chairman, presiding.

Dr. Willa B. Player, president, gave her annual report which had as its theme, "Enrichment in the Bennett Experience." The report was highlighted by contributions from Dr. George Breathett, dealing with instruction; Miss Roslyn Cheagle, junior, of Lynchburg, Va., dealing with "Operation Doorknock!" Miss Gertrude Milner, '56, assistant in the Admissions Office, dealing with the work of that office; Mrs. Pauline Foster, '41, local school principal, representing the graduates, and Miss Linda Brown, a senior, of Akron, Ohio, who told what Bennett has meant to her.

Bennett To Test Students

GREENSBORO, N. C. — President Willa B. Player announced this week that Bennett College will be one of the 30 colleges participating in the testing of 8,000 to 9,000 scholarship and admission candidates from more than 900 high schools distributed throughout the United States and the Virgin Islands.

Bennett will cooperate in administering the Cooperative Intercollegiate Examination Program between Nov. 28 and Dec. 10, which will be given in 270 test centers across the nation during this period.

The Cooperative Intercollegiate Examination Program is an educational service of the United Negro College Fund. The examination is open to qualified high school seniors and to a limited number of high school juniors and sophomores of exceptional ability and promise.

CONSULTANT at Bennett — Mrs. Esther Raushenbush of Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N. Y., (seated from right) who served as consultant for the annual faculty-staff fall conference at Bennett College, chats with President Willa B. Player during a break, while Miss Wilhelmina Gilbert, chairman of recorders for the conference (left), and Miss Linda Brown, Akron, Ohio, senior (right), who reported from the student leadership conference, listen in.

Special Tests To Be Given By Bennett

President Willa B. Player announced this week that Bennett College will be one of the 30 colleges participating in the testing of 8,000 to 9,000 scholarship and admission candidates from more than 900 high schools distributed throughout the United States and the Virgin Islands.

Bennett will cooperate in administering the Cooperative Intercollegiate Examination Program between Nov. 28 and Dec. 10, which will be given in 270 test centers across the nation during this period. Dr. C. G. Winston, chairman of the social science division, will direct the tests at the following centers:

Nov. 28, Hillside High School, Durham, 10 a.m.;

Nov. 29, Dudley High School, Greensboro, 1:30 p.m.;

Nov. 30, Palmer Memorial High School, Sedalia, 10 a.m.

Dec. 1, William Penn High School, High Point, 9 a.m.

Dec. 2, Atkins High School, Winston-Salem, 9 a.m.

Dec. 5, Carver High School, Winston-Salem, 9 a.m.

Dec. 7, J. M. Langston High School, Danville, Va. 10:30 a.m.

Dec. 8, Dunbar High School, Lynchburg, Va, 10 a.m.

Dec. 9, Addison High School, Roanoke, Va., 10 a.m.

Application forms for the examination may be obtained from the high schools listed above, by writing to one of the participating colleges or by writing directly to CIEP, 22 East 54th Street, New York 22, N.Y.

Cellist's Recital Set At Bennett

Kermit Moore, who has been acclaimed by some critics to be among the greatest cellists, will be heard in recital at Bennett College at 8 p.m. Friday in Pfeiffer Chapel the second of this year's Lyceum offerings.

Moore is a graduate of the Cleveland Institute of Music and New York University. He is a former pupil of Felix Salmond in New York and Paul Bazelaire in Paris. He studied chamber music with Marcel Dick in Cleveland and George Enesco and Pierre Pasquier in Paris.

The artist has appeared as soloist with the Orchestre de la Suisse Romande of Geneva, the Concertgebouw Orchestra of Amsterdam, the National Radio Symphony of Paris, the Belgian National Radio Orchestra and others. He has appeared in concerts in 13 European countries and had the honor to play two command performances before Queen Elisabeth of Belgium at the Chateau of Stuyvenberg.

Institute Planned

Bennett College will host a six-week institute for 40 college and university teachers of social science, science, English and literature, June 9-July 18, Dr. Isaac H. Miller Jr., Bennett president has announced.

The institute, made possible by a $60,269 grant from the U. S. Ofice of Education will involve 15 colleges and universities located within a 150 mile radius of Greensboro.

Bennett aids testing plan

GREENSBORO, N.C. — President Willa B. Player announced this week that Bennett College will be one of the 30 colleges participating in the testing of 8,000 to 9,000 scholarship and admission candidates from more than 900 high schools distributed throughout the United States and the Virgin Islands.

Bennett will cooperate in administering the Cooperative Intercollegiate Examination Program between Nov. 28 and Dec. 10, which will be given in 270 test centers across the nation during this period.

The Cooperative Intercollegiate Examination Program is an educational service of the United Negro College Fund. The examination is open to qualified high school seniors and to a limited number of high school juniors and sophomores of exceptional ability and promise.

President Player has appointed Dr. C. G. Winston, chairman of the social science division, to direct the test administration at the following North Carolina and Virginia centers.

Nov. 28, Hillside High School, Durham; Nov. 29, Dudley High School Greensboro; Nov. 30, Palmer Memorial High School, Sedalia; Dec. 1, William Penn High School, High Point; Dec. 2, Atkins High School, Winston-Salem, Dec. 5, Carver High School, Winston-Salem; Dec. 7, J. M. Langston High School, Danville; Dec. 8, Dunbar High School, Lynchburg; Dec. 9, Addison High School, Roanoke;

Application forms for the examination may be obtained from the high schools listed above, by writing to one of the participating colleges or by writing directly to CIEP, 22 East 54th Street, NEW York 22, N.Y.

Admission to the examination is by ticket only. Admission tickets will be sent to each candidate who has filed applications and paid an examination fee of $2.50. Late registrants must pay a fee of $3.00. Applications and fees must be mailed before October 21, to CIEP, 22 East 54th Street, New York 22, N.Y.

Bennett Students Get Scholarships

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Six Bennett college students received wofd this week that they have been awarded National Methodist Scholarships by the Board of Education of the Methodist church.

The scholarships which cover tuition and fees up to $500 go to:

Misses Jacqueline Jones, Dublin, Va.; Vivian Kirven, Darlington, S. C.; Doris Luck, Asheboro, N. C.; Lorraine Ramsey, Newburg, N. Y.; Elizabeth Riggs, Camden, N. J.; and Robbie Coure, Nashville, Tenn.

Dr. Berry At Bennett

The fact that, in too many instances, the world's sense of values has been completely disarranged was deplored by Dr. Evelyn Berry of New York City in her address at the Bennett College worship service yesterday morning.

Dr. Berry, who is executive secretary of the Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Church and a Bennett trustee, said that instead of moving toward righteousness, "most of us are concerned more about success and about status.

"We tend to judge people not by what they are but by what they have," she declared. "There is so much confusion and uncertainty in the world today that many people are trying to escape from themselves. To do this, they become absorbed in other things or in other people, and some turn to drink, tranquilizers and even suicide."

The speaker said that the true destiny of man depends upon his moral resources, and this, she explained, calls for the courage to be what one really is.

Bennett College Founders Day Set For November 6th

Bennett College will hold its annual Founders' Day observance here on Sunday, Nov. 6, wtih Dr. R. O'Hara Lanier of New York City as the principal speaker and with President Willa B. Player presiding.

Dr. Lanier, who is in charge of African affairs for the Phelps-Stokes Fund, was formerly president of Texas Southern University and also served as U. S. Minister to Liberia.

Other program participants include Miss Carolyn Bennett, '61, of Miami, Florida, who will lead the reading of the litany of gratitude; Dr. Myrtle Brown, '45, of Washington, D.C., representing the graduates; Dr. Rose Karfiol, representing the faculty-staff, and Miss Margaret Bailey, '61, of Fruitland, Md., representing the students.

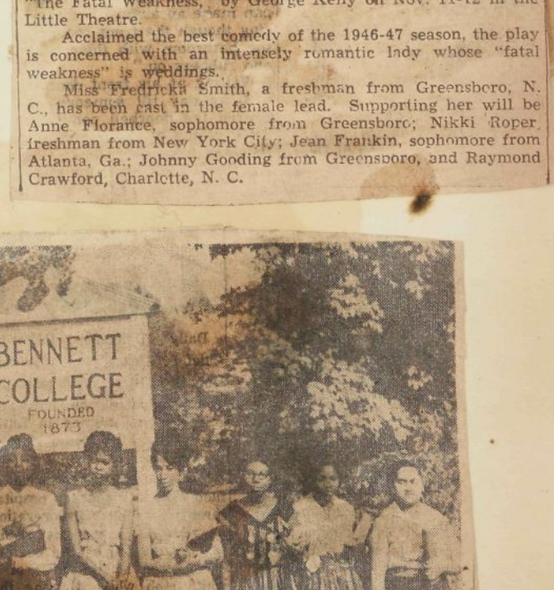
The choir, directed by Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, with Clarence E. Whiteman at the organ, will sing two compositions, "Psalm 150" by Cesar Franck and "Done Paid My Vow to the Lord," by R. Nathaniel Dett.

Vesper Group Hears Talk On Love

Much of man's time throughout history has been spent in conflict, but deep in his heart, he has hope for a better day, Dr. Hardy C. Richardson, of Atlanta, told the Bennett College vesper audience yesterday.

Speaking on "The Complete Victory," Dr. Richardson, president of the Interdenominational Theological Seminary, said that this great hope has not yet been realized because of man's stress upon victory.

"Victory does not give victory unless it is accepted by the vanquished," he declared. "The act of reconciliation is needed if we are ever to have brotherly coexistence. If Lincoln had not been killed, he might have been able to do this after the War Between the States. The South, therefore, is still seeking a belated victory."



SOME CHANGES HAVE BEEN MADE — President Willa B. Player, of Bennett College, tells Mrs. Barbara Crutchfield Moore about the new women's dormitory now being erected on the site where they are standing. Mrs. Moore, a federal attorney, is making her first visit to the campus since graduation in 1954. She lives in Los Angeles, Calif., where she is an attorney with the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Theatre Guild

The Bennett College Theatre Guild opens its season with "The Fatal Weakness," by George Kelly on Nov. 11-12 in the Little Theatre.

Acclaimed the best comedy of the 1946-47 season, the play is concerned with an intensely romantic lady whose "fatal weakness" is weddings.

Miss Fredricka Smith, a freshman from Greensboro, N. C., has been cast in the female lead. Supporting her will be Anne Florance, sophomore from Greensboro; Nikki Roper, freshman from New York City; Jean Franklin, sophomore from Atlanta, Ga.; Johnny Gooding from Greensboro, and Raymond Crawford, Charlotte, N. C.

FOREIGN STUDENTS AT BENNETT—Twelve students, representing nine foreign countries, pause before Bennett college sign on campus of the Greensboro, N. C., institution. Left to right: Misses Mary Ng'ayu, of Kenya; Johanna Polanen, Surinam, South America; Sylvia Darling, Nassau, Bahamas; Marie Nassau, Liberia; Elizabeth Githii, Kenya; Jemima Laryea, Ghana; Frances Marshall, Nassau, Bahamas; Alice Airall, Jamaica; Sandra Hann, Stuttgart, Germany; Danlette Brooks, Liberia; Zenora Williams, Sierra Leone, and Elisapeta Saelua, American Samoa.

FROM AFRICA TO BENNETT — These three Bennett College freshmen from Africa locate homeland on globe in college library and don't seem to be homesick at all. Left to right: Misses Elizabeth Githii, Mary Ny'Ayu, both of Kenya, and Zenora Williams of Sierra Leone, West Africa.

Bennett Board Names Two New Members

The election of two new members was a highlight of the annual meeting of the Bennett College board of trustees here Saturday.

Chosen by unanimous vote were Mrs. Norman C. Cooper of Greensboro and Mrs. Richard O. Loengard of New York City. Mrs. Cooper is prominent in the affairs of the West Market Street Methodist Church here. Mrs. Loengard, a member of the national board of directors of the United Negro College Fund is also co-chairman of the fund's women's division of New York City.

President Willa B. Player's annual report, with the theme "Enrichment of the Bennett Experience," was augmented by presentations by members of the faculty-staff, student body and by a prominent alumna.

Dr. George Breathett, a member of the history faculty, spoke of the instructional program; Miss Roslyn Cheagle, '62, of Lynchburg, Va., told of "Operation Doorknock" the project of last year's Homemaking Institute; Miss Linda Brown, '61, of Akron, Ohio, spoke on "What Bennett Has Meant to Me" Miss Gertrude Millner, '56, told of the work of the admissions office and Mrs. Pauline Foster '41, principal of the F. D. Bluford School here, told briefly of how her student experiences at Bennett helped her career.

The first full meeting of the development committee, named by the trustees to consider the college's needs for the next ten years gave an opportunity for faculty, staff, student, alumnae and community representatives to explore Bennett's major areas of need.

It was unanimously agreed that capital improvements to the physical plant and increased endowment, which would permit greater scholarship aid should be give prior consideration. It was pointed out that present scholarship aid is totally inadequate to meet the needs of many high-ranking young women who have expressed a preference for Bennett but lack the necessary finances. It was felt that more scholarship aid should also be available for foreign students.

Regarding enrollment, the committee agreed that rather than seek to increase the present enrollment of 542, every effort should be made to increase the quality of offerings. The new dormitory, now under construction, therefore, will be used largely to relieve present overcrowding rather than to provide housing for additional students.

Dr. F. D. Patterson of New York City, chairman of the board, presided over the board meeting and also over that of the development committee in the absence of Dr. J. Earl Moreland, president of Randolph-Macon College, chairman, who was delayed in arriving.

Artist Signs Autographs For Students

Miss June McMechen, soprano, who appeared in concert at Bennett College last week, spent much of her time at reception which followed signing autographs for student admirers. Left to right: Misses Yvonne Pannell, freshman, of Roanoke, Va.; Margarella Bridgers, junior, Tarboro, N. C.; Jo Laurence Richardson, freshman, Sumter, S. C.; Miss McMechen, and Kelly Wyatt, her accompanist.

Dr. Berry Orator At Greensboro

GREENSBORO — The fact that in too many instances the world's scale of values has been completely rearranged was deplored by Dr. Evelyn Berry, of New York City, in her address at the Bennett College worship service Sunday morning.

Dr. Berry, who is executive secretary of the Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Church and a Bennett trustee, said that instead of moving toward righteousness, "most of us are concerned more about success and about status."

"We tend to judge people not by what they are but by what they have," she declared. "There is so much confusion and uncertainty in the world today that many people are trying to escape from themselves. To do this, they become absorbed in other things or in other people, and some turn to drink, tranquilizers and even suicide."

The speaker said that the true destiny of man depends upon his moral resources, and this, she explained, requires the courage to be what one really is.

"To do this," she continued, means that we must find communion with God. This requires freedom, honesty and creative concern for the quality of life (love). If we were God, we would have probably given up on the human race long ago," she concluded.

Founder's Day Set at Bennett

GREENSBORO — Bennett College will hold its annual Founders' Day observance here on Sunday, November 6, with Dr. O'Hara Lanier of New York City as the principal speaker and with President Willa B. Player presiding.

Dr. Lanier, who is in charge of African affairs for the Phelph-Stokes Fund, was formerly president of Texas Southern University and also served as U. S. Minister to Liberia.

Other program participants include Miss Carolyn Bennett, '61, of Miami, Florida, who will lead the reading of the litany of gratitude; Dr. Myrtle Brown, '45, of Washington, D. C., representing the graduates; Dr. Rose Karfiol, representing the faculty-staff, and Miss Margaret Bailey, '61, of Fruitland, Md., representing the students.

Elect two new members to Bennet trustee board

GRENSBORO, N. C. — The election of two new members was a highlight of the annual meeting of the Bennett College board of trustees here Saturday.

Chosen by unanimous vote were Mrs. Norman C. Cooper of Greensboro and Mrs. Richard O. Loengard of New York city. Mrs. Cooper is prominent in the affairs of the West Market Street Methodist Church here. Mrs. Loengard, a member of the national board of directors of the United Negro College Fund is also co-chairman of the fund's women's division of New York city.

* * *

PRESIDENT WILLA B. PLAYER'S annual report, with the theme "Enrichment of the Bennett Experience," was augmented by presentations by members of the faculty - staff, student body and by a prominent alumni.

Dr. George Breathett, a member of the history faculty, spoke of the instructional program; Miss Roslyn Cheagle, '62, of Lynchburg, Va., told of "Operation Doorknock" the project of last year's Homemaking Institute; Miss Linda Brown, '61, of Akron, Ohio, spoke on "What Bennett Has Meant to Me."

Miss Gertrude Millner, '56, told of the work of the admissions office and Mrs. Pauline Foster, '41, principal of the F. D. Bluford School here, told briefly of how her student experiences at Bennett helped her career.

* * *

THE FIRST FULL meeting of the development committee, named by the trustees to consider the college's needs for the next ten years gave an opportunity for faculty, staff, student, alumnae and community representatives to explore Bennett's major areas of need.

It was unanimously agreed that capital improvements to the physical plant and increased endowment, which would permit greater scholarship aid should be given prior considera, tion.

It was pointed out that present scholarship aid is totally inadequate to meet the needs of many high - ranking young women who have expressed a preference for Bennett but lack the necessary finances. It was felt that more scholarship aid should also be available for foreign students.

* * *

REGARDING ENROLLMENT, the committee agreed that rather than seek to increase the present enrollment of 542, every effort should be made to increase the quality of offerings. The new dormitory, now under construction, therefore, will be used largely to relieve present overcrowding rather than to provide housing for additional students.

Bennett College to note founders

GREENSBORO, N.C. Bennett College will hold its annual Founders' Day observance here on Sunday, (Nov. 6), with Dr. R. O'Hara Lanier of NYC as the principal speaker and with President Willa B. Player presiding.

Dr. Lanier, in charge of African affairs for the Phelps-Stokes Fund was formerly president of Texas Southern University and also served as U.S. Minister to Liberia.

Other program participants will include Miss Carolyn Bennett, '61, of Miami, reading of the litany of gratitude; Dr. Myrtle Brown, '45, of Washington, representing the graduates; Dr. Rose Karfiol, of the faculty-staff, and Miss Margaret Bailey, senior, of Fruitland, Md.

The choir, directed by Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, with Clarence E. Whiteman at the organ, will sing two compositions, "Psalm 150" by Cesar Franck and "Done Paid My Vow to the Lord," by R. Nathaniel Dett.

Founder's Day Observance At Bennett College Sunday

GREENSBORO—Bennett College will hold its annual Founder's Day observance here on Sunday, November 6, with Dr. R. O'Hara Lanier of New York City as the principal speaker and with President Willa B. Player presiding.

Dr. Lanier, who is in charge of African affairs for the Phelps-Stokes Fund, was formerly president of Texas Southern University and also served as U. S. Minister to Liberia.

Other program participants include Miss Carolyn Bennett, '61, of Miami, Florida, who will lead the reading of the litany of gratitude; Dr. Myrtle Brown, '45, of Washington, D. C., representing the graduates; Dr. Rose Karfiol, representing the faculty-staff, and Miss Margaret Bailey, '61, of Fruitland, Md., representing the students.

The choir, directed by Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, with Clarence E. Whiteman at the organ, will sing two compositions, "Psalm 150" by Cesar Franck and "Done Paid My Vow to the Lord," by R. Nathaniel Dett.

Bennett Trustees Elect 2 New Members To Board

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The election of two new members was a highlight of the annual meeting of the Bennett College board of trustees here Saturday.

Chosen by unanimous vote were Mrs. Norman C. Cooper of Greensboro and Mrs. Richard O. Loengard of New York City. Mrs. Cooper is prominent in the affairs of the West Market Street Methodist church here. Mrs. Loengard, a member of the national board of directors of the United Negro College Fund, is also co - chairman of the fund's women's division of New Yorn City.

PRESIDENT Willa B. Player's annual report, with the theme "Enrichment of the Bennett Experience," was augmented by presentations by members of the faculty - staff, student body and by a prominent alumna.

Dr. George Breathett, a member of the history faculty, spoke of the instructional program; Miss Roslyn Cheagle, '62, of Lynchburg, Va., told of "Operation Doorknock" the project of last year's Homemaking Institute; Miss Linda Brown, '61, of Akron, Ohio, spoke on "What Bennett Has Meant to Me;" Miss Gertrude Millner, '56, told of the work of the admissions office and Mrs. Pauline Foster, '41, principal of the F. D. Bluford School here, told briefly of how her student experiences at Bennett helpd her carr.

THE FIRST full meeting of the development committee, named by the trustees to consider the colge's neds for the next ten years gave an opportunity for faculty, staff, student, alumnae and community representatives to explore Bennett's major areas of need.

It was unanimously agreed that capital improvements to the physical plant and increased endowment, which would permit greater scholarship aid should be given prior consideration It was pointed out that present sholarship aid is totally inadequate to meet the needs of many high - ranking young women who have expressed a preference for Bennett but lack the necessary finances. It was felt that more scholarship aid should also be available for foreign students.

REGARDING enrollment, the committee agreed that rather than seek to increase the present enrollment of 542, every effort should be made to increase the quality of offerings. The new dormitory, now under construction, therefore, will be used largely to relieve present overcrowding rather than to provide housing for additional students.

Dr. F. D. Patterson of New York City, chairman of the board, presided over the board meeting and also over that of the development committee in the absence of Dr. J. Earl Moreland, president of Randolph- Macon College, chairman, who is delayed in arriving.

2 Members Elected To Trustee Bd. At Bennett

GREENSBORO—The election of two new members was a highlight of the annual meeting of the Bennet College board of trustees here Saturday.

Chosen by unanimous vote were Mrs. Norman C. Cooper of Greensboro and Mrs. Richard O. Loengard of New York City. Mrs. Cooper is prominent in the affairs of the West Market Street Methodist Church here. Mrs. Leongard, a member of the national board of directors of the United Negro College Fund is also co-chairman of the fund's women's division of New York City.

President Willa B. Player's annual report, with the theme "Enrichment of the Bennett Experience," was augmented by presentations by members of the faculty-staff, student body and by a prominent alumnae.

Dr. George Breathett, a member of the history faculty, spoke of the instructional program; Miss Roslyn Cheagle, '62, of Lynchburg, Va., told of "Operation Doorknock" the project of last year's Homemaking Institute; Miss Linda Brown, '61, of Akron, Ohio, spoke on "What Bennett Has Meant to Me"; Miss Gertrude Millner, '56, told of the work of the admissions office and Mrs. Pauline Foster, '41, principal of the F. D. Bluford School here, told briefly of how her student experiences at Bennett helped her career.

The first full meeting of the development committee, named by the trustees to consider the college's needs for the next ten years gave an opportunity for faculty, staff, student, alumnae and community representatives to explore Bennett's major areas of need.

8 Bennett Seniors Named to Who's Who

Eight Bennett College seniors were notified this week of their election to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

They are:

Misses Esther Alexander, Warrenton, N. C.; Linda Brown, Akron, Ohio; Iris Jeffries, Burlington, N. C.; Gwendolyn Mackel, Chicago, Ill.; Jo Ann Martin, Leaksville, N. C.; Idajeanne Robinson, Oberlin, Ohio; Marian Simmons, Fayetteville, N. C. and Roslyn Smith, Princeton, W. Va.

Miss Alexander, an English major, and a member of Alpha Kappa Mu, has served as president of the Theatre Guild and filled leading roles in a number of its productions during her college career. Miss Brown, who has been consistently on the honor roll since her freshman year, is president of Alpha Kappa Mu, national honor society and a soloist with the college choir.

Miss Jeffries is a member of Beta Kappa Chi, Science Seminar, and the Photography Club. Miss Mackel, a sociology major, consistently on the honor roll, is prseident of Sigma Rho Sigma, social science honor society.

Miss Martin, a pre-medical major, is a member of Alpha Kappa Mu, Beta Kappa Chi, Science Seminar, and the Photography Club. Miss Robinson, an elementary education major, is a member of Alpha Kappa Mu, Tomu and the student NEA.

Miss Simmons, a music education major, is vice president of her class, a member of Alpha Kappa Mu, the Student Senate cabinet and the Music Club.

Miss Smith, a sociology major, is a member of the senior choir and secretary of the Student Senate.

REV. HOWARD A. BAILEY TO SPEAK AT VESPER SERVICES

The Rev. Howard A. Bailey, of Yeadon, Pa., executive secretary of the Board of Christian Education, the Delaware Conference of the Methodist Church will be the Sunday vesper speaker at Bennett College on November 13.

Bennett Plans Founders' Day

Bennett College will hold its annual Founders' Day observance Sunday at 4 p.m. with Dr. R. O'Hara Lanier of New York City as the principal speaker and with President Willa B. Player presiding.

Dr. Lanier, who is in charge of African affairs for the Phelps-Stokes Fund, was formerly president of Texas Southern University and also served as U.S. Minister to Liberia.

Miss Margaret Bailey (center) from Fruitland, Md., president of the Student Senate at Bennett College, chats with consultants and President Willa B. Player during the annual student leadership conference at the Greensboro, N. C., institution. Left to right: Miss Theressa Hoover, of New York City, representing the Woman's Division of Christian Service; Jameson Jones, Nashville, Tenn., editor of motive magazine; Miss Ruth Harris, New York, of the Woman's Division and President Player.

Eight Are Named For Who's Who

Eight Bennett College seniors were notified this week of their election to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

They are: Esther Alexander, Warrenton; Linda Brown, Akron, Ohio; Iris Jeffries, Burlington; Gwendolyn Mackel, Chicago, Ill.; Jo Ann Martin, Leaksville; Idajeanne Robinson, Oberlin, Ohio; Marian Simmons, Fayetteville; and Roslyn Smith, Princeton, W. Va.

Vanstory Heads Fund Campaign

C. M. Vanstory Jr., president of the North Carolina National Bank, heads annual Greensboro campaign of the United Negro College Fund which opened yesterday.

Serving as co-chairman with him is the Rev. John G. Corry, minister of St. Matthews Methodist Church. This year's local goal of $5,000 is a part of the national effort to raise $2,250,000 for the 33 Negro colleges and universities which compose the fund. Bruce Barton is national chairman and John D. Rockefeller III is chairman of the National Council.

THE BRIDE CAME SECOND — Winner of creative design contest sponsored by Omicron Eta Chi, home economics club, at Bennett College was Miss Alma Pinnix, left, junior, of Reidsville, N. C., shown receiving top award from Miss Edwina Coleman, club treasurer, while Miss Emma Hughes, of Greensboro, N. C., freshman, second place winner, awaits her prize. The girls were given old paper and 15 minutes in which to create a dress.

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Eight Bennett College seniors were notified this week of their election to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

They are: Misses Esther Alexander, Warrenton, N.C.; Linda Brown, Akron, Ohio; Iris Jeffries, Burlington, N.C.; Gwendolyn Mackel, Chicago, Ill.; Jo Ann Martin, Leaksville, N.C.; Adajeanne Robinson, Oberlin, Ohio; Marian Simmons, Fayetteville, N.C. and Roslyn Smith, Princeton, W. Va.

FROM AFRICA TO BENNETT — These three Bennett College freshmen from Africa locate homeland on the globe in the college library and don't seem to be homesick at all. Left to right: The Misses Elizabeth Gitii and Mary Ny'Ayu, both of Kenya, and Zenora Williams of Sierra Leone, West Africa.

AUTOGRAPH FROM A STAR — Miss June McMechen, soprano, who appeared in concert at Bennett College Friday night, spent much of her time at reception which followed signing autographs for student admirers. Left to right: Misses Yvonne Pannell, freshman, of Roanoke, Va.; Margarella Bridgers, junior, Tarboro; Jo Laurence Richardson, freshman, Sumter, S. C.; Miss McMechen, and Kelly Wyatt, her accompanist.

SINGER SCORES AT BENNETT

Miss June McMechen, soprano, pleased a large audience Lyceum series at Bennett College here Friday night.

The singer, who possesses a voice of wide range and flexibility, sang four groups which included "The Mermaid's Song," three compositions by French compositions by Poulenc, and a group of spirituals.

She was particularly [illegible] in "The Jewel Song" from "Faust" by Gounod and "I Want Jesus to Walk with Me" arrangement by Boatner. Kelly Wyatt was a sympathetic accompanist.

IN BENNETT TALENT SHOW---Among the participants in the annual freshman talent show at Bennett College recently were Miss Maudelle Baker (left) of San Diego, Calif., and Miss Beverly Bryan, of Tryon, N. C.

New Trustees Are Elected at Bennett College

GREENSBORO — The election of two new members was a highlight of the annual meeting of the Bennett College board of trustees here Saturday.

Chosen by unanimous vote were Mrs. Norman C. Cooper of Greensboro and Mrs. Richard O. Loengard of New York City.

Mrs. Cooper is prominent in the affairs of the West Market Street Methodist Church here. Mrs. Loengard, a member of the national board of directors of the United Negro College Fund is also co-chairman of the fund's women's division of New York City.

President Willa B. Player's annual report, with the theme "Enrichment of the Bennett Experience," was augmented by presentations by members of the faculty-staff, student body and by a prominent alumna.

The first full meeting of the development committee, named by the trustees to consider the college's needs for the next ten years gave an opportunity for faculty, staff, student, alumnae and community representatives to explore Bennett's major areas of need,

It was animously agreed that capital improvements to the physical plant and increased endowment, which would permit greater scholarship aid should be given prior consideration. It was pointed out, that present scholarship aid is totally inadequate to meet the needs of many high-ranking young women who have expressed a preference for Bennett but lack the necessary finances. It was felt that more scholarship aid should also be available for foreign students.

Regarding enrollment, the committee agreed that rather than seek to increase the present enrollment of 542, every effort should be made to increase the quality of offerings. The new dormitory, now under construction, therefore, will be used largely to relieve present overcrowding rather than to provide housing for additional students.

Dr. F. D. Patterson of New York City, chairman of the board; presided over the board meeting and also over that of the development committee in the absence of Dr J. Earl Moreland, president of Randolph-Macon College, chairman, who was delayed in arriving

SOME CHANGES have been made President Willa B. Player of Bennett College tells Mrs. Barbara Crutchfield Moore, a federal attorney, who made her first visit to the campus since graduation in 1954. President Player was specific about the new woman's dormitory now being erected on the site where they are standing. Mrs. Moore, who lives in Los Angeles, Calif., is an attorney with the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare there.

Dr. Carl C. Bracy, president of Mount Union College, was elected president of the association in its annual meeting at Denver, January 9-10, 1961. Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College, became vice president; Dr. Ralph W. Decker, staff member of the Board of Education, secretary; and Dr. V. Y. C. Eady, dean of Emory-at-Oxford, treasurer.

Dr. Willa B. Player, Dr. Carl C. Bracy, Dr. Ralph W. Decker

8 Bennett Seniors In 'Who's Who'

GREENSBORO —Eight Bennett College seniors were notified this week of their election to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

They are:

Misses Esther Alexander, Warrenton; Linda Brown, Akron, Ohio; Iris Jeffries, Burlington; Gwendolyn Mackel, Chicago, Ill.; Jo Ann Martin, Leaksville; Idajeanne Robinson, Oberlin, Ohio; Marian Simmons, Fayetteville, and Roslyn Smith, Princeton, W. Va.

Miss Alexander, an English major, and a member of Alpha Kappa Mu, has served as president of the Theatre Guild and filled leading roles in a number of its productions during her college career. Miss Brown, who has been consistently on the honor roll since her freshman year, is president of Alpha Kappa Mu, national honor society and a soloist with the college choir.

Miss Jeffries is a member of Beta Kappa Chi, Science Seminar, and the Photography Club. Miss Mackel, a sociology major, consistently on the honor roll, is president of Sigma Rho Sigma, social science honor society.

Miss Martin, a pre-medical major, is a member of Alpha Kappa Mu, Beta Kappa Chi, Science Seminar, and the Photography Club. Miss Robinson, an elementary education major, is a member of Alpha Kappa Mu, Tomu and the student NEA.

Miss Simmons, a music education major, is vice president of her class, a member of Alpha Kappa Mu, the Student Senate cabinet and of the Music Club.

Miss Smith, a sociology major, is a member of the senior choir and secretary of the Student Senate.

BENNETT OFFICERS CONFER—Miss Roslyn Cheagle, Bennett College junior, of Lynchburg, Va. (right), who was elected president of the student NAACP group for the state of North Carolina, talks over plans with Miss Jonelle Brown, junior, of Charleston, S.C., elected treasurer. Election took place at recent state convention in Greensboro.

12 Students At Bennett Attend Sports Day In Va.

GREENSBORO—Twelve members of the Women's Athletic Association at Bennett College attended the annual fall Sports Day of the Women's Sports Day Association at Hampton Institute, Hampton, Virginia, last week-end.

They are Misses Geraldine Brown, Philadelphia, Pa.; Shirley Bruton, Badin; Constance Colston, Charlotte; Carolyn Davis, Columbus, Ohio; Delores Gary, Greensboro; Carolyn Henry, Perry Point, Md.; Clara Hawkins, Louisburg; Barbara Jackson, Burnsville; Ellen Moore, Southern Pines; Doris Luck, Asheboro Joyce Pullum, Baltimore, Md., and Laura Plummer, Manson.

REV. HOWARD BAILEY SPEAKS AT BENNETT

That man develops through struggle and fails to develop as God would have him when he evades it, was the view expressed by the Rev. Howard Bailey, of Yeadon, Pa., in his vesper message at Bennett College Sunday.

The minister, who is executive secretary of the Board of Christian Education, the Delaware Conference of the Methodist Church, spoke on "The Struggle to Be Free."

Warning his listeners against letting the world squeeze them into its mold, the Rev. Bailey said: "So many people are afraid to be themselves. God means for us to be our best selves and when we fail to do this, we fail God. Life has its best for those who dare to be different."

The speaker had praise for students who participated in the sit-in and kneel-in demonstrations because "they had the courage to be different and decried the attitude of persons who dodge responsibilities with the excuse that they "do not want to get involved." It is this becoming involved, he said, that makes life meaningful.

MOREHOUSE COLLEGE GLEE CLUB TO APPEAR AT BENNETT

The annual post-Thanksgiving concert, by the 40-voice Morehouse College Glee Club will be given at Bennett College, Friday, November 25, in Pfeiffer Chapel.

The concert, third in the current college lyceum series, will afford local music lovers an opportunity to hear a variety program which will feature not only the entire group, directed by Wendell Whalum, but numbers by two quartettes — one the traditional and the other "barber shop" variety.

Election of officers for six residence halls at BENNETT COLLEGE was held last week.

Heading Barge Hall is Miss Brenda Richey, of Columbus, Ohio, Miss Joyce Phelps, of Annapolis, Md., was named president of Jones Hall. Miss Ellen Moore, of Southern Pines, N. C., heads Kent Hall and Miss Jean Hubbard, of Angleton, Texas, is president of Merner.

President of Pfeiffer Hall is Iris Jeffries, of Burlington, N. C., and Miss Joyce Pullum, of Baltimore, Md., heads Reynolds Hall.

Eight Bennett College seniors were notified this week of their election to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

They are:

Misses Esther Alexander, Linda Brown, Iris Jeffries, Gwendolyn Mackel, Jo Ann Martin, Idajeanne Robinson, Marian Simmons, and Roslyn Smith.

Dr. Lanier Gives Talk At Bennett

"You and I should cherish the idea that color is not a disgrace, but an honor."

So said Dr. R. O'Hara Lanier in an address yesteray afternoon at the Founders Day Convocation for Bennett College.

Speaking before a full audience in Pfeiffer Chapel, Dr. Lanier asserted, "Deep are the roots of our heritage" in Africa.

"My appeal to you as young people is never be accused of denying your culture." Too many members of the Negro race are reluctant to acknowledge or examine their African heritage, he said.

On the contrary, they should "dig into the past" and link themselves with Africa with pride. History reveals that here the earliest attempts to write were made by African-Egyptians as early as 3315 BC.

The Sphinx, itself, has distinct negroid features. Highly organized and complex civilizations flourished in Africa long before white men entered the continent.

Should Not Forget

The Irishman never forgets his homeland, nor the Scotchman his native highlands, and by the same token no Negro should forget his African background, he said.

It is an obvious fallacy, that because of slavery in this country a hundred years ago, the Negro does not have a heritage, he said.

He pointed out that the majority of members of the United Nations "are from colored countries." He challenged his audience to "get ready to live and work" for democracy, to "study and know about your own cultures, both old and new."

Returns To America

Dr. Lanier has recently returned from an extended tour of Africa. He is a former minister to Liberia, and is now with the Phelps-Stokes Fund of New York City.

He was introduced by Dr. Willa B. Player, president of Bennett College.

Ceremonies marked the 87th anniversary of the college. Four women were graduated in the first class. Since then, more than 2,000 have received degrees from the liberal arts college.

Other speakers included Dr. Myrtle L. Brown, graduate of the class of '45; Dr. Rose Karfiol, faculty member-at-large; and Miss Margaret Bailey, class of '60.

Two checks, one for $1,861 and another for $1,132, were presented to the college endowment fund. The college choir sang two anthems.

DR. HARRY V. RICHARDSON SPEAKS AT BENNETT

Much of man's time throughout history has been spent in conflict, but deep in his heart, he has hope for a better day, Dr. Harry V. Richardson, of Atlanta, Ga., told the Bennett College vesper audience Sunday.

Speaking on "The Complete Victory," Dr. Richardson, president of the Interdenominational Theological Seminary, said that the reason this great hope has not been realized is due to man's stress upon victory.

"Victory does not give victory unless it is accepted by the vanquished," he declared. "The act of reconciliation is needed if we are ever to have brotherly coexistence. If Lincoln had not been killed, he might have been able to do this after the War Between the States. The South, therefore, is still seeking a belated victory."

Dr. Richardson, referring to troubled race relations in the South in the wake of sit-in demonstrations by students, consoled the students against "victory", reminding them that the world "needs to live together in love."

OFFICER FOR RESIDENCE HALLS ELECTED AT BENNETT

Election of officers for six residence halls at Bennett College was held last week.

Heading Barge Hall is Miss Brenda Richey, of Columbus, Ohio, with Misses Mercedes Davis, of New Orleans, La., vice president, and Linda Alston, of Ramseur, N. C., secretary. Miss Joyce Phelps, of Annapolis, Md., was named president of Jones Hall with Misses Rosalnd Linder, of Philadelphia, Pa.; secretary, and Shirley Goldston, Ramseur, N. S., treasurer.

Miss Ellen Moore, of Southern Pines, N. C., heads Kent Hall and Miss Jean Hubbard, of Angleton, Texas, is president of Merner. Serving with Miss Hubbard are Misses Joyce Young, of Philadelphia, Pa., vice president, and Laura Coleman, of Birmingham, Ala., secretary.

President of Pfeiffer Hall is Miss Iris Jeffries, of Burlington, N. C., who is assisted by Misses Roslyn Smith, of Princeton, W. Va. and Bettye Davis, of Waynesboro, Ga., secretary. Miss Joyce Pullum, of Baltimore, Md., heads Reynolds Hall with Misses Jean Sparrow, of Covington, Va., vice president, and Carolyn Snead, of Philadelphia, Pa., secretary.

Vesper Services Held At Bennett

That man develops through struggle and fails to develop as God would have him when he evades it, was the view expressed by the Rev. Howard Bailey of Yeadon, Pa., in his vesper message at Bennett College yesterday.

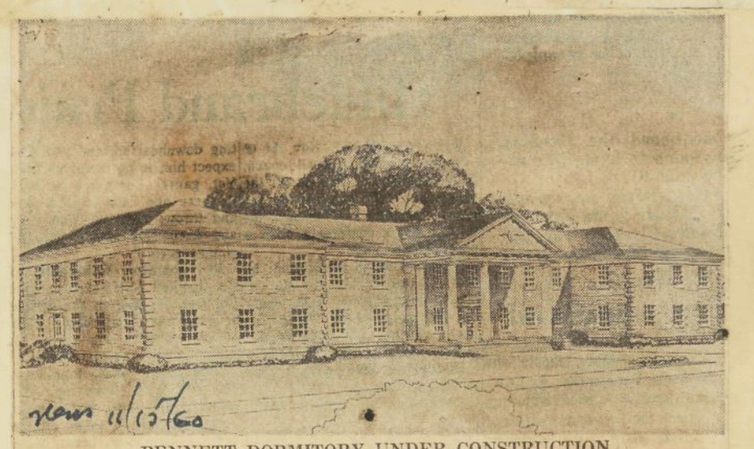
The minister, who is executive secretary of the Board of Christian Education, the Delaware Conference of the Methodist Church, spoke on "The Struggle to Be Free."

Warning his listeners against letting the world squeeze them into its mold, the Rev. Mr. Bailey said: "So many people are afraid to be themselves. God meant for us to be our best selves and when we fail to do this, we fail God. Life has its best for those who dare to be different."

The speaker had praise for students who participated in the sit-in and kneel-in demonstrations because "they had the courage to be different" and declared the attitude of persons who dodge responsibilities with the excuse that they "do not want to get involved." It is this becoming involved, he said, that makes life meaningful.

PLAY AT BENNETT

"The Fatal Weakness," a comedy by George Kelly, will be presented by the Theater Guild at Bennett College at 8 o'clock tonight and Saturday night in the Little Theater. F. Allen Eady will direct and Ann Florence, a Greensboro sophomore at the college, will be in the cast.



BENNETT DORMITORY UNDER CONSTRUCTION

This new dormitory, designed by the architectural firm of Loewenstein-Atkinson Associates, is under construction on the Bennett College campus. The $300,000 residence hall will accommodate 106 students and is expected to be ready for occupancy when school opens for the 1961-62 school year. The two-story structure will be at the corner of Bennett and Gorrell Streets. Barker-Cochran Construction Co. Inc. has the general contract.

Dr. R. O'Hara Lanier Urges Bennett Students To Identify Themselves With Africa

Referring to Africa as the "bridge between the East and the West — the last great frontier for the West" — Dr. R. O'Hara Lanier of New York City, urged the Founders' Day audience at Bennett College, Sunday to re-identify themselves with Africa, "least what we know as a free society pass from our generation."

Dr. Lanier, driector of African Affairs for the Phelps-Stokes Fund, decried the fact that "it is difficult to appreciate Africa because we have been told that Africa has nothing and have resisted learning anything about it."

"You and I should cherish the idea that color is not a disgrace, but an honor," he said. "Deep are the roots of our heritage in Africa."

The speaker only recently returned from a tour of Africa, reminded his listeners that highly organized and complex civilizations flourished in Africa long before the white man came to the continent. Evidence reveals that as early as 3315 B.C. the African-Egyptians had developed a writing method.

Stating that the Irish and the Scotch never forget their native lands, keeping alive their link with the past by annual observances and celebrations, Dr. Lanier pleaded that Negro Americans never be accused of denying their heritage and culture.

"The majority of the people in the United Nations," he declared, "are from colored countries. They are the ones who will vote on the great issues involving the security of the world. The great battle between democracy and totalitarianism is being fought out on the African continent. So we should seek opportunities to associate with these people who may develop something truly unque in the history of time."

Dr. Myrtle Brown, '45, of Washington, D. C., spoke words of appreciation from the graduates, who now number over 2,000 women graduated since Bennett became a college for women in 1926.

"The development of the college," she said, "is the concern not only of the trustees, or the administration, or the faculty. It is the concern of the graduates and of the future graduates too. All of us have a stake in Bennett College. The founder gave us a basis from which to work. The future is our responsibility."

Dr. Rose Karfiol, representing the faculty, presented a check for $1,861 to President Willa B. Player for the endowment fund and Miss Margaret Bailey, '60 of Fruitland, Md., president of the Student Senate, presented a check for $1,132.

The college choir, directed by Mrs. Mary J. Crawford, with Clarence E. Whiteman at the organ, sang "Psalm 150" by Cesar Franck, and "Done paid my vow to the Lord," a traditional spiritual arranged by the late Dr. R. Nathaniel Dett.

KERMIT MOORE, CELLIST, HEARD IN RECITAL AT BENNETT

Kermit Moore, cellist, was heard in recital at Bennett College Friday night in the second program of this year's Lyceum series.

Mr. Moore, who was accompanied by Walter Anderson, played an eight-number program and demonstrated his great artistry in Brahms' "Sonata in E Minor," the last two movements of Lalo's "Concerto," and the familiar "Kol Nidrei."

The artist who is a graduate of the Cleveland Institute of Music and of New York University has appeared in concerts in 13 European countries and played two command performances for Queen Elisabeth of Belgium.

TWELVE MEMBERS OF W. A. A. AT BENNETT ATTEND ANNUAL SPORTS DAY

Twelve members of the Women's Athletic Association at Bennett College will attend the annual fall Sports Day of the Women's Sports Day Association at Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va., this week-end.

They are: Misses Geraldine Brown, Philadelphia, Pa.; Shirley Bruton, Badin, N. C.; Constance Colston, Charlotte, N. C.; Carolyn Davis, Columbus, Ohio; Delores Gary, Greensboro, N. C.; Carolyn Henry, Perry Point, Md.; Clara Hawkins, Louisburg, N. C.; Barbara Jackson, Burnsville, N. C.; Ellen Moore, Southern Pines, N. C.; Doris Luck, Asheboro, N. C.; Joyce Pullum, Baltimore, Md., and Laura Plummer, Manson, N. C.

Dozen from Bennett attend Women's Sports Day session

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Twelve members of the Women's Athletic Association at Bennett College attended the annual fall Sports Day of the Women's Sports Day Association at Hampton Institute, Hampton, Virginia, last week-end.

They are: Misses Geraldine Brown, Philadelphia, Pa.; Shirley Bruton, Badin, N. C.; Constance Colston, Charlotte, N.C.; Carolyn Davis, Columbus, Ohio; Delores Gary, Greensboro, N.C. Carolyn Henry, Perry Point, Md.; Clara Hawkins, Louisburg, N. C.; Barbara Johnson, Burnsville, N. C.; Ellen Moore, Southern Pines, N. C.; Doris Luck, Asheboro, N. C.; Joyce Pullum, Baltimore, Md., and Laura Plummer, Manson, N.C.

KERMIT MOORE, cellist, was heard in recital at Bennett College Friday night —the second program of this year's Lyceum series.

Mr. Moore, who was accompanied by Walter Anderson, played an eight-number program and demonstrated his great artistry in Brahms' "Sonata in E Minor," the last two movments of Lalo's "Concerto," and the familiar "Kol Nidrei."

The artist who is a graduate of the Cleveland Institute of Music and of New York University has appeared in concerts in 13 European countries and played two command performances for Queen Elizabeth of Belgium.

SPEAKER FOR the Sunday vesper service at Bennett College November 20th will be the Rev. Charles Bollinger, Director of the Commission on Christian Higher Education for the Syracuse Area of the Methodist Church.

Fall Sports Day

Twelve members of the Women's Athletic Association at Bennett College attended the annual fall Sports Day of the Women's Sports Day Association at Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va., last weekend.

They are: Misses Geraldine Brown, Philadelphia, Pa.; Shirley Bruton, Badin, N. C.; Constance Colston, Charlotte, N. C.; Carolyn Davis, Columbus, Ohio; Delores Gary, Greensboro, N. C.; Carolyn Henry, Perry Point, Md.; Clara Hawkins, Louisburg, N. C.; Barbara Jackson, Burnsville, N. C.; Ellen Moore, Southern Pines, N. C.; Doris Luck, Asheboro, N. C.; Joyce Pullum, Baltimore, Md., and Laura Plummer, Manson, N. C.

REVEREND CHARLES BOLLINGER TO SPEAK AT VESPER SERVICES SUNDAY

Speaker for the Sunday vesper services at Bennett College Nov. 20, will be the Rev. Charles Bollinger, Director of the Commission on Christian Higher Education for the Syracuse Area of the Methodist Church.

Prelude To The Dance

AMONG PARTICIPANTS in annual Freshman Talent Show at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., are Miss Maudelle Baker (left) of San Diego, Calif., and Miss Beverly Bryan of Tryon, N. C. Girls were rehearsing for show in this photo.

Dead Goals Stifle Youth, English Novelist Asserts

BY DOROTHY BENJAMIN
Record Staff Writer

"We need a vision of what needs to be done but no one gives it to us," said Dr. Elizabeth Sewell, India-born visiting professor of English at Bennett College, explaining that people are groping for a goal, a sense of direction.

"This is true everywhere. We are caught in our own vacuum. It is frightening to me that young Americans are told 'this is the right way,' this is the way it ought to be.' Some of the things young people protest against are dead, and well they should be," she said.

Dr. Sewell, whose home now is in Salisbury, England, has just completed her third novel, "Now Bless Thyself," which deals with America, American young people and American universities.

"I am asking 'what's alive and what's dead in America?—or anywhere, for that matter—what's alive and what's dead in any big institution, such as a university?' After all, you can't tailor-make young people to fit an institution."

Dr. Sewell has had some experience with American universities.

She came to the United States for the first time in 1949 on a one-year fellowship at Ohio State University. She came back again in 1951 and taught one year at Vassar College, in 1954 for a year at Fordham University; in 1955 at Princeton then back to Ohio State and back to Fordham for a year. She returned in August to teach at Bennett.

Dr. Sewell said she wanted to teach in a Negro college for sometime and she heard about Bennett from Dr. Mary Friedlaender, former professor of English at Woman's College, when he was teaching at Vassar.

Why a Negro college? "Because I'm interested in America, all about it, and you don't meet Negroes when you teach in a white college."

She said there is a tradition at Bennett for getting to know your students and she is trying to get to know hers.

"My students, naturally, are interested in their own situation, in race relations, but they also are interested in what most young Americans are interested in—home, family, jobs, in our class discussions I try to make them see their own prejudices, not just those of others."

Dr. Sewell said that while it is true that many young people today seem to have no ideas or ideals to fight for such as college students in the 1920's, 30's and even 40's had, the Negro youth does have something to fight for.

"However, I found even my New York boys at Fordham were rebellious and uneasy. We all need a vision of what needs to be done and no one gives it to us. If all western society is to mean is a plutocracy with Cadillacs then no one will want it," she said.

Dr. Sewell's first novel was "Dividing Time," which she describes as "sort of a dream." It was published in England and then in the United States in 1952 by Doubleday. The second novel which dealt with an adolescent girl of 14 years was only published in England but she hopes the third one also will be published here.

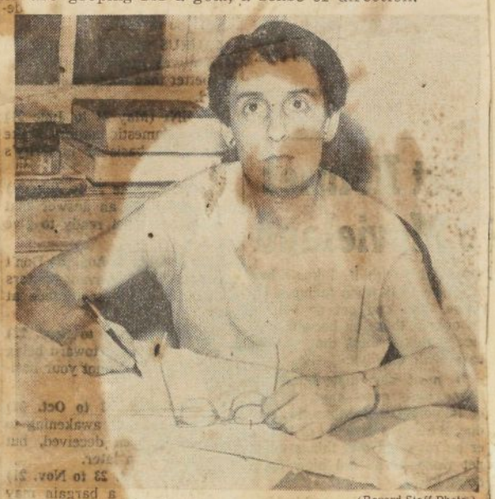
She also does literary criticism and her next book will deal with the theater and dreams.

"I just adore to write, write anything. I also like to cook. I'm an English cook which some people might consider an insult, but it isn't. There is a great deal of good cooking in English homes. We have a tradition of good cooking in my family. Unfortunately, most tourists do not have the opportunity to know about good English cooking."

Although she was born in India, Dr. Sewell left there at the age of 7 and was educated in England. Her father was a doctor in the Indian army and is now a marine biologist at Cambridge. Her sister is a nurse.

Dr. Sewell finds that American schools are quite different from each other—"the range in any American college is very wide, from very good to really rather doubtful. However, I'm not sure we do the right thing in England which sends less than almost any western country to college, only about the top 5 per cent. A college degree is not essential there as it is here.

"But you know you can do a lot for the middle-range young people in college. Actually, there is nothing duller than teaching the gifted—they think only of competition," she said.



(Record Staff Photo)
DR. ELIZABETH SEWELL
Finds Challenge In Negro College

MARSHALS AT CONCERT — Here are five of the Bennett College student who served as marshals at the Kermit Moore recital Friday night. Left to right: Misses Jacqueline Boseman, Baltimore, Md.; Hattie Green, Ivy, Va.; Alice Bowen, Washington, D. C.; Constance Colston, Charlotte, N. C.; Gladyce Hubbard, Angelton, Texas.

Speaker At Bennett:

Africa Is East-West Bridge, Says Dr. R. O'Hara Lanier

GREENSBORO — Referring to Africa as the "bridge between the East and the West — the last great frontier for the West" Dr. R. O'Hara Lainer of New York City, urged the Founders' Day audience at Bennett College, Sunday to re-identify themselves with Africa, "lest what we know as a free society pass from our generation."

Dr. Lainer, director of African Affairs for the Phelps-Stokes Fund, decried the fact that "it is difficult to appreciate Africa because we have been told that Africa has nothing and have resisted learning anything about it."

"You and I should cherish the idea that color is not a disgrace, but an honor," he said. "Deep are the roots of our heritage in Africa."

The speaker only recently returned from a tour of Africa, reminded his listeners that highly organized and complex civilizations flourished in Africa long before the white man came to the continent. Evidence reveals that as early as 3315 B.C. the African-Egyptian had developed a writing method.

Stating that the Irish and the Scotch never forget their native lands, keeping alive their link with the past by annual observances and celebrations, Dr. Lanier pleaded that Negro Americans never be accused of denying their heritage and culture.

"The majority of the people in the United Nations," he declared, are from colored countries. They are the ones who will vote on the great issues involving the security of the world. The great battle between democracy and totalitarianism is being fought out on the African continent. So we should seek opportunities to associate with those people who may develop something truly unique in the history of time."

Vesper Speaker

Dr. Maria Selvenayagan, physician-in-charge of medical work, Fales Health Center, Devarshighalli, South India, will speak at the vesper service on Sunday, November 27 at Bennett College.

Thanksgiving Concert

The annual post-Thanksgiving concert by the 40-voice Morehouse College Glee Club will be given at Bennett College, Friday, November 25, in Pfeiffer Chapel.

The concert, third in the current college lyceum series, will afford local music lovers an opportunity to hear a variety program which will feature not only the entire group, directed by Wendell Whalum, but numbers by two quartets—one the traditional and the other "barber shop" variety.

Students At Bennett In Field Work

GREENSBORO — Twenty-seven Bennett College students have been placed for field work with seven community institutions or agencies in the city, Charles I. Brown, director, announced last week.

Twelve of the students are doing their work at the Children's House, the nursery school operated by the college, and seven are teacher-aides in social studies, special education, mathematics and science and English at the J. C. Price Junior High School.

Four young women are working at the Pearson Street branch of the YWCA—two in the nursery school, one with the music program and one as Y-Teen group leader.

One student is working with the music program at the Warnersville Community Center, one as a laboratory technician at the L. Richardson Memorial Hospital, and one with the Guilford County home demonstration agent.

New Home Economics Club Members

Newly inducted members of Omicron Eta Chi, home economics club, at Bennett College are awarded certificates by the group's president, Miss Lafita Waters, senior, of Jacksonville, Fla., following a ceremony last Friday at the college. Left to right: Miss Doris Best, of Greensboro, N. C.; Miss Waters, Miss Carolyn Cotten of Tarboro, N. C., old members of the group who helped to welcome Misses Maxine Watlington, of South Boston, Va.; Mable Frazier, of Luray, S. C.; Sylvia Fish of Princeton, N. J.; and Leslie Doty, of Dallas, Texas.

Marshals At Bennett Concert

Here are five of the Bennett College students who served as marshals at the Kermit Moore recital Friday night. Left to right: Misses Jacqueline Boseman, Baltimore, Md.; Hattie Green, Ivy, Va.; Alice Bowen, Washington, D. C.; Constance Colston, Charlotte, N. C., and Gladys Hubbard, Angleton, Texas.

Sixty Six Education Majors Began Student Teaching

Sixty-Six education majors from Bennett College began student teaching this week in high teaching this week in high schools in North Carolina and Virginia.

According to Dr. C. G. Winston, this is the largest number of seniors ever to engage in the six-week student teaching program. In addition to these, 18 seniors have been assigned to five elementary schools in Greensboro, making a grand total of 84 student teachers.

Students have been assigned as follows:

Dudley High School, Greensboro, N. C.: Misses Esther Alexander, Warrenton, N. C.; Carolyn Bennett, Miami, Fla.; Linda Brown, Akron, Ohio; Ometria Campbell, Raeford, N. C.; Patricia Hargrove, Fayetteville, N. C.; Eunice Hawkins, Brandywine, Md.; Mrs. Carolyn Henry, Berry Point, Md., Marian Isler, Goldsboro, N. C.; Katie Johnson, Anderson, S. C.; Catherine Lawson, Lexington, Va.; Karen Leach, Newport News, Va.; Arneatha Manning, Dillon, S. C.; Mary E. Mims, McDade, La.; Frances Mullens, Greensboro, N. C.; Marian Simmons, Fayetteville, N. C.; Sarah Striggles, Sardis, Ga.; Lavonne Bing, Allendale, S. C.; LaRita Waters, Jacksonville, Fla.

Lincoln Junior High School Greensboro, N. C.: Misses Doris Best, Goldsboro, N. C.; Mrs. Geraldine Bethune, Fayetteville, N. C.; Shirley Thompson, St. Pauls, N. C.; Essie Duncan, Cheraw, S. C.; Joyce Jordan, Powellsville, N. C.; Rosa Shaw, Kingstrée, S. C.; Mrs. Robbie Troy, Clarksville, Tenn.

Price School, Greensboro, N. C.: Misses Margaret Bailey, Fruitland, Md; Geraldine Brown, Philadelphia, Pa.; Anita Frazier, Luray, S. C.; Mrs. Clara Hawkins, Louisburg, N. C.; Barbara Miller, Brunswick, Ga.; Patricia Vann, Danville, Va.

Rena Bullock School, Greensboro, N. C.: Misses Carolyn Davis, Columbus, Ohio; Betty Harley, Atlantic City, N. J.

Central High School, Asheboro, N. C.: Misses Lois Johnson, Baltimore, Md.; Doris Luck, Asheboro, N. C.

Logan High School, Concord, N. C.: Misses Lucy Howell, Concord, N. C.; Frances Poindexter, Lexington, Va.

J. M. Langston High School, Danville, Va: Misses Angela Carrol, Clinton, N. C.; Joyce Pullum, Baltimore, Md.

Graham High School, Graham, N. C.: Misses Lola Campbell, Greensboro, N. C.; Iris Jeffries, Burlington, N. C.; Laura Plummer, Manson, N. C.

Wiliam Penn High School, High Point, N. C.: Misses Barbara Melvin, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Ellen Moore, Southern Pines, N. C.

Douglass High School, Leaksville, N. C.: Miss Winifred Peacock, Wilson, N. C.

Dunbar High School, Lexington, N. C.: Misses Barbara Freeman, Lawrenceville, Va.; Saundra McBride, Sumter, S. C.

Booker T. Washington High School, Reidsville, N. C.: Miss Leacy Shipman, Whiteville, N.C.

Pearson County High School, Roxboro, N. C.: Misses Juanita Coglin, Jacksonville, Fla.; Carolyn James, St. Augustine, Fla.

Price High School, Salisbury, N. C.; Misses Carolyn Brown, Pleasant Hill, N. C.; Raemi Lancaster, Salisbury, N. C.

Unity High School, Statesville, N. C.: Miss Carolyn Cotten, Tarboro, N. C.

Atkins High School, Winston-Salem, N. C.: Misses Constance Colston, Charlotte, N. C.; Dorothy Groves, Gastonia, N. C.; Mrs. Lynda Hill McGee, Winston-Salem, N. C.

Carver High School, Winston-Salem, N. C.: Misses Jacqueline Boseman, Baltimore, Md.; Barbara Rice, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Mrs. Barbara Raleigh, Guilford, N. C.

Paisley Senior High School, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Mrs. Amelia Muldrow, Winston-Salem, N. C.

Caswell County Training School, Yanceyville, N. C. Miss Avis McCarther, Mt. Airy, N. C.; Von Deleath Moore, Norfolk, Va.

Pleasant Grove High School, Pleasant Grove, N. C.: Misses Yvonne Redcross, Hampton, Va.

Sedalia High School, Sedalia, N. C.: Miss Willie J. Napper, Greensboro, N. C.

ELEMENTARY

F. D. Bluford School, Greensboro, N. C.: Misses Milicent Allen, Philadelphia, Pa.; Jacqueline Dove, Kinston, N. C.; Idajeanne Robinson, Oberlin, Ohio.

J. C. Price, Greensboro, N.C.: Gloria Adams, Springfield Gardens, N. Y.; Yvonne Lyons, Greensboro, N. C.

Washington Street School, Greensboro, N. C.: Misses Alice Bowen, Washington, D. C.; Teresa Brown, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Mayland Baker, Lexington, Va.; Merry Sparrow, Covington, Va.; Minnie Sims, Greensboro, N. C.; Sylvia Smith, Franklington, Va.; Kay Frances Henry, Greensboro, N. C.; Jean Gerst, Williamsburg, Va.

Jonesboro School, Greensboro, N. C.: Misses Libbie Lofton, Greensboro, N. C.; Marva Lucas, Charleston, S. C.; Annie Wright, Lumberton, N. C.

Charles Moore School, Greensboro, N. C.; Misses Mary Tonkins, Greensboro, N. C.; Doris Neely, Charlotte, N. C.; Icelean Davis, Durham, N. C.

Bennett NAACP Boosters

ROSLYN CHEAGLE, junior at Bennett college, Greensboro, N. C., (right) who was elected president of student NAACP for North Carolina, charts NAACP course with Jonella Brown, treasurer. Election was held at state NAACP convention in Greensboro.

Chicago Defender 11-19/60

Seminar Delegate

Miss Dorothy Bacon, a junior from West Palm Beach, Fla., will represent Bennett College at the 12th annual Christian Citizenship Seminar to be held Feb. 5-11 in New York City and Washington, D. C.

Theme of this year's sessions will be "The Emerging African Nations and Their Impact on the United Nations and American Foreign Policy." Following their attendance at sessions of the UN, the delegates will go to Washington where they will have an opportunity to observe the various branches of government in action and to meet the Congressmen from their home states.

JC - 1/24/61

Christian Idea Is Talk Subject

"You can answer an argument, but you cannot answer a life," the Rev. Charles Bollinger, of Syracuse, New York, told the Bennett College vesper audience yesterday in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Dr. Bollinger, director of the Commission on Christian Higher Education for the Syracuse Area of The Methodist Church, spoke on "The Christian Idea in a World of Cultural Revolution."

Pointing out that one of the tests of a college is whether it can animate and awaken a generation, the speaker urged the students to take their places as witnesses for Christianity by being, first of all, better persons with honesty and integrity, and secondly, possessed of skills and knowledge.

"We cannot escape the consequences of our moral behavior," he said. "The secular and the technological have no cure for evil. Man cannot heal himself. Only God can. The ultimate thing that you need in life is faith—a faith that will keep you from falling apart. Christ gives you the order, but you are to set the pace," he said.

VESPER SERVICE

The Rev. Charles Bollinger, director of the Commission on Christian Higher Education for the Syracuse Area of the Methodist Church, will speak at the Bennett College vesper today at 4 p.m., in Pfeiffer Chapel.

THE BRIDE CAME SECOND — Winner of creative design contest sponsored by Omicron Eta Chi, home economics club, at Bennett College was Miss Alma Pinnix, left, junior, of Reidsville, N. C., shown receiving top award from Miss Lavinia Coleman, club treasurer, while Miss Emma Hughes, of Greensboro, freshman, second place winner, awaits her prize. The girls were given old newspapers and 15 minutes in which to create a dress.